CIVIC ELECTIONS

The contest for the mayoralty of the city for the year 1910 was set in motion, Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the ratepayers' association, when the two candidates, Mayor W. H. May, and Ald. W. J. Dick, made their initial speeches.

Previous to hearing the candidates a recommendation of the executive was read by President C. F. Jackson, and ultimately adopted. The recommendation read as follows: "In view of the even division of opinion, with reference to the endorsation of a mayoral candidate, at the last general meeting the executive recommend that no further action be taken by the association."

With the above understanding of the situation, the candidates were requested to address the association.

Mayor May stated that it was the source of great gratification to him, that after having been before the people in public capacity for 16 consecutive years, he was able to submit his record for those years as one of the best reasons why the electors should return him as mayor of the city for the ensuing year. He was deeply grateful for the extended confidence which the electors had reposed in him and hoped to merit its continuance.

Mayor May proceeded to review some of the events of the past year, in the proceedings of the city council. On the first sale of debentures for the purchase of a school site, he had saved $800 to the city by acting promptly and energetically. In the matter of the ferry purchase for $70,000, the electors were unanimous as to the wisdom of that move. Immediately upon assuming control he had directed that a straight five cent. fare be made. In floating the debentures he had been in favor of 50 year debentures with a yearly tax rate of one and one-quarter mills, instead of seven year debentures with a rate of 3.8 mills, and had so expressed it from the chair at the council board, but the aldermen did not agree with him in his position.

Sunday baseball had been a live issue for awhile during the year, and in that matter he had shaped his course as mayor according to what he believed to be the best interests of the city. He felt that quite an honor had been conferred upon him, in that he had been the first to secure permission from the provincial government to prosecute under the Lord's Day Act. The agitation which developed about the question af the Sunday closing of bar rooms had led to an even division of the aldermen, and he had given his casting vote in favor of the closing clause. He had done this without any ill feeling toward anybody, but had only done his duty without fear, favor or affection, in accordance with his oath of office.

Mayor May next referred to the effort that had been made to induce the council to cancel the registered plan of Lonsdale gardens. Council had debated the matter, and had finally left it with himself to act. He inspected the plan in the registry office and found that the plan was complete in all respects. Efforts were made to persuade him to sign the cancellation of the plan but he positively refused to do so, unless a substitute plan of a satisfactory character were first delivered to him. Had he signed the cancellation, Lonsdale gardens would have reverted to acreage, and the city's street allowance through the gardens would have been sacrificed.

Referring to the extension of a city street through the Indian reserve, he was of opinion that 1st street would be the most desirable street to put through, but this was not feasible, and it would be his policy to make the best possible agreement with the Indians for the extension of any street that could be agreed upon, because the interests of the city demand that such a street be provided.

Several times throughout his address Mayor May touched upon the necessity of watching the moral as well as the commercial and the industrial interests of the city. He considered that all three were necessary to build up a prosperous city. A great wave of moral progress was sweeping the United States. The city of Victoria had allowed race track gambling, and now keenly regretted it. North Vancouver does not wish to brook any such experiences. He exhorted his hearers to show their Canadian manhood in marking their ballots.

Ald. W. J. Dick regretted that references to himself personally had been used by Mayor May. As for the cancellation of the plans of Lonsdale gardens, he had been actuated in that matter by a desire to promote the best interests of the city, and did not at any time favor anything but what could legally be done. The only question in the matter had been as to whether a plan would hold that was registered by a manager without instructions from the board of directors. With regard to the ferry debentures he had favored the seven year plan.

He questioned the accuracy of the statement of Mayor May regard to the five cent fare, as that had been the subject of a motion in council. He was one of the prime movers in the ferry purchase, having opened negotiations with the eastern shareholders in Toronto.

As for the Sunday baseball question, he himself was one of the movers of the resolution to have a public meeting called to discuss the matter, and when Mayor May declined to preside, he took the matter in hand and arranged for the meeting to proceed.

