J. Murphy, brother of P. Murphy, of the King Edward Hotel, is making a visit to Enderby.

LOCAL NOTES.

A. Paul was a visitor to Armstrong on Tuesday, on business in connection with the new Presbyterian church now under construction here.

Mr. Howarth, accompanied by Mrs. Howarth, came in on Saturday from Calgary, and have taken up their residence on Knight street, east of the railway tracks. Mr. Howarth has charge of the Enderby branch of the Armstrong Farmers' Exchange, recently established in Enderby.

Do not wait till haying time before you see about a new Mower or Rake. Come now to Harvey & Dobson's and see their stock of implements.

To carry a by-law such as those before the citizens today, requires a three-fifths majority of all the votes cast.

Messrs. D. Nairn and W. P. Gooch journeyed down to Armstrong on Wednesday and played two games of tennis with Messrs. G. Moberly and F. Cornwall. In the doubles, Enderby was beaten, and Mr. Gooch lost to Moberly in the singles, while D. Nairn beat F. Cornwall.

The system for fire protection installed last fall was given its first trial on Thursday evening. The chimney of the restaurant caught fire, and till the water was got on to it, the blaze looked rather ugly. Water was had in six minutes.

A heavy team of horses belonging to Matthews & Evans, which had been in quarantine on account of supposed infection with glanders, passed the second test all right.

ON HER LAST TOUR OF CANADA.

Rev. D. Campbell Honored.

The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation will be gratified to learn that their minister has been unanimously elected moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of British Columbia and Alberta. This election to such high office is a striking tribute to Mr. Campbell's sterling worth and zeal in the pursuance of his duties. Rev. Mr. Campbell was born in the County of Huron, Ont., and received his college training in the Universities of Toronto and Manitoba. He was graduated from the Theological Hall in Winnipeg in 1895. Soon after, he went to Edinburgh, Scotland, where he took post-graduate work. On his return he devoted three years to arduous mission work in the far off Cariboo field. He was minister in Greenwood, B. C., for short time, and three years ago assumed the pastorate of the Spallumcheen congregation, where he has had a conspicuously successful career. His election to the high office of moderator of the Synod is a tribute to his worth and to his zealous interest in home mission work.

In calling the meeting to order, Rev. Mr. Logan, the retiring Moderator, gave the customary annual sermon. He took for his text Acts xxvi., 19. "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision." The discourse was a masterly effort and was listened to by the large congregation with much interest. Mr. Logan declared that it was "vision" of church statesmen in past years that had prepared for the marvelous growth of the West. He carefully reviewed the remarkable progress in the far West during the past twenty years. He stated that in 1885, the Presbytery of Columbia was formed with nine members, some of whom belonged to eastern points. The present Synod of British Columbia and Alberta covers less territory, but has nine Presbyteries, and the long roll of ministers' names called and responded to, was an eloquent testimony of the amazing progress of the church during the last decade. He also referred in a very earnest way to the necessity of the parents having a vision of future usefulness for their children, and declared that without vision the people perished.

HELD UP TUESDAY
Near Kamloops

At 11.30 o'clock on Tuesday night the C.P.R. westbound transcontinental express was held up by three masked and heavily armed men, and the mail car robbed.

The holdup occurred at a point about five miles west of Ducks station and thirteen miles east of Kamloops. The engine and mail car were detached from the train and run west about half a mile, where the robbers rifled some of the registered mail. Their work concluded, the robbers took the locomotive, manned by Engineer Callin and his fireman, and ran about half a mile farther west, where they stopped the engine and jumping off, disappeared in the darkness to the south of the track. It is supposed that the robbers jumped on the back of the tender at Shuswap, which was the last stop of the train east of the scene of the holdup.

