THE SITUATION

Men Refusing to Work at the Northport Smelter.

REAL TRUTH ABOUT THE CABLES

Whitaker Wright Sent One and "The Board of Directors" the Other—No Board Yet Elected.

The strike situation in Rossland remains practically unchanged. Al. Geiser the Baker City contractor has got some alien laborers working on the Josie that he has managed to run in here from the other side but none of our own miners have offered to work either union or non-union and the contractor is making little or no progress beyond getting out some ore which was ready for shipping and sending some car loads down to Trail from the big second class ore dump of the Le Roi.

Down at Northport the situation has not improved. Many of the men brought to the smelter to work under direct misrepresentation of facts, refuse to stay on, once the real situation is explained to them. No matte has been shipped and the car load which was got all ready for export has been unloaded. It being ascertained that the values had disappeared. The Le Roi manager should publish his export certificates if he wants anyone to believe in his "extremely rich matte". It is about as true as his famous cable yarn.

The Spokesman-Review of Saturday gave the cable story away very badly. Here is the dispatch in full:

Northport, Wash Aug. 30.—Copies of the following cablegrams have been received by Manager Kadish of the Northport Smelting and Refining company.

London, Aug, 29.—Bernard Macdonald, Rossland, B. C. New board of directors fully approves your policy regarding strike. (Signed.) Board of directors Le Roi Minning Company.

London, Aug. 30.—Bernard Macdonald, Rossland, B. C. Only one new director appointed, your policy regarding strike fully approved. You remain in charge.

(Signed) WHITAKER WRIGHT.

Mr. Kadish said "This news fully settles the question."

Mr. Macdonald has improved on his first effort. Now it is "the board of directors" who have not been elected—who sent one dispatch and Whitaker Wright the other. Under these circumstances comment is unnecessary. The associated press dispatch announced the resignation of all the directors except Messrs Hill and Andrew and says that Frecheville who was elected in Wright's place will leave for Rossland on the 4th and upon his return the board of directors will be made up.

This version completely knocks the Miner's story on the head as the saying is "for sure."

The High School.

Principal H. G. McTaggart arrived here on Saturday and opened the new high school in Masonic hall this morning. There will be about 20 pupils in attendance. School will open tomorrow morning at 9 a.m.

THE SCAB AND HIS GUN

Law Abiding Men Employed by Manager Kadish.

EIGHT SHOTS FIRED LAST NIGHT

Captured and Run in at Last--$3000 Bail Put Up by the Company--Bernard Macdonald Drives Down Today--Town All Quiet Now.

(Special to the WORLD)

Northport, Wash., Sept. 3.—The town was greatly excited yesterday over the shooting scrape originated by one Giton, a scab worker at the smelter.

Giton had pulled his gun on one of the union men early in the day and assaulted him and a warran had been issued for his arrest by Justice Marshall,

When the deputy sheriff went up to the smelter grounds to arrest Giton the man agreed to come down to the justices' office without trouble, but on the way down he announced his intention of shooting any one who touched him. "If that is so said the deputy you had better hand over your gun right now."

Giton, however, refused and drawing his gun commence shooting. The deputy also opened out and each exchanged four shots. The deputy was not wounded but Giton had the tips of three of his right hand fingers shot off and was wounded between the thumb and forefinger of the left hand. Giton escaped to the smelter grounds and an excited crowd followed up to the dead line. Here they and the deputy were met by Giton and another with Winchesters and held off.

The deputy swore in some fifty specials and surrounded the grounds and again demanded that Giton be given up but Kadish refused. About midnight Sheriff Lidgerwood arrived on the scene but it was not till about 9 a. m. today that Giton was captured and taken to court. He was subsequently liberated on a $3000 bail bond.

The town is quiet enough now, but there was a great deal of excitement while the matter was pending.

Manager Macdonald, William Thompson and a Rossland bank manager arrived here in a carriage about eleven o'clock today. They went at once to the smelter.

STRIKE NOT SETTLED.

