VOLUME 6. NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1908. NUMBER 1

Board of Trade In Monthly Session

There was a goodly number of members present at the board of trade meeting Tuesday night, and a great deal of interest was shown in the vital and momentious question affecting North Vancouver generally, which came up.

The first question to occupy the attention of the meeting was the report of the committee appointed by the board to act in conjunction with the committees appointed by the councils regarding the proposition of establishing of an hospital here. Mr. J. R. J. Murray read the report of that committee, and spoke at some length on the advisability and necessity of such an institution.

Mr. A. Philip, honorary secretary of the hospital committee, who was also present, explained the aims and objects of the committee and the amount of data from which they based their estimates. He was strongly in favor of an hospital, and pointed out the necessity of having some place in which to take care of the sick and injured over here. The cost, he thought, while it looked large, should not hamper a good cause, inasmuch as any one of us might at any moment be requiring its services, and in many cases time was the essence of life. If one life had been saved, the hospital would have done well, and with proper appliances he felt sure many cases would receive treatment.

Councillor Nye, chairman of the hospital committee, in a few well-chosen words, eulogized the good work of other hospitals, and he saw no reason why such a place could not do the same here.

Mr. H. C. Wright said his heart and soul was in the project, it was a splendid idea, and he would do all in his power to further the project. He recited several instances where a hospital on this side of the inlet would have been a blessing, and now that more industries were opening up its use would be more and more needed.

It was moved and seconded that the finding of the joint hospital committee be received and adopted by the board, and that the board assist in carrying the recommendation of the committee to a successful issue.

The motion was carried unanimously.

A committee was appointed to further the scheme, and consists of Messrs. Murray, Fraser and Morden.

A motion protesting against the signs being plastered all over the city, such as real estate signs, and more especially the unsightly ones being erected on Lonsdale avenue and the vacant lots along the waterfront. A committee was appointed to wait on the owners of the property with a view of having same removed.

Several other important questions also came before the meeting, but on request from the board the reports will not appear in print.

Several rousing meetings such as this one will start things a-humming.

Mr. Ted Bayliss, who has been for the past few months a resident of the Ambitious City, left on Tuesday for Montreal, to take up a lucruative position in the Canadian Metropolis. While on the coast Mr. Bayliss was considered one of the best hockey players, and figured in many of the championship matches.

Merchant of Venice At the Pavilion

Something decidedly interesting to lovers of Shakespeare will be produced in the pavilion Wednesday evening next. A. St. John Mildmay will give one of his original recitals on that date, "The Merchant of Venice" being his subject. Of Mr. Mildmay's abilities, the Vancouver daily Province says:

"The recital of the Merchant of Venice by A. St. John Mildmay at the Vancouver Opera House on Saturday proved most interesting to lovers of Shakespeare. The omission of Act V. and several of the earlier episodes brought the time of the recital down to two hours, and the outstanding feature was the interpretation given the character of Shylock. Mr. Mildmay's reading showed a study of Henry Irving, perhaps emphasizing the Jew's fighting qualities. His readiness and versality, his courage and sane concentration on his one destination were given most interesting expression in Mr. Mildmay's rendering of the world-famous money lender's character."

North Vancouver spinsters didn't seem to make a hit at all. Just a week has passed since this convention and not one wedding has taken place. But, we hear of several on the tapis.

Dame Rumor says that we can expect to hear of an addition to the Benedict club shortly. No names are mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Bell, of Vancouver, formerly residents here, have left on an extended tour of the world, first visiting New York, England and Scotland. They expect to be absent about a year.

Mr. Wm. Bayly, of Bayly Bros., of Vancouver, is erecting a $14,000 residence near Ottawa gardens.

It is expected that the Western Corporation's sawmill will resume operations about March 1st.

Mr. Harry K. Smith was holder of the successful ticket at a drawing for an auto, which was held at the Hotel North Vancouver this week. Mr. Smith intends using the vehicle on this side of the inlet, which can claim the distinction of being the pioneer horseless carriage.

