Date of Voting Changed.

The City Council held their usual weekly meeting on Wednesday last. Ald. Bradley, in the absence of the Mayor, took the chair.

Aldermen Bradley and Barnes reported on the complaint made by Mrs. Hutchinson re the King Edward Hotel cesspool. They reported that the proprietors were abating the nuisance as fast as they could.

The Council then went into committee on a whole on the Waterworks Bylaw. Major Burnet presented the plans and specifications of the proposed water system. These were discussed at some length and held over for further consideration at a special meeting to be held on Saturday evening at which Mayor Bell will be present.

The disgraceful state and unsanitary conditions prevailing behind the Union Restaurant, Bell Block and other place sin that vicinity were discussed at some length. It was felt by all the Councillors that immediate steps must be taken to abate the nuisance. As soon as Constable Gardom returns he will be requested to enforce the provisions of the Health By-law

By reason of a small error creeping into the wording of the Waterworks By-law, the date of voting is changed from July 24th to 31st, one week later.

MARRIED.

Provincial Constable Gardom surprised his many friends on Saturday morning by informing them by wire that he had taken unto himself a wife. The happy event occurred on Friday evening and the lady is Miss Helen Munro, who, our readers will remember, sang at a concert given here some three months ago by Madame Glendenning and herself. The news of his marriage has come as a very great surprise to Mr. Gardom's many friends, for it was most unexpected.

As we have no more particulars about his marriage, we must content ourselves with saying that the PROGRESS wishes to be allowed to offer its congratulations and join with the many friends of the happy couple in wishing them all happiness and prosperity throughout the life which they have entered upon.

Mrs. Gardom will be a welcome addition to the musical talent of the town, for besides possessing a musical and well trained voice, she is an artistic performer on the piano.

Mr. McDonald, western manager for the Confederation Life, was a passenger on Saturday's train on a trip through the valley. He was accompanied by W. E. Truesdale, travelling district agent.

The English cabinet has decided to rescind its action cutting down the naval estimates. It will build two battleships of the Dreadnaught class.

Mr. R. Waddell, who recently arrived from Scotland to make a visit to his son, R. Waddell, of Hazlemere Ranch, intends to make many improvements in the property. The house will be entirely repaired and painted, lawns will be laid out, and shade and ornamental trees planted, and the appearance of the property otherwise improved by landscape gardening. Mr. Waddell says that he is more than ever convinced that he selected the right district when he purchased the ranch. When out from Scotland last summer he made a tour of the whole of the agricultural districts of the province, and after most careful consideration decided that the Enderby district was most to his choice. Mr. Waddell will make a two month's stay with his son.

Even in a small community such as this, one cannot keep in touch with everything. Since writing our editorial re the pound by-law, we have found out that a move has already been made to herd the town cows. This we are pleased to see; and now there is no excuse for people allowing their cows to roam the streets at will, it is up to the council to enforce the provisions of this bylaw to the last letter. The young lad who has started the herd is making an attempt to solve the most difficult problem which the council have been called upon to consider, and they will be failing in their duty if they do not now enforce this laws. They were made to be respected and not to be broken.

About the By-Law.

It appears that the Waterworks By-law has been misunderstood in some quarters.

Complaint has been made that whereas the scheme, as propounded at the public meeting which was held for the purpose of considering same was shown to be a self-supporting one, the By-law says nothing on this point, but merely provides for what, on the face of it, appears to be extra taxation.

The By-law, however, was framed by competent legal authority, and is in the form invariably adopted for the purpose of raising funds for municipal enterprises. Nothing short of the actual levying of a special tax for the payment of principal and interest would be deemed adequate security by purchasers of debentures; without this the City's bonds would be unsaleable. The form of levying and collecting this special tax must perforce be gone through; but it is only a form, because the general tax would be reduced by this amount. The revenue derived from the sale water, which, as was shewn at the meeting above referred to would more than meet all expenses connected with this loan, would have to be thrown into the general fund; and it is only a matter of book-keeping to adjust the figures so as to comply with the requirements of the law governing municipal finances. No doubt to the non-legal reader this may appear an unnecessary complication of a matter which in itself is very simple, but the Council's legal adviser assured them that this was the only feasible arrangement.