As for the extension of one of the city streets through the Indian mission, such a street was a necessity. He was in favor of 1st street, but failing this he would favor any other street, provided it was made to connect with a street of the full width of 66 feet on the other side of the Mission. The street should further be put through on the basis of a reasonable agreement with the Indians.

Ald. Dick stood for an aggressive policy of development at North Vancouver. He was in favor of the building of streets, roads, sewers, etc., on the local improvement plan. He had given the city water system his close attention. In the matter of Sunday closing, he had taken a stand openly. He had never said that he stood for a wide open town or for gambling. He had investigated and had concluded that the hotels needed the transient trade to make ends meet, and had therefore opposed the Sunday closing clause as premature, although he had declared that it would have to come before long. Now that it was done, he supposed it would have to remain so, as it was not a matter that could be done and undone. He would not support the idea of a wide open town. He stood for a business administration, and would give the city such to the best of his ability, if elected.

President Jackson announced that the following ratepayers had intimated their intention of being placed in nomination as aldermen: W. J. Irwin, Wm. McNeish, Isaac Walden, R. C. Biss, Alex. Smith, G. W. McRae, D. MacLennan, A.W.Sargent, A. E. Crickmay, and T. Kickham.

After extended discussion, it was decided to postpone the consideration of the question as to whether the association shall endorse an aldermanic ticket, until after the prospective candidates have been heard, and that a meeting be held Tuesday, January 4th, for that purpose.

PRESENTATION

One of the pleasing features of the closing exercises at the city schools last week, was the presentation of a fountain pen to Assistant Principal J. T. Crowder, accompanied by an address which reads as follows:

Mr. J. T. Crowder,
North Vancouver, B. C.,

Dear Friend and Teacher,

We, your pupils, take this opportunity of expressing to you our appreciation of your untiring zeal and the energy which you have displayed toward us, during the term which is closing today. We fully realize the very many difficulties that have attended your paths of duty, yet you have always borne them with the genial and affable manner which characterizes your disposition toward your work and your pupils. In our various games of football and baseball, we have found in you a valuable instructor, which tended to give us increased interest and pleasure in our games.

On this occasion we ask you to accept this small gift, not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of the love and esteem of your pupils.

Wishing you a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year, we are, Mr. Crowder

Yours most obediently,
(Pupils' Signatures)

Mr. Crowder acknowledged the expression of esteem, in a brief aod appropriate reply.

The tenders for the purchase of $128,000 ferry debentures were dealt with at the last meeting of the board of directors of N. V. City Ferries Ltd. Seven tenders were received as follows: Wood, Gundy & Co., 94.55 and interest; C. H. Burgess & Co., 99.310 and interest; R. C. Matthews & Cof, 89.6679 and interest; Geo. A. Stimson & Co., 100.0075 and interest, for $40,000 of debentures; Bank of B.N.A., 95.13 and interest; Dominion Securities Corporation, 98.57 and interest; Aemelius Jarvis & Co., 95.039 and interest. Geo. A. Stimson & Co. afterward extended their tender to include the entire floatation of $128,000, offering therefor, $128,350, and their tender was accepted. Alex. Philip acted as the local representative of the successful tenderers.

POULTRY RAISING

"Practical Poultry Raising in British Columbia" is the title of a new pamphlet just issued by the provincial government, from the pen of R. W. Hodson, live stock commissioner.

The booklet constitutes a valuable contribution to the information relative to the possibilities of this industry. Practically every phase of the subject is treated in a comprehensive manner. The natural advantages which the province offers, the necessary equipment, the choice of birds, incubation, care of the chicks, feeding, marketing the fowls, marketing poultry products, marketing dressed poultry, poultry houses, diseases of fowls and kindred topics, are treated in concise manner, the letterpress being freely illustrated. Everyone interested in the subject would find the booklet of permanent value. It may be procured from the department of agriculture, Victoria.

