MOTHER LODE MINE

A History of the Property by Mr. E. Jacobs.

DEVELOPMENT WORK DONE

Shaft Will Be Sunk to the 500-Foot Level—Ore Being Shipped to the Smelter.

The Mother Lode mine, near Greenwood, has just entered ugon a new and very important stage. After four years of systematic and practically continuous development work ore stopes are now being opened for the first time in the history of the mine. The claim was located on May 28, 1891, but no work other than the assessments necessary to maintain a title to it was done on it until 1896, in which year was bonded by Col. John Weir, representing himself and other New York capitalists. In September of that year Mr. Frederic Keffer, M. E., assumed charge of the property, and from then till now the work of opening it up has made steady progress. During the intervening time there have been done underground in development about 5,000 feet of work, this including the main shaft, sunk to a depth of 325 feet, and some 500 feet more of sinking and raising. Of the remaining work more than 3,000 feet of drifting and crosscutting have been done at the 200-foot level, and nearly 1,000 feet at the 300-level. On the 200-level one big ore shoot about 400 feet in length and from 80 to 100 feet in width has been proved by drifts and crosscuts, and other but smaller ore bodies have been met with on the same level. A raise from the 200 to some old workings that are at a higher level than the collar of the main shaft shows that there is ore for at least 262 feet, vertical distance, above the 200 level, whilst another raise, from the 300 to the 200, gives an additional 100 feet of ore proved. How deep ore will be found to occur cannot now be even guessed at with any reliable indication as a guide. All that can at present be determined is that the ore goes down strongly under foot from the 300-level. The shaft will be deepened to the 500-level early next year, but until more hoisting power shall be available sinking must be deferred It is all the hoist now in use can do, running at its full capacity, to keep the workings at the 200 and 300-levels clear.

It was only quite lately that the mine commenced sending ore down to the company's smelter at Greenwood. Months ago two shipments, each of four cars, were made to outside smelters, but these were only for test purposes. Shipments now being made are preparatory to the company's smelter being started, and are but the beginning of the increasing output it is intended the mine shall maintain until the full treatment capacity of the smelter shall have been reached. About 1,000 tons have now been sent to the smelter, which is designed to treat, with only a single furnace yet provided, about 300 tons per diem. After the installation of the additional machinery already purchased for the mine there should be no difficulty in keeping up a daily output of 300 tons of ore that wiil yield a good profit above cost of mining, freight and treatment. It may here be mentioned that in the face of the north drift, now in more then 250 feet from the shaft, and in one of the stopes, also on the 300-level, is being met with the best grade of ore yet obtained in quantity in the mine

In respect of equipment the mine compares favorably with any other in the district. The plant put in two years ago included two 60-horse power horizontal return tubular boilers, 18x24 Ingersoll-Sergeant straight line air compressor, air receiver, $7\frac{1}{4}$x10 hoisting engine, machine drills, pumps, electric light plant. etc. Additions have been made from time to time, as required, but it was not until early in the current year that the management finally determined what increase they would make in the plant to meet the new conditions that necessarily attend production on a comparatively large scale and to make provision for development to a greater depth.

THE MACHINERY.

The compressor plant arrived in Greenwood yesterday and was taken up to the mine today.

In March last a contract was entered into with the James Cooper Manufacturing Company, Ltd., of Montreal, Que., for the supply of the following new plant: A cross compound Corliss condensing Ingersoll-Sergeant air compressor with two 66x16 100-horse power for 125 lbs. working pressure, a 4 foot 6x12-foot air receiver, ten E-24 drills, two iron safety platform cages. The large boilers have been received and installed and the foundations have been prepared for the compressor which, though long overdue, only arrived from the east on the first inst. On June 27 laast a contract was entered into with the Jenckes Machine Company, of Sherbrooke, Que., for the manufacture of a direct connected first motion hoist, with Corliss valve, cylinders 20x42, and two drums each six feet in diameter, and two 80-horse power horizontal return tubular boilers. These boilers have also reached the mine and are being placed in position, but the hoist has not yet left the manufactory, although advices were received this week to the effect that it is to be put on the cars in a week or so. The foregoing will serve to show that the mine will soon be furnished with power equal to all ordinary requirements for some time to come, so with plenty of ore and ample facilities for handling it there does not appear to be anything in the way of the Mother Lode mine soon developing into a profitable enterprise.

