EXTRAORDINARY PROCEEDINGS

Case Was Imported—Another Center of Contagion—The Central Hotel.

A case of smallpox occurring on Monday last in a house of ill-fame, the house has been disinfected and the patient, a woman, removed to the pest house She has been here some four days, coming from Seattle. There has been no quarantine established and all who have come in contact with the unfortunate woman are just as liable to carry infection into the city as were those that assisted at the bedside of Mrs. Woods at the Central hotel last December. One patient, Jacksen, is still at the pest house, a sufferer from the disease brought into the Central hotel, of which he is one of the proprietors. Several cases, in fact all but one possible exception, have occurred in connection with the Central. It is stated that each of these had nothing to do with the first case, but if this is possible, the coincidences are so many as to practically amount to a proof that the reverse was the case.

In connection with this recent outbreak it is curious to note that "Doc" Johnsen has been discharged from further attendance at the pest house. It was thought that he was hardly a fit person to attend to the wants of female patients in consequence of his sex, and a female nurse has been sent down in his place. The woman chosen is not a trained nurse, it being claimed that a trained nurse is not necessary, but she is every bit as expensive, and the same certitude as to proper rules and regulations being enforced at the pest house cannot be felt by the public under such a regime as would be the case in the other alternative. However, when the woman selected is the wife of the partner of Jacksen in the Central hotel no surprise can be felt at the nature of the appointment made by Alderman Armstrong.

The city officials are by no means agreed as to the wisdom of the general proceedings of the board of health, one influential individual stating that he thought they well deserved public rebuke.

The Bayonne.

The Bayonne mine situated on Summit creek near the boundary line on the Kootenay river, is a free milling proposition with a very large vein, and is under bond to Spokane people who intend to test the property thoroughly as soon as they can. The operation of the mine would entail the erection of a stamp mill to get in which would require the construction of about 25 miles of road which would cost about $1000 per mile to build.

At W. F. Lingle's you can get wood that will burn. Phone 149.

SLOCAN MINING

J. C. Ryan on the Progress Made.

MUCH ACTIVITY IS DISPLAYED

Reduction of Smelter Rates and Zinc Ore—Payne Mine and Others.

J. C. Ryan, of Kaslo, speaking of the Slocan to the Nelson Miner, says:

"The Slocan shows evidence of becoming a greater mining section than it has yet been. All the mines that have been working are showing up larger bodies of ore than ever before and some of them are carrying out extensive plans of development.

On the Payne eight tunnels have been run. From the fifth level a winze is being sunk to meet the eight tunnel. The entire depth to be sunk is 350 feet. They are also sinking on the south part of the property and are down between 95 and 100 feet in ore from three to five feet in width and of richer growth than most that has been taken from that mine, and it is getting richer as it is sunk upon. The Payne mill is now under cover and it is expected that it will be ready for operation about May.

A large force of men will be put to work on the Payne Deep in the spring.

A small force of men is working on the Soho, and some ore is being shipped.

On the Last Chance drifting from the long tunnel continues along the galena vein encountered at depth and the results have been very satisfactory.

The American Boy is looking good and ore is being shipped from the No. 5 level.

The Washington is also making a good showing and is shipping ore steadily.

The Dardanelles has resumed work with a small force after having been closed down for some time.

The Red Fox has struck the vein from the south side. The tunnel had been run in following a stringer but at a point in this tunnel a crosscut was run and in a short distance the main vein was struck.

The Ivanhoe, owned by the Minnesota Silver company, is now working steadily.

The reduction of the smelter rate always means a little more returns from the ore, although with the penalty for zinc the reduction in many cases is only about $3 a ton. The price for lead has risen about 25 cents per hundred pounds and this means something more.

The one copper proposition of the Slocan, the True Blue, near Kaslo, is working ahead and getting out ore."

EMPIRE LEAGUE

Speech of Lieut.-Colonel George T. Denison.

THE CORONATION CONFERENCE

Initiative of a Great Reform in the Empire—Strength of the Colonies.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Lieut.-Colonel George T. Denison, president, moving the adoption of the annual report of the British Empire League, said: "It has been the view of this league since its organization that the true policy for furthering the idea of Imperial unity was by means of periodical conferences of representatives of the mother country and the colonies to consider questions of mutual interests. Conferences were held in 1887, 1894 and 1897, at all of which good work was done in the direction of the consolidation of empire. The annual report of the Executive Committee for the past two years urged strongly the holding of another Imperial conference to consider questions affecting the safety and welfare.

It is gratifying for us to know that an Imperial conference has been summoned and will be held in London next June. We are now looking forward to this important meeting. Australia is now united, a great Commonwealth. Canada has been for years a great compact Dominion. New Zealand has shown in her action in sending so many contingents to the war, in her adoption of the penny postage and her Imperial preference a vigorous and spirited loyalty which proves her a great colony, although less in population and area than the others.

