WORK DEFERRED

Problems for Next Year's Council

DEBENTURES NOT SOLD

Council Transacts Routine Business and Discusses Schools, Streets, Light and Other Matters.

The work actually done by the city council at last night's meeting was largely routine. The chief interest attached to the consideration of public works that must be left to next year.

The council met shortly after 8 with Mayor Gillett in the chair and Aldermen Hume, Selous and Irving present. Aldermen Annable and Rose came in later. The minutes of the last regular meeting and two adjourned meetings were read and adopted.

The finance committee reported recommending streets and waterworks payrolls, which were passed.

Fire Chief Deasy reported for October, mentioning fines for infraction of the fire by-law, minor changes in the personnel of the brigade, and recommending aid to the firemen's sickness and death benefit fund.

The recommendation was referred back to the fire, water and light committee. The rest of the report was filed.

A letter from G. B. Oulton asked that he be given facilities for sewer connection to his residence on East Baker street. The request was referred to the board of works.

The owners of property on Gore and Houston streets east of Stanley, petitioned for the extension of the sewer through the alley between the streets from Stanley to Josephine streets. It was remarked that the petitioners probably meant Innis street instead of Houston. The petition was referred to the board of works.

Ald. Rose presented a petition for the extension of the water service one block up Pine street from High street in the Hume addition. The petition was referred to the chairman of the fire, water and light committee and the city engineer with power to act.

The mayor reported that he had received a voucher from the board of school trustees to A. Carrie for $1125 for the plans and specifications for a new public school. He had reserved it for the consideration of the council.

To Ald. Irving the mayor said that he did not think an architect was entitled to fees until a contract was let.

The resolution authorizing the board of trustees to spend $1500 for procuring plans and specifications was read at the request of Ald. Selous.

Ald. Irving, who moved the resolution reminded the council that the $1500 had been intended as an advance.

Ald. Selous moved that the city clerk write asking the school board for full particulars as to the services rendered and what guarantee, if any, the board had that the plans would be serviceable.

Ald. Hume seconded.

Ald. Annable moved in amendment that the voucher be paid. Speaking to his motion he said that nothing could be gained by delay. The board had authorized the architect, having themselves been authorized by the council. He added that he was ashamed of Nelson's school accommodation and thought it the duty of the council and the citizens to assist and support the board.

Ald. Rose seconded the amendment.

Ald. Irving supported the original motion. He was in favor of the school being built and of Mr. Carrie's being paid, but he wanted information.

The mayor stated that he had done his best and was still doing his best to sell the debentures, but found it impossible in the present state of the money market without lowering the figure of acceptance or raising the rate of interest.

Ald. Annable had no objection to a request for information but saw nothing to be gained by delaying payment.

Ald. Selous agreed that the account must be paid but thought they were entitled to information.

The city clerk pointed out that the amendment was hardly in order.

Ald. Selous offered to make any change in the original motion that would put the amendment in order.

The original motion was carried.

Ald. Hume asked about the survey of the city's right of way to the power plant. He thought it should be completed before the present council retires.

The city clerk said A. L. McCulloch had told him that he had practically finished the survey. He was instructed to have plans completed and registered.

The mayor reported that the new electrical engineer would arrive Tuesday night, and also that Mr. Zavitz would arrive and endeavor to remove the difficulties with the light and power.

F. A. Smith, acting superintendent, reported that things were getting worse and the fault was at the plant. The street car had lost three trips during the day owing to the failure of power. He also said that a steady light could never be secured without a governor. The loss of the draught tube had added to the difficulty.

Ald. Hume suggested that a frontage tax be authorized for the construction of permanent sidewalks.

The mayor said that an even more urgent matter was a retaining wall under the Baker street bridge.

The city engineer reported no further negotiations regarding the city wharf.

Ald. Annable—The work we might lay out for next year's council would fill a nice book.

After further informal discussion the council adjourned to Nov. 18th.

German Awarded Prize.

