mier's Visit to London Not in Vain

L LEAVE DOOR OPEN

om of Stand for Provincial ghts Amply Vindicated—Not "Final and Unalterable."

ndon, June 13.—Hon. Richard Me- s negotiations with the British ters had a sequel in the Imperial ment today, when Winston hill, as spokesman for the colon- fice, introduced an amendment to British North America Act, read- g the subsidies to the provinces.

Churchill spoke at some length. reviewing the stages leading up to easure, he dwelt upon British Co- a's position and stated that while mperial government was bound to weight to the representations of Dominion government, backed as were by all the provinces except h Columbia, yet they did not want derstood that these alone were to garded in a manner in which the of a single province was affected. referred to the action of the h Columbia legislature in protest- gainst the proposed settlement be- final and unalterable," and in this ction spoke as follows:

he prime minister of Quebec, also Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Field- have made personal application to olonial secretary or myself on this ion. On the other hand, Hon. Mr. ride, prime minister of British mbia, has also stated his case very to us. He has, with great frank- and great force, placed us in pos- n of the views and grievances of h Columbia. While we are unable cept his opinions entirely, we have avored as far as possible to make egislation agreeable to him, and ave not introduced into the legisla- the words "final and unalterable," h it had been proposed to introduce, which would have prejudiced Brit- Columbia's chance of making some friendly arrangement in the future the Dominion and with the other inces."

e bill contains a clause providing nothing in the act shall affect the ation of the Dominion to pay any ince a special grant in addition to subsidies.

on. Richard McBride remains here after the second reading, which pected in about a week.

ontreal, June 17.—A special London to the Star says: "Winston rchill, as under secretary for the nies, brought up in the house of mons this afternoon the bill amend- the British North America act re- ting federal subsidies to the prov- s.

t was given its first reading with- opposition. The bill gives legis- e sanction to the compact made October in Ottawa betwen the fed- government and all the provincial sters except British Columbia, r which the provinces are to receive eased per capita subsidies.

ion. R. McBride, premier of British mbia, who is still here, has made rous representations to the colonial e against what he deems the inade- e sum given to British Columbia. colonial office takes the view that question is one which British Colum- must herself settle with the Do- ion, but the imperial bill introduced y makes an important concession ritish Columbia in eliminating from Dominion government's proposed ndment the fateful words "final and terable." British Columbia's de- d is thus left open, and Mr. McBride atisfied that the feeling of his prov- is so strongly with him that the inion government will be led to ap- t a court to which Canada, British umbia and Britain will each appoint ember.

Orange Grand Lodge.

ancouver, June 17.—The delegates he Orange grand lodge ,which con- es here next Wednesday, are begin- to arrive. This will be a large ering of the order, and there are y matters of importance to be dis- ed, some of which should bear con- rable influence on its future. Al- dy a large number of delegates have ved, 30 alone from Toronto. In- ded in this number are Dr. Sproule, nd Master, of Markdale, Ont.; Lieut. J. H. Scott, of Walkerton, and R. H. lroy, M. P. P., representing County eton.

Subsidy to Australian Line.

ancouver, June 17.—The Canadian- tralian line, operating a steamship ice between Vancouver and Sydney, Australia, has concluded arrangements for an extension of mail subsidies for a period of two years from July 31st, 1907, according to advices received here today from London.

TIME FOR A CHANGE.

American Steel Works Will Try to Make Better Rails.

Pittsburg, June 17.—Prompted by a demand for better steel rails that will make railroading safer, officials of the Carnegie Steel company will operate open hearth furnaces exclusively at the Edgar Thomson works, Braddock, its largest plant. Two new open hearth furnaces are now being erected. Officials expect to have the Bessemer process entirely displaced in rail-making by the open hearth idea by June of next year.

Accidents due to defective rails have resulted in railroads making a concerted fight for a better grade than the Bessemer quality of steel now furnished. While the proposed change has been under consideration for some time, the fact that the Bethlehem Steel company has already begun the open hearth manufacture of rails has resulted in its adoption rather hurriedly for the Edgar Thomson works.

The Bethlehem company has again given its attention to the manufacture of rails, for which the demand is heavy at this time. The Tennessee Coal and Iron company, which has also adopted the open hearth method, has this year booked large orders for its product, while the Carnegie mills have been losing.

