MOUNT REVELSTOKE SCENIC AUTO ROAD

SURVEYOR'S REPORT SUBMITTED TO GOVERNMENT

Province and Dominion to Assist in Building 14½ Mile Auto Road, Which, when Completed, Will Be the Wonder of the West.

Road Superintendent Ed. Trimble, returned from the coast on Sunday morning, where he had been to submit to the Department of Public Works, the surveyors reports as to the proposed location, grades, etc. of the Mount Revelstoke Scenic Auto Road.

Interviewed by a representative of the Mail-Herald the following facts were gleamed regarding the progress of this work:

The final surveys, for the location and grade of the road are now completed, and are awaiting the approval of Mr. Forde, public works engineer, and immediately same have been o.k., by that official, the actual work of construction will be proceeded with

According to these surveys, subject of course to approval, the road will be a total length of 14½ miles, from commencement, west of the Maley nursery on the Big Bend road north of the city to the Chalet at the extreme summit of Mount Revelstoke. The average grade over the entire length is 6½ per cent, at no point does the grade exceed eight per cent with a minimum of three per cent. The road is laid out in a series of six legs, varying in length from three and a half miles to a mile and a half These legs have been surveyed in such a manner as to avoid steep gradients and bluffs, and allowing of good turns at the ends of the switchbacks The course of the road is remarkably free from rocks, there will be very little rock cutting to do, and it is anticipated that the work of road building will thus be accomplished with a minimum of expense, and will allow of rapid completion. First class building material is available along the road itself for a greater portion of the work, and the government are understood to be arranging for the provision of an eight ton gasoline road roller, which will permit of the road being hard surfaced and rolled immediately following the grading gangs, ensuring a first class and well finished job.

The Hon. Thomas Taylor, member for the Revelstoke riding and Minister of Public Works for the Province announces that his department will appropriate ten thousand dollars this season for the purposes of this work, and that when the Dominion government announce Mount Revelstoke as a National Park reserve, which it is expected will be during the next session of the Ottawa House, liberal assistance will probably be forthcoming from the Dominion and the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. are also expected to assist with the undertaking. From these various sources, ample funds should be forthcoming, and it is hoped to have the Mount Revelstoke Alpine Auto Highway completed and ready for traffic towards the close of the year 1913.

Whilst in Victoria Supt. Trimble was granted an interview with our Dominion member Mr. R. F. Green, who was anxious to obtain information regarding the progress of the Alpine Highway. Mr. Green expressed his intention of visiting his Revelstoke constituents in the near future He discussed at length the prospects for the completion of the Mountain Auto Highway, and stated that he was using every effort, towards obtaining government assistance for this work, and also urging upon the Ottawa Department, the suitability of Mount Revelstoke as a National Park and expressed the opinion that the efforts in this direction would be successful. Mr. Green, some three months ago, had made a hurried trip down tke Arrow lakes, and whilst at Beaton, had taken the opportunity to inspect the site of the proposed new wharf; he was convinced of the necessity for this work and expressed his surprise that the work had not been carried out before, and has already taken the steps which will result in same being proceeded with. Mr. Green stated that the present Dominion administration were anxious to make up the shortcomings of their predecessors, as regards Dominion public works throughout the Kootenays and the Pacific coast province generally, and that recommendations towards this end were receiving very emphatic attention from the new government at Ottawa.

In conclusion Mr. Green again expressed his intention of shortly visiting Revelstoke, when he would have an opportunity of renewing many old acquaintances amongst his constituents, and be able to make himself familiar, by personal investigation, with the requirements of the district he had the honor to represent.

SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

Held for the Purpose of Considering the Passing of New Bye-Laws

A special meeting of the city council was held on Monday evening, July 22nd, Mayor Sutherland took the chair; aldermen McSorley, McKinnon and Abrahamson were also present.

The special meeting was called to receive a petition re the proposed raising of funds for a new high school, and also to consider the matter of fire protection.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Statement outlining the situation re Fire Protection was submitted by Fire Brigade No. 2.

