FAIR IS OPENED

Pan American Exposition Now in Full Swing.

A LARGE CROWD PRESENT

No Ceremonies Marked the Formal Opening—These Will Come Later—Weather Stormy and Wet.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 1.—The gates of the Pan-American exposition were thrown open today and notwithstanding it rained all night and the weather was threatening, large crowds gathered at the exposition gates and, as the morning brightened, the various rontes to the grounds were well patronized by those who desired to be present at the opening. At 3:30 o'clock the turnstiles clicked at the first of the many millions of people who will visit the beautiful rainbow city during the six months of its existance passed into the ground to view and study the products of American ingenuity and scientific research and the research and the resources of the two continents of western hemisphere, which fill the magnificent surrounding buildings, beautiful in their architectural design, harmonious in their coloring and interior decorations.

No ceremonies marked the opening of the gates this morning, it having been decided by the management of the exposition to combine the opening day ceremonies with those of dedication day, on May 20th. The change in the date, however, did not cause a moments relaxation of the strenuous efforts being put forth by those in connection with the exposition to have everything as nearly ready as possible for today's opening. The appearance of the buildings and grounds this morning bore ample evidence of their efforts. Storm and the inevitable details incident to any undertaking of this magnitude almost made impossible the realization of the hope that this might be the first of the great expositions to be complete on its opening day. But so much more already has been wrought than was deemed possible as the inception of the project that all are satisfied with the extent of the fair as it appeared this morning, carried through from the beginning by the citizens of Buffalo without state or federal aid.

All of the exposition buildings were open and the visitors as a rule made their way to one of the nearest gates through which they entered the grounds. Much of interest was to be seen in the building devoted to manufacturers and liberal arts. Exhibits in the agriculture building were also assuming shape. In the government building the visitors found the Smithonian institute exhibit as well a sthe exhibits of the natural museum, the interior, navy, treasury, postoffice, fish commission and Philippine exhibits are all practically complete in detail and the other departments are not far behind.

President McKinley wires this afternoon: "I congratulate the citizens of Buffalo upon the auspicious opening of the Pan American exposition, so rich in blossom and ripe in expectation. May the hopes and ambitions of its promoters be realized to the fullest measure."

Carpenter & Co., over Dominion Express office will sell all kodaks, photographic supplies and hand cameras at Eastern list prices hereafter. Call or send for our price list of supplies, ready after May 10th.

STRIKE SETTLED.

Big United States Steel Company Compromised With Workers.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 1.—No settlement has been received by the United States Steele Corporation and the engineers but otherwise the strike is practically at an end. The managers of the other local lines have made arrangements with the engineers, and have men enough to take care of their boats. The officials of the trust fleet have agreed to pay the engineers scheduled wages.

Want Coal Tax Withdrawn.

London, May 1.—At a meeting of the Miner's Federation held in London this morning and attended by delegates from all parts of the United Kingdom, it was recommended that all miners quit work unless the coal tax should be withdrawn. Another meeting summoned for May 7th, to decide the matter and to fix a date for the stoppage of work should that stept be resolved upon.

A STOVE COMBINE

Detroit to Have the Industry for the Whole of America.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Recent reports that a consolidation of all the principal stove companies of this country was about to take place were confirmed yesterday. Chas. B. Warren acknowledged that plans for the consolidation are under way.

"These plans contemplate," said Mr. Warren, "the amalgamation of all of the principal stove manufacturing plants of the country upon lines somewhat similar to the United States Steel corporation. The details have not been settled upon yet, but Detroit will probably be the centre of the stove manufacturing industry of the country.

STRUCK ON A ROCK

Whitelaw Reid and D. O. Mills Injured in a Railway Accident.

Emigrant Gap, Cal., May 1.—In the darkness and the smoke of the snow sheds a Raymond excursion ran into the rear end of the limited train No. 2 at Yuba Pase, four miles east of here, last night. The private car of D. O. Mills was on the rear of the limited and was badly damaged.

Fireman Joe Dalles of Oregon was instantly killed and many passengers on both trains and men of the train crews were badly injured. D. O. Mills and his granddaughter and Whitelaw Reid aud wife had just seated themselves at the dining table in the rear of their car when the crash came. All were more or less bruised and scratched but none were seriously injured. Whitelaw Reid received an ugly cut in the face. The limited had struck a rock in the sheds and was ditched until the second section came up. Saunders was crushed between the tender and engine. The tender of second engine was also driven up into the cab. The baggage car climbed over the rear tender and shot up against the roof of the snow shed, knocking out a section of the shed.

