David Orr Tells of E... in Trenches — Ratio... Are Light

The following interesting letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. C. Orr from their son David, who is with the 29th battalion, somewhere in France.

My dear father and mother :

I am writing this in my dugout, or as the parody has it "my little wet home in the trench." This is our fourth day in and we expect to be relieved about the day after tomorrow and go back to reserve. Four of us good fellows occupy this one, and in spite of many hardships and inconveniences we are the muddiest, dirtiest, yet happiest quartette you could wish to meet. This old battlefield of Waterloo is a brickyard as well as graveyard the formation being clay from the grassroots clear down through to Australia, I guess. The weather has been favorable for the 29th, which means rain all the time; slipping, sliding and falling down continually, wet through to the hide and numerous other troubles, censored, will probably give you a little idea just how dirty we really are. However, we smile through it all, which is better than grousing. We have all had hairbreadth escapes which I cannot relate here. Anyhow its part of the business and practically what we hired out for, so why worry?

In a way I have no kick coming against this dugout, dirty as it is as I've come into it many a time tired, wet and dirty and I've thought it the best home I ever had. While at a rest camp I slept in a piggery so you see the dugout has a chance. You are not allowed to tell of your whereabouts, but I think that last paragraph will get past o.k. The four of us were out on a dangerous fatigue last night and Ted didn't get back until an hour after the rest of us; he makes a great picture this a.m., with two sand bags for a pair of pants and a towel about his waist. His clothes hang around a little fire and he is trying to create a flame by blowing his breath upon it. Some job. To date our casualties are very light. That blot is result of shell pretty close. I jumped—none of us have a horror of being wounded and we are becoming used to snipers' bullets and coal boxes, the former are very numerous. Last night I stood on a crossroad for two hours while the rain just poured down. German star shells and flares kept me interested. Right now I haven't a dry stitch to my name. Our method of cooking would amuse you. Today all we had—due to a mistake—was potatoes—we had French fried all day. Truly as you used to say 'some day you'll be glad to eat anything.'

The use of star shells or fireworks as we call them, give me the impression that the Huns are scared of attack, as they shoot them over by the hundred. One will light up a mile of country.

Snipers are the curse of this war. We are dead nuts on them. It is not pleasant to get bullets past your ear from a direction that you are not figuring on.

Sept. 29, 1915—Last night three of the boys were out on a fatigue. I was left alone in the dugout. I had no sooner blown out the precious bit of candle than a thousand eyes were peering at me. The place is full of knats. The ceiling is, of course, only three feet high. The staw and mud roof is all mildewed. The rain drips on my ear all night long.

Pre-historic or cave men is correct. So also is that artists picture of this battlefield wherein he depicts a country scene, with not a living thing in sight. There is noise enough to make up for it though. The rumble—like the roll of a drum—never ceases. It puzzles me that they can make ammunition faster than they can shoot it. The issue of rations for today is a little short; we had to resort to hardtack, with the result that one of my front teeth broke off. An air fight took place overhead today. We had to run for cover. How that German escaped beats me. He sailed through a sea of shells, but I'll bet he felt a little worried. After the heavy rain the trenches are in an awful state, its not mud but soup, slime, slurry. Oh I can't find a name fitting. This a.m. I made two trips through the trenches. I prefer daylight. Half way down I rested, and just over the parapet stood an old

MAY NOT CARRY FIREARMS WITHIN NATIONAL PARKS

...t be Sealed Before Entering Park — Regulations ... Be Strictly Enforced, Says Superintendent— Do... Not Allowed Within Park — Hunting Not Permitted

"I see that Mr. A. Bryan Williams, the provincial game warden says that hunting within the Revelstoke park is not illegal, that the park wardens have no right to tell anyone they may not hunt in the park and that the prosecution for hunting in the park would most certainly not lead to a conviction," said F. E. Maunder superintendent of the Revelstoke park "I would not advise anyone to shoot game in the park on the strength of Mr. Williams' statement," he continued. "There is not only a regulation forbidding the hunting of any wild animal or bird within the Dominion parks but there is a law forbidding the carrying of firearms within the limits of the parks and I may say that the park officials intend to strictly enforce the law in this respect. Even if the contention of Mr. Williams that the Dominion authorities have not power to pass regulations forbidding hunting is correct, this argument does not apply to the regulation forbidding the use of firearms in a National park, and in that case the hunting would have to be done with a sealed gun. No firearm may be taken into the park unless it has first been sealed by an officer of the park and no dog is permitted to run at large in the park. Severe penalties are provided for any violation of these regulations.

"On June 21, 1909, the administrator in council established regulations to apply 'to all of the national parks.'

"On April 28, 1914, the Revelstoke National park was established by order-in-council, and these regulations consequently now apply within the limits of the Revelstoke park.

