ELF GOVERNMENT

resident Gompers Forces Labor Orders

HREE MILLION SNUBBED

ecutive of Trades Unionists Commits Organization to Policy Unendorsed by Them.

hicago, Nov. 2.—Organized labor oughout the United States is look forward with keenest interest to annual convention of the American eration of Labor, which is to asble in Minneapolis week after next. ere is on concealing the fact that k and file of the organization looks n the approaching gathering as the st important in the history of the eration, which extends over a quar of a century. There is a feeling, ch has scarcely yet been given exssion, that the organization is apaching a crisis in its career.

o put the situation in plain words, is becoming recognized among the re intelligent of the labor element t the political programme of Presit Gompers and his advisors has ved a "frost." Some of the promnt leaders do not hesitate even now say so. If the elections next Tues are disastrous to the plans of the rican Federation of Labor, or, in er words, if the congressional candies that the federation has marked defeat are re-elected by normal maties, it is safe to say that Mr. npers' reputation as a leader will er severely. That the reaction inst his leadership will be sufficiy strong to result in his overthrow he Minneapolis convention is scarprobable under any circumstances. has successfully guided the organion for years and his personal popuy among the rank and file is beed to be sufficient to keep him in er. But it is also probable that he be forced to entirely abandon his tical schemes or put them upon a olly new basis.

hile the radical element of organ labor enthusiastically embraced scheme of going into politics, it is the same time true that the more servative of the organizations, such he railroad brotherhoods, the paint and others have been only lukem in support of the political propada. The sentiment of those oped to President Gompers is well set h in an editorial appearing in the cial organ this week of one of the ongest and most influential labor anizations in America. The writer s in part:

We regret, but are not surprised at apathy of the unorganized and the ence of enthusiasm on the part of organized workers in the political npaign. The executive council of American Federation of Labor must discouraged at the coolness with ch their plans were received, and ppointed at the lack of interest wn by those active in the movet. It is not difficult to account for unfortunate situation. Those resible cannot plead ignorance of the hods of trade unions or of the sents of their memberships. No one ws better than President Gompers trade unionists the world over are nch believers in self-government, they have confidence in their ity to decide for themselves what cy is best for them to adopt, how by whom it shall be carried out, how the funds necessary for its rying out shall be provided. They se to be committed to any program he adoption of which they were not sulted, and resent the assumption rresponsible authority and even the blance of dictation by their leaders. —knowing the aggressive democy of trade unionism—President npers and the executive council hout consulting the three million mbers of the American Federation Labor, decided to commit the trade onists of the United States to a form in which they had no hand in ming, to a policy which many think dvised and impractical, to a camgn for which no adequate plans e been made or funds provided."

Canadian Billiard Champion.

ew York, Nov. 2.—George Sutton, Canadian champion, equalled his ld's record of 234 points in the 18h balkline game, two shots in balk, le at Madison Square Garden last r in his famous game with Willie ope, in an exhibition match which played at Ora Morningstar's billiard academy last evening against Thomas Gallagher. In fact, Sutton surpassed the run, for his 234th shot ran out the game of 300 points in his fifth inning. The crowd that was cheering his play would not listen to his ceasing with the completion of the game, so he kept on and added 16 more points to the total, then miscued, and missed on his 251st shot. Gallagher made in his four essays at the table a total of 28 points.

SERIOUS IMMORALITY.

Grand Jury at Portage Recommend Change in School System.

Portage la Prairie, Nov. 2.—The grand jury in making its presentment at the assizes here today, referred to the alarming increase in crime against the persons of women in Manitoba. It said in part:

"It is with regret that we have to deplore the large docket presented for our consideration, especially the number of cases of assaults against the persons of females of tender age, mostly, in our opinion, a result of parental neglect, and we also found in nearly all these cases that the education of whole families was being entirely neglected, convincing us of the necessity of a change in our educational system to compulsory attendance in the province, and we would respectfully urge that our views on this subject be brought before the government.

"From the evidence brought before us in a number of cases, it is very evident that considerable illicit drinking takes place in the province. That drunkenness and crime go together is well known. Such a condition of affairs in our young and expanding country calls for prompt and energetic action on the part of the government, and we would urge a more strict enforcement of the Licensing Act, and the putting down of illicit drinking."

CONTRACT AWARDED

The Canadian is authorized to announce that the contract for the construction of the new courthouse has been awarded to Mayor W. G. Gillett. The papers will be forwarded at once, the contract completed, and at an early date the removal of the old structure will be begun and the excavations for the new courthouse commenced.