North Vancouver will gather then "her beauty and her chivalry" at the firemen's ball, at the horticultural hall, Jan. 7th.

THE MONEY BY-LAWS

Elsewhere in the columns of this issue will be found the text of six money by-laws, upon which the electors of the city will be asked to vote at the elections on January 13th. Although the bylaws are somewhat numerous, the respective amounts called for in several of them are small, while in no instance is the sum very large. Consequently the aggregate does not constitute an amount, which everything considered, can be said to be at all formidable.

To enumerate them, the by-laws are as follows: No. 72, for the purchase of road making machinery, $10,000; No. 73, for the purchase of fire fighting apparatus, $3000; No. 74, for the construction of a main sewer, $40,000; No. 75, for the improvement of city parks, $5000, No. 84, for the purpose of general improvements to the waterworks system, $65,000; No. [illegible] for the purchase of an additional school site, $16,000. The total amount involved is therefore $139,000.

The total assessed value of the property within the city limits, according to the last revised assessment roll, was $4,596,291. The statutory borrowing power under this assessment would be $919,258, while the total bonded debt of the city to date, amounts to $408,194.

Adding to this later sum, the amount called for by these by-laws, it is seen that the total bonded indebtedness of the city, should the by-laws all carry, would be $547,194, or about 59 per cent of the present borrowing power. This would constitute a very modest proportion as compared with other cities of the province, and would still leave the financial position of the city a very advantageous one, but even so, the situation is greatly improved when it is considered that the above figures are made up on the assessment roll of 1909, whereas the roll for 1910 in even now in process of completion, and will add from one million to one and one-quarter million dollars to the assessed value of city property, or at least $200,000 to the statutory borrowing powers to the city, in which case the total bonded indebtedness of the corporation, including the $139,000 would not equal fifty per cent. of its legal borrowing powers. It may justly be questioned, if any other city in British Columbia can boast a financial condition, so satisfactory.

This further fact should be given due consideration, namely, that the various undertakings contemplated in these by-laws, will be carried out during the year 1910 and the expenditures thereunder, will be distributed over that year. It is likewise notable that the works provided for in these by-laws are of such a nature that it is not probable that any further expenditures of amounts of large proportions, such as would be raised upon the general credit of the city, will be demanded during that period. Even allowing the concession that certain expenditures of this nature, not at present contemplated, will arise, it still remains a fact that the appreciation of property values during the year 1910 and the resultant increase in the assessment total will represent practically a proportionate net gain to the statutory borrowing powers of the city.

The total amount to be provided per annum under these by-laws for sinking fund and interest is $7,860.00. The total income of the city from taxes last year was somewhat more than $82,000. On an increased value for 1910 at 25 per cent., the income of the city for 1910 from this same source at the same rate of taxation as 190[illegible] would be over $100,000. The situation, therefore, warrants the inference that the providing of this sum for sinking fund and interest would not necessitate any increase in the rate of taxation for the ensuing year.

The recent sale of district debentures at a rate somewhat better than par, and the sale last week of the ferry debentures at a fraction above pa[illegible] gives encouraging promise of ready sale for this new flotation of city debentures at a satisfactory rate.

The whole matter appears, therefore, to resolve itself into the question of the merits of those undertakings which it is proposed to carry out, under the bylaws. If they commend themselves to the ratepayers as necessary or desirable, it is a sound and safe business proposition that all these by-laws should meet with hearty approval at their hands.

Considering briefly, this phase of the subject, the two by-laws calling for the largest amounts will require no comment, inasmuch as the extension of the waterworks system to keep pace with the growth of the city and its establishment upon a permanent basis is an elementary principle in the sane administration of civic affairs, while the installation of a sewage system has long and persistently been demanded by the citizens and is of the highest moment to the health, growth and prosperity of the city.