Three rail mills are at present in operation at the Edgar Thomson works. If it is found that the new furnaces are profitable and that they can keep up with the demand the open hearth furnaces will be extended so as to increase the present output. The liability of the new product to break will be decreased to a minimum and its strength and power of endurance and wear will be far greater, it is said, than that of the Bessemer product.

FRENCH STRIKERS FIRM

Premier Clemenceau Pleads in Vain for Compliance With Law—Fear Military Outbreak.

Paris, June 17.—The prefects of the departments of Herault, Aude, Phrinees-Orientales and Garde, where the wine growers' movement is in active progress, had a long conference today with Premier Clemenceau, who counselled conciliation so far as possible. Altogether, some 50 local bodies in the four departments have resigned. The outgoing municipal officers in some cases are walling up the doors of the town halls, with the object of keeping out temporary commissioners which the prefects may appoint.

The premier gave the prefects full instructions as to their course of conduct toward the striking municipalities, counselling conciliation, as far as compatible with the law. Up to the present the prefects have declined to accept the proffered resignations of the mayors, and the premier is trying to arouse the patriotism of the mayors by a circular showing that the interests of their fellow citizens are bound to suffer if they persist in rupturing relations with the central government. In the meanwhile the municipalities continue to join the anti-tax strike, and altogether some 50 local bodies in the four departments most concerned have handed in their resignations.

Except in isolated instances the strike is merely a form of passive resistance, though the attitude of some of the regiments recruited in the south occasioned anxiety. The time set by the general wine growers' committee at Argeliers, over which Marcelin Albert, leader of the movement presides, for handing in the resignation of the municipal officers expires tonight. If the movement is to become general today should see a large increase in the number of towns left without local government.

The garrison manoeuvres at Narbonne, department of Aude, which ought to commence tomorrow, lasting 10 days, have been abandoned to keep the troops from fraternizing with the discontented wine growers.

Sealing Captain Protests.

Victoria, June 17.—The sealing schooner Carlotta G. Cox, seized by the United States revenue cutter Rush on May 28th, arrived today. The schooner was turned over to Captain Hackett of the Canadian government steamer Quadra, at Port Simpson, where she was towed by the rush, which broke a crank shaft and was unable to proceed farther. The Carlotta G. Cox was ordered to Victoria for trial in the admiralty court by Captain Hackett. Captain Christian, master of the schooner, holds the seizure to be unjustified. He states that when taken he was on his way to Copper islands and no skins on board but those taken before the beginning of May, off the British Columbia coast.

FOSTER'S SPEECH

Veteran Statesman Scores New Liberalism

VIEW ON ALL RED LINE

Stirring Address by Ex-Minister of Finance to Young Toronto Conservatives.

The chief speaker at the meeting in Toronto at which E. F. Bristol was nominated was G. E. Foster, ex-minister of finance.

Said Hon. George E. Foster, upon receiving a cyclonic reception when he rose to participate:

"I find the atmosphere a little warmer than in another place recently in this city called the Insurance Commission. (Laughter.)

"I am glad, very glad, to be able to bear my testimony to the ability of the candidate you have just nominated. His election is a matter of course as soon as the powers that be see fit to call an election.

Mr. Macdonald spoke of Mr. Bristol's estimable predecessor, the late E. F. Clarke, and the traditions which he was to follow. No one can bear more hearty testimony to the honesty and ability of Mr. Clarke than can I, his colleague for many a year.

"I have seen him in his constituency, but, better still, at work in the House, and I know his upright sentiments.

"Mr. Bristol is taking the line he took, and, being blessed with ability and industry, is bound to make his mark in time, and do useful work for his constituency and his country.

"Listening to the other speakers tonight, I thought how very often I had sat on a platform in Toronto and heard Mr. Clarke talk against the grafting propensities of the government at Ottawa, and how the speaker, in denouncing it, would draw friends towards him. If he were here tonight, with an added two years of misrule to grieve over, how much stronger would have been his denunciation.

"In addressing young men, and there are many I am glad to see present tonight, we public men feel it incumbent to place before them properly and consecutively the issues of the day. How very much do we personally know of them by experience, but find we cannot properly ventilate in the Public Accounts committee, for instance, where leading questions are objected to by an insurmountable majority. The opposition is time and again powerless to let the people know what is being done with their money. It is your money. We must leave it to you to decide whether it is being properly spent. We ask you to decide when the grand jury of the country is called to give a verdict.