"Some of the provisions of the order-in-council are as follows:

"No person shall hunt, take, kill, wound, injure or destroy, or pursue with such intent, any wild animal or bird within the parks."

"No person residing in or visiting or travelling through the parks except a duly authorised game guardian, shall have in his possession or carry any rifle, shot gun or other firearm, unless such rifle, shotgun or other fire arm shall have been sealed by the superintendent or other officer authorized by the superintendent; and no such seal shall be broken within the limits of the parks except as hereinafter provided."

"Any unsealed rifle, shot gun or other firearm found within any of the parks may be confiscated by the superintendent, ranger, guardian or other officer."

"No dog shall be allowed to run at large in any townsites or other portions of the parks. Any dog so running at large may be impounded and shall only be released on payment of not less than two dollars and costs. If not claimed and charges paid within forty-eight hours the dog may be destroyed.

"Any dog so impounded a second time may be destroyed without the option of a fine. The owner of any dog destroyed under these regulations shall have no claim for compensation.

"No person shall fish for, take, catch or kill, from or in any of the waters of the parks any fish that inhabit such waters, or attempt to do so, with any kind of net, seine or snare, rack, trap or weir, or night line, or set line, or in any other way than by hook and line.

"The outfits of all persons found hunting or trapping, or fishing illegally, or having in their posession game or fish killed within the parks in contravention of clauses 61, 64, 65 or 66 of these regulations; also such game or fish taken or had in possession by such persons, shall be subject to seizure and confiscation; but such seizure and confiscation shall not relieve such persons from the penalties provided for an infraction of these regulations."

"The illegal possession of every head of game shall be a separate offence."

"The superintendent of any of the parks, or in his absence any person occupying that position, or any game guardian appointed by the Minister of the Interior, shall have authority to enter upon and search the premises of any person or persons whom he or they have reason to suspect of having fish or game in their possession contrary to any of the provisions of these regulations, and if such person or persons shall be found to be in possession of game or fish contrary to the provisions of these regulations, such fish or game may be confiscated."

"Any person who violates any of the provisions of any of these regulations, shall, except, as hereinafter specially provided, be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars and costs, and in default of payment thereof, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months."

"The authority for making and enforcing these regulations is contained in the Forest Reserves & Park act, which says

"'The governor in council may make regulations for the preservation of game, birds, fish and other animals and the destruction of noxious, dangerous and destructive animals.'

"This law also provides that 'any forest officer may on view without warrant or legal process arrest and bring before a justice of the peace to be dealt with according to law, or may on view arrest and remove from any reserve any person found violating and provision of the Forest Reserves & Parks act or any regulation made thereunder.'

"'Any forest officer may seize, whether within a reserve or elsewhere, all timber cut or removed, all mineral removed, all animals, birds and fish captured or killed, and within a reserve may seize all firearms, ammunition, explosives, spears, traps, nets, rods, lines, tackle and appliances used or found in the possession of any person without lawful authority or in contravention of any provision of this act, or of any regulation made thereunder, and when so seized they shall be dealt with according to law.

"'For the purpose of searching for anything mentioned in subsection 2 of this section, any forest officer may, without warrant or legal process, enter and search any house, dwelling, structure or camp within a reserve, or within ten miles of the boundary of a reserve.

"'An arrest, removal, seizure or confiscation shall not relieve the offender from any other penalty to which he may be liable under this act or otherwise.'"

ORDER LIGHT TO BE CUT OFF

City Will Sue for Taxes—Business Condition Debated by Council

It was well past the witching hour last night when the city council adjourned after a session in which a variety of subjects had been discussed, the debate at times being almost as stormy as the weather outside the city hall.

Orders were given to the city clerk to cut off the light from a number of consumers who had failed to reduce their arrears due to the city, as required by a recent resolution of the council, and the clerk was also instructed to enter suit against those who have failed to pay their taxes for 1913.

A spirited discussion took place regarding the business condition of the city and the lower town representatives urged strongly that something be done to alleviate conditions. One proposal was that the police should be instructed not to go further toward Lower town than the brewery. The mayor said it would be necessary for the council to pass a resolution before any change of policy was put into force by the police commissioners. During the discussion it was moved that the police force be reduced by two men but the motion, although discussed, was not seconded.

A telegram was received from the Canadian Westinghouse company asking what price the city would take for its 250 kilowatt generator. C. North, electrical superintendent, said that he proposed to use the generator in connection with the gas engine. The engine required a new producer. It was decided not to sell the generator, but to offer the smaller 150 k. w. generator for sale.