Mr. Brobeck, an engineer of some repute, who has been a guest at Hotel Larson for some time past, returned this week from a trip up to Queen Charlotte Islands, where he had gone in the interests of some mining claims. Mr. Brobeck says that Jedway presents a scene of activity, as several large claims are being worked with splendid results. A very busy summer is assured for these famous islands.

Orpheus Male Voice Choir.

The above choir will again be heard on Wednesday the 26th in Larson's Pavilion, and along with them comes the wellknown and versatile Irish comedian, "Billy" Moore, in his Irish Funniosities. The former concert given by this choir for the Board of Trade was such a success that a large crowd should take advantage of their second visit to go and hear them. The concert is under the auspices of St. John's Episcopal Church.

About a dozen of North Vancouverites took in the Paderewski recital Monday evening.

Now that the fine weather is about to set in once more there are many who are taking advantage of this cheerful news and are daily employing themselves at gardening.

The Canadian Mountaineering Club is proposing the building of a club house on Grouse mountain, and already have taken steps with that object in view.

NOTICE—A young man, of moderate habits, fond of social enjoyment, of amicable disposition, with money, wishes to communicate with young lady, refined, good cook and housekeeper, with artistic tastes and manners. Object, matrimony. Address all communications to Box X, EXPRESS office.

On Saturday evening about 10:30 the fire alarm sounded and immediately all eyes were cast toward whence the sound came. The illumination in the northern sky pointed out the direction, and it was not long ere North Vancouver's fire fighters were tugging and hauling at the hose reel in their endeavor to make a showing and be first on the scene. But the mud on Fifteenth street proved of greater strength than the firemen, and held the hose reel fast in its slimy grip. After a few moments it was seen that their endeavors were in vain, so the firemen had to do the best and do without. Luckily, however, the fire was confined to the bunkhouses of the late logging, wood-cutting, land-clearing firm of Hill & Miller, and that no valuables were stored inside. The fire completely consumed the buildings, and after licking up everything about the shacks, died out. The loss is nil.

Those Nasty Grades Crop Up Once More

The City Council met in usual session on Monday evening, and besides the usual routine of communications, some interest was manifested in the much-discussed grades.

After the reading of the minutes the following communications were read and disposed of:

From the Municipal Council, enclosing resolutions from that body regarding the extending of an invitation to the United States fleet to visit Burrard Inlet, and asking that the council appoint a committee to confer with other like bodies. The communication was referred to the council for further consideration.

From Wm. Whyte, asking that Seamish road be opened up to his property, lots 1 and 2, block 163, D. L. 271. Referred to board of works.

Jas. Murray wrote regarding a drain, which the health committee had spoken to him about. It was referred to the health committee.

From the secretary of the Horticultural Association, asking for a permanent grade on the streets opposite their property, corner of Twenty-first street and Lonsdale avenue. Referred to the board of works to report upon.

From the assessor, J. J. Woods, advising the council in regard to the assessed value of the property to be expropriated at the corner of St. David's avenue and First street. The report was accepted and filed.

The report of the engineer on the proposed roadwork on Eleventh street. Accepted.

The revised specifications for the roadway on Eleventh street were read.

The report of the finance committee was read, and among other recommendations, an increase of $10 per month was made to Waterworks Superintendent Peck's salary, to defray expense of a telephone.

Next on the list came the grade asked for on First street east. Once more this question had to be gone into and thrashed out, which consumed much time, and kept the city engineer guessing. Profiles were unrolled and viewed; questions were asked as to the grades given this building and that building; the percentage of grade on Lonsdale avenue, between First and Second streets; how one man had built to one grade, and the fellow across the street to another grade—or perhaps the sidewalk line. After these questions had been sifted out, it was found that the council had already established a permanent grade on Lonsdale avenue, and the engineer only wanted the council to accept the new grade for First street, which he had had prepared.

When the councillors saw that this was all, they immediately went into a committee of the whole.

