SHOOTING AFFRAY

Italian Kills Countryman Near Landing

AT BAY, HEAVILY ARMED

No Reply Today to Wires to Kootenay Landing—Sequel Still Unkown —Victim Not Dead.

No further word has so far come to the city from the seat of war near Kootenay Landing, where yesterday Chief Bullock-Webster, with two constables, and a few other citizens were driving to arrest an Italian who had shot his comrade.

Messrs. Webster and Young left Nelson yesterday morning for Kootenay Landing, and it was surmised that a crime had been committed. No information came until the arrival of the Crow boat last night, and then many conflicting stories were told by the passengers, most of whom had only hearsay information, picked up at the landing.

Such information sifted out and condensed, amounted to this: Two Italians had been shacking together. One shot the other with a rifle, got all the ammunition he could ,took up a position at the window of a lone shack on a bare bluff, resisted arrest and threatened to kill Constable Joe Wilson if he approached his stronghold. Wilson thereupon wired Chief Bullock-Webster.

The Italian who was shot was found in his cabin and was taken to Cranbrook hospital. At last reports he was still living.

Constables J. T. Black, of Ned Denver, and J. A. Fraser, of Ymir, arrived in the city last night. Mr. Black is still here but says his visit has no connection with the shooting in East Kootenay, nor with the chieg's absence. Mr. Fraser returned to Ymir this morning. Whether his arrival and return were due to instructions from his chief is not known.

All attempts to get news by wire from the Landing today have failed.

Rise in Copper.

The law requires as a pre-requisite to location a bona fide discovery of "mineral-bearing rock in place," but it does not presume to say what the value of such rock shall be. Some large and noted mines show only low grade ore at the surface—too low to be profitable under any conditions, but which develop into bonanzas in depth. This is particularly the case with some copper deposits. In mines of the base metals, such as copper, lead and zinc, the market price of the metal is an important factor, for the copper mine which perhaps was too low grade to afford a profit five years ago, may today be a valuable property by reason of the advance of the price of copper. In 1902 the highest price for Lake copper was 13½ cents, in February of that year. Today it isworth 26 cents, or more per pound which makes a difference in the value of some great mines of millions of dollars.

Northwestern Total Loss.

Seattle, March 23.—A despatch to the Post-Intelligencer from Valdez, Alaska, says: The steamer Hortland arrived here at midnight with the passengers and mail from the steamer Northewstern, which was wrecked Tuesday morning on a rock near Beatsoni wharf, Latouche island. The vessel was leaving the bay enroute to Valdez when a flurry of wind caught her and threw her over on the rocks. She went on easily and Captain Tribridge thought no damage was done, but as the tide lowered she settled on the rocks, which puchhed holes in the forward compartment. The forward bulkyard, the engine room and forward compartment are still dry, though there is 17 feet of water in the forwar dhold. The officers of the steamship Northwestern state that it will cost $50,000 to float the vessel from the rocks where she is imprisoned.

Gold in Mississippi Valley.

Gold is known to occur in a number of states in the Missippi valley in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Missouri. The Black Hills of South Dakota in which are found great gold bearing veins, form an isolated uplift several hundred miles east of the Rocky mountains, but though not a part of the main mountain chain, were doubtless uplifted at the same time as the Rocky mountains which they geologically resemble.

Waldorf-Astoria Hard Hit.

New York, March 23.—In the appellate division of the supreme court yesterday a judgment convicting the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Company of violating section 13 of the Forest, Fish and Game laws, was affirmed. The offence charged was having English pheasants in the company's possession contrary to the statutes. It was conceded that the pheasants were killed in the state of New Jersey, but the law specifies that it shall apply to any animal, bird or fish coming from without the state, just the same as though taken within the state. In the trial before Justice Greenbaum the company was fined $4.47.

New Terminal Station and Hotel.

Plans for an hotel, costing from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, and a terminal station, costing from $250,000 to $300,000, to be erected in Ottawa by the Grand Trunk railway , have been explained to the Ottawa civic finance committee by Mr. Charles M. Hayes, general manager of the railway system. The hotel will front on Rideau and the station on Little Sussex street, extended somewhere near the site of the Nicolet House.

PRISONERS' SUFFERINGS

Jabez Balfour, Famous Embezzler, Has Written Account of His Life as a Convict.