Mr. North made recommendations to the council regarding the light and heating rates charged by the city. He suggested that the heating rate should be two cents per kilowatt instead of three cents, with a discount of 20 per cent. He proposed a minimum monthly rate for light of fifty cents or one dollar when a porch light is installed. Some consumers, he said, used so little light that it did not pay to collect the accounts and he thought a minimum charge should be enforced. His recommendations will be discussed when the water and light bylaws are under consideration. A resolution was passed providing that new consumers of light must put up a deposit sufficient to cover the first month's account before light connection is made, instead of only four dollars as at present required.

The recent grant toward the Ski club's carnival was discussed. The mayor explained that some members of the club had given a note for this amount to a bank when financing the construction of the new jump and the city grant was required to take up this note. It was decided to postpone final decision as to whether the grant shall be rescinded until the next meeting. The decision will be influenced by the freedom with which taxes are paid.

The council decided to supply water to Mrs. R. Tapping's property provided that the pipe were installed at the owner's expense.

A resolution was passed notifying C. F. Lindmark that if the building owned by him and used as a poolroom were not connected with the sewer within ten days it would be closed by the health authorities.

It was decided to apply to the provincial government for water rights to the extent of 350,000 gallons a day The cost will be $35 a year.

"DANCING" KELLY WOUNDED: ANOTHER REVELSTOKE BOY IS REPORTED TO BE KILLED

W. Fleming has received a letter from his son Thomas, who left here with the draft from the 54th battalion under Lieut. McLean, dated Shorncliffe, Oct. 10, in which he says: "Poor old Kelly got seriously wounded a couple of weeks ago. He was in that big advance. A fellow by the name of Paddy Shean got killed and another fellow Cunningham is in the hospital in London. They all enlisted in Revelstoke and left here for France together not very long ago. The weather is getting cold and damp here now, but I have lots of warm clothes. They gave us all new guns and equipment the other day, different from the ones we had over there. They have a bayonet about 2 feet long. I would like to have it into one of the Germans. The 54th draft will all leave for the front together. I don't know exactly when it will be but it won't be long."

ANSWER WITHIN TEN DAYS

Will Announce Whether Arrow Lakes Service Will be Resumed in Summer

The question of the reduction of the Arrow Lakes service was placed before F. E. Trautman, assistant to Grant Hall, vice president and general manager of the C.P.R., at a special meeting of the Nelson board of trade on Saturday. Mr. Trautman stated that he would place the matter before Mr. Hall from the standpoint of the delegation and do everything in his power to make the vice-president see the importance of the service to the ranchers. He further promised that a definite answer regarding the continuance of the tri-weekly boat service after the winter would be given within 10 days.

In urging the case for the ranchers F. G. Fauquier stated that it was necessary for the ranchers to have a definite answer from the company within 30 days, as to whether the tri-weekly was to be permanent or whether the daily service would be resumed in the spring in order that should the company decide to continue the one boat service, they might have time in which to plow in their strawberries and other small fruits and plant other things instead. He said that in order to make it possible for the ranchers to ship their small fruits a daily service would have to be resumed not later than the last day of May; otherwise, he said, the money invested in this industry would be lost and the majority of the ranchers ruined as a result.

He claimed that a regular tri-weekly service would greatly hamper the newly developed activities in the district in mixed farming. Many of the new comers to the district, he said, were laying out their farms for this purpose, believing that a daily service was an assured thing. The Dominion government, he said, was doing all in its power to foster this branch of agriculture in the district as he maintained much fine grazing land was to be had in the lake district and that advances made with the help of the government warranted the erection of a dairy for the purpose of utilising the product of the farms. The reduction of the boat service, he claimed, would make such such a step impossible as it would mean the holding of perishable stuff until it would be unfit for use. He then called upon Capt. Gore to confirm his statement that there was a steady increase in freight shipments over the Arrow lakes route. This the captain did saying that although the passenger service would not warrant a daily service at any time the local fruit shipments had been increasing steadily year by year in spite of bad business conditions.

H. J. LaBrash of Nakusp also urged upon the company the vital necessity of a daily boat service on the lakes. He claimed that the population was greatly on the increase and that the people had taken up land on the distinct understanding with the company that a daily service would be maintained. He contended that if the tri-weekly service became permanent the entire district would be ruined but on the other hand, he declared that in his opinion, if the daily service was continued the Arrow lakes district would in less than 10 years outdo the Okanagan. Agricultural development was going forward so rapidly he declared, that the company would more than reap any slight loss it might incur by assist- output.

To instal a tri-weekly service that would be permanent, he declared, would be to set back the hands of the clock 20 years in the district and place the people back where they were at that time. Further, he stated that the influx of settlers into the district would immediately cease and that those who could would be compelled to leave while the others would be utterly ruined. In concluding he said: "The growth of the Arrow Lakes district is materially due to the fact that there is a daily freight service, the curtailment of which would cripple it, perhaps forever. The future of these waterways is therefore in the hands of the company."