The amount of Contractor Gillett's tender was $74,990, which was the lowest tender offered. The amount includes the entire construction of the new building, from excavation to full completion, according to the plans and specifications submitted by the department. Furnishings, however, will not be included in the amount of this contract.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

A typographical error yesterday made us say that J. Hughes had been elected vice president of the Agricultural association. It should have been John Hyslop.

A. E. Watts, the Wattsburg millowner, came in last evening. The new mill at Procter, in which Mr. Watts is heavily interested, has been completed and is just about ready for operation.

The Maccabees are preparing a lengthy program for their entertainment on the evening of November 9. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental music, to be followed by a lunch and a dance.

The Kaslo Fruit Growers' association met last evening and elected officers for the ensuing year. J. A. Curle has been elected president, and the association is satisfied with the result of the first exhibition. Already the Kaslo people are figuring out their work for next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Burrell of Grand Forks arrived in the city last evening. Mr. Burrell is here in the interests of his nursery, which has now developed into a very important industry. Incidentally he has a word or two to say of the political situation, which is of a complimentary character to the McBride governmetn.

On Hallowe'en night some boys let out the cattle in P. Burns' corral. The beasts stampeded through the streets in the middle of the night and were traced up to the mountain station. There are evidences that they are making their way toward Ymir and men have started out today to search for them. There were 21 beasts in the corral.

The Day's Killing.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Two workmen were killed and five others injured today by the collapse of a derrick at a new building. The dead men are James McNamara and Samuel Harris. All of the injured will recover. While a large block of stone was being hoisted by the derrick the pin slipped. The stone crashed through a platform occupied by McNamara and Harris, throwing them to the ground, six stories below. The men injured were knocked from platforms on the outside of the building at various stories by the stone in its descent.

ROUND THE BOUNDARY.

Professor Lake Examines Fruit Farms of Grand Forks and Lectures There.

(Special to The Daily Canadian.)

Grand Forks, Nov. 2.—A representative and exceedingly appreciative audience composed of farmers and business men assembled Wednesday evening in the Athletic association hall to hear Professor Lake of Oregon speak on fruit growing. M. Hornsberger ably filled the office of chairman of the meeting.

The first speaker was Martin Burrell, who among other things said that he was strongly in favor of a board of horticulture, mainly to protect local fruit growers from the importation of outside fruits. He spoke strongly in favor of the present rigid fruit inspection that is practised at Grand Forks and other points and commended the local fruit inspector on his action in condemning the car of 500 boxes of apples a few days ago.

Professor Lake then addressed the meeting at length. He spoke very positively about the possibilities of British Columbia and the Western states as fruit producing sections and stated that the first-class fruit grown in the West far excelled anything produced in the East. He had travelled all over British Columbia and felt sure that fruit could be profitably raised in the province. He strongly recommended the grower to confine himself to one kind of fruit exclusively and to select soil at least eight feet deep, then plant the trees about 25 feet apart, and not grow any other produce on the same ground; also to select trees at least one year old. By doing this and using care in spraying, fruit can be raised successfully.

Professor Lake produced some excellent samples of fruit raised on Kootenay lake, and one fine specimen grown in the Okanagan district by an Indian. He also spoke strongly in favor of the Canadian fruit inspectors making rigid examinations of all imported fruit, and announced that by their carrying out the law in this respect to the letter, the result would be to put the second-class American fruit growers out of business and help the first-class grower. He also surprised the audience by stating that the fruit inspectors of the Canadian Northwest territories were not careful in their fruit inspections, and as a result the territories for years past have been the willing dumping ground and ready market for great shipments of second and third class American fruits.

Before leaving Grand Forks Professor Lake was driven to the various fruit ranches in the valley by W. H. Covert, the pioneer fruit king of this valley. While visiting the Covert estate Professor Lake casually remarked that the mammoth sunflowers grown there were a living evidence of the richness of the soil, as they stood some 12 feet high and the flowers were 18 inches in diameter.

No Anglophobist.

Dundee, Scotland, Nov. 2.—The freedom of the city was today conferred on Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador. In the course of his speech thanking the municipality the ambassador, referring to the friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain, said the statesmen of either country had no higher task than to preserve them. When it is remembered that nearly one-third of the entire trade of New York and nearly half the whole trade of the United States were with the British empire, all would recognize that there were billions of reasons for maintaining and perpetuating the present cordial relations.

Death of Philanthropist.

