TO THE BOYS

The Lion Brand Make

There is no Boy's Clothing any better—there is none so good. There is more style about the fit, there is more work on the suit, and there are more Boys in Canada asking for this make every year,

The people who make this Brand make nothing but Boys' Clothing. They have the largest and most exclusive Boys' Clothing Factory in Canada.

The coats all have the double elbow in the sleeves. The shoulders are made concave and have shoulder and sleeve pads. The collar is carefully shaped, and, all together, looks like a fine tailored suit.

The knickers have double seat, double knees, double-stitched seams, and have a splendid dark lining that will wear equal to the outside.

The prices are easy for this good make, and the selection we show is the largest in town.

Boys, Buy the "Lion Brand."

DROWNING FATALITY

One of the most distressing accidents that has ever occurred in this vicinity took place on Sunday morning, resulting in the loss of one life and the narrow escape of another.

It appears that Bert Whitehouse and Sam Carmichael had left the city early on Sunday morning on a duck shooting expedition down the south track. Reaching four-mile camp the two struck into the bush for Four-mile lake which is about a mile from the C.P.R. track. On reaching the lake they saw some ducks on the water aud shot at them, wounding one. Seeing a boat on the bank, they launched it and got in paddling out through the ice towards the wounded bird, which they then finally dispatched. The boys now paddled on towards the opposite bank of the slough, through the ice which was about half an inch thick. By this time the boat was leaking badly and filling with water rapidly, and Whitehouse stepping to one side caused it to lurch violently and take in water. Getting alarmed, and probably thinking that she was sinking, Whitehouse jumped out into deep water, although he was unable to swim. Carmichael, seeing his friend's danger, jumped out too and got hold of him and tried to swim to the shore with his burden but was unable to get through the ice. Carmichael then tried to pull Whitehouse back to the boat and succeeded in dragging him near, although the boat, water-logged, was drifting away again to the middle of the slough. After a manful effort Carmichael got up to the boat and in order to secure it was forced to let go his hold of his friend who by this time was numbed with cold and well nigh exhausted. As soon as the supporting hand of the swimmer let go, Whitehouse sank but Carmichael quickly grabbed on to the straps of his game bag in order to pull him above the surface again. Unfortunately the bag came away and the body sank to the bottom. Carmichael who was pretty well done up with cold and with his plucky efforts to save his friend, had just enough strength left to get ashore and hasten to the nearest camp to break the news, leaving an Italian who came up just as the accident had happened, and who could not swim and so could not render aid, to point out to the men where the body lay under water.

Carmichael who stood by at the camp, after getting his clothes dried, to see if the Coroner would hold an inquest, went home to regain warmth and circulation to his chilled limbs.

The body was then conveyed to the undertaking parlors of R. Howson & Co.

The deceased was only 16 years of age and popular among his friends in the city, being employed, as was Carmichael, at the mill of the Bowman Lumber Co. We learn that death was probably caused not so much by actual drowning as by the sudden shock to the heart from the effects of icy cold water.

Carmichael, who is of considerably smaller stature than his friend, yet the same age, deserves great credit for the plucky manner in which he attempted to save his friend's life in spite of the tremendous odds against him.

Mrs. Whitehouse has been prostrated at the loss of her son and the accident has caused widespread sympathy for the mother and relatives. The deceased is half brother to Mrs. G. C. P. Davis and Mrs. C. B. Hume.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, the Rev. C. A. Procunier officiating at the service. The remains were followed to the cemetery by a large number of friends of the deceased's family. The MAIL-HERALD joins with the many friends in expressions of sympathy for the bereaved mother and relatives.

Imperial Press Conference

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 17 —The executive committee of the Imperial press conference to be held in London in June 1909, have mailed invitations to the proprietors and editors of newspapers in various parts of the Empire to ask that representatives be elected to the conference in such a monner as they themselves would deem most likely to result in the gathering being truly representative of the interests of the Empire.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Three Lives Lost in Train Wreck Caused by Washout

The heavy thaw of the last few days was the cause of a serious accident early on Tuesday morning, near Lytton, resulting in the loss of three lives. It seems that a large section of the C. P. R. track overlooking the Fraser river had been washed out, the slides of water and mud from the hills above being responsible for the damage. A west bound freight ran into the debris before the engineer was aware of the danger, the locomotive and several box cars being precipitated into the swirling current below.

Engineer G. Brown was pinned down beneath his engine and met death instantaneously, while Fireman Ryder was caught among the debris and scalded to death by escaping steam, after lingering in untold agony. The head brakeman, Ole Anderson, suffered severe injuries to which he succumbed late last night at Kamloops. The body of the unfortunate engineer was recovered yesterday and taken into Kamloops.

SUICIDAL DEATH

Haas, Who Shot Mr. F. J. Heney Shoots Himself in Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Morris Haas who shot Francis J. Heney yesterday, committed suicide at the county jail by shooting himself thru' the head. One report says that the pistol with which he shot himself was concealed in a shoe, where he hid it before shooting Mr. Heney. Another report says the pistol was secretly passed to him by a friend since his incarceration.

