THE PLAY'S THE THING

Amateur Show at Opera House.

HAD VERY ENJOYABLE EVENING

Batty and Snowslide Draw a Large House—Will Repeat Tonight.

"The play's the thing" and the play was certainly the feature of the celebration. The Rossland amateurs again are entitled to all kinds of credit. The plays staged were two, the first being "Batty" and the second "Snowslide." The first, a curtain raiser, was excellent but would bear even more elaboration. The parts taken were only three, a play writing crank, (Charles O'Neill), a musical crank (John Hooper), and the servant maid (Miss Winifred Crowley). O'Neill and Miss Crowley are both new to the Rossland dramatic stage and both are decided acquisitions. Miss Crowley is altogether an amateur, but one that has plenty of histrionic talent which merely requires cultivation. She sustained her part well, several bits of business doing credit to a far better better actress than she is at present A certain not unnatural nervousness in the opening scene showed in a rather a gauche manner which soon wore off and the part was sustained so as to bring out the parts of the two cranks, which is just what was required. Of the two men it would be hard to say which was the worst crank.

In the act was introduced several songs. A solo, "The Bogey Man," sung by Miss Crowley, words by W. J. Nelson, and music by John Hooper, was well received and was very effective. Another, a parody, "When Reuben Comes to Town," sung as a duet by Charles O'Neill and Miss Crowley, bronght down the house and a topical verse vigorously scoring the mayor was vociferously encored.

"Snowslide" is a very pretty farce comedy and was exceedingly well enacted, W. J. Nelson trod the Rossland boards for the first time, and did well as Uncle John, and Miss Crowley as Penelope s servant maid, again rendered a soubrette part with effectiveness and a change from that of the maid in "Batty" that showed a histrionic appreciation which is rare. But the principal parts of the play Mr. and Mrs. Featherstone were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Hooper and sustained with a force of conception and a vividness of portrayal which would have done honor to more ambitious boards than those of Rossland. The walking parts were well sustained by Harold Ellis and Miss Eileen Bennett who both seemed at home. Both made as much of their parts as could well be done, and the latter's coquettishness was very effective as a byplay.

Between the acts were several specialties which were good. Miss Etta Levy danced both a skirt and a Spanish dance, the former of which was the best applauded, and Miss Irene Lewis looked very well and danced and sang Corinne's song of the "Queen of Hearrts" costumed appropriately for the act. A duet between Miss Crowley and Mr. O'Neill was also well received and well sung.

The orchestra was quite a feature of the evening. Professor Kauff man had in addition to his usual professional players, several amateurs, his pupils, Miss M. McCraney, Miss Blanch Raymer, Miss Gladys Stewart, R. Kenning and I. McNaughton whose playing on violin and piano rendered the waits between acts pleasurable.

SECOND DAY OF CARNIVAL

Scoring a Great Success---Results of the Events of the Day and of the Programme of Last Night---Fireworks This Evening from Monte Cristo.

The morning broke lowering, bnt by 8 o'clock the clouds were rising and the sun broke through, ashamed of himself and proceeded quickly to dry up the damp sidewalks. Immediately crowds of holiday makers, whose numbers showed that few people had left last night, except thoses imperatively compelled to do so by duty, thronged the avenues which presented a lively appearance for the second day of the Carnival. Appropriately enough the day began with the children who, parading down from the Central, school came along Columbia avenue several hundred strong, forming an extremely pretty feature of the programme. Taking up their position on the raised benches, the little ones sang several patriotic songs in a manner which evinced careful training and the spectators listened to an address of welcome by the worthy mayor and a patriotic speech in his own inimitable manner by W. J. Nelson.

Next came the Children's Foot Races.

100-Yard Foot Race for Boys under 16 years of age. 1st prize, value $15; 2nd prize, value $10. Columbia Avenne. The winners were Russell Robertson and Frank Darling.

100-Yard Sack Race for Boys under 12 years of age. First prize, value $3; 2nd prize, value $2; 3rd prize, value $1. Columbia Avenue. The winners were Jack Ingram, A. Lapsley and H. Lindberg.

