LATE PERSONAL ITEMS.

The service in the English church will be at 7.30 p.m., not 11 a.m.

The first election in the new Province of Alberta will be held on November 9.

A movement is on foot to organize a mock parliament at Vernon.

E. Rhian of the Armstrong Advance was up Tuesday last week, and we acknowledge a call.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Burns spent Thanksgiving Day at Sicamous, returning to Armstrong on Friday.

G. McCormick and F. Shields returned Saturday from a trip along the main line.

F. Johnson. charged with being drunk on the Reserve, and having liquor in his possession at the same time was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

A bazaar, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. George's church, will be held in the Town Hall on the evening of November 15. Music at intervals. Refreshments will be served. Look for the fish pond.

Rev. H. J. Miller and wife, of Yorkton, Sask., arrived on Saturday last to spend a week with his brother, Rev. A N. Miller, before proceeding to Long Beach, California, where they expect to spend the winter.

F. Smith, traveller for Gage's wholesale paper house, was in town after Christmas orders, and reports business through the valley as fair to good While in town he stayed at the King Edward, and has nothing but praise for the new hotel. saying that it was the nicest and most comfortable little house that he had stopped in for some time.

W. Pugh, who bought F. Hart's place some three miles from Salmon Arm, was a pleasant caller last week. He had lost a horse and was in town trying to locate him. Mr. Pugh was through this valley many years ago, and while he notes many great land improvements, but not as much as he had expected. He comes from Montana, and only located here about a month ago.

One item of freight among the cargo of the ss. Japan, which sailed from Vancouver last week, was 25 tons of British Columbia flour from Enderby, for Kobe, and 3000 sacks from Portage. These shipments of Canadian flour, which are growing larger with each successive trip, are causing great satisfaction, and the indications are that the cheap American grades will eventually be ousted from the markets of Japan.

Glanders is very prevalent in the district, and extraordinary measures must be taken if the disease is to be stamped out and infection prevented. It would be well if everyone would follow the example of some of the big ranchers, and see to the thorough disinfection of their stables, which should be sprayed with carbolic acid. Energetic and concerted action in this connection would soon produce satisfactory results. News

To the Wishes of his People. Will be Absolute Monarch no Longer. De Witte to be Premier. Will Formulate Constitution on Model of English Parliament.

After terrible scenes of strikes, riots and conflicts with soldiers, the people of Russia have gained that for which they have striven.

All this week the whole of Russia has enthusiastically celebrated the Emperor's gift of freedom, which has been received with the deepest joy, not only throughout Russia, but all over the civilized world. By this one stroke the Romanoff dynasty has regained the respect and loyalty of its subjects, and the present Czar, by this reformation has carried out the ideals of humanity which prompted him to call the famous peace conference that met at The Hague. Though no longer autocrat, he becomes doubly Emperor, because, like our late beloved Queen Victoria, he rules their hearts.

The scenes in St. Petersburg were such as never had been witnessed before. Unrestrained, the crowds did and said what they liked. Despotism seemed at once to have given place to freedom. The churches are full of people devoutly thankful for God's mercies.

The Debating Society meets tonight at 9 p.m. sharp in the Orange Hall.

The ladies' literary society meets at Mrs. J. E. Crane's next Thursday.

P. Burnet, D & P. L. S., returned on Saturday last from a survey trip near Kamloops. Mr. Burnet had an extremely hard trip, and is glad to get back.

Have you read our subscription offer on page 2? If you already take the Family Herald, let us renew for you when your subscription expires. If you wish for any other, we will make arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, of Boissevain, Man., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Bradley. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Shannon and Mrs. Bradley left for a trip down the lake, Mr. Bradley joining them on Thursday.

Rev. Goro Kaburangi of Vancouver will deliver a missionary address in the Methodist church this evening, Friday, at 7.30 p.m. He is a very entertaining speaker, and those who may have the pleasure of hearing him will enjoy a treat.