Jabez Balfour, who recently completed a term of 14 years' imprisonment for fraud in connection with the Liberator Societies, has written a book, in which he freely criticizes the prison system. Here are a few extracts:

The British prison system would seem, in many of its details, to have been devised by some malignant genius, actuated by the horrible ambition of de Sade, "to leave the world a little worse than he had found it," to crush out of the heart of any unhappy criminal any lingering remnant of self-respect, any feeble hope of self-redemption, which may have survived his public degredation in the criminal court.

On three separate occasions Mr. Balfour was taken on long railway journeys, clad in prison clothes and handcuffed. "I have found along my route groups of curious sightseers, who had evidently been apprised of my movements . . . On Cowes Pier was the inevitable photographer, and quite a throng of busybodies, through whom I had to elbow my way. At Southampton there was a mob of very ill-behaved females." The handcuffing, as he points out, was a purely superflous degradation. On each occasion he was accompanied by two armed warders. What occasion could there be to fetter an elderly obese man so guarded and so dressed?

As to the species of bodily search known as "the dry bath," of which Mr. Balfour speaks in carefully-veiled phrases, it was obviously an indignity which might have been resented by a nigger in the days of chattel slavery—"a degradation to the unhappy prisoner and an outrage on the reluctant warder —grossly revolting and indecent."

The amount of power invested in warders and other petty officials is another blot on our prison system. Only a man of high and humane nature—and such men are less rare phenomena than might be supposed—could withstand the infinate temptations to petty tyrany furnished by the discipline of such a prison as Portland. Mr. Balfour was warned by a kindly chaplain:—"Be very careful of the warders. You are wholly in their power."

How wholly, such incidents as the following may serve to show:

"A well-conducted youth, who was walking immediately before me, halted and stooped down to fasten his shoelace. He was immediately pounced upon by the warder, who shouted, 'You are not to stop; you are not to pick up anything; you are not to stoop; you are not to look anywhere unless I give you leave.' I myself was twice reproved by this ruffian for looking up at the sky!

"Once a prisoner, in passing me smiled. . . . The warder saw, and was swift to shout 'Now, then, Balfour, smiling is not allowed here.' He need hardly have told us that."

Humor creeps into everything—even into a prison. Here is a quaint experience: "One morning I had heard a tremendous disturbance in one of the cells above mine. I asked the warder what the disturbance was about, and he calmly replied, 'Oh, its nothing; it is only a fellow who has done his time and doesn't want to go.'"

Brick Houses Underground.

In the Homestake mine on the 1100 level, a large pump is installed within a large chamber cut out of the solid rock, walled and arched with brick, in fact, a complete brick house built more than 1000 feet below the surface.

Tariff Changed to Suit Hyman's Firm

SUB-TARGET MACHINES

Outrageous Prices Paid Nova Scotia Firm—Corruption in Every Dominion Department.

Ottawa, March 23.—On Tuesday Mr. Fielding stated that he had no more tariff changes to propose and the committee of ways and means handed in what is now supposed to be its final report. The finance minister announced when the house met that he expected to have his tariff revision measure finished and done with before the Christmas vacation. He was a long way out in his reckoning. But the delay has been all his own fault for the time has been mostly occupied by the ministers revising their own revision. After Christmas the minister brought in about a hundred amendments to his own bill and since then he has made numerous amendments to these amendments. It was only this week that Mr. Fielding himself knew all the details of his final measure.

On the last day of discussion a singular circumstance was revealed. Mr. Boyce, of Algoma, called attention to the fact that some 80 boot and shoe manufacturers had asked for additional protection. When they began pressing for these changes the Tanners' Association worked with them, but in the later stages the boot and shoe people were left to fight it out alone. In the end the tanners got an increased duty on all sole leather, though in the first draft of the tariff bill they were allowed much less. The boot and shoe manufacturers got an increase on certain classes, but not on the bulk of their product and they claim that the increased duty on leather leaves them in a worse position than they were before. Now in the discussion there was produced the combine agreement of the Tanners' Association, which compe's all purchasers, in consideration of certain rebates, to make a solemn declaration that they will only buy from the tanners within the combine. On several occasions Dr. Sproule has produced this evidence in the house, and it is shown that formal representations had been made to the government as required by statute against combine and that the government took no action.