Those of our readers therefore who have had visions of their taxation being increased several mills through the provisions of this By-law, will see not only that their fears are groundless, but that if general purposes do not call for greater expenditure than at present, the total amount of their taxes would even be reduced, as it is easy to see that there would be surplus revenue from the sale of water.

At Armstrong, where there is a gravity system which is being paid for in the same manner as is now proposed for this City, the surplus revenue on hand after four years operation, amounts to $1,500.00.

There is just as large a revenue in sight here as there is at Armstrong; and, if the By-law passes, we are convinced that the property-owners of Enderby will, in a year or two's time, see that they made no mistake in installing a system of waterworks.

As we have said before, Enderby possesses the best townsite in the valley; and all that is lacking is a good water supply.

If we did not consider the scheme a good one, we should not hesitate to say so. But it is a good one, and if it should be turned down, the town and district will be given a set-back in its endeavors to attract population from which it would take a long time to recover.

We cannot afford to brand ourselves as as unprogressive a community.

ENDERBY SCHOOL ON TOP.

The number of marks secured by the pupils of Enderby Public School who sat for the Entrance Examinations, were as follows: Ernest Evans, 842; Reginald Crane, 772; Herbert Teece, 697; Edith Johnson, 693; Edna Greyell, 603; Maud Brash, 566. In studying the results of the examinations held in this inspectorate (No. 4, containing Yale, Lillooet and Cariboo districts) it is noticed that the average of the marks gained by our successful scholars is the highest of the district. Ernest Evans comes out second on the list, being beaten by Florence Booth, of Canoe Creek, (South) who gained 989 marks, an extraordinary total, while Reginald Crane takes third place, and Herbert Teece ties with Ethel Gibbs, of Lillooet, for ninth place. With such excellent results, we think that the efforts of the school trustees to retain the services of Principal McDonald will meet with the heartiest approval.

Miss D. Lickfold left on Wednesday for Salmon Arm on a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. J. Carefoot.

Editor ENDERBY PROGRESS.

Sir,—The bathing season is again upon us. Men and boys once more feel the impulse to take their "annual bath" to disport themselves in the limpid element.

But all men and boys are not alike; there is a difference to be noticed among them.

Some, it has been observed, with a gentlemanly regard for the feelings of others, betake themselves to a secluded place below the flour mill; others, however, without scruple, bathe above the spot whence the town water supply is taken; in water which minute by minute is being pumped into people's houses.

These individuals probably act thus through mere thoughtlessness; I do not think they would intentionally and deliberately decide to be so discourteous, and to make themselves so objectionable. Some of them, I know, are very estimable persons; but however highly I may esteem a man personally, I most emphatically do not want his bath water served at my table three times a day as a beverage. There's a limit to everything. Please note.

Yours truly,
RISING GORGE.

THE ENDERBY WATERWORKS.

Enderby, B. C., July 19.

Editor ENDERBY PROGRESS.

Sir,—Our city is about to take a step, which, if approved by the citizens will place us in possession of a water system second to none in the valley, owned by the city and not a private company.

We have just had a good illustration of what it is to have a system owned by a private company, as during this very hot weather some of the business men have been in the habit of getting the hose out and spraying the buildings and streets to cool the atmosphere as well as getting a little practice with the work in case of fire, but this week while doing so, along came the assistant manager of the company, with the air of his position and positively put a stop to the proceedings, as he said that it was imposing too much on the company.

Such is what we may expect from a private company, and I hope that it will teach us a lesson and that we will all vote unanimously in favor of a water system owned by the city when the day arrives.