R. Wheeler, R. Hancock, J. C. Metcalfe and W. Mack climbed to the top of the Cliff on Sunday last. Starting from a point some three miles below town on the Mara road, to top was reached soon after noon, after a hard and at times dangerous ascent. From the, Okanagan lake to the south and Kault to the east, could be seen. The wind was blowing strong and cold, but there was no snow.

Local Orangemen will celebrate the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot on the evening of November 4, by holding a degree meeting. The first part of the evening will be spent in degree work, in which several candidates will be advanced to the Royal Arch, after which a musical programme, speeches and supper. A pleasant time is anticipated.

RANDOM NOTES

Trade is good in the valley just now. An immense quantity of vegetables and fruit has been shipped out this fall, and there seems to be a feeling of impatience for next season to come round, when great strides will be made in the fruit industry.

A change that will give an impetus to fruit growing around Enderby, and one which will in a short time greatly increase the amount of fruit shipped from here, is about to take effect. Sir Arthur Stepney, and his manager, Mr. Heggie, after consulting experts at the coast and down the valley as to the more profitable work of the Stepney Ranch adjoining Enderby, have decided to go in extensively in fruit growing. An auction sale of stock will accordingly be held, particulars of which will be found in our advertising columns. This speaks volumes for the suitability of the Enderby district for the production of first quality fruit, when men of the experience of Sir Arthur and his manger effect such a radical change. The change is not experimental, for success is assured.

An interesting party were aboard last Monday's train, viewing conditions and prospects throughout the valley. They were C. B. Schmidt of Pueblo, Cal., and F. O. Harvey, of London, England, and A. R. Lackie, chief engineer of the Vernon and Midway, and R. Smales of Greenwood, the principal promoter of that enterprise, and were accompanied by Price Ellison, M.P.P. Mr. Schmidt is an underwriters' expert engaged by the financiers of the line to make a report on the agricultural and industrial resources of the section of country to be served. Mr. Schmidt spoke enthusiastically regarding the fruit growing possibilities of the Okanagan. The party were driven over the route of the new line from Kelowna to Vernon by Mr. Ellison, visits also being paid to Enderby and Armstrong. The mineral resources will be reported on by Mr. Harvey, who visited several well known mining properties, among them the British Empire, which is on the proposed route whose prospects are said to be good. Samples of Enderby coal were also examined with interest, its quality, it is said, being most favorably commented upon.

Mr. Godsoe left yesterday for the coast, where he will make his future home. Mrs. Godsoe leaves on Saturday.

The proceedings of the court of revision last Monday passed of quietly, and of the ten complaints only one was partly allowed, that of Mr. Barnes. That the assessor has made a fair and equitable valuation cannot be gainsaid when we note the small number of the complaints and the unanimity of the court.

We note that Armstrong scribes are "guessing" and "betting" that the volume of freight shipped out of Armstrong is heavier than that from any other point in the valley. It was clearly proved last year Enderby lead in this respect; and Armstrong would appear more dignified if those making such statements would indulge in less hot air and more figures.

In an article which appeared recently in the Vancouver World, dealing with the activities of Mr. Byron Williams, provincial game warden, and praising the alertness of his constables, there being on this account less advance shooting, we read: "One of them, Mr. Gardom of Enderby, had brought five convictions during the season and in every case secured a conviction."

At the meeting held last week in the King Edward Hotel the Gun Club was reorganized, and the following officers elected: W. A. Dobson, president, D. Nairn, vice, E. Harrap, sec., and A. E. Taylor treas. The membership fee is one dollar, and a cordial invitation is extended to all desirous of becoming members to enroll their names. It is expected that the inaugural shoot will be held on Saturday.

SALMON ARM ITEMS

The death occurred here last Wednesday of Dr. A. H. Simpson, who has been a resident here for a short time. He was only 37 years of age, and came from Winnipeg.

Dr. Sloan of Owen Sound visited the Arm last week and was favorably impressed with the fruit growing prospects.

J. Hart sold 80 acres of his farm to W. Pugh of Montana. Mr. Pugh also purchased 80 acres adjoining from Mr Boyd: and intends making extensive improvements.

