HEART DISEASE

Cecil Rhodes Is a Very Sick Man.

HE MAY DIE AT ANY MINUTE

Almost a Wreck When Not at His Work—To Hold Off Adverse Comment.

London, Oct. 14.—Cecil Rhodes whose part in politics and empire making is vividly recalled by the Schnadhurst letters, is living almost absolutely alone in a quiet hotel on a diet and with the attention of a man who is seriously ill. There is no doubt that he is suffering from heart disease and is no longer the robust man of former times, though he never missed a day this week at the office of the British Chartered South African company, burying himself in details and conducting long tedious meetings without complaint or mention of his health. But after these, in the quiet of his hotel, he seems to become almost a wreck, "like a man liable to go off at any moment," as one of his visitors said on coming out of his room. Usually Mr. Rhodes is supremely indifferent to public sentiment, preferring rather to ride rough shod over criticisms, but in the matter of the Shnadhurst letter he has exhibited the keenest desire to hold off adverse comment.

Disastrous Blaze.

San Jose, October 14.—Nearly the entire business portion of Los Gatos was destroyed by fire today. The loss is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

TO WINTER AT NOME

Four Thousand People Will Remain--Ten Thousand Have Returned.

Seattle, October 14.—Statistics carefully compiled disclose that 9000 people went to Nome this season and that 10,200 have returned, or are returning, leaving about 4000 in the district for the winter. There were 80 vessels, steam and sail engaged in the traffic, carrying from this city 55,000 pounds of general freight. The estimated receipts for the transportation of freight and passengers are $1,874,000 and the value of freight shipped from Seattle $5,500,000. About $4,500,000 gold has been shipped from Nome this season.

STEAMER HATING WRECKED

Went Down Sixty-Five Miles From Vancouver.

ALL THE PASSENGERS WERE SAVED

Cargo and Baggage Lost--Struck a Rock in a Dense Fog--Officers and Men Behaved Well--Boat Worth $200,000.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—The steamer Hating, one of the finest vessels of the Canadian Pacific service to Skagway since the loss of the Islander, lies a wreck on the end of Jarvis island, south of Tucker Bay, about 60 miles up the coast from Vancouver. She was on her way down from Skagway with 172 passengers, of whom all but 40 were saloon, being mostly monied men from the Klondike.

The steamer would under ordinary curcumstance have reached Vancouver at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, but she had been delayed all yesterday by fog, and it was that which caused her disaster. Captain Gosse was on the bridge at the time along with the chief officer, Neurotros, who was one of the rescued Islander crew. It was so foggy that it was impossible to see half a dozen yards, and the vessel was going along under a half speed bell when she bunted on a rock and in a moment her prow was among the trees. It was at extreme low tide, else the steamer might have got past safely and gained her course.

The stern began to slowly sag and went down in seven or eight feet of water. It was thought when the tide came in the vessel would be all under water. In the meantime the passengers had been marched out in the most orderly manner and landed on shore in boats. They took all their personal belongings and gold, of which there was nearly half a million in dust, and are now safely camped on shore.

The Hating is about 220 feet long. She was bought last fall by the Canadian Pacific Railway company at Hong Kong, and they paid £27,000 for her. With the repairs made here, the steamer was considered worth nearly $200,000.

MUST BE ENFORCED

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says the Alien Labor Law Must Be Carried Out.

Mr. A. W. Puttee, M. P. for Winnipeg, waited on Premier Laurier at the Government House, Winnipeg, and on behalf of the Rossland strikers, who had asked him to go to Ottawa with their case, presented Sir Wilfred with the facts. He complained on their behalf that the Alien Labor law was being violated by the mine owners, who were importing large numbers of men. The premier pointed out that if cases were known to exist of violations of the Alien law, and if the proper steps were taken to report them by competent parties, the law would be carried out to the letter, and the strikers given what benefit there was.

LAST CHANCE.

Big Tunnel Now in 1600 Feet—Ledge Believed to Be Near.