There were many ratepayers present, who took delight and interest in the proceedings.

The Cue Becomes Popular Over Here

Probably the best exhibition of billiards ever seen here was played at the Lounge billard parlors Monday evening, between Messrs. S. Humphries and A. J. Picton-Warlow, in a match of 500 points. Mr. Warlow was conceded 100 points in the start, but both contestants were even at the 300 mark. For the balance of the match the playing was about even, neither men gaining many points over the other. At 497 both players were again even, and as Mr. Humphries came on the table first, succeeded in getting out first. From start to finish the match was interspersed by many brilliant shots, and was witnessed by a large number.

The exhibition game of billiards between Frank Pettley, champion of B. C., and J. W. Brown, champion of Victoria, in Con's billiard parlor last night, was worth watching, although the game was not up to what was expected. Owing to the remarkable records of both players the many spectators present expected to see some of their crack breaks duplicated. The highest break made was 28, by Mr. Pettley, while Mr. Brown scored 27 twice. Pettley conceded 200 points to Brown out of a 500 point game. From start to finish both players were about even, and in the first quarter hour's playing it was seen that Mr. Pettley had conceded too many points. When Brown had reached the 300 mark his opponent was only 55 points in the lead. Both players were in fine trim and handled the cue in proper style. A return match will be arranged for the near future.

N. V. A. Club Great Big Smoker

Practically everything has been finally completed for the program to be given at the smoker in the Pavilion on Tuesday evening next. The Athletic Club have the reputation of getting up things that are worth seeing, and from all accounts this entertainmet Tuesday evening is going to be better than ever.

Some of the best best Vancouver talent will take part, besides local and other selections, the committee having arranged that there will not be one idle moment from beginning to end.

The District Council are making arrangements to incorporate a water district, to embrace Lynn valley and other sections, north of the city, with a view to providing suitable water services. This step is found to be urgently necessary in order to provide for the wants of the rapidly growing community Records are being applied for on several of the available sources of supply, and the engineer is busy preparing plans and estimates for a water system. It will not necessarily be an expensive one as the sources of supply are near at hand.

Wizard of Fairlie Gets a Bad Fall

Mr. Fyfe, of Fyfe & Duke, boatbuilders here, received word to the effect that his uncle, William Fyfe, the noted yacht designer, while inspecting a yacht under construction in Fairlie, fell into the hold of the vessel and received many nasty bruises. For a time it was feared that the great designer, would not recover, as he was in an unconscious condition for several hours.

William Fyfe is by no means a young man, and is known the world over as England's, and perhaps the world's, greatest yacht designer.

North Vancouver is sure to have a good designer and builder in Mr Wm. Fyfe.

ON THE TAPIS

THE EXPRESS has been informed on good authority that developments are shortly to take place in the railway line, and although not informed as to minute details of the project, we are given to understand that a railroad will be an accomplished fact in the very near future. For the past few months a party of engineers has been quietly working on a line that will eventually connect with the Grand Trunk Pacific somewhere in the vicinity of Fort George, tapping the illimitable resources of the Pemberton Meadows, the Buckley Valley and the rich Cariboo mining district. The proposed terminus will be North Vancouver, with her miles of waterfrontage and unequalled harborage. The surveyors have pretty well covered the proposed route which, starting here, follows the shore line up to Indian river, thence up over the old Cariboo trial through a pass in the coast range, hitherto deemed of no value for a railway, on through the heart of the above-mentioned fertile valleys, and forming a conjunction with Canada's second transcontinental line.

Should such a project be carried to a successful issue, the future of the Ambitious City would be assured as the headquarters for a country teeming with minerals, unsurpassed for its wealth of production, that will inevitably be set in motion as soon as transportation facilities offer.

The Vancouver Mountaineering Club

The objects of this club are unique and comprise the exploration of all mountains, valleys and icefields of the southern portion of of British Columbia, the preservation of the natural beauties of our mountains through protective legislation or otherwise, and the study of the flora and founa; the protection of such scientific, artistic and recreative researches as will secure these objects.