Calmed by the assurance that Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney, who was shot yesterday in Judge Lawlor's courtroom while in the performance of his duty, is to recover from his wound, unless some unforseen condition develops, public opinion was turned today toward the formulation of concrete expression of a determination to continue with the trial of those indicted on charges of municipal corruption, in the prosecution of which Mr. Heney has been the dominant character.

Several leading attorneys of the city have volunteered to take up Mr. Heney's work as a matter of public duty and carry it to a conclusion.

C.P.R. STRIKE AFTERMATH

Mechanics Demand Leaders' Resignation

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17.—As an aftermath of the recent Canadian Pacific mechanics' strike, the union has demanded the resignation of Bell-Hardy and J. H. McVety, the two men who arranged the settlement here by which the men returned to work. Much dissatisfaction existed at that time and since, the men claiming that it was a practical surrender and some of them accusing their leaders of having betrayed their interests. When asked if his resignation had been asked for Mr. Hardy stated that it had not and said:

"My union has not asked for my resignation, but I have handed it in, and it will take effect immediately on election of my successor."

B. C. HINDUS

Col. Swayne to Visit British Columbia Shortly

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—Col. Swayne, governor of British Honduras, is coming from England to British Columbia to investigate the case of Hindus whom it is proposed to transport from Canada's Pacific Coast Province to Honduras.

J. B. Harkin, private secretary of the Minister of the Interior, who went south to Honduras with the Hindu delegates, is expected back next week. Governor Swayne's object is to enquire into the suitability of the Hindus in British Columbia for the woak required of them in Honduras.

New Brunswick To Limit Cut.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 17.—Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, surveyor-general of New Brunswick, announced tonight a new lumber regulation, to go into effect at once. It reduces the limit of logs allowed to be cut in New Brunswick to 16 feet in length and 9 inches in diameter at the top. Double stumpage will be taxed on any smaller than this size. The minimum size which prevailed here for 35 years was 18 feet in length, 10 inches at top. Hon. Mr. Grimmer said the change was made in the interests of the lumbermen's operations, as the former regulation, while about right years ago, made too great a limit now.

B.C. TRUSTEES CONVENTION

Large Attendance of Delegates —The Chairman's Address —Opening and Interesting Discussions.

The fifth annual convention of the British Columbia Association of School Trustees opened its first session this morning in the city hall at 10 o'clock, and was largely attended. Owing to delay of trains a number of delegates have not yet arrived but will be here this evening. President P. Peebles, of New Westminster, took the chair.

The following delegates were present:

Wm. McBride, Surrey.

J. Baillie, Maple Ridge District.

W. E. Buckingham, Richmond.

Chas. E. Hope, (chairman,) W. P. Argue (city superintendent,) A. C. Stuart, Vancouver.

A. C. Scott, (city superintendent,) Calgary, Alta

Ed. B. Paul, (city superintendent,) Victoria.

Wm. Irvine, Nelson.

J. C. Robertson, J. C. Lucas, J. S. Mercer, Chilliwack rural.

E. J. Offerhaus, J. M. Wright, Spallumcheen.

J. N. Muir, Keefers.

T. A. Shackleton, Kamloops.

R. G. Joy, Nelson.

H. P. McCraney, Rossland.

F. W. Flummerfelt, J. J. Dougan, Vancouver.

In opening the meeting the chairman explained the reason of the delay of several delegates in arriving and urged that as the business before the convention was very heavy, the discussion should be concise and brief. The first order of business was the enrolment and credential committee appointment, and whose report was read and accepted. A resolution was passed that the convention extend to Inspector Stewart, A. C. Scott, superintendent of Calgary, and J. M. Fowler, Wetaskiwin, a cordial invitation to fully participate in all discussions and deliberations of the institute.

The chairman then read the opening address as follows:

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS

Revelstoke, Nov. 9, 1908.

GENTLEMEN:—In consenting to deliver a chairman's address at this convention, I can assure you that I did not only take into consideration the lack of ability on my part, but also to establish a precedent for the chairman to deliver an addre s at all future meetings.

Before proceeding to give you my report as chairman of your committee which was authorized to approach the Government with all passed resolutions, I would beg leave to call your attention to the great number of resolutions that have been passed in the four previous meetings of this Association; many of them very important to the gentlemen who advocated them, many of them of great importance to the several localities that would be benefited by them, but nevertheless you may have noticed by our report, that it is only the large issues, that when placed before the Government, have received proper consideration.

These local issues and resolutions have, nevertheless, had their place in our meetings, and I think it is well to discuss that part of our educational system when we meet in convention. I would strongly urge upon you the necessity of passing a few resolutions as possible, and instead of wasting our time and energy in this way, devote it to the method of our educational system as a whole.

To illustrate the value one locality may receive from another, and the energy shown by one locality in particular, I would refer to the excellent photograph that the Revelstoke School Board presented to us in New Westminster, in October, 1907.

The result to New Westminster alone has been the beautifying and arranging of the Central School grounds, an enterprise that we approached with fear and trembling because of the expense, which has been in the neighborhood of $1,500, but I can assure you that during the time the work was under construction, we received nothing but encouragement from every citizen who spoke to us upon the subject during the time the work was being done.

