Enderby Doings

For dress goods, prints and fancy goods go to Harvey's.

Messrs. Fladgate and Gardom received a swift sculling boat from the coast this week.

The flowers are blooming in the postoffice garden! Pity 'tis, we have not more of them.

This has been an off year for strawberries, but the output from the Lawes Garden keeps up well.

The painting of the Hutchison block greatly improves the appearance of that part of Cliff street.

H. W. Wright's livery stable property presents a much improved appearance since the front was torn out.

Postoffice Inspector Greenfel paid his official visit to the Enderby office this week. He was greatly pleased with the excellent condition of the new office.

J. C. English has some of the handsomest styles of Morris chairs on the market. And if you want the latest in bedsprings and mattresses look through his new stock.

J. Irvine was here from Vancouver this week in the interest of the Endowment rank, K. of P. Mr. Irvine is one of the few men who can be quickly recognized in a crowd.

T. G. Bell is putting his new hotel grounds in condition for flower planting and the making of a lawn and shrub beds. The hotel will be ready for opening about August 1st.

The Inspector of Dairies visited Enderby last week, and inspected the dairies of P. Greyell and Strickland & Wellman. He found them in excellend condition, and was unstinted in his praise.

J. McMahon and F. Pyman were elected school trustees at the election on Tuesday. Dr. Bentley tendered his resignation. The board is now composed of Messrs. Teece, Pyman and McMahon.

If the day is fair, the crowd from Enderby to Vernon on the 1st will take up all the room in the coaches on the cyclone limited. Enderby will teach those Vernon twirlers how to play ball on that day!

There will be an important meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society at Mrs. Dunwoodie's on Thursday afternoon, promptly at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present if possible.

For crockery, tinware, enamelware, and stoves buy at Harvey's.

The St. Georges' Guild will have an ice cream and strawberry festival at the Recreation Park this afternoon and evening, if it doesn't rain; if it does, then in the Town Hall. Sports for the children, with prizes.

Ira C. Jones and brother have just finished a dwelling for H. W. Wright, on the Wright addition. They are also building a 14-foot addition to the English church manse, and a small cottage for Jessie James.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church took in upwards of sixty dollars at their bazaar and refreshment booth last Wednesday afternoon. They are very grateful to all those who contributed in any way towards its success.

Eat fruit sugar with your strawberries —at Harvey's.

W. A. Dobson, a wealthy Englishman, who spent some months at Enderby ten years ago a guest of Charlie W. Little, has definitely decided to make this his future home. Mr. Dobson was in Enderby a few weeks ago, and bought two acres just opposite the road from Mr. Gibb's residence, and will erect a four-thousand-dollar residence this summer.

Mr. F. H. Hale, of Enderby, has lately acquired the saw mill and timber limits of the Fernie Saw Mill Co., and will soon have the mill in running order. It has a capacity of forty thousand a day, and its limits are extensive and contain much valuable timber. Logs are laid down at the mill at about $3.50 a thousand, and the market for the output is close at hand and large. J. L. Ruttan will manage the mill, placing the lumber on the cars at a set price to Mr. Hale. The mill will be cutting in a week or two.

MARA NOTES.

The closing exercises of Mara public school took place on Friday, June 23rd. The school was tastefully decorated by the children for the occasion. The examination as conducted by Miss H. A. Northen, the teacher, was most satisfactory in every way.

Rolls of honor were awarded as follows: Proficiency, Mary Moser; Deportment, Emily Massey; Regularity, Annie Moser.

The annual school meeting for the election of trustee took place on Saturday June 24th. W. M. Owen, J.P., being elected by acclamation.

T. G. Wanless, the popular insurance agent, was drumming us up last week.

During the last two weeks there has been a continuous stream of logs gliding down the peaceful Spallumcheen, both the Rothesay Co., of Mara, and the Columbia River Co., having had crews of lumbermen driving.

Police Constable Gardom paid us a flying visit for the purpose of replenishing the provincial coppers by means of the poll tax.

