SCHOOLS RE-OPEN

Many Pupils Absent on First Day

ORGANIZING CLASSES

Enrollment Below Last Year's Monthly Average—Three Classes Under New Teachers.

The public and high schools reopened ter their long vacation this morning 9 o'clock. As usual on such occasons a considerable proportion of the pils who will attend were absent. If intending pupils were present on the ening day the principals' task of assifying and forming divisions, and teachers' task of of organizing their sses, would be greatly simplified, but t feature of the case never occurs to me of the children and their parents. a total enrollment which should ch at least 450 only 389 was recordtoday for the two schools.

At the high school 39 pupils presentthemselves, one for the senior class, t for intermediate and the remaindjuniors, 15 of whom are new pupils. first division, Principal Fraser's, contain 19 pupils, the second, Mrs. rcy's, will contain 20.

t the public school 350 pupils were ent, many of them beginners. As average monthly attendance last rs was about 380, and only 21 have the school by promotion and very by removal, it is obvious that been 30 and 40 more will be enrolled in the next fortnight.

he task was further complicated the fact that the three changes his staff that have occurred since closing of the school in June, all t the primary department. Under circumstances it will be some time re a satisfactory organization can ffected.

he senior divisions are unchanged will be taught by the following: Div., A. Sullivan; 2nd Div., Miss K. lan (quartered in the high school ding); 3rd Div., Miss E. S. De Bou; Div., Miss L. Thomas; 5th Div., Miss L. Wade; 6th Div., Miss M. L. latt.

the new teachers, Miss Taylor eeds Mrs. Pearcy in charge of the division in the central building; Milligan succeeds Miss Barber in rge of the 7th division, quartered e basement of the Baptist church, Miss McVicar succeeds Miss Aberble in charge of the 10th division, porarily" accommodated in Fraterhall.

ss Thom is absent on extended e. Until her return Division 9 will n charge of Miss Oliver as substiteacher.

WAR CLOUD REMAINS.

Chances of Fighting Between Central American States.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Conflicting res, largely unofficial, continue to here of continued outbreaks in ral America. According to reports naval officers, the situation ap quiet. FRAU HAU'S STORY.

Her Suicide not Due to Conviction of Husband's Guilt.

Karlsruhe, Aug. 26.—The case of professor Karl Hau, formerly of Washington, D. C., convicted of the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Monitor, at Baden-Baden, Nov. 5th last continues to develop surprising features. Dr. Deitz, counsel for the prisoner, has just published a pamphlet giving what he terms his moral justification for appealing the case.

The lawyer's representations made the suicide of Frau Hau, wife of the condemned man, appear in a new light. Dr. Deitz says he had four hours talk with her May 13th, when she made known her intention to commit suicide. Answering his argument that it would create the impression that she regarded her husband as guilty of murdering her mother, Frau Hau said repeatedly that the motive which prompted her to take her life was that her husband was in his right mind, and that without her knowledge he went to London and Baden-Baden to meet her sister Olga, stating that it was not the question of whether he was a murderer but his unfaithfulness to her which impelled her to commit suicide, which it also was her duty to do. Frau Hau added that she had at various times prayed to God to induce Hau to commit suicide with her.

PICTURESQUE CRIMINALS

Camorra at Homeltalian Government Resorts to Strategy to Capture Head of Society.

Rome, Aug. 26.—A batch of arrests which have recently been made in Naples illustrates the strategy that the Italian authorities have to exercise in order to combat the Camorra and other criminal organizations. The occurrence which led up to the arrests took place as long ago as last June. It was a mysterious double murder in Naples. Investigations showed all the signs of a Camorrist plot, and it was forthwith determined that an effort should be made to capture the criminals.