"I fear we cannot be able to rise to the necessity and bring before you the exact state of things. We have been lax in one thing—we have neglected too much the public meeting in the township, in the county, in the village and town. It is the good old-fashioned method, better than anything else, where men used to talk about what would make and keep the country great. From this time on we Conservatives ought to avail ourselves of the instrumentality of the public meeting. For the heart of man warms the heart of man, and calls him to duty and responsibility.

"And now you young men. Did you believe Mr. Bristol when he cited cases of Graft in the Laurier government? Why, we exposed all these facts in the Public Accounts committee. If you do believe it what one of you would allow such a condition of affairs in his private business? We are all partners in the carrying on of the business of this country. Can we allow graft in our bookkeeping?

"The Laurier government, with all its talents (and there are not many left, being laid away or ensconced in senatorial dignity), never found out any way for making money without taking it from the pocket of the citizen.

"You mustn't think of the 116 millions which they are preparing to spend as not yours. It is yours. Don't think it rained from heaven.

"I have seen it in the papers, of how Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the recent Colonial Conference, thought it good to say to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannnerman, that it was part of his principle not to interfere with other people's affairs, and that, therefore, he wouldn't presume to advise the British government on the preference question. How very discreet of Sir Wilfrid! Was he so careful a time ago, when, in the House of Commons at Ottawa, he spoke in favor of a resolution, dictating to the British government how to rule Ireland. When there comes a chance, however to do a good thing for the people of Canada, the silken-handed Sir Wilfrid doesn't like giving advice. Yet he trips over to France, Germany and Italy, to try to persuade these people to give preferential treatment to us. That smacks of advice, surely. What consistency! But who ever expects consistency of Sir Wilfrid?

"Moreover, delicacy didn't forbid him to ask British taxpayers to build up an All-Red transport line from which Canada and Australia would be the chief beneficiaries.

"We have had this All-Red line in reality for 15 years, after the then Conservative government had overthrown the determined opposition of Sir Wilfrid, when it made the country subsidize fast vessels plying from Great Britain to Canada, built the C. P. R., again in opposition to Sir Wilfrid, and subsidized steamships to Yokohama and Shanghai. And where was Sir Wilfrid then? In opposition, saying it was absurd to foster trade with the different parts of Empire. There's another sample of consistency if you seek it.

"Lloyd-George says Laurier is the father of preference, while Laurier says its Fielding. Let them pass the honor round if they like, but preference started long before that. At the conference at Ottawa in 1894, Earl Jersey presiding, a committee of which I was a member succeeded in having passed a resolution in favor of preference, and mutual trade between Great Britain and the colonies. A resolution was also passed recommending subsidies for steamships.

"In 1896 when the Conservatives lost power we left a contract signed for an All-Red line between London and Australia, subsidized by the country, supported by Great Britain and Australia.

"What has Laurier been doing with this contract all this time? And yet we are asked by all earnest (I was going to say honest) Liberals to fall down before Laurier, the father of the go-ahead policy.

"And now what will the newspapers say if I don't say something about myself? There have been many accusations against me during my 25 years in public life, but never one based upon dishonest administration. I have challenged my opponents over and over again about this. They all know me as a fearless foe of a bad policy, and consequently don't cultivate me as a brother.

"The North Atlantic Trading company took nearly $400,000 of your money. Paid out to whom? No one knows except Sir Wilfrid, and those on the inside. They tell us the information won't be given. When the question was put in the House it was ruled out of order by a large majority. I referred scathingly to it time and again.

"Then the government undertook to muzzle me in the Insurance Commission, through Mr. Shepley, who was in constant communication with Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, to bring out the partizan side of the case, and that's the truth."

In conclusion, Mr. Foster returned to the local bearing of the meeting. "Don't trust to your preceding majority in Toronto," he said. "The enemy are fertile with expediency to which we would not descend. Every boast the Liberals make as to the prosperity of the country, is of no force except inasmuch as it is based on the old policy advocated by the Conservative government. We are not in power today, but we rule the country by principle and policy, just the same."

The meeting broke up with cheers for the King, Mr. Bristol and Hon. Mr. Foster.

SHAMROCKS VICTORIOUS

Winners of Hard Fought Game With Their Old-Time Rivals, the Montrealers.

Montreal, June 17.—Before a crowd of 4,500 enthusiasts, the old-time lacrosse rivals, Montreal and Shamrocks, got away on Saturday, the Shamrocks winning. The game was comparatively clean, no very aggravating offences being committed by either side, though the game was of anything but the parlor variety at that.