With them they had a box containing a large amount of dynamite. On the run west from Shuswap they crawled over the coal on the tender and made their presence known to Engineer Callin by shoving a revolver in his face and ordering him to stop the train. They also covered the fireman. For their pains, the robbers secured only seven registered letters. All these were addressed to Victoria. The Vancouver registered mail was untouched thanks to the coolness of Mail Clerks Willis and McQuarrie, who stood the robbers off, and finally convinced them that they had shown all the registered mail on the train. In the letter-case at the forward end of the mail coach there was registered mail containing probably between $30,000 and $40,000 in money which the robbers failed to ransack, although they inquired concerning it, but were satisfied when told that it was merely ordinary mail. Several posses of Indian trackers and cowboys are in hot pursuit of the men today. The spot where they dropped off the train has been located, and reports indicate that the men had horses at their disposal for escape. The whole country in the vicinity of the holdup has been aroused, and news of the fleeing men is expected at any time.

Police and detectives are also being sent north from the boundary line, and the secret service men are scattering all through the country to the north and south of the C.P.R. tracks in the hope of running the men down. It is asserted by some, that the gang is Bill Miner's, which held up a train two years ago near Mission Junction.

Reports this morning, say the camp of the train robbers had been discovered, five miles from the mouth of Campbell creek, where it empties into the South Thompson river, by Indian trackers. Everything about this camp pointed to its having been in use for several weeks. It was in a secluded spot almost secure from observation, and only by chance would any person going up the creek have stumbled across it.

A light engine came through on Thursday to inform the C.P.R. agents on the S. & O. branch, and Provincial Constable Gardom went over towards Grand Prairie, with a posse of men and will be held responsible for this part of the country.

COUNCIL MEETING

The City council held their usual weekly meeting on Wednesday evening.

Those present were: Aldermen Bradley, Barnes, Evans and Worthington. In the absence of Mayor Bell, Ald. Bradley was voted to the chair.

The business consisted chiefly of a discussion of the waterworks question, brought about by the Mayor submitting the following report:

From His Worship the Mayor, dated May 9th, stating that having been commissioned by the council to make enquiries re water, he and Ald. Bradley, in company with Messrs. Heggie and Hassard had made an examination of Smith's Creek, that he had not been able to see Mr. F. Hassard Sr. but had seen Mr. Smith, who is prepared to give the city a free right of way in consideration of their allowing him a free three-quarter inch tap, to be used only in case his present supply gives out. Mr. F. H. Hassard is also prepared to give a free right of way in return for ten free one-half inch taps, to be used only in the event of his land being divided. Mr. Hassard will also surrender his water record in favor of the city, and will fill in the ditch which traverses his property. Mr. Heggie stated, on behalf of Mr. Wylie, that he would give a free right of way through his land in return for one free three-quarter inch tap. This disposed of the whole question of right of way except in regard to that portion which would have to pass through the Indian Reserve, in regard to which, enquiries would have to be made at the Coast in reference to the acquisition of a right of way through Indian lands.

His Worship also submitted a letter which he had received from Mr. Atkinson, of the Canadian Pipe Co., Vancouver, offering to come to Enderby and take measurements and levels, so as to be in a position to make a very close estimate of the cost of installing a waterworks system in Enderby.

The Clerk was instructed to write to the Mayor, asking him, while at the Coast, to call upon Mr. Atkinson and arrange for him to come to Enderby, as proposed.

Mayor Bell also reported that Mr. Sweeny, of the Bank of Montreal, had assured him that his institution would be able to place any waterworks debentures that the city might desire to offer at 5 per cent. interest, at par.

The above was received with much satisfaction by the members of the Council, and shews the faith that the Bank of Montreal has in the Okanagan Valley and our high financial standing.

The Clerk was instructed to write to the Education Department, asking them to at once define the City School District, as promised by them some time back.

A team consisting of P. Murphy, D. Hyslop, J. Murphy, A. Matthews, W. Mack, E. Evans, C. Hancock, I. Jones, and R. Wheeler, journeyed to Armstrong on Wednesday afternoon and played a game of baseball with the team just organized there. The game was a very even and good one all through. At the ending of the fifth innings the score stood at 1—1. In the sixth Enderby broke away and the game ended at the ninth inning in a victory for Enderby, by a score of 7—2.

