MAKING TREATIES

No New Featar in Late Achievement.

POWERS ARE UNCHANGED

Sir Charles Tupper Has Twice Enjoyed Greater Freedom than Have Fielding and Brodeur

Ottawa. Oct. 14.—The bottom has fallen out of the claim that Mr. Fielding and Mr. Brodeur have doe something new in negotiating a treat with France all by themselves. The treaty is signed by the British minister a Paris and the Canadian plenipotentario, though it appears that the actual negotiations were carried on without the Imperial minister.

Now Sir Charles Tupper produces a record to show that nore than 23 years ago he was made joint plenipotentiary with the British ambassador to negotiate a treaty with Spain. The British foreign office then vrote to the colonial office that "the actual negotiations would probably be conducted by Sir Charles Tupper." Fourteen years ago Sir Charles negotiated a treaty with France, when the negotiations were carried on between Mr. Honoteaux on behalf of France, and Sir Charles Tupper. Lord Dufferin, then British ambassador to France, signed the treaty, as the ambassador had done with the new one, but Lord Dufferin was present for the first time when the treaty was signed. So Mr. Fielding has only done what Sir Charles Tupper did long before either of the present ministers were heard of in federal politics.

Mr. Pugsley has given notice that he will take libel action against the Toronto World for saying: "Some think that Mr. Pugsley was on the inside of all the Blair-Russell deal." The suit may prove instructive unless Mr. Pugsley should refuse to go on if the World puts in the plea that its statements are true. Something like this happened in the Emmerson libel case conducted by Mr. Pugsley.

Premier Whitney of Ontario has refused to consider the offer of a syndicate to buy a million acres of Northern Ontario wilderness land at a price per acre double that charged to settlers. The Ontario government differs from the federal administration, which sells land to favored capitalists in 250,000 acre blocks, at one-sixth of the price per acre that is charged to farmer purchasers.

JAPANESE UNDERSTAND

Count Okuma Admits that Recent War Scare Talk Was Nothing But Practical Politics.

Tokio, Oct. 14.—Count Okuma, who in the first stage of the emigration troubles in America, disapproved of the government's Pacific attitude, now practically admits that radical utterances on both sides were largely prompted by politics. In an interview yesterday Count Okuma said that Americans misunderstood the Japanese, who are astounded at the utterances of American newspapers. Reports of the possibility of war, he said, have always emanated from the United States and very naturally are copied by the newspapers of Japan. While he believes that the Americans are over sensitive on the subject of Japanese emmigration, he holds the opinion that the whole discussion is largely due to the fact that the United States is to have a presidential campaign next year. It is not likely that the immigration question will be seriously discussed or even become an issue at the coming session of the diet. The Japanese government believes that the entire question will be solved by the present discouragement of emigration and the strict observance of the laws.

Bishop at Yale.

New Haven, Oct. 14.—Many people were turned away from Wolsey Hall yesterday from the university service which is usually held in the chapel, when the Rev. Arthur Winnington-Ingram, lord bishop of London, preached. The auditorium was filled to its capacity when the faculty and undergraduates had taken seats. The bishop preached earnestly. In opening he said he brought a greeting to Yale from the old universities of Oxford and Cambridge. The text he divided into three parts: faith, conscience, morals and personal cleanliness, and stewardship, and he urged the college men to go into college settlement work and praised the various religious bodies which aim at bringing together young men.

G. T. P. AGENT SATISFIED.

Solicitor Says Provincial Government Has Treated Them Well.

Victoria. Oct. 14.—The provincial government has granter the Grand Trunk Pacific the right of way through and the privilege of taking timber from crown lands throughout the province. D'Arcy Tate, assistant solicitor of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, who has been in the city for some few days settiing a number of matters in this connection, has left for the east, and prior to his departure he expressed great satisfiaction at the manner in which he had been treated by the local administration. He stated that the government had done everything in its power to facilitate matters and to aid the officials of the transcontiental railway in the arrangements preliminary to the commencement of construction.

Mr. Tait was accompanied by J. H. Bacon, harbor engineer at Prince Rupert, and they also took up the question of the incorporation of a subsidiary light and power company to supply Prince Rupert.