The principle recommendations of the fire brigade, were the building of a new central fire hall, and the employmentof two or three permanent men.

The members of Fire Brigade No.1 were unanimously opposed to the establishment of a central fire hall.

Ald. Abrahamson—I am in favor of a permanent paid chief.

Ald. McKinnon—There are many things we could do alright

Mayor Sutherland—What size of a building would we require.

Ald. McSorley—We should need a combination equipment, they cost about $1150.

Capt. W. A. Foote, G. H. Brock, and K. G. McRae were present, representing the brigade.

Ald. McSorley—I think it would be better to fix up our present building and get along for a year or two, until we have our water system thoroughly shaped up. We have got to move carefully in this matter.

Mayor Sutherland—Well gentlemen, we will investigate this matter and give you our decision, and we are obliged for your attendance and assistance.

Ald. McSorley—We have this matter put up to us and we shall have to consider same.

Ald. McKinnon—I was not in favor of doing anything this year, but we seem to be up against some by-laws, for school and other things and I am not in favor of passing by-laws every fifteen minutes.

Ald. McSorley—I think we are putting the cart before the horse, we must arrange for our water and equipment first.

Ald. McKinnon—It seems to me an 8 inch pipe should be sufficient, such as we have at present.

Ald. McSorley—We have to put in a second pipe running right into the tank, this would relieve the necessity for a reservoir for some years to come.

Mayor Sutherland—I believe some committee should go into this matter of a building for a central fire hall.

Ald. Abrahamson—I suggest we get some preliminary figures, and we should hold a meeting tomorrow night with a full attendance of members, to consider this matter.

Mayor Sutherland—Yes, we will do this, Ald. Abrahamson will get the figures.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

A petition was submitted asking for the erection of a new high school and the submitting of a by-law for $15,000 to defray the cost of same.

Ald. McKinnon—How much will this cost.

Mayor Sutherland—About $40,000.

Ald. Abrahamson—I am in favor of a high school, I presume the trustees know where the balance is to come from.

Ald. McKinnon—I would hate to pass a by-law for $15,000 and have to pass others for a deficit subsequently.

Ald. Abrahamson—We put this up to the people and if they decide in favor of same, so well and good.

A motion in favor of a high school by-law, as requested by the school trustees for $15,000, was then put and carried

The by-law was then read a first time.

Meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

LAST NIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING

New High School Building and Increased Fire Protection in the City Thoroughly Discussed ---Committee Appointed

On Tuesday evening last a special meeting of the city council was held to consider the proposed high school by-law. Mayor Sutherland occupied the chair, aldermen Howson, Abrahamson, McSorley, Bourne, McKinnon were present.

School Trustee H. Manning was present, representing the school trustees.

Ald. McKinnon—I am in favor of borrowing $15,000, but only in a businesslike manner. We require some further details or we shall have to borrow a further sum to complete it

Mr. Manning—If this by-law is not legal without the details, we will have to get estimates and plans, and submit same to you to go through the usual course.

Ald. McKinnon—I understand, according to the act the school trustees will have to apply for the money actually required on estimates, state how the same is to be raised, and make a businesslike proposition.

Now, Mr. Manning, cannot you use your present funds to buy this site.

Mr. Manning—Yes, I agree.

Mayor Sutherland—Yes, on motion I refer this matter back to the school trustees for the necessary details.

FIRE HALL.

Ald. Abrahamson— I have had prepared a rough plan showing a concrete building, 40x80, two storeys and a basement, which, without heating or furnishings would cost about $10,500.

Ald. McSorley—This matter is going to cost $15,000. There is the equipment and a team, etc.

Ald. McKinnon—$15,000 should cover all expenses.

Ald. Howson—$15,000 won't cover this, there is a site to buy.

Ald. McSorley—Even if this building is done, this year, we will be in the present fire headquarters all winter.

Mayor Sutherland—A committee were appointed to investigate the matter of fire protection and report.