Two More Recruits for Fifty-fourth Battalion

Two more recruits for the 54th battalion have enlisted and left this morning for Vernon. They are:

David Low, age 33, born Newcastle on Tyne, next of kin J. H. Low, Houghton, Lespring, England, brother. Mr. Low has been C.P.R. dining and sleeping car agent in Revelstoke for several years and was recently moved to Vancouver.

Aubrey Shanks, age 29, born Windsor, N. S., next of kin J. M. Shanks, Windsor, N. S.; cook. Mr. Shanks for the past year has been steward on Superintendent J. M. McKay's private car.

Mud Sticks Fast in Belgian Trenches

A. E. Davey, formerly employed by Bourne Bros., Ltd., now in the trenches in Belgium writes to H. J. Parker an interesting letter in which he mentions that Hart Munro is in hospital but that other Revelstoke boys are well. He says:

"It looks a little more promising for us out here now, though I guess we will get all we want before it is through. One thing there does not appear to be any lack of shells, the same as there was. So far as we are able to judge our artillery are quite able to hold their own with perhaps a little interest added which all helps the infantrymen, though at times when things begin to get a little too warm, one is inclined to wish that high explosives were never invented. We have not been mixed up in the scrap so far, only so far as holding the line where we are, we could hear the bombardment which proceeded it. They certainly went to it and must have done good work. We are beginning to get a taste of what winter is like with the rain. The soil which is clay sticks to your boots and makes one slide and slip as though one had too much Johnny Walker which there is not much fear of out here. We have a shot of rum occasionally but that does not wet your whistle enough to say anything about it.

"I have not seen Boyle or Young lately, nor have I seen Warren yet. I understand they are around in this neighborhood. Munro has gone to hospital sick. Our batch is gradually getting smaller. Al Bertelson, Bill McInerny, Harry Maxwell and one or two more are still around and looking as well as possible under the circumstances. I hear that some of the 48th from B. C. are expecting to reinforce this battalion so there might be a few we know amongst them. The weather has been fine and dry this last couple of days, so we are drying out and scraping off some of the outside mud which sticks like an old friend."

Strictly fresh eggs were 60 cents a dozen at Nelson market on Saturday.

In the Kaslo country the small crop of huckleberries is said to be responsible for the shortage of grouse this season.

DOING ITS DUTY

The recent establishment of nearly twenty new battalions, and the statement of Major General Sir Sam Hughes that he expects by next spring Canada will have an army of a quarter of a million men, either at the front or in training in Canada, are good evidence that the Borden government does not intend to relax its efforts in warlike preparations

The King's appeal for men is addressed not only to the people of the British Isles but also to the people of the British Dominions beyond the seas. It is a stirring appeal, it brings home the realization that more men are an urgent need and it will meet with ready response. Recruiting throughout Canada is proceeding steadily and there is no reason to fear any lack of men in the battalions, the raising of which is authorized by the government..

Kootenay has no cause to feel anything but pride in the patriotism of which its sons have given evidence. The Kootenay battalion was brought to full strength with remarkable rapidity and, notwithstanding the large number of recruits from Kootenay which joined other battalions, overseas drafts have been supplied and the battalion has been kept at full strength. Few towns in the interior have the splendid record of Revelstoke in the matter of enlistments. But need for more men still exists. The fiercest struggles of the war have still to come. Canada will bring to the task that lies before it renewed determination, and that determination will be felt nowhere more strongly than in the interior of British Columbia.

THE ARROW LAKES SERVICE

Revelstoke is considerably interested in the curtailment of the train and steamer service between Revelstoke and West Robson, and will await with some anxiety the decision of the officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway company as to whether the daily service in both directions is to be restored next summer, announcement of which is promised within the next few days.

The daily service hitherto provided between Revelstoke and West Robson is said to have been unprofitable and in future much traffic between Crows Nest and Boundary points and the coast, which in the past has followed the Arrow Lakes route through Revelstoke, will travel over the newly constructed Kettle Valley railway. Under these circumstances the decision of the railway company is not surprising. But, especially if the service is not restored in the summer, the policy of the company will cause a serious hardship. Settlers on the Arrow Lakes have bought land and planted areas of small fruits owing to the transportation facilities hitherto provided and will suffer loss and inconvenience if the opportunity to market perishable produce is restricted. Much of this territory is tributary to Revelstoke, and the city is interested in conditions which increase or decrease the prosperity of the district. The reduced service between Arrowhead and Revelstoke will also tend to cut Revelstoke off from the mining and lumbering districts of Arrowhead and Beaton, Trout Lake, Ferguson, Camborne and the Slocan, at a time when mining prospects are exceptionally bright and when the market for lumber is steadily improving.

