Another Hospital Linen Shower is Successful — 242 Articles Donated

Even though the citizens of Revelstoke have and are responding to the many calls made upon them for patriotic and other purposes they are not forgetting for a moment the needs of our worthy institution the hospital, as was testified Saturday when the Ladies' Guild held their annual Linen Shower, as parcel after parcel was piled on the receiving table in the waiting room. When six o'clock arrived there was a pile which the attendants could scarcely see over. In number, there were 242 articles.

The Ladies' Guild wish to express their thanks to each and every one who contributed and assisted in any way to make this, their third annual linen shower such a huge success. The response was so much greater than was anticipated.

During the afternoon tea was served in the nurses' dining room. Mrs. Paget and Mrs. Angus Maclean presided over the tea and coffee the first hour, while Mrs. Coursier and Mrs. McCleneghan relieved for the second hour. The following is the list of names of those who contributed:

J. E. Dickson is Transferred

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dickson and son Blair left on Wednesday for Calgary, from which point Mr. Dickson will leave for Eastern cities where he will for a few months superintend the shipment of stock to the old country. Mrs. Dickson will probably remain in Calgary until Mr. Dickson's return from the East when he will be transferred to the coast.

Mr. Dickson has been local manager for P. Burns and Co. for the past four years, and has been in the employ of the firm for the past eleven years. The move is much regretted by the many friends he has made in Revelstoke, both in a business way and socially.

Mrs. Dickson will also be much missed by her many friends and many teas have been given in her honor during the past few weeks. She was always an ardent church worker, being president of the W.A. of St. Peter's church for a number of years and on her retirement from that organization was presented with a gold handled umbrella as a slight token of the esteem in which she was held by the members of the society.

ANNANCE CASE IS ADJOURNED TILL MONDAY

Provincial Library

Evidence of Acid Erasers -- Books Will Reveal Interesting Side Issues — List Was Labelled — Where Suspicion Started

The case of Peter Annance, charged in connection with alleged election frauds, did not long occupy the attention of Police Magistrate Shaw in the police court in Vancouver on Tuesday morning. Dugald Donaghy appeared as counsel for Annance. He requested particulars of the charge, including the names of the persons supposed to have been wrongfully voted and those who cast the votes. These details will be furnished him.

J. W. deB. Farris and D. E. McTaggart are appearing for the private prosecution.

Friday or Saturday were mentioned as days when counsel expected to be ready to proceed, but the magistrate finally decided to fix next Monday for the opening of the hearing.

Mr. Farris remarked that a good many rumors regarding the matter were going round and it was desired to get along with the hearing as soon as possbie.

An effort is being made by the Liberals to obtain the services of S. S. Taylor, K.C., to conduct the prosecution, but Mr. Taylor is engaged all this week as counsel in the Brighouse will case, and starting next Monday has four consecutive appeals in the Court of Appeal which are expected to last ten days. While appreciating the compliment paid him and expressing his willingness to act if his dates can be adjusted, Mr. Taylor stated this morning that he feared he would be unable to take charge of the prosecution. An effort is being made to arrange matters so that Mr. Taylor can appear.

All the books and papers in the case are being carefully safeguarded and a scrutiny of these in court is expected to reveal some interesting side issues. Many of the records taken from the office of J. T. Scott are said to show plentiful evidence of acid erasures, but it is explained on behalf of Mr. Scott that many more names than those which appear on the waterfront list have been so treated in his books. It is said that this mode of erasure was used to correct the books of Mr. Scott's office as canvassers brought in later and more authentic reports on voters to those previously entered in ink on the books in the belief that they were final.

So far not a word has leaked out as to the line of defence that Mr. Annance intends to adopt at the trial. Dugald Donaghy, who has been retained for the defense, says that a plea of not guilty will be entered and the case fought out. But pressed as to what line the defense will adopt Mr. Donaghy smiles and keeps as mum as the proverbial oyster.