I believe it is the duty of every school board to make the conditions surrounding their schools as beautiful as possible, as it is in itself an education to our young.

In February of this year, an executive committee composed of Mayor Planta, trustee from Nanaimo; Mr. Argue, Supt. of Education, Vancouver; Mr. J. J. Dougan, secretary of the B. C. Association of School Trustees, and your president, arranged a meeting

CIVIC SITUATION.

Now that the Dominion elections are over the citizens who are interested in civic affairs are beginning to discuss matters pertaining to the municipal elections which will be held next January. In some sections of the city active canvassing for municipal candidates is said to have been quietly going on for some time thongh the parties concerned in this work when approached on the subject, insisted that it is altogether too early to talk definitely on the matter of their candidacy. A round of informal interviews makes it reasonably certain that there will be more candidates for mayor next January than has been the case in a number of years, and there will be no lack of candidates for aldermanic honors. It is probable, however, that by the time nomination day comes round a number of would-be aspirants to the "seats of the mighty," will drop out of the running from one or more causes. The past year has seen a marked improvement in the methods adopted by the council in civic administration which has shown its value in results, although there are always a certain few in any community who complain and criticize on principle. It is one of the incidents of civic public life that if a council does well little apparent attention is paid it, or at least few comments are made on it. Next year's council must be strong if the good work of the present year is to be continued, for the council of 1908 have set a precedent which will be difficult to follow and which can and will be followed only if the collective forethought and judgment of the community is exercised in its selection. The improvements that have been carried out this year have necessitated borrowing, a system which should always be adopted when civic improvements and developmental schemes are projected. To these extra considerations add the fact that Revelstoke's normal condition is, and for many years must be, one of phenomenal expansion everywhere and in every direction and we have the situation which demands for 1909 a council of public-spirited, clear-headed and courage business-headed men.

A NECESSARY ART.

Apropos of the sad drowning accident on Sunday morning last there comes the realization that the art of swimming has been sadly neglected in the everyday courses of instruction of our children. When cities and homes are situated near rivers, lakes or even streams there is always the latent danger of drowning accidents to be considered. The knowledge of swimming is as essential to every man, woman or child as any other art that they may acquire. Rarely does the importance of this accomplishment occur to individuals until some calamity has happened and it is a common phase of everyday life that a community learns their lessons at the expense of one or two. It is almost incredible the number of persons who are employed on our inland waters who cannot swim, and we would suggest that this be made a strong point where men are engaged for river or lake service. It is useless for us to shut our eyes to the urgency of the case and we must be fully alive to a situation that calls for action being taken. How many of our boys and girls perhaps, let alone the men and women who make a pastime out of boating or of fishing near our rivers and lakes, and who could, if emergency called save their own lives and the lives of others when jeopardized. We venture to state but a few only. Swimming should be taught to every boy and girl in the community where possible, and classes could very well be organized at our own Y.M.C.A. where the art could be taught. This is a question not to be lightly considered and one which should appeal to every parent and to our community in general.

THE MOVEMENT OF MONEY.

A representative of The Commercial, says that journal, in interviewing members of the wholesale trade in Winnipeg this week, laid particular emphasis upon finding out how paper is being met. We are pleased to find that the paper due on Nov. 4 has been met very satisfactorily as far as the wholesalers have been advised. Last week we mentioned that payments due in the city on that day had been well responded to, but it always takes a week or two to get the reports from country points.

Wholesalers generally are in a happy mood over the situation. So much of the crop has been marketed early this year, and without serious blockade, that the money has simply been pouring into the country. The farmers are about through with their fall work on the farms, and are getting into town to attend to their requirements and to settle up.

From now on money will be in better circulation in the country. The first snow has arrived, and the roads will soon be in shape for the winter trade. It is confidently expected that a record volume of cash business will be done this season. Many retail dealers are insisting upon curtailing credit, and the farmers undoubtedly have plenty cash. The conditions at this time a year ago resulted in somewhat conservative Christmas buying, but there is a much freer feeling this year, especially at country points.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Pathetic Appeal.

Editor MAIL-HERALD.

DEAR SIR,—I am an old time trail blazer in Kootenay. Over a quarter of a century have I trodden its majestic mountain ranges and chased the goat and cariboo. I have poured red hot lead into grizzly bears, and flip-flopped slapjacks above the clouds on the glaciered peaks of the Selkirks. Never has my horny hand refused hospitality to an old timer or a Johnny-come-lately. My pards of long ago sleep their everlasting sleep in the graveyard near the city limits. Friend after friend is being laid away and our ranks are being thinned year by year by the grim destroyer. Why is it that we the remnant of the husky pioneers cannot have one grand reunion, one heap big jollification, one great supper of slapjacks, bacon and beans, and have a few hours of heart to heart talk of old time adventure and old time stories. If old Pioneer Tapping with his heap big heart and great big opera house, would give us one heap big night to eat our slapjacks, fried bacon, tea and coffee, we could have a swell time. All old timers male and female who have lived in Kootenay for 12 years would be eligible. I hope some of the old time friends will do something to call us together so that we may have one big heap talk and one good big feed on slapjacks and plum duff before another moon is stored away in its cot.

TRAIL BLAZER.