It is shown that on several occasions while the tanners and the boot and shoe makers were working together for an increase of duty, a prominent member of the Tanners' Combine referred to the great influence that their association had with the government by reason of the fact that one of their members was in Sir Wilfrid's cabinet. Of the seven firms maintaining the tanners' combine that of C. S. Hyman & Company was one of the largest, and it now appears that this combine not only escaped the law, but that its members have been specially favored in the tariff revision. Mr. Borden pointed out that the government took no action against this illegal combination when complaint was made. He added: "and although the facts were admittedly brought before the governor in council, the governor in council took no action except the one action and that was to take into the cabinet, into the privy council, into this administration, a member of this very combine against whom this complaint has been made."

The public account committee has been struggling with the bill for 250 sub-target machines delivered to the government, and about the same number now under contract. The cost is $250 for each machine which is an arrangement used for purposes of instruction in rifle shooting. It is understood some 2,000 of these machines will be furnished at a cost of half a million dollars. Mr. Jewell, of Toronto, secured the right for Canada. According to the evidence of the manager, the contracting company paid Jewell $53,000 cash and $500,000 in stock for his right. This stock, with only $4,500 paid up in cash, is the total capital of the company. The interesting feature of the case is the fact that Mr. Jewell distributed the $500,000 shares among various persons in lots of $25,000 and $50,000. These included certain militia officers and politicians. Shares also passed into the hands of officers in the militia department. And the holders of these shares are among those who recommended the purchase. An attempt was made by members of the committee to find out what was paid for these shares and what transfers took place. But when the inquiry in this direction began to grow interesting, government supporters raised objections. the minister of railways leading in the enterprise of suppressing the facts, and the chairman ruled out the questions. One of friend of the minister of militia. It came out that the cost of manufacturing the machines was $64 each, and the $25,000 stockholders, who has transferred his shares, is Mr. Wickwire, ex-M. P. P., of Kentville, N. S., a close the company has already made enough to pay for the patent and all preliminary expenses as well as for the cost of production. Hereafter they will apparently have at least $150 profit on each machine, and as they have farmed out the work of making them there is a fine product ahead.

SITUATION IN ROUMANIA.

Government Doing Its Best to Restore Order—Little Bloodshed.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 23.—The Roumania government is doing everything in its power to restore quiet in the districts of the Russian frontier. One regiment of troops aws sent to this section Thursday and two more yesterday. The report that Roumanian troops and policemen have been assisting the riotous bands of peasants are absolutely without foundation. It is announced here, that in spite of the fact that the military endeavors, so far as possible, to avoid bloodshed, four persons have been killed and wounded as a result of necessary acts.

Owing to the suddeness of the outbreak it is announced that many foreigners have suffered, but the government hopes, as a result of the steps taken, that order will be restored shortly.

An Explanation.

Early in March an article appeared in the Cranbrook Herald containing a report that Rev. Dr. Kilpatrick, who is well known throughout Kootenay, in addressing an audience in Toronto, had referred to Cranbrook in very disparaging terms. The article was mentioned at the time in The Daily Canadian, and a friend of Dr. Kilpatrick's sent him a marked copy. A reply has now been received from the doctor in which he denies having used any expressions offensive to Cranbrook, and stating that on the contrary he enjoyed his visit there very much and has kindly memories of hospitable entertainment. Dr. Kilpatrick has also written The Herald to the same effect.

Ex-Senator Dead.

New York, March 23.—Michael J. Coffey, former state senator for many years, and regular Democratic leader of the Red Hook district of Brooklyn, died last night at Long Island College hospital, where he had been under treatment for about five months. He was born in Ireland in 1847. He was a member of the assembly in 1873, 76 and 1884-85, and state senator in 1894-1900

BIG STICK IN PANNAMA

Secretary Taft and Party Starting for Isthmus to Inaugurate Sweeping Reforms.

Charleston, S. C., March 23.—Secretary Taft and his party are here to embark on the cruiser Columbia which will convey them to Panama. Accompanying Secretary Taft are Senator Kittredge of South Dakota, the new head of the senate canal committee, and Representative Burton of Ohio and Dr. Armond of Missouri, of the house canal committee and, and F. W. Carpenter, private secretary to Secretary Taft.