Meeting adjourned at 10:20 p.m.

REAR END COLLISION

Freight Trains in Bad Smash-up Engineer Fatally Injured.

In a rear-end collision between two freight trains which occurred on Sunday night at about 10 o'clock at Toketic a small station on the C.P.R., five miles east of Spences Bridge three trainmen were injured and one of them so seriously that he is not expected to recover.

An east bound freight hauled by No. 1601 in charge of Conductor B. Johnson with J. Adams as engineer, crashed into another freight which was standing between switches, derailing several cars and tearing up the track. Seeing danger imminent, Engineer Adams jumped and in his fall his head struck a rail with sufficient force to cause concussion. E. Bushlein, fireman suffered several fractured ribs as well as internal injuries while C. Alban, brakeman, got off with severe bruises. Auxiliary trains were despatched from North Bend and Kamloops to clear the wreckage while the injured men were taken to the hospital here, where their wounds were attended to.

On inquiry at the hospital this morning it was learnt that Engineer Adam's condition is extremely serious and that he was unconscious and not expected to live. His parents, who live at Victoria have been sent for.

Traffic on the road has been greatly delayed, owing to the debris of wreckage and burning cars. Fortunately none of the crew of the first train were injured. An investigation as to the cause of the collision, will be held.—Kamloops Standard.

Annual Report on B. C. Poultry

The annual report of the B. C. Poultry association contains a very excellent address on "Co-operative Methods Applied to the Poultry Business," by Mr. F.C. Drake, manager of the Cowichan Creamery association at Duncan. The soundness of the principles of co-operation needs no advocacy, but the failures in translating these into successful practice have acted as deterrents to the increase in these societies which the keen competition of the present day demands. Mr. Drake puts his finger on two at least of the causes of failure, dishonesty on the part of members, and a want of grasp of the benefits conferred on its members by such a co-operation which results in refusals to set aside sufficient funds to enable the management to be properly run.

The farmer, who after joining one of these associations fails to comply with its regulations as to the quality of his produce is cheating his partners and depreciating the reputation of the whole of the output. If he deals with customers one day through the medium of his association and the next he again is guilty of a disloyalty which in the end diminishes the good his membership will do both to himself and his partners.

Mr. Drake continues: "On the business side it is odd that the farmer co operatively inclined imagines he can do business upon principles which would drive the ordinary man into an asylum. He has a kind of notion that because a business is co-operative (magic phrase) it does not require any capital, and that the president of the association can do the work of a manager by giving up his Sunday afternoons. This is not much of an exaggeration. If the average poultry-farmer was asked to subscribe 25c. capital for each hen, he would hold up his hands in dorror, and yet if his hens lay 8 dozen eggs each year and his association makes or saves him a cent a dozen, he is making 33 per cent. on his capital, and he finds it exceedingly difficult to reconcile himself to the payment of proper salaries and managerial expenses, as difficult as to realize the necessity of constant traveling and judicious advertising to push his praduce and make for it, or keep for it, a good place in the market. But unless he is prepared to put up the capital and unless he is prepared to allow a proper amount for management and running expenses, he cannot expect to do business.

"No business can be run without capital or management or confidence and good faith between the partners. The fact that co-operative business fail is because they are not co-operative, and they are not business, and that is not such a platitude as it sounds."

In reply to questions Mr. Drake was able to state that before co-operation at Duncan the average price of eggs was 30c and that now it was 39c, of which the producer got 34½c, the rest being the cost of handling. At Nanaimo eggs that had been 15c before co-operation were now fetching 35c at the same store.

Mr. Drake also gave practical advice on the starting of co-operative associations, the necessity for bonding the manager and for a sufficient elasticity in all constitutions to suit local conditions.