New York, Nov. 5.—Oscar Erbloeh, of Germany, last night received the international cup which marks him as winner of the balloon race which started from St. Louis, October 21st. The presentation took place at the rooms of the Aero club of America. At the same time it was announced that a special prize had been prepared for Leblanc of France, who was second in the race and who broke the record for the time in the air. The official record for the race gave Erbloeh, in the Pommern 87,174 miles, and Leblanc, in the Isle de France, 86,659 miles.

Bill Miner Again.

Battleford, Nov. 5.—Mounted policemen of Battleford, in the province of Alberta, have arrested a supposed desperado who they believe is Bill Miner, the train robber, who escaped from Westminster penitentiary two months ago. Sergeant Wilson of the mounted police, who arrested the aged desperado last year, after the Kamloops holdup on the Canadian Pacific, has been sent for to make identification certain.

OPPOSED TO EXCLUSION

Toronto Preacher's Views on Problems Created in West by Influx of Asiatics.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Addressing the ministerial association on the question of Asiatics in America yesterday, Rev. E. B. Crummy, pastor of Bathurst Methodist Church, said the method being adopted at present in western Canada to excite animosity against Asiatics and to secure their exclusion did not commend themselves to a serious student of affairs. Crummy, however, pointed out at the same time that there is a very grave problem behind these defective methods.

"This problem," he said, "is possibly no less than a struggle between two civilizations to prove which is of more value and between two races to secure the world's industrial supremacy. We forced the gate of the east for our own purposes and we owe them in justice admission at ours. Regulation, however, is perfectly just and need not be offensive, as is also civic regulation for the prevention of Chinatowns in our cities, but every vestige of offensive legislation should be removed from our statute books."

TRAVELLING FAST.

Notoriety Seeking Preacher Already Socialist and Anti-Christian.

London, Nov. 5.—The Rev. Reginald John Campbell, the famous preacher of the City Temple, occupied a Socialistic platform for the first time Friday night when, in an address to the Fabian Society on "The Faith of Old," he said that the Old Testament prophets were the Bernard Shaws and the Keir Hardies of their time. He also announced his belief in Christ and John the Baptist as social reformers.

John the Baptist today, he said, would be called a revolutionist, and would make socialistic speches in Hyde Park. Christianity, he declared, antedated Christ, who never said anything or never advanced a new idea. Not even H. G. Wells, the novelist, had been more grossly misquoted than Christ.

It was one of the ironies of life that religion had taken its present form, which was absolutely individualistic, since a man ground down his fellowman all the week and then gave large sums to the church as paying up a tontine insurance policy for his future benefit. Dr. Campbell proclaimed himself a Socialist, but said that he did not believe that the present generation would live to see the fulfilment of the Socialistic idea.

A discussion followed in which George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, and other leading Socialists who were present took part, a reticence which was entirely different from the usual custom.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA CURED.

Discovery Announced in Paris by Dr. Denslow of New York.

Paris, Nov. 5.—There was a development in the medico-surgical world of Paris on Saturday which may revolutionize one branch of the treatment of human victims of disease.

Dr. Legrand Denslow, of New York, after a preliminary article which was published in the Progres Medical in September, wrote in the current issue of the same periodical of last Saturday's date a second article which gave a new method of treatment for locomotor ataxia. Dr. Denslow reported ten cases where the disease had been cured and there have ben no relapses even after the treatment has been stopped for two or three years.

Dr. Denslow finds that there is always an irritation of some part of the body other than the spinal chord, and that when this irritation is removed the changes in the spinal chord are checked and the disease is arrested.

This morning Dr. Denslow by invitation demonstrated his method in Dr. Brissaud's ward in the Hotel Dieu. Dr. Denslow will return to New York next week.

CAMPAIGN UNINTERESTING.

Washington Unmoved by Elections in States Today.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Official Washington to all appearances was not greatly interested in the State elections today. Even the small amount of interest usually manifested in the off-year contests appeared to be lacking. The national capital, in common with the rest of the country has been so absorbed in the financial situation of the past week or two that politics has been almost lost sight of for the time being. It is not believed that the panicky symtoms will affect the election result to any extent whatever, nor is it thought that the balloting today will afford any reliable indication as to which way the wind may blow in the national election next year.