A new wagon road is in course of construction along the river bank between the bridge and Jas. Bell's properties, connecting with the Enderby road, Messrs. Bell, Gray, Massey and the Rothesay having the work in hand.

The wagon road between Mara and Enderby is in a disgraceful condition, it being positively dangerous to drive over it with a light rig, after nightfall. Something will have to be done very shortly, or this road will be impassable.

Rumor has it that the sound of wedding bells will shortly burden the clover-scented atmosphere of our fair city. Of this, more anon.

Mara post office closes at 6 p.m. Parties who get mail from this office will kindly note this.

A football team has been organised among the employees of Rothesay company here. Enderby, look to your laurels.

"Comparisons are Odious"

Editor THE EDENOGRAPH:

Dear Sir: Permit us through the medium of your paper to correct any false impression that may have been caused by the exhibition of a brick of cura in the office of Messrs. Fisher & Sage, Armstrong, alongside of two samples of the Okanagan Brick Co's.

We claim that good samples of our bricks will compare favorably with good samples of anyone else's, but we do not claim that our worst specimens will compare with other people's best, and who has ever seen a kiln of brick however well made and burnt, without some defective bricks in it?

We are sorry the Okanagan Brick Co. consider that something more than legitimate advertising is necessary to make their brick go, and we congratulate them on having found so accomodating a firm for their purpose as the above mentioned.

Apologising for intruding on your valuable space, Yours truly,

ENDERBY BRICK & TILE CO.

Interested in Mexico

Mexico has always been a good field for investment. Its unlimited resources and great mineral and timber wealth hold out splendid attractions for capitalists. A new company has recently been formed by Canadian and New York men, in which F. H. Hale is one of the Directors. It is known as the Chimalapa Land Co., and its holdings embrace 130,000 acres of fertile land, especially adapted to the culture of rubber. The company's capital is $1,500,000 divided into 15,000 shares. The property is situated on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, state of Oaxaca, Mexico, and is close to a transcontinental railroad. The land is covered with a heavy growth of mahogany and Spanish cedar, and 20 varieties of other hard woods. The land is said to be worth $10 per acre, the company having contracted for the sale of 5,000 acres at this figure. $500,000 are to be spent on installing saw mills, logging camps and planting rubber after the timber is removed.

Buy your hats and caps at Harvey's.

For your haying implements go to Harvey's.

Cow Complaints

At the meeting of the City Council last week the Sunday observance by-law came up for its third reading. A penalty clause was added, placing the maximum penalty at fifty dollars or thirty days in jail. The matter of selecting cemetery grounds was referred back to the committee for further enquiries. Similar action was taken in the matter of a nuisance ground. The pound by-law was discussed at length. A petition signed by A. Paul et al asking that the by-law be amended so as to allow cattle to run on the streets between the hours of 6 a. m. and 8 p.m., and that property owners should be required to have legal fences round their property before any animal could be impounded for trespassing thereon during such hours. Mr. Worthington was present and pressed for the enforcement of the law. F. H. Hassard complained that if the by-law were not recinded the farmers of the surrounding district would have to give up keeping cattle, as it would be impossible to keep them from straying into the city, and the cost of redeeming them under the pound by-law would be prohibitive. The whole matter was laid over, and the Council talked about putting prisoners to work on the streets who do not have the money to pay their fines.

FOR SALE—The Enderby Dairy, consisting of 16 cows, 8 heifers, 3 calves; good heavy team of horses. Terms reasonable. P. GREYELL, Enderby, B. C.

P. C. Corsets are the best. Have a look at the summer styles at Harvey's.

NOTICE is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following described lands in Yale District:

No. 1. Timber berth marked Kamloops Lumber Co. commencing at a post planted 5 miles up Cottonwood creek, marked Kamloops Lumber Co., and running 40 chains south, 160 chains east, 40 chains north, and west 160 chains to point of commencement.

No. 2. Timber berth marked Kamloops Lumber Co., commencing at a post planted 5 miles up Cottonwood creek, marked Kamloops Lumber Co. and running 40 chains south, 160 chains west, 40 chains north, and 160 chains to point of commencement.

