Judge Accepts Thousand Dollars Bail for Joe Buoscie —Cure Cases

Joe Buoscie, who is charged with entering the dwelling house of Mike Laurenti at 106 Fourth street with intent to commit indecent assault upon Mrs. Rosi Laurenti, appeared before Judge Forin in the county court on Thursday and elected for speedy trial. At the request of C. E. Gillan, his counsel, bonds of $1000 in two sureties were accepted. Mr. Gillan asked that prisoner be allowed his liberty so that he might attend to his property and arrange for his defence.

In the case of Erminia Santi vs. Santi Ringalette, a suit for $29.45, W. I. Briggs, for plaintiff, asked for judgment and for an order for payment of monies out of court. The order was granted. W. B. Farris appeared for the defence.

On application of W. B. Farris for the plaintiff, the suit of P. Burns & Co., Limited, vs. S. M. McGuire for $78.27 was allowed to stand.

W. B. Farris applied for probate of the will of Barbara Clark who died on May 29. T. Kilpatrick is the executor and the estate amounts to $4097 in mortgage, cash and a balance on an agreement of sale. The order was granted subject to filing of affidavit of execution.

Substitute service was applied for by Mr. Farris in the case of H. G. Parson vs. Edward Kenny, a suit for foreclosure of mortgage. Defendant left during the Klondike rush and has not since been heard of. The judge permitted service to be made on defendant's wife in Prince Rupert, on Mrs. John Buckham of Golden, his daughter and by advertisement in a Prince Rupert newspaper.

Leave to serve John Allen, defendant in the suit of L. E. Griffiths vs. Allen, by letter addressed care of Mrs. McQueen, his sister, and also by registered letter to Bowie, his last known address was also granted by Judge Forin.

Mr. Briggs applied for substitute service in the case of P. Burns & Co., Limited, vs. A. G. Thiakison. The order was granted. Mr. Briggs explained that defendant, who was running a restaurant in Revelstoke, became financially embarassed and left hurriedly. It had been found impossible to trace him.

In the case of the Pioneer Placer Mines, H. Cook appeared and stated that some $2000 worth of provisions and tools had been sold. He thought that the property was covered by the lien held by the men employed at the mine.

Sheriff Law said that the property had been seized and sold for $550. He still held $100.

The judge said that the lien only applied to the mine and permanent machinery.

Concert and Demonstration for Machine Gun Fund

The machine gun fund has now almost reached the half way mark. To provide one Lewis gun $1000 is needed, $480 is subscribed, so that only $20 is needed to reach half the total required.

Next week the fund is likely to show a substantial increase, for all those who have not yet contributed will have an opportunity to give all they can afford to the good cause.

On Sunday evening in the Rex theatre a concert will be given in aid of the fund. New music specially provided by the Rex orchestra will be rendered, and violin, clarinet and vocal solos by some of Revelstoke's most talented musicians will be included in the program. Admission will be free and a collection for the machine gun fund will be taken up.

On Wednesday, August 4, the anniversary of the British empire's declaration of war, a great patriotic demonstration will be held on the vacant lots on First street opposite the club. The demonstration will be under the auspizes of the Women's Canadian club and will demonstrate a determination to continue the struggle until a successful conclusion has been reached. The following resolution will probably be submitted to the meeting:

"That on this anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting of the citizens of Revelstoke records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of liberty and justice which are the common and sacred cause of the allies."

Among those invited to address the meeting are Mayor W. A. Foote, T. Kilpatrick, president of the board of trade, Rev. J. C. Mackenzie, Rev. C. A. Procumer, Rev. W. Lashley Hall and Rev. J. W. Stevenson. The national anthems of all the British allies will be sung and other patriotic songs will be on the program.

A letter has been received from Mrs. A. Payne, enclosing $5 for the machine gun fund, and saying:

"Sir:- Will you please accept this thankoffering for the machine gun for Revelstoke. It was a little I had laid by for winter. I give it with all gladness of heart. We all feel glad to do what we can. I can pray best. Yours in the Lord."