A KANSAS DOLLAR

A farmer out in Kansas,
About five years ago,
Went into town one day to spend
Some of his hard-earned "dough,"
"And in a merry jest," and just
To show his printing skill,
He printed his initials on
A brand new d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

He spent that dollar that same day
Down at the village store.
He thought 'twas gone for ever then,
And he'd see it no more.
But long before that year rolled by
One day he went to fill
A neighbor's order, and received
That same one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

Once more he spent that dollar bill
In his own neighborhood,
Where it would do himself and friends
The most amount of good.
Four times in two years it came back
As some bad pennies will,
And each time he'd go out and spend
This marked one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

Had he been wise that dollar might
Be in his town today,
But just about two years ago
He sent it far away.
The people who received in then
I know have got it still,
For 'twas to a mail order house
He sent his d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

No more will that marked dollar come
Into the farmer's hands,
And nevermore will it help pay
The taxes on his lands.
He put it where it never can
It's work in life fulfill.
He brought about the living death
Of that one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

"I suppose Tina is a handsome lass?" said Sandy's cousin, who met him in Glasgow not long after the marriage, and had never seen the bride. "I ken ye've gude taste, Sandy,"

"Aweel," said the bridegroom, cautiously, "she's the Lord's handiwork Tammas. But I'm no prepared to say she is His masterpiece."

MALAKWA NOTES

With this issue of the Mail-Herald, word goes forth that the beautiful townsite of Malakwa is placed on the market. Here is an opportunity that will not repeat itself, you will find nothing like it along the main line of the C.P.R. The owners are putting this townsite on the market for a quick sale at the low price of from $75 to $175, for the first 100 lots, after that prices will be re-adjusted. So come early and get first choice, and secure a home or an investment in w hatis to be the best inland town in B. C.

With all of its natural resources—unlimited water power, over 10,000 acres of fruit and vegetable and hay lands, within a radius of four miles, with mineral indications, in the mountains, the central spot of the Garden of Eden Valley, over thirty miles either way to the nearest town on the main line of the C.P.R., with station, store and sideing already located, also school, public hall, 24x40, where church and Sunday school is held every Sunday.

Malakwa has nearly a mile of river frontage of nice even bank about 20ft above high water. The Eagle river makes almost a half circle round this ideal city, only a small tract was available for this townsite, but every lot is a good site to build on, with natural drainage and surroundings, and centrally located 346 miles from Vancouver and 300 miles from Calgary, also centrally located between the famous Arrowhead and Okanagan lakes, and only a drive of twelve miles over a nice level road to the Shuswap lakes, making the ideal spot for the sportsman and the farmer, who wants to live in town and have a 5 or 10 acre tract.

For further information apply to the townsite owners at Malakwa, or any of their agents, who will have full authority to make sales and give information.

Storm Sweeps Nelson

Nelson, July 22—Two storms of wind, rain and hail, accompanied by lightning, a terrific one Sunday evening and a smaller one an Saturday, did considerable damage in Nelson and possibly cost three lives. In the Sunday storm, which swept over the city about 7 o'clock, the city weigh scales building was levelled to the ground, hoardings were picked up bodily and carried scores of feet, street cars and houses were struck by lightning, and gardens and glass houses were damaged.

Scores were on the lake in launches, rowboats and canoes when the heavy clouds burst, and several craft were driven on the rocks. Numerous empty rowboats were seen from passenger steamers, but no names of missing persons have been reported.

Several persons declare they saw three women in a boat at the mercy of the gale about a mile up the lake from Nelson. Suddenly, they state, the boat disappeared from view. Others say they saw the craft capsize. Launches searched all night, but could not find boat or occupants.

Torrents of water tore down the streets, blocking the car tracks with mud.

When a lightning bolt hit a street car on Saturday, Motorman Chapman was hurled to the street by the shock ond a portion of the car was badly burned. Later in the evening the same car was again hit, the motors being damaged.

When lightning struck a residence in Fairview, a mirror was burned and a woman felt a blow like a hammer on the side of her head. A white scar shows the mark of the current. Atanother residence, a brass jardiniere containing a fern was fused.

Once or twice the electric power was off, and several light consumers received shocks while using switches.

