Who said that there was no game in the vicinity of this camp? That depends altogether upon the capabilities of the hunters. San Poil and Black Tail.

The San Poil and Black Tail, says M. Galusha, in an interview with the Republic Miner, will send out 100 tons each in addition to shipments from the former last week. Mr. Galusha stated, however, that operations on a large scale would not be commenced until such time as machine drills can be installed on the properties. To break the ore by hand drilling is very expensive, and especially in the San Poil, where the cost per ton was in the neighborhood of $6.

WILL HARDLY RECOVER

A Serious Accident Last Night in the Le Roi Mine.

A sad accident occurred last night in the Le Roi mine, which is expected to result in the death of John Swayne. It seems that John Swayne and his partner W. Koch were engaged last night in the raise between the 500 and 600 foot levels of the Le Roi mine, and were working in a drift. They had set up their machine on the bar across the drift, one end being blocked against a smooth wall. After drilling eleven holes it became necessary to shift the machine, in order to drill the lifters or bottom holes.

To do this the air was cut off at the valve in the pipe and it was then sought to disconnect the hose. This was full of air. The drill was taken out of the machine, and in disconnecting the hose Swayne in some manner happened to strike the valve on the machine, thereby letting the air in the hose into the mechanism. This instantly began to run at a furious speed and, being unsteadied by the drill, jarred loose the blocking on the bar which slipped. In slipping it carried the machine with it and the crank struck Swayne on the jaw throwing him violently down. In falling the unfortunate miner struck his temple against the rocks and his skull was punctured.

At first the injury was not known to be extreme, as the injured man was able to climb up the ladders a couple of floors on to the next level, whence he was conveyed to the Sisters hospital under the care of Dr. Kenning.

Subsequently the injury to the skull was found to be far more serious than was at first expected, and at a late hour this afternoon, it was announced from the hospital that the unfortunate man was hardly expected to recover.

An operation, however, is being peformed on the patient, raising the fractured portion of the skull, by Drs. Kenning, Campbell, Reddick and McKenzie.

LATER—Several pieces of bone resting on the brain have been removed. The fractured portion is about the size of a dollar. Hopes are now entertained of ultimate recovery. Swayne is now resting easy.

LARDEAU BONANZAS

Next Mining District to Boom.

SURPRISING DISCOVERIES MADE

W. B. Pool Speaks of the New Mining District to the North.

W. B. Pool, who has recently put through a large deal with reference to the Oyster Criterion Group in the Fish Creek district of the rapidly becoming known Lardeau country, in conversation last evening with a representative of the WORLD, declared that too little was known of his chosen field of operations. Mr. Pool said that whereas the Slocan district first came into prominence of all the now well known mining regions of this highly mineralized province of British Columbia, that the Rossland gold copper region came next, and that the Bundary country, an equally rich district, came after, the Lardeau country has had to work up on its merits. At first thought to be, as the Slocan, a purely silver lead district, the Lardeau, through its late finds, had been demonstrated to be something more than this. The free gold discoveries of recent date had shown it to be a second Cripple Creek.

To instance this reference it only be made to the Eva, bonded lately for $200,000; the Rossland-Criterion-Oyster for $95,000; the Beatrice, the Lucky Jack, Gold Finch, Camborne, among the most prominent of the too numerous gold properties of the Fish Creek country to here enumerate. These properties, together, have been bonded, or sold, for something exceeding a cool million and this, for the most part, on the mere surface showings. Nothing can most demonstrate the opinion of the experts on the real worth of this country than this simple fact.

But, beside this there are also silver lead properties; to instance a few, the Silver Cup, Triune, Beatrice, Nettie L., and a dozen others perhaps not quite so well known.

The Lardeau country, entered on the northeast arm of Upper Arrow Lake, and from the north, from Trout Lake, is a district of some 1000 square miles in extent. It is everywhere highly mineralized, full of timber and replenished by the greatest water power, probably known, even in such a country as British Columbia. The crag and fell formation of the mountains, lends itself readily to exploitation by tunnel, which, as is well known to mining engineers, is the easiest and cheapest method of developing ore bodies.