The big tunnel on the Last Chance, Slocan, is now in 1600 feet. It is six feet in the clear, built for a double track and about nine feet high. It is driven through lime and granite, the hardest formation in the Slocan. The grade is five inches to 100 feet. In the last 25 feet a belt of slate and schist has been broken into and stringers of quartz are coming into the tunnel carrying quantities of water. This is taken to indicate that the ledge is near at hand and it may be announced any day that the galena vein has been opened.

Victoria, October 14.—The Manuenz arrived today from Cape Nome. She had 56 passengers from Cape Nome, St. Michael and points along the Yukon, Kotzebue and Kuskow in districts. News was brought of rich finds on Candle creek, where miners are taking out from 10 cents to $2.60 to the pan. Two men rocked out 21 ounzes in five hours. C. D. Lane, who investigated the new fine, said on his return that many were earning from $200 to $300 per day. There are about 100 men in the Keewalick district. The Candle creek flows into the Keewalick.

The death by drowning of Dave Patterson, the discoverer of the Candle creek diggings is announced. He went out with two Indians to board the schooner Barbara Nernster in Kotzebue sound, where the canoe capsized, and he was drowned. The Indians were saved.

SOME YARNS ABOUT TOWN

The Knocker Is Busy Again --A Sample of the Lies Told.

Bernard Macdonald's paper, the Rossland Miner, quotes Mr. Frechville as denying the rumor that settlement of the strike was in progress.

If any such rumor existed it did not come from union headquarters nor from any of the union men.

There are other so-called stories afloat which all come from the same source and which have absolutely no foundation whatever.

It was asserted this morning that Father Welch had stated yesterday that the men should return to work otherwise the mines would be closed down. To the WORLD man to day the reverend gentleman gave a prompt denial of the story. "There is not a word of truth in it," he said; "I only asked the prayers of my people for a termination of the dispute—that was the only reference I made to the strike."

In the same unwarrantable way the Presbyterian church has been mentioned and it has been suggested that there is trouble between the union and the church. There is nothing in the story and no foundation for it.

The rumors in question are all designed to cause dissensions in the miners ranks, and their source is pretty well known.

UNION LABEL

ALIEN LABOR ACT.

As will be seen by an item from Winnipeg, published in another column of this issue. Mr. A. W. Puttee, M. P. for Winnipeg, waited on Premier Laurier, in behalf of the Rossland union men, and asked that the terms of the Alien Labor law be fairly enforced year.

The Premier is qnoted as saying that if cases were known to exist of violations of the act and if the proper steps were taken to report them by competent parties, the law would be carried out to the letter.

This is all very well as far as it goes, but the Premier can hardly understand the extent to which the law has been broken.

When men are imported by wholesale as was shown by the evidence in the Geiser cases, it would be most unreasonable to expect a private prosecutor to take action against each individual brought in, to say nothing of doing so with any reasonable hope of success.

The men have been brought here by the carload, in some instances they have been held over at Northport and allowed to drift in here in bunches, but the evidence already in the possession of the government shows very clearly what means have been adopted to evade or to attempt to evade the plain terms of the act.

The agent sent here to make an impartial report on the matter, has already investigated the situation and we understand has reported to the Ottawa authorities that the act has been flagrantly and persistently violated. Is there any one in Rossland bold enough to deny the fact? If so the WORLD has not heard of the individual.

Those who seek to excuse the action of the law-breaking companies do not, and in fact can not deny the plain facts of the case, but they plead that it is not expedient to enforce the statutory enactment as it would embarass the companies.

There never should have been any question about the honest enforcement of the act, but it is unlikely that there will be much further delay in the matter. The companies have been unduly favored in the past and they can not complain if they are now treated like any other law breakers and made to conform to the strict terms of the act in question.

A LABOR BISHOP.

Of the bishops of the Episcopal church of the United States who are at San Francisco, in attendance at the trienial convention now in session, not one is in closer touch with the real wants of the people than Bishop Potter of New York. In his own great diocese Bishop Potter has always taken a prominent part in settling industrial disputes whenever he was permitted or requested to intervene.

