AT THE SMELTER

Famous Injunction Claimed to Be Invalid.

MAKING FUN OF BELA KADISH

Freeze Ups Continue with Great Regularity — Loss Growing Greater Daily.

(Special to the WORLD)

Northport, Aug. 23.—The famous injunction proceedings initiated by the smelter management turns out to be valueless, and no attention is being paid to the order made by Judge Hanford of Seattle.

The union men have never regarded the injunction seriously as, they were informed some time ago that it was invalid, and not worth the paper it was printed on.

A great deal of fun is being poked at Bela Kadish on the subject of the injunction and he has been besought to take action under it, and arrest some of the wickedly disposed rioters whe infest the Smelter City, but so far without avail.

The men are awaiting the arrival of "A Geeser, of Oregon," with joy. They regard his appointment as contractor as a practical admission of failure on the part of Superintendent Kadish.

The failure to find gold values in the matte already reported in the WORLD is supposed to be the proverbial "last straw" in the case of Bela Kadish, whose formal dismissal is now in order.

The furnaces continue to freeze up with almost perfect regularity, and the plant is getting into very bad shape, far worse than a month or so ago.

While a number of the men who were brough there from a distance to work depart south daily—no fresh arrivals have come in and the active force in the smelter works continues to dwindle down.

The injunction proceedings have been the means of widely advertising the lockout and strike in progress and the management have found it impossible to get good men to come north.

Union men claim to have information direct from London to the effect that the opposition to Whitaker Wright's control of the Rossland Great Western and allied companies has a clear majority of 212,000 shares.

P. J Shea, a prominent union man and proprietor of the Shea hotel, offered to bet $100 that Mr. Kadish goes out of his position before October 15.

A taker has been found for Mr. Shea's bet and the money has been deposited in the bank.

Manager Kadish was asked if it were true that he had resigned or had been superceded. He said: "I have not resigned yet nor have I been requested to do so."

DURANT COMING.

Former Office Manager of the Le Roi Expected Here Shortly.

Edwin Durant, formerly office manager at the Le Roi head office here, arrived in New York on the Cimeric on Tuesday last, and started on his way west immediately. He is expected in Spokane tomorrow.

The rumor on the street this afternoon that a banquet would be tendered Mr. Durant on his arrival here by the Macdonald-Thompson-Kadish-Geiser combination, was not confirmed up to the time of going to press.

WHITAKER WRIGHT OUT

London Head of the Le Roi Company Retires.

A CLEAN SWEEP IS LOOKED FOR

Mine and Smelter Officials Discredited--A Warm Meeting of Shareholders Expected on Thursday Next, the 29th Inst.

The following cable message was received in Rossland this morning:

"London, August 23.---Mr. Whitaker Wright, managing director of the Le Roi company, tendered his resignation yesterday. The extraordinary general meeting of shareholders will be held on Thursday next. Proxies antagonistic to present management being received by thousands. It is altogether probable a clean sweep of entire management will be made. The British Columbia and Northport officials are generally discredited."

ISLANDER DISASTER

A Charge that the Pilot Was Intoxicated--Contradictory Reports.

The Post-Intellinger of the 21st referring to the Islander disaster, says:

No change is announced in either the list of the dead or the survivors of the wreck of the Islander. No news received from Victoria or elsewhere changes in any particular the list published in yesterday morning's Post-Intelligencer.

All information obtained from passengers arriving in Seattle tends to support the statement that Pilot Leblanche was intoxicated, and that Capt. Foote was at least under the influence of liquor. Survivors arriving yesterday corroborated with persistent statements the original account of the condition of each of the men.

From Victoria come statements denying these, and asserting that both the captain and pilot were sober. These statements as well as those made directly to the Post-Intelligencer by passengers, asserting that men were under the influence of liquor, are published.

TWO MEN HURT.

Chisholm and Freeman Injured at the Green Mountain Mine.

Kenneth Chisholm, employed in the Green Mountain shaft, was injured on Wednesday night by a piece of steel from a drill entering his eye. The steel was successfully removed yesterday by Dr. Kenning and no serious results are apprehended.

John Freeman was quite seriously injured at the Green Mountain mine by the bucket uncoupling and falling upon him in the shaft. He was badly cut about the head and shoulders.

