NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Principal Grant says the Japanese are abandoning rice in favor of bread, and he can see no reason why the fertile prairies of the Northwest should not largely supply Japan with the wheat she will require for her thirty-eight millions of people.

Says an exchange: Pending the official announcement the cable correspondents are offering the post of British minister at Washington to almost every prominent man whose services are not otherwise engaged. Mr. Chamberlain is the latest person mentioned for the position, but he has married a wife and cannot come.

The following is not very encouraging for temperance people: A temperance medal has been found inside a crocodile caught in the Daintree river, Queensland. The medal is one of the usual kind issued by the temperance societies, and bore the date 1880. The name on the medal was A. D. Edwards. Enquiries have been made, but nothing was known of the person whose name is given.

An exchange says: A. E. Hatheway, a young man from St. John, N. B., who was arrested and imprisoned at Fort McKinney, Wyoming Territory, on the false charge of being a deserter from the U. S. army, has obtained an indemnity of $1,000, from the U. S. treasury through representations made by Canadian an Imperial governments. Even this is poor remuneration for the loss of health and property which Mr. Hatheway suffered during this brutal imprisonment.

The New Haven News is responsible for the following: A professor in the theological school called upon a lady in this city and she was out. Her little son, about four years old, was playing in the front yard. The professor said: "My little man, can you remember to tell your mother that Prof.——called to see her?" Young America wrinkled his brows and presently replied unconcernedly: "There are so many things I wan't to remember and can't remember that I don't think I shall trouble myself to try to remember things I don't want to remember."

Roman Catholic archbishops in America, says an exchange, have received orders from Rome to gather statistics concerning marriages of Catholics with persons of other faiths. While mixed marriages are forbidden as a rule, permission is granted in certain cases, especially when the non-Catholic party is likely to be brought into the faith. The stipulation is always made that the children of the union shall be brought up in the Catholic faith. Circulars are to be sent out to priests, with a list of questions concerning the mixed marriages in their parishes, and the information is likely to result in more stringent regulations.

It is hard for the clergy to please everybody nowadays, says an exchange. A Boston woman complains that her pastor never looks at her when he preaches, but devotes all his attention to the sinners on the other side of the church. For this reason she says that his sermons do not have the moral effect on her which they ought to have. On the other hand, a Chicago woman recently complained that her pastor invariably looked at her when he was preaching, especially when he denounced humbugs and hypocrites, and she wanted to know if it wasn't an outrage to treat respectable pewholders in this way. When the clergyman finally heard of her grievance he laughingly explained that he wasn't looking at the woman at all when she thought he was, but at a certain pillar behind her, the sight of which, for some mysterious reason, always seemed to clarify his thought.

John Bright, on his deathbed, has no warmer friend, it is said, than the Empress Frederick of Germany. She makes daily enquiries about the state of his health, and has written him numerous letters. The Manchester Guardian of December 17 says she made Mr. Bright's acquaintance when he waited upon the Queen in 1868 to receive her majesty's approval of his appointment as president of the Board of Trade. The Princess, as she was at that time, then said with enthusiasm that she read all Mr. Bright's speeches, and had long wished to become personally acquainted with him. She made many allusions of grateful admiration as to a speech in which Mr. Bright had defended the Queen's habit of seclusion in her widowhood. The Guardian adds:—"It has often been told how some courtier in attendance heard Mr. Bright say that with her royal highness' permission he would tell her what Mr. Buchanan, the United States minister, had said to him of her—'That wherever she went her presence was hailed like that of a beam of sunshine."

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will cure any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

THE STORMY EAST.

A Great Storm Prevails Along the Atlantic Coast and is Doing Much Damage.

200 Deaths the Result of Yesterday's Storm in Pennsylvania, and Returns Incomplete.

At Niagara Falls Buildings are Wrecked and the Foot Suspension Bridge Destroyed.

A TORNADO AT BROOKLYN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The tornado last evening destroyed the entire central and eastern part of Brooklyn navy yard marine barracks. The few men in the building at the time jumped and ran, some even leaping from windows. Capt. Williams was struck by a closing door and was badly hurt. A few minutes before the tornado news came of the big fire in south Brooklyn and all the marines, about 80, crowded upon the balcony to see the glow, or more men might have been hurt.

TWENTY BUILDINGS UNROOFED.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Twenty buildings in Camden were unroofed by the storm. Two churches were also unroofed, One child was killed by a falling roof.

HEAVY GALE BLOWING.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—A severe gale prevails along the coast and throughout New England. Telegraph wires are down in every direction. Gloucester, by telephone, reports a schooner on shore on the rocks. One body has been washed ashore.

STILL BLOWING AND SNOWING.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The storm is still prevailing. Dispatches from Wisconsin, Iowa, and Ohio report a heavy snow fall.

GREAT STORM AT NIAGARA.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 10.—The storm raged here last night with great fury. The suspension foot bridge, spanning the Niagara river below the falls was torn from its cables at 3 o'clock this morning and lies at the bottom of the river. The structure was cut clean from the lower tower at Brundage's elevator. On the American side of the whirlpool rapids a 2-story building was blown into the rapids and swept away. At Buttery's elevator, on the American side, Detterick's photograph gallery was swept into the whirlpool. Part of Manning's elevator, on the American side, was swept away and the lower part of the Rapid's View elevator is gone. The tin roof of a hotel was torn off and several buildings on the reservation were blown down and many trees destroyed. The bridge connecting Goat and Sister Islands is in danger. The dock at the inclined railway has been swept away. The water in the river is very high and many buildings on the Canadian shore are in danger. The storm still continues.

FLOODS AT BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 10.—The whole thirteenth ward is under water. Six houses owned by fishermen are gone. It is reported several lives are lost. The suspension bridge, crossing the Niagara river below the falls, is swept away.

ANOTHER PRIZE FIGHT.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 10—The bloodiest prize fight ever witnessed in this state occurred at midnight between Merlin Thompson and Bert Schiller, heavy weights. The fight was won on a foul by Schiller in the 28th round. Both were covered with blood from head to foot.

A LONG VOYAGE.

SAN FRAVCISCO, Jan. 10.—The ship M. P. Grace has arrived from New York after a prolonged voyage of a hundred and fifty-nine days. During a storm on Sept. 11th two of her seamen, who were furling sails, were thrown into the sea and drowned.

THE TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

READING, P., Jan. 9.—A cyclone struck this city shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon, demolishing a number of buildings including Grimeshaw & Baother's large silk mill. In the latter were upwards of 200 operatives who were buried in the ruins and many have been killed. At 9:30 p.m. about 100 persons had been taken out, many of whom were dead. The number of the killed and injured will exceed 150. The storm swept down the Lebanon Valley and many barns and other properties are reported wrecked. The telegraph wires in the track of the storm are badly mixed and it is impossible to get details but it is known that the damage has been great. When the cyclone first struck Reading the Philadelphia & Reading Company's paint shop was unroofed. In less than ten minutes the entire structure was enveloped in flames. Several of the gas chambers underneath the passenger cars exploded and four persons were killed and several others badly hurt.

