THE GREENWOOD MINER.

Vol. 1, No. 48. GREENWOOD, B. C., FRIDAY, DEC. 29, 1899. $2.00 Per Year.

IN DEADWOOD CAMP

Development is Going Steadily on There

On a Number of Properties.—Machinery in Place on the Buckhorn—Big Returns From the Gold Bug.

Work on the St. Lawrence claim in Deadwood camp is progressing quite satisfactorily. Chas. Hoffman, Spokane broker, who is largely interested in the property, is authority for the statement that the shaft will be sunk to a depth of 100 feet, and a horse whim installed immediately. Cabins are also to be built at once, and the force of men under Superintendent Peterson increased.

The machinery for the Buckhorn mine has arrived and is now being installed. Everything was in readiness for its arrival, and it will not be long before the plant is in running order.

The Ah There, Butcher Boy and Greyhound, properties in Deadwood camp, are all being developed. Superintendent Olliver of the Greyhound is in town from Spokane, and is particularly pleased with the work going on. The crosscut on the Ah There, from the 50-foot level, is in 35 feet, and it will be continued until the whole extent of the ore body has been pierced.

From the following taken from the Rossland Miner, it will be seen that the second shipment of ore from the Gold Bug, in Providence camp, is of a most satisfactory nature: "Hector McRae, manager of the Boundary Creek M. & M. Co., has received the smelter returns on a carload of ore recently shipped from the Gold Bug, one of the properties of the company located near Greenwood. The average value of the ore per ton was as follows: Gold, 3.72 ounces, worth $74.40; silver, 130 ounces, worth $75.40; lead, 12 per cent, worth $7.40; total value, $157.20. The total gross value of the 15 tons in the carload was $2,358. This is the highest grade ore yet shipped from the Boundary Creek country.

A TELEPHONE DEAL.

The Columbia and Spokane Falls, and B. C. Telephone Companies Consolidated.

A deal has just been consumated by which the Columbia Telephone and Telegraph company has acquired the lines of the Spokane Falls and British Columbia Telephone company. The two have been operating their lines jointly, but by this consolidation they will be owned by one company and can be more advantageously operated. The deal was closed on Saturday.

The control of the Spokane and British Columbia company was owned by C. O'Brien Reddin and W. I. Reddin, the former of Spokane and the latter of this city. This company owns a line from Spokane to a point on the international boundary line on the Red Mountain Railway. It also owns a branch from Bossburg to Republic, Marcus to Republic and from Bossburg to a point south of the international boundary line south of Cascade City.

The Columbia Telephone and Telegraph company owns a line from here to the Boundary line. In addition to this, it owns a line which extends from Cascade City to Grand Forks, to Greenwood, to Midway, and from thence to Camp McKinney, with laternal branches running hither and thither.

W. B. Davey, president, and J. B. Donald, superintendent of the Columbia Telephone and Telegraph company, carried on the negotiations on behalf of their company. The intention of the new purchasers, now that they have control on the American side, is to improve the facilities and to give the public a better service than hitherto. The terms of the sale are withheld.

Republic Ore.

The Grand Forks Miner says: The first consignment of ore from the Republic mine came in Thursday. It consisted of about five tons and was loaded into a car at the freight yards of the Columbia & Western to be sent to Trail as soon as the car is full. Consignments are expected to arrive almost every day and every few days. For the present a car will be sent to Trail. As soon as more freighters can be secured the consignments will be increased. The rate paid is $7 a ton from Republic here. The mine could easily ship fifty tons a day of high grade ore, but it is doubtful if freighters can be obtained to take care of so much. This would mean at least ten wagon loads every day.

Firemen's Masque Ball.

Over sixty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the Masque Ball given by the Firemen last Friday evening in Miller's Hall. The ball opened at 9 o'clock, the band playing the "Grand March." There was a good variety of costumes, many of which were attractive while the balance were amusing. Perhaps the best disguised masque was Miss E. Medill, who appeared in a very becoming Highland costume. Other costumes worthy of mention were a French Gent, two clowns, a policeman and several toughs. The minutes flew by swiftly, and when the break-up came at 3 a. m., the ball was unanimously pronounced a huge success.

Roach-Oatman.

On the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 27th, Sidney H. Roach and Mary A. Oatman were married in the elegantly appointed sitting room at the residence of Mr. Moffatt, Greenwood. A little before midnight the happy couple started for their home at the Mother Lode mine. Before their departure the bride and groom received, amid showers of rice, reiterated expressions of good will. During the time which Mr. and Mrs. Roach have resided in this neighborhood, they have won for themselves the highest esteem. Their many friends wish them much happiness.

Infraction of Sunday By-Law.

On Friday afternoon the manager of the Wallace-Miller Co. appeared before Mayor Hardy on a charge of infraction of the Sunday by-law. He admitted selling goods, and was dismissed with a warning. A. Leamy, city solicitor, appeared for the prosecution.

St. Jude's Mission, Church of England.

On Sunday next. Dec. 31st, a Sunday School service will be started at 2:30 p. m., in Mr. Foreman's hall. Usual services on Sunday next.. Holy communion, 8 a m.; matins, 11:30; evensong, 7:30.

