NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A Valuable Sinner.—Aunt Keziah (severely)—So you're going to try the experiment of reforming young Scapely after marriage. Is he worth reforming. Kittie (tearfully)—Well, he's worth a million.

For the second time in the history of New York, a century plant is in bloom there. The thick green stem is thirty feet high, and there are fifteen hundred buds and blossoms surmounting it.

A Desirable Tenement.—"But why do you charge such an enormous rent for a flat in such a—well, in such a plebian neighborhood?" "Good gracious, man, there's a saloon in the basement, and you can get into it on Sunday by going down the back stairs."

The Sunday closing movements is spreading from trade to trade in Philadelphia. From the barbers and the laundrymen it has now extended to the bakers, most of whom now do considerable work upon Sunday. The bakers have determined to appeal to the legislature of Pennsylvania to pass a law prohibiting the opening of bakeries on Sunday.

After-dinner orator, quoted by a London paper: "It's the wonderful insight inter 'uman nature that Dickens gets the pull over Thackeray; but on t'other hand it's in the brilliant shafts of satire, t'gether with a keen sense o' humor, that Dickery gets the pull over Thackens. It's just this: Thickery is a humorist and Dackens is a satirist. But, after all, its 'bsurd to instoot any comparison between Dackery and Thickens." So none were "instooted."

The great Eiffel tower of Paris is likely to be outdone. In anticipation of the exposition to be held in America in 1892, Charles Hinkel, an architect of Washington, has prepared plans for a tower 1500 feet high, being 500 feet higher than the celebrated Eiffel tower. It is said that the dome on the cupola at the lowest part will be 260 feet high and 280 feet in diameter. Around the foot of the tower iron buildings are to be erected for exhibition and other purposes.

"It is not intellectual work that injures the brain," says the London Hospital, "but emotional excitement. Most men can stand the severest thought or study of which their brains are capable, and be none the worse for it; for neither thought nor study interferes with the recuperative influence of sleep. It is ambition, anxiety and disappointment, the hopes and fears, the loves and hates of our lives, that wear out our nervous system and endanger the balance of the brain."

If the Black Diamond, as now appears, deliberately violated the proclamation, she will be confiscated and her officers punished, no matter what the consequence may be.—Chicago Tribune. Very fierce and determined this is, comments the Globe. It would not have sounded nearly so fine to say: "If the Black Diamond deliberately violated the proclamation she will have fifty sealskins stolen from her and be compelled to give a free trip to an experienced American seaman." But that is what really happened.

Mr. De Young, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and California commissioner to the Paris exhibition, has returned from Europe, and reports as follows concerning the showing made by the United States there: "To think that our government was the only one that recognized the Exposition officially, and yet we have only 90,000 square ft, while little Belgium, that refused to recognized the Exposition officially, has 150,000, and England 243,000 square feet. It was simply negligence on the part of our commissioners. If they had been there and pushed matters they could have obtained as much space as they desired. The English commissoners were refused space, but they never let up, and the result was they obtained as much space as they wished." Another example of Johnny Bull's persistence in ganing his ends.

A correspondent of the London Standard, writing from Turin, gives some account of the venerable Hunggarian patriot Louis Kossuth, whose eightieth birthday was celebrated the other day. "The banquet," says the correspondent, "was a splendid sight, as well as an affecting one. So clearly rang the voice of the venerable speaker through the vast hall that had the discourse been in Latin I could have understood every word of it. Time has passed over him so tenderly that even the clear blue of his expressive eyes is still unveiled; he is still able to enjoy a tramp of seven or eight miles and an hour's billiards in the evening. His intellectual powers are as great and his interest in the progress of literature and fine arts in the various countries with whose tongues he is familiar as keen as ever. The visitors, doubtless, carried away the flowers presented to them at the banquet, but they were not from Kossuth's garden, for he has none, having left Baraccone, the villa near Rivoli, where he formerly resided, soon after the death of the friend who had shared thirty-two years of his exile."

STANLEY CONDEMNED.

The Equal Rights Association at Kingston Condemns Governor-General Stanley.

Sir Charles Tupper's Diplomacy Causes American Fishermen to Admit Canadian Rights.

Wonderful Cave Discovered in Colorado with Petrified Men in it.

CONDEMNING STANLEY.

KINGSTON, Aug. 14.—At a meeting of the Equal Rights Association last night a resolution condemning the governor-general's action was passed, and endorsement given the resolution passed by the delegates at Quebec with reference to the interview with his excellency. It was further resolved, but not without some discussion, that all members of the Equal Rights association pledge themselves not to support by votes and influence any of the 188 members who voted against disallowance, and support only those who endorse the Equal Rights association. A mass meeting will be held soon to consider the governor general's action.

COMFORT FOR EMIGRANTS.

QUEBEC, Aug. 14.—Lady Stanley, who evinces much interest in female emigration, visited the spacious emigrant sheds and buildings in the Levis embankment yesterday, and expressed pleasure at the arrangements made for the comfort of emigrants landing at Quebec.

A LINE OF BANQUETS.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Before leaving for the west the Hon. E. Dewdney accepted the proffer of a banquet by the citizens of Regina on Monday. He will arrive at Regina on Friday, and on Saturday, Mrs. Dewdney will turn the first sod of the Regina and Long Lake Railway at Regina. Arrangements for the presentation of addresses and the tendering of banquets to the minister at other points on the way to the pacific coast are under progress. At Medicine Hat, a banquet will be given to Mr. Dewdney.

TUPPER'S DIPLOMACY.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Up to date twice as many modus vivendi licenses have been taken out this year as last by U. S. fishermen. Sir John Macdonald says this is an admission on the part of U. S. fishermen that they have no right to enter Canadian waters for the purchase of bait and supplies, transhipment, etc., without paying for the privilege. A prominent government official said yesterday that this modus vivendi was a clever trick on the part of Sir Charles Tupper to get the United States fishermen to pay for that to which they had hitherto thought they were justly entitled to.

SUICIDED.

DELORAINE, Aug. 14.—James Colter, a bachelor aged about 65 or 70, living on section 16, township 1, range 27, hung himself yesterday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock on a beef scaffold. He had been mentally deranged for some time.

LIGHTNING'S FREAKS.

QUEBEC, Aug. Aug 14.—During a thunder storm at Montmagny, the electric fluid played sundry tricks at the house of a farmer named Louis De Carceon. It struck the building twice within a few minutes, entering in different places. The window glass was smashed, a stove split up in pieces, crockery demoralized, floors burned and other traces of its visit left. Some of the inmates were injured.

KILRAIN ARRESTED.

BALTIMORE, Md., August 14.—Jake Kilrain was arrested here this morning on his arrival on a requisition from Gov. Lowrey, of Mississippi, and locked up to await the action of the authorities of that state. The warrant has been issued since July 30th, but it was impossible to serve. as Kilrain's exact whereabouts was unknown.

