ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO SECURE THE RESERVATION PROVES FUTILE

Indian Agent McAllan, of Fraser Lake, arrived here from Nechaco last Tuesday. The object of his visit was to take up again the question of the sale of Indian Reserve No. 1 here to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, for townsite and terminal purposes. Father Cocola the Indian Missionary, accompanied by Father Bunoz of the Yukon arrived on the "B. X." on Monday and talked to the Indians with Agent McAllan. The result of the conference was a decision arrived at by the Indians not to sell the reserve at the present time.

The decision of the Indians not to sell the Reserve appears to cast a shadow over the immediate future of Fort George. The red men have been led to believe, by a bunch of unscrupulous four-flushers, that their reserve was worth hundreds of thousands, irrespective of whether the railroad company got it or not. The Natural Resources Security Company who own an enormous townsite lying along its western boundary and 2 miles from the Fraser River, tried to work the G. T. P., the Indians, and the whole complicated local situation to suit their own particular plans of townsite promotion here. Knowing that the G. T. P. had bought the reversionary rights to this reserve from the Provincial government and that they would be quite safe in offering the Indians any imaginable figure for their land, as no title could ever be gained by anyone save the railway company, they made an offer to the Indians,— through Father Bellot, a missionary priest who knows nothing at all of business— of $300 an acre for the total area of 1366 acres. This ultra-enterprising townsite concern then banqueted the Indians in their Nechaco River hotel, and heelers of the company besought the red-men not to sacrifice their interests in the reserve. They advised the red-men to sell only the extreme western half of the land, which lies against their own great stagnant townsite, and in every way shape and form they sowed in the minds of the Indians the seed of avaricious ownership, which is responsible for the momentary deadlock existing at the present. The townsite first sought to show that the Indian Reserve would never be sold at all. They then altered their tactics, no doubt finding that their site was more or less of a joke without an adjacent G. T. P. townsite, and said that, without doubt the western half would be transferred, and now they are working tooth and nail to see the reserve sold in its entirety.

The Herald has absolutely no atom of doubt regarding the ultimate outcome of the matter. The G. T. P. will get the reserve by purchase. If the meddlers had kept out of the deal, and had let men that understood these Indians handle the deal, it would now be closed, and the doubts which exist "outside" would be set at rest.

It is palpably apparent that if the G. T. P. does not get the land it requires for townsite purposes the future of Fort George as a city will be dependent upon its wonderful strategic location at the junction of waterways that must be followed by railroads seeking grade, but dependence on anything but the declared policy of the transcontinental to put a townsite on here, will be a matter to tax the patience of Job.

The Indians are thinking the matter over and have informed Father Cocola that they will return to the discussion of the subject about August, in the Salmon season. In the meantime the prospects of the Nechaco townsite look blue, but South Fort George, the city, will continue to grow, as its development is in the hands of a community of enterprising citizens, and does not depend upon a townsite company.

Local and Provincial

The steamer Chilcotin arrived from Soda Creek on Monday last, bringing up a large load of freight and several passengers. The big boat was delayed in Quesnel for inspection. The trip down river was accomplished without any difficulty, but poor time was made on the return journey, as apparently the boat does not develop sufficient power for her size. The Fort George Lumber and Trading Company have decided to pull the Chilcotin out on the ways here, where alterations will be made under the supervision of an expert who will shortly arrive from the coast. After unloading here on Monday last she left for Giscombe Portage, loaded with freight for the Hudson's Bay Co., at Mcleod Lake, and a consignment for Seebach & Hubble, and J. M. Wiley.

The illustrated heading which we used last week for the first and last time, has been relegated to the melting pot. We will make linotype slugs out of it. Someone said it looked like the Western Clarion, whilst another kind reader thought it looked like the War Cry. 'Nuf said: We don't want to obtain money under false pretenses, or have to sell the Herald with a tamborine.

G. H. Milligan, in charge of a party of J. H. Gray's surveyors arrived on the steamer "B. X." last Monday. The party is bound for the Peace River valley where they are going to survey a large tract of land staked before the reserve was placed, and also to survey a block for the provincial government. J. H. Gray, P. L. S. will arrive here shortly for the coast with other parties to work in the Peace Valley. Speaking of the great advantage of taking the Giscombe portage route Mr. Milligan said. "The crew will be on the ground, at the Rocky Mountain Canyon, two weeks after leaving Victoria."

A prairie schooner arrived here over the wagon road last Monday loaded with the effects of two families who are settling in the little Salmon Valley. The new settlers brought in a splendid Jersey cow and calf.