WILL RUN A MAXIM

Gatling Gun Howard Goes to South Africa.

Colonel Steel Will Command the Sectingent.—Canada's Offer of a Postal Corps Accepted.

Ottawa, Ont. Dec. 28—Minister of Militia has accepted the offer of Capt. Howard, of Gatling gun fame, to accompany second contingent to South Africa. He will have charge of a Maxim gun equipped on a light carriage, which will allow of its being galloped into and out of action, with the mounted rifles.

Montreal. Que., Dec. 28,—James H. Herbert, teller defunct Ville Marie Bank, who has been missing since bank closed doors, and who detectives have been looking for since then, was captured at St. Cunegonde, a suburb of the city, this morning. Herbert, it appears, had been living in an empty house in the northern part of the city for some time, until noticed by the police.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 28—Wm. McNally, has declined the honor as candidate for mayor for the citizens. Mr. W. E. Doran, the well known architect, has been chosen by the Irish to contest the seat with Mayor Prefontaine.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 28.—Imperial authorities have cabled acceptance of Canada's offer of a postal corps of five for service in South Africa.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 28—It is understood here that Col. Steel will command the western squadron to accompany second contingent.

Carpenter's Union Ball.

A ball was given by the Carpenter's Union in Miller's hall yesterday evening, which was in every way a success. Between sixty and seventy couples were present, and all had a genuine good time. Music of first-class order was furnished by the string band, while a supper, consisting of all the dainties of the season, was served to the guests at the Pacific cafe. The ball was opened at 8:30 p. m. and closed at 2:30 a. m. The president of the Union, Mr. Comstock, took a prominent part in the proceedings.

Baptist Church Concert.

The opening concert in connection with the Baptist church was held Friday evening of this week, and was very successful, both in respect to attendance and excellence of the performance. Those who took part were from Grand Forks exclusively, and the programme included selections by J. B. Henderson, Fred Whitaker, Rev. Ralph Trotter, and Mesdames Whitaker, Wright and Monroe.

J. R. Reavis, of the Grand Forks Miner, arrived in town on Tuesday with Sir Charles Tupper's party, and returned to Grand Forks on Wednesday. A. W. Ross from Columbia also accompanied the party.

Sprott & MacPpherson are the only jewelers in town who mark their goods in plain figures.

Grand Forks and Columbia.

The C. P. R. has had some difficulty in carrying out its agreement with Grand Forks in respect to the opening up of Winnipeg avenue, from the C. P. R. station, owing to the attitude of Columbia in refusing a right of way. However, President Shaughnessy has brought pressure to bear on the Columbia council, and the matter has been arranged satisfactorily.

Electric Light Plant.

Duncan McIntosh of the Greenwood Electric Co., has received word that the boilers and wire for the new plant have been received at West Robson, and will be hurried through. Work on the foundations for the boiler and engfne house will be begun at once. The poles have been nearly all erected, and electric light is now fairly within sight.

BONUS BYLAW PASSED.

Ratepayers voted $3600 to B. C. Copper Co. Smelter.

Voting on the bonus by-law took place on Thursday, granting a bonus of $3600 to the B. C. Copper Co. Smelter. Thirty-five ratepayers were present, and the vote was practically unanimous, resulting in a ballot of 34 votes cast in favor of the bylaw, and 1 against it.

LOCAL JOTTINGS.

Christmas was spent quietly in Greenwood. In fact an air of quietude has pervaded the district for several weeks. On account of the completion of the railway, a large number of the people took advantage of the improved facilities for travelling and went out to Rossland, Nelson, the Coast, Eastern Canada and elsewhere to spend their holidays; and comparatively few were coming in. Altogether, however, the season was spent very enjoyably. Had there been better sleighing and more cheering war news, the social atmosphere would have been brighter. For the reasons stated the Christmas trade was not, perhaps, as brisk as the dealers anticipated.

The road to White's camp has been completed and the men have been paid off. There is now communication direct from Greenwood to Central camp for sleighs. In the spring it will be necessary to expend several hundred dollars more to put the road in first class shape. The total cost is about $4000, $1500 of which is contributed by the citizens and the remainder by the Government.

The Grand Forks Miner says: "W. A. Harkin, erstwhile correspondent of the Rossland Miner and a number of outside papers, has shaken the dust of Grand Forks from his feet and returned to the more civilized regions of the effete east. He leaves a large circle of friends who hope to see him return in the near future."

Miss Agnes Deans Cameron, principal of South Park school, Victoria, B. C., has been appointed associate editor for British Columbia of the educational Journal of Western Canada, Brandon.

W. T. Smith has returned from Montreal. He is wearing an additional smile on his face, caused through the sale of the Republic mine in the camp that is known by his name.

The only place in town to get the correct C. P. R. time is Sprott & MacPherson's.

A ROUSING MEETING

Sir Charlks Tupper Addresses Largest Gathering

Ever Held in Greenwood—Address of Welcome—Speeches by Chas. Wilson, Q. C., and Sir Hibbert Tupper.