THE PHOENIX ALDERMEN

The Election Yesterday—The Baby City Elects Practical Business Men to Spend Its Cash.

Yesterday the first election for the City of Phoenix was held. The number of registered voters in the baby city of the province was 162, and a vote of 147 was polled. D. McInnes, of Vaughan & McInnes, headed the poll with 118 votes. Mr. McInnes is one of the best known men in the district. This is a case in which the ratepayers are to be congratulated, not the man elected. James Punch cemes next with 110 votes. Mr. Punch was formerly a member of the provincial legislature. He is a practical man, who is above a questionable action. J. A. Morrin, of Morrin & Thompson, general merchants, is third on the list with 108 votes. Mr. Morrin has been a resident of Phoenix for about a year. James Marshall is fourth on the list with 104 votes. Mr. Marshall was one of the first settlers in Greenwood camp and is interested in a number of mining properties there. He has been prominent in labor circles, having filled the position of president of the Phoenix miners union and has been one of its most energetic members. He is a young man who is not afraid to say what he thinks and act up to his convictions. The other two aldermen are J. O. Clark and M. McBean, both business men. The former received 103 and the latter 99 votes. The council board is as follows: Mayor George W. Rumberger, and Aldermen McInues, Punch, Morrin, Marshall, Clark and McBean.

It is said that Phoenix will be a wide open town, but, from the composition of the board, it is hardly probable that the town will be run by tin-horns.

FOOT-BALL.

The merchants and bankers will play a team representing the town, on the athletic grounds this afternoon, Saturday, Nov. 3. Following are the teams:

MERCHANTS AND BANKERS.

H. F. Stowe, G. B. Dill, R. Coulter, C. W. Cheterton, G. N. T. Hill. J. L. Coles, G. F. Craig, J. E. C. Holmes, D. Atwood, E. A. Duff and F. McGowan.

TOWN.

Ronald Harris, J. P. Myers Gray, A. D. Hallett, C. Custance, F. B. Smith, F M. Elkins, R. T. Hodgson, Sydney Johnson, H. A. Cousins, A. Merritt and B. Lysons.

Referee: W. J. Robertson.

Linesmen: F. Ketchum and W. E. Hodges. Kick off at 2:45.

Clarence Pineo, who has had charge of the Auditorium for the past six months, left yesterday for Virden, Man., to vote for Hugh J. Macdonald. Mr. Pineo is a Liberal in politics, but will vote for Hugh John on personal grounds, believing that he is one of the most upright and progressive of Canada's representative men. Mr. Pineo will return to Greenwood after the election.

A RICH LEDGE STRUCK

Tunnel in Review Crosscuts the Ore Body.

VERY HIGH VALUES IN GOLD

The Rich Ore Chute Encountered at 600 Feet—Shareholders Are Jubilant.

The most important mining news the past week, at least to the shareholders in the Review Gold Mining company, was the encountering of the Review vein by a small crosscut from the end of the 600-foot tunnel at a depth of 335 feet. Rumors of the strike were heard early in the week, but not until Wednesday was the news confirmed, when a telephone message came from Bolster. Shareholders have waited patiently during the driving of the long 600-foot tunnel for several months past. It ran almost parallel to the vein, and when in this distance was immediately beneath the winze sunk from the upper tunnel. At this point a short crosscut was run south to the footwall of the vein and driven on through a bluish quartz. Five samples of this ore was taken next to the wall and assays showed the lowest value to be a little over $20 in gold and the highest $320, It is said the Review force is to be largely increased and preparations made to ship this winter to the Standard Pyritic smelter at Boundary Falls. Not only is the finding of the vein at a depth of 335 feet of great importance to the Review management, but it means much to the many claims of that portion of the Myers creek district embraced on what is known as Percy mountains, proving the ore bodies to go down, and also, if the Review is any criterion, to carry rich values with depth. Much is yet to be done to place the property on a basis when dividends may naturally be anticipated by the shareholders, and the Miner at this stage cannot help but extend congratulations to the management of the Review Gold Mining Company, and joins with the shareholders in the hope that it will speedily be placed on a profit-earning basis.

