WATTS' PROTEST

Mill Owner's Views on Stringency

THINKS IT ARTIFICIAL

Country Is Prosperous and Credit High Except at Banks—Policy Retards Growth.

(By A. E. Watts, Wattsburg, B. C.)

The troublesome disease called "Stringency in the Money Market" has been diagnosed and expatiated upon by the great authorities on such subjects; causes are explained in a superficial way, either through ignorance or lack of ability to grasp the subject and probe to the bottom.

The popular explanation given by most of the quacks is that this country is developing too quickly and using up capital faster than it can be imported or created; that is to say the farmer is plowing too much land and producing too much grain, the manufacturers and their workmen are turning out too much of their products, the busy bees produce too much honey.

Yet the great bug bear, stringency in the money market, spells ruin, disaster and poverty, that is if the panic-mongers can have th eirway, and the mongers can have their way, and the general public are as helpless as a flock of sheep in the clutches of a horde of financial wolves. A panic means millions of dollars filched from the general public by the wolves, consequently the panic always starts by the yelping of the wolves as they fully intend it should.

As panics of all kinds, in military nations, during fires in theatres, and in many other instances are always assisted and disasters occur entirely through the inherent cowardice of the human race, just so in financial matters. The great financial string pullers who have the power to bull or bear the markets of the world, which they do whenever they can see the chance to rake in millions at the expense of the toiling masses, cry fire when there is no fire, cry money is scarce when there is just as much money in existence as ever there was, which can be proved by the rule of thumb and by statistics. Bankers assist in making the scare worse, they pay depositors no higher rate of interest, but they raise the interest on their loans, they paralyze commerce and industries at one fell swoop by withdrawing credits they have encouraged merchants and manufacturers to accept for legitimate business enterprises.

The Government and the horde of howling politicians are guilty of criminal negligence for taking no action in these matters which are of more vital importance to the masses than any other questions of the day. Legislative measures should be enacted making it impossible for financiers to paralyze industries.

Bankers who encourage their clients to take funds for business enterprises and then demand immediate payment when they know it is impossible to comply, are guilty of worse than a moral crime, crushing and absolutely ruining merchants who could under considerate treatment pay two hundred cents on the dollar. I do not say all banks are guilty, there are some exceptions. I have no personal cause for complaint, therefore what I say cannot be construed as being prompted by any feeling of pique or animus, but many flagrant cases have come to light and banks adopting such methods should be tabooed and boycotted by the general public and the merchants and manufacturers. It is also the duty of the Government to take a hand in the game, which it could easily do and thereby palliate the effects of a threatened panic.

It is sheer nonsense to say money is scarce owing to over-development of a country; that is a superficial view that will not bear analysis. A country or a property in the course of development does not exhaust or destroy money. Money being simply the medium of exchange, the same amount is in existence all the time. It may be diverted into various channels, but it is always available in the same place. If a person borrows a million to develop a business or a property, not one cent of the actual money remains in that property it simply changes hands and quickly finds its way back to the bankers, but it is in no way diminished in volume.

There might be some grounds for the argument that over development exhausts money if the methods of the ancients were followed, and the money when earned by the masses was buried or hidden away. The cry of shortage of money is more imaginary than real, but the effects will be just as disastrous if it culminates in a panic. But why should a panic occur in a country when in a high state of prosperity? Money like labor will be attracted wherever it can earn the highest wages or rates of interest. Why cannot the bankers of Canada pay a higher rate of interest, and charge their clients in proportion, and if they must tighten the purse strings, let it be on speculative transactions, and not on legitimate industries except in case of over production. In the latter case it would have a very salutary effect, if made general.

A glance at the chartered banks' statements to the Dominion Government from time prove that the so-called stringency does not exist in fact, though it is made to do so in theory, and that really there is no just cause for uneasiness and certainly no reason for a panic.