JUDGE TERRY KILLED.

LATHOP3, Cala, Aug. 14.—Marshal Franks, of San Francisco, shot and killed ex-Judge Terry here this morning.

ANOTHER EXPLORATION.

QUEBEC, Aug. 13.—An expedition will be sent by the local government to make a new exploration of Lake Mistassini.

HIGH GRADE ORE.

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 13.—The east end silver mountain mine to-day shipped nine tons of high grade ore to Liverpool, England.

CANDIDATES FOR THE BENCH.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 13.—Two prominent conservatives are spoken of for the county judgeship, Mr. Masson, M. P., and John Creason, Q. C.

CUT TO PIECES.

RICHMOND, Que., Aug. 13.—At the Rockland state quarry this afternoon, one of the employees, Fred. Lacombe, aged 60, got caught in a revolving brake wheel and was instantly cut to pieces.

GIVEN UP FOR LOST.

HALIFAX, Aug. 13.—The barque Minerva, Capt. Laune, which left Liverpool, England, May 23 for West Bay, Nova Scotia, has been given up for lost. It is feared she foundered in the hurricane that swept the Atlantic ocean on the 19th of June. Capt. Laune is well known here. There was also on board a Halifax man named Borton, an able seaman. The Minerva was built in Norway, but is well known here.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

WEST SELKIRK., Man., Aug. 13.—During the storm this afternoon lightning struck a half breed woman named Leblance and knocked her insensible. She has not yet recovered consciousness and her life is almost despaired of.

RUN OVER.

CROOKSTOWN, Ont., Aug. 13.—Wm. Butler, of Hamilton, fell from a train, near here, this morning, and had is body badly mangled by a train passing over him.

OTTAWA NOTES.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—The cabinet held a lengthy sitting to day to further consider the seizure of the Black Diamond in Behring Sea. Nearly all the papers have arrived, but the claim for compensation will not be transmitted until further details are received. The previous claims submitted aggregate $120,000. That the cutter Richard Rush winked at the escape of the Black Diamond is disproved by the copy of the instructions to the seaman, Hawkins, which was received here yesterday. The document recites the seizure made for violation of section 1951 of the revised statutes of the United States, and directs him to proceed to Sitka and deliver the vessel to the district attorney there before setting the crew at liberty. Hawkins was also instructed to take charge of the vessel if its course should be altered.

The members of the Equal Rights Association have taken pledges to support only those candidates who adopt the association's platform at the next election.

Hon. E. Dewdney left to-night for Vancouver. He will visit various points en route.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

ASPEN, Colo., Aug. 12.—The Minnie mine on Aspen mountain was the scene of a discovery on Saturday night that has produced more excitement in the camp than the richest strike in the Aspen district. On Friday evening the night shift drilled two deep holes in the breast of the 500 foot level and touched off the blast just before coming to the surface. On Saturday upon returning to the mine they found that the blast had blown a passage way into a beautiful cave, the walls of which were covered with crystallized lime and lead and stalactites depended from the ceiling. The party passed along into another cave of similar beauty, then passed a pool of fresh water and came to a third chamber in which they were startled to find a petrified man with a flint axe and bowl by his side. Other stone men were found all in the same position. They were seated with their heads on their knees and their arms clasped around their legs. In attempting to lift the mummies the men broke off the arms and discovered that the figures would crumble unless they were tenderly handled. The figures are supposed to be those of people who preceded the Indians on this continent. The mine was surrounded by hundreds of people all anxious to explore the cave.

DELINQUENT MEMBERS.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Parnellite members of parliament held a meeting last night. Mr. Parnell, who acted as chairman, commented in very strong language on the lax attendance of members at the sessions of the house. Twenty were absent when a division was taken yesterday on Mr. Gray's amendment to the tithes recovery bill, when their presence would have insured the defeat of the government. Mr. Parnell soundly berated the absentees, and told them very plainly that their conduct was a shameful abuse of the trust reposed in them.

Police Court.

Before T. C. Atkinson, P. M., Capt. Pittendrigh, J. P.

Benjamin Yeomans, chagred with having illicit intercourse with a girl under 16 years of age, a granddaughter of defendant. A warrant was issued for Yeomans two weeks ago, but he went to Victoria about that time and the warrant could not be served. Yesterday he returned and heard that an information had been laid against him, and immediately gave himself up. Mr. McColl appeared for defendant and asked that the fullest investigation be made into this case. The case was adjourned for one week.

Michael Fagan, drunk and incapable, pleaded that he had been sick, and had taken a little too much whiskey, which had overcome him. Fined $2.50 and costs or ten days.

Larry McDonald, charged with being drunk and incapable, pleaded guilty, and was fined $2.50 and costs or ten days.

John McKay, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was dismissed with costs.

Mr. Baker Withdraws.

It is very evident, says the World, that Victoria's senior representative in the commons has shaken the dust of the federal capital off his shoes forever. He has just notified the authorities of St. George's church that inasmuch as he is not likely to visit Ottawa again, he feels obliged to withdraw his name from the subscription list of worshippers at that church. An Ottawa exchange says that this looks as if Mr. Baker, who was disappointed over not getting a senatorship, does not intend to return to his parliamentary duties, from which under one pretext or another he absented himself last session.

A Railway in Trouble.

Advices from Seattle state that a few days ago some excitement was created over the fact coming to light that the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Railroad was in the hands of a receiver, and many anxious faces were to be seen around the prominent business centers. It seems that Earle & McLeod, of Victoria, contractors for that corporation, have become tired of promises and are trying to obtain through the courts something more substantial for services performed, and accordingly brought suit against the road before Judge Hanford, who issued an order appointing W. H. Ledgerwood receiver. It appears that Earle & Co.'s contracts were completed and the company was asked to audit the same, but have failed to comply, and consequently were informed that if the matter was not straightened by August 2nd, they would commence suit, which was accordingly done. Every effort was made to supress these facts from the press and public, but in vain. On searching the records office in Seattle it was learned that the firm above named had brought suit against the road for a claim of $87,000, and that they asked the court (Judge Hanford) to appoint a receiver. Their affidavits state that the company is insolvent and that it is their intention to sell the property and defraud their creditors, and further, that the interest on the bonds due on August 1 would not be paid. President McDonald, with Judge Burke, counsel for the corporation, immediately appealed to the justice that the receivership be dissolved. Bonds were given in the sum of $80,000, and the court thereupon dissolved the receivership, and the case will be heard at the next term of court.

FOUND GUILTY.

The Senate Court Declares Count Dillion and Henry Rochefort Guilty of Treason.

The Body of McMillan, the London Publisher, Found Near Mount Olympus.

The Austrian Emperor Gains Favor in Germany by Honoring Von Moltke.

GUILTY OF TREASON.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The senate, sitting as a high court of justice, has declared Count Dillon and Henry Rochefort, guilty of treason.