RAILWAY IEVESTIGATION.

The following appeared in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer a few days ago: "The Kootenay and Boundary mining districts of British Columbia are stirred over a railway investigation now being held at Nelson. It is alleged by the secret service agents of the Canadian Pacific railway that a regularly organized ring has existed in the mining regions for some time past, whereby the Canadian Pacific has been defrauded out of many thousands of dollars by means of fraudulent tickets originally purchased, undated, at the offices of the company, to be taken up by the conductors in the scheme of fraud and returned to the special agents of this trainmen's syndicate, to be sold over and over again. It is understood that in the majority of cases, hotel runners acted as go-betweens.

Two conductors who have been in the employment of the Canadian Pacific for years are said to have organized this scheme, and two local station agents are also charged with a share in managing the big swindle. Every employe of the company on the Pacific division is anxiously awaiting the outcome of the investigation. The mining towns of Rossland and Greenwood were the centre of operations, the large passenger traffic to and from those points making comparatively easy the operations of these alleged railway swindlers.

Most of the business is said to have been transacted in bar rooms, where, after a passenger had bought his crocked ticket, he would be given a check with the words "Show this man the scenery." With this check he would be passed on from hand to hand, the peculiar credentials always being accepted. The railway spotters first became suspicious because of the lavish expenditures of employees having small salaries. The railways secret service failing to make revelations, the system was changed, one spotter being sent to Greenwood as a bartender, another as the driver of a hotel bus, a third as clerk in a store. After a time these spotters became intimate with one or two of the conspirators, and the whole plot was gradually unraveled.

H. B. Munroe left Wednesday for the West Fork to take charge of the construction of four bridges now being built on the wagon road from Westbridge to Carmi.

A rich strike was made on the Gem in Summit camp the past week. In an open cut a six-foot ledge of good copper ore was encountered. The Gem lies south and adjoins the Homestake, and is owned by James L. Cunningham and J. W. Cheer.

Walter Waterland was awarded $3000 damages at the Nelson assizes in his case against the city of Greenwood. This, with costs, will amount to between $4,000 and $5,000. Mr. Waterland certainly received value for any damage done by the flood of last spring.

Just one New Singer Sewing Machine, $55. O I C Second Hand Store.

R. F. Coates, the contractor, reports that work is progressing satisfactorily in the removal of the business buildings from the present main street of Columbia up to to the Grand Forks railway deport He went over to Columbia on Thursday's train.

R. McCulloch informs the Miner that work will be commenced on the Yellowstone group in Skylark camp within ten days. The work will probably be done on the Lake claim and will consist of a shaft sunk in the immense iron-capping there exposed. The cabins upon the property will be fitted up comfortably and work will be continued during the winter.

Mr. W. G. Stephan, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived in Greenwood last Wednesday, under engagement with the British Columbia Copper Co., to take charge of the ore sorting plant at the company's Mother Lode mine. Mr. Stephan has for twelve months past been engaged in a similar occupation in California, from which state he came direct to Greenwood.

J. W. McBride, secretary of the Bolster Townsite company, came in by yesterday's train from Spokane. Mr. McBride had been in Waterville, Wash., where the land registry office is situated, completing arrangements for the title to the Bolster townsite. He received his receipt for patent, and lots in that town will now be placed on the market. Mr. McBride informed a Miner representative yesterday that it required twenty seven documents to secure the receipt for his patent. By this it will be seen that Canada has not an exclusive monopoly in red tape.