In a recent interview in San Francisco, speaking on the relations of labor and capital, the bishop said in part:

"The final statement to the whole business is simply and bluntly this—that neither one of them can do without the other. Capital can paralyze labor by withholding itself from it, but the process by which it does so paralyzes capital as absolutely and as utterly as it does labor. In spite of what fierce voices on one side or the other are fond of shouting, it is not a question which of the two shall be "on top." Neither can be on top healthfully, fruitfully or permanently. There is absolutely only one relation which they can sanely sustain to one another, and that is, they must walk hand in hand It is because they have helped to teach us this lesson that modern civilization may well thank God—however impatient capitalists or the public may from time to time have been of them—for Trade Unions."

Referring to the growing tendency in favor of impartial arbitration and his own experience with workingmen in industrial districts, the Bishop says:

"On the other hand, those other methods which have been growing in favor among us lately, such, e.g., as impartial mediation and arbitration, on both sides, wholly voluntarily, have increasingly demonstrated their value.

"As I have said more than once, in all such arbitrations of which I have any personal knowledge, workingmen, and the representatives of workingmen, have shown, by the virtue of their self-restraint, their patient courtesy, their love of fair dealing, their open-mindedness to a just argument, their cheerful readiness to meet concession with concession, and their disposition to make a bridge over which order and harmony might pass, quite as much by what they surrendered as by what they claimed."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

If all the Rossland mine managers were like Hon. C. H. Mackintosh there would be no strike on today in that camp and everything would be in full swing. In a recent interview he says: "As to wages for muckers, I do not think there will be any trouble on that score. I think now as I have always thought that muckers in Rossland are worth $3 a day if they are worth that in other camps of the province—Moyie Leader.

The Wardner News would have us believe that the mine owners are opposed to miners unions. That is not true at this end of the district. The mine owners operating here have assured us time and again that they have no objection to a miners union. All they ask is that good conservative men be placed at the head of the union.—Idaho State Tribune.

In these days of combination it is a pity townsite companies could not see the point—four towns in this vicinity could be greatly benefitted were this policy adopted.—Canterbury Outcrop.

The Chicago Tribune, in a recent issue, says: "At the time of President McKinley's funeral the cable despatches from England commented upon the deep and wide interest shown in the sad event by the daily and weekly presses of Great Britain, but the recent arrival of these papers by mail brings a more thorough realization of the breadth of this kindly sympathy. The tributes paid to Mr. McKinley are remarkable for their extent and unfeigned sincerity.

The disaster at Extension, following on the heels of others in the mines of Mr. Dunsmuir, would indicate that the employment of Chinamen underground is not a money saving proposition after all. If it be asserted that the Chinamen have nothing to do with the disasters, a sufficient reply is furnished by the record of the New Vancouver Coal company, which has not had a disaster since the Mongols were turned out of the working and kept above ground some years ago.—Victoria Outlook.

THE Real Situation.

Rossland, B. C., Sept. 5th, 1901.

To the Citizens and Business Men of Rossland and Vicinity and to the General Public:

The Le Roi mine manager has been circulating a report that the strike here is practically at an end and the mines are about to resume. This report has been taken up by their organ, the Morning Miner, and sent out over the country as a true report of the situation in Rossland. We have made a careful analysis of the situation here and believe that no impartial reader can see much reason for the joyful enthusiasm which Mr. Bernard Macdonald and his paper profess to feel.

For three and one-half months the strike has been in force at Northport. The greatest claim Macdonald or Kadish have ever made during that time is that they have been able to operate two of the five furnaces at the smelter. It is only a question of simple arithmetic to see that if it takes three and one-half months to start two furnaces, it will take eight and three-fourths months before they can have the smelter in operation. Now, if it takes eight and three fourths months to secure the 500 men necessary to start the smelter it will take twice that many, or seventeen and one-half months, to secure 1000 men for the mines in Rossland. Or, at the end of twenty-six and one-half months, if Macdonald has the same success he claims to have had thus far at the smelter, he will be in a position to work the mines.