The ore bodies themselves in so highly diversified a country are, perhaps, hard to bring under a common head. Still it may be said, generally, they are both fissure and contact. The sheer zone formation, generally marking the low grade property, is almost entirely absent. But, unlike the Slocan, the ore bodies are not small, they run from 10 to 20 and 30 feet of free milling quality besides smelting ore. The silver lead areas are not as productive of such large leads in general that is to say as far as the galena streaks are concerned, but, again, unlike the Slocan, these very silver leads are more often than not, productive of gold, and gold copper values.

The great drawback to the country at present is the lack of means of transportation. This is gradually coming and, as the years go by one by one, the coming of the railroads, and their penetration into the intricacies of the Lardeau mining region, is becoming more and more evident.

"But," said Mr. Pool, "the Lardeau will have to become another Illinois before all the facilities for its mines are provided. The trouble has been that the outside public, interested in the Slocan, in Rossland, in Boundary, in Southeast Kootenay, on Vancouver Island, has doubted the existence of yet another such rich district. But again," Mr. Pool reiterated, "the Lardeau district is better than any two of these, perhaps even three, put together.

"For results it may be said that up to the present, as the railroads have but recently impinged upon the edge of this territory, little comparatively has been shipped. Yet more than one mine has sent out more than sufficient to pay for its development. On the dumps are thousands of tons of ore awaiting treatment and transportation; in the mines are millions.

"Assays are well enough," said Mr. Pool. "I am afraid to give you figures, but I am conservative in stating that these run all the way from $100 to $2000 per ton.

"Capital has been invested in these properties by the knowing mining men of the east. So far there has been but little British capital, although there is more than one exception to this dictum, and for this we Lardeau men have to thank the assistance of our Rossland brethren in this particular."

THAT EDUCATION BILL

Liberals Sustain a Defeat at Devonport--Unionist Elected.

London, Oct. 28.—The Liberal party is bitterly disappointed at the result of the Devonport election. Mr. T. A. Brassey, son of Lord Brassey, was a strong candidate, and even his political opponents expected him to win. The election was fought on the education question, and it has resulted in a surprising victory for the Unionists. The scene in the house of commons when the figures were made known was remarkable. The members crowded into the lobby and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the supporters of the government.

Since 1892 the constituency had been represented by two Liberal members, Mr. H. E Kearley and Mr. E. J. C. Morton. The bye election was rendered necessary by Mr. Morton's death, and the Unionist victor is Mr. J. Lockie, who, in the general elections, polled 3453 votes against 3538 for Mr. Morton and 3626 for Mr. Kearley. From 1885 until 1892 the constituency was held by the Conservatives.

A BROAD SPIRIT.

The London Commercial Intelligence, commenting on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's recent speech at Paris, says: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke in terms of affection and veneration of the land of his forefathers, but it is rarely that a public man clothes his sentiments in such felicitous language as that used by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. 'Our veneration for France,' he said, 'honors France, which has inspired it; Canada, which has preserved it, and England, which has respected it.' The most glowing eulogy of the British constitution could not convey a better tribute to its greatness and magnanimity, its freedom and the self-respecting manliness which it inspires, than the bare fact that a British colonial premier could speak so frankly of his natural affection for the land of his ancestors. It is the broad and tolerant spirit of the British nation towards the peoples that have come under our flag that binds them to us with sentiments of devoted loyalty."

WATER RIGHTS.

The Miner this morning takes an extraordinary position. Confronted with certain assertions made by the leading city officials concerned it raises an entirely new issue and tries to bulldoze the public into accepting the dictum of the War Eagle and Centre Star. The public does not, the Miner declares, there will be no concentration plant erected. It also says that the action of the city has for the past two years delayed the erection of a "mill." This is an absurd overstatement, as the city has had absolutely nothing to do with the fight with the exception that it has taken care that its own interests, which are the interests of the people, have been watched throughout.