On Christmas afternoon at two o'clock Sir Charles Tupper and party, consisting of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and Lady Tupper, Charles Wilson, Q. C., aud Mrs. Wilson, Vancouver, arrived in Columbia. After luncheon at Escalet's hotel an informal reception was held. About five o'clock the party drove to Grand Forks and were put up at the Yale hotel where at 6:30 a large number sat down to a banquet in honor of Sir Charles and visitors. The affair was entirely non-political, under the auspices of the Grand Forks Board of Trade. R. W. Armstrong was chairman and addresses was delivered by Sir Charles Tupper, baronet, etc., Sir Hibbert Tupper, Charles Wilson, Q. C., A. W. Ross and others—a very pleasant affair.

On Tuesday after a drive to the smelter site and other points of interest the party left for Greenwood, arriving here at 4:30 p. m. They were met by members of the Executive Committee and driven to the Armstrong hotel where they were entertained to dinner as announced by posters and in the press. Miller's hall had been secured for the occasion and at 8 p. m. o'clock was filled to the doors, a large number being unable to even secure standing room, A number of ladies including Lady Tupper and Mrs. Wilson were present. Proceedings opened at 8:15. The chairman in a few brief remarks introduced Charles Wilson to the audience.

Mr. Wilson who, as announced elsewhere, is the proposed leader of the Liberal-Conservative party of British Columbia, spoke briefly and made a very favorable impression. He referred to his pioneer and political experiences in the Province, and stated that if entrusted with the duty of leadership he would endeavor to discharge the same with a due sense of the responsibility attached, and to the best of his ability. He defined his position in regard to the avowed principles of Liberal-Conservatism, and dwelt on the advantages of government according to straight party lines, such as was proposed. He advocated a redistribution bill, which would give Boundary separate representation, and also the extension of the Columbia & Western by a direct line to the Coast, which would be of great mutual benefit to Boundary and the Coast cities. Pleasure was expressed at the evidences of progress was seen everywhere and surprise at the advancement in every respect. Mr. Wilson was heartily cheered upon taking his seat.

The chairman, Mr. Gosnell, introduced the distinguished speaker of the evening, reading the following address of welcome on behalf of the Liberal-Conservative Association.

To the Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Baronet, G. C. M. G. etc., etc:—"Permit me, Sir Charles, on behalf of the citizens of Greenwood and the surrounding mining camps represented here to extend to vou a warm western welcome, and to express the peculiar gratification which your visit affords them. As citizens, apart from political considerations, we especially welcome you, as a representative and distinguished son of Canada. While as a young and hitherto practically inaccessible community we are greatly honored by your presence, we nevertheless feel that there will be in some measure a reciprocity of benefit, inasmuch as you will return from here with a personal and more intimate knowledge of a district that in a few years will be a potential factor in the industrial wealth and importance of the Dominion.

"Permit me also. on behalf of the executive committee and the Liberal-Conservatives of the Boundary Creek district to assure you of the pleasure they experience in having with them the leader of the Liberal-Conservative party, the lifelong ally of, and the legitimate successor to, Sir John A. Macdonald, whose name has been indelibly associated with their political traditions and the history of their country. We recognize that in half a century of statesmanship your services in promoting every great national movement have been greater in effect possibly than those of any other man in that long period during which Canada has risen from comparative insignificence to relative greatness. From the time you fought with characteristic vigor and conspicuous success the Provincial battles of reform in your native Province, up to the present, there has been no flagging in the zeal and energy of your efforts on behalf of Canadian interests and Canadian development. As one of the fathers of, and strongest factors in bringing about confederation; as one of the chief promotors of the Canadian Pacific Railway and moulders of our trade policy; as Canada's High Commission in Great Britian; as Premier of Canada; and as always persistant advocate of those great projects for commercial expansion and imperial unity, you have exercised an influence on the destinies of the Dominion which cannot be estimated by the present generation. The subject of bitter animadversion on the part of political opponents, you have nevertheless lived to command their respect and admiration, and today you stand in the proud position of the trusted leader of a great and united party to whom the auguries of recent political events are not uncertain premonitions in the immediate future.

"In this new community where mining interest are paramount, the population is more or less cosmopolitan, and along with native born Canadians of every province, who are proud of your pre-eminence and achievements, there are here tonight many sons of the British Isles, and citizens of the great Republic to the south—in race, religion, language, and aspirations, "brothers all of us." You will therefore not address the ordinary political audience tonight. Political lines have been somewhat loosely drawn heretofore. Interest has been mainly concentrated on the development of the great mineral wealth surrounding us, the evidence of which you have on every hand; in remarkable growth and progress; in a railway constructed at a cost of $5,000,000; in telegraph and telephone lines; in the creation of smelters—all in anticipation of ore output—an illustration of a remarkable faith in the country such as you and your colleagues manifested in undertaking to construct a transcontinental railway at a time when the greater half of the Dominion was yet a wilderness.