OUR FIRST ISSUE.

The EVENING WORLD has no apology to offer its clients, the public, for its appearance. Its publication is simply in response to a demand for an evening paper which has been steadily growing in Rossland ever since the Record closed down in December last.

The morning paper, says a writer, comes with the morning breakfast of all those who have not to hurry off to their toil as soon as the day begins, and a workingman whose leisure comes in the evening makes his evening paper the solace of the hour. It is appropriate, therefore, in a city of busy workers, such as Rossland has now grown to, that the evening paper should be essentially the workingman's journal, framed particularly to protect and advance his interests, but in order to do this effectually and insure the largest circulation possible it is necessary that the latest telegraphic and local news obtainable should be briefly presented each evening, making the paper of interest to the public at large.

The full day report of the Canadian Associated Press will appear in each issue, although at first it will be necessary to abreviate a portion of the dispatches in order to make room for local and mining news. A little later, when the paper is enlarged, this will be changed. No trouble will be spared in obtaining and publishing all local happenings and due prominence will be given to mining news.

As the recognized champion of the united labor organizations of Southeastern British Columbia, THE WORLD has a good circulation already assured. A partial canvas of the city has given an exceedingly gratifying return, demonstrating that the circulation will steadily increase as the paper is known and appreciated. That our advertising patrons wanted an evening paper is clearly shown in the columns of this issue.

Apart from the labor interest the WORLD will take an independent stand on all political, municipal and local matters, holding steadily that "the good of the camp" should ever be the chief consideration of any newspaper hoping to succeed in Rossland.

THE WAR EAGLE TANGLE.

One of the greatest if not the chief causes for the depression of all British Columbia mining interests in Eastern Canada, and indeed in the New York and London markets, is the drop in War Eagle and Centre Star stocks. There is probably not a business man or broker in the Kootenays who is not painfully aware of how greatly the tangle into which the management of these mines have fallen has hurt and is continuing to hurt the whole of the mining and business interests in these parts. If an eastern man is asked to go into a venture of any sort out here he indignantly points to the history of the two properties named and retorts that eastern investments are good enough for him.

Every day letters come here from the east showing that the prevailing idea about mining in general and in Rossland in particular is that we have become a past number and that shortly Rossland will cease to exist, all because the management of these two mines have made a mess of things generally. It is intensely aggravating to think that three or four men here and in Toronto have got the power to injure the industry and the camp to the extent they have.

Meantime the policy of the management is one of suppression of the facts. No information of any kind is given out and in answer to all enquiries a polite refusal is given. At the moment we can only suggest two possible courses—a little later others may be found. As Messrs. Gooderham and Blackstock have repeatedly asserted their entire ignorance of mining, how would it do to import the gentlemen to Rossland and teach them. It would take time, but it could be done, or the local rifle company might be called upon and, with the assistance of the maxim and a few citizens, "The Hill" might be stormed, the incapables thrown out and a real head installed.

Seriously, some energetic steps should be taken to put an end to the tangle the management have got themsemselves into and put us all in.

THE GIBSON WIDOW.

Heaven bless and preserve the widow. May it be long before she is married and lost to us. Of course widows in general are not referred to, but Charles Dana Gibson's dainty creation in the central cartoon of New York Life. Week by week the fair lady and her several admirers are shown to us in different tableaux. The widow has many ardent admirers all over the continent and they are getting anxious over the lady's fate. To whom will Mr. Gibson eventually marry her? The question has become of international importance and we suggest to Mr. Gibson that he introduce a typical western mining man into the group and let him win the lady.

A Boston girl is doing a great business with the cartoons in question. The pictures are cut out of Life, hand painted, and mounted on a dark cardboard cut in medallion form. The effect is excellent and no unattached bachelor can fail to become an immediate purchaser.

THE CITY PRINTING.

Men are prone to err and city councils are composed of men. Possibly if a few women members joined in the deliberations councils would go straighter and sin less. The matter of the city printing came up last evening when an earnest protest was read from several city firms against the mode and manner of calling for tenders adopted by the council. It was claimed that the specifications were vague and in many other respects entirely unsatisfactory, the faulty details being set out in the protest.