London, Nov. 2.—George Herring, the noted English philanthropist, who in the course of his life contributed large sums of money to hospitals and charitable enterprises, died today after an operation for appendicitis. He made his first money on the racecourses and subsequently became identified with a large number of businesses.

Explosion Kills Negro.

Chattanooga, Nov. 2.—In an explosion in a burning storehouse of the Queen & Crescent railway shops early today Clark Evans, a negro, was killed and seven white men and four negroes were injured, one of them fatally. The money loss is not large.

During the present month there will be several attractions at Sherman's opera house. These will include a visit from Harold Nelson in a new romantic drama.

OUTWIT MILITARY

Ute Indians Heroically Loot Supply Wagons

ARMY AT A STANDSTILL

Aborigines Cry Checkmate on Chess Operations of U. S. Troops---Must Await Fresh Supplies.

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 2.—Further details of the raiding of a government supply train bound for the camps of the Tenth and Sixth cavalry from Arvida, characterize it as a clever piece of work, evidently planned by the older heads of the Ute tribe. According to Driver James Forgin, no Indians were in sight until a bunch of about 200 mounted redskins suddenly dashed out of a defile in the hills and quickly surrounded him.

They made little noise outside of a few sharp yells in the nature of commands, and while several Indians kept foraging under their rifles, the balance looted the wagon train of 3000 pounds of flour, the sacks of which were strapped to the cayuses of the Indians, who then disappeared into the hills.

As a result of the raiding of the supply train, the troops are in need and the operations looking to a chase of the Utes are practically at a standstill until supplies can be had. More supplies will be sent out from Arvida at once. Troops from Fort Keogh with suppplies are now at Ashland, en route to the camp of the Tenth, near Moorhead.

The Utes have completely outwitted the military and are now reported back in Wyoming on the Powder river, retracing the route by which they entered Montana. They evidently knew of the arrival of the troops at Ashland and have either given up the attempt to reach the Cheyennes or are waiting for that band to meet them in some other part of the country. The Utes on Bear creek have not moved, according to telephone advices received here.

JAIRUS' HART'S BEQUESTS.

Halifax Man Who Died Recently Leaves Much to Charity.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 2.—The will of Jairus Hart, whose death took place on October 27, was probated today. The estate is estimated to be worth over half a million. The great bulk of it goes to benevolent and religious purposes. Mount Allison university, of which Mr. Hart was regent, will eventually receive $100,000, and the Nova Scotia Methodist conference and the Missionary society of Canada $100,000; Halifax Y. M. C. A., $10,000 for a building fund; the Halifax Citizens' library, $10,000 for new books, and $20,000 for new ladies' college at Mount Allison. The school for the blind is also a leading recipient.

SUFFER HEAVY REVERSE

Conservatives Win Phenomenal Victory Over Liberals and Progressives in London Elections.

London, Nov .2.—The triennial election of the London borough councils have resulted in an overwhelming victory for the municipal reformers who in some of the boroughs absolutely wiped out the Progressives. The victors were formerly known as Moderates and represent the Unionist party and the Progressive, the Liberal and Labor parties.

After several years of Progressive regime, during which, it is contended, the taxes were increased to enormous figures in consequence of the huge expenditures, including palatial workhouses, Turkish baths for workmen who did not use them, and clubhouses and other similar municipal luxuries, the boroughs councils are once again strongholds of Toryism.

The full figures are not yet available, but up to noon today the Municipal Reformers had won 610 seats, the Progressives 222 and the Labor and Independent candidates 77 out of a total of 1362.

The provincial municipal elections have also resulted in rout for the Liberals. The campaigns in the provinces were mostly conducted on Progressive party lines. Complete results show that the Liberals have sustained a net loss of 33 representatives and that the Conservatives have a net gain of 59; the Labor party has a net gain of 9. In London the Labor party candidates seem to have fared even worse than the Progressives but they made small gains in the provinces.

DIVIDE MISSION FUNDS.

Methodist Episcopal Church in America Will Have Two Departments.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church has decided to fix the total sum to be appropriated for home and foreign mission work at $1,696,000, for this coming year, this being about the amount contributed by the denomination for mission purposes during the year ending October 31.

Because of the forthcoming division of the Missionary society into a board of foreign missions with headquarters at New York, and a board of Home missions and church extensions with headquarters at Philadelphia, these separate societies are to begin operations under revised charters January 1 next.

The first part of the morning session was given to a consideration of the educational movement maintained among the young people of the missionary society. This department having as its special function the promotion of mission study among Young People's societies and in Sunday schools and junior organizations of the churches.

