MOVEMENTS OF THE OTTAWA DELEGATION

Having completed their labors at the Dominion capital, the members of the delegation re a bridge subsidy have dispersed as follows:

Reeve McNaught has gone to Scotland.

Ex-Alderman Irwin arrived home today.

Mr. E. W. MacLean is in Toronto.

Mr. James P. Fell is en route to Vancouver.

Mayor McNeish and Ald. Dick had not been located at time of going to press.

FAMOUS BUFFALO JONES PICTURES AT THE GEM

Mr. Venner of the Gem theatre has made arrangements at considerable expense to exhibit the famous Buffalo Jones pictures of the capture of wild animals in British Africa next Friday and Saturday. Fuller particulars of these phenomenal acts will be given in Friday's paper.

The performance will commence at 7 o'clock and run continuously till 10.30 each evening with the Saturday matinee.

TWO DAYS HORSE SHOW

A two days' horse show will be celebrated under the auspices of the N. V. Horticultural Society and Farmer's Institute in the recreation grounds North Vancouver, this year. The dates have been fixed for Friday and Saturday, June 9th and 10th. This was decided upon after a lengthy debate at a recent meeting of the society, the debate hinging on the advisability of holding a one or two days' exhibition. When the decision to have a two days' show was arrived at committee were appointed to frame up a prize list and look after sundry details. Another committee was appointed to solicit support as it is intended to create a high standard for 1911.

Mr. W. S. Creamer has disposed of his interest in North Vancouver Cartage Company Limited, to Mr. James L. Hampton who will succeed Mr. Creamer as manager of the Company. The other officers are President, Mr. C. Albertson; vice-president, F. G. Gladwin; secretary-treasurer, James L. Dodds. Mr. J. R. Chapman is also a shareholder in the company. It is the intention of the North Vancouver Cartage Company to develop their business at a pace which will keep fully abreast of the largest demands that the increased traffic will make upon them. They have just completed a large barn measuring 50 by 80 feet situate on Fourth street. New wagons and new teams are being purchased and extensive additions and improvements are being made to the general equipment of the company so that the local public may have at their command the services of a thoroughly well organized and managed cartage company.

THE LETT BLOCK

Excavation work has commenced on the block of Messrs. Lett and Son to be erected on First street just east of the new Bank of Hamilton. The property has a frontage of 50 feet on First and the block which will be constructed of pressed brick will be 120 feet in length and 50 feet in width.

The new block will be three stories in height and contain three offices on the ground floor and about 14 first-class suites of rooms upstairs. The basement will underlie the whole of the building and be suitable for a garage.

Messrs. Dalton and Eveleigh drew up the plans for the structure and the contract has been let to Messrs. Baynes and Horel of Vancouver.

ENFORCING LIQUOR ACT

That the new provincial liquor law is meant to be obeyed to the letter is further illustrated in a report just made to the Attorney-General's department with respect to two recent cases, developing at Mission and at Clayoquot. In the former instance, a Scandinavian railway worker applied at the bar for $5 worth of bottled whisky. He was told that he could not purchase more than one bottle at a time. So he took a drink, bought the one bottle and went outside. Then he came in again, bought another bottle, and again withdrew. By the time the operation had been four times repeated he had his five bottles. Five bottles make a bulging parcel when carried carefully, and this particular package excited the curious attention of the provincial constable who gathered in the buyer. Later on the bottles duly appeared in court as exhibits, and the proprietor of the erring hotel and his barmen were jointly and collectively fined $400 and costs, which were duly paid. In Clayoquot the offence was of a similar nature, three bottles of beer being sold to a Japanese wayfarer. The fine upon the house and the barman amounted to $300.

A stamp sale of some note was effected at the Leonard Sale Stationery store last week when Mr. Sale disposed of a stamp for $50 to an American visitor. This particular stamp was dated 1840 and was one of the first stamps in circulation in the early Victorian period in England.

DOWN FROM THE NORTH

W. Nicholson Lailey, formerly of North Vancouver, but now a member of the firm of Lailey and Munro, architects, of Prince Rupert, was a caller at the Express office on Monday. Prince Rupert, he says, has a population of about 7,000 now and is on the increase. His firm has been doing a steady business since he became a resident of the northern port 18 months ago, and in consequence a number of good sized blocks have sprung into prominence.

While the townsite is advantageously situated it is, nevertheless, rather an expensive undertaking to do very much excavating as invariably rock is the material that has to be taken out. The main camp of the G.T.P. contractors has been moved inland about 100 miles where active operations are carried on. The steel has been laid from Prince Rupert to this camp and it is expected that trains will be running between the former and Hazelton before many months have passed.