The machine gun fund now stands as follows:

Miss Woodland	$10
Mrs. A. Payne	5
D. L. Swanney	10
L. H. Congreive, (Sicamos)	10
Previously acknowledged	445
Total	$480

Mount Royal Principal Visitor to Revelstoke

Rev. George W. Kerby, D. D., principal of Mount Royal college, Calgary, was in the city on Thursday and left yesterday morning for the south on his return toCalgary through the Crow's Nest. SITE IN PARK SELECTED FOR INTERNMENT CAMP

In Operation in Two Weeks—Two Hundred and Twenty-five Aliens and Hundred Guards—Log Buildings for Aliens and Military—Camp Site Fenced

The establishment of a camp for interned aliens in the Revelstoke park was arranged for on Thursday by J. B. Harkin, commissioner of Dominion parks, who in company with W. W. Cory, deputy minister of the interior, arrived in the city on Wednesday and left for the east on Thursday night. On Thursday Mr. Harkin and Mr. Cory drove up the automobile road and selected a site for the internment camp. The spot chosen is where the present road, camp stands about eight miles up the automobile road. Mr. Harkin afterwards telegraphed to General Otter saying that he had selected a provisional site and asking that the military authorities in charge of interned aliens inspect it. As soon as the approval of the military authorities is received work will be started on preparing the camp for the reception of the aliens.

The number of aliens interned in the camp will be 225. This is the greatest number that could be economically employed on the road. Probably 100 guards will be employed in watching the camp. The guards will, it is expected, be members of the militia and will be provided under the instruction of the district officer commanding.

The camp site will be cleared and fenced with barbed wire. Inside the enclosure will be erected two log sleeping cabins, a mess house, cook house and hospital. Immediately outside the wire fence the land will be cleared for the patrol of sentries, and buildings will be erected for the accommodation of the guards.

It is expected that the internment camp will be in operation in two weeks time and it will remain as long as it is possible for road work on the mountain to be continued. It is expected that the road to the summit will be completed before snow prevents further work.

War prisoners are not criminals, says Mr. Harkin, but are in many cases merely citizens of countries with which the empire is at war who happened to be in Canada at the time that hostilities were declared. Under international law they may not be treated as ordinary prisoners but are entitled to certain consideration.

Mr. Cory, the deputy minister, who accompanied Mr. Harkin, is spending a holiday in the mountains. Both Mr. Harkin and Mr. Cory were delighted with the view from the automobile road. "It is unique," said Mr. Harkin, "and impresses everyone who sees it, and if it delights even those who are accustomed to the mountains, how must it strike visitors unused to the beautiful mountain scenery. Once the road is completed the park cannot fail to draw tourists. When the road is finished there will be work in the park for 25 to 50 years in building roads and bridle paths and in other development work."

HART MUNRO MOVED HEAD JUST IN TIME

Shell Strikes Apple Tree but Hart Had Gone—Canadian Private Temporarily Insane, Fires on Canadian Troops—First Division to Train Reinforcements

Hart Munro's good fortune at the front still continues. In the following letter from France he tells of another narrow escape from death, part of a shell striking an apple tree just where his head had been resting a moment before. He says:

France, June 25, 1915

Dear Janet:—

Just a short letter today to let you know that we have returned from a two day trip to the trenches and which was not only the shortest but the most lucky trench experience the 15th has encountered as yet, having absolutely no one hurt. Of course the machine gun section was the only bunch in the front line but the reserve trenches came in for their share of the shelling. I had a light job this trip as orderly carrying messages between the headquarters and the machine gun positions, a distance of about two miles, but if the work was light the hours were long, as we worked 24 hour shifts both days, and travelling day and night through the grain fields infested with enemy snipers made the job dangerous enough to be interesting. I do not remember to have at any time stopped to pick any of the poppies or other pretty flowers enroute, although on one occasion I did hesitate long enough to pick up the head of a German shrapnel which burst a moment before quite close to me. I had a rather unusual escape while at headquarters day before yesterday which will show you how my luck holds out. I was reading a very interesting novel while sitting in the grass with my back up against the trunk of a tree. Suddenly the enemy dropped a Jack Johnson about half mile away towards the front near where one of our batteries was actively engaged in killing Fritz and his cousins. Although it was a long way off, the vibration of the ground could be plainly felt and as I did not know it was such a large shell I thought it must have been close. I moved around to the leeward side of the tree remarking "they are coming our way," when one of the staff sergeants laughed and said "if they

LOW RATES TO PRAIRIES

Government Arranging for Harvesters Excursions Say Members

The following letters from Hon. Thos. Taylor, M.P.P., R. F. Green, M. P., and the Vancouver Conservative association have been received by G. D. Shaw, secretary of the Revelstoke Conservative association in reply to the recent resolution of the association advocating cheap harvester's excursions from British Columbia to the prairie provinces. The replies indicate that both the Dominion and provincial governments have the matter in hand and that a very much reduced rate will be obtained. The letters are as follows:

George D. Shaw, Esq.,
Secretary Revelstoke Conservative Association, Revelstoke, B. C.