The question narrows itself down to this: Is the city or is the Centre Star to be the distributer of the water necessary for the development of our industries?

Under this argument it looks well enough to say if the city is not using the water why not let the Centre Star and War Eagle have it, put up a mill and increase the payroll of the camp and its consequent prosperity? It is said that in any case the city is well protected, as its rights are acknowledged as paramount. This would leave the takers out of interim grants subject to the rights of the city and the city could resume at any moment by due notice. This is the argument presented shortly for the mining companies. But as the solicitor for the War Eagle and Centre Star has already argued during the course of the protracted legislation the user of a record can only take in after years just that much as it was using in its first year. That is, supposing that the city had a record for all or a specified number of inches on any one stream and used of that during the first year but 50 inches then, no matter what its wants were in after years, it still could take but that 50 inches, although it had a record for 500. The contention is a curious one and probably would be found to be bad in law, after costly litigation. If correct, however, it would place the taker out of an interim record in the place of the first as having the paramount right and the people of this city would thus eventually become at the mercy of the mines. Because of this Mayor Goodeve tried to secure for the city, by purchase and application, all the water rights possible.

Moreover the decision of the Chief Justice is not that the mining company may have the surplus water below the city dam on Stoney creek, but that it may apply for a record, interim, on Stoney creek. It is open to it to apply above rather than below that dam. The former course would be the more advantageous for several reasons. This would give rise to litigation. The city supply would be constantly interfered with. Even if below, under the contention set up the company, the city would be constantly watched and interfered with in order to see that it was not taking more than its usual quantity.

The city has offered to let the Centre Star have all the water it wants for industrial purposes and declares that it can supply it cheaper than the company can maintain a service itself, to say nothing of the cost of putting it in. If all the mining company wanted was water for industrial purposes, there is no reason why it should not accept these terms. If on the other hand, the company desire to start a custom concentration plant, there is every reason why it should control the water, as no other concentration plant could be started on such terms.

The Miner states that the case is that of the city against the mines. On the contrary it is the city and the mines against the Centre Star and War Eagle. If the Le Roi and Trail smelter were as one with these two mines in the question how is it that for years past the Le Roi, then speaking for the Josie, No. 1, Nickel Plate and Kootenay mines, and also the smelter, has fought these two companies on this very point? All the city has had to do with the matter is to see that its own rights, the rights of the people, were not infringed upon.

And one more point. Supposing that the people were willing to let the Centre Star et al have all they claim upon Stoney and every other creek, what are these companies prepared to do? Are they willing to specify when and where they will set up this plant, to say what shall be its capacity, to enter upon an agreement that no more than a certain percentage of the profit shall be charged to the other mines using the plant?

To say that the city is delaying the matter for the next six months is balderdash. Nothing can be done towards flume building during the winter. The delay for the past two years, if owing to this cause, and concentration is only lately coming before the public, is owing to the Le Roi and to the smelter. If the companies concerned had the plant ready today, the city is in a position to give them today all the water they will want for many months to come. There is no desire to cinch industry. The Centre Star has had free of charge the water running down Centre Star gulch, the Le Roi has had the water from Little Sheep Creek, which belongs to the city, putting in a flume to procure it. The Silica Works have also constructed a flume and used water from a point below the White Bear. All this free of charge although this city has paid out the good money of the ratepayers for the acquiry of these rights. And what rate or tax do the mines pay the city? The Centre Star and War Eagle alone today stand in the way of an adjustment of all labor difficulties, keeping the camp in a state of unrest. These very companies run a boarding house on the hill, a paltable evasion of the law, and one that militates much against the business men of this camp. Yet for all this the city is willing to meet them more than half way, supply them water cheaper than they themselves can get it, and because it wants to see that the interests of the other mines are conserved, mines that have brought money into this country instead of fleecing the Canadian public, this delightful outfit through its interesting organ is striving to take the town by the throat.

BALFOUR TRIUMPHANT

Premier's Finesse is Confusing the Tactics of the Opposition.