Both defences outclassed the homes in the most marked manner, keeping them away nearly the whole time. The Shamrocks fought hard. The crowd was on tip toes frequently during the game at the old-time rushes they put up. The Montreals were not up to the form they displayed during the earlier part of the season, and their passing at times was very ragged. They also failed to go in on the goal in the dashing manner that the Irishmen adopted and this probably lost them the game.

The lineup was:

Shamrocks	Position	Montreal
	Goal
Tierney		Muir
	Point
Howard		Haynes
	Cover
Kavanaugh		Finlayson
	Defence
Rochford		Leville

DRIFTING APART

Japan and United States No Longer Friends

REGRET AT WASHINGTON

Recognized That Anti-American Feeling Is General—President Has Done His Best.

Tokio, June 17.—It is learned that the leading members of the Constitutional party held a meeting this afternoon and passed a resolution on the American question recommending, in view of its importance, calmness and prudence, and also the advisability of trusting to the government for a satisfactory solution.

Washington, June 17.—With the feeling that it is virtually bound and helpless, powerless to stem the tide misunderstanding Jingoism and "cockiness" on the part of influential Japanese, the government at Washington, with what patience and calmness it can muster, is watching the trend of events that slowly but surely seem to be undermining the cordial relations that have existed and officially still exist between Japan and the United States. The two governments are, diplomatically, on the best of terms. Nothing has occurred up to this time to show conclusively that the government of Japan sympathizes with the anti-American policy that has gained such headway in that country. But it is apparent to the administration that a large and influential section of the Japanese people, incited by agitators who stop at no exaggeration, is engaged in a movement that has for its object either the humiliation of the United States or war with this nation.

That the Japanese ministry has been influenced to some extent by the prevailing outcry against the United States, officials here feel bound to believe. They reached that conclusion reluctantly, in fact it may be said it grew upon them unconsciously, until, coming to analyze what their honest opinion was, they found it impossible to escape the conviction that Japan was pursuing a course bound to produce irritation between the two countries. Magnifying into an international incident an attack upon a Japanese restaurant by irresponsible persons, evidently of the hoodlum class, is regarded as jingo agitation. This government, however, is satisfied that the Japanese ministry is really friendly to the United States and will do its utmost to preserve cordial relations.

Whether it can withstand the assaults of the agitators is a debatable matter that gives concern.

When the Japanese school question in San Francisco brought the administration face to face with a serious problem, the president and his advisers decided that the proper course to pursue was to show to Japan that the feeling in this country against Japanese was confined to a comparatively small portion of the Union, and excited no sympathy among the great bulk of the American people of the government at Washington.

In order to prove that the feeling of friendship toward Japan and the Japanese was almost unanimous throughout the United States, the president sent a message to Congress in order to leave no doubt in the minds of the American agitators and the governing party at Tokio that the Pacific coast troubles were condemned everwhere in the country except in the comparatively small area where they originated. There are some, even among the president's official associates and closest friends, who felt that the language of his message was timid of offending that nation, and was willing to abandon its real policy in order to escape punishment at the hands of a people whom it feared. To a certain extent that has been justified. The unfortunate idea appears to prevail in Japan that the American government is frightened and will go to any extreme of reparation if Japan assumes a warlike attitude.

A private cablegram was received here today stating that the Marquis Ito and the elder statesmen of Japan held a conference with Foreign Minister Hayashi last Wednesday, when, at the urgent request of the marquis, it was decided to recall Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador to this country. The statement was made in authoritative quarters that Marquis Ito and Ambassador Aoki have not been on friendly terms for many years.

Gen. Booth's Farewell.

Montreal, June 17.—General Booth, of the Salvation Army, accompanied by Brigadier Cox, Commissioner Nicoll and Colonel Higgins, chief executive of his staff, has sailed from Quebec on the R. M. S. Empress of Ireland. The scene was most impressive. The wonderful old man who for so many years has been associated with all schemes for the benefit of mankind took a position at the rail and as the ship left the dock uttered a few impressive words of farewell to Canada with his blessing. A very excellent band played the ship out of sight.

FIELDING OFF TO BERLIN.

Prospects of Commercial Friendship of Germany and Canada.

London, June 17.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, who had taken his wife and daughters to Cannes for recuperation, was called back to London today on urgent business. He hopes to return almost immediately to Cannes, whence he expects to visit Vienna, and then meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Paris in the last week in June. He will probably return with Sir Wilfrid to London for the Dominion Day Banquet, and Lord Strathcona's reception.