Whereas agents of the mining companies have circulated the report that the strike existing at this place is settled and work is to be resumed at the mines, we wish to state that this report is false and there is no probability of a settlement of the strike for some time to come. We advise all men looking for employment to keep away from Rossland, or Northport or vicinity.

PREST-BERTOLINI.

A Quiet Wedding at the Baptist Church --A Reception at the Kootenay.

There was a quiet wedding in the First Baptist church yesterday when William J. Prest of the Royal barber shop was united in marriage to Miss Julia Louise Bertolini, by Rev. P. H. McEwan.

The ceremony took place at noon, the groom being attended by Frank E. Woodside and the bride by Mrs. Langlois, Mr. Langlois giving the bride away.

After the service the wedding party drove to the Kootenay where one of the private dining rooms had been specially decorated for the wedding breakfast. The room was turned into a veritable bower of beauty. Roses and carnations in profusion decorated the wedding breakfast table, and gaily colored satin ribbons and festoons of flowers about the room made a pretty and effective scene.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for a trip up the lakes. On their return they will take up their residence on Queen street north.

TUG OF WAR

Firemen Win Easily Yesterday From the Federal Building Workers,

Quite a crowd of spectators gathered at the corner of First avenue and St. Paul street at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to witness the tug of war between the fireman and the stone masons and brick layer on the federal building.

Each team was composed of eight men as follows:

Firemen—Messrs. Guthrie, Collins, D. McDonald, Wilson, Martin, F. Boyd and A. McDonald, W. Boyd.

Stone Masons—Messrs. Dawson, McKenzie, Laseur, Grant, Donlin, Crabb and Larney, Dutton.

The fire team got a little the best of it at the start and held their opponents firmly, winning the contest. There was only one heat.

A committee of Labor Union men interviewed H. W. C. Jackson, contractor for the Norway Mountain wagon road, and he consented to a nine-hour day at $3.

Work has been stopped on the Nelson Federal building. The foreman and architect cannot agree. The matter has been referred to the authorities at Ottawa.

The Success of Last Saturday's Bluff.

WHO BOUGHT THE LE ROI MINE?

How the Prospectus Omitted His Name--Getting Ready for Frecheville's Coming—More Cables.

"Is that you, Willie? All right! What was said about my bluff Saturday?

Willie. (doubtfully.) "Well, I think—"

"What do you think with?"

"I forgot, Barney. We both get along without doing it much. I was going to say that the public might think there would be a shortage in the smelter returns; $2500 is a large sum at the present time."

"Oh! That's all right, but what did they say?"

"Well, I overheard Bulmer say that he saw you running down Columbia avenue, and thought the Wild West Show had arrived, as the cowboys and shepherds crooks had just been put off at the Black Bear."

"Did you ever, Willie? I begin to despair of making Rossland a civilized community."

"I was going to say you did the governor up on the Le Roi business this morning. It was news to the public. Tell me, Barney, who bought the Le Roi?

"Why me and Whitaker Wright."

"Barney, can you prove that?"

"Well, I know I raked in several thousand dollars for spending a few hours in the Le Roi and Centre Star. Willie, make the next bet $5000. I've got a cable to prove it."

"I would like to know, Barney, why it is your name does not appear in the Le Roi prospectus? I saw Carlyle's name there. I saw ex-Governor Mackintosh's name, and I saw J. Breen the smelter man's name there, too, and D. J. Macdonald's."

"Come off! Breen's no smelterman."

"Well, his name's there anyhow. I saw John Long's name there, and I saw Mr. Rathbone's name, of London."

"Well, never mind, Willie, we won't go into particulars. I'll shew you you a cable in which Whitaker apologizes for my name not appearing. He said my report was for private circulation only, and he feared very much that if my opinion was known, it would take weeks to return the oversubscribed capital."

"Well, that accounts for it Barney. But, how is it that there was an action brought against the B. A. C. on the ground that the governor bought the Le Roi?"

"To be sure, Whitaker was so much impressed by my report in November 1897 that he bonded the property for $5,000,000. We afterwards bought it for about a million and a quarter less; but I did that."