Thanking you for your valuable space,
I am
ONE INTERESTED.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon and family left on Wednesday to join the campers at Tappen Siding.

Apropos of large heads of timothy, H. W. Wright has shown the PROGRESS two heads which he picked at random while walking through his hay field one day this week. One measured eight and a quarter inches in length and the other seven and three-quarters. These are not freaks, but just specimens, the like of which can be seen in any part of the field.

Notes and Comments

PROCLAIMS ITSELF

That the Enderby district is a good one, and possibly better than most of its rivals cannot be controverted when we pause and consider that it must be its advantages which have induced moneyed men to invest in farming land in the vicinity. Within the past year two very wealthy Scottish gentlemen (Messrs. Waddell and Wylie) have bought ranches, the combined value of which is $53,000. When men invest that amount of money in anything, whether in land, or in a business, or in shares, one would reasonably suppose that only after careful consideration, would they do so. They, above all, would have the command of the experience and advise of those most capable of giving opinions as to a district's possibilities and capabilities, and, as we have remarked before, it shows that the Enderby district is as good as its many rivals. Before very long, unless we are very much mistaken, we shall see this district receive much greater attention from home-seekers and investors. In the meantime we should, one and all, spread abroad its many advantages, proclaim the pleasures of life here in the fertile Northern Okanagan to our friends and whom we meet. This is the surest and quickest method of attracting people to the country. If all took as great a delight in enlarging on its advantages as a few do in "knocking," it would not be many years before there would be no room for many more! Our district wants advertising. The best means to do so is to talk about it in a right and truthful way. The next best is by a liberal use of Printer's Ink. In this connection it would not be out of place to state that the Progress is considering the publication of an illustrated brochure, setting forth the districts beauties and advantages, and that a collection of photographs of the district is now being made. Providing the cost of production will not prove too great, our readers may expect a more definite announcement at an early date. In the meantime, don't forget to "Boost!"

WEEDS!

Weeds, weeds, everywhere! Such is the sight which greets the eye of a visitor to town who takes a constitutional stroll around in the cool of the evening. Then he sees all sorts and conditions, and if he were a botanist, what a lovely and comprehensive collection of fine, well matured specimens he could secure! We cannot expect the city council, considering the limited amount of money available, and the fact that they are all business men and therefore cannot afford to give their time to see about destroying them. No, but it is up to each one of us householders to see that weeds are kept under, both inside our own fence, and outside, and also on the street; that is, if we do not wish to see the country overrun with weeds, and our streets become so unkempt. Surely we all take a little pride in the appearance of our town's streets. So let each one see that the weeds around his place are cut down before the majority go to seed. To those who strive to have a garden and grow their own vegetables, etc., and put in all their spare time in tending to it, it is heart-rending to see in a lot near by, weeds of all descriptions going to seed, and sending forth a fresh crop for him to hoe out of his garden next year!

THAT POUND BY-LAW.

From the many complaints being made re the number of cows which roam around the city streets all day—and night too—it seems that the city council will have to again consider this question. Of course, it is somewhat hard for the poor man who keeps a cow, to be unable to let his animal feed on the large amount of pasture which they find throughout the town. But this is not the only consideration, for there are many against the practice of allowing cows to roam the streets at will. Under present circumstances it is utterly impossible for a man to attempt to plant shade trees around his lot, or, if he does, he has to place them two or three feet in from the fence, to prevent cows from eating away one side of their foliage.

Outside of the absolute prohibition of cows running on the streets, there seems to us to be only one other course open. That is, that cows can only be allowed to be pastured outside, providing they are herded. This could be managed if all who keep cows were to jointly hire a man to do this. He would collect the animals in the morning, drive them to a pasture outside of town, and return them in the evening. If this were done, this vexatious question would then be practically settled. We hope that some step will be taken along the lines suggested by us, or in some other way to abate the nuisance.