Berlin journals anticipate with keen interest a visit by Mr. Fielding to Germany. It is generally conceded among thinking Germans that Canada and Germany might now well be friends. The rapproachment has been assisted by the recent tour through Germany of British editors and the kindly references made by the Imperial chancellor, Prince Von Buelow, and Herr Von Mendelsohn, a well-known Berlin banker. Their utterances are accepted as evidence that Germany now appreciates Canadian progress and Canada's certain future as it never did before.

No definite plans apparently have been as yet made for Mr. Fielding's visit, but it is understood the German government is now prepared to welcome the immediate removal of the surtax in each country. This would possibly pave the way to a discussion of a friendly commercial arrangement. Newspaper statesments of the intention of Herr Ballin to establish a direct steamship service of the Hamburg-American line between Hamburg and Halifax and Quebec are however premature. Any step of this kind must obviously await the restoration of commercial friendliness between Canada and Germany.

DEFENCE IS CONFIDENT

Counsel for Haywood Rely on Evidence of Prisoner and Adams—One Witness Dies.

Boise, June 17.—The court did not sit today, the judge having gone to Caldwell to continue the case of Harry Orchard, charged with the murder of Steunenberg. Orchard had simply to make his formal appearance. As the case for the prosecution is drawing to a close there is much speculation as to the line the defense will take. It is significant that Haywood's lawyers take an optimistic view of the work they have in hand. The leading lawyer for the prosecution has stated that his case will be concluded on Wednesday or Thursday. Then the battle to save Haywood will be begun in earnest. It is understood that Orchard's testimony will be attacked all along the line. The two star witnesses for the defence will be Haywood and Steve Adams. Haywood will deny generally that he had the communications with which he is charged with Orchard at least in so far as they had any bearing on deliberate murder. Adams will repudiate his confession and will charge that it was extorted from him by the detective through threats and promises. Adam's evidence is certain to produce a sensation. He takes the situation coolly. He knows that he will yet have to stand his trial, and that probably a conviction will be secured against him, but he has openly declared that he "does not give a ——, but will give them a run for their money before he dances on the end of a rope." Mr. Darrow will make the opening stattment for the defence on Thursday, and then will begin the work of taking the testimony of the 150 witnesses summoned on Haywood's behalf. An old copy of a Spokane paper has been produced which contains an account of the burglarizing of the railway station at Wallace on the evening of October 3, 1905. This was the burglary Orchard confessed he had committed in company with Jack Simpkins. The trunk stolen was that belonging to a travelling salesman for a boot and shoe manufacturer. Orchard and Simpkins believed it was the property of a jewelry salesman.

Canon City, Col., June 17.—Charles W. King, an important witness for the defence in the Haywood trial at Boise, Idaho, died from neuralgia of the heart yesterday. Bloodhounds belonging to King were used in tracking after the dynamiters of the Independence mine. An hour after his death a telegram came addressed to King summoning him to Boise.

STOLYPIN FOUGHT HARD

Dissolution of Douma Followed by Hilarious Enjoyment—Tale From Black Sea.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—From a well-informed source the Associated Press hears that the decision to dissolve the Douma and abolish the former election law was due to the initiative of the Emperor, whose original intention went far beyond the steps taken. His Majesty wished to dismiss parliament a fortnight ago and prolong the interval by a convocation of a new assembly, thinking that this would permit the agitation throughout the country to subside. He was encouraged in this attitude by the court, but finally yielded to the arguments of Premier Stolypin, who strongly advocated the convocation of the Douma in the autmun. The premier also succeeded in having stricken from the electoral law provisions increasing the educational and property qualifications for suffrage and raising the age limit of voters from 25 to 30 years, working upon His Majesty by what is disgustedly described by one of his opponents as the bugaboo of reaction. It is learned that the manifesto was drafted at Tzarkoselo a fortnight ago, only a few minor changes being introduced Saturday night. Copies of the manifesto reached the papers with the date Tzarkoselo uncorrected. It is stated that the Empress was one of the most vigorous enemies of the Douma. The Conservative deputies held an all night fete at the Conservative Club in celebration of the Emperor's decision. Champagne was served to all comers. The Emperor's decision was hilariously cheered and ultra-loyal speeches were delivered. Ex-Minister Yermaloff, hitherto considered a Moderate Liberal, in an oration glorified the change in the Douma as rescuing Russia from the hands of aliens and Jews and restoring to power the classes which heretofore ruled the empire.