A Sad Loss.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hunt lost their little eight month boy this morning. The funeral, which will be a private one, will take place tomorrow morning.

A "GEEZER" EPISODE

Will Work the Mines and the Daily Miner on Contract.

A Geiser from Oregon will save Rossland if a geeser can. Muckers will fly from all over despite the alien labor law to work for $2.50 per day or less, and union and non-union miners are fighting for the chance of working for Geiser. A geeser of Oregon.

According to the Spokesman of yesterday Al Geiser, of Baker City, Ore., has had the Northport smelter and the Le Roi mines handed over to him and in future all work will be done by contract. The rake-off is not stated but the commission is doubtless a handsome one under the circumstances.

Mr. Geiser has made a formal requisition for a few necessary items. A couple of armored trains of the latest South African pattern —a section of the British army—native regiments preferred, a gun boat on the Columbia at Northport and a few "Long Toms" on Red Mountain. When these are supplied the contractor will commence work here.

A Northern Wreck.

Seattle, Aug. 23.—Officers of the steamer Oregon from Nome, report the wreck July 28 in the Arctic north of Point Smith of the San Francisco whaler Gampus. No lives were lost. The vessel was caught in the ice and was driven ashore.

A Millionaire Shot

Cripple Creek, Colo., Aug 23.—Samuel Strong, the millionaire mine owner, was shot and killed yesterday by Grant Crumley. The cause of the shooting has not been learned.

We are overstocked with McCormick's fancy biscuits, so down goes the price to 15 cents a pound. We must close them out while they are fresh and nice. Paulson Bros. tf

AT WORK AGAIN

The Trouble at the Arlington All Settled.

BEST OF GOOD FEELING EXISTS

All the Men Returned to Work This Morning—A Satisfactory Settlement All Around.

Slocan, Aug. 23.—The difficulty at the Arlington has been settled and men returned to work this morning. J. Frank Collom, managing director of the company, came up from Nelson at the request of the men yesterday and several conferences were held between him and a committee from the employes, the union setting the difficulty to one side as a matter of local origin only.

Throughout the deliberations the best of feeling prevailed and concessions were made by both sides A majority of the men remained here since the trouble. There is no feeling whatever between the men and the management and harmony prevails, the men in particular expressing themselves well satisfied with Mr. Cullom's treatment. The latter wishes to deny that differences exist between himself and superintendent Du Bois. There is a great feeling of relief here over the settlement.

SHAMROCK II.

First Trial Spin Yesterday--The Owner Quite Satisfied.

New York, Aug. 23.—Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's cup, Shamrock II, had her first spin in New York's lower bay yesterday, and although it only lasted 90 minutes it was a most satisfactory performance from start to finish. Sir Thomas Lipton and designer Watson, both of whom were on board the yacht during her trial, expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with the result.

MEETING OF MANAGERS

A Jolly Supper at the Old Headquarters--Mr. Macdonald Absent.

A meeting of the mine managers took place in the old B. A. C. offices last night, at which a number of mine mananers were in attendance. The list included J. Roderick Robertson, of Nelson; George Hughes, of Alamo; H. B. Alexander, of Sandon; Captain Gifford, of the Silver King mine, Nelson; J. J. Campbell of the Hall smelter, Nelson; S. F. Parrish, of Summit camp, and R. F. Tolmie, the secretary of the association.

Bernard Macdonald did not return from Spokane in time to be present but William Thompson, the assistant general manager of the Le Roi ably filled Mr. Macdonald's place for the time being.

The meeting was in session again this morning.

Hanged Today.

Seattle, Aug. 23.—Charles Nordford was hanged this morning for the murder of Willie Mason, committeed at Cedar Morntain in November, 1891.

A POSSIBLE CHANGE.

If the Whitaker Wright element is eliminated from the control of the companies owning the Le Roi group of mines, we can hopefuly look for a change in the situation here. It is not likely that a new board of directors would sanction the continuance of a senseless war against unionism at the great cost which is now daily being incured here and at Northport.