A similar silence has fallen upon the Liberal candidates. With the exception of the letters and statements of Mr. Patrick Donnelly, who laid the information against Annance, no information is vouchsafed. They take the line that the matter is now before the court, and that by agreement among themselves it was decided not to permit any public statements to be made until the matter is probed in court. Mr. Ralph Smith would only go so far this morning as to deny for himself a statement that all the candidates knew on the day before election that there was to be an attempt made by unknown parties to plug votes.

"The first I heard of the matter at all was two weeks after the election" stated Mr. Smith.

CHARGED WITH INCITING.

While the case of Peter Annance, charged with inciting to personate in the recent byelection, will come before the police court on Monday for the production of evidence, chief interest in the sensation of the fraudulent list of pluggers remains with the alleged connection which that part of the Liberal organization presided over by John T. Scott, had with the handling of this interesting document.

While this list is said to contain one or two names which the Liberals hope to be able to bring home in some way to Mr. Annance, the great bulk of the now famous 440 absentees and dead ones are believed to have a far wider and deeper significance than Mr. Annance, or indeed anyone outside the walls of Liberal headquarters, can possibly know anything about.

Mr. Scott stated on Saturday that he had not left Vancouver and declared that he did not intend to go, despite some rumors to that effect which he said were in circulation about him and whose existence he deplored.

Mr. Scott freely admitted that he was under suspicion in connection with the list which, he says, was given to him by some gentleman from the waterfront district. He said that the document went through his hands with great speed—that he received it from the alleged writer, one Mr. Peterson, whose duties are connected with waterfront affairs, and that he then passed it along to Mr. Ashworth Anderson, who declined to pass it along to his scrutineers, though Mr. Anderson is understood to say that instructions followed the list that the names it enumerated were those of such good Liberals that none of them ought to be challenged after 3 o'clock next day—the afternoon of the byelection. Mr. Scott's defence is that he had never heard of the list before he received it and passed it on, that he had received it in good faith and handed it along in good faith, and that he sent no instructions except that if it was of any value, Mr. Anderson was welcome to any benefit that might arise out of it.

Having thus summarized Mr. Scott's argument and position and his recollection of the facts which transpired on that fateful day before election—attention may rightly be called to two other facts which stick up like sore thumbs in this Sahara of interesting details.

First, this list which went in good faith through the honest hands of Mr. Scott was labelled, "Not to be Challenged," in quite clear handwriting across the top of the opening page.

Second, that the list contained many names of dead men and absentees which were the names of certain dead men and absentees, so marked dead or absent on the books of the headquarters' office where Mr. Scott's staff operated. Liberal canvassers brought in reports of their work and certain names were checked off as dead or absent. Some of these same names appear, it is stated, on the Scott list, which seemed to establish at least, in the opinion of the candidates' investigating committee, it is understood, that there was an obvious connection between Scott's office and the preparation of the list.

Of course it is possible that a gang of burglars were unkind enough to break into Mr. Scott's office and steal the names off the books to later induce other persons to return them "in good faith" in the form of a list of "Not to be Challenged." That is a possible explanation, but some people closely in touch with the affair admit that they are unconvinced of its probability. They suggest that it is odd, almost significant, that attempts have been made to erase from the books some of these "absent" and "dead" names. The books were left behind when Scott resigned from his Liberal activities and set up in the brokerage business in a suite of rooms in the Standard Bank building.

Scott's volunteered statement has caused a great deal of comment and not a little mild surprise in Liberal circles, though members of the candidates' investigating committee declined to make any statements in reply. They take the stand that the matter is now before the court and that it would be an impropriety to be drawn into making public statements of matters that will come out in evidence in a few days in the court proceedings. The "Not to be Challenged" list is said to be safe in Mr. Ashworth Anderson's keeping, together with books from Mr. Scott's office and will be available for production at the proper time.