Mr. Lailey left for the north on the SS. Prince Rupert yesterday.

ST. ANDREW'S ON THURSDAY

On Thursday evening of this week the members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society and their friends will participate in their usual assembly dance in the Horticultural Hall.

Mr. Irwin Gives Full Assurance of Bridge Subsidy

"There is no question of the bridge not being built by the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company and there is every reason to believe that an appropriation will be made in the estimates for a subsidy towards its cost." This was the statement of Mr. W. J. Irwin, the North Vancouver Board of Trade's delegate to Ottawa on the bridge subsidy application, who returned today at noon.

Owing to the fact that none of the other delegates had arrived back Mr. Irwin was non-committal but he gave assurance that the prospects for both the bridge subsidy and the acquiring of a site and the erection of a post office in North Vancouver were well under way and practically assured and it only remained for minor details to be arranged to bring these two public undertakings to a successful climax.

The adjustment of an arrangement with the V. W. & Y. and the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Co. was a matter that was asked by the Minister last year and it was taken from Mr. Irwin's assertions that something of this nature was intimated by the government again this year. He spoke of the incorporation of the N. V. Board of Trade having been successfully consummated, also arrangements towards the city acquiring the right of way through the Indian reserve having been effected. The matter of the extension of the Esplanade was pending and the outlook was good in this regard. He gave the assurance that the government appreciated to the fullest North Vancouver's need of these public necessities and evidence of sincere faith and tangible assistance was shown by the ministers.

The Mayor and Ald. Dick are expected back in four or five days.

City Council Receives Large Local Improvement Reports

The city council again last evening made record time in despatching the business on the agenda.

The important features of the meeting were the reports from the engineering department on sewerage installation and other works of local improvement which covered the lower section of the city involving a very large outlay. Acting-Mayor McRae presided.

Correspondence was read:

From M. Philip, asking that several tall trees on lot 11-7-549 near his property be cut down. Ref. to the engineer.

From E. Stevenson, advising that he intended to build in lot 33, block 226A, D. L. 544, and the value of his house was $1,000. He urged the council to open the street to his property. Ref. to the Board of Works.

From J. S. Shepherd, asking for a sidewalk from Lonsdale Ave. to the entrance of his property being the first house on 16th street west of Lonsdale Ave. Ref. to the Board of Works.

From O. B. Allan and Wm. Bailey, asking that the water from 15th street be diverted from flowing on their property, block 45, D. L. 271. It was referred to the board of works and engineer.

From W. T. Graham stating that owing to the removal of the crossing on Lonsdale Avenue corner 12th street he was unable to have access to his property. He asked that a crossing be put down on 13th street to enable him to get into the rear of his property. Ref. to the board of works and engineer.

The following reports from Thursday evening's committee meetings were read and adopted:

FINANCE—

The committee recommends that no committee pass accounts of any description unless bearing an order number in addition to the signature of the official certifying the account to be correct, and that the time for collecting taxes for 1911 begin on June 15th and the time for rebate close on August 5th, 1911.

THE FIRE AND LIGHT COMMITTEE instructed the clerk to prepare a memorandum of conditions of appointment of fire chief and firemen.

The engineer reported that he had met the district engineer and agreed on the location for the lights at the city boundary on Lonsdale Ave. a few feet in the district and at the N. W. corners of Sutherland Avenue at the intersection of 8th and 10th streets within the city area.

THE WATER COMMITTEE reported that the application of W. B. Less for two supply pipes for apartment houses on the SW corner of 8th and Chesterfield Ave. had been referred to the engineer.

THE BOARD OF WORKS reported re request of H. C. Canslow for road to be opened up to lot 6, block 2, D. L. 616. Report received that this had been attended to.

Re request of W. Wiles to have small portion of 8th street between St. Andrew's and Ridgeway Ave. opened up. Recommended that this be attended to.

Re request of A. S. Williamson and F. J. McLean that Ridgeway be opened up from Keith Road to Lyon street and that Lyon street be graded and sidewalk laid to lot 6, block 105, D. L. 550. Committee recommend that Ridgeway Ave. be cleared to 8th street and that 8th street be cleared from Ridgeway Ave. to Moody Ave., the main means of access to this property. The committee do not look upon Lyon street as a main thoroughfare but more of a private street.

Re request of Mrs. A. Feathringham and Peter McMurdo to have water flowing across lot 14 and 15, block 105, D. L. 550 diverted from its present course to the side of the street. It was reported that the water was flowing in a natural water course. This was referred to the city engineer to verify and if so the clerk is to inform the petitioners that the committee have no power to divert water from a public watercourse.