CANADIAN DESPATCHES.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—A half inch of snow fell yesterday at Chambard on the line of the Quebec and Lake St. John railway.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—A warrant was taken out in the admiralty court by the owners of the steamer Carrigan Head against the steamer Bavarian in an action for collision, damages being laid at $10,000. The action is the outcome of the Bavarian's, when she was floated a few days ago, running into the Carrigan Head.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—Another fatal accident to a hunter is reported, the scene of the latest fatality being Isle Aux Coudres, in county Charlevoix. According to report received here the dead body of a man named Vital Mailloux was found there yesterday. Mailloux had been hunting, and when his body was found there was a shot wound in his side which it is supposed was caused by the victim's own gun accidentally discharging, the bullet entering his side and killing him instantly.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—The conference here between Grand Trunk officials and representatives of their telegraphers has adjourned without settlement. When the next meeting will be held is not yet decided, but it is understood that the company has offered the telegraphers an advance of about ten per cent. This proposition will be laid before the men who will decide what the next move of their committee will be, or if they should accept the proposition of the company.

Southampton, Ont., Sept. 28.—John Donald, Sr., an old resident of this town, was killed yesterday at the fair grounds by a horse bolting on the race track.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Albert Mahen, conductor on Canadian Northern Quebec railway, will have to stand trial in the court of the King's bench on the charge of being drunk on his train.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—According to P. W. Hodgetts, secretary of the Fruit Growers' Association, there will be considerable export of Ontario apples to the United States this year, in spite of the duty of 75 cents a barrel.

NEW CIVIC SERVANTS

Appointments to Vacancies on Nelson Police Force—Reinstatement of F. A. Smith as Electrician.

The vacancies in the city service have all been filled. Three policemen were appointed by the police commissioners last night at a session delayed till the arrival of the train from the main line at Revelstoke, and F. A. Smith was reappointed as city electrician this morning by the mayor, with the expressed approval of a majority of the aldermen.

The meeting was first postponed till the evening to try to secure the attendance of Commissioner Irvine who is seriously indisposed. When it was learned that he could not attend the mayor and Ald. Annable decided to await the arrival from Revelstoke of the two applicants whose testimonials seemed best to them. A personal interview confirmed the good opinions already formed and the meeting was brief, lasting only long enough for Ald. Annable to write four resolutions and the mayor to declare them carried. The resolutions involved the acceptance of the resignations of Chief Pitchford and Sergeant Wightman, the appointment of P. O. Carroll as chief at $110 a month, of C. G. Wheeler as sergeant at $100 a month and of J. Ellis as patrolman at $90 a month.

P. O. Carrol, the new chief of police, is 37 years of age and married. He is 6 feet 1½ inches in height and weighs 225 pounds. He has had fifteen years experience as police office and detective in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, a record that includes many daring arrests of desperate criminals, and also several noteworthy performances as a detective. His first letter to the mayor expressly stipulated that his application was not to be considered unless Chief Pitchford resigned voluntarily.

C. G. Wheeler is about the same age, stands 5 feet 11½ inches and weighs 200 pounds. He has served in the Royal navy, and was for a time chief of police in Heidelberg, South Africa in command of 120 men. He has eight medals, including one for long service and good conduct, and also the medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving life.

J. H. Ellis was until lately a member of the Nelson fire department.

Constance, Grand Duchy of Baden, Sept. 28.—The Grand Duke Frederick of Baden died today of intestinal inflammation. He was unconscious for many hours before his death.

LEADER OF DOMINION CONSERVATIVE PARTY

R. L. Borden Will Address Electors of Nelson Tonight on the National Issues---Advocate of Clean Elections and Honest and Efficient Administration.

At 8.30 tonight, Dr. W. O. Rose, second vice-president of the Liberal Conservative association of Nelson, will take the chair at the meeting in the opera house. He will have with him on the platform the greatest number of distinguished speakers who have ever addressed a Nelson gathering: R. L. Borden, the party chieftain; Hon. R. McBride, premier of British Columbia; J. G. H. Bergeron, Conservative leader in Quebec, and Dr. J. W. Reid, of Prescott, one of the prominent conservative members from Ontario. R. F. Green, ex-commissioner of lands and works, W. Hunter, M. L. A., of Slocan, N. F. MacKay, M. L. A., of Kaslo, J. H. Schofield, M. L. A., of Trail, and the members of the executive committee of the local association will also be on the platform.