OLYMPIC LACROSSE

Canada Has First Call to Defend Her Supremacy

The London Times says this about the Olympic lacrosse game.

"For the first time in the history of lacrosse the specially-selected amateur teams of the two countries have met, and Canada has to defend its supremacy at its own national game seriously It is in many respects highly satisfactory that the Canadian team were able successfully to retain their position as champions, even when the victory was at the expense of the English team, and it will be realized that the difference between English and Canadian lacrosse is not very great when Saturday's match at the Stadium was won by 14 goals to 10."

The opening stages went all in favor of Canada, for the Englishmen played nervously. In the second quarter play was steady. In the third play increased in pace and the Englishmen's speed completely nonplussed the Canadians. Exciting play opened and concluded the last quarter, Canada drawing ahead and winning as stated.

Collectively and in cleverness Canada was distinctly superior to England, but in pace and general brilliancy, England showed up to more advantage. For the winners the New Westminster man (A. Turnbull) was always prominent. Dixon kept goal well and Dillon and Rennie did good work.

NOTICE

Rectification of Crown Grant

Whereas on the 20th day of November, 1907, a Crown Grant was issued in the name of Frederick Washbourne for Lot 8147, Group 1, Kootenay District. That evidence has since been been produced showing that the said Frederick Washbourne died on the 7th of August, 1907, some time prior to the issuance of the said Crown Grant. That by agreement, dated 29th August, 1906, the said Frederick Washbourne assigned all his estate, right, title, interest, claim and demand whatsoever in the said land to Thomas Shanks McPherson.

Notice is therefore hereby given, in pursuance of Section 98 of the "Land Act," that it is the intention to cancel the said Crown Grant issued in the name of Frederick Washbourne and to issue one in its stead in the name of Thomas Shanks McPherson three months from the date hereof unless good cause is shown to the contrary.

with the Government in the House of Parliament, Victoria, when we placed the resolutions passed at the last convention before them.

We have had great pleasure in presenting to the Government all resolutions passed at all former conventions, and especially of the resolutions passed at Nelson. I can assure you that although we were well received in presenting our Nelson resolutions, that we felt on this our second occasion of approaching the Government, that they had commenced to appreciate the value of this Association, and they did everything in their power to assist us, and all that was said by us or by the Government was taken by the Government stenographer.

I cannot give too much credit to your delegation, for the manner in which they placed the resolutions before the Government, particularly when it came to a discussion of free text books being supplied by the Government.

From the amount of statistics that the Hon the Provincial Secretary had before him, we could see that he had gone to considerable trouble to become thoroughly posted upon the Department of Education.

Too much credit cannot be given to our secretary, for the able manner in which he placed printed reports and statistics before the meeting, and which I can assure you were a great factor in the Government's decision to make the test of issuing a portion of text books free.

In this connection I might quote the remarks of the M.P. for Richmond —Mr. Carter Cotton, who said: "Gentlemen, I can assure you that in the statistics you have placed before us you have removed from my mind a great deal of fear as to the expense of issuing free text books to the Province and further I am sure that the Government consider the Association of School Trustees of this province, supplementary and complimentary to them, and I for one might add, that any further legislation in connection with school matters, we would consider your association a proper authority to consult with on the subject.

Speaking upon this matter we took the liberty to re d the excellent letter from Maxwell Smith of the Burnaby school board on the subject of free text books, and it was regretted very much that he was not , resent with us.

Now, gentlemen, as to the result of the presentation of these resolutions, and the work of the past meetings of this association? I beg leave to call your attention to three important concessions from the Government, which we can properly claim originated from us.

I refer in the first place to the founding of the University of B. C. Second, the commencement of the distribution of free text books to the schools of the province, which was started at the beginning of this school term. Third, the supplying of flags to the schools.

I see that the program calls for a resolution on the subject, "That we disapprove of the order to trustees and teachers, re flag, dated July, 1908, that we strongly maintain the school board's insistance of the use of the Canadian Ensign."

I hope during the discussion that we will inquire into the matter, as to whether it was an order or not, and pass no resolution on the subject that would place us in a false position.

If you look at the report of our convention held in Nelson, in February 1907, you will see that a resolution was passed, "That a clause be inserted in the School Act making it compulsory to fly the Canadian flag on all school buildings during school hours.

Now, in the supplying of the Union Jack, we cannot say that the Government has not supplied a Canadian flag The question comes down to the trustees and to the several school boards, to select or see which of the Canadian flags they will fly.

As far as my information goes the Government has not made it compulsory to fly the Union Jack, but when approached upon the subject by the New Westminster school board informed them that they could fly any flag they desired.

In the face of such evidence as this, I cannot see how we can pass any resolutions savoring of censure to the Government, on this subject.

Another subject I would like to call the attention of the several school boards to is, the value of starting a banking system in each school with the scholars. I believe that Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster all have these banks in operation. I am sure you will agree with me that the lesson of thrift to the scholars and others, not the accumulation of wealth can well be considered by the school boards, who are parents in trust of the children during their school days.

If you will allow me, I will give you a short history of its commencement

About forty years ago, a gentleman in Belgium, by his will left an amount of money that was to be given to the person who would write the best essay and give the best plan for the elimination of poverty amongst the people. The judges of these essays unanimously agreed on the one who wrote the essay and gave the plan of the School Banking System.