Dear sir:

I am in receipt of yours of the 17th instant, covering a copy of a resolution which was passed by your executive re the matter of taking the unemployed from your vicinity to work in the harvest fields on the prairies.

In reply I will say that (as I stated at the public meeting in Revelstoke the other day) I have had a conversation and some communications upon this subject with the Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, and I hope that, between the provincial and the federal governments, we will be able to arrive at some satisfactory arrangement that will enable all the unemployed of B. C., to go to the harvest, who are capable of performing this work and who care to take advantage of the government plan. I remain,

Yours faithfully,
R. F. GREEN

Victoria, B. C., July 21, 1915

George D. Shaw, Esq.,
Recording Secretary, Revelstoke Conservative Association, Revelstoke, B. C.

Dear sir:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 17th inst., enclosing copy of a resolution passed by the executive of your association dealing with the matter of unemployment in the province and requesting the organization of British Columbia harvest excursions for the purpose of conveying at special rates harvesters from this province to certain points in the prairie provinces to assist in harvesting operations there.

I have to advise in reply that this matter is well in hand as the provincial government has been dealing with same for some time past, and the governments of the prairie provinces have all been consulted in connection therewith as well as the Canadian Pacific Railway, and I understand a very reduced rate has been arranged.

Thanking you for your interest in this matter, I beg to remain

Yours truly,
THOMAS TAYLOR.

Vancouver, B. C., July 22, 1915

Geo. D. Shaw, Esq.,
P. O. Box 296,
Revelstoke, B. C.

Dear sir:

Your letter with resolution re harvest excursion was read before our executive on Tuesday evening last, and I was instructed to inform you that our executive heartily endorse your resolution and would urge upon the government the necessity of taking some action along the lines suggested. It was pointed out, however, that this matter had been up for consideration before and that the Attorney-General had some weeks ago discussed it with the officials of the C. P. R., and had expressed himself as being very hopeful that his interview would have the desired result. He is out of the city at present and we are not able to get in touch with him, but can assure you that the matter will be brought to his attention immediately on his return.

Yours truly,
VICTOR H. LOVE,
Assistant Secretary.

BENEFIT TO THE WORKING MAN

The desire of the citizens of Revelstoke that a camp of interned aliens should be located in the Revelstoke park, with a view to the completion this year of the automobile road has been forcibly expressed through public meetings, through the board of trade, the city council and by other means, and there will accordingly be general satisfaction at the success that has crowned the efforts of Mr. R. F. Green, M. P., on behalf of the city.

The internment camp is now assured, and that it will prove of benefit to all classes of the community is beyond doubt. It is expected that the camp will consist of 225 aliens with 100 guards and a community of considerable size will thus be added to the consuming population of the city. All these men must be clothed and fed. The guards will receive military pay, and a small wage is allowed to the interned aliens. This money will practically all be spent with the business men of Revelstoke.

But it is probably the working men who will reap the most substantial and lasting benefit. Work will be provided in clearing the camp site, and in erecting the buildings and fence. The guarding of the prisoners of war will provide steady employment for many who otherwise might be in need of work. And the completion of the automobile road will enable the real work of developing the Revelstoke park to be undertaken. In this lies the most substantial advantage to the working man.

Outside the Revelstoke district, where the real purpose to be served by the automobile road has not been understood, the building of the road up the mountain has been criticised. It has been said that it leads nowhere, and that one could almost count on one's fingers the number of vehicles using the road in a year. This has made it difficult for Mr. Green to secure adequate funds for the completion of the road, and it is very doubtful whether anyone but Mr. Green could have been as successful as he has been in securing so substantial appropriations for the road, especially in time of financial stringency such as the present.

When the road is finished its purpose and usefulness will be immediately demonstrated and the necessity for developing the park will be thoroughly apparent. Tourists will come to the park, not in dozens and scores, but in hundreds and thousands. The Revelstoke park will be recognized as one of the most attractive and important of the series of Dominion resorts and as an asset to Canada of national importance. Opposition to the adequate development of the park will disappear and appropriations for park purposes will be regarded by no one as a dole but as an important feature of national development.