In regard to Mr. Scott's denial that he had ever sent instructions to a certain ward on election day, notifying the scrutineers there not to challenge anyone after a certain time in the afternoon who bore initials between the mystic letters R and W, there are said to be quite a number of Liberals outside of the candidates committee who will have something to say on the point. In fact, the story is told that this was Scott's own explanation of the now famous list to a party of Liberal workers who quizzed him on the question. All profess satisfaction at knowing that the arrest of Annance has been effected. The fact that there is a combined telegraph and telephone connection between Vancouver and Valdez Island created fears lest news of the issuance of the warrant might have leaked through, and the desired probe come to nothing.

M. A. Macdonald, who of course is very much concerned, along with his brother candidates at the outcome of the affair, is in Vancouver. He arrived here from Seattle on Monday, where he had been spending a day or two in company with Wendell B. Farris of Revelstoke, a former law partner of Mr. Macdonald, and a brother of J. W. deB. Farris of Vancouver. It is expected that before Mr. Macdonald returns to Victoria a conference will be held by the local Liberal candidates to consider the question of the conduct of the prosecution.

Two Shipments To Toronto

The Red Cross society held its usual weekly meeting on Wednesday, 26th, with Mrs. Kilpatrick in the chair. The minutes were read and adopted and the following socks handed in for the current week:

Mrs. Copeland and Mrs. Tame, 2 pairs socks each.

Mrs. Belcher, a Friend, Mrs. R. Urquhart, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Sergeant Mrs. F. Paulding, 1 pair socks each.

The undermentioned shipment was made to headquarters, Toronto, 21st April, which speaks volumes for the untiring zeal and energy of the many willing workers gf the association.

Surgical and hospital supplies: 396 large pads, 396 small pads, 792 compresses, 2876 sponges, 24 extra large pads, 8 bed pads, 1000 mouth wipes, 10 assorted bandages, 2 doz. 3½in. cotton bandages, 3 doz. 4in. cotton bandages, 1 doz. 3½in cotton bandages.

The following shipment was made on April 28: 26 day shirts, 8 suits pyjamas, 84 pairs socks, 131 pairs convalescent shoes.

The bycycle given by Mrs. Blackberg to the service of the local branch has been disposed of and to Mrs. Blackberg for this very welcome gift and also to Mr. R. Tapping, Jr., who voluntarily repaired and enamelled same, the thanks of the society are tendered.

The monthly donation of $2 was received from Mrs. J. L. Smith with many thanks.

As there appears some slight misapprehension in regard to the new directions issued about the knitting of cotton in the heel and toe of socks the society wishes to state that to make the heel and toe much stronger and more durable the cotton has to be knit with the wool. Cotton can be had on application.

It is with feelings of the utmost regret that we have to announce the temporary departure from our midst of Mrs. C. A. Procunier. She has at all times been a most untiring and loyal worker for the great cause which she has at heart, and the folfowing letter expressing the wishes of the Red Cross society has been sent to her:

Dear Mrs. Procunier: It is with unfeigned regret that the members of the Red Cross society learn of your departure from among us. The cause of the Red Cross has always appealed to you. Your generous and unselfish work has met with the heartiest approval. We trust that the time you are away may only be of short duration. Rest assured that the thoughts and good wishes of all will be with you in the future. Your presence amongst us has been such that all feel we are losing a most sincere friend and the good feeling which has ever been so predominant will serve as a fitting tribute to one whom we hold in the highest esteem.

Believe me very sincerely yours,

HANNAH BLACKLOCK,
Secretary.

LAND OF THE MAPLE LEAF

Pride For Our Heroes and Love of Our Maple Leaf

"And in our dreams we see them marching, marching,
With hearts and purpose true.
Oh, noble lads of our king and our Maple leaf,
Our pride and love are all for you.

This is a song written by a Revelstoke amateur as a tribute to the lads who have gone to the front from our town, but the Revelstoke High school boys and girls who sing it—at the Cafe Chantant on May 5—put as much life and feeling into it as if it were the real thing, and not an amateur attempt, and so we will think only of the spirit that inspired it:pride for our heroes and love of our maple leaf.

HAS LEFT BOMB PROOF JOB

Writes By The Music of The Guns— Shells Droping All Around

The following letter has just been received by B. R. Atkins from Hart Munro.