July Fruit Crop

Weather conditions—Not unfavorable for tree fruits. Somewhat hot and dry for small fruits during July.

Apples—Prospects have depreciated since last month. Nova Scotia expects only 52 per cent. of a full crop Ontario a medium crop, and British Columbia has still prospects for a record yield.

Pears — Eastern Canada, medium crop only, British Columbia good.

Plums—Below medium in Eastern Canada, good in British Columbia.

Peaches — Notwithstanding the injuries resulting from the severe weather of last winter, a fair crop will be harvested in the chief commercial orchards.

Cherries—A fair crop of early cherries has been harvested; sweet cherries decidedly short.

Grapes—Good crop everywhere.

Small Fruits—Strawberries short in Eastern Canada and prices correspondingly high. Raspberries shortened by dry weather. Currants and gooseberries good, blackberries decidedly short. In British Columbia, small fruits have been a heavy crop.

Tomatoes—Medium crop.

Insects and Fungus Diseases— The ravages of the Tent Caterpillar caused much damage in New Brunswick, Western and Southern Quebec and Eastern Ontario, many of the orchards being completely defoliated. Apple scab is showing in District 6. Blight has done more than the usual injury in pears this season.

"MONEY SPENDING"

The following is an address delivered at the Y.P.M.A., at Vernonville, Ont. on June 25th last by Mr. W. J. W. Kellie, son of Mr. J.M. Kellie, of this city:

"Money!" I think we all have agreed, while it may "be the root of all evil" can also be the means of much good. Its greatest good, or its greatest evil is generally brought about in the "spending.' Most men can "make" money, a few can save money, but generally speaking, practically all men must or will "spend" money. Therefore it seems to me if we could learn to properly govern our spending we would largely settle for ourselves at least that money problem which has puzzled men and women of generation after generation in centuries gone by, as it is likely to do to generations and centuries to come, sometimes causing pleasure, and sometimes causing pain, sometimes smiles and sometimes tears.

It is possible that I may be a little old-fashioned in my ideas for handling a bright, up-to-date subject like "money spending" in this moving go ahead age. If so you will pardon I am sure my out-of-dateness, and cred it me at least with honesty in my convictions. I do not believe in playing the miser but I do believe in these days more thought should be given to the proper, right and reasonable spending of money.

I have it direct from a real estate man in Toronto, that hundreds of people there are mortgaging good homes in order to buy automobiles, which go out of date and style in about three or four years, making people feel they must buy a new one to keep pace with the others. This gentleman could well afford an auto which he had, but as it was about 4 years old and now a little old-fashioned, his daughter would not ride in it. Could we farmers not shift the scene from Toronto down to the farmers of rural Ontario and see the same thing working out, if not in autos in something else people cannot afford and have not the sense or grit to face the fact.

I remember reading in our church record a few years ago an account of two Scotch families and you know the Scotchman is proverbially noted for his thrift. Both families lived side by side and upon about the same income. One family was constantly hard up, although not wasteful by any means. They tried to be careful and were hard-working. The other family lived along not meanly, but comfortably, and at the end of each year were able to lay by money for future need or use. The head of the first family met his neighbor one day and asked "how is it, I work as hard as you do and in our home we never buy anything we do not need?"

The neighbor replied, "Oh, I don't know, in our home we never buy any thing we can get along without."

There was the secret. If this plan were adoped in many homes today, of course avoiding its extreme application, it would bring happiness and contentment where today there are none.

Do we not often spend foolishly on things we could get along without? Go to an auction sale either spring or fall and see men buying wholesale old broken plows, broken tined forks broken machinery, old pails, pots and pans with ventilators in the bottoms, in fact enough old junk if it were melted up into some kind of composition would go a long way in iron-plating a warship. A piano stands in the parlar untouched. Why? Because the family havent got much more ear for melody than one of the cows that gives a free concert on our corn-fields these days. But you know neighbor Jones has got a fine new piano therefore we are just as good as neighbor Jones and will have a piano too and we'll go him $50 better! We can buy on the installment plan you know, only $2 per week, and no one be the wiser. Oh! the instalment plan! A blessing to many in many cases if used rightly but a curse to thousands who by its abuse are ensnared into its spider's web of misery, discomfort and shame. These are two extreme pictures of spending money. I do not know that they apply directly to anyone here but if we take these extremes and view in them our past spending I should not wonder if in a greater or lesser degree we would see our own pictures reflected there.