The matter of the Indian reserve at Metlakatla was not touched upon. This will probably necessitate another visit of C. M. Hays, president, and F. W. Morse, general manager of the G. T. P. to the coast.

YUKON WANTS A LITTLE

Dr. Thompson, M. P., Off for Ottawa—List of Requirements of Northern Territory.

Dawson, Oct. 14.—Dr. Alfred Thompson, member of parliament from Yukon territory, has left for Ottawa via Seattle where he will confer with the exposition officials regarding the Yukon exhibit. Dr. Thompson says the minister of finance of Canada has assured him of a grant of $100,000.

Among the matters to be urged at Ottawa for the Yukon are: Assistance for a railway to connect Dawson with some transcontinental line; an early completion ofthe topographical and geological may of the territory; condification of Yukon quartz laws; abolition of royalty; opening of fradulent concessions; pure food examiner for the Yukon; lower mining fees; several improvements in the placer code; large federal grant for building a wagon road to connect Dawson with the copper fields at the head of the White Horse; subsidy for proposed White Horse smelter; subsidy for aid in prospecting for opening of new mining fields; postal reforms; improved postal service, and the holding of surveyors' examinations in the Yukon.

American Peer Naturalized.

London, Oct. 14.—Lord Fairfax has taken out naturalization papers as a British citizen and now he will be entitled to sit in the House of Lords. He has resided in England almost continuously since he came here to attend the king's coronation. Albert Kirby Fairfax, twelfth Baron Fairfax of Cameron in the Peerage of Scotland, was born in Maryland in 1870, the son of John Contee Fairfax, M. D., and Mary, Baroness Fairfax, daughter of Col. Edmund Kirby of the United States army.

New Soo Channel.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Oct. 14.—Waer was turned into the new channel of the St. Mary's river at West Nebish yesterday, marking the completion of one of the biggest projects undertaken on the great lakes since the building of the Poe Lock. The new channel is over two miles in length, 9000 feet of which is cut through solid rock. The channel is three hundred feet in width with a depth at the minimum stage of water of twenty-two feet. It is located 18 miles below the Soo, and lies to the west of Neebish Island, the present channel being to the east of the old channel. This old channel will hereafter be used solely for up-bound boats, the heavily laden down-bound craft using the new waterway which has none of the sharp turns which are embarrassing to the modern 600 foot freighters, the new channel will not be formally opened to navigation until spring. The project has cost upwards of three million dollars.

CONSERVATIVE VICTORY

Tide Turning in Saskatchewan—Date of Election Not Far Off—General Canadian News.

Turgeron, the new attorney-general of the Scott government and the whole party machine, in the by-election on Saturday. The vote stood Bradshaw 335, Turgeron 331, with 339 challenged votes, which leaves the ultimate result still in doubt.

The mounted Police have closed some houses on the outskirts and the inmates are coming into Calgary. Most of the aldermen are not opposed to segregation of the evil in the east end. The reform league says it will place clean candidates in the field at the municipal election.

Calgary, Oct. 14.—The municipal lighting plant will close the year with a surplus of ten thousand dollars. This is after paying for extensive improvements which had been installed, and doubling the capacity.

Typewriters Obsolete.

It is exhibited at the business show now in progress in Madison Square Gardens and is an automatic typewriter run by compressed air, and capable it is said of writing from 5,000 to 10,000 words an hour for twenty-four hours at a stretch. The inventor is A. Merrill of Columbus, Ohio.

The balloon crossed the North Sea to Denmark and travelled over Scandinavia with great speed. Bearings were lost in a fog and an exciting descent was made at Brockin, Sweden, at 1.30 o'clock yesterday.

Found Guilty.

Sam Lock, the Chinaman on trial at Bullion a year ago, has been found guilty and sentenced by Mr. Justice Clement to be hanged December 4. The present is the third trial which the accused has undergone. At the first trial the jury disagreed, at the second though found guilty, the accused received a new trial through a technicality. The defence was that Sam Lock had slain his victim in self defence. The latter was a kitchen assistant. Sam Lock had been for thirty years in the employ of J. B. Hobson, who had the utmost confidence in him.