Sebastopol, June 17.—Rear Admiral Wiren, in command of the Black Sea fleet, was cruising in a steam cutter yesterday while a torpedo boat in command of Lieut. Rusehek was practicing firing Whiteheads in the inner bay. When the admiral's cutter was at short range the torpedo boat suddenly changed her position and fired a blank Whitehead directly at the cutter, penetrating the latter's water tank. The promptitude of the crew in beaching the cutter saved the admiral's life. Lieut. Rushek explained that the Whitehead was fired accidentally, but he and three junior lieutenants, who were sullen and refused to salute the admiral, were degraded, and as the result of later evidence, arrested on the charge of attempting to sink the cutter.

TIERNEY'S RECORD BLAST.

On C. P. R. Spur to Rawhide Mine—Note of Boundary.

Grand Forks, B. C., June 17.—Wall & Creelman, the well known railway bridge contractors, have just been awarded the contract to build the passenger depot for the Kettle Valley line railway on Third street. This station house will be one of the best in the interior of the province and will cost approximately $5,000.

Arrangements are now in progress whereby the C. P. R. will run an excursion into this valley from Eastern points early this fall for the purpose of giving intending purchasers of fruit lands a chance to see the valley. The excursion will be under the control of the Grand Forks 20,000 Club.

Three hundred and fifty pounds of black powder and 250 pounds of dynamite were used a couple of days ago in the largest blast yet recorded in railroad building in this district, the shot being by Contractor Tierney, who is building the spur on the C. P. R. to the Rawhide mine.

Will Meet at Trout Lake.

The executive committee of the Liberal Conservative Association of Kaslo electoral district will meet at Trout Lake City on the 24th inst.

Company Pays.

Wall & Creelman have paid judgment and costs, $4,460.85 in the suit brought against them by Campbell at the last assizes in Nelson.

MR. McBRIDE'S MISSION.

As announced in our news columns today the Hon. Richard McBride has been successful in his mission to London on a very important point, though only to a limited extent. He has succeeded in persuading the British Colonial Office to refuse the request of the Dominion government to seal its latest scheme of subsidies as a "final and unalterable settlement."

With that important modification apparently the amendment asked for by the Dominion government, British Columbia dissenting, is to be granted. At least that is the apparent meaning of the recommendation to the House of Commons made last Friday by Mr. Winston Churchill, under secretary of state for the colonies.

Mr. Churchill and Mr. McBride are almost the same age. Mr. Churchill is not addicted to flattery, his self-esteem precludes that. His estimate of Mr. McBride is therefore interesting. In his speech on the subject to the House of Commons he first stated, as was inevitable, that the representations of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Fielding and Mr. Gouin, premier of Quebec, had impressed the Colonial Office very strongly. But, he continued, the officials of that office were equally impressed with the "frank, full and forceful" statement of British Columbia's case by Mr. McBride.

That should be sufficient answer, if any answer were needed, to the opposition press that has persistently represented the premier as a mere "jollier," a man of no ability, and no qualification for leadership but tact. Such misrepresentation, however, proceeded from ignorance and folly, and really requires no answer.

During Mr. McBride's absence from the province some of the minor Machine organs have made merry at the dirth of news of his movements in England. Under the influence of a recent example they probably expected to have Mr. McBride reported as posing on every possible occasion, and making meaningless banquet speeches by the score. That is the misfortune of a low ideal formed from a vulgar model. Mr. McBride did not go to London to eat, drink, pose and talk; he went to present in plain, businesslike fashion, British Columbia's protest against a proposed grave injustice. He has succeeded as far as could be reasonably expected.

When the Liberal papers recover from their chagrin at Mr. McBride's success, we shall probably be diverted by sneers and jeers at the smallness of the premier's achievement, the insignificance of the concession he has won. There is really no other ground that Liberal organs can take, except absolute silence, and they are incapable of that.. What they described confidently as impossible has transpired before their eyes. Mr. J. A. Macdonald, provincial Liberal leader, endorsed and applauded by a unanimous Liberal press, declared that Mr. McBride would not get a hearing in London, that the request of the Dominion government would be granted in full and without question or hesitation, and that the only hope for British Columbia was to reopen the case at Ottawa, and send a docile Liberal premier there who would abjectly apologize for Mr. McBride's contumacy, promise to be good in future, and accept with profuse gratitude whatever the charity of Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding might be disposed to grant.