The Way to Play Ball Without Exerting Yourself

ED. EDENOGRAPH:

Dear Sir: The writer will thank you to publish the enclosed letter from Russ. Hall, manager and captain of the Seattle Baseball Club and the Pacific Coast League. The Pacific Coast League is a Class B Association and play the highest class of professional ball. Its players are governed by the National agreement as to playing rules and are not allowed to bring forward individual ideas as regards rules that governed town ball 30 years ago. Mr. Hall flatly contradicts the Sporting Editor (?) of the Vancouver World, and also Mr. Nairn of your own city, and he states distinctly how a batsman who becomes a runner can be put out at first base.

While our local games are not professional by any means, it would seem that the rules that govern all association contests should govern ours—except when to adapt the contest to a player's past experiences, the rules are by agreement prior to game done away with, and the rules of Town Ball, or of "Grass Hopper Leagues" used instead.

Your truly, F. T. JACKSON.

Mr. F. T. Jackson, Armstrong, B. C.

Dear Sir: Yours of June 15th received. Relative to play mentioned, the base-runner has to be touched with the ball before he reaches first base, or the first baseman has to touch the base after catching the ball before the base-runner can be put out. Therefore the way the play was made, the base-runner is not out. Hoping this is satisfactory, I remain, yours truly, RUSS HALL, Manager Seattle Ball Club.

In this connection the following from the Vancouver World will be interesting:

Sporting Editor Vancouver Word: In your issue of Saturday, June 17th, you were kind enough to publish your opinion on two points in baseball, which I submitted to you, and enclosed you will find a reply to your decision, which I sent to this Mr. Jackson.

The facts are these: Armstrong played our team here on the 14th inst. Those two points came up and were decided against our team, although I as a player here claimed as you do that the man was out on both occasions. Now this Mr. Jackson, an Armstrong player, claims to be an authority on baseball, and as he says in his letter the querries were fairly stated.

Now, there is money on the question. I enclose a stamp and ask you for a further statement on the subject. Also, in the first instance, would it be the same if a fielder instead of crossing the line simply had his foot on the line while holding ball ahead of runner. Yours truly, D. NAIRN.

Dear Mr. Nairn: The clipping from the Vancouver world and your letter received. We have been looking up the rules for 1905 and find that The World flatly contradicts the playing rules, which govern all contests of professional leagues on this continent. Would ask that you look up, "When a batsman is out" on pages 312, 313 and 314. Sections one to 14 cover every kind of a put out and sections 4 and 5 puts your conclusion out of business. If The World knows no more of the game than their method of scoring and reporting would indicate, then would say that the authority is not good. Your inquiry to them is fair and states the query clearly. JACKSON.

The first is in the nature of a foolish question. If the first baseman or any other player had the ball in his hand in time to cross the base line ahead of base-runner, the batter would naturally go way back and sit down. That is to say, that the case of a base-runner who was so far behind the fielder that the latter could cross the base line ahead of the former would be so obviously hopeless that the fielder would hardly be expected to walk up to somewhere around the home plate and touch him out. The decision would be given as a matter of course and such taken-for-granted decisions have been rendered on the National, American Association and International and in fact every other field for the last 20 years. If Mr. Jackson wants to cash in on his life insurance he had better try varying the rules on some properly constituted ball ground.

As for the second case: A ball which hits the batter is a dead ball; hitting the bat, unless swung to meet the ball is always counted a dead ball, the same as though the ball had hit the batter in the jaw or the solar plexus; the batter who fails to avoid a properly delivered ball, if possible to do so, and makes it a dead ball, is out. In this particular instance the man not only failed to avoid the ball, but got in the way of it, as the pitched ball being a strike, all he had to do was to stand still in his batting position and it could not possibly have touched him or the bat.