H. S. [illegible], who has been a resident at Camp McKinney the past four years, is in town in connection with the sale of some of his holdings in that camp. He reports that surveys are being made from the Sailor shaft to the Minnehaha mill for the new tramway. Work is to be resumed on the Sailor about the 15th inst. It is said that W. A. Boyd, a nephew of Dr. Merriman, one of the Spokane directors of the Waterloo company, is slated for the position of mine superintendent when work shall be resumed next week. On the Caribou Mr. Stephenson says the shaft being sunk on the Okanogan claim is in a fine body of quartz. When work is resumed on the Sailor and Waterloo something like old times will be experienced in the camp.

Messrs, Louis Blue and J. S. Deschamps, of Rossland, and Adoloh Fisher of Greenwood, are arranging to put in a sawmill and do a general sawmilling business at Rendell, situate at the junction of Beaver Creek with the West Fork of the Kettle river. The new firm will trade under the name of the Beaver Creek Milling Co. They are also starting a new sawmilling business at Rossland. Messrs. Blue & Fisher were the pioneer sawmillers at Greenwood, and were for years in the same line of business at Rossland. Last year they amalgamated with Genelle Bros., the well known mill men operating in the Kootenay. Lately they retired from that combination known as the Yale Columbia Lumber Co., and are now starting afresh as stated above.

The British Columbia Copper Co. lost a fine horse a few days ago. The horse, which was one of a heavy team in use at the company's Mother Lode mine, had been in the barn for about a week to allow of his recovery from a slight lameness, caused by a stone getting in the frog of his hoof. Appearing fit for work he was hitched up for a trip from the mine down to Greenwood for a load. He was lively enough when starting out, but when nearing the smelter seemed to have difficulty in walking, until at last he fell down and was unable to rise again. He was treated as advised by a veterinary surgeon and was given every possible attention, but his hind quarters seemed paralysed, and he died during the night. He cost the company $200 when purchased.

The Engineering and Mining Journal reported under date of Oct. 12, that the $5 shares of the British Columbia Copper Co., Ltd., of New York, which owns the Mother Lode mine, were then firmer at $12, though sales were reported earlier in the week at 11\frac{1}{2}$ and $11\frac{7}{8}$. In Boston during the second week sales were made at $12 to 12\frac{1}{2}$. In New York 800 shares and in Boston 775 shares were sold during the week. The following week Boston sales were 570 shares at $12 to 12\frac{3}{4}$, with New York quoted at 12\frac{1}{2}$. On the 27th the same journal reported 1,100 shares sold at Boston and 700 at New York with quotations up to 14\frac{1}{4}$, whilst private advices from New York report sales at 14\frac{1}{2}$ on the 26th.

IT is remarkable the number of people who will jump at any fake business proposition they are asked to support. It is a well known fact that in order to get the best results from advertising it is necessary to keep a business continuously before the investing public—not once a year, but every day in the year. During the last two weeks what is known as the "write-up-man" has been with us, and his efforts have resulted in the issue of the Greenwood Mercantile Review, which appeared as a supplement to Wednesday's issue of the Greenwood Times. We have no fault to find with business men who wish to advertise in this way, but would ask them to note the result in trade for the next week, then invest the same amount in legitimate advertising and campare sales for two periods. The "write-up man" stands in about the same relationship to journalism that the "gold-brick" man does to the mercantile business, or the quack on the corner to the licensed physician. Last week The Miner refused an advertising contract from Ryrie Bros. of Toronto, because we believed that the local jewelers could handle all the business of the city. The contract was a better one than the local papers have with either Miller Bros. or Sprott & Macpherson. If the business men of the city do not support each other in preference to outsiders they cannot expect it to be prosperous.

Sustained Strength of Silver.