DESERTERS RETURNING.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Under the new amnesty law, which has just gone into effect, fully three thousand deserters from the French army, who have been living in Switzerland, have left Geneva for France, their immunity now being assured.

ENGLAND WILL STAY.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—In the house of lords to-day, Lord Carnarvon addressed an inquiry to the government as to their policy in Egypt. Lord Salisbury replied that the government's policy in dealing with Egypt remained consistent throughout and recent events had not altered it a hair's breadth. The country had improved during England's occupancy. It was impossible to fix the limit at this time for the occupation. England had assumed certain definite obligations in Egypt and she must fulfil them

MCMILLAN'S BODY FOUND.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 14.—The dead body of a man who had evidently been robbed and thrown over the cliff, has been found near the summit of the lower peak of mount Olympus, where Mr. McMillan, the London publisher, mysteriously disappeared about a month ago, ascending the mountain. The robbers had left nothing on the body by which it can be identified, but it is believed to be that of Mr. McMillan. The arrival of his friends is now awaited.

THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

MADRID, Aug. 14.—The international congress for the protection of industrial property will meet here in April 1890. Its main object will be to amend the convention in regard to trade marks, but other questions in reference to international trade and commerce will be considered. The programme of business is now in preparation, and will be forwarded to all countries.

THE AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—The Emperor Francis Joseph drove to the castle of Charlottenburg yesterday, where he visited the mortuary chapel in the park. He spent some time at the tomb of William I, and deposited a wreath upon it. The compliment paid to Count Von Moltke by the Emperor Francis Joseph in appointing him to an honorary colonelcy in the Austrian army, greatly pleases the public.

REPENTANCE AT LAST.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Maybrick, the condemned murderess, is in a very depressed state. She spends much of her time mourning for her children, and weeping copiously. The chaplain of the prison is devoting much of his time to the condemned woman, and she appears to greatly appreciate his visits.

NEW TRADING COMPANY.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A company has been formed for the purpose of promoting Russian trade in Central Asia. The capital of the company is five million roubles.

LACKS IMPORTANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 13.—Well informed persons here do not attach any political importance to the meeting between the Emperors William and Francis Joseph. It is said that the relations between Germany and Austria do not require strengthening, and the Austrian emperor's visit is merely an act of courtesy.

THE SHAH IMPRESSED.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says that, in the course of an interview, the Shah expressed himself as much impressed with the power of England. He referred frequently to the kindness shown to him by the English royal family particularly by the Prince of Wales.

THE SENATE COURT.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The vote on the question of the competency of the senate court to try Boulanger is regarded as an indication of the final result of the trial. It is believed that a large majority of the members will vote against Boulanger.

THE G. O. M. WILL CRUISE.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Gladstone will shortly go on a yachting cruise to the west of Scotland. During the trip he will visit a number of places and make speeches of a political nature.

BOULANGER'S TRIAL.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The senate met again to-day as a high court of impeachment to try the charges against General Boulanger, Count Dillon and M. Rochefort. Immediately on assembling, the leader of the right moved that the senate was incompetant to try the cases or to render a legal judgment since the allegations contained in the indictment were not of such a nature as to constitute treason, and since upon the charges of treason alone is the senate competent to sit in judgment. An effort was made on the part of Boulangist senators to discuss the motion but the president declared that all discussion was out of order and the motion was put. The result was that it was rejected by a vote of 212 to 51. After the announcement of the vote, the members of the right withdrew from the chamber and held a caucus at which it was unanimously decided to take no further part in the proceedings.

Premier Greenway left Winnipeg for the Pacific coast on Sunday.

The ratepayers of Victoria have decided that they can't afford the luxury of whisking up to the "hub" in 2 hours and 37 minutes over Amor DeCosmos' amphibious palace car line. At the voting yesterday on the two by-laws in aid of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway, the interest bonus by-law was carried by a bare majority of three only, while the share by-law was defeated by forty-six votes. The interest bonus by-law as passed provides, briefly, that the city of Victoria shall grant and guarantee unto the railway company a bonus of interest on $500,000 of the company's bonds for twenty-five years, amounting to $20,000 a year; also that the company shall have a free water supply for ten years, and exemption from taxation for the same period. The defeated share by-law called for the corporation of Victoria becoming a shareholder in the V. S. & N. W. R.R. to the extent of 1,250 shares of $100 each in the capital stock of the company, and to meet and pay for the calls on the 1,250 shares to the extent of $125,000. Although temporarily wet-blanketed by the verdict of the ratepayers yesterday, we expect to see the Victoria, Saanich & Westminster Railway "bobbing up serenely" again in some other direction. The public promoters of the scheme, Hon. Armor DeCosmos, Hon. John H. Turner, M.P.P., John Grant, Esq., M.P.P., Charles E. Redfern, Esq., Alex. Wilson, Esq., Alex. Alfred Green, Esq., and James Stuart Yates, Esq., all of Victoria, are not the men, we take it, to lie down permanently under partial defeat, especially as the enterprise itself holds out not a few advantages to the capital city.

The News of this morning takes Alderman Jaques to task for his incidental and somewhat disparaging reference in the city council to the recently held Fruit Growers' Association exhibition at Vancouver, and attributes an animus to his remarks on the subject that certainly does not belong to them. Says the News: "It is difficult to know what could have incited the worthy alderman to make such remarks as he did, except he did so through a feeling of petty jealousy which prevents a man from seeing any good in anything which does not take place in his own town, or which he himself has not originated." Our cotemporary need not have fallen into such an error if it had taken the trouble, instead of jumping to a conclusion as it has done, to dispassionately consider the connection and drift of Alderman Jaques' remarks referred to. Alderman Jaques, in his laudable zealousness for the success of the provincial exhibition to be held in this city the first week in October, was urging the necessity of having it properly advertised and without more delay, and, after the manner of temperance orators, emphasized his remarks by utilizing the late Fruit Growers' exhibition at Vancouver as the "horrible example." If the worthy alderman spoke a little strongly, it will readily be seen that his feelings all revolved round the subject paramount in his mind—the proper advertising of the forthcoming provincial exhibition—and that his purely incidental reference to the late exhibition at Vancouver was wholly devoid of that animus which the News has professed to see in it. There can be no doubt that Alderman Jaques had reasons for believing that the exhibition in question was not an unqualified success—not because it had been held at Vancouver but because—and this is implied in the alderman's remarks it had not been properly advertised; and Alderman Jaques was commendably anxious that the same mistake should not be repeated in the case of the provincial exhibition. The News itself admits that the exhibition at that city fell short of success in point of attendance. "If the attendance at the exhibition was not as large as it should have been, is it not men like Alderman Jaques who were the cause of it?" says our cotemporary. Without straining the imagination in looking for a cause for the somewhat unsatisfactory attendance, and number of the exhibits, at the Fruit Growers' exhibition at Vancouver, it may be found in the reason we have mentioned above, viz., insufficient advertising of the event. It is the agricultural districts that must be looked to mainly to take an interest in and attend these exhibitions, and they should be thoroughly advertised in the various weekly, as well as daily papers, for at least two months prior to the holding of the show. In the case of the late Fruit Growers' exhibition, we may state that it was not advertised in this paper at all—with the exception of a short notice, a few days before the exhibition, referring to special passenger rates—and the WEEKLY COLUMBIAN, by reason of its being longest established and more generally circulated, is, pre-eminently, the paper which the people of Westminster district look to for their news and general and special information. So long as false views of enconomy, and slow measures generally, obtain with exhibition promoters in this province, so long will exhibitions continue to be complete or partial "fizzles," in the matter, at least, of attendance, the number of the exhibits, and general interest. That the majority of our more important exhibitions in the past have failed to a greater or less extent in these respects, and for the reason stated, there can be no question. In conclusion, we trust that the News will have seen the foolishness of its assumption that Alderman Jaques was actuated by any bad feeling towards Vancouver in his merely incidental remarks about the Fruit Growers' Association exhibition.