Belgium, April 7, 1916.

Dear B.R.: Your letter of March 10th has just reached me and I am writing in reply at 10 p.m. before going to sleep, by the music of the guns.

Since last writing we have left our bomb proof job in favor of one nearer the front, and while working conditions are not to be compered with our city graft the life is more interesting. So far we have been terribly busy. You will probably understand what it is like when I tell you that the institute and Boy Scout tent (a gift from Canada) of which I am in charge, is the nearest to the firing line of any in France or Belgium, and we have shells dropping in the next field or across the road every night, while we can hear the rifle fire of what are but the opening of the heaviest (and I trust the last) summer of the war.

I could write a more graphic description were the censor not to be figured on, you can depend on a few real live stories when I get back. We are the only affair of its kind in a radius of five miles, and cater to the wants and needs of practically every Canadian in the field. Our sales of tea, coffee and cocoa amount to over 100 gallons per day, and had we the accommodation would be twice as large. At present I have only four assistants, but will have two more tomorrow. My hours as I find I have to work are from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., and I have had only three hours to myself, with the exception of twelve days in hospital, in three months. I see many of the home boys who visit us quite regularly when they have a chance.

This morning as per usual I went to town with a team and limbers and brought back all the eatables, etc., the mules could draw. Tonight I find I must repeat the trip tomorrow, and while it is hard work there is some satisfaction in knowing that it is for the boys' welfare. When I asked to go back to my battalion, some weeks ago, General Woods—our Deputy Adjutant and Quartermaster General—said, "You have done as much good here in six weeks as you would in six years in the trenches." So I must confess I felt very grateful to know that my faltering efforts have been appreciated.

The weather of late has been very fine and the grain crops are looking very well. Last night it rained and today has been cold, but I think in a day or two we will be peddling lemonade to the troops instead of tea. I wish things were so that you could take a walk around this part of the country and visit the scenes of the heaviest fighting of the whole war, but you will have to be content with our limited descriptive ability I fear.

I have a nice souvenir in the shape of a cane made from material secured in the best known wood on the British front, and which I hope to get safely to Canada. Am glad you liked the papers, will send them as they appear. Kindest regards to all from

"HART."

The Snow White Moth

"All the world seemed out of tune,
As it does to a snow-white moth, they say,
In love with a silver moon."

And so on, runs the story of the little white moth, who, in trying to reach the beautiful shining moon, tired its little wings all for nothing.

At last, one cloudy night, a lamp in a white globe (oh so unbelievably near) caused its little heart to beat with rapture and hope—and alas! it fluttered to its doom.

The eight little silver moths who sing you this pathetic story, are very graceful, light and airy little things, though bigger than the diminutive white one who will dance its way into your heart at the Cafe Chantant opening, "At the Sign of the Maple Leaf," on the evening of May 5.

ANSWERS WORRY OPPOSITION.

The whines of the opposition press grow more pitiful from day to day, says J. P.'s Weekly. Tears of sorrow are shed for the poor overworked opposition in Victoria. They have so many committees to attend on, says the Sun, that they have no time to formulate questions.

Let me whisper: The little, old, real query mark in the opposition is none other than our old friend, John Oliver. John it is and none other, who formulates most of the questions which appear on the order paper under the names of Mr. Brewster or Mr. Macdonald. Neither of the latter gentlemen is overworked in formulating those questions. Their real worry is the answers. Usually the questions are answered so differently from what they expected, or wanted, that they are of absolutely no use for campaign purposes, the original object in asking them.

It is too bad too, they have to work so hard attending committee meetings, maybe one every day, often not that, sometimes only three in a week. And then every afternoon there is a session of the house for five days in the week. These sessions last about two and a half hours from prayers to adjournment, and that's an awful strain on a man, too.