COAL FAMINE EXPLAINED

A. F. Dillinger's Report to Railway Commission Shows Cars Were Available.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—A. F. Dillinger, assistant to the chief traffic expert of the railway commission, has made a report to that body regarding the alleged shortage of cars for fuel on the Crow's Nest branch of the C. P. R..

He visited Lethbridge, Frank, Lillie, Hillcrest, Bellevue, Blairmore, Coleman and Fernie, and found that there was a shortage of cars to some extent during the months of April, May, June and July. Winter extending well into the spring the equipment was tied up to some extent in April and May. The strike in the mines, accidents on the line and the fact that the railway company was directing its energies toward moving the previous season's grain before the new crop came in, accounted for the shortage in June and July, but at the time Dillinger was there, about Aug 20, there were more cars on hand than were required.

Since July. Dillinger says, cars for Canadian coal on the Crow's Nest line have given facilities for maintaining the supply. The mines shipping domestic coal have not been short of cars since July, but mines shipping to the United States have been short at times. Owing to scarcity of men few of the mines are working to full capacity, but with 2000 cars in continuous service throughout the Crow's Nest district, he thinks that there is not likely to be any shortage of cars for hauling all the coal the mines can supply.

Mr. Dillinger adds that there was then in store at prairie towns west of Winnipeg 25,000 tons of coal for domestic use exclusive of what had been delivered to consumers, and a further supply was and is still coming in for use on railways. The C. P. R. had in store west of Winnipeg 100,000 tons of steam coal for winter use, with not less than 150,000 tons more booked to arrive before the close of navigation.

Servant Girls.

The Salvation Army are tying the experiment of introducing 250 girls into British Columbia to meet the lack of domestic help. The officials of the army will investigate every application for these girls to see that it is bona fide, and that conditions are such that would warrant the sending of a girl into service. It might be interesting to note, that this is not the first attempt that has been made to meet the demand for servant girls in British Columbia. As far back as 1864 Bishop Hills brought out a number of girls from England, but for various reasons the experiment was not successful.

VIEW OF BORDEN

Appreciation of Leader of Conservatives.

WORKER NOT TALKER

A. E. Watts Compares Opposition Chief with British Statesmen and with Premier.

(By A. E. Watts.)

Much has been written regarding Mr. Borden's ability as a leader by hypercritical self constituted experts who are totally ignorant of the man and also of what constitutes a leader of men, or rather of what the make-up of a man should consist who aspires to conduct the public business affairs of the country. Like the business of an individual or a corporation public business does not necessarily call for a "silver-tongued orator," in fact history proves that that class of men despite their ability to pull the wool over the eyes of the public, by aid of the glamour of eloquence, often have made most dismal failures in conducting the business affairs of an empire. On the other hand men who were not equal to Mr. Borden as orators have made successes most magnificent. Why? Because they possessed the power or instinct of choosing the men best adapted for their lieutenant's. That was the secret of Napoleon's success. That was the secret of the late Marquis of Salisbury's success as a Premier, as an administrator of nations, of men, and affairs; as an orator he certainly was not equal to Mr. Borden. On the other hand take the great orator whom Disraeli said "was inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity." Mr. W. E. Gladstone was only in good form when in that state, and even his candid friends admitted that he made an awful mess of national politics, colonial politics and international politics. In fact you may notice it in every day life that the man afflicted with too much verbosity cannot see ahead the length of a gooseberry; as a rule Ego is his religion, and he becomes so rapt in the adoration of self that that is the extent of his vision. Sir Wilfrid Laurier resembles Mr Gladstone in the exuberance of his verbosity, and he certainly excels the "Grand Old Man" in getting things twisted up in a general muddle, and his business acumen in choosing his lieutenants, or generals, or managers, has certainly not proved a brilliant success, witness Sifton, Hyman, Emmerson and company. But even all that might be forgiven if he would be honest enough to condemn and punish the culprits by whom he has been surrounded for years. Silver-tongued oratory may gull the people for awhile, but it will not deceive them all the time.

The handwriting is on the walls of the nation: "Mene, Mene, Tekel Upharsin." "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." If not seen it can be felt. Mingle amongst the crowds, as I have done, after the biggest meetings, to hear the pros and cons; that is the place to feel the pulse of the nation; one cannot expect to feel the pulse throbbing through the medium of a subsidized press, and the masses begin to realize the fact that, notwithstanding denials to the contrary, they have been hoodwinked by the men they put their whole faith in, that their trust has been shamefully betrayed.