FOUGHT SIX HOURS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The fight between Billy Mahan, of this city, and George Mulholland, of Australia, for the light-weight championship of the Pacific coast and a purse of $500, which took place at the Golden Gate Athletic Club last night, was declared a draw at three-thirty this morning, eighty-seven rounds having been fought and neither man being badly punished. The duration of the fight was nearly six hours.

ARMS FOR THE REBELS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Sympathizers of Gen. Hippolyte, the rebel leader in Hayti, are still sending him arms and provisions from here.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 10.—Dr. D. T. Kellogg, a physician of Alhambra, a small place near here, was beaten into unconsciousness on Tuesday night and robbed of a hundred dollars and a gold watch, and tied hand and foot to the railroad track from which he freed himself after a hard struggle. The affair is supposed to have been the work of tramps.

FROM PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 10.—The official list of those affected by yesterday's accident swells the total number to 67. Eight are fatally injured, 25 seriously injured, 15 slightly injured and 8 missing. It is known positively there are other bodies under the ruins and all possible efforts are being made for their rescue, but scarcely a hope is entertained that any more will be removed alive. Two bodies were removed from the rear of the Welden building since 4 o'clock this morning but have not yet been fully identified. Chief Brown, together with his assistant remained at the scene of the accident throughout the night, directing the firemen and police in the search for the missing. A long line of wagons and carts carried the debris away as rapidly it could be loaded. Early this morning the number of searchers increased and the work of excavating the debris was progressing favorably. Throngs of people line the streets eager for the latest information. At the hospitals last night, particularly the Homeopathic, where 29 of the unfortunates were provided with accomodations, it was found necessary to station police officers at the doors to hold the throngs of anxious inquirers in check. The coroner begins investigation this afternoon.

INDIAN LAND AGENTS.

LOWER BRUTE AGENCY, Dak. The Indians of this agency have decided to call a general council of the Siouxs at the Rosebud agency to select a delegation of chiefs to go to Washington to negotiate for the sale of their lands.

120 KILLED.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—The work of clearing away the debris at the wrecked silk mill continued throughout last night. This morning a large addition was made to the working force and some twelve additional bodies were removed. Mr. Grimshaw, one of the owners of the mill, this morning gives the number of missing and killed at 120. *The loss to the mills is a hun*dred and ten thousand dollars.

STEAMSHIP WRECKED.

SAG HARBOR, L.I., Jan. 10.—The steamship George Appall has become a total wreck.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

READING, Jan. 10.—About 30 bodies have been removed and it is thought at least 60 are still in the ruins. Dwellings in the track of the storm present a terrible sight. Fortunately, however, no one was injured in any of these. The storm did considerable damage in the northern part of the county but the wires are down and it is impossible to furnish details. Mayor Keeney this morning issued an appeal to the sufferers.

LATE DESPATCHES.

INTERNATIONAL CHECKER CONTEST.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The checker contest between Barker, the Amerrican player, and Smith, has been concluded. The score of the game stood as follows: Barker 5, Smith 1.

POLICE FORCE INCREASED.

LONDON. Jan. 7.—The number of policemen detailed to protect Balfour has been increased in consequence of the report that the Invincibles were planning the murder of him and Arnold.

MUST ABANDON THE FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Gen. Harrison is reported to have said that he would not appoint a cabinet officer from the Pacific coast unless the republicans of that section abandon their factional contests.

COMMISSION DECISION OVERTHROWN.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 7.—Federal Circuit Judge Jackson this morning overthrew the decision of the interstate commerce commission. He holds that the commission can only arbitrate differences, and has no right or power to enforce its decisions.

JOHN M'GUIRE REFUSED BURIAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Judge Beach, in the supreme court to-day, refused to interfere with the action of the trustees of St. Patrick's cathedral in declining to permit the body of old John *McGuire to be buried in Calvary cem*etery. He practically upholds the action of the church. He dismisses the cases and says that the matter is not one for judicial interference, but for appeal to the church authorities. McGuire died while attending one of Dr. McGlynn's anti-poverty meetings. His burial was refused on the ground that he did not die in the faith.

CHINESE EXCLUSION ACT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—A motion was made in the supreme court of the United States to-day by ex-Governor Hoadley, of Ohio, to advance for argument the case of Chae Chin Ping, ap*pellant, vs. the United States.* The appellant is a Chinese laborer who departed from the United States for China June 2, 1887, first having secured a return certificate from the collector of San Francisco as required by law. He returned to the United States in October, 1888, but permission to land was refused on the ground that the return certificate had been declared void by the Scott Chinese exclusion act of Oct. 1, 1888. Chae Chan Ping then sued out a writ of habeas corpus in the United States circuit court, which being refused an appeal was taken to this court. It is contended in his behalf that the Scott act declaring return certificates void is unconstitutional. It is sought to have the case advanced for hearing on the ground that the case is one of great importance, involving thousands of certificates, many of the holders of which have considerable property interests in the United States, and that delay in the determination of the case would result in great injury to persons affected.

FORTY-SEVEN MILLION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—It is stated that the statement of the gross earnings of the Southern Pacific Railway Co. for 1888 which will be issued shortly will show a sum in the neighborhood of $47,000,000.

ANOTHER BOODLER.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Harry D. Schall, assistant cashier in the paymaster's office of the Northwestern Railroad, has disappeared with $11,500 of the company's funds and $2,500 belonging to the Clerks and Mechanics Building and Loan Association, of which he was treasurer.

GAUDAUR CHALLENGES O'CONNOR.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9.—Jake Gaudaur, the oarsman, has issued a challenge to Wm. O'Connor of Toronto, to row three miles for $1,000 and the championship of America, at San Francisco, New Orleans or Galveston about March 1st.

A MILLION DOLLARS DAMAGE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—Damage by the sleet storm between here and Toronto will not be much less than a million dollars. Wires are down, and forest trees are uprooted throughout the whole region.

NON-MORMON OPPOSITION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—C. C. W. West, who was appointed governor of Utah by the president, has arrived here and intends to appear before the house committee on territories to oppose the admission of Utah as a state. This sentiment, he says, is shared by nearly every non-mormon or gentile in the territory.

NAVAL OFFICER DEAD.

ZANZIBAR, Jan. 10.—Capt. Downer, commander of the German flag ship Leipsig, has died of fever.

ANGLO-CANADIAN TRADE.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The board of trade returns show that British trade with Canada for 1888, like the British foreign trade generally, was less satisfactory than it was expected to be. The exports to Canada are £5,162,144, a decrease 10.91 per cent. compared with 1887. The imports from Canada are £7,017,720, a decrease 11.65 per cent. The largest decrease in the exports occurs in cotton, woollen and and worsted goods, probably due to the enlarged Canadian home manufacture. Iron exports are about stationary at £1,036,269; cattle decreased from £45,470 in 1887 to £40,354; sheep increased from £45,738 to £89,272; wheat and flour largely decreased from £2,045,846 to £886,785; butter from £139,566 to £40,797; cheese from £1,552,764 to £1,523,833; fish increased from £336,657 to £367,692; lumber increased from £2,645,883 to £3,012,581.