How many of the engineering works of the nineteenth century, remarks Engineering, will there be in existence in the year 6000? Very few, it fears, and still less those that will continue in the far-off age to serve a useful purpose, and adds: Yet, there is at least one great undertaking conceived and executed by an engineer which during the space of four thousand years has never ceased its office, on which the life of a fertile province absolutely depends to day. We refer to the Bahr Joussuf—the canal of Joseph—built, according to tradition, by the son of Jacob, and which constitutes not the least of the many blessings he conferred on Egypt during the years of his prosperous rule. This canal took its rise from the Nile at Asiut, and ran nearly parallel with it for nearly two hundred and fifty miles, creeping along under the western cliffs of the Nile valley, with many a bend and winding, until at length it gained an eminence, as compared with the river bed, which enabled it to turn westward through a narrow pass and enter a district which was otherwise shut off from the fertilizing floods on which all vegetation in Egypt depends. The northern end stood seventeen feet above low Nile, while at the southern end it was at an equal elevation with the river. Through this cut ran a perennial stream, which watered a province named the Fayoum, endowing it with fertility and supporting a large population. In the time of the annual flood a great part of the canal was under water, and then the river's current would rush in a more direct course into the pass, carrying with it the rich silt which takes the place of manure and keeps the soil in a state of constant productiveness. All this, with the exception of the tradition that Joseph built it, can be verified to-day, and it is not mere supposition or rumor. Until eight years ago it was firmly believed that the design has always been limited to an irrigation scheme, larger, no doubt, than that now in operation, as shown by the traces of abandoned canals and by the slow aggregation of waste water which had accumulated in the Birket el Querun, but still essentially the same in character. Many accounts have been written by Greek and Roman historians, such a Herodotus, Strabo, Mutianus, and Pliny, and repeated in monkish legends or portrayed in the maps of the middle ages, which agreed with the folk lore of the district. These tales explained that the canal dug by the ancient Israelite served to carry the surplus waters of the Nile into an extensive lake lying south of the Fayoum, and so large that it not only modified the climate, tempering the arid winds of the desert and converting them into the balmy airs which nourished the vines and the olives into a fullness and fragrance unknown in any other part of the country, but also added to the food supply of the land such immense quantities of fish that the royal prerogative of the right of piscary at the great weir was valued at $250,000 annually. This lake was said to be 450 miles round, and to be navigated by a fleet of vessels, while the whole circumference was the scene of industry and prosperity.

AN AWFUL WARNING.

A wide Shakespearean sweep of brow,
A dome of thought Titanic;
A quick, magnetic nature his,
A spirit strong, galvanic.
He had the wit of Hudibras,
The intellect of Plato,
And every one perceived at once
He was no small potato;
But yet he asked, alas! 'tis true:
"Well, is this hot enough for you?"

And he had deep Websterian eyes
Beneath his brows o'erarching,
His mind kept step to that great tune
To which the world is marching.
Along fame's track we prophesied
He'd be the fastest sprinter—
His intellectual lightning gleamed
Like Northern lights in winter;
But yet, he asked the summer thro':
"Well, is this hot enough for you?"

And so his high Shakespearean thought
Was step by step arrested,
His elephantine intellect
Was gradually congested;
His lofty, intellectual dome
From day to day grew flatter,
His head so shrank and shriveled up
It terrorized his hatter;
But still he said: "How do you do?
Well, is this hot enough for you?"

And now his thoughts are very crude,
Inane and embryotic,
He mouths and jabbers all the day
In manner idiotic.
The poor, old, hopeless imbecile,
The jest of all creation,
Lives as a warning to those folks
Who make this salutation:
"Good morning, friend, how do you do;
Well, is this hot enough for you?"

—S. W. Foss, in Yankee Blade.

PHEBE'S PRESCRIPTION.

Her Search for Health She Found a Husband.

"I always foresaw how it would turn it," said Mrs. Mynton. "You can bear itness, girls, that I prophesied this from e beginning. She isn't strong enough to ork in a store. She's no sort of use about e house; and here she is sick on our nds, and no telling how long it is going to st, with every prospect of a doctor's bill, d an account at the drug store, and Mynn's salary just cut down on account of the ll season coming on and business being ack, and"—

"Hush, mamma!" said Angelina Mynton, tting her finger with a gesture which deoted caution. "She hears you."

It was true. The black mist was floating way from Phebe Clissold's obscured vision; e words, which at first sounded like the stant buzzing from a bee-hive, now sumed form and distinctness.

"I am very sorry, Aunt Mynton," said e. "I will try not to be a burden on you. deed," with a faint smile flickering around er white lips, "I did not faint away on purse; but the store was so hot, and the venlation so poor—if I could have a few drops water to drink"—

Phebe Clissold had been left an orphan at ineteen. Her nearest relative—a brother her deceased mother—was a bank clerk New York, and to him she had naturally rected her footsteps. He had succeeded obtaining for her a situation in a great ncy store; and in this, the first quarter, e had ignominiously broken down.

"She can not endure long hours and ose confinement," said Dr. Falkney. "She ust have plenty of exercise and fresh air. his store business won't do."

"Exercise!" bitterly repeated Mrs. Mynon, in whose heart years of privation and ll had well nigh soured the milk of uman kindness. "But we don't keep a arriage and pair, Dr. Falkney, neither do e have time to walk in the park. Fresh r! We live in a flat, and the bed-rooms re lighted by gas and ventilated through e shaft, and things can't be helped, so far s I can see."

Dr. Falkney shook his head.

"Slow poison," said he, "for a girl of her mperament."

Phebe, lying on the lounge in the adjoinng room, and slowly knitting on a pair of ocks for the last Mynton baby, heard all his. She put two and two together in her ind.