The purchase of additional sites adequate for school purposes, is one of the most urgent requirements of the city at the present time. There is no problem that is more substantial than the educational problem, neither is there any feature more truly essential to the attraction of population of the most desirable order, than the provision of educational facilities on an adequate scale and of a high order. The property offered is well located, while the price has not been advanced beyond the figure at which the same property was offered last year.

In view of the generally acknowledged necessity for the inauguration of an energetic policy in the matter of the construction of city streets, the purchase of a modern road-making plant is a business proposition of the most commendable order. It is easily demonstrable that such a plant would pay for itself under normal conditions in actual savings to the city, within a short period, while it will at once place the city in command of the situation as to road construction.

The only feature of the fire apparatus by-law that seems open to question is the amount for which it provides. The purpose which it is designed to serve would undoubtedly justify the expenditure of a much larger amount, although very desirable improvement can without doubt be made with the sum named.

The city parks are certainly in sad need of attention. These public breathing places constitute a valuable civic asset, not only for pleasure and adornment, but likewise from the standpoint of the general health of the community and of all the expenditures contemplated in the several by-laws, no item would be better spent than that which would be devoted to the improvement of the parks of the city.

The Vancouver Information & Tourist Association has just published an excellent pamphlet entitled "The British Pacific Gateway." The booklet contains 22 pages, is printed on art paper and is copiously illustrated. Two pages of comparative statistics and a handy map of Burrard Inlet and the lower Fraser, add to the value of a brochure, which reflects credit upon the compiler, gnd upon the enterprise of the association.

Everybody is reserving the evening of Friday January 7th for the popular firemen's ball, in the Horticultural hall.

Civic Elections

To the Electors:

I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the Aldermanic Board of the City of North Vancouver, in the coming civic elections, and solicit the support of the electors at the polls:

ARTHUR W. SARGENT

CIVIC ELECTIONS

To the Electors of the City of North Vancouver

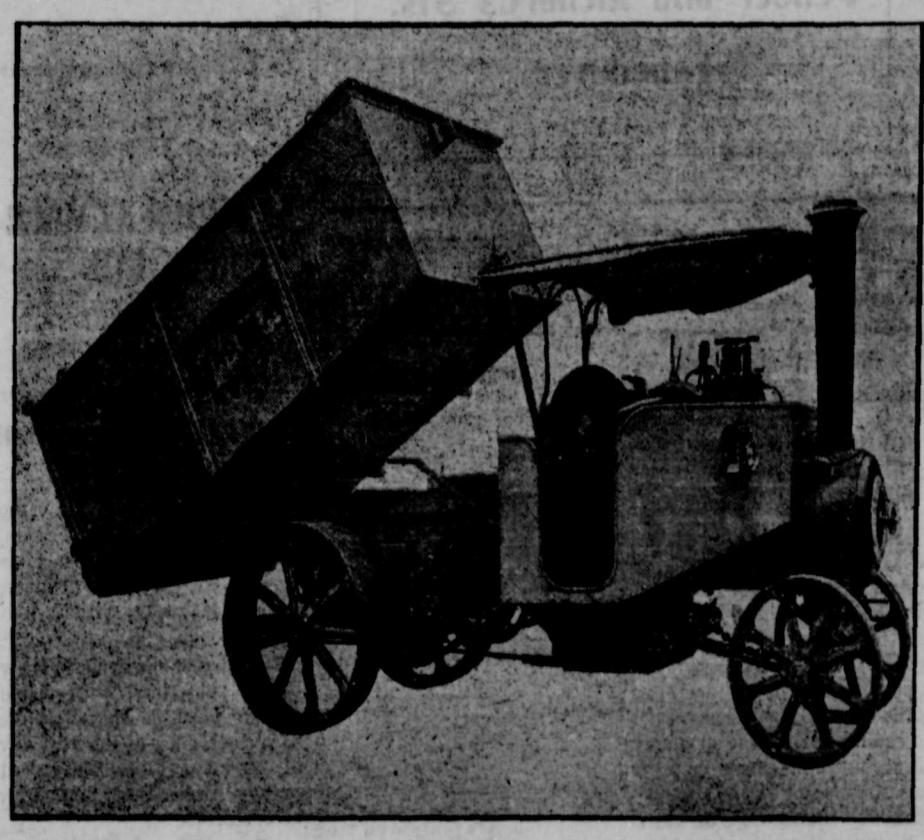
Having been requested by a large number of friends and ratepayers to present myself as a candidate for the board of aldermen at the ensuing elections, I beg to state that I have decided to allow my name to be placed in nomination.