Mr. J. B. Harkin, commissioner of Dominion parks, estimates that when the road to the summit is completed there will remain for from 25 to 50 years ample work to be done in developing the park and in creating of it a great tourist resort and national playground. For half a century there will be need for the expenditure in the park of all the appropriations that the Dominion government can devote to the work. Roads in all directions must be built, bridle paths cut, buildings erected, golf links, perhaps, laid out, and a great scheme of development undertaken. The completion of the automobile road will render this development not only practicable but unavoidable.

FROM THE SANCTUMS

PERILS OF THE BATH TUB

Guelph Herald:—Now it will be timely for the small boy to remind his parents to read the bath tub murder case and discover the hidden perils involved in taking a bath.

RESULTS OF WAR LOAN

London Daily Chronicle:—Wisely developed, this policy of working-class investment may confer social benefits on this country, which will outlast the war. Just as the war-need impelled Russia to prohibit vodka, and has thus enriched and strengthened the workers there by introducing a new sobriety, so the war-need, which has brought about the five shillings five per cent. vouchers in Great Britain, may enrich and strengthen the British working class by the novel stimulus given to thrift. On social grounds, as well as for the immediate purposes of national defence, it is much to be hoped that this policy will be pushed as whole-heartedly as possible by all concerned.

THE PRICE OF SHIPS

Philadelphia Public Ledger:—The man who has a ship to sell today can get a bigger price for it than would have been offered a year ago. The London Times has followed the history of one ship of 3,000 tons, built in 1899, and reports the astounding increase in its market value. In May of last year it was sold for $72,500; in August a purchaser paid $90,000 for it; in November it changed hands for $100,000, and early in this year it was sold for $125,000.

The moral is obvious. The war is destroying ships that are needed in commerce. The man who has ships to sell when the war is ended and trade resumes its normal courses will reap a handsome profit, unless the law of supply and demand is repealed and the ordinary course of prices is reversed.

don't come any closer than that they won't hurt you." He changed his mind less than a minute afterward when a second one dropped in almost the same place and several large pieces came over the roof of the house into the orchard, one corner of which has been turned into a British military cemetery. One piece weighing about a quarter of a pound hit the tree exactly where my head had been before I made the change and I distinctly felt the shock of the other side of the tree. When I picked it up it was still almost too hot to handle after its long trip through the air. I intended sending it home for a souvenir but the adjutant who was there at the time asked me for it and I couldn't refuse. We had a rather unusual and not too pleasant experience yesterday morning when we discovered that a supposed German sniper was shooting from under cover of one of the vacant houses adjoining ours. After he had transferred his unwelcome attentions to a bunch of the King Edward Horse who were a few hundred yards in advance a sergeant was sent to locate and get him. Previous to his arrival however our commanding officer Major Marshall (the famous Toronto athlete) had undertaken a little scouting trip by himself and in a few minutes returned with the sniper who proved to be a private from one of our Canadian regiments which was acting in conjunction with ours. There is no doubt he had gone off his head from the effects of a recent battle, and was labouring under the delusion that it was only necessary for him to shoot everybody he saw. On our arrival here we learned that the reason for our sudden and unexpected recall, which was quite as pleasant as unusual, from five days to a week being the usual term. It appears that the entire Canadian first division is to leave (part of them have already gone) for a point about twenty miles from here, where we are to spend some time giving the members of the second division, (just arrived,) the benefit of our costly experiences in the firing line. I understand that after we take them in with us a few times to show them around and they get so they do not feel bashful in so much kultured kompany, that we are to have a real rest and perhaps (some of us think so,) a week's leave with a pass to London thrown in. I do not think that this division will eker be put into anything but a quiet part of the line as long as we have so many new divisions who have not had their turn, but you may take my word for it that within a few weeks when Fritz gets wise that the Canadians have moved that there will be a big attack somewhere near where we move to and the second contingent will not have to wait long for an opportunity to win their spurs. I had a letter last night from Miss Mabel McKay, telling me that her brother Alex (captain) was killed) on May 22nd. This was the first I heard of it, although at the time he must have been only two hundred yards distant from me, and will show you how little we know of the actual happenings outside of our own battalion, especially as the London papers do not show the Canadian casualties until weeks after they are known in Canada. My side, though troublesome, is not as bad as it was and I am going to put off that operation if possible until I get back to England where I know some nice Canadian nurses. Will write you from our new home in a few days. I received the cigarettes o. k., but as I have given uv the habit I gave them to some more of your friends from Revelstoke. We have had some rain for a change and it is quite cool today. May it continue so until that twenty mile hike is a thing of the past. With kind regards and best wishes to all, I remain

TERRITORY IN AFRICA RICH

Land Which Was German Southwest Africa Rich in Natural Resources

Much speculation has been indulged in as to the value as a possession of the immense territory of German Southwest Africa conquered by the Union of South Africa forces from the Germans, who had occupied it since May, 1883, says an exchange.