R. K. Lindsay, a Vancouver land, sand and gravel operator, was amongst the arrivals on the last boat. Mr. Lindsay is now cruising some of his holdings behind the subdivided area.

Second Street is building up rapidly, but most of the growth is on government lots. Last week Rigg's restaurant opened up and proved itself to be the proper rig for a good meal. Mr. Rigg's built on the corner of Second Street and Laselle. Next door Andy Forrest is running an open air cigar stand with freeze-out parlors in the rear

The Rev. T. Griffiths, successor to Mr. Bell of the Nechaco River townsite, will hold service in the Fourth Street hall next Sunday evening at 7.30.

Russel Craig and Bill Roe, two of the old G. T. P. survey men arrived here on the B. X. on Thursday. Mr. Roe left for the upper river. Russel Craig has been appointed fire-warden to protect the timber on the upper reaches.

J. T. Kennedy, who has been running the Club Cafe on Hamilton Avenue, sold out his business this week to Mrs. F. C. Nahrwold, and left for the coast on Friday.

Mr. G. E. McLaughlin, manager of the Northern Development Company here, has commenced the construction of an office building 30x30 feet on his lot at the foot of Fourth Street, opposite the Hotel Northern. Mr. McLaughlin will conduct the business of the townsite company from the office. Three living rooms will be arranged in the back of the building which will be occupied until Mr. McLaughlin has completed his residence on the hill.

The new Occidental Hotel in Quesnel, the finest country hostelry in B. C. was formally opened last week by Ed. Kepner, its genial proprietor. A. W. Cameron, manager of the Northern Crown Bank there, performed the ceremony, which consisted of unlocking the big doors and firing the key into the Fraser River. Just what became of the bar room key, is, so far, shrouded in mystery. Ed. Kepner has completed a splendid building. He is enterprising and popular, valuable characteristics for a hotel man to possess. Ed. has not always been a wealthy boniface. He has travelled the rough trails that leads to nowhere; he has prospected the creeks and pursued the wily marten. For years he was in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company and was, at one time, Gentleman Adventurer in charge of the Fur-trade post of Fort George. Here's luck to 'Kep. and his big hotel.

The telephone poles which now gridiron our fair young city add to its air of commercial activity.

Many reasons for the "Chilcotin's" slowness in up-river travel have been advanced by steamboat men and others. It is certainly a question for an expert.

John A. Fraser M. P. P. made the first of his periodical visits to the city again on the last boat.

Government Agent Herne has instructed the Chiefs on the Indian reserve here that no Indian will be permitted to be off the Reserve after dark. This is an excellent rule.

The provincial government has let a tract of 50,000 acres to Messrs. Green Bros. and Burden to survey for pre-emption purposes. This land lies adjacent to the block of 200,000 acres north of the Nechaco River, and between the Salmon and the Stuart Rivers. already surveyed. The surveying for bona-fide settlers of an immense tract of 500,000 acres is contemplated in the scheme of the government. This will mean 3,125 pre-emptors, or, reckoning on families of five individuals each, room for a farming population of almost 16,000 in the Fort George district, says the Vancouver News-Advertiser. That looks well in print, and the government plan great things— so, on paper. If the government had reserved 500,000 acres of the good land really close to Fort George three years ago we would now have a horde of pre-emptors scattered over the land, and the stores would not carry condensed milk, blue-nose butter, and evaporated eggs. No.

The supernumerary "editor" of the Ashcroft Journal, an ex-bank boy, didn't like The Herald calling the Ashcroft Liar,—as his boss' journal is familiary called in the Cariboo— a decrepid, mangy old rag. No. His little capsule brain got very busy and he 'wrote something" in reply. Oh! Cyril, you naughty boy. Before the budding journalist goes any further he ought to get next to the fact that whilst the butcher used to wait for the junk-pile in the Journal office to turn out his week's supply of meat wrapping the genial proprietor in his front street office used to peddle lots in a wild-cat.

WILL BUILD A CHURCH.

The Rev. C. M. Wright of the Presbyterian Church on the Nechaco River townsite, has formulated plans for the erection of a place of worship in South Fort George, which is to have a seating capacity of 200 or more. The Presbyterian Church have promised to contribute one dollar for every dollar subscribed in this town towards the good work. This undertaking of Mr. Wright's should be supported by everyone; irrespective of their denominations, or the lack of any. Even the atheists and pronounced agnostics should give. The church will, as far as possible, be open for the use of all denominations.

A SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT---The Third One in Three Weeks

A third drowning accident, within the past two weeks, occurred here last Tuesday, under particulary distressing circumstances. The victim of the capsized dugout was a young Englishman named Harry Baxter, hailing from Shropshire. The circumstances surrounding the affair which led up to the death of Harry Baxter are as follows: It appears that Kenneth McKenzie, the millwright, had taken a canoe from town to Pierre Roi's ranch, below the Collins addition. As the water was high along the banks between the ranch and town he walked back over the trail, the distance not being over half a mile. Wishing to bring the canoe back that evening, McKenzie asked Baxter, whom he knew to be a canoe man, to go down to Roi's place and help poll back. They started from the ranch and made good progress up the shore, although in places there was no polling bottom, and the brush swept far out into the river. At a place near where the first bench on the townsite rises at the water's edge, the overhanging prush prevented them from standing up, and at that point the accident took place. McKenzie was kneeling in the bow pulling the canoe up stream by the brush, whilst Baxter, also kneeling, was trying to get polling bottom in the deep water, when, without warning the canoe listed violently and capsized. Finding some hold for his poll Baxter evidently took advantage of it and his poll slipping overbalanced him, and precipitated both canoemen into the river. McKenzie's feet became enmeshed in a mass of brush on the bottom and the canoe turned over on top of him. As the dugout was turning over McKenzie shouted to his companion to hang on to the canoe, anticipating no danger, as he was only eight or ten feet from the shore. On extricating himself from the canoe and the brush he looked round for Baxter and saw only his hand above the water about fifteen feet from shore, and down stream. He did not see him again. Assistance had arrived and helped McKenzie ashore. Together they righted the canoe but could not empty her, so McKenzie took the shore trail to Pierre Roi's, arriving there before the paddles from the upset canoe, but no trace could he see of Baxter, who evidently could not swim. The deceased was about 23 years old, and leaves a mother and sister in England for whom much sympathy is expressed, owing to the extremely unfortunate circumstances in connection with the accident.

NATURAL RESOURCES DUPES---Flood Herald with Anxious Letters

The Herald receives, every mail, many letters of enquiry into the property values of the various sub-divisions here. We tell the truth about them all, in our replies. These letters are proof positive of the rotten work being done by the agents of the Natural Resources Security Company throughout the continent, and as long as we continue to receive such communications, showing that this inside work is going on, our policy towards these interests will continue quite unbated.

We have been asked and advised to discontinue our policy of flim-flam exposure by many people whose interests are here in South Fort George. They have been led to believe by the organized work of the "interests" that this "knocking" is hurting our town, together with the townsites against which are efforts are expended and our pen yielded. A gentleman writing from Calgary this month tells us that the agent of the Natural Resources Security Company in that city informed him that lots in South Fort George were of no value, that he could give some to the enquirer for little or nothing, and that they never would be any good there. Now the agent of the Natural Resources Company in Calgary is some sort of a Swede named John H. Molstead who came in here last year, the owner of forty lots in the Hammond townsite, which he didn't like the look of when he saw them, so, being a wise gazook, he stayed here and peddled them off, and having very successfully accomplished this, came to South Ft. George, bought two double corners and announced his intention of going into the hardware business. Today he will not sell his corner lots here although he can make a substantial profit on them. He is a living example of the execrable lying lot-peddler, who is in the business for the big commission offered.

Another enquirer, writing from North Dakota, after a vitriolic denunciation of the Natural Resources Co., says; "They have damaged North Central B. C. more in the past 18 months than 100 honest men can counteract and overcome in the next five years." And there are hundreds of others.

The Natural Resources Security Company should instruct its agents to be more discreet. The writer got a fair sample of their methods by "taking them all in" in Vancouver last spring. He was told many extroadinary things by these agencies. One, man, with a whispery voice, told of the wonderful values property on the Nechaco River was reaching. Another showed us just where the government buildings stood right on his blue print, whilst yet another showed us what that independent organ the Tribune said: "Founded by John Houston, you know," said the peddler, "the great pioneer newspaper man, who saw the value of our property." The writer didn't trouble to tell him that the Tribune became the property of the townsite company after John Houston was in his grave, and that his heir was induced to sell by threats of libel proceedings against the paper for things Houston had printed about the townsite company.