SCHOOL WANTED

The thought occurs to us that considering the number of children which the settlers along the Mabel Lake road have, there must be a great need of a school. It is the parents duty in these days to provide their children with a good education, and if there are a sufficient number of children of school age in the district under notice, we hope, for their benefit, that steps will be taken to organize a school district and so give the rising generation that learning which the world demands in these days of severe competition.

Rumor hath a malevolent tongue. It is the twin sister of gossip. It blackens more characters than crime, and its purveyor is a black-hearted creature, ever on the alert to poison the atmosphere with infectious spume, which is more dangerous to the community than the germs of tuberculosis.

Rumor that is made responsible for scandal is usually three-quarters lie. It has wings, and travels so fast by wire that the truth can never catch up to it. Rumor is the resort of cowards and blackmailers. When they want to fasten a stigma upon their neighbors they say it "is rumored on the streets," or "there are those who say," or "we have it on good authority," or "it is stated." The man who deals in rumor is usually a hypocrite, who makes great professions, and pretends to be shocked at the revelations which his imagination has conceived. He is evil-minded, and rolls under his tongue, gossip which is salaciously spiced or involves the reputation or honor of a woman. He revels in the filth of politics or society.

We are informed that several shots are to be heard almost any day by settlers along the Mabel Lake road, north of the Indian reserve, and it is well known that deer are being shot by Indians. Cases are reported where the animals have been cut open and the young taken from them. This is a case into which we think the Game Warden for this district should look into, and we hope to see him give it his immediate attention.

What Apples to Plant.

In a circular letter just issued Maxwell Smith, Dominion Fruit Inspector, says: "I am so frequently asked what varieties of apples I should advise planting in the Okanagan Valley and other districts in British Columbia having similar climatic and soil conditions, that I have prepared the following list, and while there are, of course, a number of other good varieties, I can with a reasonable degree of confidence recommend the following as money makers:

Duchess of Oldenburgh, Wealthy, McIntosh Red, Gravenstein, Cox's Orange Pippin, Fameuse, Northern Spy, Esopus Spitzenburgh, Jonathan, Delicious, Stayman Winesap, Yellow Newton Pippin.

Of the twelve, eight are highly colored varieties of rare beauty, viz., Duchess of Oldenburg, Wealthy, McIntosh Red, Fameuse, Esopus Spitzenburgh, Jonathan, Delicious and Staaman Winesap; but the other four, viz., Gravenstein, Cox's Orange Pippin, Northern Spy and Yellow Newton Pippin, possess such excellent qualities and are so well known in the markets of the world, that I hardly think we can leave them out of the list. I should like to point out also that the keeping qualities of these twelve varieties are fairly well indicated by the order in which they are named, beginning with the Duchess of Oldenburgh, which does not keep successfully longer than the end of September, and ending with the Yellow Newton Pippin, which under proper conditions may be kept over until May.

There are four of these varieties, viz., Cox's Orange Pippin, Esopus Spitzenburgh, Stayman Winesap and Yellow Newton Pippin, concerning which particular care should be exercised to give the proper name when ordering, as there are other inferior varieties bearing similar names; that is to say, there are Orange Pippins, Spitzenburghs, Winesaps and Newton Pippins, which are of very inferior quality to the Cox Orange Pippin, the Esopus Spitzenburgh, Stayman Winesap and Yellow Newton Pippin.

While I submit the names of 12 varieties I should not advise any one grower to plant more than four of these and for convenience I should recommend dividing them into three groups, about as follows: Group 1.—Stayman Winesap, Jonathan, Wealthy and Duchess of Oldenburgh. Group 2.—Delicious, Esopus Spitzenburgh, Fameus and McIntosh Red. Group 3.—Yellow Newton Pippin, Northern Spy, Gravenstein, Cox's Orange Pippin.