Six times the size of England, being about 322,450 square miles in area, and including Ovamboland, Damaraland and Great Namaqualand and sparsely populated, it has been described as a wilderness, with a fertile tract only here and there.

A South African authority described recently in the Cape Times its dominant physical features as follows:

"A slowly rising, sandy coast belt; a high interior plateau, broken by isolated mountain ranges and stony kopjes, and a gently falling eastern strip of sandy country which merges in the level expanse of the Kalahara desert. The average height of the uplands is about 5,000 feet. The climate on the whole is healthful and eminently suited for Europeans, though malarial fever is prevalent in the sub-tropical north. Before the war it supported a white population of 14,830 people, with some 250,000 natives."

The territory's three great natural sources of wealth are minerals, pasture land and agricultural land.

Says the authority above quoted:

"The mineral wealth has been the most considerable source of prosperity since 1908, and it is certain to be an important factor in the development of the country. The diamond fields form a rich treasure house and immense quantities of the precious 'stones of fire' still lie in the sands of the Namib. The fields extend from Conception bay (100 miles south of Swakopmund) to Angras Juntas, a distance of about 250 miles, but they are intersected in many places by Hills and ridges and tracts of worthless sand. The various producing companies, the great majority of which are German, hold a fifty years' lease from the German Colonial Company, and together before the war broke out they employed about 5000 natives and colored men. From 1908 to the end of 1913 gems to the value of $35,522,000 had been recovered.

"How long will these fields last? The experts differ, as owing to the vast extent of the country over which the diamondiferous gravel is scattered and the various depths of the deposits, it is extremely difficult to estimate the life of the fields. The period has been variously put at eight, fifteen and twenty years. New deposits may be discovered, although extensive prospecting operations have not resulted in any finds for some time. Volcanic "pipes" containing the well known Kimberlite have been found in the Gibeon, Bethany and Keetmanshoop districts, but careful tests have shown them to be barren of diamonds."

Dr. Versfeld, who has given some attention to the geological problems of Southwest Africa, ventures to affirm the discovery of diamond bearing pipes, "considerably nearer to the Luderitzbucht deposits than those at present known seems well within the bounds of probability." Dr. Wagner, the well known South African mining authority, states in his "Diamond mines of South Africa" that the lie buried beneath the sea somewhere off Ponoma." At the same time he says that a "long and prosperous career may confidently be predicted for the industry" in Southwest Africa.

Next to the diamond fields the copper mines rank in importance. The value of the copper exported in 1913 was $1,982,180. In the opinion of experts, there is no doubt that the country will supply copper and copper ores in increasing quantities for many years to come.

Prospecting work has been done in connection with gold, tin, iron, lead sulphur, etc., but the results have been somewhat disappointing, though immense deposits of iron and tin ores are known to exist. A seam of coal has been found, and the Germans had begun to exploit immense layers of white and colored marble of excellent quality.

The second source of wealth in the territory is the pasture land. Dr. William Macdonald, the South African agricultural expert, who visited the colony a couple of years ago, described it as a land of enormous agricultural possibilities, destined to become one of the finest countries in the world.

THE SWITZERLAND OF AMERICA

A special endeavor is being made by the transportation interests of Canada to attract to the Dominion during the coming season some part of the vast army of American tourists who spend hundreds of millions of dollars in Europe every year, and who will find almost every European country practically closed to them when spring opens.

The Canadian Rockies, the long trips possible upon the Great Lakes, the wonders of Niagara, the charms of the Muskoka region, the beauties of the Thousand Islands, the old world Quebec and the summer resorts of the Maritime provinces will be advertised as they have never been before.

The results will undoubtedly be worth while, for the habit of travel is incurable, and a great many people who have hitherto neglected the injunction to see America first will take it to heart this year.