During the last five months ten members of the Carabinieri, a highly trustworthy, courageous and trained body of men, have been living in disguise among the known criminals of Naples. They took up a life of crime, and were promised immunity for anything they might do, short of murdering responsible citizens, so long as they got into touch with the chiefs of the Camorra. In accordance with the programme, they started a career of thieving and highway robbery. Some of them were arrested. In the prison they met members of the Camorra and made friends with them. They were initiated, and showed themselves so proficient and enthusiastic in the malavita that they were taken into the favor of the chiefs.

Finally, the plans of the Carabinieri were all complete, and 20 arrests were made, among them persons of fashionable society, and the grand deputy ruler of the Naples Camorra, a Toledo named Gennaro de Marinis. He was a regular frequenter of the Neapolitan theatres, and drove a magnificent four-in-hand. Glittering all over with gems, he was one of the most notable sights on the Corso, and was adored by society ladies. He is known in the Honorable society—the official name of the Camorra—as "Il Mandriere." He started in life as a cattle drover, driving oxen to the slaughter houses. Then he became a butcher himself. Getting into the Malavita, he made and saved money and became a sort of criminal capitalist. His ostensible pursuit was lending money at usury, but he was besides receiver-general of stolen goods for all the crooks in Naples. He was in the habit of boasting that he kept a firm of London tailors exclusively employed in attending to his enormous wardrobe.

Tug Sunk by Steamer.

Baltimore, Aug. 26.—The British steamer Barnstable, Captain Davidson, from Port Antonio for Baltimore, lase last night ran into and sank the tug Gerry, Captain McCoy of Wilmington, Delaware, in the ship canal of Sparrow's Point, Maryland. Five men, members of the crew of the dredge Standard, including the captain of the Standard, are reported drowned. The tug was in the river engaged in towing mud scows from the dredge Standard.

Mr. Borden at Middleton.

Middleton, Aug. 26.—Two thousand people assembled here today to hear R. L. Borden, while two thousand more were unable to obtain admission. It was therefore decided to adjourn to the athletic grounds, where the audience assembled was one of the largest ever seen in Middleton. In his speech Mr. Borden said he believed administration of the intercolonial railway by commission would give satisfactory results.

BOB'S TALK CHEAP

R. G. McPherson, M. P. Not so Vigilant

EXPOSED FROM OTTAWA

Had No Word of Protest When Government Passed Japanese Treaty —Mere Gallery Play.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Mr. McPherson, M. P. for Vancouver, is still firing telegraphic protests at Sir Wilfrid Laurier against Japanese immigration, when it is too late. Had Mr. McPherson been as active last session when the Japanese treaty bill was before parliament as he is today, possibly the Japanese might not have had the right to come and go in Canada as they now possess. Under this treaty, Canadians and Japanese have exactly the same rights in both countries, but Mr. McPherson had not a word of protest to offer. According to reports which have reached the department of trade and commerce, the arrivals of Japanese at Victoria for July totalled 858, of whom 779 were males, and 77 females. Of the total arrivals, 657 were destined for Victoria and 201 were in transit to the United States. Other Canadian ports received 48 Japanese immigrants. The net influx of Japanese into British Columbia last month was, therefore, about seven hundred, considerably less than some press despatches from the west seemed to indicate. In a telegram received last week by Sir Wilfrid Laurier from Mr. McPherson, the latter stated that since January last over 4,000 Japanese had arrived in British Columbia, 233 had arrived last week, and two thousand more were en route from Honolulu on the steamship Indiana. During July 133 Chinese paid the poll tax of $500 for the privilege of entering Canada, thus adding $66,500 to the Federal revenues. In addition 44 Chinese arrived who were exempt from the poll tax, being merchants, or returning after less than a year's absence from Canada.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Reports say that British Columbia parties will urge on the grounds that some of the Japanese entering that province have broken the Alien Labor law, because they came there to work after entering into a contract in Japan or Honolulu, be deported to the United States. Consul Nosse, asked today as to the truth of this, said he had no word from the Japanese consul at Victoria, B. C., and did not credit the rumor.