Mrs. Blake is building a substantial house near the station, and intends opening a restaurant on the lower flat.

S. M. Lawrence has taken over A. Brown's interest in the Coronation Hotel and is having a cottage built for his family.

The C. P. R. has just built a new platform at the station, which is a great improvement, making one of the best platforms between Calgary and Vancouver.

Shipments in carload lots is brisk. The total last week was 4 cars apples, 4 cars potatoes, 1 car hay, besides small shipments daily.

The Farmers' Institute meets the first Saturday in the month at 8 p.m.

GIFT TO ST. GEORGES

Rev. F. V. Venables, referring last Sunday morning to the improvements made in St. George's Church, said:

"Those of you who are acquainted with church architecture know that a church should consist of three parts: the sanctuary, chancel and nave, or three different levels. This correct arrangement we now have through these recent improvements, and also now have the prayer desk: lectern and pulpit in the correct position, west of the door.

"The arrangement of all churches into three parts, yet forming one whole is emblematic of the Holy Trinity—Three Persons in one God. We had been anxious for some time to make these alterations, but lack of means prevented, and it gives us great pleasure to say that it was only through the kindness and liberality of Mr. A. Shields, who presented us with the material, that it was made possible for us to make these improvements. We should all feel grateful to Mr. Shields for thus enabling us to improve our church. There is now room for an extra seat in the south isle, and the back seat in the north isle is now being altered to suit the improvements to the font, which we hope by next Sunday to have raised on a pedestal, with steps."

Thanksgiving Day

Thursday last week was Thanksgiving Day. It was an ideal fall day, bright and clear, with a flood of glorious sunshine. The day was generally observed as a holiday. Truly it was a hearty Thanksgiving. The harvest has been good, demand for labor exceeding the supply, and new industries springing up, and peace and contentment reigning throughout the Dominion.

SACRED CONCERT

A very successful sacred concert was that given by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church in the Town Hall last night. There was a good audience, who were attentive and highly appreciative.

Local talent, which is of no mean order, constituted the programme, and were assisted by Rev. and Mrs Wright of Vernon, who came up for the occasion. Mr. GoroKaburangi, a polished native of Japan, spoke interestedly on his beloved country, his comparisons amusing the audience. Space and time permits of no more. The ladies who organized the concert are to be congratulated, and the last item, refreshments, had to be tasted! to be appreciated.

ABOUT OURSELVES

The last number of THE EBENOGRAPH has appeared; but by which we do not mean that the publication has ceased to exist. Under its new name of the ENDERBY PROGRESS it will aspire to its proper field—that of disseminating the news of the day and voicing public sentiment; with such aims we confidently appeal to the citizens of Enderby and district for a greater measure of support. And we hope that with the change in name will sink in oblivion the individuality of the late proprietor.

Under the new title its columns will furthur any reasonable schemes for the promotion of the city's interests. The municipal elections are not very far ahead, and while recognizing the good work of the present council in the arduous tasks following incorporation, it is very evident that next year is to be the year in which real progress will be made.

Several public utilities demand attention. A waterworks system is urgently needed, and is one that will call for the immediate attention of the new council; and with that a sewerage system. The need of better roads is badly felt, and the scandalous state of one road leading out of town should have the attention of all Enderby business men.

Why the northern end of the Okanagan Valley should not have government telephone communication is another matter that should be looked into.

All of these subjects will have attention as opportunity offers; and we ask our readers to give their views in our correspondence column.

There is still a considerable number of merchants who believe that money spent for advertising is practically thrown away. They say that they have been in business for ever so many years, and have never spent any money for advertising so why should they commence now? One of the most prominent stores in the country, says an American authority, found it necessary, because of competition, to commence advertising in newspapers after a successful life of over thirty years, with the result that in the last ten years its business has been more than tripled, while the city has only doubled in population. This fact carries its lesson with it. The business had been successful for a number of years—and just because of this success the growth after the new departure was more than marvellous. In other words—the business that can live without is the business that can profit by advertising.

AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY.