HONORED IN DEATH.

Hungarian Patriot's Remains Taken Back to Native Land.

Kaischau, Hungary, Nov. 2.—The body of Franz Rakoozy, the Hungarian patriot who died in exile, and those of his mother and son Joseph, were brought here today on a special train from Buda Pest, and were taken to the cathedral with great ceremony, where a requiem mass was celebrated in the presence of deputations from all parts of the country. The three coffins were then conveyed to a consecrated vault, while a salute of four guns was fired.

The sarcophagus, which is the work of Francis Mikola, the sculptor, is suitably inscribed with a tribute to the emperor-king in allowing the precious bodies to be repatriated "to the endless joy of the nation."

The Rise in Silver.

Without the present domestic demand for silver for mint purposes there is much in the statistical position of that important metal to account for the recent advance in prices. Not since 1893 has this metal cost over 32 pence per ounce in London or 70 cents at New York. Probably the figures were expanded somewhat by government purchases at the rate of about 2,000,000 ounces recently, deliverable at the Philadelphia, Denver and other mints; but the great pressure this year has come from India, which has taken about $61,300,000 worth from the London market, that is more than the total shipments to all Far Eastern countries in any preceding full year, with the exception of 1877 and 1857. The latter year covered the great Indian mutiny and generally disturbing conditions, and the great famine in India occurred in 1877. The question of the moment, says Dun's Review, is whether production can be increased sufficiently to check the advance in price, as consumption gives no evidenc of curtailment. Possibly the demand for use in the arts may fall off, although there is no present prospect of a reduction in the estimate of 60,000,000 ounces annually, particularly with leading nations so prosperous.

Colony for Carman.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—A large colony from Frankfort, Ind., is to be located on recently-drained land at Sperling, Carman district, in Southern Manitoba, where 8000 acres were recently purchased for them.

Lethbridge Woolen Mill.

Lethbridge, Nov. 2.—Work was started on the new $15,000 woolen mill here today. Next week the News will issue as a daily paper. Hitherto it has been a weekly.

Winnipeg Vital Statistics.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—During October there were 311 births and 204 marriages in Winnipeg.

Pontiff Protests.

Paris, Nov .2.—A prelate of high rank whose name is not given is quoted in the press here today as saying that the pope will reject the decision of the council of state rendered October 31 ,by which under the law of 1881, meetings organized by private individuals for worship will be recognized as legal after December 11, when the church and state and separation law formally goes into effect. The prelate stated that the plaintiff would never recognise that the functions of religion can assume the character of public worship.

EVIDENCES OF PROSPERITY.

Steel Mills Have Already Booked Full Capacity Orders for 1907.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—The Record-Herald today says: More than 1,500,000 tons of steel rails have been ordered by the railroads for delivery within 1907 from the various steel mills. The total capacity of the steel mills for a year is about 3,000,000 tons, so all of them are assured of their full capacity orders for 1907. Never before, it is stated, have so many orders for rails been placed by the railroads as this season. Some of the roads have been compelled to seek foreign rails in order to have assurances that their orders will be delivered in anything like the time they specify.

The demand for new rails does not come so much for new railroad construction as it does for renewals and for relaying tracks with heavier steel. The business of the railroads has increased so enormously that the old light rails are inadequate to carry the train loads and the heavy equipment of today. Railroads of the South are among the heaviest buyers of steel rails for 1907, and it is stated the demand in that section indicates the wonderfully increased demand which is being made on the transportation companies in the South.

FROM THE FROZEN NORTH

Members of Canadian Geological Survey Describe Hitherto Unknown Features of North Coast Wilds.

According to opinions expressed by some of the members of the Canadian geological survey party, which returned from the North last week, after spending the summer in lower Alaska and the Yukon, the country along the St. Elias range is one of the wonders of the North. The land from Mount St. Elias to Ocean cape, a distance of about 180 miles east and about 50 miles back from the coast line, is very much adapted to agricultural purposes and would not take very much labor to put it into fine shape for growing some of the harded cereals. In the summer the valleys are covered with all kinds of beautiful wild flowers and strawberries grow in abundance.

But the amazing feature of this land is that in winter, all of it is covered with snow and ice. During the coldest spell the whole surface is one vast glacier and deer and goats which happen to be caught lingering behind, die of starvation and their bodies litter the white surface unless they manage to find their way out.