The Herald has fought from its very inception, against the illigimate methods of townsite promoters. The company who had used these methods, and whose agents are still employing them, retaliated by every means available to their wealth, resources, and wonderful organization. They cut the advertising rate six hundred per cent, put in opposition newspapers to this company's and sicked their money controlled journals onto The Herald. As everyone must know we have lost heavily, financially in the conduct of this bloody war. Had we ceased when the land advertising was in its hay-day the finger of scorn would have been pointed at us by the multitude. They would have said, we had been brought to terms by the cut in land advertising rates. Now the land business has vanished, like frost upon the flower before the breath of spring, we can lay down the barb at any time with prestige unsullied. If the methods of the 25 foot lot-peddlers are elevated, something our work has slowly but surely been accomplishing, then will we spill the vitrol out of the ink well and cease to fill these pages with anti-flim flam exposures. Then the greater Fort George may be realized — and the poor, withered olive branch may blossom and bloom. But not till then.

FARMING IN A PRACTICAL WAY.

The Fraser River is rapidly rising, and at the present time the water is very high, and from all indications it will continue to rise until some of the low lands along the valley are inundated. Joseph McNamee, the veteran trapper, who returned this week from six months trapping in the valley of the Big Salmon River, tells us that the snow is still deep in the woods and that the mountains are heavily covered also. The year 1894 was the last year of exceptionally high water on the river. In that year the Fraser rose to a height of 140 feet at Spuzzum on the C. P. R. and washed away some of the hanging deck work of the ruined Cariboo Road suspension bridge.

J. M. Wiley, of Winnipeg, who owns very extensive areas of land in the central interior, is starting a splendid ranch on his property at the mouth of the Willow River. The land referred to is perhaps the finest section of wild open land on the Fraser River between Soda Creek and Tete Jaune Cache. A complete equipment of farming impedimenta was unloaded on the ground from the Steamer Chilcotin last Tuesday, including two splendid teams, a variety of grain seeds and farming machinery.

The Vancouver Board of Trade are taking steps to organize the trade of Vancouver, to meet the future competition which will be offered by Edmonton as a base of supply for this district during construction, owing to the fact that the permanent way from the Alberta capital will connect with the Fraser River and cheap water transportation while the steel from the western end will not be within a hundred miles of here, and the Vancouver wholesalers will have to compete for business with a 160 mile waggon road haul as a detriment to their trade.

B.C. EXPRESS CO. TO BUILD NEW BOAT

"The B. C. Express Company will build another boat to supplement the work of the Steamer B. X. at present on the run between Soda Creek and South Fort George," stated the manager, Mr. W. J. West, on Thursday, while on a business visit here.

"The enormous amount of travel on the Skeena river this spring, in which the four boats engaged have been taxed to their utmost in handling passenger and freight business has led our company into taking into serious consideration the augmenting of boats on the Fraser river, in anticipation of the heavy traffic in the district, resulting from transcontinental construction, and the wonderful latent resources which at present lie domant through lack of transportation.

"The new boat which the company will build will be of lighter draft than the "B. X." and will be utilized on the waters of the Fraser above South Fort George. The draft of the "B. X." when launched was 18 inches. The new boat will draw only 16 inches, with high pressure engines, specially designed for canyon work and strong swift waters. The length of the new boat will be 110 ft., and Alex. Watson, Jr., the builder of the "B. X." has the contract, work on which will commence late this summer and continue throughout the winter, thus enabling the launching with the opening of navigation next year.

"No expense whatever will be spared in the construction of the boat," continued Mr. West. "The best machinery obtainable for river navigation will be utilized, and in no particular will inland waters have a finer boat than the one under contemplation.

"The run to Tete Jaune Cache we expect to make without a hitch, once the new craft is in commission," concluded Mr. West

How the Government Plays Favorite Spots

Hope is a little old town on the C. P. R. that has sprung into prominence, like a mushroom in the night, owing to its proximity to the new discoveries on the gold-freckled mountain, Steamboat. Hope wanted some street improvements and the conservative press of the coast tells, with gusto, how promptly the provincial government responded with an appropriation of $500. Alexander Lucas, M. P. P. for Yale, worked the oracle. This burg ought to borrow Hope's name. When it comes down to government improvements, we live on hope here. South Fort George is a city in its third year of existence. It has every modern convenience that independent effort can supply to a town of its age. The provincial government own one quarter of the townsite, as they do of all townsites. They won't sell, as a matter of public policy, at this time. The decision to hold their blocks of land in the heart of the business section keeps back the growth of the town at a time when the growth is most required, and causes many "squatters" to build mere shacks on government lots, who would otherwise buy, and build respectable buildings if the lots were for sale. And that is not the worst of it. The town can not have sidewalks unless the government will make some appropriation for building them past their own vacant lots. Will John A. Fraser and Michael Callahan, Members of Parliament for Cariboo, use their endeavours to secure a little assistance from Victoria, such as Mr. Lucas secured for — Hope?