The probationary members are those who are interested in mountain climbing, and in order to retain their membership must climb to the peak of Grouse mountain within a twelve-month of their election.

As will be seen by the foregoing this society will do much to advertise the scenic attractions of North Vancouver and surroundings. Parties of mountain climbers have been seen in previous years making for either Crown or Grouse mountain, burdened with packs and regaled in regular climbing costume.

From now on one may expect to see larger parties journeying to the summits, composed not only of losal members, but also parties from other mountaineering clubs from the four quarters.

Winter sports on Grouse mountain, such as skating, snowshoeing and tabogganing are also included in the mountaineering club's program. For more advantageous and congenial surroundings the club is unsurpassed, as week-end parties may be organized, going up one day and returning the next, or early Monday morning. The trip up to the top of Grouse mountain can be made quite easily in three and a half hours from Vancouver, allowing plenty of time in which to rest and enjoy the panoramic grandeur to be seen enroute. Mount Crown may be ascended in about eight hours, provided one is luckily enough to stay on the trail. The best and quickest way up this peak is via the Capilano valley, as the trail from Grouse to Crown mountain is very difficult to follow—and more difficult in places to climb. In winter this latter route offers a most delightful afternoon's walk on snowshoes, but none the less hazardous; for in many places one is forced to keep along bluffs with only trees as supports, and a miss is worse than a mile. This trip, under favorable auspices, may be made and return in about five or six hours.

December, January, February and March usually are cold enough to permit skating, and in several places small swamps or lakes can be found within easy distance of Grouse mountain peak, where, by a little shovelling, a good rink could be cleared of snow. It requires only a suitable shelter on the summit to induce hundreds of people to take advantage of these winter sports so close at home.

Tobaggoning, why, there's any amount of opportunities close at hand. Some of the natural tobagonning slides up these mountains surpass even the costly artificial ones of the larger eastern cities. One place on our local peak is ready for such luxuries as soon as the snow has attained a depth of five or six feet, covering up the small undergrowth, and making an unobstructed slide for nearly a mile. At this place there is absolutely no danger of going too far and dropping over some cliff, but, on the other hand, when the bottom is reached, another ascent is made on the other side, and, if the toboggan has enough impetus, may climb the opposite hill, and the passengers can get off, turn the toboggan around and go down and up the other side, and so on. Where can one beat this?

Jas. A. Eaton has been appointed provincial organizer for the Conservative Association, with head offices in Victoria.

The Asiatic Exclusion League has passed a resolution calling for the resignation of the B. C. members in the federal house. They also intend holding a monster anti-Asiatic parade in the near future.

The comic operatta extravaganza of the supreme court in which Justice Martin refused to leave the bench, has been concluded by that worthy judge vacating his seat.

It is expected that the new Lynn Valley school will be finished and ready for occupancy early next month. That should be a gala day for the children of the valley.

The following is taken from the Port Essington Sun and speaks for itself: "As announced last week, the Sun will suspend publication with this issue and remove to Prince Rupert, where publication will be resumed about May 1. We consider this a good business move, and the time opportune for such a change. Thus we take it. For the money invested, there never was a paper in British Columbia—big or small—that in nine months made the turn over the Sun has done. This is no empty boast, for the editor has, at various times, worked on all the dailies of B. C., and in half a dozen instances has had access to the books of these papers. We refer to this merely to show to the world and incidentially to refer the merchants to the fact that they possess the best business centre in British Columbia to-day, and in all likelihood so last till the G. T. P. is completed. After that period Essington, doubtless, will settle down to her place as the fishery headquarters of the Skeena river. As a newspaper venture, however, Prince Rupert holds a brighter future, and in consequence we go."

