NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Empress of Austria, says London Truth, contemplates a voyage to the West Indies to be followed by a tour through the United States. The Empress, who is now at Corfu, is suffering tortures from rheumatism of the most acute type, which is quite breaking down her nervous system. She is attended by two lady doctors, who were trained by the celebrated Dr. Metzger, of Amsterdam, and they give her the massage treatment every day.

The name of the United States as a marriage market has extended, it would appear, to Russia. The great democratic republic has become the Tim Tiddler's ground of the poor noblemen of Europe. In it they can pick up the money, which is all that they need to render them the lords of society if not of creation, while all they need to give in return is their name. This is an interesting development of the attempt to unite a democratic form of government and of society with a system which creates a class of privileged plutocrats.

The King of Siam is a jolly old fellow and a handsome entertainer. Some Pennsylvanians visited him at his court awhile ago and were received with royal hospitality. They were ushered into a sumptuous reception-room, where they drank native liquor out of gold mugs, and then were regaled for dinner of twenty courses, the tableware being solid silver of the costliest design. They were afterwards amused by the palace acrobats and given a ride on the King's elephants. The King is as free and easy as a Chicago candidate for alderman: he likes Americans, and there are no such difficulties in the way of presentation to his Majesty as prevail at European courts.

The New York Herald of Nov, 14 says:—The earth is now passing through the great stream of meteors which has caused so many celebrated star showers in the historic period. If we could get accurate records of these November displays in ancient times, the myraids of meteors, known as the Leonids, that have bombarded the earth would appear incredible and alarming. Happily for our planet, its atmosphere, many miles deep, interposes over our heads an invisible shield, which but very few of these heavenly projectiles can penetrate. The large majority of them are melted and volatilized by heat developed in the arrest of their motion by the air. The earth will pass this time through an attenuated part of the metior ring, and will not encounter its thickest part untill 1899. While, therefore, no such star shower as was seen on November 13, 1866, can be now expected, meteors enough may be observed to show that we are in the orbit of the Leonids.

Spain seems to be awakening from the social lethargy into which she has been plunged for so long a period. One of the signs of the times is that the working classes are commencing to agitate for reforms, and are demanding many of the rights granted to their more fortunate brethern in England and America. At the recent National Congress of workingmen which met as Barcelona it was determined to enter upon a vigorous political agitation, and a platform was adopted based upon the following demands: Universal suffrage, the eight-hour system, and the payment of equal wages to women and men doing the same work. In regard to the last plank the Spanish labour party is a little in advance of the organizations in English-speaking countries, and were it possible to enforce by legislative enactment the equal payment of men and women workers, it is probable the effect would be to exclude the women from many employments upon which they are now allowed to enter simply because they demand less wages than men.

The presence of the Prince of Wales is always in demand. His great popularity increases with time, and when he can be secured to preside over some ceremonial the success of the affair is assured, As good natured as he is popular, the Prince is never known to refuse invitations which involve a certain amount of monotonous duty on his part. If he can contribute to the success of a hospital endowment or an educational scheme by attending the laying of a corner stone or a public meeting to raise funds, he cheerfully puts himself at the disposal of the promoters of such movements. The value of royal countenance in this way is generally recognized as a most important element. The Prince of Wales was lately asked to be present at the next Welsh eisteddford (in 1889), but his engagemeuts, he replied, would prevent him from attending on the dates selected by the committee, August 20 and following days, but he could go in the beginning of September, and left it to the committee to say whether or not they cared to alter the dates. The eisteddfod managers unanimously resolved to change the time of the festival so that the Prince and Princess of Wales could attend.

A FLOATING COFFIN.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 30.—The schr. M. & A. Morrison, of Shelbourne, N. S., was towed in here almost a total wreck yesterday afternoon. Capt. Morrison's body was found aboard and the crew is missing. Their bodies may be discovered when the ship is pumped out.

AN AMERICAN RIPPER.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The Minneapolis police have received a note signed by Mr. Holten, now in Minneapolis, claiming to be a partner of "Jack the Ripper," in which he says that unless certain houses are closed up by Dec. 8th he will inaugurate a reign of terror and blood equal to that of Whitechapel, London.

A YANKEE PROTESTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Bayard has sent a letter to Baron Zedwitz, German charge d'affaires, in which he says: "In the opinion of this government the course taken by Germany in respect to Samoa cannot be regarded as having been marked by that just consideration which ancient friendship between the U.S. and Germany entitles this government to expect."

KILRAIN AND MITCHELL SHOT AT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—John W. Robinson, an intoxicated occupant of one of the boxes at Krernan's theatre, fired a shot from a revolver at Kilrain and Mitchell last night just after their appearance on the stage, but missed both men. Robinson was arrested.

STRIKERS DITCH A TRAIN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—A number of the striking switchmen ditched a freight train on the Ohio, Indiana and Western road last night, wrecking eight cars. It is expected a committee of strikers will meet the superintendents some time today with a view to settling the strike.

PASSENGER LIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Passengers per str. Walla Walla for Victoria: Mrs W B Gladding, B F Stone, H C Barry, Mrs Curnell, Mrs H T Barns, Miss E Robers, Gee Nong, J Cartnet, J A Tife.

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

NEW HAVEN, Conn, Nov. 30.—John King, a popular young law student, was shot and killed in the crowded street last night. His murderer is believed to be a young woman who visited him a few days ago and entreated him to marry her. He refused and she threatened to shoot him.

THE CALUMET ON FIRE AGAIN.

CALUMET, Mich., Nov. 30.—The Calumet & Hecla copper mine is on fire in No. 3 shaft. The fire is supposed to be an the 16th level. Ten miners are cut off from egress and it now seems impossible to save them at all. The fire started early this morning and it is not known whether the fire was accident or incendiary; or that it was caused by the smouldering of the fire of a year ago.

THE SCORES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30., 2 p.m. — Littlewood, 500; Herty, 490; Moore, 458; Cartwright, 447; and Norman, 441.

MARGERY DEAN DEAD.

NEWPORT, Nov. 30.—A cable from Paris this morning says Mrs. T. T. Pitman, "Margery Dean," died there to-day of nervous prostration. She was the wife of Pitman, proprietor of the Newport Daily News, and daughter of Davis, editor of that paper. Her books are well-known in literary circles all over the world.