In other words, the contests that end at the polls today have been fought out on purely State issues. Of the six States that elect Governors only half are in any doubt as to the result. Massachusetts is about as certain to reelect its Republican executive as Mississippi is to choose its Democratic candidate, and the latter has no opposition. Rhode Island may go either way, though the chances seem to favor the Democrats in the Governorship, but in any event the result would not be regarded as of any political significance beyond the borders of the State itself. New Jersey is living up to her reputation of late and the Republicans predict success by a substantial majority. They are also putting forth confident claims as to Kentucky and Maryland. They have put up an unusually strong fight in those two States, but to the unprejudiced onlooker it appears that both States will remain in the Democratic column for the present at least. The fusion of fight of the Republicans and the Hearst followers against Tammany in New York City is really attracting more attention here than any of the State elections.

Italian State Trial.

Rome, Nov. 5.—Much interest is taken throughout Italy in the trial of Signor Luco Nasi, formerly Minister of Public Instruction, which begins here today. Signor Nasi is accused of the misappropriation of public funds while in office and he will be tried by the senate sitting as a high court of justice. The unusual procedure adds to the importance of the occasion and also the curious interest of the people. The government has taken every precaution to preserve order for it is certain that there will be serious demonstrations in favor of the accused man. With Signor Nasi, Signor Lombardi, formerly Nasi's secretary, is under indictment. Though he is suffering from pneumonia he will appear before the high court and he declares he will fight with his last breath to prove his innocence and that of his friend and one time master.

Freight for Christmas.

New York, Nov. 5.—Several of the steamships that have arrived here from Europe during the past few days have been veritable Santa Claus ships. Their great holds have been filled with thousands of cases of toys sent over by the German and French manufacturers for the Christmas trade in America. Included in the cargoes have ben whole crates of mechanical toys, automobiles, engines, swings, musical tops and trumpets, to say nothing of dolls sufficient in number, variety and attractiveness to satisfy the desires of thousands of little girls, and whole regiments of lead soldiers for the little boys. A large part of these toys are for the western trade. A month hence they will cover the counters of the great stores throughout the Middle West and Canada.

Taft's Plans Changed.

Manila, Nov. 5.—Secretary of War Taft, it is reported, will abandon his European tour and return directly to the Pacific coast. He will leave Manila on Nov. 9 on the American flagship Rainbow for Yokohama, where he will take passage by the steamer for San Francisco. This report has been verified though owing to the absence of Mr. Taft who is out of town visiting the new waterwords, he cannot be interviewed upon the political situation and the conditions prevailing at Vladivostock, which it is reported are the cause of his return to America.

Gus Thomas returned to Nelson this morning to settle up some unfinished business. In eight or nine days he will return to Tacoma to reside there permanently.

BANKS' DEFENCE

Managers Deny Refusal of Money

HARVEST NOT TIED UP

Financial Guardians Explain That Advances Were Withheld Only From Speculators.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 5.—Emphatically the heads of the largest banks in Toronto deny reports to the effect that the crops cannot be moved because the banks are unable to advance the usual and necessary funds to grain dealers.

D. R. Wilkie, president of the Imperial Bank says there is no farmer in the west who wanted to market his crop who cannot get cash for it.

C. Bogert, general manager of the Dominion, Bank says the bank is doing every thing possible to expedite the marketing of the western grain crop.

W. D. Matthews, the well known grain dealer says he thinks the banks have been giving in a very liberal spirit and it will be found that the only restrictions the banks have been placing upon the grain business this year is in regard to speculation.

E. W. Baid, of Crane and Baid, grain dealers, also stated that he knew of no cases where the banks had refused legitimate assistance.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Machinery Here.

erected by the Porto Rico Lumber Co. has arrived, and work on the foundation of the new mill will proceed at once.

Hotel Transfer.

George Harrison has sold the Lakeview Hotel, which he purchased a couple of years ago from Gus Thomas, to J. Campbell, who takes over possession at once.

Wanted by the Police.

A well known character around town has been aking himself obnoxious, and the police are now on his track. He has been missing for some ten days, but his belongings are still at his hotel, and he will probably be gathered in some of these days.

Mayoralty Candidate.

