THE CITY COUNCIL

The City Fathers Warm Up on Banks.

RENDELL-CITY CASE AGAIN

An Attempt Made to Annul the Proceedings of the Special Meeting—Change of Account Confirmed.

At the meeting of the city council Monday evening there were present the mayor and Aldermen Bannerman, Cropley, Galloway, Sharpe and Sullivan.

After the reading of the minutes by the city clerk, Alderman Sharpe cleared his throat. It was evident that there was a weight on the conscience or mind of the junior alderman for the North ward. He had come there for explanations from the finance committee with reference to changing bankers, but the mayor interposed with a soothing draught in the shape of the Municipal act, which he read until the members were in a state to consider the bank question rationally.

Alderman Sharpe thought there should be some very urgent reason for changing the account. He thought explanations made by bank solicitor at special meeting were quite satisfactory.

Alderman Bannerman—Bank solicitor did not make this proposition until he thought bank was going to lose the account. The alderman did not appear to understand that finance committee had been trying for some time to get Bank of Montreal people to come to some definite arrangement in reference to deposit of debentures as security for an advance to the city, and that business men and workingmen to whom the city were indebted were anxious for their money. The bank had appropriated amounts received in payment for licenses to take up a note payable on or before the 1st of August, without notifying council or finance committee.

Alderman Galloway thought bank should have notified council before appropriating city funds.

Alderman Sharpe—The council should have sent agreement back to bank solicitors, stating their objections.

Alderman Bannerman—Two propositions had been submitted to the finance committee, one by the Bank of Montreal and the other by the Canadian Bank of Commeree. The proposal of the Bank of Commerce was considered the better one and accepted.

Alderman Galloway thought the finance committee acted hastily in consulting another banker before they had finally decided on the proposition of the city's bankers.

Alderman Sullivan—Members of the council don't appear to understand that the mayor had interviewed the Bank of Montreal some time ago and debentures were to have been deposited and $10,000 placed to the credit of the city on that security. Afterwards the city was requested to pass a resolution drafted by the bank's solicitor, which was returned for translation or interpretation. Then a third proposition was made by the bank's solicitor in the form of the agreement on the table and a demand note. Here were three propositions made by the Bank of Montreal inside of a month. First—The manager's statement to Mayor Hardy that the debentures would be accepted as security for $10,000. Second—A resolution by the city solicitor, which no one in the council could decipher; and third, the agreement and demand note. And still the finance commtttee were censured for considering the third a final proposition by the bank and acting upon it. The committee had the right to accept or reject this proposal. As an individual he would not think of signing such an agreement in connection with his own business, neither would he care to place the city's finances in such an awkward position. Mr. Gray, acting for the city solicitor, said the agreement was correct and legal. The committee had the power to recommend or otherwise, the council to confirm or reject the action of the committee. If the agreement was not final why did not the bank present an agreement that was intended to be final?

Alderman Galloway—The agreement should have been considered by the full council. He thought the finance committee had not the power to deal with the matter without consulting counci

Alderman Sullivan suggested that the resolution empowering the mayor, finance committee and clerk to deal with the bank be read. The clerk read the resolution, which gave full powers fo parties uamed.

Moved by Alderman Croply, seconded by Alderman Bannerman, that the minutes of the regular and special meeting be adopted as read.

Alderman Galloway moved an amendment, seconded by Alderman Sharpe, that that clause relating to the bank account be struck out of the minutes of the special meeting.

The original motion was carried by 3 to 2, the mayor not voting.

Communications were received from F. W. Hart, for street grade on building. The clerk was instructed to inform him that grades had not yet been established in that portion of the city.

From H. Bunting and others, asking that steps be placed on the south side of Deadwood street, connecting Kimberly with Skylark. Referred to street committee.

From C. F. Alston, reporting completion of coutract on Boundary avenue. Rceeived and filed.

The street committee were instructed to have flume contractorr make outlet to F. B. Winnett's draw.

Alderman Sharpe placed his resignation as a member of the finance committee in the hands of the council. The alderman had been away from the city for the past six weeks, and unfortunately having become accustomed to the rough road on the North Fork and uneven grading of streets in Grand Forks, when he came back to Greenwood and drove along the splendidly graded streets imagined the finance committee ead been squandering money. But when Alderman Bannerman informed him that no expenditures had been made during his absence he reconsidered the matter.