The party will arrive at the C. P. R. station at 8 o'clock. The C. P. R. train left Revelstoke on time this morning, the party left the steamer at Nakusp and are coming to the city by special trains and steamers over the Slocan Lake route.

They will be met at the train by many members of the party and any other citizens who wish to join in welcoming a great Canadian. A procession of carriages will be formed, headed by the city band. The opera house is tastefully and appropriately decorated. A special invitation is extended to the ladies and sufficient seats will be reserved for them.

The order of speeches will be arranged as the leaders determine; the principal addresses will presumably be made by Mr. Borden and Mr. McBride.

The Platform.

Better laws for securing purity of elections.

Appointments to the civil service by competitive examinations.

Improvement of the senate.

Better care in selecting immigrants.

Administration of the public domain in the public interest.

Management of government railways by an independent commission.

Development of waterways and national ports.

Control by commission of public utilities.

Purchase and government operation of telegraph and telephone lines.

Improvement of postal service and establishment of rural mail delivery.

A tariff to reasonably protect home industry.

Mutual preferential trade within the Empire.

Restoring to Alberta and Saskatchewan their public lands.

Leaving the provinces their rights unimpaired.

While it may be presumed that Mr. Borden will present his whole policy, it is not unlikely that he will specially emphasize the questions which most interest British Columbians today: Oriental immigration, Better Terms and the failure of the government to carry out its pledge to secure immediate construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific in British Columbia.

The following are extracts from Mr. Borden's speech delivered in Vancouver:

"Looking back at the elections of 1904 the people of British Columbia must realize how grossly they were deceived. Do you recall the campaign pledges that the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific would begin simultaneously in the east and on the Pacific coast? Do you remember that your support was obtained by such promises made without any intention of fulfillment? How outrageously these pledges have been broken you have learned and realized during the past three years. But many of you were deceived not only by this promise but as to the actual question at issue. From the Liberal press and Liberal speakers the cry went up incessantly that I and my colleagues opposed the construction of a second transcontinental railway. No more unfounded assertion could be made. The alternative scheme which we proposed in 1903 provided for the extension of the Canadian Northern as well as of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the ports of British Columbia.

"In 1904 when the government modified its scheme, we declared for the immediate construction of the whole enterprise as a state undertaking to be owned and controlled by the people of Canada for all time to come. Canada is supplying today about nine-tenths of the cash and credit necessary for the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. We proposed that the country should go one step further and supply the other tenth. The proposal meant the immediate construction of the road and a great national highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It would have ensured a control of construction, of rates and of management which cannot be obtained under the present contract. It would have retained the profits of the undertaking for the people. The road is to be built out of the subsidies and out of the bond issue whereof the greater part is guaranteed by Canada. The anticipated profits of the enterprise are represented by fifty million dollars of common stock. When our proposal to build the road as a state enterprise was rejected we moved that one-half or at least some portion of the common stock should be transferred to and vested in the state as compensation for the enormous aid given by the people towards the construction of the road. Our proposal was fair, reasonable and entirely in the interests of the country. It was voted down by the usual government majority without even the semblance of reason. You have been deceived into ratifying an enormous and unreasonable contract which contains no effective safeguard of your interests. That contract once ratified must be fairly and honorably carried out, whatever party may be in power; but you will have at least the satisfaction of punishing the men who deceived you. .....

"The financial relations between this province and the Dominion have occupied my attention during recent years on many occasions, and particularly in conferences with prominent members of the Conservative party, who have taken a deep interest in that subject. Let me take this opportunity of congratulating the province upon having at the head of its affairs a Prime Minister who made on your behalf so splendid a fight both at Ottawa and in London. Firmly believing that this province should not be bound as a consenting party to an agreement the terms of which did not meet its approval, he took the strong and straightforward course of withdrawing from the conference at Ottawa. Today I am not called upon to express any opinion as to the merits of your claim, other than that to which I gave utterance in 1904.