There has been a persistent rumor on the streets the past day or two that Dr. Hall would offer himself as a candidate for mayor at the forthcoming municipal election. Dr. Hall's intimate friends state there is no foundation for the rumor, but others who seem to know something about it are equally as persistent in claiming that the doctor will run for mayor.

Sporting Offer.

In informal conversation last night after the regular proceedings of the council wer over. F. A Smith offered if the city would take over the power plant, even as it is, without governor or draught tube he would undertake to run it and give a light that would not fluctuate by more than two per cent. Better than that he said was impossible without a proper governor.

New Sidewalk.

The new sidewalk constructed by the Provincial Government from Cedar street two blocks in the direction of Mountain station is proving a great convenience to residents at that point. If the city would now build from Latimer to connect with the new sidewalk on Cedar street towards Hoover they would place the residents there under a debt of gratitude.

Fire at Moyie.

Moyie had a fire Friday morning, an old log building getting completely destroyed. The building was put up by McMahon Bros. ten years ago last summer. It was then occupied as a hotel and store, and was the largest building in town. Of late years it had been used as a lodging and rooming house. The building cost probably between $1200 and $1500.

Home Again.

R. W. Hannington and Mrs. Hannington returned last evening from a prolonged visit to their old home in New Brunswick. While away Mr. and Mrs. Hannington visited St. John, Dorchester, Boston, Chicago and St. Paul. They enjoyed their visit very much, but naturally are glad to return to Nelson. Mr. Hannington notes that there is a great deal of interest taken in British Columbia in the east, and his lengthened residence in this province placed him in a position to give a great deal of information concerning the resources of the province in general and the Kootenays in particular. Another thing that interested him a great deal was the number of people who are talking about Mr. McBride as a political leader. Wherever he went, he met people who wanted to know all about Mr. McBride, and it is safe to say the reputation of the British Columbia statesman did not suffer at the hands of R. W. Hannington. Like others, he believes that if Mr. McBride made a tour of the east he would receive a welcome such as has not been accorded a public man in Canada in recent years.

They All Want Fruit Lands.

A gentleman who has recently returned from the east states that wherever he went he found people who were anxious to learn all they could concerning the fruit growing prospects of British Columbia. It may interest dealers in fruit lands to learn that with the opening of spring there will be hundreds of prospective fruit growers here from the east, all ready to buy fruit lands.

Ten Years in Business.

J. O. Patenaude will have completed his tenth year in business in Nelson tomorrow. Mr. Patenaude has been wonderfully successful in business, and his extensive salesrooms today compared with what they were ten years ago, is an evidence of what genuine merit backed up by enterprise will accomplish in a few years in the Kootenays. No jeweller in British Columbia carries a higher class of goods than may be found in the store of J. O. Patenaude.

Undesirable Characters.

There are quite a number of undesirable characters loitering about Nelson at the present time. They do not appear to have any visible means of support, and the only reason advanced for their presence here is that the reports recently appearing in the Daily News led them to believe that conditions in Nelson were such as rendered this a desirable place of residence for men of their class. Last night one of these vagabonds was observed loitering around a house in the outskirts of the city, and he only left after having been informed that his presence in the neighborhood was not desired.

Death of a Pioneer.

The death of William H. Ladner, a British Columbia pioneer, one of the most widely known and respected citizens of the lower mainland, occurred at his home in Ladner, Delta municipality, [illegible] exhibited marvelous vigor and was always able to get about and oversee his business until a few days ago, when he was taken to bed on account of stomach trouble, which had been gradually growing on him. An operation was performed by the family physician, but the extreme age of the patient made him susceptible to the weakening influence of the surgical ordeal, and he passed away Friday morning, surrounded by several members of his family.

A FAITHFUL OFFICIAL.

Superintendent Smith Will Retire To-Night.

R. B. Brown, the electrician recently engaged by the city, is expected to arrive from Calgary this evening, and will take charge at once. Mr. Brown is regarded a capable man, and if he is given full control of the work he is engaged to perform he will no doubt prove a capable and efficient city servant. It will be the duty of the council to aid Mr. Brown in every way so that he may better render the service required of him. If he is hampered in any way by any section of the city, he will not be able to do credit to himself, nor perform his work efficiently.