Also members of the party are three distinguished civilian engineers, who are going to the isthmus by request of the president on a special mission. They are Alfred Nobel of the Pennsylvania railroad, Frederick Stearns, the engineer of the Wachuset dam in Massachusetts, and John R. Freeman of Providence, an eminent authority on dams. The chief work of the engineers is to be the examination of the test pits dug on the site of the projected locks at Gature, thereby giving Secretary Taft the benefit of their expert opinions in regard to the possibility of building a suitable foundation for the locks.

After Secretry Taft completes his business on the isthmus he will go to Cuba and Porto Rico in order personally to study conditions in those islands with a view to making a special report for the guidance of the president. He expects to be back in Washington in about a month.

MINERS AT WORK

Activity in Mining Reviving Everywhere

FEAR OF COAL STRIKE

Spring Work Beginning in Many Camps—Stocks Are Recovering—Week's Market Quotations.

The week in mining has seen a revival of activity among some of the prospectors whose claims have become accessible, and records of locations and assessment work are again pouring in to the mining office.

The one thing now dreaded by mine and smelter managers is a strike in the coal fields of East Kootenay and Alberta, which would probably force a general shut down.

Out side capital, mostly American, is offering for development of properties in Lardeau and Sheep Creek districts.

The stock market for the past week has shown a slight improvement both as regards activity and higher prices. Eastern exchanges report business a little more brisk, as does the Spokane exchange.

Alberta Coal recovered slightly, and the bid price is now higher than for some weeks. American Boy, in the face of another assessment being called, remains firm andd changed hands to quite an extent. Breckenridge & Lund Coal is inactive, with quotations almost unchanged.

B. C. Copper, comparatively speaking, was low and weak at the opening, but each day's tradings strengthened, and it is now much firmer and in great demand. Consolidated Smelters and Canadian Gold Fields seeemd to attract no attention whatever, and the bid price is very low. California is offered freely with no buyers in evidence. Cariboo-McKinney continues weak, but was traded in slightly at low figures. Denora Mines is in no demand, is not offered and is practically off the market. Diamond Vale Coal weakened and is now lower than for several months.

Dominion Copper, like other curb securities, was quoted very low at the opening, but advanced slightly and was much stronger at the close. Giant was in demand with but little stock offered at the present low quotation. International Coal was very weak, with almost no business recorded. Nicola Coal Mines in consequence of the lack of business was removed from the Spokane exchange, and attracted no attention whatever. Sullivan dropped a point or so, with no demand.

White Bear was perhaps the feature of the week's trading, being the most active and strongest of any of the stocks on this market. This condition, it is rumored, is due to the mine commencing shipments in the near future.

Following are the quotations for the week ending yesterday:

Electrict Blasting.

Blasts are fired by electricity in many mines, but where timbers are nesessarily carried close to the bottom of the shaft as sinking progresses, firing by battery creates too great a concussion, and as a result timbers are torn out or broken, which greatly increases the expense of sinking. Numerous attempts have made to manufacture an electric fuse which would explode the shots in series, but the sceme has, as far as known, proved unsatisfactory. Even if a "delay fuse" as they are called, be found to act as desired, the probability of the first shot cutting the wires of those intended to go later, would render this scheme impracticable.

Burns Beats Neary.

Milwaukee, March 23.—Jimmy Burns, of California, easily defeated Charley neary, of Milwaukee, in a 10-round bout last night. Burns had a big lead in every round except the second when Neary floored him with a right hook to the jaw for nine of the counts.

O'BRIEN IN NEW ROLE.

Will Stay Away from Parliament to Avoid Friction.

London, March 23.—Wm. O'Brien, Nationalist member of the House of Commons for Cork, has announced his intention of absenting himself from the present session of Parliament in order to avoid further friction with the Irish party, which has now virtually accepted the government's proposal for Irish legislation. Thus there is no longer any serious divergence, Mr. O'Brien explains, between himself and the party. It is understood further that Mr. O'Brien and his friends have decided to drop all pending litigation with the followers of John Redmond.

British Soldiers and Sailors Killed.

Mr. Haldane, British secretary for war, has prepared a return of the number of soldiers and sailors killed in "war and warlike operations," during the six years between 1898 and 1903. The empire engaged in no fewer than seventy-three "wars, expeditions, and reconnaissances" in this period, including the South African war, and taking the two services, naval and military, 8,267 officers and men were killed in action or died of wounds and 23,773 were wounded.