BEAT ALL RECORDS.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Jan. 10.—The race for the amateur 2-mile skating championship, to-day, won by Donoghue, of Newburg, N.Y., in 6 minutes and 24 seconds, beating Von Hauschen, of St. Petersburg, by 7 seconds. The best previous world's record is 6 minutes, 41 seconds.

SCHOOLS BURNED.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—A great fire in the 11th Arrondissement to-day destroyed a number of scholastic buildings.

SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—George Irving, an American promoter of English investments in the the stock of the Homer District consolidated gold mines, has given notice that he will bring suit for libel against the Financial News, claiming £100,000 damages. Irving's action is the result of the publication of a series of articles in the Financial News denouncing his enterprise as a "wild-cat" scheme, and himself as a swindler.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

DUBLIN, Jan 10.—Mr. O'Brien, M. P., received two summons to answer a chargo of conspiracy. The trial is appointed for Jan. 24th.

IMPUDENT FORGERIES

MELBOURNE, Jan. 8.—Cardinal Moran, the Archbishop of Sydney, in an interview here to-day, stated that the so-called Parnell letters were offered to Archbishop Walsh, of Dublin, before they were placed in the hands of the proprietors of the Times, but that Archbishop Walsh declined to have anything to do with them for the reasons that upon examining them he found them to be impudent forgeries.

WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The market opened easy at yesterday's closing. Wheat advanced from 104⅝ to 105, which was the highest figure reached, then owing to rumors of an increase of the crops in the west it declined rapidly to 103, closing firm at 103¼.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 10.—Wheat firm; Cals., 7s. 7d.

BACKING DOWN.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—The Cologne Gazette now admits that the statements made by Marshal Bazaine that information was conveyed to him of the movement of German troops was received through Sir Robert D. Morier, then stationed at Darmstadt, is to be taken cum grano salis, since it was not accompanied by that corroborative evidence which the character of Marshal Bazaine required to his assertions.

COMMENTS ON CHAMBEBLAIN.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—All of the afternoon newspapers, without regard to political leanings, devote long articles to the reception of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "For one day at least the bitter railings and recriminations which rage around Mr. Chamberlain have died away and the public wishes him and his wife every success in the Anglo-American home rule which began so auspiciously yesterday at Highbury. What an immense advantage it would be to the country as to him if Mrs. Chamberlain should regulate her husband.

Langley Council.

Council met at the town hall on Saturday, Jan. 5, at 1 p.m. Present, the reeve and full council. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and con*firmed. The auditor, Mr. R. H. Hold*ing, made his report on the books, which was received as entirely satisfactory and a vote of thanks was extended to him for his services. The Pound by-law was reconsidered and finally passed. A. Campbell was granted extention of time until Feb. 1st to finish his contract on the trunk road. A committee was appointed consisting of the reeve, Couns Mufford and Houston, to settle the dispute in connection with J. McKee's road. The reeve was authorized to visit Vancouver on matters of interest to the municipality. Appropriations were made on Trunk, J. Murray's, McGillvray's, McKee's, Telegraph and Yeoman's roads, and tenders called for the next meeting. The following accounts were ordered paid: P. Spence, $04; T. Mufford, $25; H. Harris, $14.50; M. McDonald, $10; A. Campbell, $25; T. Black, $13.50; J. Smith, $95; J. Maxwell, $3; J. Houston, $2.50 and R. H. Holding, $9. Council then adjourned until Monday, Jan. 14th at 11 a.m.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand.

Thursday Evening, Jan. 10, 1889.

A Victoria cotemporary, the Colonist, has an article in yesterday's issue seconding THE COLUMBIAN'S efforts to bring before the fishery authorities the impracticability and injustice of the new regulations with respect to fishing in this province passed by Order-in-Council on the 26th of November last. The article is principally a repetition of what has already appeared in this paper on the subject, and so far we have no fault to find with our cotemporary's arguments; but, in the excess of its somewhat tardy real, the Colonist slightly oversteps the mark and goes beyond what, we are convinced, would be in the best interests of the salmon fishing industry, without proving a hardship to the canners either. The Colonist says: "A longer weekly cessation is not necessary, as the thirty hours discontinuance has been quite sufficient to permit of large numbers of salmon getting past the portion of the river in which they are in danger of being caught in the nets." The Colonist's motive is good, doubtless, but in making this statement it draws on its imagination and ignores facts to a certain extent. Thirty hours may seem a considerable close time, and so it would be if the fishing were confined to a certain point on the river; but, when it is remembered that the fishing grounds of the Fraser extend over fifty miles from its mouth (although the bulk of the fishing is done within a limit of thirty miles from the sandheads), it will be seen that the first salmon to enter the river after the nets are taken up may not in many cases (as these fish do not ordinarily travel at express speed up river on their way to the spawning beds) succeed in running the gauntlet of the entire fifty, or even thirty, miles before the expiration of the thirty hours. While we can heartily support the recommendations of the canneries in all other points, and also with respect to increasing the close time to forty-eight hours (which would operate very injuriously upon the different fishing industries, as has been shown in previous articles in this paper,) we are satisfied that, by making the close time thirty-six hours—from Saturday 6 a. m. till Sunday 6 p. m.—a substantial protective advange will be gained without causing hardship or loss to either canners or fishermen.

It is reported that a revolution has broken out in the kingdom of Uganda, and that the king has been deposed by his brothers. It is thought that the new status of affairs may permit Emin Pasha to reach the coast. Uganada is a populous and powerful state, situated around the northern and northwestern part of the Victoria Nyanza. When Stanley visited it in 1875 he found the reigning king, M'tesa, well-disposed towards white strangers, and received either travellers, traders or missionaries. Since then M'tesa has died, and his son, M'wanga, a man of very different ideas, has succeeded him. He dislikes strangers, has driven away, or held as prisoners the missionaries who entered the country under the protection afforded by M'tesa's mildness, and as his territories stretch across the line of communication between the Upper Nile and Zanzibar, he has cut off his retreat in that direction. Northward the Mahdi holds the country along the Nile, so that Emin has been shut in except by the route taken by Stanley, via the Aruwimi, which is through an unexplored country presenting unknown difficulties to an expedition. Should the reported revolution in Uganda restore the status prevailing during the reign of M'tesa, it would not only afford Emin Pasha communication with Zanzibar, by a well known and comparatively easy route, but would tend to open the lake region of Africa to trade. Uganda, with its tributary states, has a population of 2,500,000. Its agricultural and mineral resources are great. The Victoria Nyanza is probably the largest body of fresh water on the globe, having an area of about 40,000 square miles. From its southern extremity to Zanzibar it would be easy to establish regular communication, and the whistle of a steamer on the Nyanza would herald the approach of commerce—the advance guard of civilization. The existence of a powerful native state on the lake, with which stable relations might be established, would be much more favorable to trade and progress than the occupation of the country by numerous petty tribes, without coherence or head-ship, and incapable of harmonious action either in negotiation or commerce.