Added to that is the constant worry the government gives them by every once in a while stealing planks from their platform. The land plank has been swiped, the woman's franchise has been taken away, the prohibition plank has been stolen, and when election time comes around the Liberals will have to make a new platform. Not that the platform ever formed a serious part of the Liberal propaganda. So far as a platform is concerned, no modern British Columbia Liberal orator needs one. The campaign of "destructive criticism," that being a euphony for slander, vituperation, reckless charges, and abuse, is all we ever get from the Liberal press or platform.

The Liberal platform is only a series of theories, not much use unless they are put into practice. It was built mostly by idealists in Liberal conventions and promptly forgotten by the real managers and leaders after the conventions went home.

Now comes Mr. Bowser with a legislative crowbar and pries them out of the neglected platform to put them to practical use, and their loss makes a trap to the unwary feet of the Liberals, while the country gets the benefit. It would seem to be unwise to make a platform too far ahead of elections. Good legislative timber is always a temptation to a progressive government.

Of course there will be a few planks left to the Liberals, but they are not of much use to them because the country is not interested in them. Maybe at the next convention they will take up proportionate representation, to which they gave such scant courtesy in the last convention. Still for a fad there is hardly enough pep to it to make it useful as a campaign issue.

By the same token we may expect to hear very little about the principle of the referendum or direct legislation in the future. That plank was merely a useful expedient to sidestep the prohibition dilemma. The Liberals never did love direct legislation. They would not listen to it in their conventions. They never would have thought of it since they turned it down in convention had not the issue of prohibition loomed up, and it was found to be necessary to have a plan by which they could run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. If they dared they would come out in favor of prohibition with compensation, but they don't know what the government intends to do, so they are keeping mum. The government has made their referendum scheme abortive by agreeing to submit a referendum on election day, so no matter whether the Liberals are elected or not, they have no chance to cultivate the liquor vote except by declaring for compensation. And if they do that the government is very liable to go them one better. So, altogether, the Liberal party is very much disgusted with prohibition

CROP INDICATIONS IN WEST.

All indications are that there will be a smaller acreage under crop in the west this season than last. Two causes are responsible for this. It was not possible for the farmers to do much fall plowing and this spring it is not possible for them to get help for either plowing or seeding. The hope this year is that with the smaller crop acreage there will be better farming methods. In that event with a fairly good season, the crop will be all right as to grade if not as to quantity.—Calgary Herald.

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF A SUBMARINE.

A good story was published recently of a British captain who on being chased by a submarine ran ahead for two hours during which he had the ship's carpenter cut a spar into gun lengths and paint and mount them, whereupon he suddenly swung the ship around and pointed the dummy guns.

The submarine suddenly ducked. That was a brutal trick to play on a It is of the new sea ethics that the helpless, unsuspecting enemy vessel. submarine be permitted to do its worst without opposition in the case of unarmed merchant ships. Otherwise, how is the submarine war to be successfully waged? The new rule is, closed season at all times, for the tinfish and open season for its unarmed prey.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

AT THE THEATRES

The impression that the play, "The White Feather," to be presented here Monday, May 8th, at the Empress, is crowded with weeps and sighs is dispelled with the first appearance of Mr. Guy-Usher in the part of Christopher Brent. "Kit," as he is called, draws a laugh as soon as he appears And he continues to do so as long as the action of the play is kept up, except in some od the tense mements when the opposite trait is boldly brought out.

With a quick changing from comedy to serious drama, the interest cannot be allowed to lag. In "Kit" Brent a character has been created who in reality is compelled to live a dual role. He is "The Man Who Stayed at Home," but if he was living in England now, the Derby scheme would not include him, for those in authority would know that the work to which he is assigned is as important and equally as risky as that performed by the man in the trenches.

To be branded as a coward; to have to assume the character of "a fool English slacker" in order to successfully withhold suspicion from his real mission is that part that Kit is compelled to play. He takes his rebukes, accepts the insults and continues to act the "nut," even in spite of the most drastic insults.

"The White Feather" is a big production. It is in the hands of competent players and backed by a management known over the entire width of Western Canada as "The Sherman, satisfaction guaranteed or money back" organization.