If the officials of the company should decide that the restoration of the daily service is warranted for the sake of developing a territory which has great possibilities for providing freight, Revelstoke and the other districts concerned will have much cause for satisfaction.

FROM THE SANCTUMS

THE TRUTH

Ottawa Journal: The truth is, we may as well admit it, that our interest in this war borders a little too much on the side of the intellectual. We probably do not adequately realize what defeat for the British Empire would mean. And, apart from a few calls for various funds, and a little extra taxation we have not felt even a financial strain. We talk and speculate as to the possibility of Greece or Roumania or Bulggria joining this side or that and seem to think that they almost hold the balance. It does not seem eo dawn upon us that Canada has a military population probably greater than either of the Balkan nations and is more than their equal in wealth.

BLUE FUNK PROMOTER, LTD.

Golden Star: Pessimism is like the measles, whooping cough, chicken pox and other kindred ills of our youth. Just about so often the germ gets into the system and lingers there until some person from an immune district comes along with a panacea.

About the most soul-trying, blighting blue-funk promoting iniquity that can befall a community is the presence of the man who crosses the street to tell one the country has gone to the dimnition bow-wows and that to make matters worse the family cat had on that very morning paid her respects with seven kittens in the clothes closet.

There are people who will live in the past even though it has to do with a stubbed toe of youth or the ordeals of cutting stomach teeth They imagine the shoe still hurts that toe, and that they are still teething.

PATRIOTIC FUND.

Toronto Globe: It should not suffice to regard easy going support of the fund to meet a national obligation as our standard. It is doubtful whether five per cent. of the population could be found who could claim that their patriotic or charitable efforts during the past year had actually caused them any personal sacrifice or seriously affected their grade of comfortable living. The population of Canada—still a prosperous and wealthy country relatively, with increasing hoards of liquid assets—must contain at least one million persons who would not suffer through contributing one dollar per month towards the premier patriotic organization. That would not entail the supposition that at least as much more was not available for other special causes which have claims. When it is remembered what great sums have been subscribed by a few liberal donors in the Dominion during the first year, it is evident that many reefs of pay ore have not yet been tapped at all.

Miss Bunnell Winner of Raffled Doilies

The regular meeting of the Red Cross society was held on Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A., Mrs. Kilpatrick presiding.

The proceeds from sale of tickets on two doilies donated by Miss Joliffe was turned in and amounted to the handsome sum of $32.00. The drawing took place on Saturday and Miss Bunnell was the lucky winner of 1st prize and Mrs. Tomlinson the second prize.

The proceeds from Mrs. McCarter's and Mrs. Holten's tea given on Saturday for Christmas cheer for the soldiers amounted to $45.00. Mrs. Fleming's monthly donation of $1.00 and Miss Eva Fleming's donation of 25c. were received, and a hearty vote of thanks passed for all that helped to raise the above funds. The committee in charge of the cutting of garments reported there was plenty of sewing on hand now for all that would do it. The need is great for this work and many volunteers are hoped for.

A general invitation is extended all members of the Red Cross to attend the annual meeting which will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday next, Nov. 3, at 3 p.m., when officers will be elected for the coming year.

It is important for members to know that according to the interpretation of the rules regarding the eligibility of members to vote and hold office, as laid down by the headquarters at Toronto, only life and active members whose subscriptions have been paid are entitled to vote and hold office for 1 year.

A shipment consisting of 120 pair socks, 6 pair convalesent shoes, 19 suits pyjamas, 2 khaki shirts and 1 pair wristlets was sent to headquarters on Wednesday and 10 doz. surgical kits, 60 4 inch bandages, 24 3½ inch bandages, 12 3 inch bandages, 26 pair convalescent shoes, 35 personal property bags were shipped on Tuesday. Work received was as follows: Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. K. Tapping, Mrs. G. Kimberly, Mrs. McCullock, Miss McKinnon, Mrs. J. Lees, Doris Cartwright, Mrs. J. Morgan, Three Valley, Mrs. Dickey, Mrs. W. A. Sturdy, Mrs. Kenward, Mrs Farmiloe, 1 pair socks each; Mrs. Flockhart, Mrs. Copeland, Mrs. H. Cook, Mrs. G. I. Baker, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Crick, 2 pair socks each; Mrs. Tame, Mrs. D. E. Noble, Arrowhead, Mrs. A. McLean, 3 pair socks each; Mrs. Hendricks, Arrowhead, 4 pair socks; Miss Beth Tapping, 6 pair convalescent shoes; Mrs. B. Van Horne, 2 suits pyjamas.

An appeal was made for old underwear and sock tops to use in the interlining of convalescent shoes.