MAIL BAGS ROBBED.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—For the past few weeks valuable packages have been missing from the mails arriving here from points south and west. The postoffice officials have discovered that a regular system of mail robbery is being carried on. The entire mail from one train is missing and a large amount of money has been taken. There is no clue to the thieves.

BRAZILIAN RAILROADS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—The surveyors sent by the syndicate of American and Canadian Pacific capitalists to make surveys for railways in Brazil have returned and are now engaged in preparing their plans and reports. They speak confidently of the syndicate obtaining subsidies for building imperial roads.

LATE DESPATCHES.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—W. C. Buchanan, a member of the New Zealand parliament, who arrived here today, by the steamship Mariposa, said in an interview to-day: "Great Britain now has a steamer out with a regular marine survey corps taking soundings of the Pacific ocean bed, in order to find facts requisite for laying a Pacific cable from Australia via Honolulu to Vancouver, B.C. The colonies have been urging the putting on of at least two such survey ships, but at present there is but one, which is now pushing on from Auckland to Honolulu."

JAMES G. BLAINE'S PLANS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—A letter has been received from an intimate friend of James G. Blaine in which the writer speaks by authority of Blaine's plans. He has no desire whatever of accepting any place in the gift of the president. It is added that Mr. Blaine entered the campaign purely as a republican desiring the success of his party, and that all the political preferment that he desires is such as the legislators of the state of Maine can give him. From this it is understood Mr. Blaine is anxious to reenter the service of his state as United States senator, and that in the event of a vacancy he will appear as a candidate for a seat in the United States senate.

He says that at no time has Mr. Blaine ever entertained an idea of going into Mr. Harrison's cabinet; that no word on the subject of the personnel of the new president's official family has ever passed between the two men, and that Mr. Blaine has no idea of intimating directly or indirectly that he desires a place in the cabinet.

REPORTED PURCHASE BY GOULD.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—It is reported that Jay Gould has bought the telegraph lines of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe for $300,000.

PLANNING A RELIEF EXPEDITION.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Lieut Wissman will wait on the emperor and resign his commission in the army, and state his plans for a relief expedition.

AN UNKNOWN CREW.

PORT HURON, Nov. 26.—The steamer F. W. Wheeler reports picking up the crew of a foundered vessel on Lake Huron. The name of the craft has not been learned.

MANCHESTER MARTYRS' MEMORIAL.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—Thousands of persons attended the demonstration in Glasnevin Cemetery yesterday at the monument of the Manchester martyrs. The proceedings were orderly.

A BLOW UP.

NEW HOLLAND, Pa., Nov. 26.—By an explosion of a keg of powder in the store of George Barmer, at Scrafftown, on Welsh Mountain, on Saturday, Bertha, his ten-year-old daughter, was killed. Barmer was fatally injured, and his wife and two other children were also fatally injured.

MORE VESSELS GOING ASHORE.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 26.—The schooner Julia is driven ashore at South Bay Point and is pounding heavily. A steamer has gone to her rescue. The schooner Cora Post is ashore on Bell's Point, with the seas breaking over her. The schooner W. J. Preston is ashore on Wolf's Island and is breaking up rapidly.

THE K. OF L. CONVENTION.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 26.—In the K. of L. convention this morning the Grievance committee occupied the time. In the case of the contested delegation from District Assembly No. 119, New York, that headed by James E. Quinn, was recognized. Powderly says he is sorry that he was re-elected, as he has been offered a better job; one paying $6,000 for three months' work.

THOMAS TALLMAN INDICTED.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The government has rejected France's proposal to blockade East Africa on the condition that slaves, dhowmen and dealers under the French flag, siezed by other powers, are to be handed over to France for punishment. The Emin Bey Relief Committee passed a resolution severing all connection between the committee and the East Africa Company. It is expected that the company will ask the Reichstag for a loan of 10,000,000 marks.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

Stephen Stulley, a farmer who lived a few miles from St. Thomas was burned to death in his house Tuesday night.

The Dominion government, though taking no official part in the Paris exhibition, will encourage Canadian and private exhibits.

The English military authorities are getting out a new drill book which contains changes in the drills. The book will be placed in use in Canada next season.

Great interest is being taken in the Beauce gold fields and considerable quantities of land in the vicinity of the mines, as well as mine rights, are changing hands.

The medical opinions sought by a sub-committee of the house of commons last session are coming in, and show that tuberculosis is largely produced by drinking milk.

The Alexander House, Sarnia, a large hotel on Main Street, caught fire last night and was totally destroyed. All the guests and employees got out and secured their personal effects.

From returns received at the customs department Ottawa it is shown the influx of Chinese to British Columbia for October has more than doubled, when compared with the same month last year.

The announcement about the expense of the Skeena expedition is premature. It is learned at the Indian department that Mr. Robson has gone west for a few days and will return to Ottawa before leaving for Victoria.

The Toronto chief of police received a cablegram from the commission of metropolitan police, London, stating that an officer would leave for Canada today with Barnett, to surrender him on the charge of being implicated in the wrecking of the Central Bank.

The local grain dealers at Montreal are considerably discouraged owing to the discrimination rates against Manitoba which the C. P. R. has been giving over their "Soo" route. The Minneapolis mills have flooded Eastern Canada with flour enough to last for months.

Dr. Montizambert, the Dominion quarantine inspector, says that several convalescent yellow fever patients had arrived at Grosse Isle quarantine station this season, but were detained until any danger of contagion was over. He visits Europe next year to purchase an improved fumigating apparatus.

The coroner's jury in the Jarvis murder case brought in a verdict of wilful murder. The murderer was seen Wednesday at Silver Mountain and again this morning at Beaver Mountain. He had his moustache cut off and his hair cropped. Four special constables started in hot pursuit of the murderer.

Eastern lumbermen are now seeing they made a mistake in pressing the Dominion Government to raise the duty on pine logs from $2 to $3 per M, as strong efforts will be made by Michigan lumbermen to induce the United States congress to retaliate by increasing the port duty on sawn lumber. The result will be to depreciate the value of timber limits.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau is no better. A consultation of his medical advisers was held Wednesday. He has lost twenty pounds in weight within the last few days. His friends are urging him to go to Paris at once to submit to another operation, but he has not yet made up his mind what to do, feeling that his strength will not permit him to stand an ocean voyage at this season of the year.