Production and Thrift

"GAIN or no gain the cause before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENTS ARE BASED ON REPORTS CONTAINED IN "THE AGRICULTURAL WAR BOOK, 1916," PUBLISHED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OTTAWA, ONT.

LIVE STOCK—The herds and flocks of Europe have been greatly reduced. When the war is over there will be a great demand for breeding stock. Canadian farmers should keep this in mind.

MEATS—In 1915 Great Britain imported 664,508 tons of beef, mutton and lamb, of which 364,245 tons came from without the Empire. Out of 430,420 tons of beef only 104,967 tons came from within the Empire.

The demands of the Allies for frozen beef, canned beef, bacon and hams will increase rather than diminish. Orders are coming to Canada. The decreasing tonnage space available will give Canada an advantage if we have the supplies.

DAIRYING—Home consumption of milk, butter and cheese has increased of late years. The war demands for cheese have been unlimited. The Canadian cheese exports from Montreal in 1915 were nearly $6,500,000 over 1914. Prices at Montreal—Cheese: January 1915, 15¼ to 17 cents; January 1916, 18¼ to 18½ cents. Butter: January 1915, 24 to 28¾ cents; January 1916, 32 to 33 cents.

EGGS—Canada produced $30,000,000 worth of eggs in 1915 and helped out Great Britain in the shortage. Shippers as well as producers have a duty and an opportunity in holding a place in that market.

WRITE TO THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND TO YOUR PROVINCIAL DEPARTMENT FOR BULLETINS ON THESE SUBJECTS

Tens of thousands of Canada's food producers have enlisted and gone to the front. It is only fair to them that their home work shall be kept up as far as possible. The Empire needs all the food that we can produce in 1916.

Meetings Are Well Attended

The special meetings held in St. John's Presbyterian church every evening except Saturday, and which will continue until May 10th, are being attended by large and appreciative audiences.

The choir is present every evening, under the leadership of Mr. Andrew, and is to be congratulated on the proficiency, so quickly obtained, and displayed in tne singing of the Alexander hymns and choruses. Mr. Andrew's solos are particularly pleasing being sung in a rich tenor voice and in faultless manner. There are a number of choruses of a catchy type being sung, the words and music alike being simple and easily remembered. One of these which has taken hold of the audience is:

"I am included, I am included,
When the Lord said 'Whosoever'
He included me."

It is difficult to do justice to the meetings in an ordinary newspaper report, in view of the fact that each service is worthy of some special mention, of which space will not permit.

Easter Sabbath morning Rev. Mr. Robinson delivered a special Easter message on "Immortality," which was most inspiring, and Mr. Andrew sang as a solo "Christ Died of a Broken Heart." At the Sabbath school in the afternoon Mr. Andrew gave a talk to the children and taught them some choruses. At 4 o'clock a mass meeting for men was held in the Y.M.C.A., when Mr. Robinson spoke on "The Downfall of a Strong Man," and Mr. Andrew had the hearty support of the men in the song service. Sabbath evening Mr. Robinson's message was on "The Mission and commission of Jesus."

On Monday afternoon Messrs. Robinson and Andrew took part in the Women's Missionary meeting, the former telling of the church's effort in redemptive work for girls and the latter singing most effectively "Will there be any stars in my Crown."

At the Monday evening service the subject was "A Universal Saviour;" Tuesday evening, "Drifting Away from God;" and Wednesday evening, "The Choice of the Highest."

Thursday afternoon there was a special meeting for the boys and girls. In fact, the children are being specially remembered in this mission, not less than two meetings a week being arranged exclusively for them.

Sunday afternoon next at the Y. M.C.A., Mr. Robinson will address a mass meeting for men, his subject being "Seeing Life." The work in which Mr. Robinson has been engaged has brought him into contact with all classes of men and women who have gone out into the world to "see life," and consequently his remarks on this subject should be of a very great interest.

Beginning Monday afternoon there will be meetings for adults at 3.30. These services are for bible study and conference and are open to all who may be able to attend.