A few Indian huts and white settlers' cabins are found here and there nearly covered with snow and ice. These are occupied during the summer, but are abandoned as the cold season approaches. Yakarah Bay, which runs up some 30 miles from the open sea, is a magnificent bay and affords ample facilities for making it one of the finest harbors in the North. There is a number of houses there, and steamers make it a call en route to and from Nome and St. Michaels. Valdez is situated about a 16 hours' run west and the two places are connected by a biweekly steamer service. Dry Bay is some 20 miles east of Yakatah Bay and is the mouth of the Alsek river. It was by this river that several attempts were made to reach the upper country in stead of following the long and tortuous trail. The river is very swift and dangerous and was described by the party as a "running tiger." Canyons are met at every turn and the banks are so steep that it is like courting death to attempt to follow the edge of the banks. Several canoes were carried by the men and when a chance came to use them they were put into the water. On one occasion several canoes full of provisions were being towed up stream by long ropes, when a thunderous roar was heard far up the mountain side. The noise caused the party to halt, and after looking in the direction whence came the sound, the men were startled to see an avalanche of sand and boulders in progress down the mountain. Fortunately they were near a ledge and they escaped, although one man had his left shoulder grabbed by a huge boulder. One of the canoes was smashed to kindling and its cargo was entirely lost. Many fine deer and mountain goats were seen and much sport was obtained by shooting several brown bears.

FIERCE FIRE FIEND

Baffles New York Firemen For Hours

HAIRBREADTH ESCAPES

Brilliant Rescues by Heroic Efforts Just as Flames Enwrapped Garments of Victims.

New York, Nov. 2.—Two men had a remarkable escape from death by fire, property valued at $100,000 was destroyed and hundreds of tenement dwellers fled from their homes in terror as a result of a fire in a seven-story factory building at Stanton and Mangin streets early today. For two hours the flames baffled the firemen, threatening to sweep beyond control and lick up the wretched dwellings adjoining, and all that time the hundreds who had been driven from their beds almost naked stood shivering in the chill morning air.

The place where the fire raged is in the centre of the so-called sweatshop district, and the tenements are filled with the employees in these places, most of them Hebrews of the poorer class.

When the fire was discovered by a policeman it had spread all through the entire lower part of the factory building and two Jewish watchmen, whose escape had been cut off by the flames, were standing at an upper window wildly gesticulating and crying for help. Gradually, as the fire gained headway, the men were driven to seek refuge on the roof. There they found temporary safety, but in a few minutes the flames began to break through the roof and close in around the two figures which could be plainly seen kneeling in prayer.

The frantic crowd in the street begged in wails and screeches for the firemen to go to the aid of the men, who seemed doomed to die before their eyes, but the firemen were helpless. Their longest ladder would scarcely reach two-thirds the height of the burning building and the fire escapes were wrapped for half their length in flames.

At almost the last moment, when the blazing circle had narrowed down until the clothing of the helpless men had begun to smoke from the intense heat, a great new fire truck with a ladder which never before had been called into service, dashed through the frightened crowd in the street. Quickly the ladder was raised and almost before its topmost round had touched the coping, a fireman appeared beside the two men. In another moment he had handed them one after another to comrades who had followed him and they were carried safe, but on the verge of collapse from fright, to the ground.

Irish International.

New York, Nov. 2.—A London despatch published here today says next May will see the opening of the great Irish International exhibition, as the guarantee fund now amounts to $1,000,000.

Lord Iveagh heads the list with $50,000. The buildings will resemble in scheme those of the late Paris exposition. A prominent feature will be a great dome, which will be equal to half that of St. Paul's cathedral, London. If King Edward does not open the exhibition he will at least honor it with his presence at a later date.

Crimean Veteran Dead.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Leonard Lucas, who for 18 years has been a patient in the General hospital, fell dead in his chair today. He had served in the Crimean war, fought at Inkerman and Balaclava, and as sergeant in the British army witnessed the immortal charge of the Light Brigade. Not one full company of those who were in the Crimean war could probably now be mustered in the British empire. Deceased was aged 91 years.

POSTAL GRIEVANCES.

A few weeks ago The Canadian made complaint of the unsatisfactory nature of the postal service, particularly with respect to the infrequent and irregular arrival of the daily papers from coast and Eastern points.

The Canadian at that time was voicing not alone its own sentiments but those of a very large section of the community whose business and convenience is seriously interfered with by the delay occasioned through the non-arrival or irregular arrival of the mails. It was contended that not only do newspapers arrive with painful uncertainty but that that fact was presumptive evidence that important business letters are also unnecessarily delayed. This has proved to be the case and the evil complained of instead of being remedied is gradually but with marked emphasis becoming worse.

