STILL IMPERFECT

Power Plant Governor Is Inadequate

REPORT OF ELECTRICIAN

City Council and Board of Health Discuss School Architect's Fee and Public Works.

Last night's meeting of the city council did double duty, the council resolving itself at the close into the city board of health.

Dr. Arthur, who attended in his capacity as medical health officer to confer with the board of health, was also available as secretary of the board of school trustees to enlighten the council with particulars as to the account of A. Carrie, architect, for which a warrant has been issued by the board, but which the mayor declines at present to pay.

The power plant came up for discussion but the only information available was that R. H. Zavitz, western manager of the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock company, is at the plant still trying to make the governor work satisfactorily.

The council met at 8 with Mayor Gillette in the chair, others present being Aldermen Hume, Selous, Annable, McMorris, Irving. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The finance committee reported recommending payments of accounts, which were passed and ordered paid.

The board of works reported recommending the repairing of the Baker St. bridge, the filling in of mud holes on Vernon street, filling in of mud holes between the corner of Vernon and Water streets and the city wharf, filling in of mud holes on Baker street from Kootenay to the C. P. R. limits, building of a four foot sidewalk from Cedar street connecting with Lot 182. For lack of funds the board declined to recommend extension of the sewers on Baker and Gore streets.

Chief Deasy recommended a telephone at the C. P. R. roundhouse, and the removal of the telephone in the Observatory street substation, and a string of lights at the corner of Victoria and Josephine streets. Both suggestions were adopted.

A letter from the secretary of the school board was received as follows:

Gentlemen,—Answering a letter of the city clerk under date of the 8th inst., I am instructed by the school board to say that the school board was empowered by you to expend a sum not exceeding $1500 in securing plans and specifications for a new school building. The board instructed Mr. Alex. Carrie to do this work which he has completed, and for the same has rendered his bill, which is enclosed herewith.

The plans as accepted will be serviceable at any future time, but a school board is in the same position as a city council and cannot determine the course of its successors, either more or less, than can a city council.

Yours truly,
E. C. ARTHUR,
Secretary School Board.

Dr. Arthur had also produced Mr. Carrie's plans at the request of the city clerk, and submitted them for inspection by the council.

Several questions of the mayor were answered by Dr. Arthur, who was present, practically covered, however, by his letter.

The mayor thought that either complete details of building plans should be furnished or the full fee of two and a half per cent should not be charged.

Dr. Arthur thought the board would take care that full details would be furnished, but he was certain that the board would not call for tenders until there was money in sight for the building.

Ald. Irving—What if the cost should exceed $45,000?

Dr. Arthur—Then there must be revision of the plan. We cannot spend more than $45,000 out of the $60,000 for the building.

Ald. Selous—It is easy for the school board but hard for the council.

Dr. Arthur—It is the school board that is responsible.

Ald. Selous moved, seconded by Ald. Hume, that the school board be asked to reconsider the account until full details are furnished, and the board is satisfied that the school can be built for the sum mentioned.

Ald. Annable agreed to the request but thought Mr. Carrie understood that details were required and would furnish them.

After further discussion the resolution was adopted.

The city treasurer asked that authority be given the mayor, chairman of the finance committee, and the city treasurer to sign a note for $25,000 to cover the city's overdraft and retire a former note. More than $25,000 is still due for arrears of taxes. The authority was given by resolution.

A report from the city engineer stated that the cost of laying a main from the corner of Pine and High streets to intending customers would be $396, annual revenue $132.

On motion of Ald. Selous the work was ordered.

Mr. Lawrence made a further suggestion to secure immediate revenue, which was left over for further consideration.

R. Brown, electrician, reported that R. H. Zavitz had been trying for a week to make the present governor work, so far without success. He had also inspected the adjustments of the gates. The draught tube had not been located. He said that the lights could not be further improved until a proper governor is in satisfactory operation. Mr. Zavitz so far had only been able to report progress.