"Mr. Templeman has exultingly declared that the question of better financial terms for British Columbia is buried for the next ten years. That is a singular boast for a British Columbian. Like many of that gentleman's declarations it lacks the merit of accuracy. Three years ago I said that in so far as as the financial relations between the province and the Dominion were concerned, there were conditions, which, in the opinion of its people called for special attention and consideration. The claim is made that those conditions are not only exceptional, but peculiar to the situation and physical character of the province, and also that they are permanent in their nature. I said in 1904, and I now repeat, that in my opinion those conditions are such as to demand immediate inquiry to the end that any injustice fairly established, may be immediately relieved. The Conservative party, when it comes into power at the next election will grant that inquiry. There may be a political burial in the early future, but it will not be the burial of this great question."

KASLO LOYAL TO GREEN.

Demonstration of Confidence Given at Public Meeting.

The citizens of Kaslo took advantage of the presence of Hon. R. F. Green in their city Thursday night and tendered him a complimentary reception in the form of a smoker, which was attended by about 200 of his friends.

A. T. Garland presided and in a brief felicitious speech welcomed Mr. Green whom he declared "all were glad to see all the time."

Neil F. MacKay, M. L. A., followed with a eulogy of his former chief. Apologizing for introducing political issues, he took occasion to assure his hearers that the McBride government and the Conservative party were absolutely committed to the policy of a White Canada.

James Anderson, E. E. Chipman and A. C. Jardine added their tributes to the praise of Mr. Green as a man, as a citizen and as an administrator. Their praise was applauded to the echo. Mr. Jardine declared himself a staunch Liberal but none the less a sincere admirer and well-wisher of Mr. Green who had dealt impartially with political friends and foes in his administration of the lands and works department.

Mr. Green who was affected by the warm testimonials of esteem and regard, feelingly thanked his friends for their kindness. He said: "When I think of the entirely kindly relations that have always existed between so many of my neighbors and myself, and which I am thankful to say, in spite of political differences still exist, I feel sure that you will understand my refraining from political issues on an occasion like this." Mr. Green spoke very happily for a short time assuring his friends of undiminished zeal for the welfare of Kaslo and of his unfaltering gratitude for their kindness and confidence.

LUMBERMEN'S POSITION

Refused Credit by Banks on Account of Poverty—Prosecuted for Making Illegal Profits.

Up to June an abundance of orders were received from the Northwest Territories; the only serious drawbacks at that time were the scarcity of labor and lack of transportation facilities owing to the Canadian Pacific being short of cars and motive power. Then came the tightening of the purse strings by the banks; the retailers held fair sized stocks, but when it became impossible for them to discount the farmers' paper, business stopped like a clock with the spring knocked out; orders held by the mills were cancelled wholesale.

A month since all travellers were taken off the road by the Mountain and Coast mills. At that time many mills closed down; now all have stopped operations with the exception of a few that hold contracts for railway ties and timbers. Nearly every logging camp is closed, and it is expected that no logging will be done this winter. At the same time the stocks of lumber in the interior of British Columbia are not much above the normal amount carried; therefore with the total cessation of production a fall in prices is not anticipated. The tightness of the money market will have a salutary effect in maintaining prices by limiting production, and cheap lumber cannot be expected until it is made so by act of parliament. It would not be surprising if the government charged the banks with criminal conspiracy for acting in collusion with the manufacturers to restrict the output for the purpose of unduly enhancing the price of lumber and for restraint of trade.