The Swine Industry

While the swine raising industry has been in some quarters resting on its oars, and in others showing positive retrogression, the live stock branch at Ottawa has been getting out a revision of bulletin No. 10, "The Production of Bacon for the British Market." This booklet, in its first edition, received such a call that a very large edition became exhausted before the demand was satisfied. The call for copies during the late summer and autumn months fell away to some extent, but the renewal of interest and hope in the bacon industry is showing itself very strongly in a request from many quarters of the Dominion for more information upon the question of swine raising. Fortunately the new edition is off the press and ready for distribution.

LOCALS.

The harbingers of spring have arrived. A pair of robins were seen at the grounds of Hotel North Vancouver this morning.

Since the inauguration of the Hague Peace Conference the ratio of battleships building and army mobilization has increased forty-four per cent. in the four leading powers.

The popular tonsorial artist, Mr. Bert Campbell, since taking to the ranch, has not been slow to follow on the lines of all good farmers. Besides other animals he has chickens, geese, pigeons, a wheelbarrow and a horse, and is now adding porkers to his already splendid menagerie. Some wag has stupidly nicknamed the ranch Bert's zoological gardens.

Tuesday was the eighth anniversary of the battle of Paardeberg.

The St. Eugene mine at Moyie is the largest silver lead mine in Canada, and the American continent. During the past year 152,827 tons of ore were mined, and 325 men employed. The ore body is very extensive. It outcrops on the Mountain top, and again is tapped by a shaft sunk at the edge of Moyie lake. Eight miles of underground work have been done.

The suggestion made by the District Council to give an invitation to Admiral Evans to bring his fleet to visit the inlet, has met with a hearty response from several of the neighboring councils, and it is to be hoped that the City Council of Vancouver will be ready to give a hearty hand to the movement. South Vancouver has made the whole council members of the proposed central committee.

Merry Sprinters Make Merry

The pavilion was well filled las Friday night by a crowd of both young and old, who had probably ventured forth to see a real live spinster Had such been the case, their desire must have been gratified, for all seemed to have "just a lovely time. The program was a novel one, and was carried out by local talent. Many local hits were made in the market report, while everyone laughed at the many dame faces.

The proceeds were in aid of St. Andrew's church, and after all expenses had been paid a most cheery sum was found to have been cleared.

A Distinguished English Personage

Sir Edward Vincent, the great financier of Egypt, who has been making a tour of the Pacific coast, came over to North Vancouver on Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Barclay Bouthrone. They called on Mr. Cameron, the municipal engineer, at the district municipal office, and got a good deal of information regarding the district and its prospects. Mr. Cameron was a constituent of Sir Edgar when the latter was member for the City of Exeter, England. Sir Edgar took the Lonsdale avenue car up to the horticultural gardens and got a view of the city and its environs. He expressed himself as surprised at the growth of the city, but greatly pleased with it as a residential centre. He was much interested in the splendid water frontage available here for shipping and industries. Sir Edgar was invited to have a drive through the Capilano valley and to other points of interest, but, unfortunately, his engagements would not permit of this.

The Swede Groupe On Morsby Island

Writing THE EXPRESS from Queen Charlotte Islands, Mr. O. Girle. for some time a guest at Hotel North Vancouver, says that mining prospects were never so bright, and he has already a large force of men employed on his property. In two months more, Mr. Girle says, he will have over one hundred men working for the company.

Ex-German Consul Wulffsohn is also associated with Mr. Girle, and has just returned from an extensive tour of the islands. Samples furnished by the ex-consul show average returns of 3.20 per cent. copper, 76 cents silver, and 68 cents gold to the ton, making a total of $6.60 per ton.

Bridging of the First Narrows

We have not heard much for some time about the bridge across the Second Narrows. Evidently the First Narrows is now to be the centre attention if Mr. W. T. Farrell is to have his way. Unfortunately he does not propose anything better than a cable foot bridge, and it is a traffic bridge that is urgently wanted. However, let us have something that will make us less dependent on the ferry company.

It looks to a novice as if Mr. Farrell was too ambitious and that a bridge not quite so high might equally well answer his purpose, but by all means let us have a bridge if it can be built, and is not an impediment to our great gateway to the inlet.