"They don't want me here," thought she adly. "I am a useless boarder, and Dr. alkney says I am not to go back to the tore. The question is, what am I to do? Exercise! Fresh air! Aunt Mynton is ight; there seems to be no prospect of my taining any such luxuries."

As she lay there she watched Angelina lynton trying to trim her last season's hat ith three yards of crushed-strawberry-olored ribbon, and a bunch of yellow primoses. Evidently, Angelina was no milliner. he twitched the ribbon this way and that; he pinned the primroses first on one side, hen on another, and ended by flinging own the bonnet with an exclamation of espair.

"Hateful old thing!" she cried, "I can't o any thing with it."

Phebe laid down her knitting needles. "Give it to me!" said she.

A few dextrous folds and turnings of the ibbons, a dainty adjustment of the muchbused primroses, and Phebe held up the onnet to Angelina's admiring glance.

"How do you like it now?" said she.

Angelina clasped her needle-pricked ingers in admiration.

"Oh, it's lovely!" cried she. "It isn't ike the same hat. How did you do it, Phebe?"

"I don't know," said Phebe. "I always sed to trim my own hats and my mother's. like to do it."

"You ought to be a milliner," said Angelina. "Only," with a sudden recollection, "Dr. Falkney says you can't be shut up in a tore, and a milliner's trade is about as conining as any there is."

"Yes," assented Phebe, with a sigh.

Dr. Falkney was a quiet, brief-spoken an of forty, and a bachelor at that. He ad practiced medicine in the same location or ten years, and never felt that any lement was lacking in his life until now. But on this brisk spring morning he sat oughtfully in his office, looking at the reat skeleton that hung behind a baize urtain in the corner, and tapping his ruler n the table.

"She has eyes like a startled deer," he aid to himself. "And such a soft, sweet oice! She doesn't chatter like those cousins f hers. She speaks in a slow, gentle way, hat seems to rest one's hearing. And she s so utterly friendless and alone. Yes, I'll arry her, if she will have me."

When Dr. Falkney once made up his ind, he was not long in acting upon it. So went that self-same afternoon to Mrs. lynton's and asked to see Miss Clissold.

"La!" said Mrs. Mynton, who sat at her everlasting mending-basket. "Didn't you now! She's gone away."

"Gone!" Dr. Falkney looked surprised. "Gone where?"

"Well, it's the queerest thing," said Mrs. Mynton. "We don't know. And I don't airly believe she knows herself. She said he was going to follow out your prescripion, doctor."

"My prescription?"

"Exercise and fresh air, you know. She aid she'd be back at the end of a few veeks and let us know how it worked."

Dr. Falkney's jet-black brows contracted.

"And you let her go away like this?" said he. "So young, so lovely and so inexperienced! Where were your maternal instincts, Mrs. Mynton?"

Mrs. Mynton bridled a little.

"I don't see what maternal instincts have o do with it," said she. "She's no kin to me. Only Mynton's sister's child. And I've got four girls of my own to look after. And when all's come and gone, I've got no authority over Phebe Clissold to stay or stop her."

"Yes, I see," said the doctor, with a disturbed look. "I dare say it is as you say. But I hope she will soon come home again."

Phebe had made up her mind what to do.

"I'll be a traveling peddler," she told herself. "Part of my stock I'll carry in my brains, and part on my arm."

That day, just as Mrs. Perkins, at Flock Center, was setting her table for dinner, Phebe Clissold knocked at the door.

"Bless me!" cried the farmer's wife, nearly dropping her biggest blue-edged plate in her surprise. "Is that you, Phebe?"

"Yes," nodded Phebe. "How good your dinner smells, Mrs. Perkins! Chicken pot-pie! I thought so! And an Indian pudding! Mrs. Perkins, I think I shall stay and take dinner with you."

"And welcome," said the good woman. "But I thought, Phebe, you had gone to your New York relations. You hain't quarreled with them, I hope?"

"Oh, no," said Phebe. "I never quarrel with anybody, Mrs. Perkins. But I've got my living to earn. Uncle Mynton isn't a rich man, and I can't be a drag on him. I tried life in a store, but it seems I wasn't strong enough for that sort of thing. So I'm going to strike out on a new tack. I'm a traveling milliner at present."

"What!" said Mrs. Perkins, holding the tea-caddy high above the shining plated teapot.

Phebe pointed to the light basket that she carried on her arm.

"In that basket," said she, laughing, "there are three compartments. One is full of the latest style of spring frames, packed closely, one within another; the second contains flowers and wreaths; the third is full of ribbons of every color of the rainbow. You'll get your spring bonnet of me, Mrs. Perkins, won't you?"

"Well, if that ain't providential!" said Mrs. Perkins. "I was just going to Linley arter it to-morrow—I was, just as sure as you're born!"

"I'll suit you better than any of the Linley milliners, Mrs. Perkins," said Phebe. "And I'll work cheap, too. Give me a trial, that's all I ask."

"Well, I'll do that," said the good dame. "I remember, now, you was always handy with the needle. Dinner's ready, an' I'm goin' to blow the horn for Perkins and the hired man. Sit down, Phebe, and take pot-luck with us."

After dinner Phebe set herself diligently to work to suit Mrs. Perkins with a new bonnet. Scarlet field-poppies, black satin ribbon and a frame covered with puffed black silk took the worthy woman's fancy completely.

"I never had a handsomer bunnit," said she. "There's real style to it. Eight dollars? Of course I'll pay you eight dollars, Phebe! I expected to pay ten in Linley, and this is prettier than I'd have got there."

This bit of success took the edge off from the criticisms and carpings of Mrs. Deacon Root, who lived in the next house with her three daughters, who had none of them, to use her own expression, "any faculty fur fixin' up bunnits." And Phebe was compelled to "wholesale" the family for twenty-six dollars, which hardly more than covered expenses.

Then she repacked her basket and once more set forth, under the blossoming trees *and along the shady lanes, where dan*delions sprinkled all the grass like drops of sunshine.

"Dr. Falkney was right," she said to herself. "Air and exercise are what I needed. I feel like another woman, only it does make me feel bad to think of never seeing Dr. Falkney's kind face again!" And for a moment the far-away blue of the April sky glimmered through a mist of unshed tears. "How foolish I am!" said Phebe to herself.

Then she knocked at Mrs. Parthan's door, and asked leave to show her the new spring shapes in hats and bonnets.

The fresh, glistening rolls of ribbon, the crisp roses and jonquils, the tempting "shapes" in straw and lace and buckram, and Phebe's own natural-born skill in combining them—all these proved irresistible to the country folk, and before long Phebe had sold out all her stock and returned to the city with a considerable sum over and above her expenses.

"This," she said gleefully to herself, "I shall give to Aunt Mynton toward the cost I have been to her."