This idea was brought to America and inaugurrted in Long Island by Mr. T. H. Thirley, and has been in operation for the last eighteen years. The last report was that the school children of the United States have deposited in their banks, between six and seven million dollars.

To the members of this Association and trustees assembled, I pledge myself, in the event of your decision to start a Savings Bank in your locality to send you a copy of all necessary books for the organization.

I notice with pleasure that we are to be addressed by representatives from the Alberta Trustees Association. I hope that this is a commencement of the movement of the four great western provinces to unite for the purpose of printing and supplying to the people the school text books free.

It may be the starting point of departure from present methods of education.

It is apparent that the most progressive of the nation go West, and I believe it is up to the people of the west to break away from the present system, and inaugurate a system of education suitable to the conditions and requirements of the people; that is to say, that we must break away from endeavoring to give our young an education with ninety per cent of matter that may be of no use to them in after life, when they go out and compete for a living with their fellows:

If you study the question for a moment, you will see that all our education leads up to the entrance work for universities, and educates the student in the direction of the professions Only ten per cent of the students continue this course. Therefore, I claim that more attention should be given to the education of the ninety per cent.

In the words of a writer in one of our magazines, I find that the idea has been better expressed than I have been able to do it: "Since an overwhelming majority of children will never receive any more education than they get in the elementary schools, the proper elementary school should be, not a link in a chain, a preparatory department of the high school, but a complete thing in itself, a complete education of a very practical nature. Its object would be to educate children, not for a world of culture and professional attainment, but for a world of industrial pursuits."

Since a great majority of high school pupils leave the high school between the first and third year to enter business or the trades, a truly democratic high school would provide short practical business and trade courses for that majority.

It might be that we pay more attention to the health conditions of the pupils and teachers; that we might pay more attention to the raising of healthy-minded and healthy-bodied men and women; that we pay more attention to the subject "More building up of the body and less building up of the brain."

This idea improperly put as it may be, I believe if followed, would bring about decided changes in the life of our men and women.

Why should the Government not supply night schools? Ninety per cent. who are learning their trade or business. If it was an established rule that the student had the privilege of night schools, when he selected his trade or profession, you would readily see how the present overburdened curriculum would be reduced.

While on this subject I beg leave to quote to you a few paragraphs from the Western Canada Medical Journal for October, 1908, and commencing at Page 462.

Report of the teaching of Hygiene by the British Columbia Medical Association. The committee were; Dr. W. D. Brydone-Jack, Conveyer, Vancouver; Dr. R. L. Frazer, Victoria; Dr. G. E. Drew, New Westminster.

After a summary of the education office reports on what is being done in the curriculum in our public and High schools along the subjects of Hygient and Physiology, they say, where so little has been done along these lines in B. C. the details of the scheme must be worked out, and the first step would be to have the Education Department appoint a medical man on its staff, whose duty it would be to inaugurate a system of instruction fn our public, High and Normal schools, and act as an advisor to the department.

Dr. Fagan, our Provincial Medical Health Officer, in his recent address to the teachers of B. C. states that the scope of the Science of Hygiene as a preservation and promotion of human life, its task therefore consists, first of all in the prevention, restriction, and removal of sickness and disease, and the prolongation of the individual's life.

Human life is reducible to a cash basis, incapacitating illness of the individual is a temporary monetary loss to the Province and the public, and the death of the individual a permanent loss.

The Province having made education compulsory, cannot divest itself of the responsibility of taking reasonable precautions to ensure that the conditions under which the children were instructed, should not be such as to disseminate infectuous diseases or produce physical deterioration.

Dr. W. Oldwright, Professor of Hygiene in Toronto, proves that the death rate of male and female teachers is considerable above the death rate in all other occupations.

The report also says, "We, as physicians, ought to work together to secure better conditions in our Public Schools.

A more up-to-date system of teaching Hygiene then has prevailed heretofore and this we can only do by putting aside selfish motives, and working together for the benefit and uplifting of the human race.

One writer puts the results of the present education as follows:

Our present ill-advised system of education, is constantly defeating its own ends, and turning out invalids, cranks, and book-full block heads, ignorantly read, simply for the want of a well-balanced curriculum of instruction, an appropriate place to physical education.

Now, gentlemen, and fellow trustees, I think I have said enough on the subject to prove to you that it is necessary to take up this more practical subject and I would recommend that before this Convention disperses that we take into consideration the appointment of a committee to join with a committee from the Medical Association of B. C. and approach the Government in earnest.

As the medical men have said in their report, this can only be done by putting aside all selfish motives and working together for the benefit and uplifting of the human race.

I hope you will agree with me as to the necessity of a code of rules and regulations for the guidance of these Conventions. particularly as to the membership.

I would suggest that it be made legal for any trustee of the Province, to become a member and remain a memqer, as long as they may hold office in this Association.

I would also suggest a clause respecting proxies. "That no proxy be allowed except that proxy be a school trustee, as it is possible for teacher or person with a supposed grievance against the Government, making use of this Association to air or get even with that grievance a condition of affairs that we should do all in our power to discourage.