The mayor undertook to have the pavilion building hauled up to the park.

Dr. Arthur, city medical health officer, then addressed the council as the board of health, on the subject of recommendations of the provincial board of health, some of which have not yet the force of law. They relate generally to regulation of Orientals, their dwellings, their attendance in illness and their burial. He told of a Chinese laundry in which men, either employees or lodgers, slept in the drying room. If such men had any contagious disease it might be very dangerous to the owners of the clothes drying in such rooms. He was prepared to condemn several such places and wanted assurance that his orders would be enforced.

Ald. Selous suggested that in every case the health officer should consult the city solicitor, and when he finds his authority sufficient, to ask for the services of the police force.

Dr. Arthur also reported a case of diptheria removed to the city pest house from a house on Water street.

The case of "Sunny Boy," a veteran tenant of the city police cells, was then discussed.

The board of health and council then adjourned to Dec. 2nd, after passing the monthly salaries.

MURDER IS SUSPECTED

Recent Arrival From Dakota Missing From Calgary—Companion Arrested at Claresholm.

Claresholm, Nov. 19.—Acting on instructions from Calgary the police here have arrested a man named Leonard Shan, who was a passenger on the southbound night train on Friday from Calgary to MacLeod. It seems that Shan came from Hague, N. D., and had been a short time in Calgary. While there he was for a time in the company of Jacob Snyder, who had come from Dakota to settle in the Calgary district, and who has mysteriously disappeared. He was last seen in the company of Shan, with whom he left the hotel in which he was stopping. Shan was with him for three hours and returned without him. Snyder has not been seen since. It is known that Snyder was well supplied with money. Shan went and inquired at the police station at Calgary as to the missing man, then on Friday night left on the southbound train.

The police had suspicions of the man and communicated with Claresholm with the result that he was arrested. Shan made strenuous objections. It is rumored that on his person was found $78 and some drafts, in favor of a man named Snyder, $700 and $400 respectively. Shan was brought before the Justice at Claresholm yesterday on a charge of theft and was remanded to Calgary. In the meantime no trace of the missing man ca be found and the affair seems as mysterious as possible. The man will be taken to Calgary forthwith.

Ney York, Nov. 19.—A cable from London says: "Before leaving Windsor Castle yesterday for High Cliffe Castle, Emperor William left no less a sum that $100,000 to be divided among the servants of the Castle, the game keepers and stable attendants." On his previous visit to Windsor Castle, in 1891, the imperial tip was only $2,500.

BLAMES THE LAW

Wm. Whyte Explains Car Shortage

ABUSES OF GRAIN ACT

C. P. R. Vice-President Says Crop Is Held Back by Selfishness of Individual Shippers.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—The practical working under present conditions of the clauses of the Manitoba Grain Act, regulating the distribution of cars was frankly discussed yesterday by William Whyte, second vice-president of the C. P. R. Mr. Whyte claimed that abuses of the act were seriously hampering the railway in its efforts to move the crop expeditiously and were, in reality, defeating the main purpose of the law.

"The great weakness of the Manitoba Grain Act," said Mr. Whyte, "is that its framers had evidently been so strongly seized with the idea of protecting other grain growers against railway companies and elevator operators, that they evidently overlooked the rights of the latter to be protected against abuses of privileges by the grain growers. In any event, it is certain that no adequate provision was made which would give railway companies such protection, and as the years go by the original spirit of the act, which was intended to be simply a check on the elevator operators, is being more and more abuse by those it was designed to protect. From year to year the farmer has discovered new weak spots in its provisions of which he may take advantage with impunity to his own individual advantage, no doubt, but with equal certainty to the disadvantage of the farming community as a whole.

"This season these abuses have culminated in such a serious delay to railway equipment that its evil effects are apparent to all, so much so that one or two prominent citizens and farmers have complained in requesting the warehouse commissioner, if possible, to suspend the Grain Act temporarily to allow elevators to get a larger proportion of the cars, so that they may be enabled to get their grain out more promptly.