Then there is money being spent on homes today making them so exquisitely fine that they are past enjoyment or usefulness. A hard-working man can scarcely sit comfortably inside except under special permission at meal times after which function he directly takes his way out again, for fear he may scratch the paint, or spoil the furniture or sit down on a silk-cushion by mistake or ruffle up some lace embroidery or needle work This is the over-neat home where money is spent to make a man go off to visit his neighbor every evening after supper, or go out and sit on the fence till bed-time.

You think this is over-drawn, perhaps but I tell you there are mothers today, who wonder why it is their boys have no use for home, why it is they go off to town of their evenings, why it is they are going to the devil I know in many cases it is because the boy has never known what the true comfort and companionship of a "real" home is, a home clean, neat, attractive but a place to live in, to have rest and quiet or fun and wholesome pleasure as his mood may call for.

And now a word about young people and their spending. I heard a mother the other day say "When I was a girl we didn't spend money as young people do now and I really think we were just as happy or happier and when in latter years my husband and I have gone to fairs or public entertainment we have told our children before going they must not come around and tease for treats but we would buy a general treat and have it when we got home. Those words have given me food for thought for several days. I have seen parents in public places worried and teased by children for money to buy treats even after they had been well treated. But they teased and whined and fretted till the parents to get peace and for shames' sake gave in even in some cases when I knew they could not well afford it. I remember a boy at Castleton fair a few years ago that spoiled the whole day for his mother in this way and although I was not as old or venerable then as I am now, I made up my minn if I had had anything to do with it I'd have taken him around behind the poultry tent and given him a "forcible" lecture on boydom in public which he would not have forgotten before the next fair came around. Is it any wonder when these pampered boys grow up they are spendthrifts, having no control on appetite or passion, a sorrow to their parents and a shame to their friends. I have taken special notice of young people who spend as they go and appearances tell me the truth of that ladies' words that they are not happier but often the most discontented and complaining and jealous of others.

The young man today who would succeed in a business way must avoid becoming miserly, but must make up his mind to be misjudged and to be called mean and tight and stingy. He must be content to work on and hope on through it all, knowing he will come out ahead in the end. I would suggest right here that he and others spend a little money on their best girl now and again. Oh! you misunderstand me. I don't mean just now the young blushing lassie of sixteen or over. The best girl I refer to may be sixty or over; the one who has been his best girl from the cradle up to manhood and possibly he has not thought to take her for a holiday trip in all these years. These were left for the blushing maiden of sixteen or over who may use him well or make a fool of him. But mother will always use him well and never make a fool of him. How often we fellows forget that the greatest treasures we have in our homes, who are willing to unselfishly sacrifice any thing in their power for our welfare' appreciate any little money or attention we may spend upon them as truly as when they were romping girls of sweet sixteen. When "sixty" is so honored "sixteen" may never fear.

Just a word about the "tight" man and the "popular" man as I have seen them. Of course there is the truly popular generous man and the small, mean, miserly man. But these are not the types I wish to speak about as they are well known. First there is the "popular" fellow, who when he goes to town calls out "hurrah, fellows, let's have something, and goes treat to the crowd. But his wife has the same old dress she has worn for years and the same old weedy hat. The childrens clothes are over-patched and darned by needlework carried on by the faithful wife and mother far into the night. If she asks for new supplies "he can't understand it, why is it she needs so much money to keep the house running and he so hard up." Spending money she has none except a few black hearted coppers doled out to her and the kids as gifts to the Lord on his day of worship.