The people of this country have spoken. They declare by their patronage of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, that they believe it to be an article of genuine merit, adapted to the cure of rheumatism, as well as relieves the pains of fractures and dislocations, external injuries, corns, bunions, piles and other maladies.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Lord Salisbury made a speech recently at Scarborough, England, which threw considerable light on the subject of England's persistent holding of the little port of Suakim on the Red Sea against the repeated attacks of Osman Digma and the fanatical dervishes of the Soudan, without any apparent prospect of carrying the war into the interior and thus obtaining control of the whole region. Lord Salisbury declared, in the first place, that his government had not the slightest intention of involving the country in a new Soudan expedition, for it realized fully that the results which might be achieved thereby, at great cost of English blood and English money, would be lamentably small. At the same time, the government was determined, for several good reasons, not to abandon Suakim to the Soudanese. The first reason given by the premier was that it was of the utmost importance to England that she should fulfil her promises and maintain the continuity of her policy. Mr. Gladstone's administration of 1882 had definitely promised the Khedive that England would support him in holding the Red Sea ports as long as he desired, and the present government felt bound to fulfil that promise, not only for the honor of England, but in order that foreign nations might not be allowed to feel that the foreign policy of the country was liable to be changed with every change of ministry. These were the predominant reasons why Lord Granville's promises should be kept and his policy carried out. But, in addition, England, having swept the slave trade from the coast of West Africa, had for some time past been making great sacrifices in order to achieve a similar result on the east coast, and with that end in view had been endeavoring to cut off the traffic between Africa and the markets of Arabia and Persia. Now, Suakim with its adjacent coast is one of the greatest existing outlets of this traffic, and the goverment has strong hopes that, by retaining its hold of the district in question, while at the same time co-operating with Germany further south, it will be able to kill the traffic in the markets that remain to it. It would, Lord Salisbury said, be the very acme of feebleness to abandon the position that had been already gained, and England should rather redouble her zeal in order that a finishing blow might be given to the slave trade. For these reasons his government was determined not to abandon Suakim, and in this determination, he said, it had the support of the governments of the Khedive and the Sultan. Opinion in England appears to be greatly divided on the subject, but much of the controversy in the press and in parliament has arisen from the uncertainty which existed as to the policy of the government and the reasons for its adoption. As is well known, questions asked in the house of commons previous to this speech failed to elicit satisfactory replies, and it seemed as if the government itself had no fixed plan. Now that this uncertainty has been removed the issue is clear and well defined and satisfaction has replaced suspicion and uneasiness in the public mind.

REPLY.

To R. DICKINSON, B. DOUGLAS, and others:

GENTLEMEN:—In response to the above requisition I have to thank you for the proffered honor of your influence and support to elect me as mayor for the present year.

Fully realizing the importance of the office, and recognizing the necessity of good and progressive civic government, at your request I beg to accept your nomination. Should it be the pleasure of the ratepayers of New Westminster to elect me, I promise them that my best and heartiest efforts will be advanced towards promoting the general interests and welfare of the city.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,
ja5tc JOHN HENDRY.

TO THE RATEPAYERS

ELECTION CARD

To the Municipal Electors of New Westminster City:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

At the request of a number of friends I have consented to place my name in nomination for the position of alderman at the coming election, fully realizing the importance and duties of the office. If elected I will endeavor to the best of my ability, to place our city in the front rank of the cities of B. C. The following important questions will have my careful attention:

1. RAILWAY.—I will use every legitimate means in my power to bring to a successful termination the building and completion of the Southern Railroad, and will treat liberally any projected railway which may wish to run into our city, always carefully guarding the best interests of the city. And it is my opinion if we are true to ourselves and bury any little differences that may exist and work shoulder to shoulder, we can make New Westminster the greatest railway center and most important city between Seattle and Alaska.

2. WATER SUPPLY.—I am in favor of the city owning its own water works, for there is a very large revenue to be derived from this source, if properly conducted, and, if elected, I will at once take up this question and deal with it on business principles. Water rate debentures when issued, bear their own value and will not be one dollar's tax on the ratepayers.

3. SEWERAGE.—This is one of the most important questions that the new council will have to grapple with, and, as there is bound to be a large emigration here this year, it behooves us to be alive and get our city well advanced so as to keep away those dread diseases which we so mercifully escaped last year. And I have no doubt if you elect the right men a scheme can be got up whereby the city can be properly sewered, and the revenue derived from the sale of water be made to pay the interest and sinking fund for both water works and sewerage.

4. STREETS.—Something must be done at once to open up all streets in the city so as to give workingmen and mechanics a chance to get to their lots and buildings, and, if elected, I will give this subject my careful attention and hearty support.

5. CITY HALL.—If any proposition is brought forward for the erection of a suitable city hall, and if the finances of the city will allow it, I will give it my warmest support.

6. STREET LIGHTING.—I will favor the extending and improving of our system of street lighting, for there is no doubt it will stand considerable improvement.

7. PARK.—In order to make the coming agricultural show a success we must put a portion of the city park in a fit condition with suitable buildings, etc. If elected I will do my best to make the grounds a credit to the royal city. I am also in favor of removing the unsightly stumps on Albert Crescent and planting a few shade trees to replace the stumps. Nature has done much for our city and it only wants touching up a little to make it perfect.

8. PUBLIC LIBRARY.—There is no doubt a new building is wanted to replace the delapidated one now occupying a valuable lot, and there is no doubt in my mind, but that a suitable one could be erected with stores underneath and library above; and the rents from said stores would more than pay for interest and sinking fund, and leave a balance for keeping the library in proper condition.

9. MANUFACTURERS.—I will encourage any manufacturers that contemplate starting business in this city, treating them in a liberal manner, and will use every effort to show them the advantage of doing business here. It is well known that manufactures are the backbone of any city.

10. COMMUNICATIONS.—I will urge upon our representative the necessity of the Dominion government subsidizing a daily boat between here and Richmond and also between here and Ladners Landing. We must also get better connections with the surrounding district.

11. LETTER BOXES.—I will also endeavor to have the postal authorities supply and put in place letter boxes in the suburbs of the city.

12. I will also urge on our city member the necessity of having the local government place a sum of money in this year's estimates to put the North Arm road in a fit condition for travel.

13. STREET NAMING AND NUMBERING.—If elected I will urge upon my colleagues the necessity of having our streets properly named and buildings numbered, as is always done in well-regulated cities. In fact, any project that may be brought up for advancing the interests of the city will have my careful attention and hearty support.

I remain,
Your Obedient Servant,
E. S. SCOULLAR.

SLAVES IN AFRICA.

Appalling Devastation in the Heart of the Dark Continent.

The destruction wrought in Central Africa by Arab slave stealers within the past five or six years is appalling, says the New York Sun. In regions where Livingstone, Stanley and Cameron saw large populations no human inhabitants can now be found. Most of them have been captured or slaughtered, and remnants of tribes have escaped into other districts. These regions are included between 22 degrees and 33 degrees east longitude and between 3 degrees and 12 degrees south latitude and embrace an area of nearly 100,000 square miles.