FLEET SAILS IN DECEMBER.

American Battleship Squadron Will Take Winter Cruise.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 26.—The Atlantic battleship fleet will start for the Pacific next December, according to an official statement issued tonight by Secretary Loeb at the direction of President Roosevelt.

The statement was made following a conference this afternoon between the president and representatives of the navy department.

The conference was held to decide some of the details in connection with the fleet's going to the Pacific. The fleet will consist of sixteen battleships and will start some time in December, going through the Straits of Megallan and and to San Francisco, and will probably also visit Puget Sound. The question of the route by which it will return has not yet been decided. The destroyer flotilla will leave for the Pacific about the same time, but the fleet will not accompany it.

Comptroller Uneasy.

Wachington. Aug. 26The comtroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement as to the condition of national banks at the close of business, August 22.

Got Home Safe.

New York, Aug. 26.—The three Armenian Sarkis, Ermoylan, John Mouradian and Paul Sarkasian, wanted for the murder of Father Kaspar Vartanian, have been located, it is stated today, in Varna, Bulgaria. They escaped from this country via Montreal and fled to Marseilles, but eluded the police there and went to Bulgaria.

WANTS WITNESS FEE.

John D. Rockefeller Earns $1.50 by Attending Chicago Court.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—While the government has not collected the $29,240,000 which Judge Landis imposed as a fine on the Standard Oil company, John D. Rockefeller has completed arrangements to collect $73.90 from Uncle Sam. The amount is due him for his appearance as a witness in the proceedings at the rate $1.50 a day as witness fee and $72.40 as mileage at the rate of 10 cents per mile for the 724 miles traversed in reaching the court of Judge Landis.

The necessary documents have been filled out and sent to Cleveland for the oil king's signature. Then a check will be mailed. The affidavit from Mr. Rockefeller detailing his expenditure of time and travel was received from J. P. Wolf, deputy United States marshal yesterday.

NO SOUTHERN TERMINUS

Plan of Building to San Francisco or Even to Vancouver Denied at G. T. P. Offices.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—A report published in some western papers to the effect that the forthcoming trip of Mr. Charles M. Hays, president, and Mr. F. W. Morse, vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, is to look into the question of building a Grand Trunk Pacific extension down to the Pacific coast from Prince Rupert to Vancouver, and thence to SanFrancisco, was described as wholly imaginary at the Grand Trunk Pacific headquarters today.

The projected line from Prince Rupert to Vancouver, which has been the subject of discussion by western capitalists, may be again brought before the attention of Mr. Hays, but it is considered highly improbable that any action will be taken in that direction before the completion of the through line to the coast.

The idea of a line to San Francisco in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific, is scouted in Grand Trunk Pacific circles as a fantastic dream. Mr. Morse will leave on his western trip next week, and a week later he will be joined by Mr. Hays at Winnipeg, but the trip is primarily concerned with the contracts now in progress, and the terminal plans at Prince Rupert.

CANADIAN DESPATCHES.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Evangelist Camie, aged 19, has been found dead near the railway track at Maniwaki.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The largest gathering of marksmen in the history of the Dominion will be at Rockcliffe range this week, competing for prizes amounting to $10,000 and with cups.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—When Philias Moran came home from work last night he was thirsty, going to the sink he took up a ginger ale bottle partly full and thinking it contained a good cooling beverage, took a good drink. With a scream of pain the unfortunate man made known to his wife that he had drank carbolic acid. He was taken to the western hospital and lived but an hour.

Victim of Car Collision.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—John T. Hollis, hack driver, died this morning at the Central hospital as a result of injuries received in a collision between the hack he was driving and a street car at the corner of Roxboro and Young streets last night. Two ladies, one a resident of Rosedales and the other a visitor from Washington, were in the cab. Hollis was attempting to cross Yonge street from Roxboro west when he saw that a north bound car was coming rapidly up the hill and that he would not have time to cross. He tried to stop his horses but was unable to do so, and the next instant the car struck the carriage, swinging it violently around. One of the ladies seeing the danger had jumped. The other was thrown from the cab and her dress was badly torn, but neither of them were hurt, though both are suffering from nervous shock. Hollis, however, was thrown directly in front of the car which passed over his left leg, severing it above the knee. He died about 12.30 this morning.