A peculiar feature of the lumber trade is the fact that retail dealers have to ask for extensions of time and would be on the verge of bankruptcy if compelled to pay up. And yet at the same time a wise grandmotherly government is prosecuting the poor dealer for getting rich too quickly,—this paradox is explained by the fact that the present government wish to secure the farmers' votes at any price.—The Canadian Lumberman

VARIES TOO MUCH

Words and Acts of Liberal Members

PROTESTING TOO LATE

Inconsistent Conduct On Oriental Question—General Political Talk of the Capital.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Attention is called to clause 3 in Mr. Borden's platform. The Conservative party demands "more effective provisions to punish bribery and fraud at elections, to ensure thorough publicity as to expenditures by political organizations to prevent the accumulation of campaign funds for corrupt purposes and to prohibit contributions thereto by corporations, contractors and promoters, to expedite the hearing of election petitions and to prevent collusive arrangements for the withdrawal or compromise thereof, to provide for a thorough investigation of corrupt practices and if necessary to appoint an independent prosecuting officer charged with that duty, to simplify the procedure therefor and to enforce the laws so amended."

Mr. Templeman, who joined with his leader last January in carrying through legislation authorizing Japanese immigration to this country, has been denouncing Japanese immigration. This he did in a public meeting in Victoria, where such declarations seem to be quite superfluous. If Mr. Templeman had anti-Japanese work to do, Ottawa was the place to preform it. A Minister who denounces in Victoria what he promotes at Ottawa is too various to win respect for his statements. It is also observed that the Congress of labor organizations has passed a resolution asking the Canadian Government to request the Imperial Government to abrogate the Japanese treaty. As the Japanes e consul at Ottawa explains the treaty itself provides that neither party can abrogate it for four years, and this was known when the Government asked Parliament to include Canada in the provisions. There are in Parliament two members, Mr. Ralph Smith and Mr. Verville, who class themselves as labor representatives, though Mr. Smith invariably votes with the Government and Mr. Verville has not failed to do so for some time past. Neither of these members had a word to say against Japanese immigration when the Bill authorizing it was before the House.

Sir Charles Ross, contractor for the Ross rifle has been interviewed and declares that the rifle which he makes won great successes in recent competitions. As a matter of fact the Ross rifle was not in the Palma competition though Canadian competitors could have used it. It was used by scarcely any members of the Dominion Rifle Association in their matches, though the competitors are nearly all connected with the militia or the permanent corps of which the Ross rifle is the authorized weapon. Evidently there is something radically wrong with the judgment of the Canadian shooting men, if Sir Charles Ross is right. The Militia Department and the Mounted Police ought to explain next session why this western force is still left unarmed. If the Ross rifle is not good enough for them why is it bought for the militia? If it is good enough why don't they have it?

Sir Charles Ross further states that his factory is now in a position to produce 100 rifles per day and that the output could be increased to double that number. Having said this much he might have explained how it is that he has still on hand some 20,000 unfinished rifles on which the Government has made advances of $18.75 each.

At his recent rate of delivery it would take three years for the contractor to deliver the rifles on which he has received three-quarters of the price. The terms of the contract provides that no advances shall be paid more than one year before delivery, and some of these advances for undelivered weapons were made two years ago.

It was announced some time ago that the appeal of the Supreme Court in the Halifax election case would be the first heard and that a decision might be obtained in time to have the trial over before the meeting of the House would head it off for ever. But it is now found that that case stands at the foot of the list and will not soon be reached. That is just where the sitting Liberal Members, who have succeeded in postponing the trial for three years, desire it to be. They seem to be assured of possession for another session of the two seats to which it is claimed they never had a right. Meanwhile Mr. Aylesworth has made an-

THE CONSERVATIVE LEADER.

The people of Nelson, some of them for the first time, will have an opportunity tonight of listening to an exposition of the policy of the Conservative party of Canada by its leader, Robert Laird Borden.

Mr. Borden's public career has not been long but it has been a record of rapid advancement in his party, and in the esteem and confidence of the country, and it has been entirely clean. He had not been long in parliament when the defeat of Sir Charles Tupper in 1900 and the retirement of that veteran statesman from active political life, left the Conservative party without a leader. It was the dark hour of the party which has achieved all that has yet been achieved for Canada in the direction of national unity and develoument. Its old leaders were nearly all gone. The adoption of its tariff policy by the Liberals left the country without any great issue. The government of the day was fairly strong and still commanded the support of a majority of the electorate. The purpose the Conservative party had set itself in 1878 was achieved, the men of 1878 were gone, and the enemy were reaping the fruit of their labors.