"When it is pointed out that during the season of 1905 the Canadian Pacific was able to get 82 per cent of the cars available at stations loaded per day, for the season of 1906 this had dropped to 63 per cent., and that this season we will average under fifty per cent. of available cars loaded per day, the evil effects of the act become apparent. In other words it is apparent from the above figures that it is taking this season 160 cars to get the same result that 100 accomplished two years ago. This downward tendency can be ascribed to no other cause than to the working of the act.

"Innumerable examples of this gross abuse of the act, or more properly speaking of the working of the act, for it provides no restrictions that will prevent these abuses, might be given; two or three examples will serve to illustrate, however. At one town in Saskatchewan something over 800 applications have been made for cars. It was known by all that a large percentage of the names were fictitious, in fact it was common talk that the order book contained the names of most of the school children in the district. The agent, in conformity with the Grain Act, was compelled to wade through this sea of names getting a proportion of the cars loaded, but in many cases placing the cars uselessly, only to cancel the order where cars had been held quite a length of time. Another case, needless to say, cost the railway company money. The situation finally became so acute that the warehouse commissioner was asked to investigate the matter by one or two bona fide applicants. He did so and many of the names which had been used to pad the order book were cancelled. No prosecutions followed, however, as the practice was so widespread it would have involved the whole community. In fact it seemed to be the feeling that if the case had come before a jury at that point there would not be found enough men themselves innocent of the practice to try the case. At another point, within the last few days, a car was allotted and placed at the loaded platform. The applicant on being advised in the usual way that the car had been placed for him, threw one sack of grain into the car, thus complying with the clause of the act which provides that the applicant must declare his intention and ability to load his car, and must commence to load within twenty-four hours, the placing of a sack of grain in the car, the applicant claimed, was 'commencing to load.' The car was not completed until six days later. The above is a common practice and many instances could be cited.

"The grain producing area west of Winnipeg is covered by four superintendents' districts. A check made within the last few days, of one of these districts only, showed that in one day's report a total of twenty-two cars had been delayed in loading from two to six days. When it is considered that the same thing is happening daily in each of the other four districts, the delay to the railway companies' rolling stock from this source must be appreciated.

"Again, when the farmer has cut his crop," continued Mr. Whyte, "he figures that he will probably start to thresh at a certain date, and he immediately goes to the railway station and puts down his name for a car for this date. He may not thresh for weeks. In the meantime, however, he will probably go to the railway station, find that the car has been allotted, and after being there for the required length of time his application is cancelled. He immediately puts down his name for another. This performance may be legally repeated an indefinite number of times and the railway company has absolutely no redress."

Government of Saskatchewan Will Not Take Advantage of Law to Seat Turgeon.

Regina, Nov. 19.—Hon. A. J. Calder, minister of education, states that while under the Haultain election law Attorney-General Turgeon would be entitled to take his seat in the legislature as member for Prince Albert city, the government would not take advantage of the law but would postpone the calling of the house until such time as the appeals in the Prince Albert election case have been disposed of by a supreme court judge.

BELIEVES IN FUTURE.

The Phoenix Pioneer is Not Despondent Over the Outlook.

The Phoenix Pioneer in the course of a lengthy review of the situation in the Boundary says:

"While, of course, there are doubting Thomases still resident in the Boundary, and some who think the mines will remain closed for many months, those who have most at stake and are perhaps best conversant with the potentialities of the Boundary and its present development, are confident that the situation will right itself in due time. How long that will require cannot, of course, be guessed at now. It depends almost entirely on the copper market, not only on the price but also on how soon the copper surplus will be absorbed. At the present rate it does not appear as though the time would be extended to any great length. It has cost the mining companies thousands of dollars just to cease operations, and will cost much to remain idle any length of time. It is fair to assume, therefore, that, when conditions are propitious, a resumption will take place."