As to the methods of conducting evangelistic services, Mr. Robinson believes that evangelism has suffered much at the hands of its friends. Methods have been adopted that did not appeal to thoughtful people and certain results have been brought about that were not based on thoughtful and careful effort. Disappointment has often followed such results; and the men conducting the services in St. John's church are more anxious about faithful work being done than about the publication of statistics.

During the mission Mr. Robinson will use the stereopticon on nights to be announced. On Monday Amy LeFeuvre's winsome story "Probable Sons" will be illustrated by lantern slides. In addition to the story a number of beautifully colored hymns and slides of a military character will be used. The story and pictures are said by those who have heard and seen to be particularly attractive and it is expected that the church will be crowded on this occasion.

B.C. WESTERN LARCH.

The Minister of Lands announces the issue of Timber Series Bulletin No. 16, entitled "British Columbia Western Larch." Known variously as tamarack, red American larch, larch, western tamarack and hackmatack, and much more durable than eastern larch, the sterling qualities of this species are described in the bulletin for the information of lumber dealers and wood users. The annual cut in British Columbia of late years has averaged sixty-two million feet board measure, the range of western larch being between the Rockies and the Cascades, south of the main line of the C.P.R.

Suitable for many uses, and in some unsurpassed, western larch supplies material for dimension, poles, piles and posts, ties, framing, outside and interior finish, tanks, troughs, grain elevators, refrigerators silo stock, paving, telephone cross arms, fencing, etc.

Copies will be mailed upon application to the Forest Branch, Victoria, B.C.

There's a Difference

To keep your piano in proper shape you should employ a man with years of valuable experience and who is proud of a good job when completed. Pianos kept at standard international pitch, and well cleaned with a piano vacuum cleaner, getting the dirt when a cloth or brush is useless.

The Largest Piano Tuning Business in the West

I got this by giving satisfaction with years of factory and other experience. It is with me a matter of business conscience to have every instrument at its best, in fine apion and tone. Regulating as well as tuning, and no extra charge for slight repairs. NOT A CHEAP MAN, who will take anything to get a job. Such men know their value, and I am mistaken if this is any consideration for a good instrument, trueness and beauty of tone expected.

The Easter egg supper served by the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church on Thursday last in the Scandinavian hall was a most delicious repast and well worth double the price charged. The ladies worked with their accustomed energy and ability and made the table appointments and viands most pleasing. During the evening the opportunity was seized of bidding farewell to Ed. Corley, one of the popular boys of the church, treasurer of Epworth league, member of S.S. orchestra, etc. C. B. Hume read an appropriate address, and Miss Manning on behalf of the J.B.C. and G.B.C., presented him with a beautiful bible. Mr. Corley replied in a bright short speech.

That the C.P.R. is contemplating the use of electric locomotives through the mountains of British Columbia is indicated from a despatch from Winnipeg, which quotes Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president and general manager of western lines, as stating that the company is giving the question serious consideration. He intimated that he could make no announcement at present as to the C.P.R.'s plans in this connection. When the C.P.R. commenced work on the Rogers Pass tunnelling scheme three years ago it was stated that electric locomotives would probably be used on the new route on each side of and under the Selkirk divide. From time to time since then reports have been current that the company intended to adopt electrification schemes on other portions of its mountain route, but up to the present no definite announcement has been made as to the railway's intentions. The water power available along the route could easily be harnessed to provide the necessary electricity.

Monday, May xth, will be practically the last business meeting of the present club year and all of the members are asked to attend when a nominating committee will be appointed to arrange for the annual election of officers which will take place in the High school, May 15th. A DELICATE CHILD

Made Strong By Our Vinol

Fayetteville, N.C.—"My little daughter was in poor health, delicate and so weak it made us very uneasy. I heard about Vinol and decided to try it and the results were marvelous, her appetite improved, she gained in weight, and is now one of the healthiest children in town. Mothers of delicate children should try Vinol."—Mrs. GORDON JESSUP.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, a constitutional remedy which creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes pure healthy blood. All children love to take it.