As she crossed the street toward the dreary, red brick walls of the "Ontario Flats," where the Myntons dwelt, with about a dozen other families, some one reined up a horse, with a quick cry of: "Do you want to be run over, Phebe?"

She looked up. It was Dr. Falkney.

"Oh doctor," she cried, radiantly, "I have taken your prescription, and you can't think how much good it has done me!"

The doctor looked as bright as she did herself. "I shall call to see you to-night," said he.

"Another prescription?" cried Phebe. And then she remembered, with a sudden crimsoning of the cheeks, that she had not yet paid his bill.

"But I can pay him now!" she thought, as she stood there and watched his carriage roll down the street. "Just as soon as his office hours begin I'll go there. I won't wait for him to present his bill."

To Dr. Falkney's great surprise his first patient that afternoon was Phebe Clissold.

"Doctor," said she, "I've come to pay your bill out of money that I've earned myself."

"Have I sent it in?" said he.

"No, but—"

"Nor do I intend to do so!" he declared. "Phebe, I'm thinking of going into partnership."

"Then your partner will certainly want all the old debts paid up," nodded she.

"I don't know about that. I am thinking of a life-partnership, Phebe—not a medical one—and the partner I want, dear little girl, is you!"

It was, perhaps, a little vague, but she understood it in an instant. Her cheeks flushed; her long brown eyelashes drooped.

"Dearest," said he, taking her hand, "is it to be Dr. Falkney and wife?"

Some other patients came in just then, and after that one look into her hazel eyes Dr. Falkney was troubled with no misgivings.

So there came an end to the bonnet-trimming business—"the itinerant millinery," as Phebe's husband called it.

"But I shall always feel happier and more independent," said she, "for knowing that I am able to earn my own living."—Saturday night.

THE BITER BITTEN.

A Practical Joke Which Came Near Ending in a Tragedy.

A young physician went to see his cousin, an army officer, out upon the great plains. The officer was given to practical jokes, and the young doctor, being a genuine "tenderfoot," was a most promising subject. One morning, says the Youth's Companion, the host gravely proposed an elephant-hunt. "What," said the doctor, "do you have elephants out here?"

"Plenty of them," replied the host. Preparations were at once begun, and by nine o'clock a party of youngsters, ripe for the fun, were after elephants. When about five or six miles from the post the doctor was sent through a thicket of "wait-a-bit" thorns, of which he knew nothing. Anticipating rare sport at his plight on his return the host sat on his horse waiting, when he heard a shot and was startled by loud cries for help.

He galloped through the glades and arrived at a small prairie opening of an acre or two in extent, around which the doctor was frantically urging his pony, while only a few yards behind was a huge wild Texas bull in full charge.

All the manliness of the host was aroused by this real and unexpected danger of his friend, and, without a moment's hesitation, he dashed in and fired a pistol shot. In an instant the bull turned upon him. His large American horse was unequal to the emergency, and in turning was met full in the side by the horns of the beast.

Both horse and rider were lifted for one instant into the air, and then came down in a heap together. The horse was dead without a struggle, one horn being completely through his body, the other caught in the bones of the chest. One leg of the rider was between the horns of the bull, pinned fast between his head and the body of the horse.

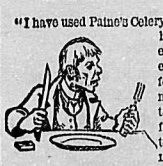
The whole hunting party soon assembled. They were afraid to shoot the bull, lest his struggles might further injure the man pinned to him. At last his jugular vein was opened and he slowly bled to death. His horns were then cut off, the horse lifted and the now nearly dead man carried on a litter back to the post.

Though no bones were broken, he paid the full penalty of his joke, not only with the loss of a fine horse, but with several weeks of severe suffering. It was his last "elephant" hunt.

Harmless Dynamite Bombs.

An American was arrested on the Austrian frontier for having in his luggage unmistakable dynamite bombs. On further investigation they proved to be cocoanuts, something that the Austrian authorities had never seen.

It Makes You Hungry



"I have used Paine's Celery Compound and it has had a salutary effect. It invigorated the system and I feel like a new man. It improves the appetite and facilitates digestion." J. T. COPELAND, Primus, S. C.

Spring medicine means more now-a-days than it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of to-day—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians, Recommended by Druggists, Endorsed by Ministers, Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be

The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 1887 I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling, and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need a building up and strengthening medicine." Mrs. D. A. Dow, Burlington, Vt.

—AND—

ALBERT J. HILL & COMPANY

OF NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C.

The advantages and prospects of this Plot for a future thriving Town are many.

The Land in the vicinity is good.

There are inexhaustible IRON ORE DEPOSITS, of a superior quality, immediately adjacent, as well as vast strata of the finest BUILDING SAND and POTTERY CLAY.

On the Townsite are a number of valuable MINERAL SPRINGS.

Communication by land and water is unequalled, by reason of the location of the Townsite on the Fraser River and the Southern Railway, while the natural elevation and lay of the land can not be excelled as a situation for a fine town.

The ground is open and clear of heavy timber.

The site has been selected as one of the most important stations on the Southern Railway, and with the completion of the road, in the near future, must, with all its other advantages, spring into prominence at once.

Those who apply early will have the pick of the Lots.

A clear title given with every purchase.

Parties wishing Lots can apply as well, on the premises, to

The str. Rainbow left for Victoria this morning with freight and passengers.

Don't forget the address by Prof. Blaikie to-night in St. Andrew's church.

W. H. Vianen has opened a grocery store on Front street next to his fish market.

The str. Gladys left for up-river ports to-day with a full cargo of freight and 20 passengers.

Lots! Lots! Lots! Lots (in this city) of boots and shoes at the store of grant and maclure.

Four carloads of cattle arrived from the interior last night consigned to Van Volkenburg Bros.

The str. Dunsmuir left for Nanaimo this morning with 20 passengers and 26 tons of merchandise.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the rooms at 8 o'clock this evening.

Walker & Co. have Sapperton Lots near New Hospital and Ross-Maclaren Mills at old prices. *

New musical instruments, fancy glass, tariff books (all importers should buy one).—MISS PEEDLES. *

James Leamy, the railroad contractor, is advertising in Vancouver for from forty to fifty men to work on his contract.

Capt. Peele has removed his meteorological instruments to opposite Mr. Z. S. Hall's book store, where they will be just as free to the public as ever.

Capt. Cavan, of the str. Rainbow, had the misfortune to severely strain his back a few days ago, and it is expected he will be forced to lay off for a week or two.

The body of Daly, who was drowned on Sunday while crossing to Brownsville in a skiff has not been recovered yet, and there is little chance of it coming to the surface for a couple of weeks.

County court was in session to-day and a number of cases were disposed of. The docket contains a large number of cases, the most of which are of a trifling nature and of no public interest.

Owing to the repairs to Holy Trinity church, the Thursday evening service, this week, and the choir practice, will be held in the temperance hall, adjoining the City hotel, Columbia street.