The annual meeting of the Slocan District Conservative association was held in Sandon last week. S. J. Towgood of Sandon was elected president and J. W. Tinling, secretary.

Hundred Horsepower Plant at Monarch Mine

FIELD, B. C., Oct. 29—As soon as the steam plant is completed at the Monarch mine 60 tons of ore will be treated daily. This plant will have 100 horse power, and takes the place of hydro power used heretofore.

It is hoped with this improvement to be able to ship high grade concentrates regularly, and work is progressing with a view to opening new ore bodies and keeping a good reserve blocked out. The mine and mill employs a force of about 25 men and this number will soon be added to.

The Monarch has been worked with indifferent success for a number of years and appears now to be coming into its own.

The region in which the mine is located gives promise of developing other good properties, included among which is that of W. T. Oke, located three-quarters of a mile across the Kicking Horse river. This property has a tunnel about 100 feet into the hill, which has disclosed some high grade ore. Picked samples from the dump run 70 per cent. in lead and 20 per cent. in zinc to the ton. The material is a good concentrating rock, and may be put through the same process as the Monarch-Wilfley tables and Huntington mills.

Mr. Oke has not prosecuted work as he desired, owing to shortage of working capital.

Blackhead Fatal Disease for Turkeys

Two bulletins of premier importance have recently been issued from the Health of Animals branch of the Federal department of agriculture at Ottawa, of which Dr. Torrance is the veterinary director general. Both can be had free on application to the publications branch of the department.

The first, number 17, is entitled "Entero-Hepatitis or Black-head in Turkeys." Chas. H. Higgins, B.S., D.V.S., of the biological laboratory is the author. While the disease has been known to affect all species of fowl, it is usually seen in its most aggravated and fatal form in turkeys. Dr. Theobald Smith, of the United States department of agriculture, made an investigation in Rhode Island during 1894 and 1895, but it was not until 1900 that the first mention was made of it in the experimental farms report of Canada. It has since, however, been repeatedly reported upon in the biological laboratories both at Ottawa and Guelph Dr. Higgins says that the losses from the disease have been enormous, which supplies excellent reason for a close study of the bulletin. "The extent of these losses," he further says, "is well indicated by the fact that two decades ago a single small island (Block Island) off the Rhode Island coast, provided two tons of marketable birds each year. Five hundred pounds are not available in the same locality today. Statements are also current that in localities in Ontario where ten carloads were to be had eight years ago it is now difficult to supply two carloads. The reason given for the falling off in production is the difficulty of rearing stock that can withstand the infection." This quotation is sufficient to indicate the importance of this bulletin, which treats with the origin and course of the disease and of its prevention and cure. Appropriate plain and colored illustrations add to the value of the publication.

The second bulletin numbered 18 has for its title, "Avian Tuberculosis." Dr. Higgins, pathologist, and A. B. Wickware, V.S., assistant pathologist, are the joint authors. It is hardly necessary to allude to the importance of checking and suppressing a disease that affects alike birds, beasts and man. The authors show that the complaint can be transmitted by domestic pets to those who caress them and in the reverse direction. Details of experiments made at the Dominion Biological Laboratory are given in the bulletin, which also describes the symptoms, steps in prevention that can be taken and remedial treatment that can be applied.

In both bulletins poultry breeders and all persons interested are invited to send cases to the Biological Laboratory Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for investigations.

'Auntie' Mahaley Gibbs, 137 years old, according to city health statistics, is dead in Memphis, Texas. She is said to have been the oldest negro in the United States. Her granddaughter, with whom she lived and who is more than 70 years old, said she had often hear the old woman speak of the Indian wars, the War of 1812, and events since that date. Stories come occasionally of Mexican centenarians which almost rival 'Auntie' Gibb's case.

Dog Key to Mystery of Hotel Fire

The mystery surrounding the burning of the Hotel Edgewater on Monday, Oct. 18, may be solved through a watchdog owned by Mr. Albert Cameron, who has had charge of the hotel for some time as custodian.

Circumstances surrounding the movements of the dog on Sunday evening and the time intervening between the hour of burning, 5 a.m.—and the hour at which the dog returned to the house at 5.30 p. m., Monday, may lead to interesting revelations, if what the provincial police are working on proves to be as strong a clue as it now appears.

Mr. Cameron has kept a large hound for some time and this dog has been referred to often as the Edgewater policeman owing to his alertness. It was his wont to sleep near the hotel at night and anyone approaching would find him ready to give the alarm.

On Sunday night the dog disappeared and did not reappear until 5.30 o'clock Monday evening. When he did return he bore evidence of having been in the woods and swamp and having travelled some distance. It was not his habit to absent himself, and the conclusion is reached that someone lured the dog away while the building was fired with incendiary intent. To have done this it was necessary that someone with full knowledge of the dog's presence and on good terms with the animal lure him away.