Before closing I beg leave to call your attention to the increased interest taken by the people of B. C. in educational matters, a state of affairs I am sure you will agree with me is due to the New School Act passed by the present Government. Unpopular as it was at the time it was passed, it has now proved itself to have been a wise measure.

I am sure that you will agree me that the time has now come when a Normal and Model School should be established in the interior, and I am with them, that the convention take this matter up.

The thanks of this convention is also due the government for the printing of "The First Complete Report of the British Columbia School Trustees, with Bylaws," (abridged.) Also the printing of the program for this convention.

Might I also impress upon you the necessity of the cities and rural districts benefited by this association, contributing a larger yearly amount to cover the necessary expenses.

I hope and believe the time is now come when the committee yon appoint to present your resolutions before the government should have their expenses paid, and the thanks of this association are due members of these committees, who in the past have done their duty in this respect, at their own expense.

And now before retiring from the position of president of the association I beg leave to thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me. I can assure you that it has been a pleasure to have acted with your executive and has added greatly to my interest in school matters, and I can also assure you that the assistance given on many occasions by our secretary, Mr. J. J. Dougan, has been of great value and highly appreciated.

Thanking you for your attention, and wishing you every success in this your fifth annual convention.

P. PEEBLES,
New Westminster,
President of the B. C. School Trustees for 1908.

The report was unanimously adopted after being listened to with great interest.

The committee on resolutions are. W. P. Argue, Vancouver, H. N. Coursier, Revelstoke, J. C. Robertson, Chilliwack, J. W. Peck, New Westminster.

The committee to revise the by-laws are: J. J. Dougan, Vancouver, Wm. Irvine, Nelson, C. E. Hope, Vancouver.

The following resolutions were adopted after free discussion.

Moved by C. E. Hope, Vancouver; E. B. Paul, Victoria: "That the Board of School Trustees be given power to conduct night classes for all pupils who are not included under the compulsory clauses of the Public School Act."

Moved by W. E. Argue, Vancouver; E. B. Paul, Victoria: "That Government assistance by way of a grant be given to Board sconducting night classes.

Moved by C. E Hope, Vancouver; J. J. Dougan, Vancouver: "That Boards of Trustees shall have the power to prohibit any child leaving school or being employed in any wage earning occupation during school hours until he or she has passed into the senior grade of the Public School.' The original motion was dropped and the above unanimously carried.

On going to press the convention has resumed the afternoon session on discussing the resolutions.

The visiting delegates will be entertained this evening at the Y.M.C.A. at a public reception by the schools. The evening's program will consist of a series of musical numbers by the school children and others as well as speeches and addresses by local and visiting gentlemen. The presentation of the Governor General's medal as well as other prizes will take place and the citizens are requested to co-operate in making the affair a success. The chair will be taken at 8 o'clock sharp.

The convention will continue their session tomorrow at 9:30 o'clock.

The C.P.R. s.s. Lake Champlain which leaves on Saturday, November 21st, is the last vessel sailing from Montreal and Quebec for England under the intermediate schedule. The winter service from St. John, N.B., commences on Friday, Nov 27th.

Now that the turmoil of elections throughout the Dominion is over, we hope that the matter of a post office and other departmental buildings for Revelstoke will be resumed and that something tangible and definite will result.

The regular fall meetings of the West Kootenay Farmers' Institute have commenced, and W. J. Brandrith, secretary of the B. C. Fruit Growers' Association, will address a meeting at Revelstoke on "Fruit Growing," on Friday, Nov. 27.

The magnitude of the operations of the crop money this year can be appreciated when bank clearings are compared. The Winnipeg bank clearings for the week ending last Thursday were $18,445,071, as compared with $14,897,081 last year and $14,694,181 in the banner year of 1906.

Whether Revelstoke does not possess a hoodoo or whether it is a favored locality where superstitions count for naught and evil influences fail to work, is a moot question, but it is certain that Friday, Nov 13, gave no evidence of the unlucky combination of day and date, believed to be of such potential significance. Not a ripple on the placid existence of Revelstoke disturbed the general tenor of local affairs, except perhaps some of the liberal fraternity still discussing among themselves "as to how it all happened." Nov. 13th was the second time this year on which Friday fell on the 13th day of the month, the other occasion being March 13th.

Don't forget the Rebekah dance on Friday night in the Opera House

Come and guess the name of the winner in the boxing contest tonight.

R. Gordon will act as manager at the Rebekah dance, Friday the 20th.

Prepare your fancy costumes for the Masquerade Carnival, Thursday, Nov. 26th, at the Roller Rink.

The Military Band Organ will play at the Roller Rink every afternoon from 3 to 5, and every evening from 8 to 10 o'clock.

Two Japs were brought into the hospital on Monday from Rogers Pass suffering from injuries caused by a rail slipping and falling on them.

The social and whist party held last night under the auspices of the Woodmen Order was a complete success. A full report will be given in Saturday's issue.

One of the features of the reception this evening in the Y.M.C.A. to the visiting delegates of the School Trustees' convention, will be a grand gymnastic display and drill, including class exercises, dumb-bell drill and tumbling.