Ancient and modern history demonstrate the fact that the anger of an indignant people cannot be stayed by silver-tongued orators, who have grossly mismanaged the affairs of the public. Not so many years since such traitors once the idols of the people, were ripped limb from limb by an enraged populace, and if the people knew of one half of what has transpired, and what is at the present time taking place, they would rise in their might and hurl their betrayers to perdition. Much has come to light, more is coming; the sleuth hounds of the nation are on the war path.

Can any person explain why a prime minister or a monarch should be an orator? King Edward does not claim to be an orator, but luckily for the empire he is a splendid diplomat. Mr. Borden does not profess to be an orator, and fortunately for Canada he possesses qualities of far greater value than "inebriation caused by the exuberance of verbosity."

A long time since I suggested to Mr. Borden that he enter into competition with Sir Wilfrid Laurier by adopting some of his methods of stage play, for theatrical effect, but that is foreign to his nature, and he showed his sound judgment by not attempting it.

The greatest objection raised by his opponents against him as a leader of men is that he is not an orator and lacks the magnetic power to enthuse his audience, but he strikes the thinker as a man who is in earnest, absolutely innocentof the charm of the political bunco man, a man who deals with a constructive policy instead of a destructive one. He handles the former in a thoroughly statesmanlike manner with no equivocation.

The statement that he lacks the personal magnetic power of attraction is only made by those who do not know him, and even such critics if possessed of ordinary intelligence could arrive at a different conclusion by deduction. No man could win and hold the position as a leader of a great party without it. Members who have sat in parliament over a quarter of a century are his closest friends and greatest admirers, and speak of him always in the highest terms, mingled with affection, esteem and respect. Mr. Borden is businesslike in his habits and is one of the hardest workers in Parliament. He not only devotes his whole time but has sacrificed his private fortune for public work, a striking contrast to members of Sir Wilfrid's Government.

One thing is certain, that if the people of Canada choose to entrust the reigns of government to Mr. Borden, he cannot possibly use less sagacity in choosing the members of his cabinet than Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done during late years. And the people may rest assured that he will not tolerate anything of an unclean nature, graft or corruption, within the scope of his influence. Can that truthfully be said of his great opponent?

COMMISSIONERS' TASKS

Prof. Mills, of Railway Board, Tells of Difficulties Growing Out of Complaints.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—On the subject of the investigation of railway accidents Dr. Mills, railway commissioner, writes to the press that the work of the inspectors of the commissioners is thoroughly impartial and fearless. In dealing with their reports, the board, says Dr. Mills, is aware and not unmindful of the following facts:

(1) That for several reasons, especially the great demand for men to operate new lines on railways in Canada and the United States the railway companies find much difficulty in getting and keeping well trained and thoroughly efficient men of experience in the responsible positions filled by many railway employees.

(2) That railway men, dispatchers, conductors, enginemen, firemen, brakemen and others have difficult, hazardous and more or less perplexing duties to perform during the night, as well as the day, and in all kinds of weather.

(3) That in failures and offences of employes, even the most culpable negligence, the most flagrant violation of rules or the most reckless taking of chances, the only way the railway companies can administer discipline is by reprimand, suspension or dismissal, forms of punishment which count for very little when a man has only to walk across the street, from one company to another, and secure as good a position as the one he has lost.

All these facts are fully considered by the commission in dealing with each case. When the punishment inflicted by the railway company is considered just and adequate, no action is taken. When the punishment is regarded as clearly inadequate to commission sometimes, but not often, requests or directs the company to inflict such additional punishment as the interest of the railway employees and the travelling public seem to demand, and when loss of life is caused, either by neglect or penuriousness on the part of a railway company, or through what appears to be inexcusable carelessness or flagrant violation of well known rules by a railway employe or railway employes, the case, with a copy of the evidence, is sent to the attorney-general of the province interested, that he may consider whether further action is advisable in the interests of the travelling public and especially in the interests of railway trainmen, who suffer most of all from failures on the part of railway companies and negligence, recklessness or perversity on the part of those who are directly responsible for the shunting of cars and the running of railway trains.