Alderman Sharpe and Galloway locked horns on the Boundary avenue contract, but the difficulty shifted from from Galloway to Bannerman and from Bannerman to Sullivan, until Alderman Sharpe had a tiff with all the members of the council excepting Alderman Cropley, who escaped.

The city solicitor was instructed to have E. V. Bonwell, Q.C., of Victoria, move for a new trial in the action of Rendell & Co vs. City.

The finance committee reported the following accounts, which were passed by the council:

Yale-Columbia Lumber Co.	$1,518 54
Æ. Shaw	46 80
Dr. Schon	5 00
	$1,634 00

The council then adjourned.

TO EXTEND LINE.

The Columbia Telephone Company Will String Wires to Brewster, Wash.

The Columbia Telephone Company are now engaged in extending the line from Bolster to Brewster, the terminus of the steamship line running from Wenatche. Other towns to be tapped by the system will be Chesaw, Molson, Oro, Loomis and Conconully. The distance between Bolster and Brewster is about 125 miles. Poles have been set up for 60 miles of this distance, and work will be commenced stringing the wires this week. J. B. Donald is in charge of the work.

PRESBYTERIAN EXCURSION

To Grand Forks Was Well Attended and Proved An Enjoyable Affair.

The Presbyterian Sabbath school excursion to Grand Forks under the direction of the pastor, Rev. D. Campbell, was generously patronized and a more enjoyable occasion can scarcely be imagined. All classes were treated alike.

Carriages, which were placed at the disposal of the excursionists for the day by Mr. Campbell, were at the station when the train arrived and drove the party to the picnic grounds for dinner, after which different points of interest were visited, principal among which were the smelter and Mr. Covert's ranch. Mr. Covert proved himself a royal entertainer.

It is the intention of the school to repeat the excursion annually.

Mr. Campbell showed great enterprise in undertaking the guarantee to the railroad company, which amounted to $75.00.

Duncan Ross has sold to J. McDougall of Montreal a 1-16 interest in the London claim in Deadwood camp.

AROUND THE CAMPS

Interesting Mining Items From Twenty-Mile Creek.

THE ARLINGTON-BURNS GROUP

R. M. McEntire Visits the Wes Fork—Tunnel on the Review—In Kimberly Camp.

TWETTY-MILE CREEK.

Your correspondent has been spending a few days looking over the various properties in this district, one or two of which are known a little on the outside and are supposed to be good. The supposition is, I believe, correct.

Twenty-Mile camp is, in a business way, no better off than the various other camps in this part of the province, and like the other camps it is no fault of its own that such is the case.

The Nickel Plate, owned by an American company and managed by Mr. K. Rogers, is employing about 30 men in and around the mine, and Mr. Rogers, who lately obtained assistance from the government, is putting on about about 60 men to construct a road direct from the mine to Princeton, a distance of 26 miles. Up to date about 1200 feet of development work has been done, and the company is at present engaged in running a 300-foot tunnel to tap the ledge at a depth of 240 feet, and I am reliably informed that an average assay of the ore taken out will go at least $200 to the ton. The company in addition to the Nickel Plate own the Copper Field, Silver Plate, Sunshine fraction, Sunnyside, Bulldog, Goldfield, Electroplate, composing one group, all of which have fine showings on them, especidlly the Bulldog.

The Rollo group, owned by Peter Scott and Robert Hedley of Nelson, consists of the Rollo, King, War Horse, Kingston and Grand View, all of which have fine showings. An average of 16 assays from the Rollo went $42.50.

The Climax, I. X. L., Copper Chief and Czar, owned by George Cahill and H. Yates, form a very promising group. On the Climax the owners have run a 60-foot tunnel on the ledge, which assays from $12 to $20, and which they intend to further develop during the coming winter.

The Red Mountain group, owned by J. Murphy and others, has some tremendous showings of ore containing a fair percentage of copper.

The above are only a few of the many claims having fine showings, and which are situated within a radius of three miles of the Nickel Plate, and it seems to those who take the trouble to look over the camp that it is extraordinary that more companies have not invested in a camp which your correspondent firmly believes will be one of the greatest wealth producers, not only in British Columbia, but in North America.

MINING BRIEFS.