King's Physician Orders Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman To Take Change and Rest.

London, Nov. 19.—Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to King Edward's household, made a length examination of the premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman at Downing street today, and an official announcement was subsequently issued to the effect that the patient's condition was satisfactory, but that in view of the approaching session of parliament, it is necessary that he should have some weeks' complete change and rest. The premier, therefore, is going abroad almost immediately. He has not been the same man since his wife died last year, and his recent acute attack of heart trouble at Bristol was a signal that his political activities have overtaxed his physical strength.

It would be no surprise to the friends of the premier, who is 71 years old, if much of his parliamentary work during the coming session is delegated to his colleagues in the cabinet and the rumors of his possible retirement next year from the leadership of the Liberal party are revived, as in view of his onslaught on the House of Lords it is not thought likely that he will care to accept a peerage.

BOMB THROWN IN NEW YORK.

Chinese Laundry and Tenement House Wrecked by Dynamite.

New York, Nov. 19.—A dynamite bomb which had been thrown from a passing elevated train, threw consternation into the 16 families who occupied tenements on the several floors above Wing Hing's laundry at 362 Third avenue early today. The lower part of the building was badly damaged by the explosion but fortunately none of the occupants of the house were injured. Many of them were tumbled out of their beds and nearly a hundred freightened men, women and children rushed into the streets from the rocking building. Many windows in the neighborhood were shattered and several pedestrians were bowled over in the street by the concussion. The thrower of the bomb has not been found. The police are inclined to think that the bomb was hurled by an enemy of the Chinese laundryman, whose shop front was badly damaged by the explosion. Wing Hing, however, declares he has no enemies and that no one had any reason to seek in injure him. He suggested that possibly the missile was intended for a Greek restaurant which adjoins his place of business.

The manager then broke up the contract.

HOW TO GROW RICH.

Under the alluring caption, "Canada is Growing Richer," our contemporary in this morning's issue, has a statement on the trade of Canada, which has increased by $28,000,000. But the increase is made up not of a sum of imports and exports but of a balance of imports over exports. Imports since March 31st show an increase of $31,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1906, while exports show a decrease of about $2,500,000. The despatch is presumably from Ottawa, but the credit for the heading, "Canada is Growing Richer," belongs to our contemporary alone.

It is an interesting problem in commercial arithmetic: "How to spend more than one earns and still grow richer." So far as we know no individual has yet succeeded in solving it.

It is undoubtedly true that Canadians are attaining to an ever fuller knowledge of the potential wealth of their country, and that knowledge is being spread to other lands, with results that are fairly certain to lead to more rapid development of our resources than in the past. In that sense the realization of Canada's wealth is coming nearer, and the country might be said, figuratively, to be richer therefore than it was a year ago. In the same sense a man who owns a gold mine might be said to grow richer as he comes nearer to the point of profitable shipments, although he may be in debt for the means of development for many months before he sells any ore.

But that is not the argument suggested by our contemporary's comfortable scare head, "Canada is Growing Richer." The only foundation for the claim is in the fact that the total value of imports and exports in greater. Apparently it is immaterial whether a man earns or spends. So long as his sales and purchases together show an increase he is growing richer. Canada's imports for the seven months in question exceed the exports by over $60,000,000. There are only two ways by which that is possible. Either we have expended $60,000,000 from a former surplus, or we have mortgaged future earnings to the extent. In neither can we be said to be growing richer.

Of course if the excess of imports represent means of future development and production, they may be considered remunerative expenditure, and, only figuratively, may be said to bring the realization of our wealth nearer.

To take the example of an individual: One year he arns $1,500 and spends $2,000, the sum of his earnings and expenditure is $3,500; the next year he earns only $1,400, but he spends $2,500, the total is $3,900 Therefore, according to our contemporary's logic, he is growing richer. His "volume of trade" has increased by $400. The argument is no more absurd in the case of an individual than of a nation: the absurdity is only more obvious.