Regarding the scoring and reporting of The World, for which Mr. Jackson has such supreme contempt, the score published in these columns has invariably been the official score of the Northwestern League, made by the official scorer and taken from his original copy. This score is accepted by the officials of the Northwestern League, by the players and at the National League Headquarters in New York, where such records are compiled and kept. We do not claim for one moment that any of these people could possibly know more about the game than Mr. Jackson, but the astonishing part of it is that Mr. Jackson should waste his sweetness on the desert air, so to speak, by staying in Armstrong.

GOODBYE, FRIENDS

With this issue my connection with THE EDENOGRAPH as editor will cease. For more than six months a proposition has been before me demanding that I put my entire time to magazine work along the lines of life culture and psychics. The only thing standing in the way has been my inability to find the right man to take THE EDENOGRAPH. Two weeks ago negotiations were completed whereby this was accomplished.

Beginning with July 1st the paper will be in the hands of Messrs. W. and H. Fraser. Wm. Fraser has had charge of the Armstrong Advertiser for some months, and under his management the paper has held a high standard as a bright, newsy weekly. The Fraser Brothers are printers of the steady Old English type, and are artists in the business as well as sterling young fellows. With a larger and better field at Enderby, and with a solid people behind them they will give Enderby a good paper. I bespeak for them the hearty support of our business people and citizens.

In retiring I wish to thank all the people of Enderby and vicinity for the many kindnesses shown me, and for the generous support accorded THE EDENOGRAPH. The fight to overcome the many difficulties always encountered in starting a newspaper in a small field has been hard at times, but the trials have been greatly lessened by the generous spirit and patience of the patrons of the paper.

Wishing all the good people of the great Okanagan prosperity, peace and happiness, and my successors the liberal support that has been given me, I am, your sincere

H. M. WALKER.

GOOD MORNING!

While Mr. Walker's contribution to this column is one of farewell, ours must be one of greeting to the people of Enderby and district. Negotiations have been on for some time and we take over the management of THE EDENOGRAPH on July 1st. We shall endeavor to maintain the paper as one of the cleanest and best printed papers of the interior, and hope to merit the support so generously accorded the paper in the past.

Some of the special features of THE EDENOGRAPH will of necessity be somewhat curtailed but we shall give in place interesting news of the province and district. We shall make the interests of the town our foremost thought and do our little for the advancement of the same and for the opening up of its resources, both agricultural and mineral. We believe that Enderby has unrivalled attractions to offer in the way of residence and for sport, and with a fertile country surrounding it great developments are possible.

For the present, Wm. Fraser will remain at Armstrong until suitable arrangements are made for a substitute for his position, but we shall in the very near future be both at work on the production of THE EDENOGRAPH and kindred work.

We both join with the people of Enderby in sincerely wishing Mr. Walker success in his larger field of labor, and indulge in the hope that at some future time he may re-visit the scene of many friendships.

Yours sincerely,

W. FRASER,
H. FRASER.

THE DOMINION FAIR

The time is drawing nearer for the opening of the Dominion Fair at New Westminster. In every town of any consequence—especially in districts that are rich in possibilities—concerted action has been taken to prepare an exhibit that will be a credit to the district, to the province and to the dominion. In the Okanagan this is particularly noticeable. Our sister towns have their schemes matured and well in hand. They have systematized the planting of seeds so there will be no waste in space or effort in doubling up in the exhibits, and to avoid the planting of one variety on land better adapted to another. The result will be that those town which have taken the pains to prepare their exhibit along these lines will surely outclass those which at the last moment get together an exhibit in a haphazzard way.

In this question Enderby is, or should be, interested. The matter of preparing for an exhibit has been repeatedly suggested, but no steps have been taken to accomplish the result, and today, when our sister towns are working systematically to get the best results our people have not made a move, either towards organizing for an exhibit, or co-operating with others.

There should not be this laxity if Enderby District is to hold the position it aspires to. Before we know it, the Fair will be upon us and we will not have anything prepared. Then there will be the complaints lodged against others, when the fault will be our own.