While on a fishing trip in the West Fork country R. M McEntire, of McEntire, McDonnell & Co., visited the principal properties of that district. He says that there are numerous showings along the West Fork that are equal to those of any part of the Boundary in size of ledge and value of the ore. He visited the Carmi and Butcher Boy on Carmi creek. The surface showings on these claims are about five feet in width. At a depth of 110 feet the ledge on the Carmi has widened to 8 feet of ore averaging $50 to the ton. The lead has been prospected the whole length of the claim, and also across the Butcher Boy. On Beaver creek there are a number of strong leads of very rich ore. On Boomerang there is every indication of a number of claims now being worked proving to be mines with development. Mr. McEntire believes that the West Fork will be among the great dividend-paying camps of the continent. His firm is not interested to any extent in that district at present, but hopes to be before another year.

George Henderson and John Myers are working on the Black Diamond group in Kimberly camp. On the group there are three leads, which have been opened up by surface crosscuts, the largest of which is 15 feet in width. They have been working on the Monte Cristo, another claim in the same group, on which a shaft has been sunk 30 feet and a tunnel run 60 feet across the lead to the top of the shaft. There is 16 feet of ore in the crosscut at the bottom of the shaft, giving good values in gold.

E. A. Bielenberg has a force of men at work on the Arlington,-Burns group, adjoining the Buckhorn in Deadwood camp. The new shaft is down 40 feet. In previous work five shafts were sunk and 850 feet of surface crosscutting, with the object of prospecting the lead. The surface showing is very large, being fully 400 feet in width, and has been traced for 1200 feet in length. On the Iron Top, an adjoining group, 1200 feet of crosscutting has been done.

P. P. Sharpe, one of the heavy owners in the Golden Eagle mine, in Brown's camp, rode over the other day to get supplies. He stated that they had ready for immediate shipment 1000 sacks of ore, amounting to about two carloads. The ore came from the 45 and 100-foot levels. About half a car had already been hauled down to the railroad. The shipment will be sent to the Trail smelter.

James Cunningham and John Milligan made a new find about a mile north of the Brooklyn, in Greenwood camp, the past week. On the Port Carbon there is a lead thirty feet in width, giving indications on the surface of being rich in copper, and on the Seymour, an adjoining claim located by them, there is a 5-foot lead. These claims lie on the Eholt slope.

Harry Shallenberger has completed the assessment on the Yellowstone group in Skylark camp A new shaft was started on a quartz lead carryiug good values in gold and silver. Other developments consist of surface open cuts and a 50-foot shaft. It is stated that capital will shortly be forthcoming to develop the property on a large scale.

R. M. McEntire returned from a viist to the Review mine this week. The tunnel is in 500 feet. In nearly all of this distance the rock is well mineralized. A lead 40 feet in width has been crosscut by the tunnel. At about 650 feet it is expected the lead, for which the tunnel is being run, will be tapped.

James Cunningham and John Milligan are working on the Yellow Jacket in Greenwood camp. A shaft has been sunk ten feet, and will be continued until the Snowshoe lead is encountered. The shaft is about 300 feet east of the Snowshoe tunnel on line of lead.

Robert Wood has purchased from A. Robinson of Beaverton the Alice M. and Hard Times claims, adjoining the Sally group up the West Fork of the Kettle river. Mr. Woods has opened up a rich ledge on the Sally group, which he is developing.

W. C. Tilsley and Fred Wilson returned Tuesday after doing assessment work on the Tredwell in Kimberly camp. The shaft on the property is down 16 feet in ore. The ledge is a very large one, but the exact width is not known.

Wm. Hanna has been working the past month on the Virginius, in Wellington camp. The property lies south of the Hartford. The ore is galena, carrying good gold values.

The Athelstan in Wellington camp is shipping ore. One hundred tons have been hauled to the Winnipeg spur this week. Shipments will average about two cars a week.

On the J. and R. in Wellington camp the shaft is down 30 feet, and the shaft on the Hard Cash 18 feet, in very rich ore. The ore is chalcopyrite in a quartz gangue.

Two machines are working on the crossscut on the Snowshoe, Greenwood camp at the 175-foot level, and drifting is being done at the 300-foot level.

SMELTER SITE.

The location of the Laidlaw smelter was settled the past week. The smelter will be built about a half mile this side of Boundary Falls and three miles from Greenwood. Wood & Galloway of Greenwood donated the greater part of the land for the smelter site, and the balance was purchased from L. McCavven and C. A. R. Lambly, owners of the Boundary Falls townsite. The site is being surveyed by C. Æ. Shaw of Greenwood, and actual work will be commenced on the smelter within a few days.