Among the most entertaining writings of Livingstone and Stanley are their descriptions of the beautiful land of the Manyema, west of Lake Tanganyika, and its unique inhabitants, and all these, as Gleerup now reports, have completely disappeared except the gangs of Manyema slaves who work the Arab plantations along the caravan route. The path of Arab devastation extends straight west from Lake Tanganyika, past Nyangwe to the Upper Sankuru five hundred miles, and for a breadth of seventy-five miles hardly a native has been left to tell of the awful invasion.

It was in the western part of this district that Lieutenant Wissmann in 1883 visited a Bene Ki town, whose single street extended for ten miles, whose huts were twenty feet high and surrounded by neat court-yards, whose men toiled in the fields behind the houses, while all the inhabitants bade the stranger welcome, and about five thousand of them visited his camp that evening. Two years ago Wissmann passed again through that place. There was nothing left of the happy homesteads. In the tall grass that choked the long street were found many charred poles and blackened skulls. The hordes of Tippu Tib within six months had paid three murderous visits to this large settlement. Many women were carried off, all who offered resistance were killed, and the fields, gardens and banana groves were laid waste. Small-pox, introduced by the Arabs, and famine completed the tragedy. The powerful tribe of Bene Ki had ceased to exist, and only a few individuals had escaped south to Zappu Zapp, a chief who was himself a refugee from Arab aggression.

Along three hundred miles of the Congo, between Nyangwe and Stanley Falls, the Arabs, according to Gleerup and Lenz, have depopulated about fifteen thousand square miles of territory. The numerous tribes whom Stanley first saw have become slaves or in greatly depleted numbers wander through the forests far from the river. About two thousand square miles of the rolling prairie west of Tippu Tib's home at Kasongo have been utterly drained of their people. About twenty thousand square miles on the Western headwaters of the Congo are no longer a profitable field for slave-hunting. In the very region where Livingstone died and where his heart was buried, extending southeast from Lake Banweolo and embracing about fifteen thousand square miles, the Arabs, we are told by Giraud, have completely ravaged the country. And from all these centers of devastation the paths of the destroyers leading to slave marts and shipping points may be traced by the bones of the victims who fall by the way.

It can not be possible that the civilized world will much longer permit this colossal crime of the century to add its murderous results without taking earnest measures to put a stop to it.

CARE OF THE HAIR.

Some Sound Advice for Women Who Want Fine Locks.

Hair must be carefully cultivated to grow even in length, supple, silken and graceful in color, says a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Every thing is encouraging for the improvement of the hair, if time can be given it. The same treatment will not do for different kinds of hair by any means. Strong, stiff, naturally moist hair needs a weekly shampooing and daily and nightly brushing, with exposure to the morning and evening sun, which is a great stimulant to the hair. Thin, soft, dry hair needs tender care, but with either the first step toward improvement is thorough washing of the scalp and hair, which collects dirt its entire length.

To cleanse it the various alkalis, borax, ammonia, carbonate of potash and washing soda are used, and the strong hair will bear them, but they burn the life out of thin, dry hair. Most hair washes are used entirely too strong. Soap bark is really better than any thing I know, except the shampoo powder of "the fatal sisters," which leaves the hair luxuriously silky, instead of flying like thistledown. Pour two quarts of boiling water on a teaspoonful of soap bark, let it cool till pleasant, comb the hair smoothly from the face, part it and scrub down the parting with the shampoo brush like an exaggerated tooth brush, wetting the skin well with the decoction. It lathers well, and the whole head should be gone over, making twenty or more partings, the hair rinsed in plenty of clear water, combed and wiped smoothly, not rubbing it ferociously, and tangling it, which breaks it. The Venetian ladies drew their hair through a crownless hat, and let it stream over the brim to dry, and you may follow the example, sitting in the sun, if possible, an hour. Light is a great stimulant and preservative to hair, and it is well to open it when dry and let the wind blow through. The sun will cause the natural oil of the hair to flow—or the head may be held to the fire until the dry hair feels moist. A smart brushing night and morning, careful braiding before sleep, and an hour spent once a month clipping all forked ends, will insure a rapid growth of hair, if the general health is good without other treatment. If you want a stimulant at night rub a little oil of lavender in the roots of the hair with the shampoo brush. Do not irritate the scalp by hard brushing. Regular care is better than overdoing.

Thin, fragile hair is best cleansed with the yelk of a fresh egg, rubbed in the roots with the fingers, left on fifteen minutes and washed off in warm, soft water. The egg is nutritive as well as cleansing to the hair, and may be used twice a week, wiping the hair and drying in the sun. Then comb, and stroke the hair smooth with the palms of the hands, gently and briskly, fifty to one hundred times. This stroking is better than brushing daily. A gentle current of electricity applied to the scalp every other day is excellent for weak hair, and is nearest to a specific for baldness, partial or entire. To keep hair from falling nothing is better than the old-fashioned tincture of sage and rosemary, which, as no Northern gardener grows rosemary, I leave the druggist to prepare. The wild white sage of the Rocky Mountains has great virtue as a stimulant to the hair. These two pleasant herbs are worth all the rest of the pharmacopœia for the hair, lungs and nerves.

KILLED BY TOBACCO.

A Monstrous Shark That Chewed a Quid with Disastrous Results.

In a short while we had caught a nice mess of small snappers, from ten to twenty inches long, and were having a real good time, writes a correspondent of Garden and Stream. We had not fished very long, however, before a large shark put in an appearance and spoiled our sport. We first knew of his presence by his greedily snapping off the fish from one of my neighbors' lines, having followed it up from the bottom. He executed this performance several times, and then the snappers stopped biting entirely. Not even a nibble could we get, so we hauled in our lines and commenced to pay attention to the shark. He was a monstrous fellow, about fifteen feet long, and he kept swimming round and round the vessel, sometimes on top the water and sometimes away down deep below us, but always at a respectful distance. His reddish brown body could be plainly seen through the clear transparent green water, and you may be sure he was the cynosure of all eyes. A great many plans for his capture were discussed, but none appeared practicable within our limited means. The engineer suggested that if the shark would give him time, he would forge a proper hook and chain, but as the shark was unable to give him a guarantee he abandoned the project.

While we were thus talking I noticed the native pilot every now and then throwing overboard one of the snappers we had so recently caught. And as the current carried it a little distance clear of the vessel the shark would gobble it down, and, in fact, the intervals were so regular that Mr. Shark seemed impatient when the regularity was broken by a little delay. We saw that our pilot had some ultimate object in view, and it drew our attention to him. I had not particularly noticed the man before this; more than that he was a fine-looking, dark-skinned man with good European features, but evidently of mixed blood. As he was born and raised on the coast, and had probably served his pilot's apprenticeship as a fisherman, he knew how to deal with his inveterate foe, the shark. Anyhow, we all thought so and gave him credit for it, and, although he did not say much, he went about it in a very earnest manner. After having thrown over ten small fish he selected another a little larger than the others, and with a stick of wood rammed a roll of chewing tobacco nearly as large as a man's hand down into its belly and pressed its throat together again. He held it ready to throw, and as the shark came up, anxiously looking for its fish, he tossed it to him, and as it barely touched the water the shark turned over on its back and sucked it in. The shark then swam off as usual to the side of the vessel, and then below us, and was apparently rising again in the expectation of another fish when the nicotine commenced its work. His struggles and contortions were horrible to behold as he darted here and there in a blind rage and vomiting blood, but as he swam, or was carried by the current away from us, his struggles grew gradually less, until it ceased altogether. The tobacco had killed him.