Alderman Rolt, it seems, had detected a stupid method in force in ordering the printing. Small orders were given repeatedly for goods required constantly and as anyone can see the bills came high. And so it was decided to call for tenders but, as stated, the specifications given prevented proper applications being made.

There are four firms in the city who do the business in question and it is a good thing that a fair distribution should be made. If the council would decide just what is required for the year and call upon the firms for prices, a reasonable schedule can be agreed upon satisfactory to all concerned.

We are carrying too large a stock of fine photographic mounts and other supplies for making photographs, and must reduce the same immediately; and until same is reduced, we are going to reduce all prices nearly one-half. Don't wait, but come now; there is no telling how soon these prices will be raised, as we will have a big sale as such wonderfully low prices, and they will only last until our present stock is reduced. LE ROI IS RICH

The Reason of the Recent Jump in its Stock.

BEST FIND MADE IN B. C.

The Lower Workings of the War Eagle and What They Show---The Green Mountain.

That a particularly rich strike has been made below the 900 level in the Le Roi is now definitely known, though authenticated particlars are still lacking. It is said that in one of the new drifts 30 foot wide ore body was located recently and that the rock has proved one of the richest finds ever struck in British Columbia. Portions of the ledge go away up in values and a large section will average as large as $100 to the ton. The find of course has an added importance as proving the richness of the lower workings. It is also stated that the recent jump in Le Roi stock to over £10 is the direct result of the mine managers report on the find mentioned.

It is also asserted with definite clearness that the ore body has been again found in the lower workings of the War Eagle and that the values so far have proved satisfactory. When the company report was issued in February the main shaft was going down with a swiftness "unequalled in the Kootenays" as the dear manager said. The 1400 foot level has been reached and passed since and drifting has been in progress as all the camp knows.—In a short time we will give the facts despite Mr. Kirby's foolish attempt to cover up management by refusing to give to the public, who purchased his shares, the reasonable information they seek for. The Centre Star Directors—the Cooderham outfit have passed the May dividend and now that the manager is at last in "Barren Ore." He will probably return from Toronto and expect a reception and a banquet he should have both. There are so many kinds to choose from—Hail "Barren" Kirby!

So far in the Green Mountain the values in the discovered ledge have not proved satisfactory. Mr. Bryden has completed his drill contract and expects to leave for the coast shortly.

The Centre Star shipments have gone back at the rate of two carloads, or 62 tons, a day. The explanation is simple—richer ore was being sent down than heretofore so that less was required to make up the daily total.

Supper will be served at the Kootenay tonight for those who attend the Maccabee dance.

HE QUOTED FROM PAUL

How MacNeill Answered Galt in the Arrest Case of Mr. Chittenden.

Everyone knows that the War Eagle Co., put C. E. Chittenden their hotel manager in durance vile and kept him there a week and that he was released through MacNeill K. C.'s efforts but there is a biblical story in the case worthy of record.

After Chittenden was behind the bars Mr. MacNeill at once moved for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Galt's clients relented and their solicitor wrote MacNeill. That "we will consent to your client's release under the circumstances." Mr Galt was astounded to receive a reply that read:

"Referring to your letter of to day 'consenting to Mr. Chittenden's release we beg to say that our reply will be found in Acts Chap. 16, Verse 36-7. Mr. Galt; with Tom Parker's assistance after a lengthy search found the following reference:

"36. The magistrates have sent to let you go; now therefore depart and go in peace.

"37. But Paul answered, they have beaten us openly uncondemned being Romans and have cast us into prison and now do they thrust us out privily? Nay, verily, but let them come themselves and fetch us out."

As it is stated that this case is by no means settled yet there may be more "biblical letters."

Photographs at half price for a short time at Carpenter & Co.'s Gallery. Our fine Cabinets at $2.50 and $3.00 per dozen, now; regular price was $4.00 and $5.00 per dozen. All other style and sizes reduced one-half regular price.

A re-survey is to be made of the boundary line between British Columbia and the states of Washington and Montana. The work will be commenced within a few weeks. After all the talk that has been indulged in anent this question it will be interesting to know for certain "where we are at."

"In union there is strength," remarked the moralizer, as he approached the free lunch department and applied some mustard to a cheese sandwich.

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined the bartender, as he took a quart bottle that was half full of whiskey and filled it up with water.

Men and Mud Turtles.