It was a small remnant of the great Conservative party that met in Ottawa at the beginning of the session of 1901 and chose Mr. Borden as leader. At first he was for a time like the kings of feudal times, only 'primus inter pares.' The members of the party recognized his official position, but to a great extent each followed his own bent. The leader's conquest of his party was necessarily slow.

The attitude of the Conservative party of the Dominion during the ten years following its defeat in 1896 is one of which no member of the party need ever be ashamed. It loyally accepted the plain verdict of the country on the Manitoba school question. It refrained from any factious opposition or carping criticism while Sir Wilfrid Laurier made his hopeless effort to fulfil the promise of twenty years by securing better trade relations with the American republic. And it gave ungrudged support to all proposals for further prosecution of the development of the west begun by Sir John Macdonald. The contrast between their attitude and that of the Liberals during their period of opposition is entirely creditable to the Conservative party.

The defeat in 1904, the third in succession, seemed overwhelming but Mr. Borden rose superior to defeat. The campaign of 1904, although it involved a personal defeat for him, was the beginning of his rise. The absolute honesty, sincerity and purity of his conduct may have contributed to a temporary loss, but it laid the foundation of his present position in the intelligent opinion of the nation.

Since 1904, however, a great change has come over the whole political situation of Canada. It is only very recently that the government has admitted the absolute correctness of Mr. Borden's estimate on the cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. But during the whole of that time there has been an unbroken succession of disclosures of fraud and corruption in the public service. The revelations of the courts have shown that deliberate systematic corruption was employed to secure the election of Liberal candidates and that members of the cabinet are in close touch with the organizers of corruption, so close indeed that the worst offenders among the latter can command the highest positions in the public service.

During that time also the cabinet has been rent and transformed by the disgrace of ministers. The choice of successors has shown a callousness as to reputation and ability and consideration only for usefulness in campaigns. The civil service, even the bench, has been degraded into a party machine. The whole country is aware of this and the awakening of the national conscience has been shown by the earnest protests recorded by religious bodies of all denominations.

So desperate has Sir Wilfrid Laurier felt the situation that, in the All Red Line project, he has resurrected a Conservative project which he scornfully or enviously killed and buried after his victory of 1896.

At this juncture Mr. Borden comes forward with a programme of reform and cleansing. It is true that it is not all new. Civil Service Reform, Purity in Elections and Economy and Honest in National Administration, have been advocated before. But the record of the Laurier government has shown the hollowness of its promises; there is no reason to doubt the sincerity of Mr. Borden.

There are also expressions of doubt as to Mr. Borden's ability to carry out his programme, even to secure its endorsation by a party caucus. Such expressions of doubt, it is significant, come altogether from Liberal sources. Conservatives have received their leader's appeal with welcoming acclamation.

It is to the intelligent and unbiassed electorate that both parties must appeal. It is universally admitted that Mr. Borden's aim and method are wholly educational. He has never yet made an appeal to passion or to religion, racial, sectional or class prejudice.

Every patriotic Canadian who is willing to exercise his franchise intelligently and honestly as a freeman should, owes it to himself and to his country to hear and consider well the ideals set before them by the leaders of both parties. Mr. Borden will deliver his message in person tonight and every voter in Nelson should attend and hear it.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Our contemporary agrees with the Asiatic Exclusion League that the utterances of Mr. Borden and Mr. McBride are unsatisfactory. Does he also agree with the League that the proposal to send a commissioner to Japan is a scheme to shelve the whole matter? Mr. Borden and Premier McBride have said definitely enough for anyone acquainted with the English language that they favor restriction of Oriental immigration as far as Canada's obligations and the highest interests of the British Empire permit.