Mr. John F. Yates again wrote regarding sidewalks and grade to his lot 5 and 6, block 115, D. L. 274 and the opening of the alley. The committee recommend that the sidewalk be laid to the property but that the question of rough grading boulevard be deferred until improvements of roadway is dealt with. That with regard to the alley the greater portion of which is held by private individuals Mr. Yates be informed that steps are being taken to acquire the alley and that the committee would be glad of his assistance in the matter. The committee recommend that the engineer be empowered to select some suitable site for a departmental depot for storage and equipment and report at an early date.

FIRST MEETING

The first meeting of the lately incorporated North Vancouver Board of Trade will be held in the City Hall next Tuesday evening, March 21st.

APPLICATIONS FOR AUDITOR

At last evening's meeting of the city council the following applications were received for the position of city auditor for the current year: Thos. Bowman, T. W. Swanwell, B. Ibbetson, P. S. Howard, D. W. Cochrane, J. A. Jackson, Jas. Ross and R. Barker. They were referred to the finance committee for a report.

MANY APPLY FOR POSITION

The fact that the city will not be at a loss to provide a sanitary and building inspector was exemplified at last evening's council when no less than 67 applications were received in response to the call from the city. They were referred to the engineer and board of health to deal with at a special meeting.

Mr. Arnold E. Kealy is expected to sail today from Montreal for the old country. He will be absent about three months and his mission is of a business nature.

Mr. J. C. Williams, who has been a patient at the Burrard Sanitarium for the past two weeks with ear trouble is convalescent. He expects to come home this week.

CONTRACT FOR NINE OFFICES

Smith Bros., contractors of this city have received the contract from J. W. Horne for the erection of nine one-storey offices on his property comprising 100 feet frontage on Lonsdale Avenue and 100 feet back on the Esplanade. Owing to the natural lay of the ground excavations for a basement will be so inexpensive that Mr. Horne has arranged for a basement under the whole structure. This will be equipped for a restaurant.

Messrs. Smith Bros. have commenced operations. The office of Messrs. J. P. Crawford & Co. which is situated on the property at the corner of the lane is being moved away.

APPLICATION FOR LIQUOR LICENSE

NOTICE is hereby given that at the next sitting of the Board of Licensing Commissioners for the City of North Vancouver, we, the undersigned, intend to apply for a hotel license for premises situate on lots 27 and 28, block 156, district lot 274, First street, in the said City of North Vancouver.

TO THE LAND O' THE HEATHER

"Gone to Scotland"—McNaught.

In the above truly laconical fashion Reeve McNaught sums up the results of the labors of the Ottawa delegation in reporting to the headquarters of Burrard Tunnel and Bridge Company. The precise significance of the message is matter of conjecture to all who do not possess the key. Although few in words the message is both stimulative and suggestive. The nature of the conclusions that are to be drawn therefrom will depend mainly upon whether the person who makes those conclusions is an optimist or a pessimist, with reference to the present situation.

BUSINESS MEN DEMAND BANKER KNIGHT'S OPINION --EXPLORATION PARTIES TO FAR NORTH

Montreal, March 13—Business men, manufacturers and others in Montreal are very anxious to obtain the views of the large banking houses on the reciprocity question. Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Bank of Commerce, has already come out strongly against the proposed arrangement, it is true, but that was in Toronto and Sir Edmund did not give any specific reasons for the stand he has taken. Sir Edward Clouston, president of the Bank of Montreal has now been asked, not in the interests of any on particular branch of trade or commerce, but in the interests of the Dominion of Canada as a whole, to either make a statement for publication, or to address a gathering called for the purpose. He has as not yet consented to do either, but he will likely be persuaded to speak at a special meeting to be held shortly.

Strange as it may seem reciprocity talk has not disturbed the financial world one way or the other; that is although there is a great deal of comment and chatter money is still moving along the regular channels, and stock are soaring or falling as the case may be in much the same way as they would on a quiet summer's day. Last week, it is true, was rather dark in some quarters, but that was owing rather to affairs in the United States than to reciprocity agitation. Reciprocity is a freak, fruit lands in British Columbia, which people of that province say will be ruined if the pact goes through, are selling beautifully. Sawor-Massey stock, the new company Uhich is turning out farming implements and which has just been placed on the Toronto exchange, has jumped about ten points and at one stage of the game was as high as 33. And there was much doubt in the minds of the farm implement men as to reciprocity.