J. W. Bengough, Canada's great cartoonist, is arranging for a tour through British Columbia during September. He is expected in Kamloops on the 24th or 25th and after delivering a lecture there will come to the coast.

The heavy bush fires in the hills has driven wild beasts into the valleys and settlements in large numbers, and they are playing sad havoc with the domestic animals of the farmers. Panthers especially, are proving very destructive to hogs, sheep and calves.—Courier.

The fog was so dense this morning that it fairly overwhelmed the smoke for a few hours. Steamboats had to proceed with the utmost caution after leaving port, and their whistles could be heard sounding, at intervals of a minute, for nearly two hours, an evidence that they proceeded very slowly.

Says the Nanaimo Courier: The meeting of the citizens of Comox with the provincial government on Friday seems to have been a very successful one, from a government standpoint Comox has suffered long and patiently, and now if the government should but do justice to the district it should have its just moiety of praise.

The auction sale of government lands on the townsite of Hastings, and in blocks immediately adjoining, will be conducted at Vancouver to-morrow by Mr. Geo. Byrns, the well known auctioneer. The lands offered for sale are all valuable and will readily find purchasers. A number of Westminsterites will attend the auction.

All members of the lacrosse club are reminded that a full practice is called for this evening, and every member of the club is expected to be present. The match with Victoria takes place on the 24th inst., so that there is very little time to waste, and the club requires as much practice as possible in the meantime if there is to be any hope of winning the game.

The upper works of the str. Adelaide have been most gorgeously decorated with signs and legends, describing in many colored letters the best and cheapest establishments for the purchase of goods in general. The work of the artist has given the steamer a striking, though somewhat mottled appearance, and the scheme, as an advertising venture, is certainly an excellent one.

Speaking of an article of the Times on the proposed university, the Sentinel says: "In this matter, as in many others the Times undertakes to dilate upon, we are at loss to understand it. The whole article may be a gonk, or it may not. We can't tell whether the writer means what he writes, or writes what he means, 'cause he writes 'em both alike. Explain please." This is some of the fruits of that terrible "analogy."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The Kamloops base ball tournament will take place this year on September 10th. The management announce $1,200 in cash prizes, besides trophies, etc., for contests in base ball, lacrosse, cricket and athletic sports. The annual picnic of the C.P.R. employees on the Pacific division will be held at Kamloops on the same date, and reduced railway fares have been arraigned for.

The salmon run last night was the best since the season opened. In Woodward slough the fish were so numerous that their black fins could be seen sticking out of the water almost as thick as grass blades in a garden. The number of boats fishing at present is not more than half the number employed two weeks ago, but still they are sufficient to catch all the fish required by the canneries.

Candidate for Alderman.

We have authority for announcing that Mr. W. H. Keary will be a candidate for one of the vacancies in the aldermanic board. Mr. Keary, although a comparatively young man, is one of the pioneers of the royal city, and one of its most patriotic and public-spirited citizens. He is so well known that it is almost unnecessary to add that in ability as in other respects he has the qualifications for a first-class alderman.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Blaikie.

Rev. Prof. Blakie, the distinguished Scotch divine and literateur, accompanied by Mrs. Blaikie, arrived this afternoon from Victoria, via Vancouver, and, according to announcement, will deliver an address in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church to-night. Mr. and Mrs. Blaikie are registered at the Colonial, but will probably be the guests of Rev. Mr. Scouler this evening and to-morrow. Dr. Blaikie and his wife leave for Vancouver to-morrow evening.

The Dinner to Mr. Dewdney.

The matter of tendering a public dinner to Hon. Edgar Dewdney, minister of the interior, on the occasion of his visit to Westminster this month, has met with general approbation, and the affair promises to be one of the most popular events ever given in this city. Owing to the required action not having been taken at the council meeting on Monday night, and taking into consideration the unanimous feeling on the subject, it has been decided that a public meeting will be unnecessary, and a committee has been appointed by acting Mayor Curtis to carry out the arrangements. The committee will be composed of the mayor and Messrs. R. Dickinson, J. Hendry, B. Douglas; J. C. Armstrong and Wm. Johnston. A meeting will be held within a day or two to perfect arrangements, when full particulars of the programme intended will be laid before the public through these columns.

Chinese Laborers.

The Chinese laborers who a short week ago imagined they controlled the labor market are liable to find within a few days that their services can be easily dispensed with so far as the greater number of them are concerned. Several more canneries than those enumerated yesterday are just about out of cans and will probably close down about the end of the present week. This will throw a large number of Celestials on the labor market, and case the strain that has been felt for a month or more. The Chinese are proverbially saucy when they imagine they have the upper hand, but, unfortunately for them, their efforts in the striking line usually come to naught, and end in a dismal failure. The Chinese who were employed by the northern canneries during the packing season are beginning to return to Victoria, 200 having arrived back by the last steamer. These will naturally seek employment wherever obtainable, and thus the salmon packers and other large employers of labor will be in a position to dictate terms, instead of terms being dictated to them.

Parcel Post.

It is understood that the postoffice department is negotiating with the imperial general postoffice with a view to a reduction in the rates for the transmission of parcels by mail between Canada and the mother country. The rates per pound, or fraction of a pound, are as follows: Maritime provinces and Quebec, 30 cents; Ontario, 25 cents; Manitoba and N. W. T., 40 cents; British Columbia, 45 cents. Another matter at present engaging the attention of the department is the extension of the parcel post service to all the countries in the postal union. As enormous expense would be entailed in establishing direct service from Canada with these several countries, the imperial authorities have been asked to constitute their general postoffice at London as the Canadian office of exchange, and a favorable answer is confidently looked for. Should the proposal be agreed to, the rates of postage on the parcels would be those in force between Canada and Great Britain and the country of destination. The latter amount would be handed over to Great Britain when the annual settlement takes place.

Criminal Assault.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning a man, about 60 years of age, made a criminal assault on a little girl, about 5 years of age, on the steps of the American hotel. Capt. Peele, who happened to be passing at the time, saw the assault, and promptly knocked the blackguard down and then marched him to the lockup. About half way up McKenzie street the man showed fight, and threw off his coat to give his arms free play. Capt. Peele, however, persuaded him, in no gentle manner, to walk to the lockup, where he was taken in charge by Constable Smith. An information was laid against him before Capt. Pittendrigh, and the case will be heard to-morrow. The prisoner refuses to give his name, and is most abusive in his language to all who approach him. He was under the influence of liquor when the assault was made, but sober enough to know all he was doing, and also cunning enough to feign drunkenness after being locked up. The man is a stranger in the city, and from his appearance would be classed as a railroad navvy or possibly a tramp. Several cases of this kind have happened within the past year, without the guilty parties have been brought to justice, but it is satisfactory to know that in this case the guilty will not escape. Capt. Peele has been generally complimented for the prompt manner in which he dealt with the offender.

Sports and Games.