Mr. H. McKenzie, insurance adjuster, was up the valley on Monday and passed through Golden on his way to Revelstoke where a planing mill is reported to have burned. Mr. McKenzie stated that the Hotel Edgewater carried $8,000 insurance and that every circumstance pointed to incendiarism.

He said that it was not possible for the blaze to have started by spontaneous combustion as there were no paints, oils or rags in the building, it having been cleaned thoroughly by Mr. Cameron, and no debris was left behind. All windows were fastened and the doors padlocked.

It is conjectured that the incendiary managed to get a window open after the dog had been lured away and safely placed in captivity. The remainder was easy.—Golden Star.

farm house riddled with shot and shell. I took a long chance, strictly against orders—climbed up and looked around for shell noses as souvenirs but was out of luck. I don't think in all this part of the country I have seen a house intact. Everything standing bears marks of war. The farms are deserted and timothy is four feet high. The hedges are thick with blackberries and when I go for water I have some great feeds. Some shells are dropping pretty close right now and I have no desire to carry any as souvenirs. Half of one lies beside me, a horrid jagged lump. It weighs about thirty pounds so I won't bring it home as my pack is quite heavy enough now. We also had a few whiz bangs come over as a sample. A few are quite sufficient too. Your letter has just been given me. Many thanks. It's worth something to get mail under these conditions believe me. Bobager says I talked in my sleep last night and said "Come, come on now and let daddy put your dress on."

Please don't look for many letters from me. You can understand that there's a limit to our allowance. I'm still o.k. and fit and let's hear lots from you. Probably we will have Xmas. dinner together yet, so au revoir for this time."

GROWING OF SUNFLOWERS

Kamloops Standard: When the growing of sunflowers by our farmers as a commercial commodity, was advocated at the last meeting of the board of trade of this city, many of those present at such meeting looked upon the matter as a joke being perpetrated by the gentleman who introduced the subject. Later, however, on inquiry we determined that no joke was intended, that the idea was advanced in all sincerity, as one deserving of consideration on its merits. Still not convinced the Standard undertook to obtain the most reliable information to be had on the subject with the result as published in our issue of the 15th inst., the reading of which we strongly recommend. In common with many others we have always looked upon the sunflowers as more or less of a nuisance but tolerated for such beauty as its color affords. We never looked upon it as a possible source of profit. We find, however, that its seed is worth two cents per pound or $40.00 per ton; that the yield varies from ½ ton to two tons per acre. That its method of culture is about the same as that of corn, with this difference, that it requires much less moisture, ripens earlier, needs little handling in harvesting, is easily threshed, yields well under almost any weather conditions, brings good price and on the whole a very inexpensive crop to raise. There is no question but our soil and climate are admirably adapted to the raising of this product, and with a market assured we believe this branch of farming would enhance the prosperity of our farmers. The utility of any product capable of being used and valuable as a constituent of stock foods, medicinal foods, paints and varnish as in the sunflower cannot be said to be other than a commercial product. We hope our farmers will take up this question and investigate its possibilities thoroughly. The Standard will cheerfully render any assistance it can in this, as in all other cases, which may tend to advance the agricultural interests of this vicinity.

L. A. Campbell, M.P.P., who represents the provincial constituency of Rossland in the legislature, a pioneer of the Kootenays and general manager of the West Kootenay Power and Light company, reached Victoria on Tuesday on a business visit and is a guest at the Empress.

Mr. Campbell brings most optimistic reports about conditions in his section. The mining industry, particularly, is thriving, most of the old established properties in the famous Rossland camp now being on a paying basis and working full crews steadily.

While Rossland itself has been shorn of almost everything which savored of the "boom days," the town is now on a solid and substantial basis. The volume of commercial business is smaller than it used to be in the halcyon days, but the population is permanently established and with a payroll which can be depended upon not to fluctuate very greatly there is a sense of security in the community which makes for prosperity.

Trainmen, brakemen, porters and other uniformed employees will wear silver bars. Conductors on sleeping cars will be entitled to wear the gold bar for the first ten years' service.

The game season has been prolific for the hunters, according to deputy game warden William Avery. Feathered game, both arboreal and aquatic are plentiful, and the number of quadrupedic game is large. During the present season five parties of big game hunters have visited this and the Kootenay region, including two from New York, and with one or two exceptions all have bagged trophies. While there have been a few infractions of the game laws they have been for the most part unimportant. Among those who are now up the valley in search of big game is Mr. C. D. Morris, merchant, of Rogers Pass, who makes an annual trip to the Columbia valley, and who passed through Golden Friday last.—Golden Star.