London, Oct. 28.—Premier Balfour's superior finesse is revealed in every fresh bout with Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman over the appointment of a day for the discussion of Irish grievances and the moving of a vote of censure.

Lord Roseberry, standing outside the tabernacle, no longer worships the home rule gods, and Premier Balfour wishes to identify Sir Henry Bannerman-Campbell with the fortunes of the Irish party, and thereby widen the breach between the liberal factions. The premier's eagerness to name a day nearly carried the liberal leader off his feet yesterday.

Premier Balfour's resources as a tactician do not, however, make up for Mr. Wyndham's defects of manner. When confronted with a howling mob of Irish members the chief secretary for Ireland is excitable and easily drawn and flurried.

The Quilp mine is employing a force of 25 men at present. The work consists of development entirely and the ore being taken out in the work and from the ore broken down for shipment before operations were discontinued last year. Mr. Tarte, the manager of the property, states that he expects to send out 300 or 400 tons of ore per month to the Granby smelter. Development and shipments will continue during the winter, and in the meantime other markets may be found so that shipments in large quantities may be made,

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

How Public Ownership Pays in Nelson.

GETTING A LARGE REVENUE

History of the Transaction—Municipal Socialism in the City of Nelson.

The city of Nelson purchased the electric light plant in 1898 from the Nelson Electric Light Company, limited, paying therefore $35,400, and commenced doing business on its own account on July 1st, 1898. Since then it has extended $39,748.29 on construction account, that account standing on September 30th, 1902, at $75,148.29. Of this amount, $70,000 was secured from the sale of debentures, bearing 5 per cent interest, the balance, $5,148.29, came out of general revenue. It has cost $32,971.60 to operate and maintain the plant since it was taken over by the city. To provide interest and sinking fund on the $70,000 debenture debt required $23,249. The total, therefore, paid out for operating, maintenance, interest, and sinking fund is $56,220.60. Since taking over the electric light plant, the city has collected $79,896.85 from electric light rates. Deduct this amount expended for operating expenses, etc., from the revenue received, and there is a balance of $23,676.25 to the good. Were this profit deducted for the total amount expended on construction account, the cost of the city's electric light system would stand at $51,472.04.

The revenue from the electric light system is increasing steadily, as the following figures show:

1898	$ 5,158.09
1899	13,105.84
1900	20,928.60
1901	23,684.90
1902 (to September 30)	77,019.30
Total	$79,896.80

In addition to the revenue, the people get the streets and city offices and building lighted free. They also get electric light from 25 to 50 per cent cheaper than the people of Rossland, who purchase their electric light from the West Kootenay Power & Light company.

The cost of operating and maintaining the plant has been as follows:

1898 (six months)	$ 2,078.42
1899	2,722.88
1900	10,903.85
1901	9,392.12
1902 (to September 30)	7,874.43
Total	$32,971.60

The cost of operating and maintenance is increasing because of the shortage of water in Cottonwood creek for six months in the year, a shortage that is more likely to increase than to decrease. It is safe to say that the cost of operating and maintenance would be no greater than it is now were the city to own an up-to-date plant at some point on Kootenay river where there would be no shortage of water. The cost of installing such a plant and making the necessary changes to the system in the city is estimated at $150,000. This expenditure would not only give the city ample power for its own requirements, but would give it a surplus of from 500 to 700 horse power to hold in reserve for the future growth of the city or for disposal of industries requiring power.

The city needs today 375 horse power for incandescent lighting and 50 horse power for street lighting, or a total of 425 horse power. Manufacturing establishments within the city limits would take about 100 horse power more, if the price were reasonable. One firm, P. Burns & Co., so it is reported, has been paying the West Kootenay Power & Light company $185 a month for power to run a cold storage plant. Were the city in a position to supply P. Burns & Co. with power, it would get the business, for the West Kootenay Power and Light company has no franchise to sell power or light within the city limits of Nelson.