Why two daily papers published in Toronto or Montreal on the same day and at the same hour, and presumably mailed at the same time should be wto and three days apart in their arrival in Nelson is a matter too puzzling for one outside of the postal department to understand. And why there should be two or three days—as often occurs—between the arrival of successive issues of the same paper with their final arrival in a bunch is equally unintelligible.

The evil must have serious consequences for those whose mails arrive as in the rural districts only once or twice a week. The delayed papers if late in arriving at this distributing point are delayed an additional week and are ancient history by the time they arrive at their destination.

We were at first under the impression that the connections at Medicine Hat were imperfect but that would only explain the delay of one day. Moreover the complaint is becoming so serious all along the line of the C. P. R. and other lines in the West that a veritable chorus of reproach is being chanted by the papers in the prairie provinces. This all goes to show that there is some radical defect in the postal system and that the actual convenience of the people is being sacrificed in order that dividends may be declared. The postal service is the most commonly used and the most important of all public utilities and everything, even passenger traffic, if that were necessary, should be so adjusted as to give a respectable and satisfactory mail service.

That we are not alone in our endurance of this evil the Toronto News, which makes a deliverance upon the subject, will plainly show. The News says:

"The Prince Albert Advocate warns the government that the postal service in the West must be improved. It insists that red tape methods will not go in the West, and that the country will not accept a postal policy dictated by fossil officials who know no more of Western Canada than an Esquimaux knows of the Sandwich islands. Many other Western papers use similar language. At many points the postal service in the new provinces is unsatisfactory, and more mail routes, extensions of the postal car service and more postoffices must be provided. As we have said more than once, while we think the postal department should be self-sustaining, it has no business with a surplus of a million dollars. The department should be a serving, not a taxing department, and its surplus should be devoted to better remuneration of postmasters and mail carriers, and general extensions and improvements of the service."

The Canadian suggests that a monster petition be signed by those who have experienced this inconvenience to show the Ottawa authorities how inadequately the West is being dealt with in the matter of one of its most serious needs.

ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA.

The despatches yesterday informing the world of the escape of the notorious organizer of the terriorists and the head of the revolutionary organizations in Russia throws a flood of light on the apparent quiet that has reigned in the empire of the czar during the last few months. Not until his escape was it known that he had even been sent into exile nor that he was the soul or mind of the terrorist forces. While the Russian authorities from time to time had made their boast that they had succeeded in capturing the leaders of the revolutionary movement the capture of the recognized director of operations was carefully kept secret. It may be that they did not know at the time the importance of the personage committed to the toils of Siberia.

For several months, Russia, which at one time dominated the news pages of the papers of the world because of the horrors perpetrated upon the constitutional and bureaucratic authorities of that unhappy country, has enjoyed a period of reprieve from the extreme outrages of the less recent past. That the revolutionists were still busy has been amply shown but their daring and successful attempts at wholesale destruction of officialdom have not appeared so determined for some time. Their robbery of trains, banks, customs and treasury funds, shows that they have not lacked cohesion and method in their procedure and it is doubtless from the booty thus secured that the ample store of funds they are said to have in their possession has been from time to time replenished.

While there has been a comparative dearth of live news from the seat of these disturbances no one has supposed that the revolution was crushed or even suppressed. It may have been puzzling to understand why there was so sudden a cessation of assassinations, of carefully planned and skilfully executed murders of officials but in the light of the recent news the facts are explained. The revolutionists have been engaged in marauding, robbery and replenishment of their coffers awaiting the successful efforts of their leader to escape.

The despatches assure us that the government of Akatua is in dread that others of the terrorist leaders may escape, as it is said they have not only plenty of money but the sympathy of all the people. It may not be unsafely surmised that they have the sympathy of the guards themselves, and that while the leaders have been in exile they have been busily fomenting sedition and plotting methods of release for the convicts as well.

The revolution and terrorism of Russia embraces in its plans all the middle, peasant, pauper and even the criminal classes, and its black hand is against only the bureaucrat and the despot. Every man with a grievance—and who in Russia outside of the two orders named has not—is fellow to the revolutionist and it needs only that he imbibe the sentiments of hope and ambition which fire the extreme terrorist to become one himself.