WILL ARBITRATE.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—France and Holland have agreed to submit to arbitration the differences with regard to the boundary line between their possessions in Guaina.

TROUBLE FEARED.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The Boulangist committee have advised their supporters to take no part in the manifestation over the grave of Raspail on Sunday, the anniversary of the coup d' etat of 1851, on the ground that it is a trap spread by the government to provoke a sanguinary outbreak. The opportunist deputies, on the other hand, have decided to place a crown on the tomb before the hour fixed for the demonstration and not to appear in the procession.

A TERRIBLE DUEL.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The duel between Paul DeRoulde, and the patriotic chief of the Republique Fraincaise, took place this morning at Chantillons. The affair grew out of unfavorable criticisms of M. DeRoulde's political manipulation of the league. L. Reinach, as the challenged party, chose pistols. Four shots were exchanged, when the seconds declared their honor satisfied and the parties withdrew from the field of combat unharmed.

VALERY ASKS A NEW TRIAL.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A motion for a new trial will be made in the case of Valery Weideman against Robert Horace Walpole, heir presumptive to the earldom of Oxford, for the breach of promise which was decided against the plaintiff yesterday for refusing to answer cersain questions on the ground that being a foreigner she did not understand the consequences of her refusal to answer.

THE STRIKE OVER.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 30.—The strike in the mining districts has been averted before it became general and the men have resumed work in all the collieries. There has been disturbance whatever. The settlement was reached by legislation.

THE FAITHFUL DOG.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Mr. Bright is easier this morning. The coughing abated during the night and the patient got rest and refreshing sleep. The physicians are surprised by his recuperative powers but express no hope of his ultimate recovery. Mr. Bright's favorite dog "Fly," a Scotch terrier, lies at the foot of the bed day and night.

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Nov. 30, 1888.

Our corrrespondent "Parent' raises a question and makes a suggestion that are well worthy of emphasizing. It is true that British Columbia, all things considered, occupies a creditable, if not enviable, position with regard to her ordinary school facilities; but it is open to serious question whether the present school system, at its best, is well fitted to give the youth of the country a practical start for life, at all commensurate with their needs, or with the time spent in acquiring their so-called education. Unless supplemented by special education of various kinds, the curriculum of the public, and added, even, that of the high, schools, manifestly does not fit the pupil, who has gone through both, for anything in particular. Some, of course, undeniably, are fitted for a higher course of study, which they subsequently successfully prosecute, but the great majority, beyond what they have acquired of the "three R's," have been simply wasting their time, and have to begin, after leaving school, to get their real education. Our correspondent calls attention to the necessity which exists for several business schools or commercial colleges in the province, and suggests the establishment of one in this city. He also states that it would be encouraged and supported. From what we can learn, and from a general view of the circumstances, we believe that it would. In fact, we are informed that money would be liberally subscribed to establish such an institution. A prominent citizen, we have been informed, is forced to send several of his children to Spokane, W. T., where there is a good commercial college, so that they may be grounded in the rudiments of a business education. If this sort of thing continues, and attains any dimensions, as there is reason to fear it may, unless the demand is met at home, it will prove no inconsiderable drain on the monetary resources of the city and province. It is not creditable to us, either, that the necessity exists; while the prestige of this city, and of the province, as a desirable place for the better class of immigrants would be very much increased by the establishment of good business colleges here and in the other cities of the province. Let us take the lead and found such an institution in the royal city at any rate. An industrial school is another desideratum, without which our educational system will always be lop-sided and inefficient. We hope to see steps taken in this direction shortly by the proper authorities. Industrial schools, we believe, have become to be regarded chiefly as reformatories, and as such they fulfil, in the present state of society, an indispensable function; but it is tolerably safe to assume that if restless, mischievous, and criminally disposed juveniles were earlier graduated from the public schools—for whose studies very often they have no liking, but rather an aversion, and with little capacity or desire for progress—into properly equipped and conducted industrial schools, they would in most cases find congenial occupation and entertainment in one or other of the manifold operations of such an institution, and thus would never know the humiliating necessity of a reformatory. These two things—a commercial or business college and an industrial branch school—are wanted to complete our educational facilities, and the sooner they are established the better. We believe that the school system of the country itself could be so modified as to embrace both, but the matter of the business college we should take into our hands immediately.

Speaking of the recent and projected improvements in means for bringing the celestial worlds within easy reach of the prying optics of earth's curious mortals, an exchange gives the following interesting forecast: The chances are that the moon will be as well known to the inhabitants of the civilized world as the interior of Africa at the present time. The telescope manufactured by order of the late millionaire Lick for the university known by his name in California has enjoyed the distinction of being the largest and strongest in the world, but it is likely to undergo a comparative eclipse. Mr. Abram Clark, who made it, has undertaken the task of making one yet larger and more powerful. Should he succeed, as he is perfectly confident that he will, valuable additions may be expected to be made to our knowledge of the worlds by which we are surrounded. In a recent talk on the subject Mr. Clark disclosed some facts quite contrary to general belief in regard to astronomy. It has been popularly supposed that we had reached the maximum of effective telescopes. The big ones, the leading astronomers told us, disclosed little of the heavens' wonders. And they pointed out that the most important discoveries of the present century had been made by telescopes of a medium size. Hence the deduction that it was useless to bother with larger lenses. Such a theory, of course, gives us little of practical value to hope for from astronomy. With the telescopes now in use we could expect to determine more accurately the distance from the earth to the sun, or to lay bare more stars. But in discoveries of this kind the great mass of humanity can scarcely be expected to take any very great interest. It was a verdict of most of the professionals that the Lick telescope would be a failure, so far as adding anything to practical knowledge of the heavenly sphere was concerned, but in this, as in many other instances, they were mistaken. It has already been demonstrated that, properly constructed and located, a big telescope is more effective than one of smaller size. It has been shown, in fact, that there is practically no limit to the power of a telescope, and that if a sufficiently powerful one can be made, we can bring most of the planets near enough to examine their every nook and corner. The lens of the new instrument for the university at Los Angeles is to be 40 inches diameter, and Mr. Clark claims that he is able to make one five feet in diameter—one that will bring the moon within a few thousand feet of the earth. It is simply a question of time and money—mainly money, as a telescope with a five foot lens, properly mounted, would cost a million dollars. If Mr. Clark's position is true, and there is every reason to believe that it is, astronomy, a science which has been at a stand for years, will take giant strides. There will be practically no limit to the discoveries it can make, and there should come from it some practical benefits. Each year we will know more of the heavens, and of all sciences astronomy will be changed from the slowest to the most progressive.