100-Yard Foot Race for Girls under 15 years of age. First prize, value $3. 2nd prize, value $2; 3rd prize, value $1. Columbia Avenue. The winners were Blanche Purcell, L. Demuth, D. Jewel.

100-Yard Foot Race for Girls under 10 years of age. First prize, value 3; 2nd prize, value $2. 3rd prize, value $1. Columbia Avenue. The winners were Helen Burritt, M. Demuth, J. Tremblay.

A Tug of War.

A tug of war between the men of the Le Roi and of the Kootenoy mines caused much excitement. The issue was in doubt for at least fifteen minutes, the Le Roi eventually winning after twenty-seven minutes hard struggle.

Pony Race

The pony races were between Lucy, Pat Burns & company, Buttons, belonging to McCaslin & Carr of Trail, and Kitty belonging to Fowler Brothers. The race attracted a number of spectators and was won by Buttons with Lucy second.

The Hub and Hub Race

For the hub and hub race three entries, Nelson, Rosssland and Grand Forks. Money was pretty equally divided between the Rosslanders and the Nelsonites but the shrewder ones noticed that Nelson had the best course, and in so close a match as was anticipated, this ought to secure them the victory: Be that as it may, after a closely contested race Nelson drew away and finished a wheel's breadth ahead of the Rossland team, the Grand Forks boys coming in a good third.

The Wet Test

Chagrined at the loss of the Hub and Hub race, the Rossland team did their utmost to capture the wet test and their efforts were rewarded by success, Grand Forks getting second money. Nelson would likely enough have won, owing to their greater speed, but as the team failed to make connection with the coupling, they were out of it. The times were Rossland 26 1-5 seconds and Grand Forks, 28 1-3.

Single Drilling.

The single drilling contest was close but was won by John Palm who succeeded in putting the steel down 12 3-4 inches. David McKenzie came next with 12 3-8 inches, Charles Sandberg, 12 1-4 inches, Z. Vicellio, 10 3-4 inches, J. Caesar, 8 1-4 inches and P. Tenatti, 5 3 4 inches.

The Boys Drilling

The boys drilling was confined to two teams, Demuth and Harris who succeeded in getting down 9 inches, and Stanaway and Wilson 2 inches.

Machine Drilling

The entrance for the machine drilling contest were Miller and Edmandson, Sorenson and Westondohl, R. Hand and J. McCullough, Frank Atkinson and A. Dean, W. Tomkims and C. Bliss, W. Hickey and W. J. Richmond, T. Mincy and V. Shore, Caesar and Gilling, B. Chisholm and G. Dohlman, D. Martin and J. McAulay, A. Leslie and A. Long, J. A. Griffin and V. H. McGilvray, C. Wren and T. Hancock.

The following are the results: Hand and McCullough, 4 ft. 6½ in; Griffin and McGilvray 4 ft. 2 in; first and second money respectively.

The other results were: Bliss and Tomkins, 3 ft. 8¼ in; Sorenson and Westondohl, 3 ft. 4¾ in; Chisholm and Dohlman, 3 ft. 4½ in; Miller and Edmandson, 3 ft. 2½ in; Wren and Hancock, 3 ft, 1 in; Atkinson and Dean 3 ft. 1 in; Martin and McAulay, 3 ft, Shore and Mincey, 2 ft., 10¼ in.; Gilling and Caesar, 2 ft, 9½ in.; Leslie and Long, 2 ft., 8⅛ in.; Hickey and Richmond, 2 ft., 3 in.

IMPERIAL POSTAGE.

An important resolution passed unanimously by the Congress of Chambers of Commerce lately in session at Montreal, says the Toronto Globe, recommended a reduction in the present rate on British newspapers and periodicals coming to Canada. Mr. Parkes, M. P. of Birmingham, in moving the resolution, clearly pointed out the objection to the present rate when he said: "Americans send to Canada for one cent as much as Englishmen can send for eight cents. British publications now entering Canada are largely American reprints containing American advertisements." He also expressed the opinion that while trade might follow the flag it more frequently followed the advertisements.