With the release of Gerschumin we may look for an early repetition of the horrors which have darkened the page of Russia's history since the termination of the Russo-Japanese war. The Jew may keep out of sight and out of harm's way, it will be unlike him if he does not, but the brains are now restored to the organization and with its thousands of fearless agents who gladly face death and glory when they fall in their deadly work, it will again become the terror of the land.

The recent religious liberty granted to the people of that unhappy country will do but little to stay the tread of the destroyer. It was not religious liberty that the terrorist contended for. It was the abolition of the cruel and selfish, the heartless and inhuman system under which the bureaucrats ruled the land and fattened upon the products of the slavery of the helpless. Religious toleration will not abolish this system if, indeed, it does not serve to accentuate the enmity against it by showing the people that they can be free in one respect and not in another. Wars and rumors of wars will be the fruit of Gerschumin's escape.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The action of the Alberta government in providing under the department of agriculture for the operation of experimental fruit farms is a commendable one that will do much to make arboriculture possible on the prairies when the attempts of individual growers might result in failure. The arrangement provides for the selection of acreages at various points throughout the province where climatic conditions differ and the planting and culture of such hardy specimens as have already given evidence of their adaptability to the somewhat frigid winters of the territory, as well as maturing the fruits in spite of the reticent summer climate.

The government undertook this matter at the urgent request of prospective growers and purchasers of fruit and with the limitless market that is in prospect if the results warrant the expectations of the petitioners, a valuable service will have been rendered the whole country.

The Canadian has expressed the opinion that if a sufficient number of the fruit growers of the interior of this province were to express a desire for the founding of an experimental farm to make just such investigations for the Kootenays as will be made in the Northwest that some hope might be entertained of a similar utility in British Columbia. The government, however, will not thrust such an emprise on the people and if the results of individual growers are satisfactory to themselves perhaps their complacency will be the end of such proposals.

For the newcomers however who are unacquainted with the climate and soil of the upper country such an institution would be a great boon and for those who have lands to dispose of the strongest answer to all suggestions of possible failure could be made by pointing to the experimental farm, where even the novice could be thoroughly initiated into the most successful methods of fruit growing here.

The promptness with which Premier McBride called the bluff of the Liberal association of Victoria when they expressed a wish that he meet the leader of the opposition to debate the question of better terms is of a piece with his entire conduct throughout this unfortunate affair. The wider publicity his actions receive the better it will be for him and for the country he serves. He has nothing to hide and that he should meet the opposition leader on the same public platform would prevent the misstatements and deceit, which while not practised by the leader of the opposition himself are so characteristic of the press which supports him.

It may be better to be born lucky than rich, but most of us don't have a chance to express a preference till it's too late.

A fly and a flea in a flue
Were imprisoned, so what could they do?
Said the fly: "Let us flee."
Said the flea: "Let us fly."
So they flew through a flaw in the flue.

Haunted houses may be curtainless and still have shades.

HORRORS OF JEALOUSY.

Desperate Murder and Suicide Follow Marital Brawls.

Shelton, Conn., Nov. 2.—Following a quarrel between Charles Quazee and his wife late last night, the husband murdered his wife by cutting her throat with a razor and then committed suicide. The bodies were found in a bedroom in their home as the result of an appeal to neighbors by their young daughter, Amelia, who said she was unable to enter the chamber. The door was broken open and the bodies were found on the bed. The razor was on the table nearby.

According to the daughter, her parents had been quarrelling continually for many years, chiefly through jealousy, entertained by her father, of members of his wife's family. Amelia further said that her father several times had threatened to kill the whole family. Last night the two had another quarrel and the mother took her four children and went up stairs. Later Quazee induced her to come down stairs alone on the pretext that he wished to tell her something he did not want the children to hear. As she did not come up stairs again the children went to sleep but this morning Amelia went to the bedroom and found the door locked. Receiving no answer she called in the neighbors. Quazee was 46 years old and his wife 40 years old, and they came from Hoboken, N. J., a month ago. Quazee was employed as a weaver and was considered a good workman and steady in his habits.

No man ever surprised a woman by telling her that he loved her.

MODERN WALKING BONFIRE.

London Physician Says It Is Touch and Go With Female Ornaments.

London, Nov. 2.—"The modern woman is a walking bonfire, only waiting for a naked light to come anywhere in her immediate neighborhood to burst into flame.

The above sentence is, from a letter to the press from a leading physician, who asks, for reasons of professional etiquette, that his name may not be quoted.

"In spite of the various warnings which have been issued from time to time," he continues, "women still persist in decking themselves with celluloid ornaments, and this with the full knowledge that the heat thrown out from a fireplace may result in the horrible fate of death by burning."