The exhibition celebration committees met at the city hall last night. There was a large attendance and work was proceeded with in business like manner; Capt. E. S. Scoullar, who had been appointed chairman of the sports committee, sent in his resignation, being obliged to leave for the east shortly on a business trip. The sports committee was divided into several sub-committees in order to facilitate matters. After a couple of hours work the various committees adjourned to meet again on Saturday evening. Mr. S. T. Mackintosh has been appointed permanent secretary of the celebration committee, which is an excellent appointment, as he is thoroughly competent for the many and arduous duties connected with the position.

Our Fire Laddies.

At a meeting of the Hyack fire company, held last night, Mr. S. Woods and Mr. W. W. Dickinson were appointed a committee to wait upon the citizens and solicit subscriptions for the purpose of sending a racing team to Tacoma to take part in the tournament which will be held at that city on Sept. 16th, 17th and 18th. The Hyacks are practising steadily for the event, and to-night the full team of 15 men will be out. Ever since the company was re-organized last fall, its members have taken a deep interest in their duties, and have endeavored to make themselves as efficient as possible. Outside of the routine of regular duty there must be some attractions to induce the members to retain a lively interest in the company, and nothing is more liable to keep up the esprit de corps that a successful racing team—one that will add fresh laurels to the brigade. The Hyacks have a team worthy of every support, and when the collectors ask a subscription to-morrow it is to be hoped the merchants, and all others particularly benefited by efficient fire protection, will come down liberally and prove their patriotism.

Another False Report.

A few days ago an item appeared in a Vancouver newspaper, purporting to be a despatch from Tacoma, stating that Mr. Nelson Bennett, of the Fairhaven & Southern Railway, had discharged 1000 men who had been employed on railroad construction. This afternoon Mr. B. Douglas, president of the Southern Railway, received the following despatch from Mr. Bennett; "Report in Advertiser entirely false; on the contrary we are putting on all the men we can get. Report probably means Ship Harbor road, or Seattle Northern, as I understand they have discharged their entire force." This despatch will re-assure the few who were mislead by the report in the first instance. Little or no attention was paid to the despatch referred to, as it was not considered likely that Mr. Bennett would double work on the terminal portion of the road and shut down operations at the starting point. Although Mr. Bennett has not advertised his present operations and future intentions, or "blown his own horn" to any great extent, yet he is hard at work on his road, and his failure to advertise himself with loud clamour is because he believes in work, not bombast.

Colonial Scenery.

At the Egyptian Hall, Piccadilly, London, Eng., Edward Roper has on exhibition pictures of colonial scenery and incidents, embracing views of Canada, the lakes, prairies and mountains, British Columbia, Australia, New Zealand, and the South Seas, made during recent visits to these countries. From a hand-book on the views, for which we are indebted to Mr. H. B. Shadwell, of the Bon Marche clothing house, we make the following extracts about New Westminster: "This is, or was, until Vancouver city outstripped it, the second city in British Columbia. It is but a small place according to our ideas [i. e., London ideas], but it is full of enterprise, and does a 'big business' in lumber, i.e., timber, and fish. There are many very charming residences here, and after the wildness and roughness of the prairies and mountains, the traveller is enchanted with the evidences of comfort and refinement which surround him. This drawing was made beside the road, a few minutes' walk above the city. The 'sidewalk' was continually traversed by 'all sorts and conditions of men,' from ladies and gentlemen in Bond-street attire to the Indian Siwash and his klootchmen; there were Chinamen, too, of high and low degree, but nearly all of them carried an English silk umbrella, and there were young Englishmen in 'blazers' on lawn tennis bent."

Hornby Island.

News is received in town to-day that the settlers on Hornby island have bonded all their coal rights and interests to the Oregon Improvement Company, and that company will within the next few weeks commence boring operations on that island. Hornby island is situated in the Gulf of Georgia, nearly opposite the Union mines, Denman island intervening. It has been thought for some time that the coal would be found under that island, but there is a great difference of opinion as to the probable depth, estimates ranging from 1000 to 5000 feet. The island is not a very large one, but with the water privileges, affords room for an extensive area of coal.—Free Press.

From the North.

The Sardonyx, Capt. Meyer, arrived from the north Monday afternoon. About 200 Indians and Chinese from the canneries came down. For freight the largest item was 4,448 cases of salmon, of which 2,548 cases were consigned to Robert Ward & Co. The British American Co. sent down 1,500, and 300 cases were for Findley, Durham & Brodie. At Rivers Inlet the canneries had quit operations, being filled up. Draney has a pack of 17,000 and the Wannuck cannery 10,000, also 300 barrels of salted salmon. The B. A. P. Co. has a pack of 11,000; Carthew has 9,000; at Alert Bay Spencer's cannery had 5,000 and was still putting up fish. The Cascade has a pack of 4,000 and McLellan 9,000. The run on the Skeena had not improved any and the only full pack was at Rivers Inlet. The steamers Princess Louise and Boscowitz were passed at Rivers Inlet all right. The little steamer Saturna left the Skeena last Friday for this port.—Times.

The Black Diamond.

There was considerable chuckling here at the news from Victoria of the safe arrival there of the sealer Black Diamond, although there is naturally much resentment still existent at the outrageous conduct of Capt. Shepherd in forcibly boarding the vessel and breaking open the ship's lockers. Shepherd's action and that of his government affords a very remarkable contrast to the treatment extended to the United States fishing vessels that have been seized or detained for trangressions of our fishery laws on the Atlantic. Take as an instance the case of the schooner Mattie Winship, seized off Sidney in June last. That vessel was released on a bond for $3,000, and subsequently our government intimated its willingness to give up the vessel on a payment of $2,000 and expenses, while in the case of the Canadian vessels seized in Behring Sea in 1887 a number of them have been allowed to go to decay, and in other cases, when it was proposed to bond them the amount of security demanded was so far in excess of the actual valuation that the owners refused to have anything to do with them. With regard to the others, we learn that up to the present it has been impossible to secure a re-valuation of the seized vessels. Apart altogether from the recent seizure, the conduct of Capt. Shepherd must of necessity engage the most serious attention of the home government. In this case a vessel having a British register and flying the British flag is boarded on the high seas and forcibly searched. Under these circumstances it is surely due to British vessels pursuing a legitimate calling that the Imperial government should, without procrastination, take prompt and decisive measures to protect its commerce beyond the territorial waters of the United States or any other country.—Empire.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Thistleopolis.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Has it not occurred to many who travel by the C. P. R. what a terrible harvest of thistles threatens the farmers of Maple Ridge municipality, and for the matter of that, the whole country? Thistledown lies under the fences like snow-drifts in winter, and every passing train whirls and scatters afar the pestiferous thistle-seed. Why don't the municipality compel lot-owners and the railway company to destroy the noxious weed? If they do not, they may well change the name of their municipality to THISTLEOPOLIS!