"It is with peculiar pleasure therefore, Sir Charles, that we as citizens and political adherents, welcome you to the Boundary to witness what is practically the consummation of the policy of railway development inaugurated by Sir John A. Macdonald and yourself—the fruit of your labors as statesmen in the past. The remaining link of the shortest line from ocean to ocean lies between Greenwood and the coast, through a country possibly equally as rich in mineral resource as is the Boundary in the centre of which you now stand. We trust that your powerful advocacy in Parliament will be on our side in endeavoring to secure the construction of that last link, affording as it will to the people of the Boundary and those of the of the coast a mutual advantage in respect to the trade of British Columbia.

In the determination of your son Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, in whom we recognize many of your own mental and physical characteristirs, to set le in and ally his fortunes with us as a citizen of British Columbia, your interest in our Province, which was ever manifest, has undoubtedly been greatly increased, and to him, and to Charles Wilson, Q. C., your confreres on this occasion, we also extend a cordial welcome. An old, respected, and influential resident of the Province, Mr. Wilson has contributed as a pioneer and public man to its success, and assisted in establishing its prestige. We look to see him occupy that prominent position in the affairs of state in this Province, for which his long experience and intimate knowledge of British Columbia, his recognized abilities, and personal honesty and integrity so eminently qualify him. Needless to say that to Lady Tupper and Mrs. Wilson the doors of our hearts are wide open, and we would be lacking in the proverbial gallantry of mining towns if we did not suitably recognize their welcome presence. We trust that you will carry away kindly impressions of this city and district, and come again as soon as circumstances will permit. As Liberal-Conservatives, Sir Charles, we wish your mission success, and while, perhaps, not so pronounced in our political proclivities as older communities, in no part of Canada will your followers more sincerely rejoice, than in the Boundary, to see you returned to power at Ottawa, and strongly entrenched once more in the hearts of your countrymen."

Sir Charles in rising to reply was greeted with applause. He spoke for over two hours, commanding the closest attention of the audience. There were only one or two good-natured interruptions, which he turned to most excellent advantage. In fact Sir Challes Tupper afterwards complimented Greenwood for turning out such a gathering which was unusually attentive, intelligent and thoughtful. It would be entirely impractical in the limits of our space to give even in a condensed form the substance of a speech which practi-

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

The Visit of the Old War Horse to Greenwood.

A Brief Recapitulation of his Political Career—Address Presented by the Liberal Conservative Assooiation.

The visit of Sir Charles Tupper naturally excites a good deal of interest in the old statesman, who now in his 79th year is traveling from end to end of the Dominion speaking daily and still preserving a vigor that is almost yeuthful. After conducting a vigorous and successful campaign in Manitoba, he had spoken in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, Kamloops, Revelstoke, Grand Forks and Greenwood and in go-out will address meetings in Rossland, Nelson, Cranbrook, Fernie and the Northwest. Such achievements are remarkable.

In the mention that follows there are outlined the leading incidents in Sir Charles career, which is extracted from the sketch contained in Morgan's biography, of Canadian "Man of the Time."

Tupper, Hon. Sir Charles, Bt., G. C. M. G., C. B., D. C. L., L L. D., M. D., P. C., Cape Breton. Son of the late Rev. Charles Tupper, D. D., of Aylesford, N. S., and his wife, Miriam Lockhart Law, of Parrsboro', N. S. Born at Amherst, N. S., July 2, 1821. Educated at Horton Academy and Acadia College, M. A., D. C. L., Studied at Edinburgh University, M. D. 1842. Returning to Nova Scotia, practised his profession as a physician. Elected to the N. S. Assembly, 1855. Provincial Secretary in the Johnstone Administration, 1856. Went to England on a mission connected with the I. C. R., 1858. Premier of N. S. 1864. Took a leading part in the Confederation movement, attending the conferences at Charlottetown and Quebec, and afterwards going to England and participating in the final settlement of the terms of Confederation. Created C. B. 1867. Elected to House of Commons at general election, 1867, for Cumberland, N. S., which he continued to represent until 1884. Sworn of the Privy Council, Juue, 1870, becoming President of the Council, and has since held the portfolios of Customs, Inland Revenues, Railways and Canals, Public Works, Finance and Secretary of State. Resigned with the Macdonald administration in 1873, and on the return of Sir John Macdonald to power, became Minister of Public Works, Oct. 17, 1878. Created K.C.M.G., May 24, 1879; G.C.M.G., February, 1886; and created Baronet of the United Kingdom, Sept., 1888. He was the first Minister of Railways and Canals, May 20, 1879, to May 23, 1884, and as such was closely identified with the construction of the C.P.R. Appointed High Commissioner for Canada at London Eng., 1884. Minister of Finance for Canada, Jan. 27, 1887. Resigned May 29, 1888, when he returned to London as High Commissioner. Was one of H. M.'s Plenipotentiaries to the Fisheries Conference at Washington, 1887-1888, and a treaty was signed for the settlement of disputes connected with the Atlantic fisheries, but it was not approved by the United States Senate, though unanimously approved by the Canadian Parliament. Came to Canada in February, 1891, and took active part in the general election, and again returned to London. As one of H. M.'s Plenipotentiaries assisted in negotiating treaty with France on behalf of Canada, 1893. Was a successful candidate in Cumberland, N. S., at general election of 1887; unseated and re-elected. Resigned from House of Commons in summer of 1888. Came to Canada in connection with the object of a fast Atlantic steamship service in the fall of 1895. Entered Bowell administration as Secretary of State, Jan., 1896. Mr., now Senator, McKeen resigned his seat in the Commons for Cape Breton, and Sir Charles Tupper was elected in his place, and became leader in the House of Commons. Moved second reading of Remedial Bill, Manitoba, March 3, 1896, which failed to carry. On resignation of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, April 27, 1896, was called on to form new ministry, which he did May 1, 1896, and appealed to the country. As a result of the election resigned office July 8, 1896. He is chairman of or director of several financial corporations and development companies. Elected leader of Opposition, House of Common, Canada, August 1896, which position he still holds. Married Oct. 8, 1846, Francis Amelia, daughter of Silas Robert Morse, Amherst, N. S. Celebrated golden wedding at Ottawa, Oct. 8, 1896.