Immediately on the arrival of Mr. Brown, the present city electrician, F. A. Smith, will sever his connection with the civic service. For the past four or five weks he has continued in control of the lighting and power service, in order to give the council board time to secure a man in his place.

Mr. Smith came here last spring when the street car service was completely disorganized. The two cars were out of business and there was not an armature in the car barn. The cars had not been running for months and it was the general opinion that regular service would not be resumed for months to come. He at once went to work and within a couple of weeks he had the big car running, and shortly afterwards the smaller car was ready for service, and since that time the cars have not missed the regular trips more than a dozen times.

When it is considered that for three or four years previously it was the exception rather than the rule for the cars to pass one day without missing more than one trip, it will be admitted that the retiring superintendent has accomplished wonders. Then no one was sure that the car would be running; under Superintendent Smith's control the patrons of the line felt certain that the car would pass a certain point on time. As a result the car service became popular with the patrons. When a hitch occurred in the service Mr. Smith was the first man on the spot, and the break was repaired at once without any stoppage of the cars. Before that it was considered the proper thing to lay off the men for a few days until the matter could be investigated. Then the break was fixed, and the cars would run for a day or perhaps two days. Certainly no longer. If it happened to snow the cars stopped at once, much to the disgust of those who were compelled to walk home. As a rule the cars stopped for two or three months in February and March—for repairs. Those were the two months in the year when the cars would have been most in demand, but that did not matter to the authorities.

All these things considered, it is no wonder many citizens of Nelson feel themselves under a debt of gratitude to Superintendent Smith. He may have indulged them with a good service to the extent that they may be too exacting in future, but he will have his reward in carrying away with him the good will of every man, woman and child who by reason of the location of their residence were called upon to use the street car service regularly.

GOLD STILL POURS IN.

Foreign Money Markets Depleted to Relieve America.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Currency of all denominations in varying stages of crispness poured into the offices of several brokerage houses in Wall street from all the nooks and crannies of New York. Hearing that 2¼ and 2½ per cent. premium was being paid for ready money, men and women, brought their savings to the financial district and exchanged them for certified checks with the premium increase which they deposited forthwith in the banks. In one of the brokerage offices a lad appeared with $200, his savings from the sale of his papers and periodicals for three years. This, too, he exchanged for a certified check, including the premium.

Buneos Ayres, Nov. 5.—Nearly five millions of pesos in gold which several banks here have withdrawn from their conversion fund has been shipped to New York.

Portland, Ore., Nov.—Balfour Guthrie and Co., grain exporters, have engaged in London $500,000 in gold for shipment to Portland. One half of this import was shipped Saturday, the remainder is to start Wednesday. It is said that other shipments will be made from London to Portland.

RE-ELECTION OF GOMPERS

President of American Federation of Labor Likely To Be Returned

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—At the general headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in this city the officials are busy preparing for the annual convention to be held at Norfolk next week. Apparently no one at headquarters is worrying much over the story sent out from New York last week to the effect that a fight is to be made at the Norfolk convention to knock out the re-election of President Gompers and the present members of the executive council.

That there is some disaffection in the ranks of the labor organizations affiliated with the federation is not denied. But it is believed to be confined almost wholly to the socialistic element which has always been more or less opposed to President Gompers and his policies and which some thirteen years ago succeeded in affecting his removal from the presidency for a year. The present revival of the movement is said to be due largely to the action of President Gompers and the executive council in suspending the United Brewery Workers of America for ignoring an order to surrender jurisdiction over the engineers, firemen, coopers and drivers in the United Brewery Workers. Several other labor organizations, especially the unions with German members, have declared their sympathy for the Brewery Workers and have formed a league with the avowed intention of getting President Gompers' scalp if possible.

But in the opinion of practically all those well informed as to the situation President Gompers is too strongly intrenched in his position to be ousted by the disgrunted element. With the exception of one year he has filled the office of president of the American Federation of Labor for twenty years and on the whole the vast army of workers affiliated with the organization appears to be well satisfied with the way in which he has conducted its affairs.

PRESERVING TREASURES.