A reporter who has collected information on the subject has learned that the case is by no means exaggerated.

The society woman who goes out calling fastens her hair with celluloid hairpins, which are made in a variety of colors to match each gown. She adds a couple of jeweled celluloid side combs and a celluloid slide set with paste.

The straw or felt hat is trimmed with bunches of celluloid grapes, currants or cherries, and stabbbed by a pair of celluloid-headed hatpins.

She wears a pair of celluloid rings for her ears in a delicate shade of turquoise blue, with a necklet of celluloid beads to match.

A celluloid buckle, set with jewels or hand painted, clasps her waistband. Celluloid buttons fasten her gloves. A celluloid holder raises her dress in muddy weather.

The dancing girl is in the same predicament.

Celluloid sequins cover her gown with glittering embroideries. Wreaths of celluloid fruits deck her hair, or a pink celluloid camelia is fastened beside a "Marguerite" plait.

Admiral Dickins Retires.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Having reached his sixty-second year, the age limit for active service in the navy, Rear Admiral F. W. Dickins, a member of the board of rear admirals, was placed on the retired list today. Admiral Dickins has had a long and distinguished career in the navy. He entered the Annapolis academy from Connecticut in 1861 and graduated in 1864. During 40 years he mounted step by step from ensign to the grade of rear admiral and during that time he served in many capacities and did duty in many parts of the world. For several years he served as assistant to the chief of the bureau of navigation and later commanded the battleship Oregon.

Chattanooga Shaken Up.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 2.—An explosion occurred in the yard storeroom of the Cincinnati Southern railroad shops here at 1 oclock this morning, killing one man and fatally injuring another. At least a half dozen others were badly hurt. The storehouse was entirely destroyed, the coaling station badly damaged and several cars broken by the force of the explosion. This explosion shook every building in the city, causing the greatest alarm. It is impossible to estimate the property damage at this hour. The cause of the explosion is a complete mystery.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL

Postholes are being dug for the extension of the electric light into Bogustown.

The plaintiff's exhibits in the appeal case of Star vs. White are being sent to Vancouver today.

The Liberals of Kamloops are getting ready for the next provincial election and notices are out calling a convention for November 26, to nominate a candidate to oppose Hon. F. J. Fulton. Dr. M. S. Wade editor of the Inland Sentinel, will very probably receive the support of the convention as a likely man to place in the field.

After The Canadian went to press yesterday afternoon the meeting of the Agricultural and Industrial association was adjourned until 2 p. m. on Thursday, November 29, presumably at the same place. At the adjourned meeting a proper statement of accounts will be submitted and the matter relating to the district exhibit will be fully gone into.

Among the mining records today will be seen two locations of placer claims on Cottonwood creek. The location is described as being a half mile north of Cottonwood lake. This would place them near the junction of the two branches of the creek and a little above Jin Out creek. This position may interfere somewhat with the city water supply.

The Zinn Musical Travesty company had a better house last night at the performance of "Courtship in Japan." Much amusement was caused by the clever introduction of a gag based on our morning contemporary's lapsus about the intermezzo. This evening "The Telephone Exchange" will be performed. Tomorrow, Saturday, there will be a matinee and in the evening the "Sultan of Morocco" will again be played.

The concert last night at the Methodist church was delayed over an hour by the non-arrival of the Crow's Nest boat, but when at last Harold Jarvis arrived the audience were well repaid for their patient waiting. Mr. Jarvis has a fine baritone voice and also has it well under control. His songs, especially the "Highlanders,' were very well sung and deservedly encored. Mrs. Baer's playing is well known and is always a treat. She has great execution and special facility of phrasing, shown by her rendering of Godard's 2me Mazurka. Wallace Graham, an elocutionist, was the other performer, and his pieces were appreciated.

There will be an important meeting of the local branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis society this evening in the city hall at 8 o'clock. The local members of this society are determined to make every possible effort to arouse the citizens of Nelson to a sense of their duty regarding the white plague. Committees have ben appointed to canvass for subscriptions to the funds for the founding of the provincial hospital and while these are meeting with generous response the apathy of the general public is almost disheartening. It is therefore hoped that this evening's meeting will be attended by many new members.

A Large One

These Boards are good value at the original prices, but they are too expensive to sell, and we have put these reduced prices, which are away below cost, on them, to sell them. In all the range of parlor games there is nothing to equal these Billiard Boards. They are as well made as a regular billiard table, and you can play practically as good a game on them.