A NEW CENTURY.

Without enquiring into the merits of the dispute as to whether 1900 is the beginning or the end of the new century, we have practically closed the memorable Nineteenth, and the next issue of THE MINER will be launched in a new era. Whether the next one hundred years will be as remarkable in progress as the last no one knows. Investigation is going on with unceasing and increasing activity, and into what unknown realms of science it will lead the world no one can even faintly discern. It has been said with a great deal of force that the sum of all the progress and invention of the nineteenth century exceeds all that preceded it for 2000 years. What a world this will be if the present pace is kept up for another one hundred years! One year is very much like another, and mile posts are necessary to remind us of the lapse of time and measure and compare. After the close of a century it is with a feeling of solemnity that we hear the last knell of departed years tolled. It is to be regretted that 1900 opens under the shadow of war with the prestige of Empire at stake. As, however, events move more rapidly than they did a century ago, we may anticipate a speedy outburst of the sun of peace. Locally, Boundary and Greenwood have had but little to do with the past. Our interest is wholly in 1900, and if we may judge by the developments of three years the coming century is big with opportunities for this district.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Apart from political considerations the visit of Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the Liberal-Conservative party in Canada, is of more than ordinary importance to the Boundary country. He is a man of wide experience in affairs, an enthusiastic admirer of the west, and when he takes an interest in a particular district as he has done in Boundary, his advocacy of its resources is sure to be actuated by that zeal and energy which is characteristic of the man. Sir Charles never does anything by halves, nor damns with faint praise. It must be regarded as a distinct compliment to this district that a man of his age and eminence should pay a visit at this time of year. When we consider that since the first week of September he has been travelling throughout Canada speaking daily, and sometimes twice, and still appears fresh and vigorous, no one can withhold admiration for the man. In addition to that he has occupied the highest positions his country can offer, both in the Provincial and Dominion arenas, he has been associated with all the great national enterprises as a promoter, and by the force of character and great determination, which is stamped on his face, has successfully carried them through. He is one of the men in whose lexicon there is no such word as fail—one of the strong, resourceful men who make history.

REDISTRIBUTION.

The press of the interior has taken up the question of redistribution somewhat vigorously, and the opinion is freely expressed that the government is bound by its promises and that the necessity exists for the passing of a new redistribution bill which will correct the anomaly of the Boundary country being tacked on to the Rossland Riding. That is the one subject of a political nature which is most important to this district. It is the duty of the government and of parliament to take this matter into serious consideration as soon as the House meets and agree, if possible, on a measure which will give us justice. It should be understood that the Boundary district demands it, and that no party need expect the support of the people generally who deny it.

CHARLES WILSON, Q. C.,

Mr. Wilson, the proposed leader of the Liberal-Conservative party in the Province, was introduced to a Greenwood audience on Tuesday night, and while his opportunity for speaking was limited, he made a lucid, forceful address, and left a favorable impression on the audience. Mr. Wilson, except to old-timers, was practically unknown to many in this district, although well known in the older parts of the Interior and on the Coast, where he resides. He is an old parliamentarian, a barrister of high standing, and a man who is esteemed highly on account of his integrity and personal qualities. If he be chosen as leader, which seems to be probable, he is a man who can be trusted, and will be respected. He is also a man of ability as a speaker and thinker, and his selection as leader has been supported by his political friends on account of his many qualifications for the position.

The Mother Lode is Sending Ore to Trail

The Spur Line Tracked to Within Three-Fourths of a Mile of the Mine.

There are about 50 men at work on the B. C. Copper Co. smelter here and everything is proceeding steadily and satisfactarily. The boiler and engine 45x100 feet is being erected, and the excavation for the flue up the hill side to the base of the stack is in progress. The site for the dam on Copper Creek has been surveyed and it is expected that work will be commenced on ft in about two weeks. The C. P. R. contractors are grading on two lines into the smelter from the Mother Lode track.