FIERCE THREAT

President Roosevelt's Jaws Snapped

WILL "BUST" THE TRUSTS

Suppressed Portion of Provincetown Speech Contained Reference to Predatory Gangs.

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt, whose address was the principal incident of the ceremonies attendant upon lying the corner stone of the Pilgrim Monument here, made it perfectly plain that the trust-busting campaign of the administration is to be carried forward for at least eighteen months more, no matter who cries business is being hurt.

The president fairly snapped his jaws as he said with the utmost emphasis that he cut out the words: "Once for all let me say that as far as I am concerned, and for the eighteen months of my presidency that remain, there will be no change in the policy we have steadily pursued."

The president said he had received countless requests to do something to ease the stock market, but that he believed most of the disturbance in Wall Street was due to matters not peculiar to the United States, and the remainder to matters wholly unconnected with governmental action. He was certain financial stress had been brought by certain malefactors of great wealth in an effort to discredit the policy of the government and bring about a reversal of that policy. It was lost effort, the president intimated, as there would be no let-up while he was in office. Mr. Roosevelt said he was sorry that a few heads of predatory trusts could not be jailed, since they were equally guilty with their corporations, but that it was hard to get juries to see things that way.

In the original copy of his adddress sent out to the newspapers, the President had nothing to say about the stock market slump, nor did he say so bluntly that there would be no wavering in the policy of the government toward corporations- suspicion, especially the railroads.

BEHEADED BY ELEVATOR.

Young Englishman Meets Death in New Form in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—While the body of Thomas Davidson descended down the elevator shaft of the Trader's Bank building, his head rested on a cross beam on the ninth floor, having been severed as though by a guillotine by one of the heavy weights of the elevator. Davidson, who had been but a short time in this country, was engaged at the Trader's Bank building about two weeks ago to do general work about the building. Saturday afternoon about three o'clock he was washing windows and cleaning about one of the elevator shafts, and to do this he had to stand on top of the elevator and move it down as he cleaned. He had reached the ninth floor, when in some way he stuck his head too far out and the weight of the elevator in the next shaft struck on the back of the neck. His head was severed by the blow and his headless trunk fell down the shaft while the head remained on a cross beam at the ninth floor. Nobody seemed to be aware of the accident at the time it happened, but a young man who sells papers in the building on the ground floor heard the body fall to the bottom of the shaft and gave the alarm. Davidson was 23 years old.

L. D. A. Changes.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Rev. Albert Moore, at present secretary of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance, has been chose to succeed Rev. Dr. Shearer as secretary of the Dominion Alliance. Rev. W. G. Hanna, B. D., presbyterian minister, Mount Forest, has been nominated to succeed Mr. Moore. The above appointments were made at a special meeting of the executive boards of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada and of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance. Rev. Dr. Shearer, it will be remembered, accepted the office of general secretary of the newly organized temperance and moral reform association of the Presbyterian church. The changes all go into effect Nov. 1st.

COBALT STRIKE ENDED.

Result Paltry Compared with Loss Entailed on Both Sides.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Advices received from Cobalt are to the effect that the strike of miners will be ended in about ten days. The men seem now to be mainly holding out for recognition of the union. The companies are paying the usual un[illegible] of wages and the men are going [illegible]singly. The pickets of the union o[illegible]ally induce some of those who have [illegible] back to cast in their lot with the [illegible]s, but the leaders of these are havin[illegible] guilty in keeping the men from work, [illegible]eir funds are now becoming low. [illegible] early part of the strike the leaders [illegible]d not stipulate for the recognition of their organization, but in the case of the Foster sent the strikers back when the company agreed to pay the union scale of wages. The Erie Mining company succeeding in preventing a strike on its property. In the meantime many of the miners are installing machinery, and when the unrest is ended development work will be vigorously prosecuted.