In planting an orchard I should strongly advise against planting a large block of any one variety. The reason for this is the advisability of getting different varieties in close proximity so as to render effectual the operation of interpollination by the action of wind and honey gathering insects.

That Captain Robert Peary has sacrificed his life in an effort to discover the North Pole, is the fear of naval men in Washington, who are worried by the failure to get any tidings of the ship "Roosevelt," which sailed for the Arctic regions on July 6, 1905. Advices from the American geographical society add to these fears. The weather in the far north this spring and early summer was more than usually rigorous, severe storms have been frequent, and the ice is heavy. Consequently it is feared that Peary's ship may have been ground to pieces by the floes. The explorer's plans last summer were to proceed to the farthest possible point of land north of Cape Sabine, five hundred miles from the Pole. There he was to establish a winter base, and make all preparations for a dash across the ice this summer, as soon as the weather conditions would permit. This, he expected, would not occupy more than six weeks, and, according to his calculations, he would reach home not later than October of this year.

TOWN & DISTRICT . NOTES .

There were a number of landseekers on board Wednesday's train.

Wednesday forenoon was the hottest morning yet.

Mrs. W. P. Gooch and little son left on Wednesday for Kelowna, where they will visit for a while.

Wind broke the boom of the Bowman Lumber Co., near Camborne, and nine million feet of lumber was liberated.

Enderby will soon have another bake shop. As soon as he can, J. W. Bacon intends to open for business in that line in the building next to Metcalfe & Wheeler's store.

Mr. W. J. Brandrith reported to the Province that the fruit prospects were good in the Okanagan. The B. C. Fruit Grower's Association will make exhibits of fruit at the Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina add Moose Jaw fairs.

The writer has just returned from a visit to Edmonton, the capital city of newly-formed Province of Alberta. This is, without doubt, the fastest growing town in western Canada, if not throughout the whole Dominion. Houses in various stages of construction are to be seen by the dozen, and numerous business blocks and four new hotels are either being planned or are actually under way. Real estate is changing hands in some cases at fabulous prices, and the utmost confidence is being shown in the future of Edmonton. The announcement has been made that the Grand Trunk Pacific will cross the Saskatchewan river at Clover Bar, a few miles east of the city, and will enter Edmonton from the north. Both Strathcona and Alberta's capital city have been working hard to secure the terminal of the new highway, and Edmonton is jubilant at the success of their endeavors. The C.P.R. will also build a high-level bridge connecting Edmonton with Strathcona, and have secured property in the former place for a station and freight sheds site. This entry into Edmonton of the C.P.R. has caused intense gratification among all of the older residents, who hold some bitter feelings against the company for their treatment of the city on the northern bank of the Saskatchewan in years past.

Trade licenses are now due and payable at the City Office.

Mr. J. G. Shields, of the Independent Lumber Co., Regina, was a visitor in Enderby on Tuesday.

Mr. F. H. Hale left for Fernie on Wednesday. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Hale, who will visit there for some time.

H. P. Lee was a passenger on Tuesday's train, bound for Sicamous, with the purpose in view of catching the excursionists who take advantage of the cheap ticket which the C.P.R. issued to Okanagan points on July 15th, 16th and 17th.

The Armstrong Advertiser reports that the Greenhow ranch, lying between that place and Vernon, has been placed in the hands of H. P. Lee, real estate agent of Enderby, Armstrong and Vernon for sale in small holdings. Mr. Lee informs us that the announcement is very premature.

Mr. Watson Jones, who visited his brother, William Jones, on the Mara road just north of town, and who returned to the prairie capital a short time ago, took back with him, says a Winnipeg paper, some samples of wheat timothy and clover. The wheat measured sixty-five inches. Several heads measured seven inches, others six and a half, and the shortest was five and a half inches in length. The heads were all six-rowed and on one head a hundred and sixty-eight grains were counted. The wheat was planted late last fall, but did not germinate until spring. The timothy was also a splendid sample, averaging fifty-five inches with heads five inches long. The clover was what is known as Mammoth Red, and was thirty-nine inches high.