Doctor Yerkes, of Harvard University, spent a large part of last summer in observing the formation of habits in the turtle. Habit is a large part of life not only with human beings but with reptiles. The turtle has generally been accounted a sluggish creature. Doctor Yerkes wanted to learn how quickly the turtle could learn anything. So he arranged a box with various obstacles between the extreme corners, in one of which was a dark nest. At the end farthest from the nest he placed a turtle. The animal wondered around for thirty-five minutes before finding what it wanted; but after it once knew the route it began to improve on the records. In fact, the fiftieth trip was made in thirty-five seconds. More difficult labyrinths were arranged and the turtle again showed that when it knew its way it went as straight as possible to its deslination. If it got lost it would wander back to the starting place and begin over again. A means was made for it to escape from its imprisonment, and Dr. Yerkes makes this interesting comment: "Had the turtle stopped to judge and draw inference as to the way to escape instead of persistenly moving from place to place it would probably be in the pen yet." In another experiment, Doctor Yerkes tells us, the turtle found that it could make time by crawling over the edge of an incline and making a plunge, and afterwards it always went in this manner.

All these things show that the turtle has some points which the human being might copy with profit. For instance, its way of making its record better with every effort is entirely commendable. Its habits, when lost, of going back to the starting point and beginning over again can be recommended to anybody, young or old, and is sure to lead to success in the end. Its courage in making a plunge and then continuing the particular operation as a saving of time or a short cut to fortune may smack of speculation; but that is a large part of life anyhow, an so that too, ought to be useful as an example.

In fact these experiments have given us a higher appreciation of the turtle, and they entitle him to a larger respect than he has hitherto commanded. Now, if Professor Yerkes will only try a few experiments with the diamond-backs terrapin and determine whether its increased intelligence is worth the extra cost that it imposes upon those who enjoy it, he will render an additional service to science and to all who like to know about the interesting and significant facts of natural history.

New Blood for Old Spain.

That Spain is determined to win back by the arts of peace the prestige that she lost by unsuccessful war becomes more and more evident. On the thirtieth of this month there is to be held at Barcelona an exposition that is significant of the new spirit that is entering into the country. On that day an exhibition of Spanish coal is to be opened and it is to con tinue until the end of June.

The men who planned the exposition seem to be broad-minded and advanced, for their ideas are in the line of progressive thought. The purpose of the exhibit is announced to be the exploration of the coal wealth of the country, and great results are anticipated.

Not only is coal to be shown, but modern patent fuels and waste products are welcome, as well as peat and coke, pitch and tar, and whatever minerals are used in the making of special fuels.

The plan is even more advanced—in fact it could not be more advanced if it were in progressive America—for all possible kind of tools, machinery and appliances connected with the mining, handling and shipping of coal are to be shown. Stoves, furnaces, hearths and grates also come under the purview of the managers of the scheme.

That spain is the richest country in Europe in minerals has long been known. There are immense deposits of iron ore and of lead, of sulphur, copper and nickel.

Following the impetus given by the development of the coal beds will come a livelier increase in railroad building and in manufactures, and a new Spain promises to rise from the downfall of the old. For centuries spain has foolishly prided herself on chivalry, romance, punctiliousness and ability to fight. Her stiff pomposity and egotism have made her a laughing-stock, and in war after war she has been terribly beaten.

Many a foolish man has had common-sense put into him by a good beating, and after a series of defeats has at length arisen sober-minded and more capable. It is often with nations as it is with individual men.

HOW CASH GOES

City Council Passes Bills for $3500 Last Night.

HORSES FOR SALE CHEAP

Much Needed Sidewalks to be Laid ---What the Bronchos Cost--- Hilliard's Little Bill.

The city fathers held a $3500 weekly session last evening, or to be exact accounts were passed for the week to the tune of $3584.80. The chief items being $550 for the new fire horses—only one of which is possibly fit for the service—$100 freight on the horses. Salary list April $1931.65, Dr. Reddick $200, streets payroll $129, and fire, water, and and light accounts $626.

The city some time ago dispatched Alderman MacDonald to purchase additional horses for the fire department. The Alderman wandered around Montana and elsewhere winding up at Calgary with the result that the city now owns three valuable bronchos which cost the ratepayers some $750, one of the horses the fire chief says may be made fairly fit but was a unanimous feeling that the other two animals had better be passed on at once to some deserving citizens who possibly might find use for them.

If the council applied to the fire departments at Victoria, Vancouver or New Westminster they would probably obtain the necessary information regarding the whereabouts of a suitable team that they were so anxious to obtain last evening and the freight on letters to the points mentioned including a return message is not high.