POLICE COURT

On Tuesday evening, July 23rd, the case of Rex. versus C. A. Thorpe, was heard before Magistrate Hamilton.

The charge of "on the 16th July, committing an assault upon one C. A. Weston," was read over to accused. Accused pleaded "not guilty" Mr. G. S. McCarter appeared for the prosecution.

C. A. Weston, sworn, stated—On afternoon of 16th July, I was met on leaving work by prisoner and others and informed I must leave town; Thorpe told me this; prisoner was the spokesman of the party; I was paying attention principally to prisoner; others may have spoke. I replied I did not like the idea, prisoner grabed me, I jerked away, and he grabbed me again and swung at me with his fist closed; he struck me a glancing blow on the head, as I ducked; I backed away, subsequently I tried to get away, backed up, turned round to see if I could back up to something; was hit with a rock, I had s een a rock in the prisoner's hand.

E. C. Payne, sworn, stated— Some of the boys I understand, met to find out intentions of this man, approched him. The bunch were there, some from curiosity I presume; about 20 to 30. Prisoner was asked if he had quit. Thorpe has a habit of catching hold of people when he talks to them I do not mean to say Thorpe acted so in a friendly spirit on this occasion. I took it Thorue's intentions were peaceful; I did not mention this peculiar custom of Thorpe's before. Weston stopped when Thorpe caught hold of his arm; Thorpe asked Weston if he had quit and if he intended to quit. Weston mumbled something Weston jerked back and began to back up; Thorpe made a pass after Weston reached to his pocket. I do say tonight that Thorpe made the pass after Weston reached to his pocket; my statements the other hearing were correct; if I said Thorpe made the pass before Weston reached to his pocket that statement was correct.

Fred. Robinson, sworn, stated— I was working on this Tuesday, saw a crowd standing outside the shops; waited as I understood they were to interview Weston; Thorpe met Weston I could not hear what Thorpe said, Thorpe grabbed him, he raised his arm, I cannot say if he hit him or not. Weston stepped back, put his hand in right hand pocket; backed up, turned round and started to run, pulled a gun and I left.

Cross examined—I did not see the rock until it hit him. I have worked in the shops for six years. Thorpe and the witnesses were in the crowd this is all I know; I cannot deny whether Thorpe hit Weston or not; someone, I cannot remember who, said there would be something doing When I left the shop I heard something about this man being run out of town.

N. Lee, sworn, stated—I washed up after I left work this Tuesday at 5:10 p.m.; saw a bunch standing round, and stopped to see what the crowd was about, saw Weston come out from the back of the shop, cross the tracks. Mr. Thorpe spoke to him, got hold of his arm; Weston put his hand in his right hand hip pocket; Thorpe drew back his hand, Weston ducked and went back several steps, trying to get something out of his hip pocket. A rock hit Weston on the back of the head as he ran back; Weston had a gun in his hand, Weston disappeared.

Cross examined—I do not know whether Thorpe struck at him before he got the gun out.

Magistrate Hamilton—From the evidence produced among your own witnesses, there is no question of a charge of common assault being proved against you; a threat or the arm drawn back constitutes an assault in this country We cannot recognize unions or non-unions, or the interference of strifes in the shops; in the case of grievances in the shop* you have your proper authorities in the shops to attend to same. This court is not concerned with any reasons you might think you men had to run this man out of town; you took the law into your own hands and the way he was approached amounted to intimidation; British law will not tolerate interference with any man's liberty. It will not be tolerated in this country or in this town, and any such cases will be severely dealt with Anyone committing a common assault is liable to a fairly heavy sentence. I will imposed a fine only, the fact of such a conviction being made and a warning from this court issued to all others, will be sufficient to prevent a repetition; I must see justice done and act according to the law.

You are fined $15 and costs, or 30 days in jail.

Court adjourned at 8:50 p.m.

A number of Western towns and cities are asking for armories, rifle eanges and other necessaries of military organization, and the colonel will find out at first hand just what local conditions warrant in the way of expenditures.