As an old time resident and a practical man of business, I feel that I am acquainted with the needs of the city and am in position to render good service on the city council.

I beg therefore to respectfully solicit your votes and influence in my behalf.

Yours sincerely,

I. WALDEN



DISTRICT ROADMAKING

The new steam wagon purchased by the district council arrived on the ground last week, and together with the rock crusher and the road roller, which were received some months ago, places the district in possession of a thoroughly complete and modern road making plant.

The steam wagon was manufactured by Sydney Stalker & Squire, Ltd., London, and was procured through Bayfield & Archibald of Vancouver. It is of a type very much in use in England. It has a compound engine of 40 horse power, steam pressure 200 pounds, 400 revolutions to the minute. The carrying capacity of the wagon is five and one-half cubic yards of rock, or approximately eight tons. It is also capable of hauling a trailer with an additional capacity of four tons. The speed on the low gear will be from four to five miles per hour, and on high gear from eight to ten miles per hour. The fuel consumption will be about 300 pounds per day. The box of the wagon is arranged to tip upon an incline that can be accurately adjusted so that the wagon can be made to distribute the rock as it passes along the roadway. The wagon will do the work of about ten teams of horses. So far as is known, it is the first steam wagon to operate in B. C. The cost laid down was about $3500.

Every preparation is being made by the district council to make the best use of the new road making plant during the coming season. A tramline with cars, etc., has been ordered for the quarry and will be in place in good time for the opening of the spring work. Centre road will be macadamized first and a road is being made through to Lonsdale avenue north, to permit of doing the work upon that street as soon as Centre road has been attended to. The possession of so excellent a plant places the district in a very advantageous position relative to road construction.

COUNCIL MEETING

Aldermen Young, Dick, Braim McRae, McNeish and Schultz, were in attendance at the session of the city council, Monday evening. Mayor May presided.

A. Philip, clerk to the district council, and A. G. Perry, local manager B. C. El. Ry. wrote, with reference to the proposed conference re alterations to the city watermain; filed.

Messrs. Burns & Walkem wrote enclosing copy of application for incorporation of Burrard Inlet Bridge & Tunnel Company. Referred to the finance committee.

Constable Geo. Prime wrote, advising council of dangerous condition of furnace in the city hall; finance committee with Ald. Young to act.

The city assessor recommended that the error in the assessment of the lots of W. C. Eisenman be corrected by assessing three lots for $1240, instead of five lots for $1650.

City Engineer Hanes reported the total expenditures of the board of works for the year at $11,671.10, of which the principal items were the laying of 232,000 feet of sidewalk at a cost of $3,700; construction work on roads, $2,706; maintenance work on roads $2,592.80.

The engineer also reported on the value of the waterworks system, advising that all work done previous to 1909 was af a temporary character, and would have to be done again on a permanent basis. The work during 1909 was done on a permanent basis. The estimated value of the system is as follows:

Work done previous to 1909: 64,700 feet 4in. main $16175.00; 1400 feet 6in. main $4200.00; 27,500 feet 10in. main $13,750; 50 hydrants $1250.

Work done during 1909: 2000 feet 6in. main, Lonsdale, $1200; 10,500 feet 6in. main; Queensbury, $6500; 2000 feet 8in. main $1800; 8000 feet 4in. main $4000 700 house connections $4200.