We learn that among the ancient and dusty archives of the City Hall there has been discovered an interesting document, a transcript of which we give below. There is no name attached, the parchment being merely signed "The Clerk." Who the individual referred to by the writer was, it is now difficult to determine, though further investigation may disclose his identity; we leave the problem to our readers.

The probability is that he was some mediaeval lawyer, of light and leading in his day: and it is evident that he was a genial fellow into the bargain. "Requiescat in pace!"

Transcribed from the black letter into modern typography and twentieth-century diction, this literary relic of the past reads as follows:

Lux Benigna: or, Our Mentor

Oh, how dull we used to be
Before he came among us!
The Fathers sad, the Mayor as bad—
What gloom then hung upon us!

Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
Irae dies! ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!

The City Clerk, oh! glum was he,
The Constable in tears—
For, oh! it was so very slow,
Through many weary years!

Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
Irae dies, ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!

He says, quite hot, "Your bylaw's rot,
"I'll smash it, sure as fate;
"It is a nullity, a blot,
"Among your statutes great—

Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
Ira dies! ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!

And thus he toddles in and out,
As gay as any lark;
And you may hear his blythesome shout
From dawn till after dark—

"Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
"Irae dies! ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!"

Oh, thou fount of legal light!
How lived we e're without thee?
Than arc or gasolene more bright,
Thou shed'st thy rays about thee—

"Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
"Irae dies, ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!"

Then shine, thou luminary kind,
In all thy native glory!
Irradiate the darkened mind
With thine enlightening story—

"Ipse dixit, certiorari, ab initio!
"Irae dies! ultra vires! this won't do,
you know!

Change in the Election Act

At the last session of the provincial legislature several changes were made in the municipal elections act, which makes a big difference with regard to the registration of voters. It has been customary in past years to require every voter with the exception of those paying a property holders' tax, to sign declaration setting forth that he or she had paid at least $60 a year for lodging, with an addition of $2 revenue tax, the latter being payable to the city. In what is known as bill 71, it is stated that a householder is one who pays during the year rates, taxes or fees to the city of not less than $2, which entirely does away with the qualification of the amount paid for lodging. Plainly, it means that every British subject, male or female, over 21, who pays any rates, taxes or fees to the city of not less than $2 is entitled to register as a voter of the City of Enderby.

Another change made in the same section states that no declaration will be accepted which is not delivered to the clerk or receiver of votes within 48 hours after it is made out, and declarations must be in the hands of the clerk before 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day on which the list closes. By this the work of the clerk is simplified as in days past large lists of declarations have brought in on the last day.

In section 5 of chapter 20 another amendment occurs, which deals with the date of nomination and election day. Nomination is now set for the third Monday in January and election day the Thursday following, whereas in the old law it was stated that nomination day was on the second Monday in January, and election day the Thursday following. This also gives the clerk a better opportunity of making out and a much better chance of having the list corrected.

City Fathers

Minutes of Meeting held on Oct. 52 —Council will examine all The Bylaws

The Mayor and all the Aldermen were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Rex. v Long Louie — Mr. Gooch, having received permission to address the council, renewed his application for the return of the fine imposed on this case. Refused.

The communication received from the Columbia Flouring Mills Co., asking that the outlet of the Mill street drain be put below their intake pipe, was brought up for further consideration and reply. It was moved by Aldermen Sharp and Evans that the clerk write and inform the Columbia Flouring Mills, that while there is some force in their objection, the expense of the diversion over the original plan would be such as to render it impossible for the Council to carry out the work of draining Mill street till another year; and that the best solution of the difficulty would be for the Company to extend their intake pipe to the middle of the river; and if funds were at the disposal of the Council at the present time they would willingly bear a proportion of the extension; in the event of the suggestion being adopted the Council would recommend to their successors to reimburse the Company to the extent of one half of such cost.

The question of amending the public morals bylaw was again postponed.

The clerk pointed out the difficulty in collecting the dog tax, asking the Council to sanction a more workable scheme. He also drew their attention to one or two deficiencies in the bylaw After some discussion, Ald Evans gave notice that he would introduce an amending bylaw at the next meeting.