THE TRUE PHILOSOPHY OF MEDICATION is not to dose for symptoms but to root out the disease. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, the Great Blood Purifier, has proved itself equal to this task. It is most searching, without being a violent remedy for constipation, Biliousness and Indigestion. It is as well adapted to the needs and physical temperaments of delicate females as to the more robust sex, and is a fine preventative of disease as well as remedy for it.

DEAR SIRS:—I bought one of your Maxwell Binders last July, and it has given me the best of satisfaction in every respect. My grain and straw was very heavy, and a good deal of it was badly lodged, and I thought it could not be cut by machine, but thanks to the Maxwell machine, it picked it up and cut it like a charm. I have visited many of the surrounding farms but have yet failed to see any grain cut so clean as mine. I feel proud of the machine and would strongly recommend the Maxwell above all others. A PLAGUE FROM THE EAST.

LEPROSY SAID TO BE NOT UNCOMMON AMONG CHINESE HERE.

But Friends of the Patients Conceal Them from the Board of Health—Sad Story of a Young Californian Who Fell a Victim to the Disease.

(Copyright 1888.)

The recent discovery of a Chinese leper, named Sam Ling, over in Newark, and the consequent local excitement thereupon have had quite a marked effect in re-awakening New Yorkers to a consciousness that there is a vast deal of this horrible disease wherever there are Chinamen, and that New York has a large Chinese population. Out of prudent consideration for the prejudices of white people, who generally believe the disease infectious—an opinion not shared by the Chinese—our Mongolian neighbors generally take very good care to hide away their lepers.

Only a few weeks since, an American physician here, learning from a Chinese convert where there was a leper in a far advanced stage of the disease, sought to view the case for the purpose of making a study of it. He found the house, on Mott street, where the man was secreted, but was met on the stairs by a couple of Chinamen who made him understand by signs that they would chop his head with a couple of very ugly looking hatchets that they brandished if he persisted in trying to penetrate any farther. He fled, but returned the next day, accompanied by a health officer armed with authority to search the house. It was too late, however. The leper had been spirited away during the night, and whether he is still kept somewhere in the swarming hive of Mott street, or was shipped off to Belleville or Newark, none but Chinamen know, and they will not tell.

Whether leprosy is really infectious or not, Californians—who have had more opportunities to study Chinese life than we of the East have enjoyed—think that it is, and certainly a good many white people have died of it on the Pacific Slope. I was perfectly cognizant of one such case that was painfully tragic. A young man, treasurer and general manager of a flourishing brewing company, in which he owned an interest, boarded where I did, on O'Farrell street. I do not think that I ever knew a more genial, generous, clever and popular young fellow than he was. One day he called me into his room and directed my attention to a singular spot on the right side of his neck, where the collar ordinarily covered it. It was about the size of a dime, round, and looked as if painted with zinc-white, or rather as if all color had been extracted from the tissues there. "Do you know what that is?" he asked me. I hesitated. While I believed that I knew—for I had already been examining leprosy considerably—it seemed too awful a thing to think that my handsome, talented, blithe young friend, whom we all liked so much for his manly worth, had upon him the ineffaceable brand of that most horrible doom. "I believe you suspect what it is, as I do," he went on, "but we will see how it progresses. We may both be wrong."

Some six weeks later he called me in again to look at the spot. It had grown to the bigness of a silver quarter. And another spot was showing. No doubt was possible. He was doomed. "I know when I caught it; three years ago," he remarked. We wasted no words discussing the situation, for we both knew that his condition was hopeless. He simply pressed my hand, saying, "Don't mention it to anybody." I said, "No." A few days passed, in which he seemed as light-hearted as ever. Meanwhile, as we afterward learned, he was quietly and systematically closing up all his business affairs. Then one night as we met in the hall he shook hands and said, "Good-bye." I understood him correctly, but could not, under the circumstances, disapprove of his purpose. He went out—and did not return. Two or three days elapsed. The landlady—a pretty little widow, as good as she was charming, to whom he was engaged to be married—was very anxious about him. At his place of business there was much wonderment over his disappearance. His friends, and he had many, were all exercised about him. The news reached us that away down in Santa Rosa, in a lonely place by the bank of a stream, had been found the body of a young man, handsome and well dressed, but without anything about him to give any clue to his identity. A bullet hole was through his head and a revolver, with one chamber empty, was still clutched in his right hand. It was our friend. He had put a stop to his leprosy, the only one possible—death.

JAMES H. CONNELLY.

PHOTOGRAPHIC TRICKS.

Can composite photographs—i. e., made of different heads and bodies joined—be so produced that they will not show their patchwork quality? That is the question deeply exercising the families and friends of a large number of Brooklyn belles just at present, and, sympathetically or otherwise, many other people are interested in it. Among the glaringly and shockingly improper pictures recently seized by Comstock in possession of an amateur photographer named Brown, who made a business of vending such things, were numbers of the vilest character, in which the female faces presented were those of young ladies of previously unimpeached respectability, moving in Brooklyn's best society. They and their friends affirm that these pictures were made by the wicked photographer taking heads from decent portraits, fixing them upon pictures in lewd attitudes or simple nudities and then making negatives from those combinations. Brown has told contradictory stories about how they were produced or obtained and is not worthy of belief anyway. If the pictures were made up the work must have been very skillfully done, for in some of them, it is averred, the joining line is not visible, to the naked eye at least.

Mr. T. C. Roche, "the father of photography"—as he is known to photographers all over this country—being consulted upon the subject, said:

"It is possible to join heads and bodies in that way, so that the line is absolutely imperceptible only when a collar, necklace or something else is about the neck to conceal it. It is quite true that, where there is nothing of the sort, the negative made from the combination may be so very skillfully touched up as to hide the line from the unassisted eye of one who is not a professional, but the expert will detect it, even without a glass, and anybody with a strong glass will probably make it out. A photograph made in that way that I could not detect I would regard as little short of miraculous. You probably remember that not a long while since a rascal in London was sentenced to long imprisonment—19 or 15 years, I think—for making and vending obscene pictures, made in that way, with Mary Anderson's beautiful head upon them. It is not true, as has been stated by a certain New York paper, that the joining line of those pictures could not be distinguished and that Dr. Griffith—Mary's step-father—had to abandon the prosecution because it was impossible to prove that the pictures had been made in that way. The line was shown and the rascal was punished as he richly deserved to be. He had taken a large photographic portrait of the lady, which could be obtained in any quantity, and photographed it down to a size to suit the bodies he had on hand ready for combination.