While other metals have been falling in value (except copper, which has forgotten how to fall), silver has shown conspicuous strength for several months. In recent weeks the tendency to advance has been more marked than ever and prices have reached a higher range than at any time since March, 1897. Some of the causes of this improvement are temporary, while others will be lastingly effective, and American producers will be interested to learn to what extent their present comparative prosperity may be expected to continue.

One two-fold cause of the recent advance may be found in the military operations around China and the partial stoppage of the import trade in that country. The foreign fleets and armies engaged in the investment of China have required considerable quantities of silver, and the various European nations involved have bought silver bars for coinage purposes. The suspension of imports to a large part of China, while exports have continued in almost normal volume, has occasioned a dearth of exchange and has required the purchasing countries to meet their obligations by shipments of silver. The war in the Transvaal has also had a certain influence, as the English mint is known to have bought silver freely for currency uses in South Africa.

These three causes, however, while sufficiently effective to warrant attention, are temporary in their nature and much less important than the insistent and increasing demand from India In that conntry there is a genuine scarcity of rupees for circulating purposes, and both the Indian Council and Exchange Banks have been persistent buyers of silver in the London market. Their buying is said to have begun on a large scale several months ago, and to have been so skillfully conducted that even the shrewd and experienced silver operators, who are ever on the watch for a chance like this to make speculative purchases, did not for a long time detect the movement.

While it is thought the Indian demand has been largely supplied by the enormous quantities already purchased, it is also probable that Indian requirements will be permanently greater than they have been in the past. Next year, particularly India, is likely to absorb a good geal of silver, as the outlook for crops is excellent and she will probably have a favorable balance of trade to be settled in silver. It is not unlikely, indeed, that India will hereafter buy as much silver per annum on the average as she did before the closing of the mints.—Engineering.

SOME BOUQUETS.

One thing noticeable about the weekly papers of British Columbia is that where members of the Typographical union are at the head their typographical appearance and the letter press are above the standard. This remark is occasioned by the Greenwood Miner, whose columns we have just scanned, which is published under the management of Mr. J. W. Grier, who (was a charter member of the Vancouver union, No. 226. There are very few members of the "profesh" held in higher esteem by the "prints" in Western Canada than Jim. —Vancouver Independent.

Many thanks, George, for the compliment or series of compliments. Why shouldn't a member of the Typographical union get out a neater paper than a "rat?" The intention of unionism is to make its members more proficient than outsiders.

CORRESPONDENCE.

EDITOR MINER: Some time ago in the city council it was decided that the plank street crossings be laid down at once. They are still conspicuous by their absence, and the pedestrian crossing Copper street is compelled to wade through several inches of mud. It would probably cost $10 or $12 to have the crossings replaced. Surely the city's bankers would allow an overdraft for that amount. It might be wise to approach them on the question.

PEDESTRIAN.

Probably one of the most interesting civil cases ever heard in Nelson, was opened at the court house this morning before Mr. Justice Walkem, when the case of Henley vs. the Reco Mining Co. came up for trial. The suit has arisen out of a poker game which was played at Sandon about the middle of November, 1898, and in which J. M. Harris, president of the mining company, loet heavily, and paid a portion of his debt in Reco shares. Those who were in the game are Mr. Harris, Mr. Arthur, Mr. Peterson and Mr. Hauck, the latter being one of the cleverest card gamblers in the west. Each of the ether gamblers received from Harris a large quantity of stock, Mr. Arthur, after the game, returned to his home in Spokane, and on November 18, 1898, he borrowed $1,500 from a Mr. Henley, of Spokane, the latter receiving for security 3.500 of the Reco shares. At another time Mr. Arthur borrowed some more money from Mr. Henley, and again the latter received 2,500 shares of the same stock. Henley has now on his hands 6,000 shares of Reco stock. The Reco company refuse to transfer the stocks on their books to Henley, as they assert that the shares were at first obtained by fraud, and that the game of poktr was 'crooked.' Mr. Henley was the only witness examined for the plaintiff this morning, and he simply told of the manner in which he had obtained the Reco stock certificates.—Nelson Miner.