Church and State in Italy Take Step To Guard Objects of Art.

Rome, Nov. 5.—The Fine Arts Department issued a circular recently regarding the preservation of ancient monuments and objects of art now in the churches and hence kept by the clergy. The vatican evidently considers the circular a threat and Mgr. Benigini, Under-Secretary for Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, has written a pamphlet containing practical instructions to the clergy for the presevation of ecclesiastical documents and monuments.

This is more complete and more practical than any issued by the Fine Arts Department. It is therefore probable that the artistic and archaeological treasures of the Church will not only be better catalogued and preserved in the future than those of the State, but better illustrated.

Every diocese must have a special commission to carry out the instructions. Special lectures will be given at the Seminary and members of the clergy will be requested to examine, study and illustrate the different monuments and artistic relics in their diocese. The Vatican library will be entrusted with the work of repairing and interpreting old manuscripts and books.

THE RULING PASSION

Quarrel About a Woman Between Two Men of Advanced Years.

London, Nov. 4.—A strange assault case, arising out of jealousy, was heard by Justice Grantham at Cambridge assizes. The accused was John Tolliday, an agricultural laborer, who has reached the mature age of 74, and the prosecutor was Thomas Wakefield, who is sixteen years his senior. The parties live in the village of Impington, and, according to the evidence, quarreled over a female neighbor named Smith. The latter is 46 years old.

When Smith's father was alive Wakefield was a welcome guest at the Smith's fireside. The two old men were about the same age, and they loved to talk over the "good old times." But after Mr. Smith's death his daughter, who had always been friendly with Tolliday, asked Wakefield to discontinue his visits. But he refused to do so, and, it is said, when Miss Smith began to lock her cottage door the old man started to call Tolliday nick-names. At last, according to the evidence, the latter snatched his stick away, and beat him so severely with it that he broke the elder man's arm and inflicted a number of wounds.

Wakefield, a sharp-eyed, alert, little old man, told the story of the assault with wonderful clearness. The accused, he said, "splashed away at him as if he was knocking a bit of wood about."

Tolliday was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Griffin Retrenches.

Edmonton, Nov. 5.—Yesterday 125 men were laid off from work on the Griffin Packing house outside the city. The step was taken by the contractors of the May Sharpe construction company as a result of a wire from the Griffin Packing company of Winnipeg, on Saturday night. The financial stringency and tightness of the market is given as the cause for the cessation of work.

PROBLEMS OF NEXT YEAR.

Ald. Annable aptly remarked at last night's council meeting that if all the work that might be done by the council for 1908 were laid out now it would fill a nice book.

While the suggestion that one board of aldermen should not attempt to dictate a policy or programme to its successors is perfectly in order, it is high time that the municipal electors should consider the duties of next year and the men to whom they may most safely be entrusted.

First in urgency comes the question of the city power plant. Enough has already been expended upon it, and the city's credit pledged deeply enough to warrant every ratepayer in expecting and demanding a satisfactory supply of both light and power. At present they are getting neither. The difficulties of the situation will be conceded at once. The present council has probably done all that can be done by way of remonstrance. Harsher measures, if necessary, should be taken at once. The Allis-Chalmers-Bullock Company's contract should have been completed long ago. It is still hoped that this year's council may be able to put an end to the long protracted annoyance.

The provision of adequate school accommodation is hardly a less urgent requirement. It is satisfactory to learn even at this date that the failure to sell the school debentures was not due to a regrettable quarrel between the council and school board. Probably not even the most earnest and united effort on the part of both could have sold the debentures in the state of the money market of this year. But the fact remains, as tersely stated last night, also by Ald. Annable, that the present school buildings are a disgrace to Nelson, as well as a source of danger to the children, and it is the duty of every citizen to do his best to secure the needed new buildings at as early a date as possible.

The need of repairs to, or of renovation of, the Baker Street bridge, to which attention was drawn by the mayor, is another matter which cannot admit of long delay. Possibly money spent on repairs would be wasted. If so permanent works must be made before another year passes. The preservation of the Baker street bridge suggests another need to which Ald. Hume called attention, that of provision for permanent sidewalks to be paid for in part by the property owners. It will probably be found that permanent walks are cheaper in the long run than plank walks whose life is necessarily short.