RATES UNDER REVISION

Railway Commission Review Freight Questions—Ask Companies to Show Cause.

(Special to The Daily Canadian.)

Ottawa, March 23.—The board of railway commissioners held a sitting today for the consideration of the question of requiring the passenger rates on the C. P. R. company and the G. T. R. company in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec to be reduced. Mr. Wainright, general assistant and comptroller, and Mr. Davis, passenger traffic manager of the G. T. R. company, represented the latter company. This question was taken up with these two railway companies some months ago, and statements were promised to be furnished by the companies for the purpose of justifying the rates in force, but these statements have not been furnished. A short time ago the Kingston board of trade laid before the board a complaint respecting the rates on the G. T. P. railway east of Toronto and several municipal corporations have also recently passed resolutions condemning the passenger rates on the same line. The matter has been the subject of correspondence between the board and the railway companies and no satisfactory answer has, in the opinion of the board, been furnished to the proposition that the rates should be reduced to three cents per mile.

After hearing the representatives of the railway companies it was decided that the rate should be reduced to three cents per mile. As the board had previously received from the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta complaint against the charging of passenger rates in these provinces exceeding the rate prevailing in eastern Canada, it was suggested that these should be considered at the same time with the other applications and the result has been that the rates have been reduced in these provinces as well to three cents per mile on the line of the Canadian Pacific east of and including the Calgary and Edmonton railway.

Sixty days have been allowed for putting the new rates in forces as considerable time must necessarily be taken in preparing and printing the new tariffs and distributing them to all the points effected. The board proposes immediately notifying the railroad companies of this action and to request them to inform the board whether they are willing to similarly reduce their rates, and if not to inform the boards of the grounds upon which they object to doing so.

German Artist Lost.

New York, March 23.—The friends in this country and in Germany of Albrecht Becker, a well-known painter and a former lieutenant in the German army, who has been missing for months, have enlisted the aid of the American police in their search for him. Mr. V. O. Voelckering, of Dresden, a friend of the missing artist, is now in this country to personally oversee and take charge of the search for the missing man. Mr. Voelckering will make his headquarters at the German consulate in Chicago, where any communications which may lead to the tracing of Mr. Becker can be addressed.

POSTPONED AGAIN

PROMISE TO ROSSLAND

Progress on Bills Continued—Premier Accepts Many Amendments From Opposition.

(Special to The Daily Canadian.)

Victoria, March 22.—At today's session Premier McBride gave notice that he would introduce his resolution on the proposed change in provincial subsidies on Monday.

In reply to J. A. Macdonald the premier stated that while Rossland had no legal claim on a portion of provincial taxes, the government would consider the advisability of affording special relief from the proceeds of the two per cent. mineral tax.

Several bills were then taken up and advanced a stage each. Hawthorthwaite was allowed to add a verbal amendment to the Eight-Hour Smelter bill, and J. A. Macdonld's amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act was adopted, adding:

"Provided further, that whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of the committee or the arbitrator that the injury in respect to which the workman is entitled to compensation under this act is a permanent injury, the committee or arbitrator, may, with the consent of the workman award him a lump sum not exceeding the sum of $1,500 in full of the workman's claim to compensation under this act."

The Easter recess will last from Thursday to Tuesday both inclusive.

Feel With Revolver.

Carmi, March 23,—Rehearsals of closing exercises at a country school house near here yesterday ended in a tragedy and the arrest of a farmer for the murder of a man who had been his friend and neighbor for years. George Nicholson and John Kurd were seated together listening to, and criticizing the recitations given by the children. Both had little daughters in the programme and there was no hint of trouble until Nicholson's little girl started to recite when Kurd remarked on her nervousness, which Micheison resented, and in a moment both men were fighting. Nicholson drew a revolver and pressing it against Kurd's head fired, killing him instantly.

Prices of Metals.

New York, March 23.—Silver, 66½c; copper, 25c; lead, $6.

London, March 23.—Silver, 30⅛.

Champion Still Supreme.

ew York, March 23.—Dr. Emanuel Lasker defeated Frank J. Marshall in the 13th game in their match for the chess championship yesterday.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

That was quite a clever remark of the aged General Booth when he said that the work of the Salvation Army was to rescue the by-products of mankind.