CITY COUNCIL.

At the council meeting Monday evening there were present the mayor and Aldermen Bannerman, Galloway, Sullivan and Sutherland. F. J. Deane secretary of the Chinese commission, wrote ask in for information regarding the Chinese question as it affected Greenwood. The clerk was authorized to send information

The city solicitor was ordered to draw up a deed of transfer to property covered by the alley between Copper and Silver streets and that the clerk interview the owners regarding necessary transfer.

City solicitor drew on the council for $75, and the clerk was authorized to meet draft.

The street crossings on Copper street were ordered replaced.

Alderman Sutherland gave notice that he would introduce a bylaw to make Silver street of uniform width.

The Yale-Columbia company's garnishee summons was referred to the city solicitor. Council adjourned.

THIS AND THAT.

Dr. Alex. Dowie's followers, the Zionists, in Vancouver, are having a very rough time of it just now. One of their appurtenances for the dissemination of religion is a gospel wagon, from which street meetings are addressed. A couple of nights ago the Rev. C. Simmons, the Zion pastor, preached against secret societies, and openly mentioned the Odd Fellows and other associations. He drew upon himself the wrath of a crowd of several hundred peorle, who threw rotten eggs and turnips and otherwise took measures to drive him off the street. The minister announced that next night he would again appear, but early in the evening the police notified him that he must not stand on the street, and if he went out at all the gospel wagon must keep on the move. This was done, and with a crowd of 500 people at the heels of the wagon, the parade started torough the streets. Rotten eggs were thrown, but the crowd never allowed the minister's words to be heard ten feet from the wagon. Firecrakers were thrown, and otherwise the meeting was a stormy one, but no one was injured.

Hugh McKee, of Greenwood, met with a painful accident last evening. While trying to corral his horses after dark, he stepped over the side of a hill, falling on his head. On getting up he found he had lost the power of speech. Finding his friends, he made signs to them explaining what had happened. Dr. Whillans was called in, and upon examination found the skull was badly damaged, exidently affecting the brain. Partial paralysis set in early last evening, but as night passed on the patient gradually recovered. Bert Goodisson attended the sick man last evening and reports a change for the better this morning. McKee is able to speak a few words now, but only manages to articulate with great difficulty. No serious results are expected and we hope Hugh will be able toget around in a few days.—Similkameen Star.

There is a remarkable apathy shown by the people of the province in regard to the work of the Chinese commission appointed by the Dominion government. At a very early date that commission will sit at the principal cities, for the purpore of taking evidence; and it would seem to be an act of wisdom on the part of the Trades and Labor Councils and all labor bodies to be prepared their side of the case. It is true that in some quarters the impression prevails that the Laurier government is trifling with the matter and that their is an extreme likelihood at the present of the present administration not being in power after November 7; but the question is one of vital interest to the people of this province, and ought not to be dealt with lightly. It may be mentioned in this connection that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is on record as saying that his government will "meet the wishes of the people of the West."

A Vancouver Japanese named Tomy Homma, who is a naturalized British subject, insists upon voting in the forthcoming Dominion elections. Thomas Cunningham, collector of votes, refused to place his name on the voters' list. Mr. Homma then engaged Messrs. Harris & Bull, barristers, to prosecute his claims to the right of registration.

Mr. Cunningham quotes the British Columbia statutes, which says, in effect, that no Chinese, Japanese or Indian shall have his name placed on the voters' list for any electoral district, or be entitled to vote in any election. And as there is a penalty of $50 for any collector of votes allowing the law to be violated, Mr. Cunningham says he is not going to violate that law.

Let the People Unite.