These are only a few of the many problems to be solved by the men who will sit at next year's council board. They call for the best administrative talent available. Nelson has been ambitious from the beginning and has already provided itself with many things that larger towns still hesitate to undertake. But there is no turning back. The only direction in which Nelson can think of moving is forward. What is required for next year is economy, that is, wise expenditure not mere refusal to spend. One form of saving is the worst kind of extravagance.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The lessons of yesterday's bye-elections in Quebec is only that Quebec constituencies still prefer to be represented by ministerial rather than by opposition candidates, in which of course they are not unique. The election in Belle Chasse has a special lesson perhaps for Mr. Bourassa, that he has greatly overestimated the power and importance of his own personality. Mr. Bourassa first came into prominence in the autumn of 1900 as the uncompromising opponent of the sending of Canadians to South Africa to fight for the Empire. Although he has since become the censor of dishonesty in high places and especially in the administration of his native province, the suspicion has never died and probably never will die, that his guiding motive was notoriety at any price. He will probably return to the Dominion house but his measure is already taken. As a politician he belongs to the same class as Israel Tarte and Joseph Martin.

Joseph Martin is nothing if not sensational. There are several home truths—and of course some nonsense—in his latest ebullition. The continual passing of the Natal Act by the provincial legislature has produced no result and can produce none, and Mr. Martin knows that as well as anyone. But he was undoubtedly right in maintaining that Sir Wilfrid was entitled to assume from the silence of the Solid Seven that British Columbia had no objection to the ratification of the Japanese treaty. Mr. McPherson's chattering during the past summer only emphasizes his silence at the time when he should have spoken.

Mr. Borden's report on the condition of the Conservative party in the Western provinces, as "strong, confident and aggressive" is a terse summary of conditions that can be recognized by all. The one danger ahead of the party is that in the desire to win it may in places fall from the high ideals of its its opponents have made themselves a national reproach.

Our morning contemporary informs us is a headline that "Turgeon, Taschereau, Devlin and Danjou easily defeat Conservative opponents." One of the Conservative opponents presumably is Mr. Henri Bourassa. We cannot charge wilful misrepresentation, but we wonder sometimes if such crass ignorance be not a greater vice than lying.

LETTERS OF THE QUEEN

Three Volumes Published With Approval of King Edward Throw Light on Events to 1861.

Of the volumes of letters of Queen Victoria recently edited by Arthur Benson and published by special permission of the King, the Toronto News says:

"These three splendid volumes begin in 1837 and end in 1861; they cover therefore the rise of the Queen's glory and its eclipse at the death of Prince Albert. We are accustomed to ignore Prince Albert too much. There can be little doubt that from an early period —which we may fix at the date of Lord Melbourne's political and mental eclipse, say, about 1842—the pen of the Queen, in matters of importance was guided by her husband. "We women," she wrote to King Leopold of Belgium, "are not made for governing." After 1861 she was forced to alter this view as she was forced to govern alone.

"The necessity for governoring alone created a curiously competent capacity for rule. This was made clear in the biographies of Gladstone, Granville and Graham, and in the very remarkable life of Queen Victoria by Mr. Sydney Lee, the first edition of which forms an authoritative basis for any attempt to form an opinion of her character. She grew into the use of "must" and "shall" in a truly royal manner. Lord Melbourne" must" do this; Sir Robert Peel is "required" to do that; Sir John Russell "ought" to do this; Lord Palmerston "must" positively on pain of dismissal do that; Mr. Gladstone is, peremptorily, requested to do something else; and in our own recent time Mr. Childers is "commanded" to do something very unwelcome. "Your Majesty "must" go to bed," said Cecil to Elizabeth. "Little man, little man," said the dying Queen, "thy father would not have dared to use such language to an anointed Queen!" There are times when, in the language of Queen Victoria to her Ministers, we recognize the high spirit of her illustrious predecessors. "They shall know I am Queen of England," she said in 1841. "The letters of the Quen resolve themselves into two main divisions; personal and political. We deal now with the personal. To Melbourne, who was her minister when she acceded to the throne, she was affectionately faithful beyond the limits of the constitution. While she was in command of his ministry she accepted his fatherly advice in an almost filial manner. Wellington, with his courage and strict honor, commended Melbourne as "a man of honor." When he fell in 1841 she still consulted him. Peel and Wellington generously permitted this irregularity. Stockmar finally put an end to it as improper. Then Melbourne had a stroke of paralysis, and gradually faded out of life, looking at his clock and wondering when someone would call to see him. The infinite pathos of public life was never more signally illustrated.