It is cheering news that the price of anthracite coal will be reduced on April 1st. This will be followed by the announcement that the price of ice will go up on May 1st.

Wm. Chesley has returned to Nelson after spending several months at his old home in New Brunswick. Being a good Conservative, Mr. Chesley very much regrets that he could not possibly get back in time to record his vote in the provincial election.

R. J. Elliot returned last week from the Arrow lake district, where he has spent the past week looking over fruit lands. There is a growing interest in this district, so much so that an excursion of prospective fruit-growers from Winnipeg is expected to reach Nakusp next week.

H. Giegerich came down from Kaslo yesterday with the expectation of meeting his wife and daughter, who have been spending the winter at San Diego, Cal. On his arrival here he received a telegram stating that she had been delayed at Sacramento by the floods, and would not reach Nelson for a few days.

MARCH 23, 1907.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS AND OTHERS.

A movement has been going on for some time throughout Canada and in many of the northern states in favor of improving the financial position of the teaching profession.

It was time. The average remuneration of teachers compared with that of unskilled laborers was a disgrace to any people pretending to civilization.

The movement began in Ontario where conditions were worse than in the West. There the country school master or mistress worked for from $15 to $25 a month. The hired man got at least $30 a month and his board.

It was absolutely necessary ,unless the lower positions in all public schools were to become merely a haven of refuge for the stranded, to make them a little more attractive to young men and women of ability and energy.

The movement has won approval and a change for the better is taking place nearly everywhere.

But it is in danger of being overlooked, that the mere paying of slightly higher salaries to teachers is not necessarily improving their lot even financially. The only real test is its purchasing power. Now it is acknowledged that the cost of living is steadily increasing. It is due almost wholly to the steady rise in wages of unskilled laborers. It doesn't improve the laborers' lot at all for as his wages rise, so do the prices of everything he must buy. All other classes keep pace and raise their salaries or fees.

There are two classes that have no power to do so, the clergy and teachers. Only a striking disparity to which public attention is repeatedly called raises the status of these two classes, which are the worst paid in Canada, when the long and expensive preparation is taken into consideration.

This conditions is an almost inevitable result of the exclusive devotion of a whole people to the pursuit of material wealth. In Canada it is dignified by the name of developing the country But it is only vulgar greed become the national religion. Not until a people is old enough to place money in its true position as a humble means to welfare, and learned to prize learning, wisdom and art, is any respect paid to callings not directly wealth-producing, such as those of the minister and the teacher. In fact, the status of clergy and teachers in any country is a fair criterion of its progress in the path of civilization.

No unnecessary delay should be permitted in passing a loan by-lay to raise money for building a new public school. There will be no opposition at the council board and little, if any, from the property owners. The present rude pile of buildings, dignified by the name of the central school, is an eyesore in the centre of the city. It is as unsanitary as unsightly, and the cost of heating in winter is excessive on account of its construction. Three of the classes are now quartered in isolated rooms, two of them utterly unsuited for the purpose and one without any playground for the children. Viewed merely as a commercial undertaking a new and modern school building will be worth many times the cost of construction. The settlers coming into the cities of Kootenay are of the class that prizes first among advantages adequate facilities for the education of their children

Mr. Helliwell, of Vancouver, has evolved a scheme for meeting the provincial debt and relieving the annual budget of an expenditure of about $500,000. The suggestion has not been welcomed with any enthusiasm by the finance minister, Capt. Tatlow. There is no need for hysterics now about British Columbia's finances. The annual revenue is now found equal to the burden of annual expenditure, interest on the public debts, and the provision of a sinking fund for their redemption. The ordinary means of a sinking fund has generally been found sufficient provision by countries, provinces, cities and towns, and the money lenders also accept it as adequate. Taxes in British Columbia are not oppressive. No one feels them except during an election campaign. The revenue now promises to grow faster than the need for expenditure, and while no occasion presents itself at present requiring the floating of another loan, those now in existence will be redeemed in due time without any special effort. As to Mr. Helliwell's specific suggestion, that 5,000 acres of suburban property on Point Gray be sold now on a system of deferred payments, strikes us as peculiarly inept. With Vancouver growing at its present rate, the lots in question will be worth at least ten times the sum suggested in less than 20 years. It would be very poor business policy to sell so rich an asset at so wild a sacrifice—and for what purpose? To make sure that our ordinary sinking fund will not disappear by some miracle and leave us, 30 or 40 years hence, unable to meet a trifling debt of $10,000,000.