TWO EXPLORATION PARTIES

Early this spring two exploration parties will be fitted out from here, one to go to the Pacific coast near Prince Rupert, and the other to push its way into the Peace River country. They are being sent by Corporation Agencies Limited, for foreign clients and it is not unlikely that their reports when they return this autumn, will mean the investment of more foreign capital in Canada. Both parties will be composed of competent engineers. The Pacific coast party will report upon a new industrial undertaking which it is proposed to establish near Prince Rupert. The other exploring party which will be under the control of E. H, Drury, the civil engineer who recently made the preliminary survey of the Hudson's Bay railway route for the Dominion government, will make a report in the interests of a French syndicate of certain proposed undertakings in the Peace river district.

VAUTELET FORCED OUT

The rather sudden resignation of Mr. H. E. Vautelet, the engineer, from the Quebec Bridge Commission has given rise to all sorts of rumors in regard to the future plan of construction of that famous and ill omened structure. It will be recalled that Hugh Lumsden, chief engineer for the government of the transcontinental, resigned under somewhat similar circumstances. After the resignations had been made public the same excuse was offered to the people from the floor of the House of Commons concerning both men. The minister of railways says that Lumsden has resigned on account of ill health and overwork. The minister of public works announced the same thing in regard to Mr. Vautelet. Both are walking around as chippier as may be. Mr. Vautelet will say nothing, but it is safe to predict that the last has not been heard of it, and there are going to be fireworks of some description before the plans of the bridge have actually been decided upon.

A MIRACULOUS SPRING

The announcement that a miraculous spring has been discovered bubbling forth from the altar of the Church of St. Clotilde has brought thousands from far and near on a visit to the church. An altar on which a new statue of the Blessed Virgin had recently been placed, suddenly required the attention of a plumber. Investigation showed the spring of pure water bubbling from the earth. A similar occurrence was reported some time ago from a church of the same name in Leu, France. It is said that since the discovery of the spring two people who were suffering from different ailments, were cured instantly by the use of the water.

B. N. A. OFFICES ENLARGED

Repairs to the Junction block and the enlarging of the Bank of B. N. A. quarters are being speedily effected. The bank entrance is now situated on Lonsdale below the Esplanade. The bank offices which comprise those formerly in use and the office recently occupied by the Elder Murray Co., are now very commodious in comparison to the cramped quarters in corner office. Manager Salsbury's office occupies a prominent place in the north-east corner and is amply lighted with large plate glass windows at the north and east side. These windows also convey the light to the clerks' desks. The wickets now face east and more space is afforded the public in the front. When the Esplanade is brought to grade the steps leading up to the entrance will be done away with.

WHAT?

Yes, it's true. We are offering the balance of the property in "Capilano" Park at last year's prices to clean up the estate.

The price for full size lots, 140 feet deep, is $150; $15 cash with the balance monthly.

Some dandy half-acre blocks for $500 to $575; 10 per cent. cash and the balance over two years.

The scenic railway company have filed their plans of the Capilano Carline Extension, which passes through our property, and construction work must be started not later than June, 1911 and finished in June, 1912.

The soil is productive loam which has yielded profits of $1,000 per acre, planted in strawberries.

There is the famous $15,000 Canyon View Hotel, situated 100 yards from "Capilano Park."

The Capilano Canyons are in the same district lot, only a few minutes walk from "Capilano Park".

The property is level—no creeks or mountains and very light clearing.

The price is the same as a year ago and is lower than any property in the same radius from the Vancouver Postoffice that has been offered for sale in the last two years.

The adjoining acreage is selling in five-acre blocks for $1250 per acre, which is more than we are asking for an acre of our property subdivided into town lots.

OTTAWA AND THE BRIDGE SUBSIDY

The very meagre information which has recently found its way through from the east relative to the progress of events at Ottawa in the matter of a Dominion subsidy for Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company while not indicative of complete and immediate success, is, nevertheless, of a very encouraging nature. It appears that the Minister of Railways has not agreed to recommend to the House, that a vote be passed at once in favor of the Company, but rather that after hearing what all claimants for a subsidy had to say he has deferred his decision for a time, either to secure opportunity for giving the whole matter more mature consideration, or to afford the competing applicants an opportunity to arrive at an amicable adjustment of their differences so that when the subsidy is ultimately voted, it will satisfy the requirements of all parties. The conclusion seems sure that the Minister of Railways is in favor of the renewal of a subsidy and of an increased subsidy in aid of Second Narrows bridge and that it is in full harmony with his judgment that a vote for that subsidy shall be passed during the present session of parliament, but for some reason, he does not see his way clear to make the necessary recommendation to the House just at the present juncture. The fact that the V. W. & Y. Ry. Co. has not succeeded in securing a recommendation for a renewal of the subsidy vote of which it was in actual possession one year ago, goes to show that the case established by Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company is conclusive and that when any subsidy is voted, it is to be in favor of that company. The full facts concerning the matter will not be known until the delegates make their report to the several bodies which they represent, but meantime there is good ground to conclude that substantial progress has been made toward securing this subsidy for Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company and that ultimate success is practically assured.