It was decided to examine the whole of the bylaws with a view to amending them in any particulars in which the experience of the Council might enable them to effect improvement.

A letter was received Mr. A. M. Baird asking permission to dig a ditch for the purpose of putting in a waterpipe along Knight street to the skating rink. Permission was granted on the conditions that the work be done without delay; that it be properly guarded; that Mr. Baird be responsible for any accidents which might occur in consequence of the execution of such work, and that the council be at liberty to take it over at any time by paying a sum equal to the cost, less 10 per cent. per annum depreciation.

The chairman of the Board of Works reported that there was considerable differences in the quotations for lumber for the drain. The lowest quotation was accepted.

The following members of the council were appointed to act as a Court of Revision for the municipality: Messrs Bell, Evans, Kenny and Smith.

The council adjourned at 10.09 pm.

FRUIT TREES

My Spring-delivery orders are all in. When you are preparing for Fall-delivery trees, write me. I represent the Nurseries of Stone & Wellington, Toronto. The quality of the trees sent out by these nurseries is as near perfection as scientific growers can make it.

ing apples, and after they had finished a tree I picked up from the ground thirty-four fruit spurs, which would have meant one dollar's worth of apples next year. The time saved was about five cents, therefore there was ninety-five cents lost by this haste in picking. Do not allow a picker to knock off a fruit spur or a twig.

Another cause of serious loss to the grower, perhaps the most serious of any, is the bruising of the apples. I had an extreme case last year where a man had apples that were worth $2.10 a box so badly bruised that the packers refused to pack until they were all sorted. These bruised apples brought him less than one-half what he could have got if they had not been bruised. An apple should not be packed until it is ready to be shipped, for the reason that that is the only way in which we can feel sure of delivering to the buyer a perfect box of apples, and thus maintain our enviable reputation. All apples should be nicely wiped, for the reason that they present a much better appearance to the buyer and find a readier sale than if covered with spray, and demand creates the price.

In conclusion I would say that we cannot be too careful in reference to every detail of the apple business, as a large grower said to me before I came into the valley —"An apple orchard is an orchard of children. Each tree requires special nursing and care just the same as you would give a child."

If humus be deficient a cover crop of vetch or clover is advised, turning it in.

Apple Culture

E. H. Shepard is author of the following interesting article in a late number of the Hood River Glacier:

As there are a great many new people engaging in the fruit industry in the valley, it occurs to me that a few suggestions may be of value to them. While our growers very generally know not only all I may say in this article and many of them a great deal more, nevertheless there are quite a few who with a little care could improve their work and save themselves a great many dollars.

Of course everyone who knows anything about the fruit business knows that thorough culture and spraying are absolutely necessary. I asked Professor Van Deman for a long time the government pomologist, this question: "You have been all over the valley and seen our spraying, thinning, pruning, and cultivating; in which do we do the best and in which are we the most deficient? He replied as follows: Your cultivation is excellent; your spraying good; your thinning and your pruning are your two weakest points.

There are but few of us who properly thin. According to experienced people who have made practical tests and according to expert opinion of our experimental station men who make this business a study, apples should be thoroughly thinned. The general rule may be covered in one sentence. Apples should be thinned so that they do not hang closer together than four to six inches, and no two apples should touch.

In reference to spraying, I think I may be justified in saying that all those who have used arsenate of lead, otherwise known as disparene, this year have secured better results than they had in the past with either the Paris green or the white arsenic; and, furthermore, I think I am justified in saying that those who have used the disparene have cleaner crops of apples than their neighbors who have used white arsenic this season. While I do not assume to be an authority on spraying, it is my opinion from the practical tests made that five sprayings, if properly applied and at the right time are all that are necessary. However, the man who sprays every two weeks is certainly playing a safe game.