Perhaps Manager Macdonald can justify his actions to an independent board but we do not think so, nor do we fancy that there is any likelihood of his services being retained if a new board takes control in London. Mr. Macdonald evidently believed that Whitaker Wright would win in the long run and has acted on that assumption in forcing on the strike first at Northport and later on here. It is more than probable that the union embarrassed the manager by refusing to wait until his plans here were complete but they were hardly bound to assist at their own funeral and the action taken was taken in self defence as most people now understand very well. Mr. Macdonald's attack on unionism has been a violent and most unreasonable one and at no time since the strike commenced has the slightest attempt been made by the manager of the Le Le Roi oompany or his personal organ the Daily Miner to discuss the grievances claimed by the men in any way, shape or form. For weeks the columns of the Miner have been filled with the most gross abuse of unionism. Every effort has been made to depict the members of the union as dynamiters and anarchists who should be dragooned and whipped into silence.

Of course there is an end to this sort of procedure, If the attack fails Mr. Macdonald and his paper must depart, and knowing this, the union wrecker gets more and more demonstrative against the hated unions, we are apparently approaching au interesting period of the struggle. A possible chance of peace and renewed prosperity is plainly in view. A little more patience and possibly we may witness the departure of the chief element which has caused all the trouble here and the advent of a modern mine manager who will work with his men here along the lines so successfully adopted by Samuel Robins at the Nanaimo mines.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Miner was in favor of conciliation some time ago but it now declares against it. It is quite right. Conciliation is a failure when mules of the Macdonald type have to be dealt with. Conciliation is of no use. A stout cudgel in the shape of compulsory arbitration is what is wanted. "A goad for an ox and a stick for the back of an ass," as the proverb has it.

The Tribune says that if Whitaker Wright is turned down "the strike at Rossland will be settled within a week, and Bernard Macdonald and Bela Kadish will be looking for jobs in a country where there are no unions. The west coast of Africa would be an ideal country for Bernard and Bela to operate in."

"Nobody will dispute with Mr. Clute the right of laborers to unite"—This morning's Miner—what was it that Manager Macdonald and Bela Kadish said to the union smeltermen. "You must abandon your union if you want to work for us. We have decided to break up the union at all costs."

The Miner's method of dealing with Mr. R. C. Clute—whom we all know well—and the arguments he has advanced in favor of unionism is a sample of the paper's dealing with the current question, and the attempted criticism of New Zealand affairs can best be understood by comparing it with the treatment dealt out to Roger Conger Clute.

A determined effort is being made in England and elsewhere to demonstrate clearly that New Zealand legislation is a failure. The increasing gold yield, the bank statement, the increase of imports and exports, as well as the other evidences of existing prosperity which appear in the newspapers from time to time, make it extremely difficult for the "knocker" to get in his work successfully.

Just think of it! The Miner asserts this morning that in benighted New Zealand "the servant girl has the same right of franchise as her master." Things have indeed come to a pretty pass in New Zealand. But in Rossland, if we could only capture a few real live "servant girls" they could vote as often as they had a mind to, besides owning the town in other ways. The Miner's reference was not a happy one.

Mr: R. C. Clute is a staunch Liberal—a Liberal of Liberals—but the morning paper forgot to state the fact in running over Mr. Clute's claims for public recognition.

GOOD EVIDENCE

The Effect of Labor Unions Upon the Men.

INFLUENCE IS SURELY GOOD

What Manager Samuel Robins Said to Commissioner C'ute—Thirty Years Experience.

The following is a extract from the evidence given by Samuel Robing, manager of the Vancouver Coal company, before the royal commission, and was furnished the Torouto Globe by R. C. Clute, chairman of the commission:

Question—What is the effect of uuions upon the man?

Answer—The influence is certainly good. If for no other reason than it gives the the man a feeling of self-respect that he does not possess where he considers himself to be at the mercy of any irresponsible or short-tempered boss. For instance, where there is no union, any arbitrary treatment on the part of the boss has to be submitted to, there being practically no court of appeal, but with the union a miner never ceases to realize that under no circumstance can he suffer arbitrary treatment. In the one case a man can be knocked out of the mine, and must submit, even with starvation staring him in the face; it may be at the mere whim of the boss, but in the case of union mines if the boss loses his temper, he thinks twice before allowing it to master him to the point of committing an injustice. The general influence of the union is to improve the wages of the members as well as to raise their general status. With regard to the question of hours of labor, or whether work shall be done by the day or by contract, these are the questions that at all times have to be discussed fairly and frankly between the opposing interests, and so far as my experience goes, they can always be settled on a basis fair and just to both sides.