TRADING AT HOME — LOCAL PRICES

Can the local merchant reasonably be expected to compete in all instances with out-of-town houses, in the matter of prices?

The above is a question which gives rise to views differing widely from one another or diametrically opposed to each other. There are those who will assert positively that it is incumbent upon the local merchant to sell invariably at prices as low as those of the outside competitor if he wishes to hold the local trade and on the other hand there are many who are of opinion that a reasonable margin should be allowed the local merchant in this particular because of local conditions.

It is quite evident that the local merchant labors under unavoidable disadvantages as compared with many out-of-town concerns. Upon comparatively low capital, the local merchant is probably beginning upon a small scale with the hope that by means of fair dealing and close attention to business he will be able to build up a successful business. In doing this he finds it necessary to lay down the principle as vital to sound business methods upon his part that he receive a fair profit upon all the goods that he sells. In this particular he is placed at a disadvantage by the big incorporated company which employs a small army of clerks, which carries a stock comprising many different lines of merchandise and which out of its immense range of goods is able to select a few articles and sell them at cost in order to excite the interest of the buyer, charging the profits thus sacrificed to "advertising" or some other account. The chances amount to a practical certainty that the big store will secure a much bigger return from the average buyer than the small amount of profit thus sacrificed, because of the great amount of goods in other lines, sold to those who are by this means attracted to the stores. Not alone in this, but also in many other particulars, the local merchant is at a manifest disadvantage, as compared with the larger out-of-town stores, in the face of which it is unfair to expect him to always compete in the matter of prices.

Then again it should be borne in mind that the local merchant carries the whole burden of the credit trade of his own town. The trading that is done out of town is all spot cash—the most valuable kind of trade. There are doubtless many out-of-town buyers who trade to a considerable extent away from home, paying cash down for all purchases, but who do a certain amount of their trading at home which they expect the local merchant to carry on his books until it is convenient for them to make payment. This credit trade—whether it is from month to month, or for longer periods—all of which the local merchant carries for the convenience of his fellow townsmen, is a heavy handicap to him as compared with out-of-town concerns which do not carry a single dollar of it. The local merchant may be ready and willing to accommodate his customers in this particular to the very utmost of his ability, but even so, the fact remains that having thousands of dollars of his capital locked up in book debts, he is thereby handicapped in the race. He cannot buy to the same advantage he cannot meet his payments so readily and secure his discounts, it becomes more expensive in every way for him to do business than it would be were he favored with the immense amount of spot cash business which regularly goes past his place of business to enrich out-of-town merchants. Were this large and valuable cash business to decide to stay at home as far as possible and to adhere consistently and perseveringly to that determination, the great bulk of the disabilities attached to home shopping would speedily disappear, the entire situation would rapidly become metamorphosed and local buyers would be highly gratified because of the pleasures and the advantages that home trading would offer them, while the increased amount of local money placed in local circulation would brighten every phase of the commercial, industrial and financial interests of the home town, creating and maintaining an aspect of universal prosperity.

Meantime the local merchant is sustaining a courageous stand in the face of difficulties which will be recognized as real and serious by all who give the matter careful consideration. Amid these difficulties, he is conferring valuable benefits upon his city, as we endeavored to point out in this column last week. When the matter is viewed in its proper light it becomes evident, therefore that local property owners and residents are promoting their own interests by purchasing always from local merchants at fair profits, irrespective of "catch" prices set by out-of-town houses.

Somewhat About Books and Writers

A correspondent in a Vancouver contemporary contributed his recollection of being taken as a boy to a meeting which was addressed by Lord Brougham, and retains a vivid impression of the Lord Chancellor's appearance, particularly of his wonderful loudly plai trousers. Year after year he was t be seen clad in nether garments made up of this same cloth and some peopl thought he wore it of choice, but th careful old soul was only wearing it up. The story goes that being once on a visit to a woollen mill, he saw this pattern in the loom. Being taken up with it and intending to have two trouser lengths, he ordered two pieces. The manufacturer promptly sent the cloth and received payment for it from the steward. Brougham was home a few days later and expressed surprise at the size of the account and to his horror found that the two pieces were enough to make scores of pairs of trousers. After ineffectual attempts to induce the maker to take back a portion of the cloth, Lord Brougham reluctantly braced himself up to the wearing of plaid trousers for the rest of his natural life.

Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield in his younger days was likewise noted for his extra-ordinary appearance, strolling along the classy haunts of top hats and dress suits, attired in clothing the colour and cut of which rivalled the glories of Bagdad. But he thus frivolled of choice, not of necessity. There is some new light thrown upon Disraeli's earlier years in the biography recently issued, and it would appear that sufficient stress had not been laid before upon the influence which his father and sister exercised upon him.

The Disraelis were descended from a family of Spanish Jews that settled first in Venice, then in England. His father, Isaac, was an author of considerable repute, and personally directed his earlier studies, doubtless from his father he acquired his skill in repartee, the coining of nicknames, and investive, which counts for much in politics.

PROPOSE ESTABLISHING CARRIAGE WORKS

Messrs. McKinnon and Hixon of Bellingham have completed arrangements for the establishment of a general blacksmithing and carriage works business in this city. Property on the Esplanade just west of the North Vancouver Transfer stables has been leased and a building 25x60 will be erected shortly. The new firm propose opening out on a large scale.

On the statement of J. W. DeB. Farris, representing John McEwen in the private prosecution against Jos. Nicholich for alleged obtaining of money under false pretences, that satisfactory restitution had been made and the request that the charge be withdrawn, Justices of the Peace Woods and Foreman granted a withdrawal of the case Wednesday morning. Mr. B. P. Wintermute appeared for the defendant. In a further statement to the court Mr. Farris said it seemed evident that the accused was irresponsible in this connection. He apparently did not understand the nature of the act he was alleged to have committed and did it unwittingly. Mr. Nicholich, who is in business in Bellingham, returned home the same day.

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

house with quite as much warrant as the other unless Kirkwood had drawn a rash inference from the incident of the ragged sentry. The two of them were mutual if antagonistic trespassers. Neither would dare bring about the arrest of the other. And then—and this was not the least consideration to influence Kirkwood—perhaps the fellow would die if he got no attention.

Light upon the subject, actual as well as figurative, seemed to be the first essential. His mind composed, Kirkwood set himself in search of it. The floor he was on, however, afforded him no assistance.

After some momentary hesitation he went upstairs, his ascent marked by a single and grateful incident. Halfway to the top he trod on an object that clinked underfoot and, stopping, retrieved the lost purse.

The rooms on the second floor were bedchambers, broad, deep, stately, inhabited by seven devils of loneliness. In one, on a dresser, Kirkwood found a stump of candle in a china candlestick. The two charred ends of matches at its base were only an irritating discovery, however—evidence that real matches had been the mode in No. 9 at some remote date. Disgusted and oppressed by cumulative inquisitiveness, he took the candle end back to the hall. He would have given much for the time and means to make a more detailed investigation into the secret of the house.

Since his latest entrance his vision had adjusted itself to cope with the obscurity to some extent, and the street lights, meagerly reflected through the windows from the bosom of a sullen pall of cloud low swung above the city, had helped him to piece together many a detail of decoration and furnishing, alike somber and richly dignified. Kirkwood told himself that the owner, whoever he might be, was a man of wealth and taste inherited from another age. He had found little of meretricious today in the dwelling, much that was solid and sedate and homely and—Victorian. He could have wished for more. A box of early Victorian vestas had been highly acceptable.

Making his way downstairs to the stricken man, who was quite as he had been, Kirkwood bent over and thrust rifling fingers into his pockets regardless of the wretched sense of guilt and sneakishness imparted by the action, stubbornly heedless of the possibility of the man's awakening to find himself being searched and robbed.

In the last place he sought, which should, he realized, have been the first—to wit, the fob pocket of the white waistcoat—he found a small gold matchbox packed tight with wax vestas and, berating himself for crass stupidity—he had saved a deal of time and trouble by thinking of this before—lighted the candle.

As its golden flame shot up with scarce a tremor, preyed upon by a perfectly excusable concern, he bent to examine the man's countenance. The arm which had partly hidden it had fallen back into a natural position. It was a young face that gleamed pallid in the candlelight, a face unlined, a little vapid and insignificant, with features regular and neat, betraying few characteristics other than the purely negative attributes of a character as yet unformed, possibly unformable, much the sort of face that he might have expected to see, remembering those thin and pouting lips that before had impressed him. Its owner was probably little more than twenty. In his attire there was a suspicion of a fop's preciseness, aside from its accidental disarray.