The most important spraying is when the blossoms just begin to fall, which should be followed by another spraying in about ten days or two weeks. At this time it is necessary to apply a very high pressure in order that the poison may be forced into the blossom end of the apple for the reason that this is the point where the first brood begins its attack. Some people suggest the Bordeaux nozzle or Valmoree for this spraying, as you can secure more force than with a nozzle making the mist spray. For the latter spraying when the apples attain size it is necessary to thoroughly coat the apple, and the mist spray does this most perfectly.

There is one point to which I should have called the growers' attention, and that is the general rule that some people follow of spraying a tree until it drips. As I understand it, the proper idea is to spray a tree until the apples are thoroughly coated and to avoid the dripping. If too much spray is applied it collects in drops and the drops in forming pull the spray off from the surface of the apple surrounding the drop, leaving a part of the surface of the apple exposed. There is another feature in connection with spraying so as to form drops, and that is in reference to the red apple. This is especially true where considerable lime is used in the white arsenic spray. These drops form a thick chunk of spray material which prevents the sun from reaching the surface of the apple, making toe apple when wiped show light spots where a drop has collected. Endeavor to thoroughly cover the apple, but avoid the drops.

There aae three general styles of pruning—the vase shape, the crotch, and the trsining of a central shoot, all of which have advocates. The vase shape certainly makes a pretty tree. The crotch shape does not seem to be a very desirable method for the reason that it necessitates props, and if a man does not get his props up when a tree is thoroughly loaded, one-third or one-half of his tree may split down and spoil it. If you prune to a single shoot, running the branches out so as to hang down all around when you have a crop, should a limb break you will not lose half your tree. The tree can be built up into what is known as a two and three storey tree. A tree should be branched as near the ground as possible and so as to permit cultivation.

The best part of a tree on which to grow apples is down near the ground, for two reasons. One, that you will have better and larger apples, and in the second place they will be easier to pick; a third might be added, that your trees are less likely to break down from the weight of the crop.

In reference to cultivation there is little to be said with regard improving condition, as already we do excellent work along this line. Usually our best cultivators use a disc or cutaway in the spring, keeping up a dust mulch later in the season with either a Kimball or an Acme. By this method a man can conserve moisture so that it will not be necessary to irrigate until sometime later in July or possibly the 1st of August.

With regard to the distance apart the two limits seem to be 26 by 26 feet and 30 by 30 feet. Quite a few are setting 26 by 28, the extra two feet permitting more space through which to haul the spraying outfit and wagons, and making the chance less of knocking off apples when the trees grow larger.

In reference to picking apples, I want to call the attention of the growers and particularly that of the newcomers, to the fact that a great many apples of the next year's crop are lost this year. I noticed some boys pick-

Double Acting FORCE PUMP

Will pump double the amount of water with one half the power of any other; and runs so easy that a little child can operate it. If well is not too deep its capacity is: No. 2, 1000; No. 3, 1500, No. 4, 2000 gals. per hour.

If you want the best twentieth century up-to-date pump in the world you will find it in The ANDERSON. Give it a trial. It never fails to please. It will convince you of its superiority if you will only give it a chance. We want to say further: If you order one of these pumps you can test it before paying for it. If not satisfactory we will remove it at our own expense. We have made this proposition for years and never had a pump come back.

We are permanently located at Vernon and expect to remain there.

Doings in Enderby

The Victoria Y. M. C. A. has organized a literary society, and a proportion of the meetings will be devoted to the sessions of a mock parliament.

T. Bell of Mara was in town on Monday.

W. B. Finlay has sold his photographic business in Vernon and will remove to Red Deer.

We have received from the Department of Education a copy of a circular explaining the working of the new school act.

Wm. Elson, of Eden House, left on Saturday for the coast, where he will undergo an operation for hernia. He will be under the charge of Dr. Walker of New Westminster. The many friends of Mr. Elson wish him a safe recovery, and that he will be benefited thereby.

Mr. McDonald journeyed to Sicamous to meet friends who were passing through on Friday on the main line.