Question—For what period of years does your experience extend over?

Answer—I have been a close observer of labor matters for nearly thirty years. and although not until the last sixteen years brought into direct relation with miners and other laborers, long previous to that as secretary of large collieries in England, I had special opportunites of studying labor questions, and I may safely say that where difficulties between employe and employed have arisen, and no satisfactory arrangement has been come to; and strikes have resulted, I have never failed to be able to trace the cause of the failure to temper or absence of reasonableness, either on one side or the other. Questions in dispute that are comparatively insignificant at the beginning are sometimes lost sight of during heat of discussion, and attempted coercion on one side and resistance to unreasonable demands on the other.

Question—You mention the tendency of unions to increase wages, but supposing an occasion should arise when it was found absolutely necessary to reduce wages, what then?

Answer—In answer to your question I am glad to have the opportunity to testify to the good-feeling that amounted to generosity on the part of the union in a body four years after the union was established. The condition of the coal market called for a revision of the scale of wages paid to the men, and, on the matter being explained, first to the union officers, and afterwards to the whole of the company's employees, assembled to hear by explanation, the union in a body, without a single dissenting vote, accepted a reduction in wages to take immediate effect of 20 per cent., which at that time was equivalent to making the company a present of $20,000 a month. This reduction was adhered to only for a short period, but a 10 per cent. reduction continued for nearly four years. We restored the 10 per cent. not quite four years ago.

Maurice Mahoney came in from the Velvet mine this morning with a lame arm. He will remain in town for a few days.

Bernard Macdonald arrived from Spokane on this afternoon train.

Archibald Cameron, now of Salmo, and J. R. McKoy of Grand Forks are in town.

R. Dalby Morkill has a "more union" dog than Assayer Marshs' "Doon," whose predeliction was related in yesterday's WORLD. Mr. Morkill's dog objects to the Miner so strongly that he has destroyed the last three numbers of the Wrecker as soon as they were delivered in the morning and his owner has been obliged to build a post box to save the paper from destruction.

Treasure Arrived.

Seattle, Aug. 23.—The steamship Oregon has arrived at this port from Nome. She had $500,000 worth of treasure on board. The Oregon officers state that the steamer Chas. D. Lane, which met disaster in the Behring sea last July, is practically a total loss.

TEN MORE QUIT WORK

The Latest from Northport This Afternoon--Furnaces Cold.

Northport, Aug. 23, 4 p.m.—(Special).—Ten more of the non-union men at the Le Roi smelter left on the south-bound train today.

Both furnaces at the smelter went cold at 10 o'clock this morning and were not free this afternoon.

Peters and Hankins, two of the scab "gun" men who were out on $400 cash bail, have failed to deposit the amount and the officer went after them this afternoon Unless the money is forthcoming both men will be jailed.

Fraud Charged.

New York, Aug. 23.—More arrests, in view of the alleged frauds practiced by officers of western-bound Atlantic steamers in collusion, it is said, with immigration inspectors, are likely to be made in the near future. The developments point to frauds extending over a long period, involving officers on several lines of steamers.

BRATNOBER AND LE ROI

Has Reported to London--A Possible Manager--Le Roi Stock Drops.

Henry Bratnober. who has been examining the Le Roi situation on behalf of himself and London friends who hold large blocks of Le Roi stock, has been in communication by cable with his London associates, says the Spokesman Review. He has advised them of his opinion regarding the Le Roi.

There is excellent reason for believing that Mr. Bratnober is not amiably disposed toward Bernard Macdonald, the Rossland manager of the mine. It is certain that Mr. Bratnober is fighting Whitaker Wright and the Wright interest which now control the Le Roi. There is cause for believing that the antipathy of Mr. Bratnober toward Mr. Wright includes most of the people in the mine management who have been allied with Wright.

It is considered probable by Mr. Bratnober and his friends that the ousting of Whitaker Wright at the meeting on the 29th would be followed by a change in the management of the mine at Rossland. It is only conjectured who the new manager would be.

The strike in the Le Roi and the consequent troubles have a serious effect on the London market. The Le Roi Stock has fallen from £9 10s to £7 per share. That is equal to a loss of $2,500,000 in the market value of the Le Roi stock.