"My conception is the true British conception of the individuality of communities. Today Canada is a part of the British Empire, boasting of its loyalty to the crown and has attained the full rank of a nation. A nation without any revolution, without any breaking of the old traditions and without any impairment of that loyalty to the British Empire, which is ever true to every Canadian here."—Extract from the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Manufacturers' Association banquet in Toronto last night. It is a fair sample of Sir Wilfrid's rhetoric, sonorous but utterly devoid of meaning. Neither the paragraph as a whole nor any part of it conveys one intelligent idea.

SHORT COMMANDMENTS

Christ's Summary of Duties Toward God and Fellowmen—Church Services Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be the eighteenth Sunday after Trinity. It will also be the Festival of St. Michael and all Angels. The only angels mentioned by name in the canonical scriptures are St. Michael and St. Gabriel. In the Old Testament St. Michael is represented as the guardian angel of the chosen race in its struggles against the heathen nations, the "lesser breeds without the law,,; in the New Testament he is the warrior angel, the leader of the heavenly host that fights for the church against its spiritual enemies. In fiction he is the archangel of Milton's epic, the commander of the faithful in combat with the rebel host.

The gospel for the eighteenth Sunday after Trinity contains Christ's reply to the Pharisees' question on the commandments in which he summarizes the: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself."

The following services are announced for tomorrow in the churches of Nelson:

Church of England—St. Saviour's, corner Ward and Silica street. Eighteenth Sunday after Trinity, holy communion, 8 a. m.; morning prayer and holy communion, 11 a. m.; Sunday School, 2.30 p. m.; evensong, 7.30 p. m. Rev. F. H. Graham, rector.

Roman Catholic—Church of Mary Immaculate, corner of Ward and Mill streets: Low mass, 8 a. m.; high mass, 10:30 a. m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m Rev. Father Althoff, priest.

Presbyterian church—St. Paul's, corner of Victoria and Kootenay streets: Morning service, 11 a. m.; Sunday school, 12:30 p. m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m. Rev. J. T. Ferguson, minister.

Methodist church—Corner Silica and Josephine streets: Morning service, 11 a. m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m.; Sunday school, 2:30 p. m. Rev. R. N Powell, pastor.

Baptist church—Stanley street, near Mill: Morning service, 11 a. m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m.; Sunday school, 2:30 p. m. Rev. E. H. Shanks, pastor.

Salvation Army—Barracks on Victoria street, west of Josephine: Special services for tomorrow. Knee drill, 9 a. m.; holiness meeting, 11 a. m.; a praise meeting at 3 p. m.; salvation meeting at 8 p. m.

WLEK'S MINING RECORD

Activity on New Properties Limited to Development—Quotations on Stock Market.

There is no change in the general mining situation. The big companies are shipping steadily, but the newer mines are confining their efforts almost entirely to development work. The low price of copper is a contributory cause with the uncertainty as to coke supply and consequently as to smelter operations.

The stock market for the past week has contained no feature of special interest, prices remaining fairly firm with tradings active.

Alberta Coal & Coke sold off slightly, offerings being in evidence at about 38 cents. Diamond Vale Coal after its recent flurry also declined dropping to 26 cents per share, with but little business offered. Galbraith Coal showed almost no change tradings being recorded at 27 cents. International Coal had a slight advance during the last fe days, bids being raised from 1 cent to 2 cents per share. Western Oil & Coal continues to weaken, large offerings being made at about $1.15

B. C. Copper fluctuated from $5.75 to $6.12½, with heavier buying manifested in this vicinity than ever before. Dominion Copper was also in great demand and sold from $3.00 to $3.37½. Consolidated Smelters weakened, selling down to about $110.00. Cariboo-McKinney also declined falling from 4½ cents to 3½ cents, with almost no buying. Rambler-Cariboo remained almost stationary being offered at about 26 cents. Sullivan also remained about the same, standing about 8¾ to 9 cents.