"I can't make him out at all!" declared Kirkwood. It was most exasperating, the incongruity of the boy's appearance assorted with his double role of persecutor of distressed damsels and nocturnal housebreaker.

Kirkwood bent closer above the motionless head, with puzzled eyes striving to pin down some elusive resemblance that he thought to trace in those vacuous features, a resemblance to some one he had seen or known at some past time somewhere, somehow.

"I give it up. Guess I'm mistaken. Anyhow, five young Englishmen out of every ten of his class are just as blond and foolish. Now let's see how bad he's hurt."

With hands strong and gentle he turned the round, light head. Then "Ah!" he commented in the accent of comprehension, for there was an angry looking bump at the base of the skull.

Kirkwood let the head down and took thought. Recalling a bathroom on the floor above, thither he went, unselfishly forgetful of his predicament if discovered, and, turning on the water, sopping his handkerchief until it dripped. Then, returning, he took the boy's head on his knees, washed the wound, purloined another handkerchief of silk, with a giddy border, from the other's pocket and of this manufactured a rude but serviceable bandage.

Toward the conclusion of his attentions the sufferer began to show signs of returning animation. He stirred restlessly, whimpered a little and sighed. And Kirkwood in consternation got up.

"So!" he commented ruefully. "I guess I am an ass, all right, taking all that trouble for you, my friend. If I've got a grain of sense left, this is my cue to leave you alone in your glory."

He was lingering only to restore to the boy's pockets such articles as he had removed in the search for matches—the matchbox, a few silver coins, a bulky sovereign purse, a handsome plain gold watch, and so forth. But ere he concluded he was aware that the boy was conscious; that his eyes, open and blinking in the candlelight, were upon him.

They were blue eyes—blue and shallow as a doll's and edged with long, fine lashes. Intelligence of a certain degree was rapidly informing them. Kirkwood returned their questioning glance, transfixed in indecision. His primal impulse to cut and run for it was gone. He had nothing to fear from this child, who could not prevent his going whenever he chose to go, while by remaining he might perchance worm from him something about Dorothy.

"You're feeling better?" He was almost surprised to hear his own voice put the query.

"I—I think so. Ow, my head! I say, you chap, whoever you are, what's happened? I want to get up." The boy added peevishly, "Help a fellow, can't you?"

"You've had a nasty fall," Kirkwood observed evenly, passing an arm beneath the boy's shoulder and helping him to a sitting position. "Do you remember?"

The other snuffled childishly and scrubbed across the floor to rest his back against the wall.

"Why-y, I remember fallin', and then I woke up, and it was all dark, and my head achin' fit to split. I presume I went to sleep again. I say, what're you doin' here?"

Instead of replying Kirkwood lifted a warning finger.

"Hush!" he said tensely, alarmed by noises in the street. "You don't suppose"—

He had been conscious of a carriage rolling up from the corner as well as that it had drawn up (presumably) before a nearby dwelling. Now the rattle of a key in the hall door was startlingly audible. Before he could move the door itself opened with a slam.

Kirkwood moved toward the stairhead and drew back, with a cry of disgust. "Too late," he told himself bitterly. His escape was cut off. He could run upstairs and hide, of course, but the boy would inform against him and—

He buttoned up his coat, settled his hat on his head and moved near the candle, where it rested on the floor. One glimpse would suffice to show him the force of the intruders and one move of his foot put out the light; then—perhaps—he might be able to rush them.

Below a brief pause had followed the noise of the door, as if those entering were standing, irresolute, undecided which way to turn, but abruptly enough the glimmer of candlelight must have been noticed. Kirkwood heard a hushed exclamation, a quick clatter of heels on the parquetry, pattering feet on the stairs, all but drowned by swish and ripple of silken skirts, and a woman stood at the head of the flight—to the American an apparition profoundly amazing as she paused, the light from the floor casting odd, theatric shadows beneath her eyes and over her brows, edging her eyes themselves with brilliant light beneath their dark lashes, showing her lips straight and drawn and shimmering upon the spangles of an evening gown, visible beneath the dark cloak which had fallen back from her white, beautiful shoulders.

CHAPTER XI.

"MRS. HALLAM!" cried Kirkwood beneath his breath.

The woman ignored his existence. Moving swiftly forward, she dropped on both knees by the side of the boy and caught up one of his hands, clasping it passionately in her own.

"Fred!" she cried, a curious break in her tone. "My little Freddie! Oh, what has happened, dearie?"

"Oh, hello, mamma!" grunted that young man, submitting listlessly to her caresses and betraying no overwhelming surprise at her appearance there. Indeed, he seemed more concerned as to what Kirkwood, an older man, would be thinking to see him so endeared and fondled than moved by any other emotion. Kirkwood could see his shamefaced, sidelong glances and despised him properly for them.