"As an example of the union methods," said a mining broker, "these men have long been idle in an attempt to secure a raise of a few cents an hour, while they have been losing wages that it will take them months of arddous labor to recover. In most cases, even where the higher wages are secured, it will take them years to regain what they have lost."

Aim of New American Syndicate Formed to Develop and Operate Mexican Oil Fields.

New York. Aug. 26.—Arrangements have been completed for the organization of a $50,000,000 American syndicate, according to an announcement published today, which plans to develop several million acres of oil lands in Mexico. It is proposed not only to supply the Mexican market, but to ship the product to Central and South America and to Europe and South Africa in competition with the Standard Oil company.

The syndicate will take over the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, which now operates extensively in the southern republic. This concern was organized in 1902 under California laws. It is capitalized at $10,000,000. The company, it is stated, owns approximately 1, 000,000 acres of land in the states of Tamaulipas, Vera Cruz, and San Louis Potosi.

More than one hundred flowing wells are reported to be on the property. Att the wells are of gusher variety.

THINK THEY'RE LORDS.

New Zealand Legislative Council Dares to Right Women.

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 26.—The women politicians whose cause was championed by the House of Representatives of New Zealand received scant consideration from the Legislative council, which, without a division, rejected the bill providing for the election of an Upped House by the House of Representatives. According to one of the clauses women were to be eligible as members of the Upper House. When the measure passed the committee stage in the House of Representatives, Aug. 8, the premier and the cabinet ministers who were present voted for the clause referred to, which was on that occasion adopted by 37 to 26 votes.

The legislative council of New Zealand, or Upper House of the General Assembly, now consists of forty-four appointed members, some of whom are life members. The House of Representatives, or Lower House, is composed of eighty members, elected by the people for terms of three years.

MAY BE MURDER.

Kenora Man Missing——Last Companion Charged With Assault.

Kenora, Ont., Aug. 26.—The remarkable disappearance of Jno. Ross, a well known Kenora man, had its sequel Saturday when James McLaughlan, a farmer, was brought up before Judge Moore and charged with an aggravated assault on the missing man. He was remanded. At the next hearing evidence will be adduced to show that the two men were last seen together on Friday, the 16th instant, and that both were under the influence of drink and heard to be violently quarrelsome. Ross, who is of sligher build, would have no chance against such a burly opponent, McLaughlin, who is known and avoided by [illegible] on account of his fighting prowess. The latter called on Mrs. Ross on Wednesday inquiring if Jack had been home and whether his tools had been found, but his questions were put in such a dazed manner as to arouse suspicion that something had happened.

Von Buelow Assures Cambon of Good Will in Effort to Restore Peace and Order.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Jules Cambon, the French ambassador to Germany, returned here today from Nordenay, satisfied with the results of his visit to Chancellor Von Buelow. The ambassador had three long conversations with the chancellor, covering the entire field of international politics. Most of the subjects were touched upon somewhat lightly, nothing in the way of fresh proposals or serious suggestions being made.

Possibly the most interesting subject to the French government was the Moroccan situation, upon which the chancellor talked freely, through the foreign office at Berlin, namely, Germany's willingness that France should use her own discretion at Casablanca, with the knowledge that Germany will not raise embarrassing questions or seek in any way to place difficulties in her way or hinder the French work of restoring order and securing the future safety of Europeans in Morocco. M. Cambon sent a long decpatch by courier to Paris.