The conference will be the gathering of the representatives of the powerful self-governing communities, in all of which the present strength is only a mere indication of the vast increase soon to come. Can we not see that this gathering in June will be one of the most important and fateful events in the history of the British race?

The results of the deliberation of this conference may affect beneficially the future prosperity and security of the empire as a whole, and of every part for ages to come, or the conference may separate withont doing anything, or disagree, or allow that awful danger to nations, the policy of drift, to start us on the downward path as a great power.

What Next?

The leading laundry in Revelstoke, B. C., has been forced to close its doors owing to the competition of Chinese labor, and the Socialists now propose that the plant (valued at $6000) be purchased and the city own and operate it.

FUTURE OUTLOOK

Where Rossland is Going to Get Off at.

OPINIONS OF QUALIFIED MEN

Conditions Prevailing at the Mines—Importance of Reducing Charges.

It is a fact not generally understood that this camp is low grade. The further mineral discoveries have been pushed here the better has it been demonstrated that there are immense bodies of ore of values which range from $7 to $10 which are capable of yielding an enormous weekly tonnage, far greater than anything that has yet been attained, for many years to come. Too much stress has been laid upon the discovery of rich ore shoots at the Centre Star, War Eagle, Annie, Columbia-Kootenay and other important properties and too little emphasis laid on the extent of the ore bodies of far vaster extent existing on these and other properties. On the Jumbo there is sitting on top of the ground a vast body of ore whose values are around $10. The Green Mountain, the Josie, the Giant, the Columbia-Kootenay and a host of others which are today little better than prospects, both on the north and on the south belt, are in the same category as the instance given. On many of these properties high values have been found, that is to say high values for Rossland but that does not alter the fact that on these very properties it is the large lenticular and sheer zone masses of low grade ore rather than the doubtful fissure veins or intruding streaks of high grade ore on which the life of the mine depends.

The Centre Star, for example, the Josie, the Nickel Plate, have in sight vast bodies of this low grade rock at present unmined because it is unprofitable. But that does not mean that it will always be so. Rossland rock is reprehensibly refractory no doubt. Yet the camp has seen a gradual reduction of smelting charges from $18 to $4.25. Can the reduction be still carried further? If this can be answered in the affirmative, it is the opinion of the best mining men in the camp that the future of Rossland is second to no city in the Kootenays and inferior to few in the province. That it can be so answered is also the deliberate opinion of the same men. The WORLD treats elsewhere the subject of the supply of coke, so vital to Rossland that issues as to Hill or the C. P. R. pale into insignificance beside it. A reduction is palpably possible in this direction. An alteration of the incidence of the mineral tax will further help this object. Frecheville's report shows that the general expenses of smelting, apart from fuel, can be carried in the future beyond the point to which they have been carried in the past. An abolition of labor disputes, which can come only one way, will do away with those uncertainties which debar the entrance of capital.

Such are the opinions of the future which a representative of the WORLD has gathered from men whose future is bound up with the camp and be their direct interests great or small they represent their best to the speakers.

It is a matter that intimately

PEST HOUSE.

The public has waited patiently for the meeting of the Board of Health, which is composed of Aldermen Armstrong, Embleton and Hamilton, the latter being absent on leave, to see whether that committee of the council purposed doing any thing with regard to the management of the pest house and of the quarantining of infected houses generally. No report was rendered to the council last evening of any action taken by this board. The council generally seems to adopt the "dont give a dam" policy. This is not endearing the city fathers to the electorate which to a great extent is now ashamed of its choice.

The faults that are laid to the charge of the health authorities are remissness of duty in the failure to quarantine infected houses and in the failure to properly preserve the isolation of the pest house; gross extravagance of administration as evinced in the bills for supplies and "medical comfort," gross favoritism shown on the selection of an avowedly incompetent staff, and improper assumption of executive authority by unqualified officials coupled with a shameful abdication of the exercise of law given powers conferred upon the chief executive officer.

That every point is true is generally admitted but apparently the only answers attainable by the collective wisdom of the ring of officialdom is either "Well, what are you going to do about it?" or "What is the use of doing anything now?"

The facts, published in another column, of the most recent of these smallpox cases are an illustration of the evil of permitting the state of things now obtaining to remain without protest. It is no new evil, it has been active in previous years but never so shamelessly open as at present. Had it been stopped at first it would not be necessary to call attention to the matter now. As it is something must be done and done at once. Let the aldermen concerned place themselves upon record as to the matter and the electorate will know where to find them at the next election.