This is one of the most business-like views on the subject that has been enunciated. For while in a purely sentimental sense a cheap rate might be very desirable, unless the sentiment can be supported by strong business reasons there is little likelihood that any change will be made. If the British public can be convinced that it is to their advantage to give their publications an equal chance with those of the Americans, the Imperial postoffice officials will not be slow in complying with the dictates of public opinion. The only reason why a reduction has not been made ere this is, of course, the loss of revenue that such a step would of necessity cause. The loss of seven cents, which it would be necessary to make in order that the rate might not exceed that charged by the United States on periodicals coming into Canada, would have to be made up in some way, and this other way is exactly what Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the British Postmaster-General, declares himself unable at present to see. The feasibility of a cheap trans-oceanic service has been well demonstrated by our Dominion Postal Department. Critics of Mr. Austen Chamberlain's policy ask how it is that Canada can afford to do it, and Great Britain cannot. But Mr. Chamberlain has so far remained firm.

THEY FIGHT TO A DRAW

Good Mill at the International.

BOXERS FOUGHT WELL TO END

Decision Concurred in by the Spectators as Fair—An Excellent Encounter.

The fight between Queenan and Mullins last night at the International ended after 20 rounds in a draw, neither man being able to knock the other out though several times during the fight it seemed as if Queenan would succeed in that endeavour. Of the two men, both weighing 138 pounds, Mullins the advantage in height and reach but Queenan in his stockier build and neater style of boxing quite equalized these advantages. Mullins was the more active of the two but Queenan had considerably the heavier punch. Mullins showed the better generalship inasmuch as he never failed to take every advantage he could of the effect of any serious blow which he succeeded in landing. On the other hand Queenan failed more than once in going after his man when he had him floored, practically giving him time to recover. Supporters of Mullins declare that the taking of the count was only a ruse of which his opponent was afraid but if this were the case under the Queensbery rules Queenan was entitled to the fight.

It was getting close to twelve o'clock before the principals started on the mill. Dan Guthrie was chosen referee and well he did his work, breaking clean through the frequent clinches. Dan Thomas was timekeeper.

The first round was rather tame. Mullins developed a curious style of boxing with both hands before his face down and crouching-ing, swinging with both hands especially the right and ducking cleverly. He had a catlike crouch and spring that made it very difficult to get at him despite the apparent wildness of his fighting. With every clinch Mullins managed to get in a jab on the side, neck and occasionally over the kidneys of his opponent which must have been very telling. Queenan fought more on the defensive, keeping the head well back, slinging a terrible left and reserving his right for a settler.

In the second round Queenan managed to get one in on his opponent's jaw which nearly settled the fight, Mullins going down and not rising till the count was half taken, but rising full of fight and aggressive.

From the third till the eighth round there was little advantage on either side. Mullins mostly forced the fighting but was unable to get in a decisive blow, although landing as frequently as his adversary. In the eighth round Queenan again succeeded in getting his opponent hard and had him against the ropes but did not press his advantage.

The ninth round was Mullins'. He came up smiling though evidently winded, and went fiercely for his antagonist whose clever ducking saved him more than once, although on one occasion it led him into a slip which might have had worse results had Mullins been able to take advantage of the momentary situation.

Queenan had decidedly the best of the next round especially the first part but Mullins was full of fight and came up aggressively enough in the eleventh round regarding little the fierce jabs administered by the waiting Queenan. The fighting told on him for in the next round Queenan for the first time in the fight had decidedly the best of the game and bets were offered that Mullins could not last out.

In the thirteenth round both men started by sparring for wind and Mullins gets in fiercely on the face, Queenan returning compliment ineffectually.

The next round saw Mullins again apparently getting the best of the encounter, handing some hard ones to Queenan that made him grunt.

Queenan got his chance in the fifteenth round and knocked his opponent clean off his legs, who rolled over in trying to rise, and took a count of eight before getting up. Again the advantage was not pressed by the wary Seattle boy.