Their scheme has collapsed as completely and as ridiculously as the McInnes campaign. British Columbia spurned the advice to surrender, endorsed her premier's stand, sent him to plead her cause before the King's advisers on colonial affairs, and he has done it so well that an almost unanimous request from the parliament of Canada is refused.

Mr. McBride will return to his native province with his reputation higher than ever, with his whole claim fully justified, and with those of his opponents who have any sense of shame, either silenced or constrained to applaud.

CHARACTERISTIC.

Our esteemed local contemporary, in Sunday morning's issue, says:

"The Tory press throughout the country is devoting much of its editorial space to denunciation of graft. The general rule observed is to manufacture a case of alleged graft, without a scintilla of evidence and then to base thereon appeals to the electorate to turn the Liberals out and put back the Tories in power. Toronto Conservatives meet this appeal for purity in politics by renominating George Eulas Foster, a frank confession of their contempt for the homilies of their press organs. Foster is the man who manipulated the finances of the I. O. F. for his own advantage, a trustee of the funds for the protection of widows and orphans, utilizes them in speculative ventures of which he and his friends are the beneficiaries."

We hope the misstatements in the above are not wilful. There is one in every sentence but the first. The Tory press, unfortunately, has not had to manufacture any case of graft. Liberal ministers and their "heelers" have already glutted the market. Every case dealt with has been exposed in committee of parliament as far as the Machine majority permits. The attack on Mr. Foster, we fear, is malicious. "Manipulated" may or may not be an innocent word. Mr. Foster managed the Foresters' trust funds to the great advantage of the order. Some risk may have been incurred: risk is incurred in every investment. The tears for imaginary widows and orphans, who might have been, but were not, ruined, are very cheap even for a Liberal paper. "He and his friends are the beneficiaries," is not absolutely untrue, but honesty might have dictated an acknowledgement that the trust fund referred to was the chief beneficiary.

But, apart from its specific inaccuracies the article is a perfect illustration of what we have always contended. The only reply left to Liberals to demonstrations of their guilt is the shameless one dictated by Mr. Fielding and Mr. Emmerson, that Conservatives also are not above reproach. Such an answer has one merit, it is a frank confession of guilt.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The different attitudes taken up by the various groups interested in the schedule on the Spokane Falls & Northern Railway, will give a fair idea of the ease with which a company can accomodate all its patrons at the same time. Residents of Ymir, Salmo and Erie protest against the trains going through at night, the majority of Nelsonites are glad to be saved a waste of two days on each trip, the West Arm ranchers are in arms at the loss of a very convenient service, while Kaslo and Sandon are delighted with the improvement. Who wouldn't be a divisional superintendent?

Japan is imitating western ways very fast indeed. The accepted theory at present of the anti-American agitation in Tokio is that it is a move by the opposition to embarrass the government. Three parallel cases immediately suggest themselves: Napoleon Third drifted into the German war to distract attention from domestic troubles; Grover Cleveland "twisted the Lion's tail" to curry favor with his mob; the English recalcitrants were not so much pro-Boers as anti-Tories.

Clifford Sifton is generally credited in Manitoba with a desire to return to the Dominion cabinet. Presumably he can show repentance and amendment of life. But Clifford should be careful about acclaiming too loudly the "All-Red" line. Israel Tarte fell for praising protection. The fast Atlantic service was a Conservative policy as much as protection. It is all right to appropriate Conservative measures, but Sir Wilfrid doesn't like too much noise about it.

Two weeks from today will be the second of July, the first day of Nelson's two days' celebration. It is time that all preliminary work were completed so that a full list of attractions can be definitely and effectively advertised.

Poor Mayor Schmitz! His only fault was overdoing it. He could probably plead, like Mr. Emmerson, that he is not the only sinner, and not much worse than others.

BANKHEAD MINERS TALK

Many and Varied Suggestions Made for Improvement of Working Conditions.

Banff, June 17.—The coal commission sat here Friday and listened to the evidence of miners employed at Bankhead. Hardly any new suggestions in the way of legislation were offered.

Charles H. Stanley, president of the Bankhead union, favored a compensation act as it would avoid an injured man's having to enter legal action and probably appealing from court to court at great expense. He also thought a miner could do better and as much work in eight hours as in ten.