Evening Star Sold

Today arrangements were completed for the transfer of the Evening Star and Selby mines in Wellington Camp by the Fraser Brothers to Andrew Laidlaw of Denver, Colo. It is understood the amount of the bond is a large one, but particulars could not be obtained before going to press.

ODD FELLOWS.

A Lodge of I. O. O. F. to Be Instituted in Grand Forks This Evening.

This evening at Grand Forks a lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows will be instituted and installed by W. M. Law, D. D. G. M., assisted by Thomas J. Hardy, Grand Warden; H. B. Munroe, Grand Treasurer; H. C. Holden, Grand Secretary, and M. J. Phelan, Grand Guardian. The team from Boundary Valley Lodge will be: James Kerr, N. G.; G. B. Taylor, V. G.; R. T. Evans, W.; D. Ross, C.; T. M. Gulley, R. S. S.; Neil Lamont, L. S. S., and R. Smailes, P. G. About thirty members of Greenwood lodge went over by today's train to take part in the institution ceremonies. These will be assisted by the officers and members of Carson lodge, and visitors from Nelson, B. C., and Trail. In all about one hundred members of the order are expected to be present.

LUM-CHESAW.

On Tuesday iast a marriage license was issued by W. G. McMynn to Dick Lum of Rock creek and Julia Chesaw, of Chesaw, Wash., and on the same day the pair were made man and wife by the Rev. Father Palmer.

Both are of old and respected families in this district. The Chesaw's were prominent in the west long before the Hudson's Bay company established trading posts on the Pacific slope. The Lum's are an ancient family of China, and previous to the introduction of the new style of wearing hair, known as the pigtail, by the Manchu dynasty, were princes in the land of rice and dope. The father of the young man who has just taken upon himself the responsibiiity of managing a wife, emigrated to Honolulu forty years ago. After living in that city for a few years he eloped with an Hawaiian princess and came to British Columbia. About thirty years ago he settled at Rook creek.

The wedding was a quiet and exclusive one, only a few intimate friends o the contracting parties being present. In fact so exclusive was the affair that not even the "best" families of Greenwood were invited. The happy couple left the same day for their home at Rock creek.

VOTERS should not forget that it was the anti-Martin element that turned the salmon fisheries on the Fraser over to the little brown Jap. And they should remember, too, that the newspapers which opposed Martin are defending the government, and the Japs, too.—Cascade Record.

So long as the militia act permits three imbecile or crooked justices of the peace to call out the militia, union men should have nothing to do with it. A militia is all right under proper regulations. It is noble to fight in defence of one's country, but it is despicable to take up arms against law-abiding citizens. Gardiner Johnson says a soldier must act as nearly as possible according to the life of Christ. Yes, that was one of Christ's injunctions, to "shoot to kill." You may notice that sentiment running all through the Sermon on the Mount.—Vancouver Independent.

IF the labor organizations in Yale, Cariboo and Kootenay would put up a candidate for the dominion parliament they could elect him without a struggle. Neither Liberals nor Conservatives are organized for the federal contest, and the people of this province have a hearty mistrust of the old party line politicians. The strength of labor unions was demonstrated at the recent provincial elections, and many voters outside the organizations would vote for a labor candidate because they recognize that from the workingmen themselves must emanate the legislation which is necessary to our country's salvation—Sandon Paystreak.

IN referring to the action of the provincial government on the fisherman's strike at Steveston, the Vancouver Independent says:

"The premier is supposee to be the jealous guardian of the honor and good name of the province, whose people entrust him with that high office. Let us see how our premier acted. An unscrupulous gang recently wanted the militia called out. A defective militia act empowered three interested persons to fulfill their desires. The alarm of war was sounded and some 200 men went out to the peaceful town of Steveston. The previous day a minister of the cabinet wired to the attorney-general that all was quiet and there was not even a necessity to increase the force of constables. What did the premier do? Did he wire a protest to Ottawa against the disgrace being put upon the province. Oh, no, that is not his style. He and his cabinet were too much in sympathy with the action taken. But a commission to investigate was formed. If the commission reports that there was no justification for the act will the cabinet of Chinese sympathizers cancel the commissions of these three justices of the peace? We think not.