Notes and Comments

The property owners of Enderby are called upon to vote on two by-laws on Tuesday next, the 15th inst.

One is to authorize the Council to borrow $1,200 for the purpose of acquiring land to be used as a recreation ground; while the second provides for the giving of permission to the Columbia Flouring Mills Co. to cross certain public streets with a tramline.

With regard to the former, there can be no doubt that the purchase of land to be used as a recreation ground by the Council is a laudable object, and a farseeing proposition. For, many cities, which could, a few years ago, have bought land for such purposes at a low figure, now, when such a place has become almost a necessity, find that three times the money will not purchase it. We hope to see this by-law endorsed.

It seems a very small matter, that of granting the management of the flour mill, permission to cross city streets with a tramline. Many cities are offering large inducements to industries, and the least we can do is to facilitate to the utmost in our power such industries as we are fortunate enough to possess. The privilege proposed to be granted is only to extend over a period of five years, and after that can be terminated at any time by the giving by the city, of twelve months notice.

As is well-known, Messrs. Harvey & Dobson claim as their private property, a portion of the roadway proposed to be traversed by the tramline, and we have no doubt that should they establish their claim, any privilege granted by the city in respect of such roadway would be null and void.

The passing of the by-law would in no way prejudice Messrs. Harvey & Dobson's claim. If their claim is a sound one, it can be established by an appeal to the Courts, and in no other way, and it is illogical for any citizen to come to the poll next Tuesday with the idea that his vote, whether for or against, will in any way affect the final decision of the matter.

A most interesting bulletin has been issued from the laboratory of the Inland Revenue Department, at Ottawa. The bulletin, which is numbered 116, is a report of the analyses of different samples of stock foods and other cattle foodstuffs collected by the department. The results are all set forth in various tables, and give the results of microscopical and chemical analysis. The bulletin is a most interesting compilation, and is well worth sending for. We notice that a sample of bran from the Columbia Flouring Mills Co., of this town, heads the list of the different samples of that commodity, giving 17.06 per cent. of proteids, 4.40 per cent. fat, and 6.80 crude fibre. In proteids, (i.e. flesh forming materials) it is nearly 2 points higher than the next in the list, which was a product of the Ogilvie Milling Co. The average amount of proteid matter in the twenty-nine samples examined was 13.47. By this, it is shown the bran supplied by the local mill cannot be equalled as a milk producer.

We have been mildly amused of late by the ludicrous attempts of our contemporary, the Armstrong Advertiser, to foist its cheap smartness on the reading public. If this suits the subscribers of the journal mentioned, all is well, and we are content to let them fill their "precious columns" with personalities as tasteless as they are ridiculous. When, however, it comes to wasting three-fourths of a column in a wandering attack on a friendly contemporary, it is evident that the editor of the Armstrong Advertiser felt the field too small for his smartness in the local columns and must needs write an article, in which a malevolent turn of mind is plainly evident.

Our esteemed contemporary is skating on very thin ice, however, when it mentions "fillers", as applied to newspapers. We have only to turn its pages to discover three large advertisements for the "office", which are very palpable "fillers" and what is worse still, advertising matter, taken at a rate far below that at which it can be profitable, to the detriment of the home merchants and the publishing business in general. We ask, what can be manifestly more unfair than to charge the business men in its own town a higher rate, by thirty per cent., for advertising than is charged to outside firms handling a similar line of goods or manufactures? Of the reading matter commonly known as "boiler plate", we notice three full columns, which, no doubt, have done duty before in the pages of the Advertiser. We heartily recommend the editor of the Armstrong Advertiser to study his "Pilgrim's Progress" or the "Stepping Heavenward", of which he writes so glibly, and strive to attain that from which he is as yet very far off. He should seek to set his own

Mining in The Okanagan.