Among the many signs of the times none is more distinctly visible than the growth of the independent political feeling throughout the mass of the people. There was a time, and that not very many years since, when the entire population of Ontario were either Grits or Tories, and he who refused to join either party was treated with opprobrium and regarded with distrust. Such is no longer the case. The independents are a numerous body and are indeed a political power in the country, to which both Grit and Tory pay considerable deference. What the independents now need is organization, and several efforts are now being made to effect a union of the independents throughout the province. The most noticeable effort to organize an independent association is that of the People's Party, which has issued a manifesto and declared its principles and recommends the formation of People's Unions in all cities, towns, villages, rural municipalities, or school sections. Whether such organization will be successful remains to be seen but unquestionably should receive the approval and support of trade and labor unions, for common sense should study the interests not of party but of the people. It will therefore be very interesting to watch the development and proceedings of the People's Party. The fact that representatives of that party are candidates is a striking illustration of the progress which independence is making in the field of politics, and it may fairly be expected that such progress will be assisted by the trades unionists.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

More Than He Could Stand

What's this? demanded the police, hurrying to the scene. A hold-up?

A pale scholarly looking man in spectacles was standing over a burly ruffian and shaking his slender fist at the prostrate form.

I presume that is what you would term it, he replied. This fellow stopped me just now and ordered me to hold up my hands. I complied, and he began to search my pockets. I will put a bullet through you, he said, if you take them down "all during" the time I am— And then I knocked him down. "All during" is an abominable perversion of correct English that no man can utter in my presence unrebuked.

The unlucky footpad had tackled a professor of rhetoric.—Chicago Tribune.

TWO ACCIDENTS AT B. C.

Miles McNeill Killed and N. Green Injured Monday Night and Matt Helman Injured Thursday.

On Monday Miles McNeill was killed and N. Green badly injured at the B. C. mine in Summit camp. The two were working in the stope when a heavy body of rock broke from the roof and struck the men. McNeill was killed instantly and Green had his leg broken. Green is now in the Greenwood hospital. A brother of McNeill arrived from Butte, Mont., on Thursday, and the remains were interred yesterday morning.

On Thursdag Matt Helman was coming up the ladder at the 50-foot level when the cage struck him. Fortunately he was a very strong man and was able to stop the cage and hold it. He received three very severe wounds on the right arm and shoulder. Dr. Spankie was called from Greenwood and dressed the wounds. No serious results are expected to follow the accident.

PRESENTATION.

On Sunday afternoon the members of the Roman Catholic church in Greenwood presented the Rev. Father Palmer with an address and purse. The reverend gentleman has been appointed to a pastorate in Spokane. Following is the address, to which Father Palmer made a suitable reply:

"To the Rev. Wm. Palmer: We, the members of the Sacred Heart congregation, learning with regret that you are about to leave this parish for a larger field, take this opportunity of testifying our lasting gratitude to you for the great and noble work accomplished during the three short years you have labored in this mission. We appreciate your great efforts to build up in this far west suitable temples for the worship of Almighty God.

"You have indeed been a pioneer. During the past three years you have labored zealously to attend the spiritual wants of your scattered congregations, at all seasons and in all kinds of weather; we found you ever ready to go unparalleled distances to offer consolation, to succor some poor soul and to spread the gospel, until now we are proud to acknowledge that you have been successful in erecting beautiful churches throughout the vast mission.

"Furthermore, you have shown by special endeavors how deep an interest you have taken in our spiritual welfare. By words a great deal and still more by example you have shown us the way to lead good lives. In a word you have, like the good shepherd, gathered the scattered sheep, and infused hope and enthusiasm into our drooping hearts. At your coming the prospect was dark and cheerless, now, thank God, everything augurs well, and we rejoice to note the good will it was always your endeavor to promote toward our non-Catholic friends, and they with ourselves wish you every success in your future labors.

"Finally we all, old and young, from our heart of hearts, thank you, and will now ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our esteem. May God bless you and grant you many years of health and strength to carry on your good work. Hoping that we may be particularly remembered by you when you stand at the altar of God, we are, dear reverend father, your affectionate and grateful people.

"Signed on behalf of the congregation. D. H. RICE,