"There are various ways for providing surprising results in photography, things that in one age would have been called magic but in ours recognized as scientific tricks. The ghost picture, for instance, in which a shadowy ghost—through which material objects are visible—is seen between natural attitudes and occupations. That is produced by an almost instantaneous exposure of the figure that is to do duty as the ghost, followed by a full exposure of the figures and properties that are to appear natural. Another novel trick was shown recently in a photograph reproduced by a prominent trade journal, which presented the photographer, seated at a table, playing chess with himself sitting on the opposite side of the table, while he, himself, stood up in the background looking at his two selves playing. The figures were all on the same negative, which was produced by three successive exposures of the plate, parts thereof being masked each time by a black velvet shutter. Still another trick is that by which a person who likes that sort of thing, may appear to be photographed riding upon a flying goose, or a fish, or any other desired style of ridiculous locomotion. This is done by the subject holding upon his lap a huge piece of white or sky-tinted card with the fanciful figure drawn upon it. His face appears above the upper edge of the card and seems, in the picture, joined to the funny little body mounted on the goose or fish. The statue picture is made by about the same device. But none of these, or any other ingenious trick yet invented will enable a rascal to make an indecent picture of a girl without her complicity, so that its fraudulent character cannot be detected."

DAVID WECHSLER.

A PLACE OF THE DEAD.

"He was found in the East River."

"How did he get there?"

"Who knows?" said the keeper of the morgue, shaking his head as he turned away from the unfortunate piece of clay that had been the subject of our conversation.

The question that has no answer could be spoken over many a pine box with its grewsome contents lying in the city morgue. There will probably never be an answer in the case alluded to, for the body bore no marks by which it could be identified, and the tide may have carried it a strange journey to the spot where it was found. The owner had been a poor man, to judge by appearances, and, very likely, finding himself without work, he went down to the river, and from there he will go to the Potter's Field by way of the morgue and that will be the end.

Christmas time is generally prolific in suicides, for then the man without a home and the woman who dares not return to the home that waits for her find the contrast sharper. The cold, too, increases, and a long winter stares the unfortunate in the face. So the temporary resting place for the unclaimed dead receives many of such at the Christmas season. Accidental deaths, especially drowning, are far more common in summer. The fruitful cause is liquor. The inebriate goes to the pier, falls asleep on its edge, rolls off, and the river overwhelms him before he can regain his senses.

The morgue itself is a rectangular structure built over the water in the fashion of a bathhouse. It is at the east end of Twenty-sixth street, and behind it are the extensive buildings of the Bellevue Hospital. All the unclaimed dead of the city go to this morgue, whether they die in the hospitals, upon the streets, in the parks or in one of the two rivers that run down on the east and west. About 7,000 is the number per year, and a good proportion of them are entered in the list of "drowned." A human being may come to his death by drowning in more ways than one, as the First Grave Digger in "Hamlet" takes some pains to explain, and of those who come to the morgue it is hard to say whether they sought death or were betrayed to it by accident or a crime. They are found by the harbor police or by some boatman, and in a considerable proportion of cases that is all that is ever known. The mystery which surrounds these deaths becomes doubly interesting when one reflects that the two rivers do not always render a just account. The ocean takes takes many a body and leaves no room. The number of deaths from drowning that are never explained, certainly that remain absolutely unknown, must be a startling sum.

New York has no particular "jumping off place," or spots to which suicides regularly go. Each of the piers comes in for its share; the Battery has its patronage, and the lakes of Central Park receive a few.

"The Old Woman."

Look into yonder window! What do you see? Nothing new, surely; nothing but what the angels have looked smiling*ly down upon since the morning stars* first sang to-gether; nothing but a loving mother hushing upon her faithful breast a wailing babe, whose little life hangs by a slender thread. Mortal lips have said, "the boy must die!"

A mother's hope never dies. She clasps him closer to her breast, and gazes upwards, food and sleep and rest are forgotten, so that the little flickering taper die not out. Gently upon her soft, warm breast she wooes for its baby slumbers; long, weary nights, up and down the cottage floor she paces, soothing its restless moaning. Suns rise and set—stars pale—seasons come and go; she heeds them not, so that those languid eyes but beam brightness. Down the meadow—by the brook—on the hillside—she seeks with him the health-restoring breeze.

Health comes at last! What joy to see that rosy flush mantle on the pallid cheek!—what joy to see shrunken limbs grow sound with health!—what joy to see the damp, thin locks grow crisp and glossy!

What matter though the knitting lie neglected, or the spinning-wheel be dumb, so that the soaring kite or bouncing ball but pleases his boyish fancy, and prompt the gleeful shout? What matter that the coarser fare be hers, so that the daintier morsel pass his rosy lips? What matter that her robe be thread-bare, so that his graceful limbs be clad in warm garments? What matter that her couch be hard, so that his sunny head rests nightly on a downy pillow? What matter that her slender purse be empty so that his childish heart may never know denial?

Years roll on. That loving mother's age grows dim; her glossy locks are silvered; her limbs are sharp and shrunken; her footsteps slow and tottering. And the boy!—the cherished child?—he of the bold, bright age, and sinewy limb, and bounding step? surely, from his kind hand shall flowers be strewn on the dim, downward path to the dark valley; surely will her son's strong arm be her's to lean on; his voice of music sweeter to her dull ear than seraphic singing.

No, no!—the hum of busy life has struck upon his ear, drowning the voice of love. He has become a man! refined, fastidious!—and to his forgetful, unfilial heart (God forgive him), the mother who bore him is only—"the old woman!"

No love like the love of a mother
When trials are gathering fast.
Ah, no! there's no love like a mother's
So noble, forgiving and true.