THE GLOBE'S ADVOCACY.

Speaking of the smelter situation in regard to British Columbia and the interests of the Great Northern, the Toronto Globe says:

"The Great Northern railway, although in many lines of transportation a rival of the Canadian road, is interested in the building up of Canadian smelting, having expended a large amount of capital in building branch lines dependent on Canadian traffic. The fear that these branches into Southern British Columbia will draw away the ore has been expressed in some quarters, but so far as the railway interests are concerned they are best served by the development of smelting in Canada. Smelting on this side of the line will afford freight both ways on the Great Northern branches, while the drawing away of ore and coal would give no return loads. Like all railway magnates, President J. J. Hill is most desirous of building up industries where they will give him the greatest amount of profitable freight business, quite irrespective of national considerations."

Perhaps the truest sentence of the foregoing is the last but not quite in the sense intended to be conveyed. There is, however, an old adage which says a pound of fact is worth a ton of theory. A branch of Hill's system runs up from Spokane via Northport to Nelson. Another branch is to tap the coalfields of Southeast Kootenay and a third is running into Cascade. The Great Northern main line stretches back to Duluth. At Nelson the C. P. R. will deliver coke at $4 per ton. Connection can be made with Northport at this point and the smelter obtain its coke at Crow's Nest. But the Northport smelter does not get its coke from Crow's Nest. A perennial shortage, says an old smelter official, prevents a steady supply. Hence the Northport smelter has to deal with the coke ovens of the West Superior—Duluth. Now Duluth is supplied with its coking slack from Pittsburg. It is to the advantage of the Great Northern to get this long haul. Indeed it is doubly to the advantage of J. J. Hill inasmuch as he is interested in the Pittsburgh mines supplying Duluth. In the meantime Northport pays $11 per ton for its coke. For arguments sake let it be supposed that the Le Roi smelter was situated on this side of the line on Sheep creek, and it is evident that this would not better the situation.

It is true that when Hill has built all his lines a common freight rate will have to be established which would prevent a charge of $7 being made for coke between Nelson and Northport, but even when that comes to pass if the source of supply is controlled by Hill it is certain that the Northport smelter, not in the American combine, will have to go short and obtain its coke from Duluth.

The Globe says that if Hill takes the coal south he will get no return freight. If on the contrary he takes neither the coal nor the ore south he will get no freight at all. The argument is silly and unworthy of the Globe. The policy apparently suggested is that the mines of the northwestern states of the union will ship their ores north and get them smelted here. In such case, wildly impossible as it is shewn to be by the mere enunciation, Hill will get no freight for his coal at all. The coal will remain in British Columbia and he will have no chance of getting the haul from Pittsburg and Duluth. Incidentally, of course, the American Smelting Trust will have to go out of business. That is to say Hill will shut up his business in the smelters for the sake of building up the industry of smelting in British Columbia. Besides, as any one conversant with the subject is well aware, there are not sufficient smolters in the Kootenays at the present moment to deal with the output of their own districts. No use getting American ore when we cannot handle our own. That is to say that Hill will not only lose the freight in ores to the north but will also lose in the freight of coal to the south, his smelters will go out of business, there will be a lessened demand for his Pittsburg coal and he will lose on the haul of the product of the coke ovens of West Superior to the west. To merely state the case is to show that it is puerile.

The opposite policy means the lowering of the rates of coke. Now at Northport, one of the principal smelters dealing with Rossland ores the cost of smelting is at present $4.25 of which $2.70 is the cost of coke. If this cost is cut in half it is evident that ore to a value of $1.35 per ton less than the present minimum of low-grade pay ore can be mined at a profit. But as every miner knows the increase in the amount of the ore to be mined increases in much wider ratio than the reduction of price. There is extremely little ore of the value of $30 per ton in the camp. Of $10 ore, instead of being but three times as much, there is at least fifty times as much. If the value of pay ore could be reduced to $5 the ore reserve instead of doubling would probably be multiplied by ten.

Hence every reduction in the grade of ore to be mined at a profit means large areas of country now unprofitable will be worked, and hundreds of men find employment. Whether the interest concerned be that of the employer, the employe or the merchant, it makes no difference. In this regard we all stand equal.

VACCINE TESTED

Minneapolis Experiment as to the Utility of Jenners' Discovery.