Paul Cambon, the French ambassador to the Court of St. James, is visiting his brother, Jules Cambon, here for a couple of days while making a short tour of Germany, including visits to Dresden, Nuremburg and Prague.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Premier Clemenceau, who returned from Carlsbad and Munich today, has assumed active direction of the Moroccan situation, which developed during his absence. He conferred with Foreign Minister Pichon, War Minister Piquart, and Minister of Marine Thomson, who met him at the station, and tomorrow will go to Rambouillett to see President Fallieres. The Journal des Debats in an editorial on the effect of Clemencau's return on the Moroccan situation says that "He knows the sentiments of the sovereigns and the dispositions of the chancellors. He ought to know that politics not only are most uncertain but also most costly, and that calm and conservatism are essential."

Advices received today from Casablanca show no change in the situation. The troops are anxious for a decisive engagement with the tribesmen, but France's determination not to penetrate further into the country, prevents pursuit of the fanatics and results in a waiting game. Meantime Morocco's internal affairs grow worse. Chaos reigns and the government has degenerated into a mock administration.

Mulai Hafig, the newly proclaimed Sultan, who is reported to be marching toward the coast to fight the French and Spanish troops, has appointed to the ministry Mulai Sidi Mohammed, another brother of the actual sultan who is now held a prisoner by the sultan at Fez.

Fine Them a Million.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—There is every probability of the Ottawa allied trades and labor council following the example of their colleagues in Montreal and moving towards some action on the coal question. In Ottawa there has been an all round increase of 50 cents per ton without any apparent good reason for it. It is alleged that there is a combine and it is quite possible a formal legal charge may be laid against some of those concerned.

The Strike Ended.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—The Valleyfield strike was settled and the men returned to work this morning. On the whole the Montreal Cotton company has won, as the men abandoned their demand for a 10 per cent. increase.

THE CONSERVATIVE PROGRAMME.

No public address delivered in Canada during the last fifteen years has attracted so much attention as the speech at Halifax last Tuesday night by which R. L. Borden, Conservative leader, opened his campaign.

The circumstances are as remarkable as the speech. The great majority of the present Canadian electorate grew to manhood during the long regime of Sir John A. Macdonald. For nearly thirty years after Confederation the development of Canada had proceeded on Conservative lines and under Conservative leaders. The brief and undeservedly disastrous ministry of Hon. Alexander McKenzie was too ephemeral to influence the general course. Canada was growing slowly, steadily and healthily, in population and in wealth. Under the moderate protective tariff, which was the economic basis of the National Policy, Canadian industries were developed and the country attained to a position similar to that enjoyed by the United States of producing practicaly all it needed and affording urban markets for agricultural products and rural markets for the products of city and town manufacturing institutions.

During all that period the policy of the Conservatives was opposed by the Liberals with apparent sincerity. They especially attacked the tariff features of the National Policy and clamored for closer trade relations with the United States even, as many of the leaders frankly declared, if the cost were closer political relations with the republic and a loosening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

Had no other question ever clouded the issue, the Conservative party, in spite of abuses, that seem inseparable from long tenure of power in Canada, and which were admitted to exist towards the last, in the Conservative administration, would still have held the allegiance of the great majority. But a collapse followed disunion, and a Liberal administration was the result.

Since 1896 there has been a complete transformation. The Liberals have discarded entirely every profession of their thirty years in the wilderness. In their economic policy they have been content, and wisely content, to be the reapers of the Conservative sowing. This is not only their admission, it is their boast, and it is their chief, if not their only, claim to the confidence of the electors of Canada.

Of the old champions of the lost cause many, including Mr. McKenzie, are dead, others, including Edward Blake and Sir Louis Davies, have retired from active warfare, some including Mr. Patterson and Mr. Fielding have silently admitted illumination, and others, like Sir Richard Cartwright, are not dead but sleeping. We refrain from classifying Sir Wilfrid; his only memorable utterance on the subject, that he would not rest until he had wiped out the last vestige of the iniquitous system of protection, precludes sane comment.