The brief telegraphic report in yesterday's issue of the trial, conviction and sentence of the murderer of William Whitely, is in striking contrast to the interminable Thaw trial. In each case the crime was murder, in each case it was committed openly and the murderer was apprehended at once. But the English criminal has been tried and sentenced within a fortnight of the committing of the crime, and will be hanged within a month. The American has already enjoyed the centre of the national stage for many months, will continue to do so for many months more and is unlikely to ever pay any penalty. British courts are not afflicted with paranoia, brainstorm or any other form of imbecility.

At Monday evening's meeting of the council, it may be presumed, there will be further reports on the street cars, street lighting and tramway extensions. The first two are certain to be reports of progress. Since the last meeting the car has been overhauled and much improved, and the street lighting has been extended. The city engineer's report on the feasibility of constructing a belt line for the tramway will be received with interest. Probably more than three-fourths of the residents of Nelson reside east of Stanley street, and receive little or no benefit from the present route. If a belt line can be constructed and operated without loss the sooner it is begun the better.

Th premier's reply to J. A. Macdonald's question as to special relief from financial burdens is what should have been expected. Rossland has no legal right to any share of the two per cent. tax or any other provincial tax. But Rossland is burdened with debt contracted by the folly and incapacity of its early councils. The present population is paying for extravagances of which the majority are guiltless. It would not be for the public good to allow a city to become incapable of maintaining its schools and other public institutions, and there will be no complaint from any other city if special consideration is shown to Rossland.

The idea is gaining ground that the cities of British Columbia were all ill advised in following the cities of Washington in naming their associations. There is something cheap and vulgar in the names, "20,000 club," "150,000 club" and so. "Tourist association" was not so bad, but still it seemed to commit its members to the policy of boastful advertisement called boosting. Nelson Improvement Association is perhaps not very euphonious, but it is definite and suggests a purpose which is perfectly legitimate and not ridiculous.

JUDGMENT OF PILATE

Obscure Circumstances of Christ's Trial —Services Announced for Palm Sunday.

Tomorrow will be the last Sunday before Easter, commonly called Palm Sunday, commemorating Christ's last entry into Jerusalem when the people welcomed him with sonns and cheers and strewed his path with branches of palm. The days of the week following commemorate in order the events of the last days before the Passion, the Last Supper, the vigil in the garden of Gethsemane, the betrayal, the trial, and the crucifixion.

Monday is the Festival of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, commonly called Lady Day or Our Lady's Day.

The gospel for the day anticipates the events of the week, the conspiracy of the Pharisees, the repentance and suicide of Judas Iscariot, the trial and execution.

Apart from the sacred writings the story has been written more than a thousand times from many points of view. The bewilderment of Pontius Pilate and his half cynical, half timid, yielding to the bigotry of the people of his province, have been bitterly assailed, perhaps too bitterly. It is impossible after this lapse of time to know how far the governor of a minor Roman province was permitted to exercise his discretion. Undoubtedly the colonial policy of Rome in its imperial days was to interfere as little as possible with the religious and other domestic affairs of their subject races, to preserve the Pax Romana, and to guard the frontiers. Had Pontius Pilate resisted the Jews and caused an outbreak he would probably have been reprimanded by his chiefs.

How far the Jews were actuated by malice and how far by sincere bigotry, is also impossible to determine. The majority of them probably regarded Christ, as the Athenians four centuries earlier, had regarded Socrates, as a dangerous innovator corrupting the youth by teaching strange doctrines. But it is also true that they could not have so regarded Him or His teaching if their faith had not grown hard and material, and away from the purity in which they had received it from their great prophets.

Christ was born into a world at peace, but it was the peace of decay and death. Everywhere old faiths had lost their meaning and men were drifting. The great mass was utterly indifferent and the blind, persistent few were therefore all the more fiercely zealous in adhering strictly to the forms and symbols of a faith they no longer felt.

The following services are announced for tomorrow in the churches of Nelson:

Church of England—St. Saviour's, corner Ward and Silica streets; Palm Sunday; holy communion 8 a. m.; morning prayer and holy communion, 11 a. m.; Sunday school, 2:30 p. m.; even song, 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. H. Graham, rector.