"Well, Barney, I must say you have been greatly maligned. Have you seen the Bullionist of August 16th? I got it this morning, and accorning to that the idiot of a liquidator, Mr. Barnes says that Mackintosh the director of the corporation, then resident in Canada purchased the controlling interest in the company owning the Le Roi mine." How do you account for that?

"It's wrong. These lords, and dukes, and judicial functionaries in

A CHRONIC DECEIVER.

It affords us no gratification to say in all seriousness, that Mr. Bernard Macdonald is anxious to establish for himself the position of a distinguished Chronic Deceiver. What has be done to promote the interests of Rossland, a camp that might be one of the greatest mining districts in America. He has conspired to produce disruption, where conciliation might have resulted in harmony and progress. He has used a newspaper that should represent public interests, to defame honorable men. He has used a newspaper, purchased probably with the money of the British shareholders, to denounce those whose object was to secure the investment of British capital. Many instances might be quoted; but we select one in particular, that of the flotation of the "Giant" mine, a property promising to rank with the Le Roi company, a property which paid running expenses from the start, and has been reported upon by known experts as only requiring capital to prove its ore values. Could Bernard Macdonald keep his vandal hands off the enterprize? By no means. He deliberately went out of his way, to raise obstacles by insinuation, thus aiming a deadly blow at the interests of Rossland. Happily, that blow fell short of its mark; but the object lesson will never be lost upon the public, for it created a suspicion that the aim of Bernard Macdonald was to prevent any other mines being operated; that his design was to retard, not promote development. Was it because he knew that a mine paying dividends would be a standing menace to his policy, and his only salvation was to crush out rivalry, no not merely rivalry, but honest efforts? We regret to be obliged to come "twixt the wind and the nobility" of this mining Czar, swelling like a pouter pigeon with a sense of his own importance; still, we are in duty bound to ask one potent question. What is the mining record of Bernard Macdonald? He was the expert whose report induced thousands of people to invest in the "Payne." What are the shares of that company worth today? He put on record and staked his reputation, upon the Centre Star paying $500,000 per annum in dividends. He it was who congratulated the company with which he was then connected upon the flotation of the Republic at $3,000,000. What are the shares of these properties worth today? In short, going back to the period of the Dufferln in Nova Scotia, when it was under his charge, what has the deplorable result been? Mr. Bernard Macdonald was somewhat circumscribed in his influence for good or evil, until he revived the old days when he worked for Whitaker Wright, and became the general manager of the Le Roi. He brought with him into the Rossland camp the vendetta of California, Colorado, Idaho and Montana. He saw his opportunity and took advantage of it. Not willing to depend upon his brains and supposed knowledge, he purchased a newspaper, surrounding himself by a cordon of "pals" and other requisite influences. The palmy days of William Thompson and Bela Kadish were ushered in. Mr. Albert Geiser subsequently came to the front. New men controlled the Northport smelter, and new men, so far as possible, the Rossland mines. What followed, he who runs may read. The situation became acute. Were the directors in London told the truth? Were those who had invested their money considered and protected? The trail of duplicity may be traced across the continent, thence to London. A far off board of directors were prompted to believe that mining unions were a standing menace to law and order, and miners above and below ground, were savages perched upon dynamite and sleeping over vast stores of giant powder an arsenal, to be used to the detriment and ruin of investors. We ask, was this honest? We ask, was this this manly? We ask, was this human? Mr. Bernard Macdonald can sit on either horn of the dilemma, uncomfortable though it may prove, and proceed to answer these qnestions.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

We quoted recently from the London British Columbia Review as follows: "It is quite obvious that the only legitimate profits made by the B. A. C. were from mining undertakings initiated and carried through by Hon C. H. Mackintosh," and the Rossland Miner seeks to minimize the work accomplished by Mr. Mackintosh! That gentleman proved he was no office seeker, by twice tendering his resignation in London when his suggestions were not acted upon, finally insisting upon that resignation being accepted in May 1899; yet this is the man who Bernard Macdonald, in his newspaper, endeavors to make the public believe, is anxious to assume the responsibility of managing director of the Le Roi companies! The past has shown he is no salary grabber.