"Beginning as a furious little Whig in 1837, the Queen's letters are curiously violent against "the Tories." "The Whigs," she says, in 1840, "are the only safe and loyal people, and the Radicals will also rally round their Queen to protect her from the Tories." This was in reference to the attitude of the Tory party regarding the position of and subsidy to Prince Albert.

Later on the Queen, partly under the influence of Prince Albert, becomes quite a partizan of the Tory Peel, with whom she at first quarreled on the subject of the Ladies of the Bedchamber, calling his conduct "infamous." She became so fond of Peel (who, as the Duke of Wellington said, "had no manners") that she hesitated about accepting Disraeli in 1852 on account of his conduct to "poor Sir Robert Peel" in 1846.

"The quarrel with Peel was quite needless, as the Queen in later years admited. Peel's want of self-possession and manners prevented him from understanding that the Queen did not want to retain all her laides The Quen's initial dislike of Peel prevented her from understanding that Peel onty wanted the "political" ladies out of the way. Thus a change of government was actually prevented for twp years, on account of the misunderstanding. It seems impossible ina circle where tact is supposed to have permanent residence. Yet it was so.

"Towards Disraeli the Queen was at first hostile, on account of his bitterness to Peel. His efforts to please her in 1852 and 1858, by writing her epigrammatic letters are very interesting. Inded the general tendency towards adulation is very remarkable. It used to be said of Lord Chatham, that at the King's levee his hooked nose could be seen from behind, between his legs, as he made his bow to the Royalty. In all the letters of Peel, Palmerston, Wellington, Melbourne, Disraeli and Gladstone, the courtier-like language is curiously alike. Disraeli had the finer touch; he sent an air of romance and of wit to even his most formal letters. The Queen recognized the artifice, laughed, wrote to the King of the Belgians about "Dizzy," and, like a woman, was pleased at the flattery she laughed at. So easily does even royal human nature adapt itself to circumstances which are a recognition of its superior place in the order of nature."

Orangeville, Nov. 5.—Wm. Hanlon, charged with swindling banks here by means of forged cheques, has been sentenced to three and a half years in the penitentiary. Hanlon used the name of Patrick Garrity, a prominent Caledonia township farmer.

"A Western Girl."

"A Western Girl" is not a great play, and it seems as if the company now at the Opera House should have chosen something better for their opening night in Nelson. This country has had enough of this type of play, and it is about time the public got a well-earned rest. Miss Scott has won a good reputation for herself in the western country, and she should not sacrifice that reputation by presenting such pieces as "A Western Girl." In many respects she has a capable supporting company, but they were at a disadvantage last night. Some of the company have been seen here before, and the public will not soon forget the clever acting of Victor Travers in "The Virginian." Mr. Travers is with Miss Scott, but his part in the play last night was unworthy his merits as an actor. Joseph De Stephani, the new leading man, will be seen to better advantage in "The Egyptian of Pompeii" tonight. The other members of the company will probably be able to do something better than in "A Western Girl." Tonight Miss Scott and her company will present "The Egyptian of Pompeii," and by all accounts this is a piece adapted to bring out the best that is in the company.

IT JUST DEPENDS ON WHO SAYS IT.

If some stores were to advertise to sell regular bang-up 50-cent tea for 40 cents what would you say? If you happened to read the add at all you would say: "That's a fake." And in a good many cases you would be right. It isn't what is said in an add that makes it true—It's who says it.

When Joy says that for the balance of the week you can come here and buy a pound of regular 50-cent Tea for 40c. you can depend on it being so. So come for this Tea. Joy will meet you at the door at