KICK POUND BY-LAW

The City Councillors have their hands full just now, of trouble, and it's all on account of the pound by-law. Since the law came into force on the 15th several cattle have been impounded, and the owners have had to go down into their pockets to get them out. The result has been that the owners object to the by-law. At the last meeting of the Council, the matter was put forcibly before them by F. H. Hassard for the farmers having range cattle at large, by A. Paul et al, on behalf of the owners of milch cows, and by H. Worthington, for the owners of shade trees and gardens. Each suggested a way out of the difficulty yet each way was opposed to the other, and to enforce either would not remedy matters nor alter present conditions.

While it is natural for men to "kick against the pricks," yet all must recognize that the pound by-law is necessary, and must be enforced. It is folly to say that the by-law is illegal, and cannot be enforced. A similar law is enforced at Vernon and Kelowna, and why should it not be enforced here? Our Mayor and Aldermen have passed this by-law in compliance with the popular demand for it and as one of the first steps towards the building of a city. Then why should anyone insist on clinging to the bell-clanging days of villiagehood?

If every owner of a cow within the city limits would exercise reasonable care of the beast, the difficulty of keeping the range cattle outside the city limits would not be great. But if those within the city limits insist upon ignoring the law, there is only one thing for the council to do—enforce the penalty.

With The Owl

WISE WISDOM IN THE DARK WOODS.

FAITH is at the bottom of all friendship, all learning, all wisdom, and all success. When you lose it in a friend, you are the sufferer, for in one's exercise of faith that one is the gainer, not the one in whom the faith is, or was, exercised. When one loses his faith in learning, in wisdom, in himself he is the greater loser. Faith is the outgrowth of the noblest that is in us. Without faith man is not a whit higher than the hog. With it, in abundance, he is only a step below God. Thus do we see how essential it is that we should develop to the full the faith that is ours.

Some persons are always finding fault. They exhibit a lack of faith. If it isn't in the town they live in, it is in the house. If it isn't in the house, it is in the neighbors. If it isn't in the neighbors it is in the government. If not in the government then in themselves. They see things through an evil eye. These dearly beloved souls live in a secretly cursed body: they only exist, and they think they live. Their faith has become lax, soft, dried up and blown away, because they haven't exercised it. Had they exercised it, their souls would have grown big, their faith increased and a strong character would have been the result.

They readily perceive faults, but never see the good. Why? Why because Goodness is not a part of their make-up. We attract the thoughts we hold. All Nature is in harmony. God's earth is as it should be. If it does not harmonize with our moods, we should change them. If we do not take heaven with us into the next world, it will be hell to be in heaven.

The Choicest Section in the Okanagan

Will always be found interesting to the homeseeker, for the homeseeker will always find here a place he can call home. THE EDENOGRAPH wants to be found in every home in the district. It is found in every home in Enderby. Why can't we make it a regular visitor to every home in the country round-about? It would also be an interesting visitor to the home in the East, and there is many a quiet moment in the lives of those dear ones across the seas when they would enjoy reading about the doings of the inhabitants of our Eden—where you, their boy, resides. # Truth Must Live

One of the world's best thinkers has said that "Truth, in its struggle for recognition, passes through four distinct stages. First, we say it is damnable, dangerous, disorderly, and will surely disrupt society. Second, we declare it is heretical, infidelic and contrary to the Bible. Third, we say it is really a matter of no importance either one way or the other. Fourth, we aver that we always upheld and believed it."

The editor of THE EDENOGRAPH received a most remarkable communication this week. It speaks for itself, and as it deals entirely with public matters it is given herewith:

City Clerk's office, Enderby, B. C., June 19, 1905.

H. M. Walker Esq., Enderby, B. C. Sir: The City Council, at their last meeting, had under consideration an article and two paragraphs which have appeared in your newspaper, THE EDENOGRAPH, within the last few weeks. I refer to first, your report of the Wallace case; second, a paragraph relating to the recent objectionable exhibition in the livery stable yard; and third, a paragraph relating to section 6 of the City Dog By-law, which prohibits bitches being allowed at large at certain seasons.