On motion of Ald. Young, the clerk was instructed to write to the B. C. Telephone Company, for the data which they had agreed to submit.

Ald. Schultz called attention to the fact that a lady passenger on the ferry had suffered a slight wound in the neck and a severe nervous shock last week, through the discharge of an air gun, in the hands of a young lad; referred to the directors for precautionary measures.

The following by-laws were moved along through the necessary stages and ordered advertised: For roadmaking machinery, for fire fighting apparatus, for a trunk sewer, for parks improvements, for general waterworks purposes, for an additional school site.

Local improvement loan by-laws for 3rd street and for 8th street, were given three readings

On motion it was decided that the qualifications for the board of ferry directors shall be the same as those for aldermen.

On motion it was resolved that a ratepayers' meeting to discuss civic matters in view of the pending elections, be held on the evening of Friday, January 7th.

MONTHLY FERRY TICKETS

The number of holders of monthly tickets on the ferry, has become so large that the collectors find it impossible to remember those who have them in their possession. In order to do away with the necessity of stopping any individual passenger and asking that his or her ticket be produced, the directors have wisely decided to make one rule which shall apply to all alike. On and after January 1st, 1910, each holder of a monthly ticket will be expected to show it to the collector, each time the holder passes through the gate. This will not in any way inconvenience the travelling public, while it will arrange this matter of detail in a businesslike manner, and will effectively dispose of any possibility of unpleasantness or misunderstanding for either party. The directors hope that monthly ticket holders will lend their assistance by yielding cordial compliance with the new arrangement.

Born.—In Lynn Valley, Tuesday, December 28th, to Mr. and Mrs. Latham, a daughter.

A BALLAD

The following stirring song has been composed by D. G. Dick, for the local St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society:

Hail thou son of the Scottish Chief!
Hail thou son of the Maple Leaf!
Hail thou son of the land of the free!
Hail son of Liberty.

Chorus:

Chieftain come or Clansmen go,
Chieftain's sword or Clansmen's bow
Ne'er again shall meet as foe,
In the here below.

Where were you when Scotland bled?
Sons their gore they freely shed.
Where were you when Wallace bled.
Where were you when Wallace led
Clansmen's honored dead?

Chorus:

Were you those whose gory hands
Sold their Chief for gold and lands?
Were you one of that hated band
Whose disgrace still stands?

Chorus:

Were you those who firmly stood
On mountain top, vale or wood
Facing enemy best they could,
All for Scotland's good?

Chorus:

We are of that noble clan,
And by our friends still stand;
Noble dead their name revere;
Vengeance call we here.

Chorus:

SAD FATALITY

A most distressing casualty occurred Sunday afternoon last on the property owned by P. Larson, Jones avenue, between 19th and 21st streets, resulting in the death of an old time resident of North Vancouver.

Carl John Monson, who has been in the employ of Mr. Larson, in different capacities for the past fifteen years, was engaged in his duties among the cattle which Mr. Larson keeps on this property. He had thrown the feed on the ground within the kraal and had been followed in by the herd. Two cows had been tied in the shed, when it is surmised that he probably attempted to drive the bull away from the fodder. The animal became enraged and attacked its victim, penetrating his side with its horn and rendering him helpless, and probably causing his death, after which the brute tossed and trampled the body. W. C. Stone, who happened to pass the place saw what had taken place and rushed at the enraged animal with an axe, driving it away from its victim, but was in turn forced to flee for his own safety, barely escaping the rush of the enraged bull by means of the fence.

Information of the occurrence was speedily sent to Hotel North Vancouver and a physician summon , but life had already become extinct. H. V. Baker, clerk at the hotel, despatched the animal with a rifle.

The funeral of deceased was held Tuesday afternoon, to Seymour cemetery, Rev. B. H. Balderston officiating.