The work of repairing the roads throughout the district has been commenced, and teams are busy hauling gravel to fill up the holes. We understand that a better job than usual is being made of the lower portion of the Mabel lake road, inasmuch that some brushing is being done, which will, we hope, be done in as good a manner so as to do away with some of the dangerous manoeuvers which have to be gone through when two rigs meet on this road.

R. R. Gibbs and Miss Gibbs were passengers on Monday's train on a visit to Penticton and other lake points.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Gracie were visitors to Vernon on Monday.

A. J. Lapworth has secured the contract for the painting and decorating of A. L. Fortune's new house. The house will soon be ready for the painter's brush.

Mr. B. Huffman, of Kelowna, who has been visiting his father, Mr. W. G. on the Mara road, left on Monday on a trip to Winnipeg.

Rev. Howard J. King, of Armstrong, will celebrate Holy Communion at S. George's Church on Sunday morning next, at 11 o'clock.

Next Sunday's services at S. George's Church will be, Matins with Holy Communion, 11 a.m., by Rev. Howard J. King. Sunday School at 10 a.m. No evening service.

A somewhat severe storm of thunder and lightning visited Enderby during the early hours of Tuesday morning. The lightning was particularly vivid, and the peals of thunder were very heavy and of long duration. Not much rain fell, and the heat has not abated any.

F. M. Logan, B.S.A., of the Agricultural Department, Victoria, was a passenger on Tuesday's train, en route for Armstrong, where he will inspect the creamery there.

Mr. J. McQueen spent the week end at his home here, returning to the Landing on Monday.

Haying is now in full swing and the hot sunny weather is just the kind to enable the work to be done expeditiously. The crop is an average one, and if the present weather continues, will be saved in good condition.

We would respectfully suggest to the Enderby brethern of L. O. L. No. 446, that it is in order for next year's Interior Orange celebration to be held here. During the past few years it has been held successively at Revelstoke, Vernon, Armstrong and Salmon Arm, and we hope that when the matter comes up at the next meeting of the Grand Lodge that a big fight will be made to secure the celebration for Enderby.

One need not be an "old-timer" to recognize the lately arrived from the eastern provinces by their exclamations at the seemingly high prices asked for commodities. The other day a lady entered a general store in this city, and after asking the price on various articles, exclaimed, "Oh, you're a little dear!" Glancing around the shop the proprietor replied, "I'm glad my wife is not around; besides, this is the third time today I have heard that." Needless to say there were explanations on by both parties, but the lone spectator of this episode sought a cooler atmosphere.

L. Norris, Government Agent at Vernon, was in town on Monday. Mr. Norris' visit was in connection with the application of Messrs. Bogart, Gunter and Coltart for a road, as at present they have to cross one another's fields when travelling to and from town. The new road will run from a point opposite W. Elson's orchard, keeping to the higher ground on the slope on the east side of the valley. The putting through of this road will be a great convenience to these settlers and will be greatly appreciated by them.

It has been suggested to form a camera club among the many devotees of this hobby. The aim of camera clubs is one of mutual self-help in the art of photography. By the interchange of ideas and experiences one can learn more than from the study of technical books, etc. Besides, there is the social side. Outings can be arranged, primarily with the object of securing pictures which, if run on "picnic lines," would make picture hunting all the more enjoyable. We hope to see the idea taken up, which, we think, would be the means of providing many a pleasant outing.

Montreal, July 14.—An action for breach of promise of marriage is being taken by Miss Emma Cushing of this city against Mr. J. M. Christie, formerly manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch near here, but now manager of their branch at Penticton, B. C. The wedding day was fixed for December 7, 1904. Unfortunately just at that time Christie was seized with appendicitis, and had to be operated upon, so that although all was in readiness for the ceremony, it had to be postponed until he could regain his health.