FIVE-LEAF CLOVER.

Gamblers Think It Means Good Luck, But Other People Do Not.

This curious advertisement appeared in a morning paper recently:

GAMBLERS, SPECULATORS AND BETting men—For sale—Talisman, two five-leaved clovers; price, $100 each. Address CLOVER.

It discloses one of the weaknesses of some gamblers, who are notoriously addicted to hoodoos, talismans, lucky trinkets and the like. It is impossible to get these superstitious players to sit at a game of cards without a lucky silver piece on the table, a knife blade turned toward the jack pot, a handkerchief tied around their left leg, a bent toothpick alongside their pile of chips or some of the other multitudinous "lucky" devices for wooing the smiles of fortune brought into play on the cards. It is something decidedly new, however, for any one to place so high a value as $100 on a talisman, and a New York Sun reporter strove to find out whether the alleged "hoodoo" was worth as much as that, and whether there was any thing substantial about its alleged lucky influence.

The advertisement was shown to Al Smith, who has sat at games at which all sorts of talismans have been brought to bear on the game.

"I don't believe in bugs myself," said he, casually coining a new name for the supposed lucky gambling charms, "but I've heard of five-leaf clovers being used, and I suppose there are some queer people who might think it worth more than $100 to get hold of one. But an eye on the dealer and keeping your wits about you are better security against ill fortunes than any amount of bugs."

Police Captain Reilly shook his head when asked about the clover.

"Never heard of a five-leaf clover," he said, "but I do know that four-leaf clovers are lucky. They're called shamrocks in reland, and the shamrock is always lucky. But when it comes to gambling, I don't believe a five-leaf or a four-leaf or any other kind of clover would influence a game. Every thing depends upon the play there."

The reporter went out into the country where clover is abundant, and asked about the talisman clover. These inquiries revealed that where the clover grows the five-leaf variety is looked upon as being as unlucky to the finder as an opal is regarded among city gamblers.

"We never pick five-leaf clover," a Key East farmer said. "They're bad luck. But the four-leaf clovers are a treasure, especially to the girls. They think it means winning a husband inside a year to find a four-leaf clover."

EXPENSIVE NEEDLES.

Reminiscences of the Days When Times Were Hard in the Confederacy.

From an article entitled "Hard Times in the Confederacy" in the Century we quote the following: "In August, 1864, a private citizen's coat and vest, made of five yards of coarse homespun cloth, cost two hundred and thirty dollars exclusive of the price paid for the making. The trimmings consisted of old cravats; and for the cutting and putting together, a country tailor charged fifty dollars. It is safe to say that the private citizen looked a veritable guy in his new suit, in spite of its heavy drain upon his pocket-book.

"In January, 1865, the material for a lady's dress which before the war would have cost ten dollars could not be bought for less than five hundred. The masculine mind is unequal to the task of guessing how great a sum might have been had for bonnets 'brought through the lines'; for in spite of patient self-sacrifice and unfaltering devotion at the bedsides of the wounded in the hospital, or in ministering to the needs of relatives and dependents at home, the Southern women of those days are credited with as keen an interest in the fashions as women everywhere in civilized lands are apt to be in times of peace. It was natural that they should be so interested, even though that interest could in the main not reach beyond theory. Without it they often would have had a charm the less and a pang the more. Any feminine garment in the shape of cloak or bonnet or dress which chanced to come from the North was readily awarded its meed of praise, and reproduced by sharp-eyed observers, so far as the scarcity of materials would admit.

"But fashion's rules were necessarily much relaxed in the Southern Confederacy so far as practice went when even such articles as pins brought through the blockade sold for twelve dollars a paper, and needles for ten, with not enough of either."

Ward McAllister.

Among the handsome lawyers of New York City Ward McAllister should be reckoned. He is all Frenchman in appearance despite his name. His face is of the Napoleonic type. He wears an iron gray imperial which he has a habit of pulling when his mind is somewhat perturbed. However, Mr. McAllister is likely to live longer in the memory of the American people as the man who separated the 400 sheep of society from the 1,000,000 goats who have no social position in New York, than as a lawyer or a handsome man.

THE CHEMICAL COMPOSITION OF MAN.—From a chemical point of view, man is composed of thirteen elements, of which five are gases and eight are solids. If we consider the chemical composition of a man of the average weight of one hundred and fifty-four pounds, we shall find that he is composed in large part of oxygen which is in a state of extreme compression. In fact, a man weighing one hundred and fifty-four pounds contains ninety-seven pounds of oxygen, the volume of which, at ordinary temperature, would exceed nine hundred and eighty cubic feet. The hydrogen is much less in quantity, there being less than fifteen pounds; but in a free state, it would occupy a volume of two thousand eight hundred cubic feet. The three other gases are nitrogen, nearly four pounds; chlorine, about twenty-six ounces; and fluorine, three and a quarter ounces. Of the solids, carbon stands at the head, there being forty-eight pounds. Next come phosphorus, twenty-six ounces, and sulphur, three and a quarter ounces. The most abundant metal is calcium, more than three pounds; next potassium, two and a half ounces; sodium, two and a quarter ounces; and, lastly, iron, one and a quarter ounce. It is perhaps needless to say that the various combinations made by these thirteen elements are almost innumerable.

CANADA.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, QUEEN, Defender of the Faith, &c., &c., &c.

To Our faithful the Members elected to serve in the Legislative Assembly of Our Province of British Columbia, and summoned and called to a meeting of the Legislature or Parliament of Our said Province, at Our City of Victoria, on Thursday, the Twenty-first day of February, 1889, to have been commenced and held, and every of you—GREETING.

A PROCLAMATION.

ALEX. E. B. DAVIE, Attorney-General, } WHEREAS the meeting of the Legislature or Parliament of the Province of British Columbia, stands called for Thursday, the Twenty-first day of February, 1889, at which time, at Our City of Victoria, you were held and constrained to appear.

NOW KNOW YE, that for divers causes and considerations, and taking into consideration the ease and convenience of Our loving subjects, We have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Executive Council of the Province of British Columbia, to hereby convoke, and by these presents enjoin you, and each of you, that on THURSDAY, the THIRTY-FIRST day of the month of JANUARY, 1889, you meet Us in Our said Legislature or Parliament of Our said Province, at Our City of Victoria, FOR THE DISPATCH OF BUSINESS, to treat, do, act and conclude upon those things which in Our Legislature of the Province of British Columbia, by the Common Council of Our said Province may, by the favor of God, be ordained.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, under the Great Seal of Our said Province to be hereunto affixed: Witness the Honourable HUGH NELSON, Lieutenant-Governor of Our said province of British Columbia, in Our City of Victoria, in Our said Province, this twenty-seventh day of December, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, and in the fifty-second year of Our Reign.

By Command.