Public Notice
THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC is hereby directed to the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888," issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, under authority of the "Health Ordinance, 1869."
Having been appointed Provincial Health Officer for Districts lying south of Fraser River, I hereby give notice that the provisions of said By-Laws will be strictly enforced, and all persons are required to govern themselves accordingly.
R. I. BENTLEY, M. D.,
Provincial Health Officer.
New West., Oct. 6, 1888. doc6ml

BY-LAWS ISSUED BY HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-IN COUNCIL,
HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-Governor of British Columbia, by and with the advice of the Executive Council of British Columbia, acting under and by virtue of the provisions of the "Health Ordinance, 1869," enacts as follows:—
1. Whenever small-pox is present in any locality without the boundaries of any Municipality, the Provincial Health Officer nearest to such locality shall at once cause the patient to be removed to an isolated hospital, tent or other suitable place, or cause such person to be otherwise sufficiently isolated, and shall see that he is properly cared for, and shall take proper measures for the disinfection, or, if necessary, the destruction of all clothing which may have been exposed to the contagion, and for the disinfection and purification of every conveyance, railcar, steamboat, railway vessel, carriage, or other vehicle which may have been exposed to the contagion.
2. Such Health Officer shall have, in his discretion, full power to place in another building or tent all persons who may have been exposed to the contagion, and shall cause them to be supplied with all necessaries until the period of incubation of the disease shall have elapsed, and no such person shall go, or be permitted to go, abroad, until he or she has given satisfactory proof of successful vaccination within the preceding seven years, or shall have obtained a medical certificate of insusceptibility to the vaccine disease, nor until the clothing or effects worn or carried by or with him or her have been properly disinfected, if the same have been exposed to contagion.
3. To assist the Health Officer, he shall have full power to employ persons to be nurses, sanitary policemen, and otherwise to aid in the prevention of the spread of the disease, and may himself give and enforce such reasonable directions for the same purpose as to him may seem expedient, and the nearest Government Agent shall see that all articles and necessaries required by the Health Officer are furnished.
4. It shall be the duty of every medical practitioner who shall attend upon, or give medical or surgical advice, to or about any person suffering from small-pox, to give notice forthwith after he shall have commenced so to attend or give such advice, to the nearest Provincial Health Officer. When a householder knows that a person within the house occupied by him is taken sick of small-pox, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the nearest Provincial Health Officer.
5. The Provincial Health Officer before mentioned is and includes any person appointed Health Officer under the "Health Ordinance, 1869," by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.
6. The foregoing provisions shall have no effect within the limits of any Municipality, save as hereinafter mentioned.
7. In case the Council of any Municipality, whenever small-pox is present, or likely to occur therein, shall fail to make or carry out proper provisions to prevent the invasion or spread of small-pox within the Municipality, and complaint thereof shall be made to the Lieutenant-Governor by the Council of any adjacent Municipality, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, acting upon such complaint or in his discretion upon other information, to order that these regulations shall, until otherwise ordered, apply to and be in force within the Municipality in which such neglect occurs, and thereupon any Provincial Health Officer shall have, within and in respect of such Municipality all the authority with which he is clothed in respect of localities without Municipalities, and in such case all disbursements and expenses paid by the Province, in the carrying out within such Municipality of the foregoing regulations, shall be paid by such Municipality.
8. These regulations may be cited as the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888."
Dated at Victoria, this 3rd day of October, 1888.
By Command,
JNO. ROBSON,
dec6ml Provincial Secretary.

The third child reported sick of diphtheria yesterday, and so likely to die, has also succumbed to the dread decease, and was buried to-day. At latest accounts, none of the other children had contracted the contagion.

Circulars have been issued to be forwarded to stockraisers throughout British Columbia, and some to those in the Northwest Territories, asking that a convention be held at Kamloops on the 7th day of January, 1889, for the purpose of forming an association for mutual benefit and protection.

In another column will be found the statement of Alderman BeBeck, chairman of the board of health, on the diphtheria matter, corroborated by Mayor Dickinson and Alderman Herring. Our readers have now both sides of the question before them, and can form their own conclusions.

We have received the Dominion Illustrated for November 24th. This number is equal to previous ones in every respect. Owing to their number and variety, we are unable to mention the excellent illustrations in detail. Amongst others we notice a photograph of the eminent scientist and venerable vice-president of the Dominion Evangelical Alliance, Sir Wm. Dawson.

Col. Woodford's Lecture.

Col. George Woodford's lecture last night at the Methodist church attracted a large audience, almost every seat in the church being occupied. The subject "Temperance," was handled by the speaker in a masterly manner. The lecture throughout was illustrated with anecdotes, and so interesting were his remarks that at the end of an hour when the lecture was concluded a feeling of regret at its shortness was felt by the entire audience. The lectures will be continued nightly for a week.

A Good Riddance.

Another inspection of Chinatown yesterday by the police revealed the fact that almost every doubtful character has left the city, and it is learned nearly every one of the stampeders have gone to Vancouver. At a modest estimate the number of emigrants is placed at fifty, but we could spare double that number without suffering severely. It would be well for the Vancouver police to redouble their attention to the Dupont Street dens as the unsavory characters who have made their abode there during the past week will prove an endless source of trouble unless kept well in hand from the first.

North Pacific Canning Co.

The above is the title of a recently organized salmon canning company, which will erect buildings for the purpose on the Skeena River. The firm is composed of John Carthew, A. R. Johnson, J. E. Jenkins, John Mahrer, Nanaimo, and Gilmore & McCandless, Victoria. Mr. Carthew will have the management of the concern, and he is one of the most experienced and successful canners on the coast. The "Walrus Brand," under his management, is sure to become one of the most valued brands of salmon in the market. The company is a strong one, and will erect a cannery with the capacity of 15,000 or 20,000 cases annually.—Colonist.

THE INJUNCTION GRANTED.

The Enemies of Progress and Enterprise make another Attempt to Retard the City's Prosperity.

The application of Augustus William Lundbom and John Edward Lord, for an injunction to restrain the mayor and council of New Westminster from parting with the proceeds of the sale of the workshops and ferry by-laws debentures to the trust recently appointed, has been granted by Mr. Justice Crease. The injunction further restrains the council from dealing with the debentures in any other manner than that prescribed in the by-laws, and the trust is restrained from receiving or dealing with the proceeds of the sale of the debentures. The particulars entered by the plaintiffs are:

To quash the by-law known as the Workshops Bonus by-law, 1888, passed by the corporation of the city of New Westminster, and for an injunction to restrain the mayor and corporation of the city of New Westminster from in any manner dealing with the debentures mentioned in the Workshops Bonus by-law, 1888, and the Ferry Service by-law, 1888, and to restrain the defendants other than the said corporation from receiving from the said corporation the sum of $150,000, or any other sum the proceeds of the sale of the said debentures, and from in any manner dealing with any of the said moneys, should they have already received any, and to prevent the said corporation from in any manner dealing with the debentures mentioned in the said Workshops Bonus by-law, 1888, until the validity of the said by-law shall have been determined.