What has enabled Canadians to import $60,000,000 worth of goods more than they have exported? How is the excess paid for as a matter of fact? The explanation can easily be seen in the increasing proportion of Canadian assets owned abroad, by English and foreign investors.

Of course that proportion is not formidable when we compare it with the ultimate value of our yet untouched resources. There is no ground for alarm. But the sooner Canadians recognize that they are spending more than they earn, and that they are paying for it by alienating their assets, the better.

Of course it would be delightful if one could grow richer by the easy and pleasant process of spending more. If our contemporary has really discovered such a process he will earn the gratitude of many men in Nelson by expounding it.

CANADIAN DESPATCHES.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—Jno. Collins, 50 years old, watchman for the Montreal Light, Heat and Power company, was asphyxiated by coal gas in his shanty on Saturday night. A companion named Alfred Mullens, 30 years old, was partially asyphyxiated. According to Mullins' story he was passing along Fountain avenue late Saturday night when he noticed the old watchman seated in the shanty near a small plumbers' stove, and decided to sit down and talk to him. The two men chatted together beside the stove for more than an hour and then both began to doze. It is supposed that the wind blowing through the open door of the shanty kept smoke and coal gas from the stove from escaping, causing it to choke both sleeping men. Both were discovered by a policeman at four o'clock Sunday morning, the latter's attention being drawn to the shanty by a heavy smell of coal gas.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—In addition to 15,000 letters there were 150 pieces of registered mail matter in the mail car destroyed in Mode Lake in the wreck of the Soo train last Thursday night.

Windsor, Nov. 19.—After an illness of two weeks Mr. Catherine K. Jepp, who is said to be the wealthiest woman in Windsor, is dead at her home.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Frederick G. Sheeplay, butcher, will go before a jury on the charge of neglecting to provide necessaries of life for his wife adn family. Mrs. Sheeplay returned from a six months visit to her son-in-law at Winnipeg to find her husband living with another woman. She has eleven children living and all under the age of fourteen.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—H. D. Hunter, private secretary of the minister of public works since he was appointed to that position by the late James Sutherland, is to be appointed deputy minister of public works.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—Forty city detectives and half a dozen supposed bank robbers had a battle just back of the village of Saint Lambert, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, opposite Montreal yesterday afternoon. A dozen or more shots were exchanged and resulted in the capture of two of the band. Over four of the gang escaped into the woods in the darkness. The gang is believed to be the burglars who robbed the Bank of St. John's at Napierville, Que., a few days ago. John Brown, 35 years of age, of Berlin, Ont., and Thos. Hudson, 29 years old, were the names of the captured men.

The object is a worthy one, and everyone is interested in checking the ravages of tuberculosis. The men who are at the head of the antituberculosis movement need all the funds they can obtain, for the undertaking is a costly one.

The financial stringency in the United States is affording many opportunitiet for Canadians to make money. Last Saturday a financier from Spokane offered to buy anything from $10,000 to $30,000 in money orders from the Nelson office of Dominion Express Company on condition they would be redeemable in cash in Spokane. The local agent had not that amount available but is taking up the matter with the head office.

A vigorous campaign has been begun by the city engineer and the chief of the fire brigade to compel compliance with the provisions of the city fire by-low, infractions of which are said to be numerous and in some cases persistent Only one case has yet reached the police court, and the defendant has taken advantage of a week's adjournment to comply with the requirements to some extent. Other cases will follow unless the order is obeyed.

One of the stage stories that will ever remain strong and true to theatregoers is "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a production of which, under the able management of Mr. Leon Wasburn, will be given in the Opera House, on Thursday evening, when everyone who has the opportunity of witnessing this perennial favorite will acclaim it as one of the best presented by any company. The advance agent says that time, effort and expense have not been spared in its staging or selection of cast and the minute details have been carefully considered. There is no story of book or stage that so delights the juvenile mind and it is to be hoped that every boy and girl may have their wish to see it, gratified.