Following are the approximate quotations for the week ending today:

Death of Mrs. Lennie.
A telegram was received this morning from R. S. Lennie by his partner, E. C. Wragge, announcing the death at her home in New Westminster of Mr. Lennie's mother, who was stricken with paralysis early last week. All the members of the family were at home during the last week of their mother's life. The sympathy of all Nelson will be extended to Mr. Lennie in his loss.

Rossland Excursion.
The excusion from Rossland this evening to hear the great leader of the Conservative party, R. L. Borden, addess the people of Kootenay on the political issues of the day, promises to be a great success. Tickets were sold at the low rate of $2.50 for the round trip. The excursion will return to Rossland immediately at the conclusion of the political meeting. Excursionists, however, can have the privilege of returning on the regular train on Sunday evening.

The Strength of Borden.
Sir C. Hibbert Tupper rightly gauged the feeling of the great meeting in the Dominion theatre on Tuesday night when he said, with a force and emphasis that brought out a responding chorus of acclaim, "The man rings true!" Therein was indicated the source of Mr. Borden's strength. His ability to carry the campaign on which he has so vigorously entered, lies in the sterling straightforwardness of his character, and in the honesty of his cause.—Vancouver Province.

DISPUTES AUTHORITY.

Premier Bond Takes Issue With Imperial Colonial Office.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—In a cable to the Toronto Star in reference to the suspension by imperial rescript of colonial laws respecting the seizure of American vessels for alleged fishery offences, Premier Bond, of Newfoundland, says his government believes it will be found that the powers conferred on the Crown by the section of the act under which the order in council is made does not give power to prohibit the service of process upon British subjects amenable to colonial jurisdiction while in territorial waters, on board of American vessels. His government believes it would be invalid, amounting to an attempt to suspend by exercise of royal prorogative, colonial legislation which has received royal assent, under act 59, George III., chapter 38, which was passed to give the crown necessary powers to carry into execution article one of the convention of 1818, and to enforce the new agreement carrying to execution the powers conferred by section one of said act have no application.

Kipling Coming West.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Rudyard Kipling, accompanied by Mrs. Kipling, has arrived here. The poet, author and his wife were greeted after alighting from the train by Mrs. Wolcott Balestier, of New York, Mrs. Kipling's mother, who came to Montreal for the purpose. In a brief conversation with newspaper representatives, Mr. Kipling said that he expected to remain in Montreal for a couple of weeks, after which he would cross Canada to the Pacific coast. Upon the completion of that journey the author said that he would return to eastern Canada, but that after that his plans were undecided.

Boycott English Insurance.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept 28.—There is a bitter feeling against the English insurance companies growing out of the actions arising from the disaster of last January. It is charged that the companies are delaying the cases by technicalities. Their latest move is an announcement by counsel that the companies propose in the action to make a counter claim by declaration that the loss sustained by the policy holders was caused by an earthquake. This means, if it succeeds, that other cases cannot be proceeded with because the companies would win under the earthquake clause. Merchants think that local companies should be formed to carry insurance. As the restoration of Kingston progresses the boycott of English concerns increases.

WORDS AND DEEDS VARY

other loud speech in which he declaimed against alleged corruption on Mr. Borden's behalf. This time he is more cautious and says that he knows nothing about the matter except what he has learned from his two supporters from Halifax. These gentlemen seem to be more anxious to load up Mr. Aylesworth with reports that they will not sustain, than they are to have the facts established. The Minister of Justice might have told them to cease their obstruction and allowed the trial to proceed. Instead of that he appears to have been advising them to prevent the trial, while he goes round telling what he says that they say they would prove if they did not obstruct themselves from doing so.

After all the jubilation over the fact that Mr. Fielding made a treaty with France without the Imperial assistance, it does not appear that the Minister of Finance had any freer hand than Sir Charles Tupper had when he made a French Treaty fifteen years ago. Sir Charles and the French Ministers agreed upon the terms with a British representative present. Mr. Fielding and the French Ministers agreed upon the terms and the British Ambassador signed the treaty along with Mr. Fielding and Mr. Brodeur.