Messrs. Lundbom and Lord, in applying for the injunction, include as applicants "All other ratepayers in the corporation of the city of New Westminster." Apart from the applicants, and possibly a couple of dozen other persons, there is scarcely a ratepayer in the city who is against the disposition of the $150,000 by the trust in the manner agreed upon between the corporation and the company. Were the matter to go before the people tomorrow to vote on it would be proved again that 90 per cent of the ratepayers are satisfied with the arrangements made and agreed on. It is worthy of note that those who have been the most active in bringing the injunction about have been in the past, and still are, adverse to anything in the way of the city's advancement, and, in fact, have endeavored to balk all progress whenever occasion offered.

The Southern Railway directors are not at all dismayed by the injunction. They hold the charter of the road, and before the city can get it back it will have to make good the liabilities incurred by the company. For the welfare of the city it is to be hoped the company may not be forced to adopt measures which will be fatal to Westminster.

Victims of the Rock Slide.

Fuller particulars have come to hand concerning the great rock slide, reported in THE COLUMBIAN yesterday, which occurred at a point on the C.P.R. known as sailor Bar Bluff, about eight miles east of Yale, whereby a large portion of a bridge was demolished and two men killed and a third injured. The two men killed were Peter McPherson, a bridge carpenter, and Coombs Bodoin, a telegraph line builder. McPherson was a native of New Brunswick, and Bedoin hailed from the province of Quebec; both men have been in the province about three years. The injured man, who is probably fatally hurt, is Wm. Geisler, well-known as the keeper of the Emory Hotel in the days of the Onderdonk contract, and for some time afterwards. Business becoming dull, he varied his occupation by taking to his old trade of bridge carpenter, and thus met with the terrible accident described. Mrs. Geisler will have the sympathy of old friends of her husband in her sad affliction.

St. Andrew's Day.

Across broad America, east, west, north, and south, as well as on every other continent and corner of the globe the Festival of St. Andrew will be celebrated in a loyal and fitting manner wherever half a dozen Scots are gathered together. Scotland is never forgotten by her grateful sons and no matter where they may wander or under what flag they take their abode their hearts are always bound to "Bonnie Scotland" with a loving tie which strengthens as years roll on. In the royal city the memory of Scotland is kept green and holy in the hearts of her sons, and once a year, on St. Andrew's night, they gather together and honor her.

The annual dinner of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society takes place this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Oddfellows' hall. A large number of tickets have been sold and the dinner promises to be the most successful in several years. The haggis, that most delicious of all dishes, has been prepared by a lady whose knowledge of the exact ingredients necessary to its perfection is unequalled in the province or perhaps in the Dominion. The royal city will honor old Scotland tonight in a manner worthy the occasion.

The N.W. and B.B. Railroad.

Senator Canfield is in the city and reports that the recent favorable action of the New Westminster people with reference to the N.W. & B.B. railroad has overcome a serious obstacle and will enable the construction of the road to proceed as rapidly as the weather and necessary preliminaries will allow. It only remains for the people of Whatcom to finish attending to their share of the programme to have things in perfect working order. This they are now doing. Mr. Canfield accounts for the apparent slowness of our people by the fact that they do not realize how much has already been accomplished or how large a sum of money has been expended.

Bids for the clearing of the right of way to the Nooksack river will be opened next Monday. Negotiations are now in progress for the purchase of 4400 tons, or fifty miles of steel rails. Six thousand dollars' worth of piles are to be gotten out this winter for wharfing at this place.

Slight changes in the route from here to the boundary line have been made to avoid the water with which some of the country is troubled. This will necessarily lengthen the distance to the boundary line about three miles. The senator says it will be out of the question for the road to touch at Blaine, though a spur can easily be put in.—Whatcom Democrat.

A SMUGGLER CAPTURED.

Customs Officers Search for and Seize a Large Quantity of Smuggled Goods Last Night.

The Smuggler Prepares to Flit by the Light of the Moon but is Captured and Jailed.

About four years ago a German Jew, named J. Sheurman, came to Westminster and opened a second hand store and pawnshop on Front Street. Although dealers in "Old Clo" are not usually addicted to trading in cranberries, Sheurman went into the cranberry business extensively and made many large shipments to the Sound and to San Francisco. People wondered that the man confined his exports to cranberries but no particular notice of this idiosyncrasy was taken, though the citizens of Westminster were then more diligent in attending to other people's affairs than they are now. A few, however, of the most shrewd suspected that the cranberries were only a blind, and further enquiry into the matter proved that Mr. Sheurman was shipping large quantities of opium to the south and reaping therefrom a handsome profit. It was also learned that he worked in collusion with the American customs officers who received a certain share in the profits. So well did Sheurman flourish in the opium smuggling business that he was able to purchase property in Portland to the value, it is said, of $15,000. After a year's stay in Westminster he moved to the Sound where it is believed he acted as agent for a band of smugglers until the recent war against the opium men by the American customs department made the business too dangerous to remain in any longer. Successful smuggling is a paying business and no one knew it better than Sheurman, so he set about to find another branch of his adopted profession which would offer profits without incurring danger. New Westminster he remembered with pleasure, and the quiet old place to him seemed to afford the opportunities for a perfect smuggler's paradise. Sheurman returned here some five months ago, but only to find that the Royal City was a different place than of old, and instead of a sleepy little burgh with slow going inhabitants he was amazed to find a bustling little city filled with shrewd and enterprising business men. The conditions having altered to so great an extent he found it necessary to proceed more cautiously, and it was not until about four weeks ago that he had arranged connections with certain people here to receive his smuggled goods. The plan was to ship the goods from Seattle to Blaine and from thence they would be brought to Westminster either by road or water. In the meantime, while negotiations were in progress, Sheurman rented the ground floor of the Orange Hall and pretended to do a little business in buying and selling old goods. But the blind was very apparent and did not mislead everybody, as he has since found to his cost. Mr. J. S. Clute, collector of customs, knowing the man of old, had certain suspicions that his residence in Westminster was not for the purpose of legitimate trade, and accordingly gave his officers instructions to keep an eye on him. Yesterday certain information was received concerning Sheurman's first importation of smuggled goods and a portion of the consignment was located in a hotel on Columbia Street. Arrangements were immediately completed to search the house, and about midnight Mr. Clute, along with a well known officer, went to the house and made a valuable seizure of cigarettes and playing cards. To save himself, the receiver of the goods turned Queens evidence.