A 14-foot sidewalk will be laid on the north side of Columbia avenue from St. Paul to Monte Christo street. The south side of Second avenue will have a 10-foot walk from Queen to St. Paul and an 8-foot sidewalk on the south side from St. Paul up to Monte Christo street.

There is a decided difference of opinion between Mr. Hilliard and the council, the gentleman claimed $100 for his fee in fixing up the city fire alarm while the council thought $25 enough but were willing to compromise on $50. The finance committee will wrestle with the matter later on.

The council closed on arduous exhausting and decidedly expensive session at 10:45.

Board of Trade.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade has been called for this evening at 8:30. Members are earnestly requested to attend as there are several matters of importance to discuss.

MINOR MENTION.

Mrs. Kane of north Washington st. is seriously ill.

Little Marian Martin is out again after a siege of rheumatism.

L. Henry Moffatt arrived yesterday after a four months trip in the Eastern Canada.

The order of the Eastern Stars holds its regular meeting tonight at Masonic hall.

The West End tennis club have made arrangements to open their court for the season tomorrow afternoon.

B. O. Boswell and wife of the Bonnington Falls power works passed through the city today after a lengthy holiday trip all along the Pacific coast.

R. E. Lyons, druggist supplies Ottawa, was in town yesterday. He is one of the many losers on the War Eagle and Centre Star.

H. M. Fraiser, manager of Arthur & McHarper dry good store will leave for Vancouver in a few days; he has accepted a position in that city.

"He is a good enought man but not a strayer, I'll bet he dosn't last a month" said the street prophet. Don't gamble son don't gamble. It's the unexpected that always happens.

There are many street rumors about the changes on the miner staff but no official announcement has yet been made. It will be some days yet before the facts are given out.

By general consensus of Rossland opinion Mr. Manager Kirby has been be-knighted. The tille ot "Barren" is the one conferred and its going to stick.

The Singing Evangelists, J. Parsons Smith, ex-Pugilist, and Prof. J. C Miller, soloist, will hold two meetings in Miner's Union Hall Thursday and Friday evening next under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U.

The ladies of the sewing guild of St George's church held a small informal social in the church rooms last night which was much enjoyed by those present. Songs were rendered by Messrs. Coffin, Long and Knott and an evening hymn brought a pleasant gathering to a close. The question of more becoming church building is agitating St. George's congregation at present and, judging from the earnest desires of all the members, a strong effort will soon be made to attain the object of the r ambitions.

W. J. Davidson Charged with Larceny.

YALE-COLUMBIA CO'S CASE

Other Cases in the Police Court This Morning---The New Addition to the City Jail.

There was a good audience in the police court this morning to hear the Davidson embezzlement case. W. J. Davidson was formerly the book keeper of the Yale-Columbia Lumber company's branch in this city and he is charged with the larceny of several sums of money from his employers about January last. City Solicitor Abbott prosecuted and J. A. Macdonald defended the prisoner who appeared to take the proceedings very calmly. He elected to be tried summarily and pleaded not guilty.

John G. Billings the company's secretary, Alfred Sykes, auditor; Norman Jackson the present book keeper and other witnesses were examined and the case was in progress this afternoon,

Joseph McCarty and J. F. Keating were charged with vagrancy and allowed an adjournment until tomorrow. Thomas Anderson charged with stealing a matrass by V. F. Chambers was also granted a day's adjournment

Arrangements have been completed to enlarge the police accommodations at the city hall and jail. The present jail building will be moved west and have a new entrance and between the city hall and the jail a new building will be erected having an entrance direct from the chief's present quarters. The change will be made at once.

THE STOCK MARKET

Today's Quotations at the Local Board---Centre Star Goes Down.

During the past month the two principal features have been the jump in Le Roi stock and the further depression in both War Eagle and Centre Star. That a mine paying a monthly dividend of one per cent should have its stock quoted around 30 cents and even lower is painful to think about and clearly demonstrates that there is something radically wrong in the management. No mining man in Rossland thinks that either the War Eagle or the Centre Star has petered out or that both properties are not worthy of support. The distrust in all cases appears to centre upon the management. The Le Roi advance is touched upon elsewhere in this issue:

The effect of the War Eagle-Centre Star tangle has been to depress more or less all the other stocks and although there has been a good deal of trading done in them the tone of the market has been dull and featureless.