I am directed to inform you that while the council gladly recognize the strict sense of duty, and the high ideals of personal and public purity and progress by which it is evident you are actuated, in the conduct of your publication, they are convinced that it is, in the interests of the community, must desirable that such deplorable matters as the Wallace scandal should in future be treated in your print with more brevity and reserve. The value of publicity as a deterrent, and as a means of bringing offenders to the bar—both of public opinion and of the law—is indisputable, and my Council do not for one instant suggest the suppression of news of this kind; to deal with them in the full and circumstantial manner in which you reported this case, however, is in their opinion, only to aggravate the evil. It is the view of the Council, and of the large number of persons who have made verbal complaints to the councillors, that these matters should, when it is necessary to refer to them in the newspapers, be written of in such a way that, while intelligible to adults, they would not be the means of disseminating among children a premature knowledge of the relations of the sexes, nor of attracting their attention in any way to the consideration of such a subject.

With regard to the paragraph in which you refer to the wanton disregard of public decency shown by the proprietors of the livery yard, my Council feel that while it is entirely right and necessary to call attention to so flagrant an offense, yet to do so in a semi-humorous vein, provoking mirth among the unthinking of your readers, merely serves to emphasize and augment the outrage.

Your reference to Clause 6 of the dog by-law has also called forth many criticisms, which the Council feel are entirely justified, inasmuch as it brought before the public, as though it were a legitimate matter for jocose observation, an objectionable phase of animal life which it is far wiser to ignore.

* * * I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant, GRAHAM ROSOMAN, City Clerk.

To this letter the following answer was made:

Graham Rosoman Esq., City Clerk; Enderby. Sir: Allow me to thank your council for your kind letter of June 19th. In doing so I will state that your councillors seem to be laboring under a common error. You appear to believe that a newspaper man runs his paper to suit himself. He does not. He sacrifices home comforts, the plaudits of his friends, and, many times, the emoluments of his position, for the public he serves. Your criticism, while sincerely intended for the public's good, is not at all just. You have placed your own construction upon the articles referred to, and have not, either personally or officially, endeavored to learn the writers' object in writing them. You have taken the view of the unthinking mind, and passed your judgment accordingly. In accepting your criticism, I submit that if the matter was of sufficient importance to be taken up by your council in an official way, then surely it was sufficiently important to merit a word of personal inquiry.

In explanation, I will say. In the Wallace case any newspaper man realizing the enormity of the offence and seeing the board of school trustee give the man 24 hours to leave town, would have taken the course I took to expose in detail the dirty mess and silence Dame Gossip. In the matter of dogs, your by-law speaks of "bitches in heat." In calling attention to this clause with the others, I spoke of "mamma dogs when the temperature is high." Surely this is only an innocent modification, and I fail to see anything objectionable either in the expression or the condition. In the matter of indecency, my remarks were induced largely by seeing one of your own honorable body hurry across the street to witness the performance, and seeing him stand beside a little boy not more than 8 years of age, and take in the delectable exhibition. My reference was intended as a cynical protest, not in humor. If the unthinking put the humorous construction on it, that construction need not be accepted by your thoughtful council.

Yours truly, H. M. WALKER.

What the Local Pastors Talked About Sunday

"Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." Taking these words of Solomon for his text Rev. Mr. Campbell spoke in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning on the cultivation of love. There is a popular idea among men, said he, that love is something of an uncontrollable nature, driving men into this affection and that; something that cannot be disciplined or controlled. But the Word of God teaches no such thing. It teaches us that love may be educated just as the intellect can be educated and developed and the physical body strengthened and built up.

There are three affections that men must cultivate, if they would attain anything like a perfect education, for education means more than a highly developed intellect and a genius in handicraft. It means the education of the affections as well. These affections, if properly cultivated and disciplined will open the heart to all other lofty affections. We must have the ennobling affection of a true and lofty friendship; we must have the affection of child to parent and parent to child, and we must have that other affection which improperly bestowed means so much of misery to the lives of those who enter upon it. We must educate the affections to love where we ought to love, and to withhold where we ought not to love.