From this on to the close Queenan never got another opening, but on the contrary Mullins punished him every time he had an opening. Had his blows been more effective, especially one in the last round Mullins might have come out winner.

The decision of the referee was considered perfectly just.

SIMILKAMEEN CITY, B. C.

Now Is the Time to Buy Lots in Similkameen City, B. C.

CAMP HEDLEY is the most talked of camp in the province, and situated in the centre is Similkameen City, surrounded by rich mines which will shortly have large payrolls. Over 200 lots have been sold to business people who realize that Similkameen will become the metropolis of this district. The Nickel Plate mines have expended $300,000 in development and are at present building tramways and a 40-stamp mill. Arrangements are being made for the erection of a large smelter at Similkameen City which will cost about a million dollars. Besides the Nickel Plate group of claims being developed by one of the richest mining companies in North America, there are several other groups and properties which will shortly be developed, among them being the Kingston Mines, Rollo, Wellington, Winnipeg, Red Chief and Pollock. Situated as it is in the beautiful Similkameen valley, midway between Princeton and Keremeos, and protected from all opposition in the valley by adjoining a large Indian reservation, this townsite will become one of the principal mining camps of the Pacific Northwest. It was only a short time ago that lots in Rossland, Nelson, Greenwood and other mining centres were selling for the same price that they are today being sold for in Similkameen. Come in before the boom and double your money.

Similkameen City to Have Two Railways.

The Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern and the Canadian Pacific railways are starting immediate construction for the Similkameen, which will make this town a railroad centre and divisional point, and when these competing lines are completed through to the Pacific coast they will become the main through lines, being the shortest route from the interior to the coast. A large sawmill is running steadily on the west addition, the only available timber for miles around. The main street is 90 feet wide, being all cleared and ready for building purposes. All railways, roads, telegraph and telephone lines will have to come through this townsite, which is located in the centre of the whole Similkameen valley and will become the largest distributing point and mining centre in British Columbia.

Similkameen City Lots Will Make You Rich.

A large agricultural area to draw from. Pure water, fine climate, rich mines, big payrolls.

Lots for Sale $2 to $10 Per Front Foot. Agents in All Towns in B. C.

MINOR MENTION

The Provincial Mining Association are working early and late.

Mayor Schofield of Trail was in the city yesterday.

Most of the visitors stayed in Rossland to see the progress of the Carnival.

Judge Nelson declares that there will be new specialties at the Opera house tonight.

A large audience is expected to see the wrestling match this evening at the International.

A banquet is to be given to the Provincial Mining Association this evening at the Lancaster.

There will be a dance this evening at the Opera House and also again at Miners Union Hall.

The play is again slated for this evening as well as the dances at the Miners Union Hall and at the Opera House.

Fireworks will be let off on Monte Cristo this evening. Citizens are warned to keep off the hill as dynamite is to be used.

The performance at the Opera House tonight is likely to be even better played and better attended than last evening.

Miss Nita O'Hearn leaves this evening over the Canadian Pacific and Great Lakes for Toronto, where she will attend the Loretta Abbey.

There was a larger number in attendance at the Miners Union Hall dance last night than has ever been the case before. Few people stayed to dance at the Opera House.

A vicious negro cripple coming in from Nelson yesterday signalized his arrival by promptly smashing a plate glass window in the store formerly occupied by Paulson Brothers on First avenue.

After consenting to all preliminaries Mayor Dean refused to issue a licence to the Bank saloon. The proprietors who had no doubt as to the issue declare that they are now out several hundred dollars.

Did You Notice It?

Last year when siphons weren't so cheep
All thought them worth their price;
But now that they have been reduced
They think it awfully nice.

Last year they were three fifty,
But now they're only two;
And I am sure if you're in style
That they will just suit you.

At Goodeve's buy some Sparklets,
Even their price is much less;
And then you'll have your soda
Without a bit of mess.

So buy one and be ready,
And when a friend drops in
He'll softly say "my, that is good,
Where did you get it Jim?"

Come and see our new and perfect Siphons at