Sherman got wind that his scheme had been discovered and made arrangements to fly, but the authorities, who learned his intentions, decided he should stay. Shortly before 3 o'clock Constable Dominy stepped into the house and quietly arrested Sheurman, who with his wife was dressed and waiting for the carriage which was to land them safely at the southern end of the Semiahmoo trail. Mrs. Sheurman made a terrible row when her husband was put under arrest and pretended not to understand the cause, but when she saw her tears were of no avail she quickly dried them and talked business. She offered $1,000 bail to release Sheurman, but it was not accepted and he was conveyed to the lockup where he spent the remainder of the night. At the police court this morning, Mr. Bole, Q. C., for the crown, asked a remand of 8 days. Capt. Pittendrigh granted the remand and fixed the prisoner's bail at $5,000.

The manner in which the clues were obtained and the skilful shadowing of the smuggler until arrested cannot be published at present as there is more work of the same kind to be done, but suffice it to say the whole was very cleverly managed and reflects high credit on the officers who have been working on the case.

Accident at Field.

A very sad accident occurred in the C.P.R. yard at Field last night about six o'clock, by which Mr. Dobson, a section man and keeper of the section house there, lost his life. The section gang had been out on the road and were being brought up by a train. Some of the men were in a box car and Dobson was on top of it. He was leaning over the end of the car talking to some of the men inside when the train stopped, and the car on which Dobson was riding and the car behind it coming suddenly together, his head was jammed between them, causing instantaneous death. He is spoken of as a quiet, sober, industrious man, and leaves a widow to bewail his untimely end.—Calgary Tribune.

The Dominion steamer Vancouver has been off the Eastern coast since Sunday waiting for the weather to moderate and clear. Capt. Lindhat reports the gale Sunday and Monday terribly violent, the worst he has experienced for ten years. The Vancouver's decks are completely swept by the storm-tossed, sea, but no damage was sustained. Since the arrival of the Vancouver with this report of the severity of the storm grave fears are entertained by many for the safety of the schooner Empire, which was due here on Monday morning.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Commercial Colleges Wanted.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—While the government is doing so much for the education of the youth of British Columbia; while the schoolmaster is sent so widely abroad over this "sea of mountains" of ours, yet it must be confessed that there is a great want in our scholastic instruction. We see very many of our young men leave school wholly unfit to acquit themselves in an efficient manner, even in a lumber yard, not to mention a counting house. There is not enough practical education imparted. We do not wish to find fault with our school system by any means, but the fact remains that the lack of practical knowledge that some of our young men display, after leaving school is enough to excite the pity of thier fellow mortals. For our part we rather prefer to be envied than pitied. We think that the want can be supplied by the establishment of a few business schools in our province, where, instead of Latin quality, Greek euphony, conic sections, etc., our young men and women shall be taught to transact business and thereby fitted for the ordinary affairs of life. We trust that the proper persons shall shortly be found to start such an institution in our city. They would have our sympathy and support. PARENT.

Alderman DeBeck's Statement.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Dr. Hall's communication in Wednesday's COLUMBIAN, in regard to the Board of Health's dealings with the cases of diphtheria at the Cleveland Hotel, is not a fair or true statement. The circumstances are substantially these: Dr. met me on the morning of the 29th inst., and made a statement in reference to the cases of diphtheria. I asked him to come with me to Alderman Herring's. We took the Mayor with us. I asked him to repeat to the mayor and Ald. Herring, what he told me on the street. He said, "Mr. White is not able to pay me for my services to his children," and he would not work any longer for glory, and would not attend them any longer unless we would agree to pay him. The mayor suggested that we go to the health officer, and there make the best arrangements we could, as we would have to employ a physician to look after the children if Dr. Hall would not. Ald. Herring, Dr. Hall and myself went to Dr. Smith's office. I asked Dr. Hall if he would take charge of the patients and what would be his fee. He said he thought he ought to be paid as much as Dr. Robertson, who was quarantined with a small-pox patient at Vancouver last fall. I asked him how much that was and he said he thought $50 per day; Dr. Smith thought $10; Ald. Herring said he would find out. I asked him to do so. He telephoned to the city clerk at Vancouver, and reported to us that Dr. Robertson had been paid $20 per day. I again asked Dr. Hall what he would attend the patients for per day; he said he would not do it for less than $25. It being noon we left for lunch. On my return, I asked Dr. Smith if he would take charge of the patients, and at what rate. He replied that he would take the cases for $10 per day. I conferred with Ald. Herring and we engaged Dr. Smith. I went with Dr. Smith to the Cleveland Hotel, and, on the way, we met Dr. Hall, who stated that the children were dying, and showed us a letter signed by Mr. White, requesting him to attend his children. I went to the hotel and told Mr. White that we had engaged Dr. Smith to attend his children, as we could not pay Dr. Hall what he demanded, viz; $25 per day, and I thought Dr. Smith quite as good a physician. He said he could not pay a doctor and would take Dr. Smith. I told him we did not object to his having Dr. Hall, but we could not pay him. I then gave Dr. Smith charge, and told the guards not to let anyone in or out, unless by his (Dr. Smith's) permission, or an order from the board of health.

H. L. DEBECK,
Chairman Board of Health.

R. DICKINSON, Mayor.

The statements made by Alderman DeBeck in the above communication as far as I was present are correct.

A. M. HERRING.

An exchange says:—A physician was called up the other night by telephone to visit a sick child with cramp. It was raining hard, and he disliked to take a drive of two miles, so he directed the child to be held up to the telephone and kept there until it coughed. He diagnosed the case, prescribed for the child, and turned in for an undisturbed sleep for the remainder of the night. The next morning he called around and found the patient doing nicely—under the care of another doctor.