No one can deny or dispute that Bernard Macdonald has left no stone unturned to secure men for the smelter at Northport. He has cast his drag net over the states of Minnesota, Colorado, California, Oregon, Missouri, Montana, or, practically, over the entire country west of the Mississippi river, and has been able to start but two of the five furnaces at the Northport smelter. This is the success he boasts. He claims the strike is at an end. It has only begun.

So far we have taken as true his statements that he has two furnaces in operation at Northport. We wished to prove how futile are his statements by his own evidence. The real truth is he has never had two furnaces in successful operation at one time for 24 hours. They have produced no matte for shipment up till August 25. He claims to have shipped one carload on August 21. That it was the highest in value of any shipment made. The records of the railroad at Northport fail to show any trace of matte shipments on or about August 21, If any shipment was made it was via the Columbia river route and rests at the bottom of the river.

He also claims to be able to start the mines in Rossland. Apparently he does not realize there is an alien act in Canada, for of the 30 employes now at the mines all but two have been brought here in direct violation of this law and will be deported inside of two weeks. He has in eight weeks been able to secure but two scabs in Canada. Now, if the Canadian people should, to his surprise, enforce their laws, even if it does hurt the feelings of Bernard Macdonald, how long will it take to start the mines at the ratio of two every eight weeks? And as yet there is not a miner in the lot.

We are not deceiving the miners of Rossland by false promises. We hope for an honorable settlement of the difficulties here. The sooner the better it will suit the union miners of Rossland. But if it is necessary to continue this fight to its final end the union miners and smeltermen will stand shoulder to shoulder for carrying on the fight.

This war was forced on these unions. We entered the struggle full of a belief in the justice of our cause and confident of our ability to carry it successfully to an end. This belief has never been shaken for an instant, and certainly is not when we consider the almost unbroken line of successes which have thus far attended our efforts.

MISSOURI DANCES

Everything Goes with a Gun--Party Broke Up Rather Early.

The new Missouri smelter employes gave a dance in the smelter hotel Wednesday night. The editor was not honored with a free pass and was therefore not present, but judging from what took place on the outside there must have been a hot old time within when "Micky" and his fiddle arrived.

The first on the program was a successive discharge of firearms and as some of Northport's timid young ladies shy when it comes to being coaxed to dance by the aid of six shooters a stampede for home was made. The dance, which was to be be a crowning success and an exact reproduction of the old Missouri kind, where the dancers hammer the planks until broad daylighe, broke up at 10 o'clock in the evening.—Northport Republican.

A MONSTER BEAR

Sunset Miners Trap a Big Fellow Weighing 817 pounds.

Another Bear story comes from the men at the Sunset No. 1 at Whitewater, says the Kootenaian. For several weeks past the miners at the Sunset No. 1 have been greatly annoyed by a huge silver tip. Although they took several shots at him they never seemed to have much effect on bruin. Alex Smith, J. W. Peacock and E. Lucas finally conceived the idea of trapping the monster, but only with the result that their traps were always sprung but no bear. Finally after burying their trap in the earth they were rewarded last Saturday by hearing a loud growl which brought them to the trap and sent the foreman under his "bunk" out of harm's way. Peacock and Lucas soon dispatched bruin with a Winchester and a 44 Colt revolver. The bear tipped the Jackson scales ar 817 pounds. The boys brought the hide to Kaslo today. It is a fine specimen of a silver tip. They also said they are not sure whether the foreman is still under his bunk or not.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is herebv given that 60 days after date I shall apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase 640 acres of land, more or less, in the Yale district, and described as follows: Commencing at a post about one-quarter of a mile northerly from Iron creek, thence westerly 80 chains, thence northerly 80 chains, thence easterly 80 chains, thence southerly 80 chains to point of commencement

STRIKE NOT SETTLED.

Whereas agents of the mining companies have circulated the report that the strike existing at this place is settled and work is to be resumed at the mines, we wish to state that this report is false and thereis no probability of a settlement of the strike for some time to come. We advise all men looking for employment to keep away from Rossland, or Northport or vicinity.