An accident which might have resulted fatally occurred at Vancouver last evening during the play at Hart's Opera House. Some temporary staging had been erected for extra seats and when this became crowded it gave way and three men were injured in the crash, one very severely.

Ayer's Almanac for 1889, published by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., comes to us in the shape of a neat presentation book of about five hundred pages, being made up of numerous editions calculated for the latitudes of many lands. A score or more of nationalities are addressed in their own language in this volume, and could they all be heard clamoring together for Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills what a Babel would break forth! Ayer's Almanac, in its familiar yellow cover, has long been known as the most accurate and reliable of its kind; and if any one is ignorant of superior merits of Ayer's medicines, and suffers in consequence, it is not the fault of this enterprising firm, who scatter their "leaves" by the million, "for the healing of the nations." Ask your druggist for Ayer's Almanac.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Fagan returned from Maple Ridge yesterday.

W. Craig, roadmaster, C. P. R., of Yale, is in the city.

H. L. McCammon, C. E., returned to the city last night.

Conductor Trodden, who had been enjoying the waters of Harrison Hot Springs for a week, returned to duty this morning looking all the better for his holiday.

D. Sullivan, Malcolm, Ontario, says: "I have been selling Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for some years, and have no hesitation in saying that it has given better satisfaction than any other medicine I have ever sold. I consider it the only patent medicine that cures more than it is recommended to cure." Unprincipled persons are selling imitations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Do not be deceived.

A Gigantic Timber.

This afternoon, at the Royal City Plaining Mills, a magnificient stick of timber, 120 feet long by 20 inches in diameter, was sawn out of one of the royal giants of the British Columbia fir. This timber will form the keel of the new tng which is being built for the Royal City Mills. It is one of the largest and finest sticks of timber ever cut in a British Columbia saw mill.

Week of Prayer.

This week being the "Week of Prayer" services will be held as follows:

THURSDAY.—Regular prayer meeting in all the churches. Topic, reforms.

FRIDAY.—Presbyterian Church. Topic, missions, home and foreign. Rev. T. Baldwin.

All services begin at 7.30 p. m.

The following texts are suggested for sermons: Sunday, January 13—I Corinthians, 3:9 and 15:58.

Good Winter for Cattle.

Latest reports from Clinton state that the weather has been unusually mild thus far and favorable to cattle raisers. Cattle have up to the present time been able to graze on the hills, only two inches of snow have fallen on one occasion which soon melted. No losses of cattle are now anticipated. Even should severe weather set in feeding in doors would only last a few weeks at most. This makes the second good winter for cattle raisers; unlike the coal men the cattle raisers profit by fine weather.—Times.

Katie Putnam.

None should miss this present opportunity of seeing the great little actress, Katie Putnam, and her fine company at the opera house Saturday night. On May 4th Miss Putnam and company sail for Australia from San Francisco, and on her return she will play for two years in the provincial cities of America and retire from the stage. Fortune has been kind to this little lady, and when she steps back from the foot lights for the last time, it will be with a lasting and noble name in the profession of which she has been a central figure for fifteen years.

Ploughing at Ladners.

Mr. George Bellrose, one of Ladner's prominent farmers, called on THE COLUMBIAN last evening to pay another year's subscription for our weekly paper. He reports that ploughing is going on steadily on the Delta, and that the prospects are bright for a larger area being under cultivation than ever before. On Tuesday he dug two tons of sugar beets and turnips from one of his fields and never were roots taken from the ground in better condition. The rest which all the farmers took during the holiday season is over and everyone is now busy preparing for spring operations.

Law Breakers.

During the year 1888 the police magistrate had 876 cases to deal with. Of these 162 whites were charged with drunkenness—147 were convicted and 12 discharged. The number of whites before the magistrate was 645; of Indian cases, 169; Chinese, 62. During the year no very serious crimes were committed. For infracting city by-laws 171 persons were summoned. One Chinaman was arrested during the year for drunkenness. In 1887 the number of cases was 1945; of these 207 were Chinese. The falling off in Chinese cases is due to the marked decrease in the Chinese population. The total amount of fines collected during the year was $3475.50 of which $1250 was refunded to Dominion and provincial governments.—Times.

THE "TOCSIN OF THE SOUL, THE DINNER BELL," as Byron calls it, suggests no pleasing reflections to the dyspeptic, bilious sufferer. He partakes, of course, but the subsequent torment is egregiously out of proportion to the quantity of food he eats, which lies undigested, a weight like lead in his unhappy stomach. There is a remedy, however, and its name is Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. No case is entirely hopeless.

VICTORIA NEWS.

A Circular Distributed in Victoria Bitterly Condemning the Management of the Westminster Penitentiary. The Miner's Strike.

Special to The Columbian.]

VICTORIA, Jan. 10.—A large printed circular signed "Charles Johnson, Portland, Oregon," condemning in bitter terms the management of the New Westminster penitentiary is being freely destributed through the city.

A report from Wellington says the miners held a meeting this morning to receive the committee's report and adjourned till this afternoon. It is thought they will not agree to resume work.

This morning's Courier says: "With few exceptions the company's men who are not miners have quit working. There is some feeling on account of special constables having been sent up, but not the remotest probablity of there being any trouble on the part of the miners, who are determined everything will be conducted in an orderly and law abiding manner.

OUR INDUSTRIES

Douglas & Deighton's Saddle and Harness Making Establishment, the Most Widely known in B.C.

An Old Established Firm which has the Knack of Maintaining a Strong Lead over Competitors.

The Brick-Making Industry. The Output for the Year. The New Pottery Establishment.

Messrs. Douglas & Deighton, saddlers and harness makers, are, without exception, the most widely known manufacturers in their line of goods in British Columbia. From the mouth of the Fraser River to William's Creek in Cariboo, and from thence to the international boundary in the Kootenay country, Douglas & Deighton's saddles and harness will be found wherever horses are used. For 22 years the firm has been supplying goods to the ranchers and packers of British Columbia, and never have they been accused of furnishing anything but the very best makes to their customers. The firm first established business in Yale in 1867, at which time that town was the second in importance on the mainland of British Columbia. At that time all pack trains for the Cariboo country were made up at Yale, and all trains from the mining regions completed their wearisome journeys at the same place. By strict attention to business and by giving honest value to everyone, Douglas & Deighton soon won for themselves a reputation for good work and fair dealing which has stuck to them ever since. In 1884, when the glory of Yale had departed, the establishment was removed to Westminster and here it has continued to flourish ever since. The firm now employs seven saddlers, who turn out goods unequalled by other makers in the province. Ladies saddles, English saddles, Mexican saddles, harnesses, silver and gold mounted and plain, double and single, are all made in the Clarkson street workshop. In the Columbia street store a full line of these goods are constantly in stock for supplying the retail trade and jobbers. A full line of saddler's furnishings are also kept in stock. The business of the firm is constantly increasing, and Mr. Douglas reports that the year just closed has been the busiest in the history of the firm. The best proof of the popularity of Messrs. Douglas & Deighton is that year after year their old customers return to purchase supplies.

BRICK-MAKING.