Since 1896 there has been something in the nature of an obliteration of old lines. The Conservative cause has triumphed completely even with its opponents in control. The one point at which it is resisted by Sir Wilfrid is in its declaration of unalterable allegiance to the British crown and Empire, and Sir Wilfrid's resistance there is so cautious and timid that by many it is not perceived. They explain his savage bark at Lord Dundonald as a temporary aberration.

The result has been that in the last ten years there has not been, until Mr. Borden's recent speech, any declaration of policy adapted to the circumstances of present day Canadian political problems. That his utterance would be immediately analyzed by the Liberals in a frenzied search for weak points, was a matter of course. That some Conservatives should be taken by surprise and not entirely prepared for acceptance is not to be wondered at. If Mr. Borden is open to blame in any particular, it is because his campaign of education has been too long delayed.

It is amusing, though not pleasing, to see how delighted Liberals are that Conservatives retain their ancient custom of speaking frankly and fearlessly to their own leaders. A Liberal editor who censures his party's machine of course thereby commits political suicide, and he cannot understand why it is not so with Conservatives. The really saddening feature of it is that in pointing gleefully to evidences of Conservative independence, they are publishing their own degradition, and cannot see it.

The Montreal Star is selected as a sample Tory newspaper which criticizes Mr. Borden. The Star is owned and edited by a gentleman who has been a lifelong Conservative. He has fought and labored for the party and its cause and sought no reward. He has every right to express his opinion and it is entitled to all respect as the opinion of an individual.

The Winnipeg Tribune, edited by a former Liberal who was expelled from the party for daring to think, is also among the critics. The Tribune is independent to such a degree that it is opposed to every government and every organized opposition in Canada, and apparently to everbody else except the editor and proprietor of the Tribune. It remarks that three of Mr. Borden's planks are also planks in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's platform: purity of elections, clean administration and civil service reform. The remark is quite correct as far as it goes. But eleven years have taught the people of Canada that Sir Wilfrid's professions were rank hypocrisy, and Mr. Borden has proved himself a man of his word.

It is gratifying to record that the Toronto News, which is independent and not merely a destructive critic, gives its whole hearted approval to Mr. Borden's confession of political faith, and such, we are confident, will be the judgment of all the intelligent people of Canada who are not beneficiaries, present or prospective of the Ottawa machine.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Our kindly morning contemporary gently rebukes us for mentioning that a Liberal government increased the subsidy for the Crow's Nest Southern Railway from $4,000 to $11,000 a mile without stating all the terms of the bargain. We would humbly explain that we only mentioned the part that had a bearing on the subject with which we were then dealing. As our aforesaid kindly contemporary has added a little more we would suggest that he continue if he thinks his readers are interested. If his memory is vague, we can help him to a few more items of the treaty of alliance, such as: G. A. Cox, now Senator Cox, contributed $30,000 to the Liberal campaign fund of 1896; the Dominion government, after the election of 1896, transferred its account from the Bank of Montreal to the Bank of Commerce, of which Senator Cox was president. There were other items of course which our contemporary is doubtlessly familiar with.

If it is true that March next has been selected as the date for the next Dominion elections Canada is in for a seven minths campaign. Mr. Borden's declaration of policy and his political tour are attracting more attention than Ottawa just now and the interest awakened will not wane till the battle is won or lost. In the meantime the Dominion cabinet remains wofully weak, even with the prospective addition of Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Graham. If Mr. Pugsley accepts office it can only be construed as an admission that he, Mr. Emmerson's counsel, has no faith in his client's ability to vindicate his character.

HIBBERT TUPPER'S CALL

Will Accept Unamimous Invitation of Old Supporters and Take Part in Next Campaign.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper returned last evening from his trip to his old home in Nova Scotia. In conversation with the News-Advertiser Sir Hibbert intimated his willingness to return to political life in response to the appeal of his old friends in Nova Scotia. Sir Hibbert confesses that he went east without the remotest idea of returning to political life, but so cordial was his welcome and so earnest the appeal that was made to him, that he will take part in the next Dominion election, either on the stump as a private citizen or as a party candidate. Which it shall be he has left to Mr. Borden, the Conservative leader, to decide. Sir Hibbert says he sees on every side in the east, the signs of a strong reaction against the Laurier regime.