An excellent article from the pen of A. Wheeler, entitled Mining in Vernon District, appears in the current issue of the B. C. Mining Exchange. The article contains an interesting write-up of the Monashee Mines, which are situated between Cherry Creek and Kettle River, and which were the scenes of the first lode mining in British Columbia. An excellent description is also given of The British Empire Mine, near Vernon, which the writer says that he fully believes it is capable of paying good returns, providing the present ore body maintains its value as depth is obtained. The writer in a few notes, re the discovery last year on Seymour Arm, says: "The district is apparently well worthy of the prospectors' notice and I hear that at many points on Shuswap and Mara Lakes active boat-building is going on with a view to thoroughly prospecting all that country this summer, and that there is every likelyhood of a large camp being established there as soon as the snow goes from the mountains. Private parties whom I met at Enderby also informed me that they owned claims on the lead which they would develop this summer. There is immense water power available and being only ten miles from navigable water makes the discovery all the more important. A test shipment of 300 pounds made to Trail, gave the following results: 30 ounces silver, 71 per cent. lead, while average samples gave 20 per cent. zinc and 5 per cent. manganese. The bonding syndicate have agreed to begin development work on or before June 1st next, to spend $20,000 at a rate of not less than $100 a day in such work and pay off the bond beginning on October 1st, $60,000; April 1st, 1907, $60,000; October 1st, 1907, $60,000, and April 1st, 1908, $60,000." After reading the foregoing, one is made to think that the Okanagan Valley will not only be famous for its fruit and agricultural wealth and sunshine, but has the prospects of becoming a mineral producer as well. Truly, a happy combination! For what more could we wish than for the earth to be giving us of her fulness in mines and agriculture.

Mail-Clerk Finlayson complains of the great number of letters, which are posted in the train. He says that it is an abuse of the privilege which is accorded the public, to be able to mail letters on the train. He hopes that all who can, will post their letters in the local office, and not "post on the train."

The members of Eureka Lodge No. 50, I. O. O. F., will commemorate the 87th anniversary of the founding of the order by attending divine worship next Sunday morning. All members will assemble at the lodge room, and will march in procession to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where Rev. D. Campbell will conduct the service.

Mr. Shatford was returning from accompanying his father and mother, who were returning from a holiday spent in California to their home in eastern Canada. He says that it was very cold in the prairies, and found our 80 degrees in the shade far different to the temperature east of the mountains. Mr. Shatford says that the Okanagan is the best part of the whole Dominion, and that all parts of the valley are making rapid progress.

house in order before attempting to read (as he thinks) a lesson to a contemporary. "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you."

We apologize to our readers for the wasting of so much of our "precious columns" over that Armstrong Editor, but we do not see why he should constitute himself a sort of censor over "Okanagan papers."

In the House of Commons on Friday last, Mr. Roche drew attention to the protests from British Columbia farmers that the malien test was unreliable. One farmer wrote that a certain government veterinary inspector, after shooting a large number of horses, threw up his job, rushed over to Washington territory and bought three carloads of horses to sell to the farmers whose animals had been killed off. Mr Fisher claimed that the malein test was regarded by the profession as absolutely infallible. This subject was again ventilated at the meeting of the agricultural committee, at which, Mr. Rutherford, chief veterinary, said that quarantine arrangements for animals along the western frontier were ineffective and must be remedied. He said it was proposed to establish an up-to-date quarantine station at Vancouver.

The first rail of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was laid on Wednesday at Portage la Prairie.

The largest cedar tree ever discovered in this locality—a huge forest monarch that must be over three hundred years old, according to its annual rings—was blown into fragments with a charge of dynamite a couple of days ago, says the Vancouver Province. This monster cedar grew in the Capilano Valley, about half a mile above the Vancouver city waterworks dam, and was thirty feet in circumference.