But without attending to his response Mrs. Hallam rattled on in the uneven accents of excitement. "I waited until I couldn't wait any longer, Freddie, dear. I had to know, had to come. Eccles came home about 9 and said that you had told him to wait outside, that some one had followed you in here and that a bobby had told him to move on. I didn't know what!"—

"What's o'clock now?" her son interrupted.

"It's about 3, I think. Have you hurt yourself, dear? Oh, why didn't you

A BY-LAW to enable the Corporation of the City of North Vancouver to subscribe for eighty thousand shares of One Dollar each in the capital stock of the North Vancouver City Ferries Limited.

Be it enacted by the Mayor and Council of the Corporation of the City of North Vancouver in Council assembled (with the assent of the electors of the city duly had and obtained) as follows:

1. Authority is hereby given to the Mayor and Clerk of the Corporation to sign, execute and deliver on behalf of the Corporation and to seal with the corporate seal an Indenture of Agreement between the North Vancouver City Ferries Limited of the one part and the City of North Vancouver of the other part in the terms of the schedule appended to this By-Law, and authority is hereby given to the said City to enter into and agree to the provisions of the same. Should the works mentioned and set out in the said agreement to be performed by the North Vancouver City Ferries, Limited be not completed before the 1st day of January, 1912, then this By-Law shall become null and void.

2. This By-Law may be cited for all purposes as the "North Vancouver City Ferries Limited Shares Purchase By-Law, 1911."

Passed by the Council on the 13th day of March, 1911.

Received the assent of the electors at an election held for the purpose on the day of 1911.

Reconsidered and finally passed by the Council of the said City of North Vancouver on the day of 1911.

THIS INDENTURE dated the day of Nineteen hundred and eleven.

BETWEEN:

THE NORTH VANCOUVER CITY FERRIES LIMITED, a body corporate having its Head Office at the City of Vancouver, B. C.
(Hereinafter called the "Company")
OF THE ONE PART

and

THE CITY OF NORTH VANCOUVER, a body corporated,

OF THE OTHER PART.

WHEREAS it is necessary for the comfort and convenience of the citizens of the City of North Vancouver to provide a new steamer for the use of the Company, and to provide a wharf, pontoons and bridges and electric sign in connection therewith and other equipment for the Company:

AND WHEREAS it is necessary to provide the sum of Eighty Thousand ($80,000.00) Dollars to be expended therefor by purchase of eighty thousand (80,000) shares in the capital stock of the Company at the par value of One ($1.00) Dollar each,

NOW THEREFORE THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH:

1. That the City shall purchase from the Company eighty thousand (80,000) fully paid up and non-assessable shares in the capital stock of the Company at the par value thereof, to wit: the sum of Eighty Thousand ($80,000) Dollars.

NOTICE TO ELECTORS

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a true copy of the proposed By-Law upon which the vote of the Electors of the Municipality of the City of North Vancouver will be taken within the City Hall, North Vancouver, B. C., on Saturday, the Twenty-fifth day of March, A.D., 1911, between the hours of 9 o'clock a.m. and 7 o'clock p.m.

THOMAS SHEPHERD,
City Clerk and Returning Officer.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the vote of the Electors of the City of North Vancouver will be taken on the 25th day of March, 1911, between the hours of 9 o'clock a.m. and 7 o'clock p.m. on "The North Vancouver City Ferries, Limited, Shares Purchase By-Law, 1911," and that within the City Hall, North Vancouver, B. C., and that Thomas Shepherd has been appointed Returning Officer to take the vote of such Electors with the usual powers in that behalf.

By Order of the Council,
GEO. W. McRAE,
Acting-Mayor.
THOMAS SHEPHERD,
City Clerk.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This By-Law supplements the By-Law passed in December last by which the Council was authorized to borrow the sum of $80,000.00 to subscribe for shares in the capital stock of the Ferry Company.

The purpose of this By-Law is to authorize the Council to subscribe for that amount of shares and to set down a time limit within which the work to be aided by such is to be completed. Most of the services have already been completed, such as the new ferry steamer, the wharf, pontoons, bridges, etc. The work still remaining to be done and to be aided in part by the $80,000 consists of improvements to the wharf on the Vancouver side and 1st January, 1912 has been set down as a reasonable time limit within which to complete these improvements.

The Debentures have already been sold and the purchasers solicitors ask for the passage of this By-Law by the Electors to enable them to report favorably on the validity of the issue.