Fire Brigade No. 1 have arranged to hold a grand masquerade dance in the Opera House on Thursday, Dec. 3. As this will be the first event of its kind this winter Revelstoke is asked to patronize the undertaking and make the affair a success. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes and judging will take place during the opening Grand March.

What are the prospects this winter for sports? It is about time that the curlers were getting together again. Rumors are afloat that a ladies hockey club and curling club will be organized this year. The ladies are evidently more keen than the men this season as evidenced by their enthusiasm at the first meeting of the ski and snowshoe club.

The following story is being told this week about a Revelstoke "hubby" who went to a certain store to purchase a pair of corsets for his wife. He nervously said to the fair clerk at the counter: "I want corsets for my wife!" The young lady, asking the usual question, said, "What bust?" The hubby, who had now passed from nervousness to excitement, exclaimed: "Nothing that I know of."

The body of an unknown tramp was discovered on Sunday near Ashcroft by a brakeman. The tramp was presumably stealing a ride on the brake beam and evidently fell off and got hung up by a leather belt he was wearing as only the head and top part of his body was found, the rest of the body being scattered in fragments for several miles along the track.

John McGurlie, left Tuesday morning for Peru, South America, where he intends making his home. He has been suffering from asthma and the damp climate in this part of B. C. does not agree with him. We hope the change of climate will completely restore his health and that he may return to renew his old acquaintances and friends in this city. "Scotty" has been an active and useful member of the Socialist Party in Revelstoke and will be missed by that organization.

Those who take an interest in astronomy and the heavens and who happened to be up between 3 and 5 a.m., on Sunday morning would have been amply repaid for their trouble in the fine spectacle of the Leonid meteor shower which is an annual event in the astronomical displays of the year. Although the meteors were plentiful and extremely vivid the display did not come up to the usual mark. Distinct among these celestial fireworks could be seen the Morehouse Comet which is reeling off hundreds of miles a second in its rush to the sun.

A special train with 150 Chinamen is en route from Montreal to Vancouver where they will embark on the Empress of India for China.

A large number of tickets have already been sold for the Rebekah dance on Friday night. This dance promises to be a great success.

A wire was received at the School Trustees Convention this morning from Premier McBride stating that neither he or Dr. Young, Minister of Education, were able to be present at the sessions.

A Fancy Dress Masquerade Carnival will be held at the Roller Rink on Thursday, Nov. 26th. Prizes will be given to the best fancy costumes, ladies and gentlemen, and best gents comic costumes, and best girl and boy costumes. Admission 25 cents, no extra charge for skates.

A serious accident occurred about 10 o'clock this morning at the Bowman Lumber Co.'s mill. It appears that the governor on the engine failed to work causing the engine to speed up rapidly beyond the normal amount of revolutions per minute. This had the effect of causing the big flywheel and other heavy pulleys to burst doing considerable damage to the machinery and completely shutting down the plant. The belting was cut to pieces and other things in the vicinity of the flying fragments of broken wheels, etc. were badly damaged. Fortunately no one was hurt. The repairs will be effected as rapidly as possible, altho' the damage is of a costly nature.

J. McPhail has installed a handsome instrument in the skating rink in the shape of a military band organ. This instrument is a self-contained orchestra with full brass effect, drums and cymbals, and has a rich tone being equal in volume to a full band. The mechanism is operated by bellows acting on a cylinder, which in turn operates the various instruments, the whole contained in a handsome cabinet, the motive power being supplied by a small electric motor. This self contained band will be a great acquisition to the rink, and music will be supplied every night. A feature of the instrument is that the cylinder carrying twelve pieces can be removed and replaced by others of different musical selections.

We are in receipt of a copy of the special number of the Slocan Mining Review just published by J. J. Atherton, of New Denver. It is printed in magazine form and gives in a graphic and interesting manner descriptions of the many attractions and resources of the "Silvery Slocan." The illustrations are excellent pieces of work and the quality of paper superfine. Special articles dealing with New Denver, Slocan City, Nakusp, etc., are given, the descriptions of the various industrial centres being newsy and well written. A fund of information on mining, lumbering, fruit growing and other sources of industry is found in the Review and the publisher and editor deserves great credit for his undertaking in setting before the public the potentialities of a growing district.

MOVING PICTURES Tonight.

We met a man yesterday who was visiting Revelstoke for the first time. He has travelled over the greater part of the United States and Western Canada. Being a business man who makes it his business to carefully investigate the resources of the country through which he travels and the basis of the prosperity of the various cities he visits, this gentleman, after giving Revelstoke a careful study and investigating the resources tributary to this city, stated to us that he had never seen a town the size and age of Revelstoke that he considered had brighter prospects. This seems to be the universal opinion of all visitors to our city and those who are familiar with the conditions in this district appreciate the fact that opinions of this character are based on a solid foundation.

Social and Personal

John McGurlie Bade His Friends Farewell Last Tuesday

"Scotty" has gone, and many a "hobo" and "stoney broke" will miss him, for never has he been known to refuse a meal or the price of a bed to any in need of it. Scotty's friends and admirers to the number of about twenty sat down to a farewell supper on Monday night at Cowie's Restaurant which was a credit to the management and was done full justice to by the assembled guests. It was gotten up by local members of the Socialist Party and all of them seemed to be there. Among the numerous toasts were: "Socialism," "Our Local," "The Poor Capitalist," "The Workers," and "Women," all of which were well replied to, for every Socialist seems to be able to talk, as he reads, thinks and in common life sees the necessity of that desired change in social conditions.