Speaking of the provincial attorney general and his attitude on the alien labor law, the Victoria Post says: "His contempt for public lic interests generally and those of organized labor in particular, has been only to apparent throughout the tracksmen's strike. In no single instance has he attempted to enforce the law where the company were concerned, though opportunity for so doing has arisen again and again."

If Beamish gets two months for calling an ordinary man a scab, how many is Barney entitled to calling the governor the greatest l—r in Rossland?

In the course of a lengthy editorial on the Le Roi outlook the London Financier and and Bullionist of August 19 says. "We think the mine may yet become a paying property, but we can not think that such will be the case until Mr. Whitaker Wright has been removed from the board.

The disclosures of his financial methods in Mr. Barnes' report on the B. A. C. should make any independent Le Roi shareholder pause. It should make them decide that at all hazards they will rid themselves of this man from off their board, and if it can be shown that he has support among his fellow members on the board, these men must go with him. His pea-and-thimble-style of finance has wrought endless mischief and misery in the city during the past six months."

A PLAIN STATEMENT.

The Facts of the Case as Presented by the Executive Committee of Rossland Miners' Union, No. 38, W. F. M.

ossland, B. C., July 12th, 1901.

To the Citizens and Business Men of Rossland and Vicinity and to the General Public:

The business and social interests of a community are so closely interwoven in a community like ossland, that any dispute among the industrial elements forming the social structure, is often more disastrous to the business or non-combattant class around which the labor and capital elements revolve, than to the actual combattants themselves. Thus both labor and capital are morally obligated to strive to adjust their disputes, to protect the social structure of which they are separate parts.

For this reason this union deems it well to make a careful statement of all the reasons leading us to precipitate this industrial strife at this time. Since the agreement between the big corporations of Rossland and Rossland Miners' Union in April, 1900, this city has apparently enjoyed industrial peace; yet all who are conversant with the industrial affairs of Rossland for the past fifteen months know there has been a secret warfare waged against this Miners' Union, which has been nearly as destructive to the business interests of the community as an open struggle between the two industrial forces, and worse in that there is no apparent end to be seen.

We have given long and careful consideration to this matter and have reached the conclusion that the foundation of the trouble rests on the fact that nearly one-half of the employees in the mines of this community receive about 20 per cent less wages than the same class of labor in surrounding camps, many of which camps have a lower grade of ore and are less favorably situated than Rossland. We believe that it is to continue to enforce this unjust scale of wages that so many annoying practices have been introduced to undermine the prestige of this [illegible] of Rossland.

First.—An annoying system of espionage and blacklisting by which many of our ablest members have been compelled to seek employment in other localities, although of unquestioned ability in their trade.

Second.—By revoking a time honored privilege of the Secretary being allowed to solicit members among the non-union employees of the companies who might be off duty on the premises of the companies, a privilege guaranteed us by the last half of Article 15 of the agreement of April, 1900; thus preventing us from refilling our ranks depleted by loss of members compelled to seek employment in other fields.

Third.—By connection with bogus employment agencies seeking to flood the overcrowded labor market with cheap foreign labor.

Finally.—By the largest corporation in this vicinity openly seeking and striving to crush a sister union at Northport, Wash.

We believe all these efforts are mainly to enforce this unjust scale of wages and to prevent all efforts towards an increase. Therefore we have fully resolved that there can be no industrial peace in Rossland and vicinity until this wage question is finally and satisfactorally settled. Then will this fair city enjoy the prosperity for which nature has so evidently intended it.

For this result we ask the moral aid and support of the many diverse bodies making he general public of this city.

Especially we ask your aid in maintaining order, without which we cannot succeed.

There can be no permanent settlement but a just settlement, and to this end we will use all our power as an organization, and all the assistance of the Western Federation of Miners.

We have right on our side and must surely win.

ROSSLAND MI ERS' UNIO No. 38, W. F. M

The Break That Barney Made.

Half a mile,
Half a mile,
Downward and onward.
Down from the silent mines
Into the the strikers' lines,
Down Barney blundered.