Had the workingmen of Vancouver given more attention to principles than men there would at least have been two more members of the legislature in opposition. The Martin platform was all that any unionist could desire, and had the Vancouver trades council supported that platform instead of bringing out straight labor candidates, neither Garden nor Tallow would have been elected. The "chickens have come home to roost" with the unionists of Vancouver, and they can't blame anyone but themselves. Labor candidates are all right when there is a chance of electing them, but the principles of unionism when advocated by a party are just as important to unionists as labor candidates.

THE opposition to anti-mongolian legislation at Ottawa derives its strength from several sources. There is in the first place a sentimental objection in Eastern Canada, largely fostered by the churches, to exclusion of these people. They call legislation to that effect simply "damnable" and class the British Columbia members who support it with Boers and Boxers. Secondly, there is a section of British Columbia employers of labor who are frequent visitors to Ottawa whose interests are bound up with cheap labor. They tell the people at Ottawa that British Columbia cannot develop her resources without cheap labor, and their declaration touches the spot in every member, and there are many, who are in some way interested in British Columbia mines. Then there is the opposition of the C. P. R., who not only require the labor of the Mongolian importations, but who, it is stated, would lose $300,000 per annum derived from transporting Chinese to Vancouver, if they were altogether excluded from the province. Lastly, there are the utterances of clergymen, such as Bishop Perrin and Rev. Mr. Winchester, whose zeal for what they consider fair play to the Chinese largely outruns their consideration for the workingmen of their own blood. Their words, as is only natural, weigh largely with people in the east, whose only knewledge of the matter is entirely theoretical, while the arguments of our British Columbia members, like Colonel Prior and Rev. Mr. Maxwell, are looked upon as mere gassing to catch the labor vote in the province. According to Mr. Turner we have already in British Columbia arrived at the stage when the presence of Chinese in the province is absolutely necessary to the very existence of the two important industries of canning and sawmilling on the coast. (We say "on the coast" because our lumbermen in Kootenay certainly manage to saw wood without employing Chinamen except to a very limited extent.) That is to say in twenty years, since Mr. Onderdonk first introduced Chinese into the province to work on his contract for the construction of the western section of the C. P. R., these people have practically cornered the labor market in the two chief industries on the Pacific slope of British Columbia. Both these important industries existed and were carried on presumbably by white labor, and it is reasonable to suppose profitably, before the Chinese invasion started, but now Mr. Turner tells us that without Chinese labor they must perish. If this is the condition of affairs after twenty years, what state of things does Mr. Turner think is likely to exist in this province within the next fifty. One would imagine that so far from being a reason for a British Columbia government handling this question with a pair of tongs, this very statement of his should furnish an argument sufficient to startle any patriotic minister into a prompt and energetic course of action. —Revelstoke Herald.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To THE EDITOR: One dollar will be given to the first person answering this question: What is the difference between a parasite and an individual that refuses to pay his taxes because he thinks he can take advantage of a technicality.

This individual has been and is at the present time drawing a salary monthly from the City of Greenwood for acting as police magistrate, and even had the audacity to demand his salary when he was not living in the province, while other people had to do his work, and when I refused to sign the check for his salary, some of his people threatened to proceed legally.

If any of you are strangers and have not resided in the city a sufficient length of time, ask some of your friends to point out to you the two lots on Copper street that this individual owns. I think that after you look them over carefully you will agree with me that he is anything but a progressive citizen, and you will have to admit that you are not surprised at his being small enough to refuse to pay taxes. If you are undecided, ask some one to point him out to you on the street, and I don't think it will take you long to come to a conclusion. THOS. HARDY.

Correspondence.

Now that the Chinese question in Greenwood is in a fair way of settlement it is not out of place, I think, to remind the public that there is no need to send back east for goods as Greenwood merchants have no branch there; that there is no need to buy off the peddlers across the line as there are six storekeepers here who are in business and who pay rent, taxes, light, etc., and who contribute their dollar to support every ice cream social, concert, fruit banquet, etc., that comes along, and who do their utmost to make Greenwood a prosperous business city. These little things give Greenwood the downward push, as

Evil is wrought for want of thought,
As well as want of heart.

Thanking you in anticipation, yours truly,

E. KERFOOT,
Storekeeper, city.