Henry Morgan pronounced himself against the Lord's Day Act. It prevented railroads shunting cars on Sunday and consequently kept the miner out of work on Monday. He was quite willing that the railroad men should work on the Sabbath in order that he should have employment on Monday. The ventilation of the mine was pronounced fairly good. It could be much improved if cross cuts were made of specific length. He was in favor of both compensation and liability acts being adopted as the liability act would provide a bigger allowance than a compensation act in case of accident where the management of the mine had been proved grossly careless. He then suggested that there should be places in the mine to store safety lamps so that if a miner's lamp went out he would not be compelled to borrow another miner's lamp to find his way out to get his lamp lighted. This kept two men from work. Lighted lamps should be stored at certain points in the mine easily accessible to the men. He complained that there were no bandages at the mine in case of accident. He favored a semi-monthly payment and the posting of the mine inspector's reports.

Morgan made an average of $4.50 a day and had earned as high as $9.50 a day.

O. Barber had earned as high as $156 in one month and as low as $70. The men at Bankhead paid 50 cents a month each into a fund to assist widows and orphans of miners. Barber was opposed to the incorporation of unions, because it would not protect their funds. He thought the adoption of an eight-hour day and the compensation act would do more to prevent strikes and lockouts than the Lemieux bill. He wanted a compensation act and was opposed entirely to the Nova Scotia relief fund system.

Fred King had worked in the Transvaal and he said the compensation act there allowed $2,500 in case of death by accident. He knew of some coal companies in England who built aged men's homes and paid pensions to old men. The result was that they were always able to keep men with them steadily.

John Ovington noticed that the men in Durham, who only worked six hours a day, were well developed intellectually. They had time to attend night classes and patronize reading rooms.

SIR WILLIAM CROOKES.

Veteran British Scientist Receives Birthday Greetings.

London, June 17.—Sir William Crookes, whose scientific genius made possible the discovery of the wonderful light of Roentgen, was publicly honored today on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday. During the day he was the recipient of addresses of congratulation from scientific and learned societies in many parts of the world.

Sir William has long been entitled to rank among the foremost scientists of his day. He was born in London, and in his boyhood became interested in photography. He took a course in the Royal College of Chemistry under Dr. Hoffman, and soon became assistant to his tutor. At 22 he was appointed superintendent of the Radcliffe Observatory at Oxford. Born with a love for original search, he discovered the new metal thallium while examining the residue from a sulphuric acid works. In 1877 he invented the otheoscope. His latest discovery, which was publicly announced last fall, consists of a process of extracting nitric acid from the atmosphere.

THE MAN WHO WENT.

New York, the Present Home of a Great Canadian Inventor.

Mankind has ever held out offers of reward in fame and money to those who would supply the better things. What people need and what they want may be different ,therefore the prize is to the man who studies what mankind wants.

The man who invented the Semi-ready idea of tailoring fine clothes for men sold out his idea to those who have since perfected it. But to this man, now in New York, is owing a laurel wreath of honor and the clothes of riches. Semi-ready represents the progress, and progress is evolution. "Semi-ready" today is the evolution of an idea which still evolutes every season into the better thing.

Creston Growing.

The growth of Creston has necessitated an addition to the Monroe hotel there, owned and managed by George Monroe. Mr. Monroe has added 20 rooms and has put in a lot of new furniture and Ostermoor mattresses purchased in Nelson from the Standard Furniture company.

Moonlight Trip.

The 20,000 club has arranged for an evening trip on the Kuskanook for next Thursday, the 20th inst. Preparations for dancing are being made at the Outlet hotel, Procter. Not Fast Enough.

When the All-Canadian lacrosse team was organized in the East for a trip to Australia, Alex. Turnbull, of New Westminister, applied for a place. He was told that there was no player in the West fast enough to qualify. The All-Canadians played New Westminister and were beaten by a score of 9-0. Possibly their ideas of Western speed have been modified.

Automobile on Cariboo Road.

History began anew on the Cariboo road when an automobile was driven from Ashcroft round the bluffs last week. The machine is 35 horsepower and can make 40 miles an hour. This week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, a party of officials of the Guggenheim interests will leave for Bullion. Barring accidents or unusual delays the run to Bullian can be made in a day.

Band Concert.

Several hundred people went out to the new lake park yesterday afternoon by boat and car. The park has been cleared of a lot of brush and is rapidly becoming an attractive place. The band gave an enjoyable concert, which was, however, cut short by a sun shower that lasted nearly half an hour. The concerts are evidently appreciated by the people and will prove a valuable stimulus to patronage of the street cars.