In this connection, there is a most important item of news to announce. The Mother Lode will ship one hundred tons of ore this week to the Trail smelter. The spur line is tracked to within three quarters of a mile to the mine and cars have been taken up to that point to receive the ore, which will be hauled down in waggons. Two cars will be shipped this week This is the first shipment from the Deadwood camp over the new spur, and with the exception of several carloads, practically the first from the district.

How is it with you, friend? Have you tried Sprott & MacPherson, the watchmakers? If not, why not?

A SEWERAGE SYSTEM

Report by the City Engineer on the Subject.

Septic Tank Ssstem Recommended by the City Engineer of Vancouver—His Letter in Full.

There were present at the council on Tuesday afternoon, Mayor Hardy, Ald. Wood, Galloway, Cameron and Sutherland.

A. G. McKenny wrote re the bell ordered for the fire department. J. D. Myers-Gray wrote inviting the members of the council to a seat on the platform at Sir Charles Tupper's meeting; C. F. Alston, city engineer, wrote re septic tank system of sewerage, enclosing a letter from the city engineer of Vancouver, as follows:

CITY ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
Vancouver B. C., 7th Dec., 1899.

CHAS. F. ALSTON, ESQ., C. E.,
City Engineer,
Greenwood, B. C.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your's of the 1st I would say that the Septic Tank System has not yet been installed here, but we have the plans prepared and expect to commence construction shortly.

We have gone into the question of sewage disposal pretty thoroughly, and from my own experience of municipal work over thirty years, I am satisfied that the Septic Tank in some form is the simplest and cheapest way to treat the sewage. In our case we intend to discharge the effluent direct into salt water without the use of filters, which in your case would most likely be necessary.

I will send you in a day or two blue prints of the plans for the tanks here. I might say that there are several places in the U. S. where septic tanks, practically on the same principle, are in use, one of which, at Champlain, Illinois, the seat of the Illinois State University, was visited by Mayor Garden of this city and myself in May last, and was found to be doing very satisfactory work.

The septic tank is a tank, or receptacle, through which the sewage passes very slowly, and from which light and air are excluded. The sewage enters and escapes below the surface about one and a half feet, leaving the surface undisturbed. On this surface a scum to the depth of from three to eight or nine inches forms, and in this scum the bacteria perform the work of purification. The practical effect of the work of the bacteria is to break up and hasten the decay of all the putrescible matter in the sewage—the result being the liquefaction of the most of it, and deposit of a slight quantity of ash in the bottom of the tank.

The effluent from the tank is fairly clear, and has scarcely any odor, in fact, is not offensive, but for discharge into a fresh water stream should be filtered; and after passing through the tank it is in the best possible shape for filtering.

In the English system they have a patented arrangement of automatic valves, etc., so that the filters are used in rotation, without the necessity of any personal attendance.

I shall be glad to give you any information in my possession at any time about the system as we proceed with it; but I think you may safely make calculations on using it as soon as you are in a position to do so.

For information on municipal matters, I have never been in the habit of making any charges, unless, of course, where it involves some extra personal labor, which the present does not do.

As to the expense it will be necessary to know the probable population to provide for, in order to estimate the cost of the tanks and filters; but if you will give me an idea, I have the prices the city received from the Septic Tank Syndicate for different portionc of the city—from 1500 to 5000 people—that would give you the required information.

Yours sincerely,
THOS. H. TRACY, City Engineer.

The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of cost of a pipe line for sewerage sufficient for a population of 10,000; also cost for a septic tank system for 5,000.

The Mayor appointed Ald. Sutherland and Galloway a committee to interview the Greenwood Electric Co. re fire alarms, and to inform the clerk of the arrangements made. The finance committee reported a number of accounts, and recommended their payment. The election by-law was read a third time.

E. Wickwire was appointed to audit the books. The solicitor was instructed to bring the matter of using streets for the smelter spur before the C. P. R. Co., and to take action at once. Council then adjourned until Tnesday night next week.

Boys, come in and let us show you our heavy winter underwear, at clearing sale prices, Geo. F. Williams.

INTERIOR TOPICS.

Rev. Henry Steele, of St. Luke's church, Tacoma, has been appointed to the charge of Trinity Church of England Mission, Grand Forks, and will take charge on January 7th. Rev. Mr. Steele is a nephew of Major Steele, of the N. W. M. P., Macleod.

Vernon lost a popular and useful citizen in the person of Mc. Davidson, who has left for Grand Forks, where he will occupy a position in W. R. Megaw's store, similar to that held by him there for several years.

A well attended special meeting of the Okanagan Board of Trade, Vernon, was held last week to consider the question of making an attempt to secure the outfitting trade of the new mining section at the head of the Kettle river, by means of urging the government to complete the wagon road from Monashee to that point. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Shatford, Billings, Hankey, Megaw, McKelvie and the president was appointed to memorialize the government in connection with the matter.

L. Norris, Government Agent, is looking over the district around Monashee and the head of Kettle river, with a view of reporting upon the Road problem in that section.

Do not forget that Geo. F. Williams is running a sweeping sale of white and grey blankets, and comforters.

Killed in the Snowshoe.

At 1:245 Saturday a missed shot went off in the Snowshoe mine, Phœnix, that killed John Nelson outright and seriously injured Stanley McLeod.