Rom. 2:7, "To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, eternal life." In his Sunday evening discourse in the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Miller spoke of the half-heartedness of modern Christian seeking and service. From the text we gather, said he, that the way of eternal life is not all easy. There must first be the earnest seeking; then the persevering in well doing. Men do not expect to succeed in business or in learning by doing things in a half-hearted, indifferent way. They know that success comes only through earnest effort, patience in well-doing. Then why should so much better a thing—eternal life—be expected on easier terms. Many good people presume to rely upon the unlimited love of God and His great compassion to save them, apparently believing that they can live any kind of a life and trust to God's goodness for life eternal. But our text does not indicate that such is the way of salvation. God has made His conditions and man cannot alter them. Eternal life will come through our compliance with those conditions or not at all. Men point to the life of Paul as one who made trouble for himself by his over-zealousness, but when a man knows his duty he must do it as Paul did, regardless of consequences, and without thought of reward.

Excitement on the Farm

Last month we had a devil in this office. For fear that some of our readers will be sent into convulsions at the mention of this word, we will explain that a "devil" in printing house parlance means nothing connected with anything bad. He is just the Lollapalulla Loblolly of the Hell Box—the repository for all bad types. We repeat: last month we had one of these—th'ngs. This month we have not. He found the work too racking on the nerves, and had to quit. Then he tried farming. His advent on the farm was the occasion for great rejoicing, especially in the barn yard. The mare had a colt (I trust I use the right word), the cow had a calf, and a bunch of kittens came,—and all before breakfast!

[If there is any mistake in the length or wording of this paragraph we refer it to our censor or the Sporting Editor of the Vancouver World for correction.—ED.]

From Spences Bridge to Nicola

All things are in train for a commencement on the work of constructing the much-talked-of line from Spences Bridge to Nicola, says the Nicola Herald. During the past week the railway company has been erecting buildings in readiness for the work at Spences Bridge, and the contractor has been bringing in supplies and machinery every day. About 15 carloads at present have arrived at Spences Bridge. The engineers are moving along the line and have about the first 15 miles ready for the contractors to go on with.

Contractor McLean started on Tuesday on the rock work and tunnel on his contract and will push the work ahead rapidly. Mr. McLean was in Nicola this week, having returned from Quilchena, where he had been purchasing horses for his contract work. He has erected camps and will employ a number of rock workers, having practically the heaviest piece of work on the whole line.

A large number of men are at Spences Bridge and during week will be scattered along the first part of the work.

Armstrong Sports Ground

The people of Armstrong are preparing, as Enderby has already prepared, to hold a permanent recreation grounds. The Advance says: "The new fence adds greatly to the out ward appearance, and inside the fence are to be improvements of equal importance. On Tuesday the lots to be utilized for the erection of refreshment booths were staked out and turned over to the respective churches desiring to make use of them. The Methodists secured the front lot, and at once began the erection of their building, which is 24x60 feet, substantially built, so as to be of permanent use whenever there are exercises at the grounds. The Presbyterians and Anglicans also expect to put up good booths on their sites. The grand stand is to be extended to a much larger capacity, the grounds graded and leveled, and in every way put in as good a shape as possible before the 12th."

All One Family Now

The recent remarkable changes in Great Britain's defence policy, officially explained in various ways, or as strikingly left unexplained by vague ministerial statements, have a real meaning of widest international moment at this time, when a new grouping of powers seems imminent, and of more particular interest and importance to the two great English-speaking peoples. A writer in Potentia says these changes mean, as is proved by facts which can be set forth, that the present British government frankly and profoundly believes that Great Britain will never again wage war with the United States.

In the case of Venezuela a most dangerous complication between the United Kingdom and the United States, by which the opinion of both nations had been exasperated, melted away and the arbitration on the Venezuelan question contributed to the happy relations which now exist between the two greatest naval powers of the future.

Bear this in Mind

There may be, no doubt there are, features about other parts of the Okanagan that will equal anything we have about Enderby in the way of nature's provisions for home-life, but certainly none can excell us. Climatic conditions are perfect; and for health and beauty, Enderby's location is unsurpassed. No cold damp weather, or hot sultry days.