In some instances employes who have been responsible for serious fatal accidents have fled to the United States, and, so far, no action has been taken in any province to bring back such fugitives and have them stand their trial.

R. B. Herron, of New Liskeard, Ont., has purchased a large amount of A. E. Watts' timber holdings on Kootenay lake and also his controlling interest in the Procter Lumber company, including some fruit lands, the consideration being upwards of $100,000.

Mr. Herron is one of the many successful eastern lumbermen and has been operating for many years in the Cobalt district. It is his intention to bring his family and many of his old employees from the east. He is delighted with the grand scenery and says the climate alone is worth coming for.

He has not formed definite plans yet as to the resumption of operations at the Procter mill.

A Peasche.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A despatch from Milwaukee, Wis., says Mrs. Lydia Peasche, of this city, has been left a fortune of $400,000 by Senor Juan Joe Mandel of Mexico. The Senor saw a photograph of Miss Peasche and fell in love with it. He wrote a letter to the young woman, ardently expressing his love, but she did not respond. Soon afterwards he died and when his will was opened it was found that his entire fortune was left to the woman of the picture whom he had never seen. Inas much as there are no heirs at law and as the will is legally drawn Mrs. Peasche will get the money as soon as the estate is administered. She was until recently Mrs. Paul Rosenthel of West End, Wis., but was granted a divorce, the custody of her daughter, two years old, and the privilege of resuming her maiden anme.

Drowned in Diving Suit.

Newbury Port, Mass., Oct. 14.—Edwin Dwyer, a deep sea diver of Portland, Maine, was drowned on Sunday by the capsizing of a boat. Dwyer had been at work in the harbor here on a sunken schooner and with John Christian rowed to the city to have photographs taken. Dwyer was clad in his rowing suit minus his helmet. After posing, the two men started to row back to the vessel and the boat capsized. Dwyer, in his diving suit, went down to the bottom like a shot, but Christian swam ashore.

DILLON WITH REDMOND

Nationalist Orator Returns to Active Politics and Declares Loyalty to Party Leader.

Dublin, Oct. 14.—John Dillon, member of parliament from East Mayo, has returned to political activity and in a letter addressed to the Tyrone Nationalists declares himself thoroughly in sympathy with John Redmond and his party. He declares the criticism of Redmond was without foundation and said that Redmond acted with the greatest possible independence, courage and judgment, and that the Irish cause had made more progress in the last two years tan in any other two years during the thirty years of his political life. When the facts about the council bill became fully known, he declared, that Redmond and his party will be triumphantly vindicated.

American Commander Insane.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Commander Briggs, United States Navy (retired) was picked up yesterday by the police while wandering aimlessly on the streets, and placed in the asylum for the insane. Subsequently he was turned over to the naval attache at the American embassy, who placed him under medical treatment. A despatch from Paris on Friday said that Commander Briggs' actions were causing alarm to his friends there. He seemed to be suffering from the hallucination that he was being persecuted.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

The question still continues to be largely discussed, especially by two of the coast papers—who is responsible for the absence in Canada of an Asiatic Exclusion law? The Vancouver World and the Victoria Times are perpetually discussing this question, as if there were any difficulty in arriving at a conclusion as to the persons upon whom that responsibility ought in justice to be fastened. Their statements in regard to this are very positive, but there is a clear "non sequitur" in the arguments by which they would support the statements. We think that not many words ought to be required in showing where that responsibility ought to be placed.