Manahan Bros'. brick yard, in this city, made during the year 1,200,000 brick of superior quality. Twenty men were employed in the brick yards at good wages. This firm has latterly added a pottery establishment to its other business and it has turned out some excellent work in the shape of earthenware jars and basins, tureens and flower pots. Operations at the pottery have been suspended for a few weeks but Manahan Bros. hope to resume work shortly and will push the new industry to its fullest extent. A large demand is expected for this pottery-ware as many letters of enquiry regarding prices, etc., have already been received.

BECKETT & CO.,

of this city, whose yards are situated at Port Haney, manufactured during 1888 the large number of 3,000,000 bricks. This is exactly 50 per cent. over their make of 1887, and is probably the greatest number made by any one firm in the province during the year. Beckett & Co. kept 45 men constantly employed during the season.

Elroy O'Brien's brick yards, at Port Haney, turned out 700,000 bricks.

An Old Indenture.

Through the kindness of A. J. Hill, C.E., we recently had the pleasure of inspecting an old Indian indenture, bearing the date, "Ninth day of July, One thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine." The instrument transfers the Indian lands of the Mohawks and Canajoharee to the people of New York for £700. A careful reading of the American wars of the time shows that these Indian people had left New York State, having fought faithfully for the British and having been defeated by the Americans, in 1779, who destroyed their grain and fruit trees; their leaders were Johnson, Butler and Brandt, (Brant), and at the time the indenture was drawn they were living at Nassau, Province of Quebec, now possibly known as Ontario. The territory sold formed a part of the "County of Tryon," (named after an English general), the name of which was changed to "Montgomery" and was known by this name in 1789.

Their territory lay south of the Mohawk tributary of the Hudson with "Babington's Patent" on the east and "Aric's Creek" and "Capt. Scott's lands" on the west. The Indians formerly belonged to "Mohawk Castle at Fort Hunter." The names Fort Hunter and Canajoharee are still found in Montgomery County, N.Y.

The number of Indian signatures is thirty-nine, and opposite each is a small quantity of red sealing-wax. covered with a small piece of paper. Nearly all the Indians wrote their Indian names, but a few their English names. Under the former John Butler, deputy supt. of Indian affairs, who also certifies to the sale, has written the English name by which the person was known and under the latter the correct spelling of each.

Opposite two signatures are rudely sketched outlines of a tortoise and in some cases an Indian's mark is made instead of his signature, which he evidently could not write.

This indenture was signed and sealed in the presence of Ralph Clenet, Nicholas Forbess, Capt. Jos. Brant and three others. It is well known that Capt. Brant lived in the neighborhood of Brantford, Ont., where a monument was raised to him in 1886 and whose life was written in the same year by an Indian named Ke-che-ah-gah-me-qua.

At the bottom of the paper is the following:

"The above writeing was duly Executed in Full Council in Witness whereof we have hereunto sett the seal of our nation."

(Signed) CAPT. JOS. BRANT,
in behalf of Canajoharee;
CAPT. DAVID HILL,
in behalf of Mohawks.

Opposite their names is placed a large piece of sealing-wax as a seal, and a close study of this proves they must have had in use a large elipse-shaped stamp (probably of their own manufacture) for to be seen are the profile views of a tortoise, a wolf and a bear.

Mr. Hill secured this ancient parchment from one of the oldest families in Nova Scotia, who had possession of it for many years and whose ancestors emigrated from New York State to Nova Scotia taking this document with them. It is in two pieces, is somewhat torn and the large seal is very much cracked. If permission be given by the owners it will be forwarded probably to the Museum at Ottawa.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

Sir Richard Cartwright was re-elected president of the Reform Club Tuesday.

The corner stone of the Ice Palace at Montreal, was laid yesterday afternoon.

Lord Ennismore is now able to sit up. He has been removed to Strong's Private Hospital, Montreal.

The loss by the fire at the C. P. R. shops, Winnipeg, Tuesday morning was $4,000. The injured men are doing well.

The writes for a new election in Laprairie and Montreal Centre have been issued. Nominations are fixed for the 7th; voting, 24th.

H. J. Clarke may run in Provencher as a conservative candidate. E. P. Leacock has decided to draw out. An Ottawa despatch says the Provencher conservatives' association has decided to repudiate LaRiviere's candidature.

The arrivals of immigrants in British Columbia last year via the Sound and San Francisco were 2,000 in number, and by foreign vessels 1,168, forming a total of 3,168. The returns of the arrivals via the C. P. R. have not yet been received by the department of agriculture, but the showing will be a good one.

The Newfoundland government is calling for tenders at Ottawa for the construction of a railway from St. John's northwesterly to Hall's Bay. Besides developing the resources of the island, the road will enable fishermen to ship their cargoes by railway, obviating the necessity of making perilous voyages south.

James McMahone, on the arrival of the western express Monday night at Broadview, N. W. T., shot himself through the left lung while in the station. He now lies in a critical condition but is expected to recover. McMahone hails from Cronwall, Ont., and was on his way to join his friends in Vancouver, B. C. His funds played out and he shot himself in a fit of despondency.

The customs collections for the port of St. John, N. B., during the year were $901,000, against $813,000 last year and $873,000 the year before. This has been the most prosperious year in St. John for more than a decade. The net income from shipping owned here has exceeded by more than a million, and probably nearer a million and a half, that of any one of the last four or five years.

Details of destruction, the effect of the sleet storm, are still arriving, at Kingston, owing to the complete demoralization of the telegraph system, but sufficient has been learned to show that hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property, consisting of valuable timber, orchards and wires of all kinds have been destroyed. Owing to the destruction of the electric light wires the city was in darkness for two nights.

Tuesday night about fifteen hundred citizens attended the presentation of an illuminated address and a purse of $1,000 to Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, ex-pastor of the Western Methodist church, Toronto. Mayor Clarke occupied the chair, and among the prominent citizens who spoke were Rev. Dr. Thomas (Baptist), Rev. Dr. Potts (Methodist), and S. K. Moore and Rev. D. J. McDonald (Presbyterian.) The speakers expressed a firm conviction of the innocence of Mr. Jeffrey and the belief that he would emerge unscathed from the trial before him.

Chronic Derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Blood, are speedily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These Pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and renewing life and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills.

IMMENSE SALE

—OF—

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING

HATS, CARPETS,

LINOLEUMS, OIL CLOTHS, ETC., ETC.

Commencing Oct. 10th, 1888.

As we have decided to retire from the retail Dry Goods business this season, we now place our entire stock on the market at

WHOLESALE PRICES. NO RESERVE.

EVERYTHING MUST BE SOLD.

$6,000 worth of Clothing, Hats and Men's Furnishings.
$20,000 worth of Dry Goods, Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing Goods, etc.

☞As we are known to carry one of the largest and best assorted stocks in the Province, it will not be necessary to enumerate. An early inspection will convince the public that we mean business, and that the stock must be closed out before the end of this season; therefore we have placed our goods at prices lower than have ever been offered before in this Province.

REMEMBER—The Stock must be closed out by the end of the year.
CALL EARLY WHILE THE ASSORTMENT IS GOOD.

TERMS—Under $100, cash; over $100, secured notes at three months with interest.