Smallpox appears to be on the increase, despite the fact that the vaccine tips are freely used. There are people who do not believe in vaccination as a preventative of smallpox. At Minneapolis a practical test is about to be made. Health Commissioner Hall, who has become wearied of the efforts of the anti-vaccinationists to escape and prevent vaccination, has issued a challenge to those who believe vaccination is objectionable to produce two of their number for duty at the quarantine hospital where there are a score or more afflicted with the disease. None of the present staff of nurses have had smallpox, but all haye been successfully vaccinated and none has contracted the disease during the three months of their service among victims. Dr. Hall claims that the efficacy of vaccination can now be proven by having two unvaccinated nurses put on duty. The anti-vaccination people have decided to accept the challenge and have promised to produce two women for duty who have never been vaccinated. The anti-vaccinationists believe their nurses will prove as immune to the disease as have the others.—Ex.

Rich Dynamiters.

The big mine owners of Colorado have been robbed of their ore through the agency of assay offices. These assay offices have been dynamited, though also dwelling houses. Who are the dynamiters? It is not pretended they are union men, wicked though these people be. It is not stated that the parties interested, i.e., the mine owners, are the culprits. It is merely declared it was the work of "raiders." Now who owned the raiders?

MINOR MENTION

The Alhambra is taking steady boarders at $6.50 per week.

Joe Martin is succeeding in getting himself actively disliked on all sides. Now it is Dunsmuir. Poor Joe!

Don't forget to take in the play tonight. The melodrama Fanchon is well worth seeing. So far the company has had good houses.

The remains of Mrs. Martin was burried today from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Woodey, on North Washington street.

Mrs. Hugh Jones, of Second avenue, died last night of tuberculosis, after a lingering illness. The announcement of the funeral will be made later.

The Chinese laundry at the east end of the town is not to be touched. It hurts nobody worth mentioning. Not even the property holders?

There was no issue of the Nelson Tribune this morning. The WORLD is sorry, for since the decease of the Rossland Miner the Tribune was the brightest newspaper in the Kootenays.

Mayor Clute has gone to Sandon and so has City Clerk McQueen. C. R. Hamilton is picking oranges in California and so A. A. Mackenzie is top of the Rossland snowheap. The rapid thaw is noticeable.

The Colonist thinks that the province ought to go slow on restricting alien immigration, and that the head tax adopted should be that of the minority report—Commissioner Munn. Please, Bogle remember your famous speech at the Rossland Miners' Union hall. Do you want it quoted?

CITY COUNCIL.

Removal of the Chinese Laundries in the West End of Town.

At the session of the city council last evening Aldermen Hamilton and Dunlop were absent. The business transacted was purely formal. The heaviest accounts passed were those of the Board of Health which amounted to over $200. Mayor Clute asked the Board of Health whether any steps were being taken as to the removal of the Chinese laundries from their present situation polluting Trail creek to the west end of the town. Alderman Armstrong replied that the matter was receiving the attention of the board and that as soon as a place could be found for the Chinamen they would be moved. A site was under consideration at the present time but the spring was hardly as yet far enough advanced to make the removal in contemplation advisable immediately.

RANGER TROUBLE

Court Martials in the Air--Officers Are Very Reticent.

The yellow story published in the morning paper with regard to some friction existing between senior and junior lieutenants of No. 1 Company of the Rocky Mountain Rangers should never have been published. As it was a representative of the WORLD waited upon the officer in command of the company who declined to say anything beyond the fact that the charges were false.

It is understood that the resignation of Lieut. McHarg was accompanied by a letter reflecting upon his superior officer.

The WORLD representative learned from a gentleman who is posted in military procedure that if Lieut. Burnett wishes to press the matter his junior will be forced to prove his charges, and in the event of his succeeding to prove them, will then be allowed to resign. In such case Lieut. Burnett may still demand a court martial, this time upon himself.

A DRAWN BATTLE

Summary of Centre Star-Miners Union Points Ruled Yesterday.

An application was made in chambers yesterday afternoon by A. C. Galt on behalf of the Centre Star against the Western Federation of Miners, the Miners' union and others before Mr. Justice Martin. It was defended by S. S. Taylor. The result of the application, which was made under five heads, can be summarized as follows:

Mr. Taylor succeeded in having dismissed that part of the application which sought to compel the registration of an affidavit of documents as to the Western Federation of Miners, Rossland branch and also to the Blacksmith's Helpers union.

He further succeeded in limiting all further affidavits as to Rossland Union No 38 to merely an inspection of the letters and printed notices in its possession.

Further the minute books of the union will not be produced for inspection.

Readers are requested to compare this with the partisan report of the Miner and verify both by an application to the registrar. Verily the leopard cannot change his spots nor the dog refrain from his vomit.

NOTICE.

The strike has been settled a the Le Roi mine, but it it is still in force at the other mines as before.

Negotiations are being carried on with the other mining companies of the camp which have been effected by the strike but they are not yet completed.

Working men in outside camps are advised to keep away from Rossland for the present, as there are more union men at the present time here than can secure employment until a settlement has been effected with the other mining companies.