An old Darkie who has been a chattel slave in the south was one of those who testified to Scotty's ever ready help to those who are down and out which seemed to be amply borne out by all who were intimately acquainted with him, some of those present stated that he had more practical Christianity within him than anyone else they knew and also expressed the wish that the Lord would send some more Scotties along. It seems that he was always willing to do anything to help his Socialist comrades that he was capable of and gathering from the remarks of some of the principal speakers, he will be greatly missed.

The presentation of a small purse of gold and the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

A DAY IN A STORE

The Job Not as Easy as It May Seem to Outsiders

The position of a sales clerk in a store is by no means a sinecure and those who know find that they work as hard as anyone else in the city. The following incidents are only a few of the many trials that a merchant or storekeeper has to put up with.

You may think it a picnic to be a grocery clerk. It doesn't look to be very hard, but just wait until a crank comes into the store with a frown on his face; next a taster who taster and prices for half an hour, and gets a good square meal and does not buy a cent's worth. Then others come in and tell you how much cheaper other stores are selling groceries and refuse to trade with you unless you cut. Then comes an order over the 'phone thick and fast in a woman's high-keyed voice who rings off without giving her name. In an hour or two she rings you up again and asks why you haven't sent those groceries. While you are explaining matters to her in comes a man who sings off an order of flour, potatoes, sugar, coffee, etc., and who shoots out of the door and down the street. If you haven't caught the order you are expected to guess at it; then there is a roar.

Next comes a man who wants credit. He has traded at other stores and paid cash, but now has a job where he gets his pay only every two weeks, then he has a small balance. This keeps on for awhile and finally his bill is all balance

The next customer who comes in and asks for credit you politely asks where he traded last. He says: "I used to trade at Mr. A.'s, but he cheated me, so I thought I would try you"

"Shall I call Mr. A. and ask him if you are all right?" I ask, "No you needn't go to that trouble, he says "I don't have to trade here," and he goes out and slam the door. Just to satisfy yourself you call up Mr. A. and find he owes $100.

"Then there is this kind of a customer—a man who has always paid cash, who meets with reverses and asks you for credit. You can't turn him down, as he has been a good customer. You let him have the goods. The bill keeps growing larger and larger and finally gets so large the man goes elsewhere to trade. Then you are out again.

"I have found that the man who owes the largest bill is the man who can take in all the circuses, theatres and excursions.

"Then there is the customer who rings up just before dinner and wants you to deliver a package of yeast foam thirteen blocks away at once.

"Another thing we have to contend with is the girl who comes in to call up her sweetheart and talks for 15 or 20 minutes when our regular customers are waiting to use the telephone."

POSTERS ON WALLS

Comments on the Crude "High Art" Advertising

Considerable controversy is still going on in regard to the posters on the walls. If such illustrations are able to shock the public mind, then there other forms of such art to which these people should take exception. Art in the general sense of the word is the portrayal of nature as she is, and exception cannot be taken to that, although the many and varied crude representations of art advertising frequently give cause for serious comment. What most struck the visiting potentates from South Africa a few years ago in London, England, were the "pictures on the walls" and these dusky chiefs took home to their respective kingdom a large number of lurid advertising art posters, probably to adorn their palace walls. Unsightly bill board advertisements in a city are no worse than the other forms of "business catchers" displayed in store windows.

This is to say nothing about the shapely artificial busts and the dainty models of skirtless limbs conspicuously exhibited in the stores, with a young man behind the counter to explain them. Probably the people who do the most of the objecting to the gay and fascinating theatre posters, are the very ones who are harboring "high art" pictures in their own drawing rooms, only, of course, under another name.

And then there is that attractive young lady with the porus plaster stuck on the small of her back which adorns many drug store windows, what about her? It seems to us that she ought to wear a kimona. And, then, too, there is the gentleman from Scotland with the much abreviated kilts who is looking at the soap advertisement on the street corner saying "Ma conscience!" Why do the authorities not compel him to wear pyjamas?

FOREST ENGINEERS

Courses of Training Already Established in Canada

Trained foresters, or forest engineers, are now badly needed in Canada, to assist in the establishing of a better system of forest management in the public forests. To meet this need, two forestry schools have been established by two of the Canadian universities, namely the University of Toronto and the University of New Brunswick.

The Faculty of Forestry of the University of Toronto has now entered on its second year of work. Its staff consists of its dean, or head, two lecturers and an assistant. Its course of study covers four years and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry (B.S.F.). A post-graduate degree of Forest Engineer (F.E.) is granted after two years, at least, of practical work.

The head, or dean, of the faculty of sorestry is Dr. B. E. Fernow, one of the foremost living authorities on the forest of North America.

A third school will soon be in full operation in the Province of Quebec, and courses in forestry, or preparatory thereto, are given in a number of other Canadian universities and agricultural colleges.