Troubles of an Actress.

It seems that the trouble of actresses are not confined to the pictoral reproduction of their faces upon bodies that do not belong to them and in postures that are unbecoming. Miss Gertie Millar ineffectually appealed to an English judge for a remedy against the photographer who represented her as creeping out of an eggshell, whereas she had never in her life been in an eggshell, and therfore could never have crawled out of one. Now Miss Edna May comes to the front and says that Miss Milar's troubles are nothing compared with her own. Miss May has seen a postcard representing her as "a dreadful young person sitting on a rock by the sea shore pulling on my stockings! Worse, still, people used to send these dreadful things to me and ask me to sign them."

Lapsing then into the reminscent mood, Miss May goes on to speak of the perplexities of the stage life. We all of ue have our perplexities, but to be fallen in love with, in season and out of season, must certainly be an embarrassment, almost as great as not to be fallen in love with at all. Edna May's particular apathy is the man who threatens suicide as the appropriate remedy for a broken heart. She says she gets one of these about every two weeks, and the duty of saving lives is a serious burden upon her. She had a humorous dresser who used to inform her that there was "another suicide on the mat."

PARAGRAPHS ON MINING

Interesting Facts and Valuable Advice Gleaned from Experience of Many Engineers.

The best way to prevent overwinding in shafts is to provide automatically detached hooks, and to provide the skip or cage with powerful clutches to prevent falling when released from the cable.

In shaft sinking it is desirable, where possible, to break sufficient ground in each round of holes to permit putting in a new set of timbers. Ordinarily shaft sets measure five feet from center to center.

Frozen nitro powder, though unsatisfactory as a blasting agent is dangerous. It should never be thawed by direct application to the heat of a fire, but always in a closed vessel surrounded by warm water.

A poor prospect, no matter how disapointing, always justifies further development if it shows improvement in either sinking or drifting, for it may soon improve to such an extent as to make the mine valuable which was at first considered worthless.

Large circular shafts were sunk in France and Belgium in the late sixties, by means of a heavy drill having a number of bits arranged so as to cut an annular hole. These drills were caled trepans, and weighed as much as fifteen tons. The shafts were lined with iron tubing, as the sinking progressed.

Single engines, though frequently used in operating hoists, are not nearly as convenient or safe as double-cylinder machines. The latter admit a more uniform application of power at every part of the revolution, and do not "center," which is an extremely dangerous thing sometimes occurring with single cylinder engines.

Many volcanic rocks contain gold and silver ores as well as those of lead, copper and zinc. The most important of these rocks are andesite, rhyolite and some other trachytic rocks. Basalt is seldom if ever gold-bearing though in the Cripple Creek district of Colorado are a number of dark much altered basic dikes commonly referred to there as basalt.

The number of holes required to break the full face of a drift depends entirely on the hardness and general character of the ground. Some hard rock having abundant seams and jointing planes will break much more readily than softer ground having few such seams. The miner learns by experience how many holes are required and where to place them to best advantage.

Ore should be crushed no finer than necessary to free the mineral contained, whether it be gold or sulphides of the base metals. Some ore slimes readily and usually efforts are made to prevent sliming as far as possible, but in some instances slimes are purposely produced in order that the extremely fine gold may be recovered. Magnesian ores slime more readily than the purely quartzose ores. When concentration is to follow crushing sliming is to be avoided as far as possible.

At a meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association of Kamloops a resolution was unanimously peassed that the government be requested to "establish a fruit tree fumigation station at Revelstoke, as being the most central city for all the stock of the interior; and the delay of the stock being sent for fumigation to the coast would thereby be avoided."

Interviewed by a representative of the Rossland Miner Thursday evening, J. S. Newcomers were arriving from the East by every train.

Some of the employees of the street railway appear to labor under a misapprehension as to their duties. For instance, it is not the duty of a conductor to sit inside of the car leisurely reading the morning paper while patrons are endeavoring to signal the car to stop. No one objects to a street car conductor, or any other civic employee, spending his leisure hours in literary pursuits, as long as public convenience is not sacrificed. It should be understood at once that employment either on the street cars or in any other branch of the city's service is not provided to give any man a soft situation. The public still has some rights, although one of them does not appear to be to catch the eye of a street car conductor at the psychological moment.