Oaths flung to right of him,
Oaths to the left of him,
Curses both weird and grim
Belched by the hundrer.
Full to the chin with rye,
Hate from each ferret eye,
Blazed, while each passed by
Halted and wondered.

"Bring on your liars three"
"M. and McI. and D."
"I want to bet," said he
"They've lied or blundered"
"They'll get it in the neck,"
"Mine is the 'lie' correct."
"Who'll cover Barney's cheque?"
"Marked—two-five hundred."

"Say, Bulmer! Where's your stuff?"
"Your union plays at bluff,"
"My money's good enough,"
"This isn't blarney."
Answer came with a wink,
Two words—they're French I think
"Here! Kumanavadrink!"
That settled Barney.

First a gin then a rye,
"Now wet the other eye,"
Lord! how he made 'em fly,
Grogs by the hundred.
Waving his cheque in air,
Met our staid city mayor;
Hard did his worship stare,
Fairly astonished.

With a voice thick and wet
"Shay Lalonde! Wanter bet"
"Me that I didn't get"
"That—— —— cable?"
"Hush, Barney! Nit your graft,"
"Folks here will think you're daft."
"Best pay your overdraft"
"While you are able."

Crowd then began to josh,
He forgot Mackintosh,
Answered in kindred bosh
Each taunt or blarney;
Till thus the verdict ran
Though he's the great "I AM."
There's a good corner man
Wasted in Barney.

Though it's war to the knife,
Now in this labor strife,
All the small cares of life
Scarcely will irk us;
It once a week to town
Barney will venture down,
In his great act as clown
Of the Le Roi circus.

OVER THE PHONE

London ought to be put down; in fact, locked out. Kadish and I had a great joke about that over the 'phone, but don't say anything about that."

"What about the bet of $5000?"

"Well, just say you have a cable, stating that Barnes don't know what he was talking about and is quite willing to apologize for living."

"I hear from Kadish that that the senator's doctor down at Northport has acted like a brick. He passes Geiser's men through without examination on the ground that he can plainly see the scabs! Not bad, eh?"

"Well, er-er yes; but that fellow Welch has refused to hand over the drug contract to the doctor. He says he has his agreement in writing and we've got to pay the difference. I am going to ask our solicitors if this is not a clear case of embezzlement. Legal fees are running up, but what's the difference? We've got the customs' man. You know I told Kadish to suggest something in the future, do you see?"

"Oh! Barney, by the way, would it not be well to order a few bottles of carbolic acid, Condy's fluid, (not Geiser's, mind you.")

"All right, Willie; try and get some affidavits that there are dynamiters', agitators and anarchists round, and unless Frecheville makes his domicile at the B. A. C. offices his life will be in jeopardy."

"Good. That't right. Couldn't we get Sergeants Irving and Pavier to give an exhibition of the manner in which the office could be defended, in case of attack by the anarchists."

"No, no, that won't do. The arsenal was removed from the blacksmith's shop. We can't get the cargo back from Victoria, nor the remainder from Northport. Better leave the guns where they are. That was a pretty narrow escape."

"What's that?"

"Don't bother Barney."

Well good-bye. Hold on!

Why am I like Mount Roberts?

"Because, you're a great bluff!"

"Willie, if you feel like doing that again, call at the office and get your time."

IS MORGAN?

MORGAN is a new town on the railway now under construction from Marcus to Grand Forks, Republic, Midway and Pnoenix.

MORGAN is situated on Kettle River, half way between Marcus and Cascade.

MORGAN is an ideal townsite in that it has a large mining district and a big agricultural, stock and fruit raising country tributary to it.

MORGAN has no rivals and will be the largest town between Spokane and Grand Forks.

MORGAN is the shipping point for the great First Thought mine, which is developed by 1900 feet of tunnels and shafts, and has over $1,000,000 worth of ore in sight.

MORGAN is the headquarters for the Pierre Lake and Flat Creek mining districts which contain more partially developed mines and prospects showing bodies of sulphide ores averaging over $10 a ton than any similar area in the northwest