It appears, the Pioneer says, that the men went on shift at 12:30, having previously been warned of two missed holes. They had been working but fifteen minutes with the machine in the east drift of the 70-foot cross-cut of the 200-foot level, when the shot was heard. When the men were reached by the rescuers, Nelson was dead and McLeod severely injured. Constable Darraugh at once went to the mine to look after the remains and effects of the deceased, and notified Dr. Jakes, coroner, at Greenwood.

Both were comparatively young men and unmarried. Nelson was previously employed at the Golden Crown. No blame can be attached to the management, as the men were warned. General Manager McMillan of the Snowshoe is now in the old country, and Foreman Trevera left Saturday to spend Christmas in Rossland.

Williams' is selling ladies' capes, coats, and tailor-made costumes at greatly reduced prices, to clear.

There is an increase of 30 per cent. in ihe number of certificates of work issued. About 100 claims have been Crown granted. This is an excellent showing. The revenue of the office will show an increase of about $3000 over the $9500 collected during 1898 for mining fee receipts alone.

Prince Lobengula, the Kaffir chief, who shocked London society a few month ago, by eloping with Miss Kate Jewell, a well-bred society girl, was recently arrested for brutally beating herj and biting her viciously in the throat.

Judge—"Have you anything to say before court passes sentence?" Prisoner.—"Well. all I've got to say is, that I hope you'll consider the extreme youth of my lawyer, and let me off easy."

Pittsburg enjoys the distinction of having the only woman in the country, or even in the world, who is at the head of a large steel and iron works business. The woman who holds this unique position in industrial circles is Miss Y. M. Baumgarten, who is at the head of the Pittsburg office of Josep Joseph & Bros., of Cincinnati, dealers in rails, scrap iron, and railway supplies, says the Cincinnati Inquirer. She is in sole charge of all the business there, which, by the way, is the largest done at any of branches of the company, and amounts to over a million dollars a year. She buys and sells, inspects, superintends the shipping, and, in fact, does everything that a man would have to do under the circumstances.

Advices from Yokohoma state that the future Empress of Japan has been chosen and her engagement to the crown prince announced. She will have a dower of a million and a quarter yen from her own family and the emperor, the latter contributing the larger part of the sum. By this marriage the crown prince will become related to the highest Buddhist priest in the empire. In view of the strong Buddhistic movement to secure state recognition, the fact is commented upon as of great interest.

An American lady, who was in the Highlands shooting with her husband, attended the local kirk one Sunday morning, but left it with scandalous precipitation. For an hour the good minister bad been raging at his benighted congregation, and wound up: "And pairhaps" (with pious cunning) "ye'll be thinkin', ye wairthless waistrels, that ye can daddle intae Paradise by clootchin' tae my coat-tails! Dinna be deceivit, for mark weel" (a pause of stern and holy joy), when the trump of Gabriel sounds, I'll sneck them aff!"

Dean Hole, of Rochester England, tells of a very innocent and gentle curate who went to a Yorkshire parish where the parishioners bred horses and sometimes raced them. He was asked to invite the prayers of the congregation for Lucy Grey. He did so. They prayed three Sundays for Lucy Grey. On the fourth the clerk told the curate he need not do it any more. "Why," said the curate, "is she dead?" "No," said the clerk, "she's won the steeplechase." The curate became quite a power in the parish."

The Rev. Frank Gunsaulus, the popular Chicago preacher, when a poor circuit rider, at one time found himself in possesion of a sorry looking steed, but it answered the purpose, and it was cheap. After he had bought it, he rode it home. His father was in the barn-yard when he came in, and he looked critically at the animal. "Where did ye git that hoss, Frank?" he asked. "I bought him cheap, father," said the young preacher. "He's a sorry lookin' critter I must say," said the father. "Well, father," said Frank, "you remember that our Saviour rode into Jerusalem on a worse-looking animal than this." And the old man looked at the horse again and said, "Durned if I don't think it's the same one!"

One night Beau Brummell and Alderman Combe, a rich brewer, were playing hazzard. Combe was then lord mayor of London. "Combe, mash-tub," said Beau, who was the caster, "what do you set?" "Twenty-five guineas," answered the alderman. "Well, then," returned Beau, "have at the mare's pony," twenty-five guineas, He continued to throw until he drove home the brewer's twelve ponies, running; and then, getting up and making him a low bow, while pocketing the cash, he said: "Thank you, alderman; for the future I shall never drink any porter but yours." "I wish, sir," said the brewer, "that every other blackguard in London would tell me the same."