"I went down," said Sir Hibbert, "on a very natural and modest mission to Nova Scotia, where I was last returned to the House of Commons since 1900, having sat continuously for Pictou county since 1892. After a lapse of seven years since my last return in 1900, I went back because I had never had an opportunity of thanking them before for their support and continued confidence. When I reached Truro I sent a note to a couple of my old friends in Pictou. I stated that I was simply coming to thank them, and had no idea that there would be a largely attended meeting for a purpose of that kind, but when I reached the county the next day I was amazed to find that the heather was on fire so to speak. At New Glasgow a number of my old friends met me and gave me a very cordial welcome, at the same time informing me that at Pictou, the capital of the county, I was to be received at 4:30 when the train came in.

"When I rached the town, I was surprised to find that all the streets were dressed in gayest bunting, and the platform was thronged just as if an election were on. I found that a reception had been planned for me in the assembly hall in the evening, and when I reached the place it was packed to the doors, fully 150 people being unable to get in, and the enthusiasm reminded me of election time when the fight was hottest. The enthusiasm surprised not only myself, but all the oldest political warhorses there. In all the years I had represented the county, I had never known anything to equal it. Men, women and children thronged the meeting and the enthusiasm was marvellous.

"The next day I went out to what is called the citadel of our strength, the coal mining district of Westville. The reception I had there beggars description. The leading Conservative paper said there were three thousand people there to greet me. My own calculation and that of my friends, looking over the ground from the verandah of the hotel, was that there were nearly five thousand. Certainly it was the largest audience I had ever seen in Nova Scotia. Not only were the miners in evidence, but from districts twenty and thirty miles away my old friends came to greet me, and all this when there had been no opportunity of advertising the meeting in any paper. I have been with different chieftains, with Sir John Macdonald and my father on different occasions, but that reception was the most enthusiastic I ever saw.

Old memories were revived and from every quarter came the appeal to me to come back to public life and help to redeem the fair fame of the province by rescuing it from the thralldom of the present Liberal regime. The Grits swept the province in 1904, and there is an intense desire among the Conservatives to bring it back to its old position as one of the banner provinces in the Conservative fold."

"I had not the slightest intention of re-entering political life when I went there, but such an appeal as that I felt I could not resist. I went to Halifax, where I was entertained by many old friends, and addressed a hastily gathered meeting of the party in the committee rooms. Here again the same pressure was brought upon me, and the result was that while I would personally have preferred to enjoy a rest from the activity of political life, having served my country in that capacity for twenty years—I yielded to the pressure to this extent that I promised (and I intend to redeem that promise) that when the campaign opened I would take off my coat, so to speak, and join actively in the fray of my native province. I have had an offer of nomination in many counties there, but whether I shall take part merely on the platform or as a candidate is a matter for my chief, Mr. Borden, to decide."

"Would you take any part in the next Dominion election in this province, Sir Hibbert?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I could not," replied Sir Hibbert. "There are eighteen seats in Nova Scotia with a Liberal government in power. Here there are only seven seats with a Conservative government in power. I am firmly of the opinion that we can with proper organization carry a majority of the seats in Nova Scotia, and I feel that by devoting myself entirely to the fight in that province, I can do more good for the party than I could in this province, which has just shown its predilection for the Conservative cause."

Sir Hibbert said that both in the Maritime Provinces, in Quebec and Ontario he saw signs of an unmistakable reaction against the present Liberal regime, and he had little doubt of what the result of the next election would be. Whatever might be the result with himself personally, he had no intention of living anywhere but in British Columbia.—News-Advertiser.