Mrs. Nairn and Mrs. Gaylord visited Armstrong friends on Wednesday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Woods returned Wednesday last week from the Kootenays, where their honeymoon was spent, and have taken up their residence in the house owned by Mr. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Simmons were up from Vernon on Wednesday, returning Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Saunders left for their home in Chestnut, Montana, on Thursday last week, after a brief visit to Mrs. Saunders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hale.

We acknowledge the receipt of the write-up of this valley, "The Land of Fruit and Sunshine." The printers, the Vernon News Co., have certainly excelled themselves, both in the text and in the typographical appearance. The very prosperity of the valley is reflected in its appearance, and those who supported it have done no mean quota in advertising the sunny Okanagan. Copies may be had of the publishers.

J. D. Breeze, travelling agent for the Confederation Life, spent Saturday in town in the interests of his company, calling upon the local agent, W. E. Truesdale. Mr. Breeze remembers Enderby long before the S. & O., and has many interesting reminiscences to tell of those pioneer times, of which one never tires of hearing.

R. M. Palmer and Mr. Brandrith passed through Saturday afternoon last week from a several days' trip through the valley. They were seeing to the the shipment of some five hundred cases of fruit to England for exhibition in London at the Royal Horticultural Society's show, and also for the purpose of the various English market centres.

In the October issue of the Advocate the official organ of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, mention is made, in the course of an article on the Okanagan valley, of Enderby's bylaw for the observance of Sunday. Referring to the gradual improvement of the keeping of the Day of Rest throughout the valley, the article says: "Enderby, which became a city in May, and in passing its bylaws did not forget to protect the Day of Rest."

H. Cambie, accountant of Armstrong branch of the Bank of Montreal, and R. Hill, manager of the Armstrong Advertiser, rode their saddle ponies to town on Saturday last. The Eden—ch yes, our mistake!—the PROGRESS acknowledges a pleasant call from our brother of the pen. The rejuvenation of the Advertiser into a all home-print publication cannot but fail to win back its waning popularity. The current issue is well up to the standard, and under the present tactful management cannot fail but to still be appreciated.—Hodie mihi, cras tibi.

Bring your old air-tight heaters to F. Fulton to be relined. Will be as good as a new stove at a third the cost

Ed. Harrap, who returned last week from a ten days' shooting trip around Mara, reports plenty of sport.

As announced in these columns some while ago, the management of the Stepney ranch will go in for fruit growing on an extensive scale, as being more profitable. Some five hundred trees will be planted out next spring, and we look forward to seeing, in a very few years, a second Coldstream ranch at the gate of the City of Enderby. It is a pity that other admiral fruit lands close to town are not producing fruit. With this in view, arrangements are being made whereby a portion of the live stock will be sold off by auction towards the end of November. Some hundred acres will be prepared with the ultimate intention of putting into fruit.

The Royal Family and Their Animal Pets

A picture that at present is the talk of all England is entitled: Queen Alexander, Her Grandchildren and Dogs. We have seen a sample of this famous picture reproduced, and it certainly is a charming and interesting subject. As usual the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, always on the lookout for the latest and best, have secured the American rights, and their subscribers this season are in for the treat of their lives. The picture must be seen to be appreciated. It shows Queen Alexandra, accompanied by her three grandchildren, Prince Edward, future King of England; Prince Albert, his brother, and their sister, Princess Victoria, all on a visit to the Royal Kennels. The pictures of the Queen and grandchildren are excellent, and the lovely collies and hounds are reproduced true to life. It is certainly the best the Family Herald has ever offered its readers, and there is bound to be a big demand for it. The publishers have also issued a book, entitled The Farmer's Manual and Veterinary Guide, that our farmer readers would do well to enquire about. A sample may be seen at this office, or full particulars may be had by writing to the Family Herald office. No farmer should overlook it. All subscribers receive the beautiful picture absolutely free.

Bear this in Mind

There may be, no doubt there are, features about other parts of the Okanagan that will equal anything we have about Enderby in the way of nature's provisions for home-life, but certainly none can excell us. Climatic conditions are perfect; and for health and beauty, Enderby's location is unsurpassed. No cold, damp weather, or hot sultry days.