But while Canada will unquestionably attract more tourists this year than usual, the volume of business will not be anything like what it would be were the Dominion and Provincial governments and the cities tourists frequent to join together in a well considered campaign to divert to the Dominion permanently some part of the stream of European travel.

The globe trotter does not always see world famous pictures or statuary. Mediaeval castles become a bore after a while.

The greatest holiday region in the world today is Switzerland and the charm of Switzerland consists in the fact that there men and women can live outdoors under novel conditions and play games in which snow and ice have a considerable part.

Switzerland first attracted tourists because of its mountains. The Alpine club gave the country its vogue. And then followed people whose lungs were benefitted by altitude and the dry atmosphere. It was not until recent years that Switzerland became the winter playground of Europe. Tobogganing, skating, hockey, curling, ski-ing, and many other sports such as we in Canada regard as everyday winter pastimes for our own people, were introduced by the Swiss to tempt the tourists. The result is that the Swiss winter season is far more popular even than the season of mountaineering.

It may seem unduly optimistic to suppose that people would crowd to the vicinity of Revelstoke, in the heart of the Selkirks for Mountain climbing or for winter sports; or that there is any virtue in the 16 mile automobile road which is at present under construction by the government to the summit of Mount Revelstoke (with a maximum grade of 6 per cent.) and which will open to the tourist the grandest and most magnificent National park in the Dominion to tempt the jaded palate of the tourists and alpine climber.

But there are in Revelstoke and vicinity quite as great summer and winter sporting facilities as Switzerland has. It needs only organization and persistent and systematic advertising such as the different towns of Switzerland and Italy undertake to make Revelstoke known throughout the world, as not only a city of great opportunity for the settler, but as the Switzerland of America, the playground of the continent and the capital of Canada's Alps.

He had joined the 62nd there and was attached to the 54th in the mobilization camp, awaiting the arrival of his own battalion. Farewell to Nurses Leaving for Front

The spacious lawns adjoining the home of Dr. W. H. Sutherland were en fete on Thursday afternoon when the members of the Women's Canadian club and local branch of the Red Cross combined their efforts in a farewell tea in honor of Miss Matheson, Miss Hamilton and Miss Frey, who were leaving next day for Victoria to attach themselves to the staff of the B. C. hospital which is almost in readiness to begin operations at the front.

The lawn presented a gala appearance, seats were dotted at intervals and everywhere were to be seen little groups of ladies in gay summer attire. Across the sides of the lawn were draped the Union Jack, the Canadian ensign and the flags of the allies.

The hostess, Mrs. W. H. Sutherland was assisted in receiving the guests by the presidents of the two societies, Mrs. H. M. Coursier and Mrs Thomas Kilpatrick, these ladies later pouring tea and coffee when the refreshments were served.

The tea table ran across the upper end of the lawn and was most attractive and artistic with its spotless drapery, gleaming china and centred with a universal bowl of red, white and blue flowers surrounded by a wreath of maple leaves.

Before leaving, the visitors said goodbye to the guests of honor, wishing them God speed, bon voyage and a safe return, each one appreciating the nobleness of the work which these nurses have undertaken.

Lieutenant Will Lecture on Comforts for Soldiers

The regular weekly meeting of the Revelstoke branch of the Red Cross society was held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Kilpatrick in the chair, the regular business being transacted. A communication was received regarding Revelstoke's donation to the British Columbia hospital, and some plans made toward this work. The regular monthly business meeting will be held next week.

It was decided to ask Miss Arnoldi, who is a lieutenant in His Majesty's service to address the citizens at a date set by herself. Miss Arnoldi is on a lecturing trip throughout Canada, and her work is to interest all in connection with the distribution of comforts for soldiers. It should be of the greatest interest to the citizens of Revelstoke, who have given their time and money to this work, to know how their efforts have been applied in "doing their bit" for the empire.

The following items were prepared for shipment:—36 khaki shirts, 168 pair of socks, and the set of comforts and kit bag complete, that has been on exhibition in C. B. Hume & Co.'s window for the past week.

The following list of articles have been handed in:—

Mrs. Pagdin, 6 pair of socks, making 55 pair to date; Mrs. Sibbald, Mrs. Downs, Mrs. Cressman, Mrs. F. Terry, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Tame, 2 pair each; Mrs. Dickie, Mrs. Wills, Mrs. A Wilson, Mrs. L. W.