For one thing, it is not a little because the members of the federal parliament from this province, all of them by the way supporters of the Laurier government, did not as they should have done, voice the unmistakable sentiments of the people of this province against the bringing into force in Canada of the Imperial treaty with Japan when this matter was before the Canadian parliament for consideration. Their silence on that occasion was construed, as might have been expected by them, as acquiescence with the measure then before parliament—the bringing into force in Canada the provisions of this treaty. It was clearly a betrayal of the interests of their constituents which they had been elected to safeguard. The members of the Canadian parliament who represented eastern constituencies were not, and could not be expected to be, as familiar with the considerations which should govern in this matter, and with the sentiments prevailing in this province, as those who represented its constituencies. They would therefore expect to be advised by them. Such a matter would be governed by considerations with which the members from B.C. should be specially familiar. They, however, kept silent thereon. Some of these members have indeed been loud voiced recently, making up for past silence. McPherson, M. P., in particular, has on various occasions given very heated expression to Asiatic exclusion views. With much noise if with but little sense he has been expressing the need which exists of immediate and drastic action in this matter, intimating that otherwise there might be another Boston tea party. He however, with the other M. P's from British Columbia, was silent when he should have spoken. Had the B. C. members done their duty then, Canada would not today be fettered with this treaty. Their lamentable failure to embrace the opportunity then makes them largely responsible for the state of things which we have today.

Then the federal government is responsible for this in another way. The Vancouver World, and the papers that take their lead from it, are perpetually insisting that the premiers of this province should, constitutionally must, assume responsibility for the action of the lieut.-governor in not assenting to the Natal Exclusion Act of last session. It quotes with approval in a recent issue the following with other stuff, from the Toronto Telegram (one of Canada's free lance newspapers), commenting thereon in its usual feeble-forcible manner:

"An anti-Asiatic act passed by the British Columbia legislature has been vetoed by the lieutenant-governor, Hon. James Dunsmuir.

"That fact that the McBride ministry is still in office proves that Hon. Richard McBride accepts responsibility for that veto.

"If British Columbia is really the home of seething indignation against Asiatic labor, Hon. Richard McBride would have resigned the minute his minute his Asiatic bill was vetoed."

We pass by the statement that the lieutenant-governor vetoed the said act, with the remark that he did nothing of the kind. He did a very different thing—he reserved it for the pleasure of the governor general in council, i. e. the federal government, a very different thing. The statements in this quotation ignore the fact—patent to every one who will give to the matter any consideration— that the lieutenant-governor sustains a two fold relation to the people of this province and the executive. He is an officer of the federal government under the B. N. A. Act, and he is also the head of the provincial executive. It was clearly not in the latter capacity that he reserved the said act, for he had not been advised in this matter by his executive; had not sought their advice; had indeed announced his intention to reserve it for the pleasure of the governor general in council before the time came to get advice thereon from his government, clearly intimating that he regarded himself as acting as an officer of the federal government.

We all remember indeed that it is only a short time ago that the premier had been roundly blamed as having advise His Honor not to assent to this act. A few very explicit words from the premier caused a withdrawal, or at least a modification of the charge that he had so advised His Honor. It is now toned down to read as follows: "We have contended that when Premier McBride permitted the lieutenant-governor to refuse his assent to the Bowser Bill, &c." How could Premier McBride prevent this? The lieutenant-governor acted wholly as an officer of the Dominion government. His Honor was of course aware that a similar bill had several times previous to this been disallowed by the governor-general-in-council, and he therefore thought it to be his duty to reserve this bill, and intimated in advance to the premier his intention to do so. He felt sure that it would have the fate of previous acts of the same tenor and he in consequence reserved it for the pleasure of those whom he was representing in this matter.

Now if the federal government is solicitous or even willing that the said act become law, the way is easy and simple to make this act effective and that without any delay. The governor-general-in-council, i. e. the federal government, can make this act law any day it chooses to do so. It is "up to" that government to act.

The effort so persistently made by the World and its following, to shift the onus for the existing state of things upon the provincial executive is done to keep the public from realizing who is responsible for it. No part of this responsibility rests upon the government of this province. It had the Natal Exclusion Act passed by parliament at its last session, undeterred by the intimation made by the lieutenant-governor that he would reserve it. What benefit would accrue to the province if the legislature were called together and reenact it? None whatever. It is "up to" His Honor and the federal government to act in the matter. He has acted as a Dominion official throughout this matter, not in any way under the jurisdiction of the provincial government. It is the federal government and not that of the province, that is responsible for the existing state of things, the former alone having the power to apply an effective remedy.

Some one has of course to assume responsibility for the official acts of His Honor to the electorate; and the proper and only parties upon whom this responsibility rests and can rest is that government—Dominion or provincial—which has the power, if it will, to make the act of exclusion effective. That is the true test of responsibility—as to where it rests.