The above is a fair statement of the city position, from the standpoint of civic ownership of the electric lighting unity.

FOR CANADIAN SERVICE

Newspaper Proprietors in Conference in the East.

A step has been taken in the direction of procuring a direct Canadian news service from Great Britain. The Montreal Herald of 12th October reports.

A meeting of newspaper proprietors was held in the board of trade rooms last week for the purpose of discussing the possibility of securing a direct news service from England. No definite action was taken by the meeting excepting that it was decided to meet again some time next week. Those present at the meeting were unanimously of the opinion that it was time Canadian newspapers had a news service of their own.

For a long time the American news service which is supplied to Canada has not been satisfactory. The news is written and colored to suit the taste of the public on the other side of the line, and is not always very trustworthy.

The difficulties in the way of obtaining a separate service for Canada are many, but it is hoped that they will be overcome. It is probable that some definite step will be taken when the newspaper proprietors meet again next week.

In washing woollens and flannels, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will be found very satisfactory. 18

Fine Exhibition.

A special free exhibition is being given by Max R. Hopkins, the representative of the International Corresponding Schools in the store four doors east of post office. The purpose of the exhibit is to show the reference libraries outfit and instruments which are used by the students of the International Correspondence Schools. One very interesting feature is the phonograph used language which students talk in French, German and Sanish. The exhibit will be open the 27t, 28th, and 29th. Drop in while you are down town.

SHIPMENTS RESUMED

A Third Furnace Has Been Put in Blast at Granby Smelter.

Phoenix, Oct. 28.—For the first time in several months heavy shipments were resumed today from the Granby mines to the company's smelter at Grand Forks, at the rate of 36 cars each 24 hours, or nearly 1100 tons, the third furnace of the smelting works being put in blast today, only two having been running lately, first on account of the shortage of coke, and then because of low water in the north fork of Kettle river.

As it will probably be but a couple of weeks till the power from Cascade is supplied to the Granby smelter, as an auxiliary, probably by that time the fourth furnace of the smelter will be in blast. The increase in shipment of ore and thus in treatment at the smelter means largely augmented forces of workmen at both the company's mines and reduction works, which will a little later be still further increased.

NORTH FORK OF SALMON

Promising New Mining District Developing Round Green City.

"The north fork of the Salmon river is rapidly coming to the front," says George Green who has lately come in from that section where he is much interested and where he has had lately an extra 1000 acres surveyed by H. E. Smith, M. I. C. E., as an addition to Green City.

"In the immediate vicinity of Green City there are several properties which are bound to come to the front. There is the Drumhammond, owned by F. Burns & Co., lying about 1400 feet north of the Copper Farm. This property is being opened up, a crosscut which has laid bare a ledge about 40 feet wide of fine copper ore making it one of the most promising copper properties in the province. As soon as a little more surface work is accomplished Mr. Sharp, the mining engineer for the proprietors, will put on a large force of men.

"The Copper Farm is working steadily and is looking well. Tunnel No. 2 is in about 600 feet and some fine loooking copper ore has been encountered. The Twin and Spokane Bell, owned by Harrison and Peck lies about a quarter mile north of Green City and is being worked by the owners. A shaft sunk about 25 feet has disclosed good values in both gold and copper. The Second Relief is working a force of about 35 men which will be increased shortly as a fine ledge of gold copper ore has been opened up.

The Katie D. Green is about to work the property of that name. A strong syndicate has just been formed for this purpose in the east and it is expected that development will now proceed continuously.

"The Arlington is working steadily, and the ore lately come upon is better than any other as yet found in that mine.

"The Canadian King has been bonded lately by Messrs. C. Moore and Connelly, who expect to reap a nice profit out of their lease.

"The placer mines are being steadily worked. A company has lately purchased the Patterson boys claim, the price paid being $10,000. Besides this there a number of small claims being steadily worked with excellent results.

"Altogether at the present time," concluded Mr. Green, "there is a force of some 120 men being employed around the mines on the North Fork, which number may confidently be expected to be trebled by spring."