In a chapter of reminiscence of Von Bunsen and his friends in the October Century John Bigelow tells this anecdote of Humboldt: "One day he was dining with Mendelsshon, the banker, and, an unusual thing for him, was very silent. His host, observing it, remarked to Humbold that he must be ill. 'No,' said Humboldt, 'but I am in great trouble.' Only ten minutes before leaving my apartment to come here, I received from a landlord a note informing me that he had sold the house in which I reside, and that I must move. The very thought drives me to despair. I really cannot bear to move again.' Mendelssohn gradually led Humboldt into conversation, during which he found time to write a note and receive a reply to it. He then took Humboldt aside and said: 'By this note I learn that I am now the owner of the house in which you reside. The condition, however, upon which I have become its possessor is that you continne to occupy your apartment in it as long as you live.' " cally reviewed the political history of Canada since and before Confederation, showing how the two parties as at present constituted were evolved, and the distinguishing characteristics of each—in relation to Confederation, the national policy, the construction of the C. P. R., the public debt, railway subsidies, and the other great subjects of political importance. In everything the Liberals had been obstructionists, not he believed intentionally, but from a mistaken view of what was a proper and masterful policy to pursue. The Conservatives had inaugurated and carried through to success every great enterprise in Canada, and he challenged any man to show a single great measure that had been placed on the statute books by the Liberals. On the other hand, since coming into power the Liberal party had distinctly and absolutely violated every promise that they had made to the electorate in eighteen years of opposition. He challenged any man in the audience to instance a single promise they had kept. The same challenge he had repeated in the House, and on the platform wherever he went without response. They had adopted the National policy in defiance of Free Trade principles, they had increased the public debt fourteen millions since 1896, they had gone back on their platform in regard to railway subsidies, had been guilty of the basest corruption in election matters, and in fact, in power they were the perfect antithesis of all they professed while in opposition. The one thing which they deserved credit, for which he was thankful, was that they had stolen the policy of the Liberal-Conservatives. Sir Charles made a strong statement in regard to the Yukon, and then pointing to the recent victory of Hugh John Macdonald, in Manitoba, said the reaction had set in—Sifton had met his Nemesis. A following of six for the Opposition had been changed into a majority of six, and the news from Prince Edward Island and Ontario all went to show that the other provinces were falling into line, and defeat for the Government at next election was certain and sure. Sir Charles grew more eloquent as he reached the conclusion, and with every sentence the vigor and energy of youth seemed to be coming back to him. Sir Charles was particularly impressive in referring to the building the C. P. R., which had opened up the interior of British Columbia, and made available the treasures of Kootenay and Boundary. a result due to the wisdom and statesmanship of the Liberal-Conservative party. He advocated strongly the pushing on of the Columbia & Western to the Coast and placing Greenwood on the main line of the C. P. R. Sir Charles expressed himself in strongest terms regarding the surprising development and great possibilities of this district, which to him were revelations.

Upon taking his seat there were calls for Sir Hibbert Tupper, who in response, made a brief but vigorous address. There were votes of thanks, and cheers for Sir Charles Tupper, the Queen, and the Canadia boys in the Transvaal, and the meeting closed. The party left on Wednesday at noon for Rossland greatly pleased with their reception, and the city and district generally.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Chris Peterson Dies of Injuries Received at Boomerang Creek.

Last Friday Dr. Jakes was summoned to Boomerang creek, a tributuary of the West Fork, whence information came that Chas. Peterson had been seriously injured by a fall of rock in the workings on the Iconoclast mineral claim, owned by himself and others. As a fatal result was feared by those supplying the information Chief Provinsial Constable McMynn accompanied the doctor in case it should be found necessary to make enquiries. Upon arrival at the claim late at night after a rough journey through the snow it was ascertained that death followed almost instantly after the unfortunate man's partner, P. W. Lover, left to get surgical assistance. Dr. Jakes found that the skull of deceased was badly fractured. In his official capacity as coroner the doctor decided tnat death was the result of an accident, so that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was removed to Greenwood where interment took place with Masonic honors on Sunday.

Deceased was well known in the district, he having worked at the D. A., Skylark, Mother Lode, and other properties, and for some time had a pretty cottage home in Greenwood. He came from Choteau, Montana. A particularly sad feature in connection with his death was that his widow was left quite alone with the dead body of her late husband for six long hours during Mr. Lover's absence to seek aid. Then all Friday she and Lover kept their sad vigil until the doctor arrived.

The Mother Lode.

Good progress is being made with the upraise from the 200-foot level of the new workings of the Mother Lode mine, in Deadwood camp, to connect with the winze from the old workings above. The upraise is all in ore of good value. When it is completed there will be about 260 feet vertical of stoping ground opened up between the new 200-foot level and the old cross-cut tunnel. As the ore outcrops some 286 feet above the old tunnel there should be more than 500 feet of backs to yield ore. This does not by any means include all the ore available, for the main shaft is in ore all the way down to its depth of 120 feet below the drift at the 200-foot level.

The rails are already laid on the branch railway line to within a mile of the mine. As soon after the track layers reach the mine as the railway company will accept ore for shipment, about 100 tons of Mother Lode ore will be shipped to a smelter, probably at Trail, for a bulk test. A good margin of profit will, it is anticipated, be shown by this test, the systematic plan of assaying followed in connection with this mine giving a good idea of the average value of the ore mined.

Paul Johnson, manager of the British Columbia Copper Co.'s smelting department, is now in New York conferring with the directors of the company regarding purchase of plant for the Mothe Lode smelter, which will, it is expected, be got in readiness by next summer to treat ore from this mine.