REWARD OF $5,000.00

A Challenge to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberals of Canada, by A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, B. C.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed please find a copy of a resolution passed by the Cranbrook Conservative Association at a special meeting held on the morning after Mr. Borden left Cranbrook.

After several conversations with Mr. Borden it was decided to adopt this method of bringing the subject before the public, and as we were anxious to have his pronouncement upon it before he left Alberta, we could not submit it to your association at an earlier date.

At Calgary I submitted the resolution to four members of parliament and to Mr. Borden, who highly approved of the proposal, and after due consideration said: "British Columbia has the honor of taking the initiative in a work of the highest national importance. Let it be published," and gave advice as to future action in this respect.

It is therefore with the greatest confidence that I appeal to your association to endorse or pass a similar or an improved resolution, accompanied by a letter, if you think well, expressing your opinions or containing any suggestions you may deem advisable, and forward to me and I will see that the same reaches Mr. Borden without delay. I have no doubt he will have it made public through the press correspondents with him and in other ways.

Advertise your own town, never miss a chance however small. Mr. Borden's tour will not be completed for five weeks, and much can be done in that time. When forwarding the resolutions I will ask Mr. Borden to speak on the subject and to mention each town supporting the proposal to cleanse the electoral methods of Canada.

Another point Conservatives must not lose sight of is the fact that the Liberals have the purse strings of Canada in their keeping, and are not troubled with very great conscientious scruples in using the same during elections, therefore we must invent some method to neutralize their prodigal use of the filthy lucre; and if sufficient financial and moral support be given I see no reason why we cannot so put the fear of the Lord, or of penitentiaries, in their hearts to stop the nefarious practice. It has been done in other countries, why cannot we do it in Canada? It will mean the triumphant return of the Conservatives to power.

Politicians like many others "say things," let us stop saying and "do things." Ponder over Eemerson's quotation: "Don't say things, what you are stands over you the while, and thunders so that I cannot hear that you say to the contrary."

Kindly note I am inviting the leading men of Canada to give their support to the proposal and to reply for publication.

The leading man, the future prime minister of Canada, has spoken! Can you remain silent?

An early reply will be highly esteemed by,

Yours very sincerely,
A. E. WATTS.

I, A. E. Watts, hereby challenge Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the members of the government, individually or collectively, to put up funds for the purpose indicated in the attached resolution and thereby show their desire that political campaigns shall be conducted decently honestly, and that in future they will prosecute offenders and see that justice is effectively applied, and thereby cleanse Canada of the foul blot they have put upon her fair name.

To prove my sincerity and to shield a part of British Columbia from the shameful stigma, the crying disgrace of Canada which makes her appear as a harlot amongst the clean nations of the earth, I will offer $5,000.00 reward for information leading to the conviction and unseating of any member of Parliament that may be elected in the Kootenays by the aid of bribery or corruption, whether he be of the Liberal or Conservative or of any other party.

Cranbrook, B. B.,
7th October, 1907.

WHEREAS there has been abundant proof that numberless cases of gross corruption of the electors have been perpetrated throughout Canada, whereby the voice of the people has been stifled, their national fame besmirched and their representatives muzzled.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Cranbrook Conservative Association held on the above date, George T. Rogers presiding, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"That we fully endorse the proposal of Mr. A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, that a subscription list shall be opened and the public invited to subscribe to a fund which shall be held in trust and used solely for the purpose of prosecution and reward for the conviction of any person or corporation in any way contravening the laws against bribery and corruption at elections either for the Provincial Legislatures or the House of Commons at Ottawa.

"The amount so subscribed shall be returned to the subscribers if not used for the purpose indicated, or if part only of the fund be used then the balance shall be returned to the subscribers pro rata according to the contribution of each subscriber.

"We beg to commend the resolution to the consideration of all executives throughout Canada and to all candidates actual or prospective, for seats in the Provincial Legislatures or in the Dominion House; being fully confident that it will have the hearty approval of the vast majority of the Canadian people, who are the real masters of the political situation rather than the ballot-stuffer or the manipulators of election returns.

(Signed) G. T. Rogers, Chairman.
Joseph Ryan, Secretary.