Failure to correctly interpret Sec. 24 of the game laws cost Fred Anderson $7.50 Saturday when he was called upon by Magistrate Bradley of Golden to explain why he was found by Deputy Game Warden Wm. Avery hunting 10 miles from his farm. Mr. Anderson holds a farmer's game license which entitles him to hunt upon his own land and that contiguous thereto. The word "contiguous" was the stumbling block, Mr. Anderson interpreting it to mean anything adjoining his holdings but unlimited in area. The section of the game laws is ambiguous as printed and reads as follows: "Provided that such license may be issued to a farmer or to any member of his family, in respect only of hunting on the land on which they permanently reside or the land contiguous thereto." Mr. Avery said he found Mr. Anderson 10 miles from his farm and also in possession of a pump gun, something else contrary to the game laws. For this remission a fine of $5 was assessed, making the total amount $12.50. In speaking upon the construction placed upon the word "contiguous," Mr. Avery explained for the benefit of hunters that this means upon lands adjoining the quarter section upon which the hunter lives. Thus if a farmer occupied the centre of a section he could hunt on every adjoining quarter section.

W. Parry returned last night from a trip to Trail.

Mrs. M. L. Tucker of Parrsboro, N. S., was a guest at the Hotel Revelstoke on Friday.

Among the guests at the King Edward hotel on Friday was G. Sutherland of Kamloops.

The St. John's Ladies Aid will produce a play "The Minister's Bride," in the opera house on Monday, November 22.

Halloween, when mischievous boys are apt to commit pranks which sometimes overpass the limits of fun and become wilfully destructive will be celebrated this evening although this year the festival falls on Sunday night. In view of the damage that is often done the police have been instructed to arrest anyone found committing wilful damage to property.

As far as can now be ascertained the Central Mobilization camp, in which over 4000 men have been in training since early in June, will soon be deserted for the winter. Half of the 47th battalion have already left for New Westminster and the remainder will soon join them. The 62nd have also received marching orders, and will be quartered at Vancouver. The 11th C.M.R. will also move to Victoria while the 54th will go direct from here to the front. Up till this week it was expected that the 11th would be split up into three squadrons one of which would go to Victoria, another to Nanaimo, and the third remain here; but this arrangement appears to be changed, and it is now stated that the whole regiment will go to Victoria. The regulations of the censor prohibits anything more definite being said regarding the movements of these troops at present.—Vernon News.

On Monday evening the Womens' Canadian club sent a telegram to the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair expressing to her how honored they would be if she could stop off and address their organization while passing through Revelstoke. The Marchioness at once wired back that on account of coast engagements it would be impossible for her to do so, but it would please her to meet the Womens Canadian club at the station. Accordingly a deputation of the club were at the station when the Marquis and Marchioness of Aberdeen arrived. Miss McKay, a vice president of the club, presented Lady Aberdeen with a magnificent bouquet of carnations which were received with thanks. The Marquis had a picture taken of the deputation and signed her name in the club guest book. She also consented to become honorary president of the Womens' Canadian club of Revelstoke. In closing the interview she shook hands with the ladies and promised that if it were at all possible she would come to Revelstoke and address the club on her return to the Okanagan.

Three Giant Stockings Filled for Soldiers

The Christmas stocking tea held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. M. Walter Hardman to be Warrant Officer

In a letter to H. J. Parker, dated Oct. 10 and written at Shorncliffe, Lieut. H. H. B. Abbott, formerly of Revelstoke, mentions several others from Revelstoke who are now in England. He says:

"I got your letter about six weeks or so ago. I was in the hospital at the time. I had one of the best times there that I have had since I took up soldiering. I was some sick patient I can tell you, putting in most of my nights joy riding over the country—of course that was during the period termed convalescence. Miss Hamilton has returned here from London but I have not as yet seen her. She called on me during my operation when she was here for the day but, I was not able to receive her. Last night I saw Giddy and Jimmy Lawrence down town and had a pow wow with them. They are both in the Ordnance and having quite a snap by comparison with privating it in the 30th.

"I have seen pretty well all the Revelstoke boys at one time or another. Jock is becoming quite a soldier—he is in the signal section now. Walter Hardman seems to be making out splendidly and already is a sergeant. It is expected that he will be appointed Q.M.S. and made a warrant officer. It does him great credit having risen up like this and he seems well favored of the powers that be. After my operation I bagged a nice little two weeks' sick leave during which I had one whale of a time over in Ireland.

"I am at present in a three months course of instruction out of which we are to get our Field Officer's certificates and much in the way of preferment in getting over to France with drafts. What with hospital, leave and this course, I have been independent of the battalion now for over two months and won't be finished the course till Christmas."

SAM BLANCO, TUNNEL WORKER, WANTS DAMAGES FROM BOSS

Harry Stewart, shift boss in the C.P.R. tunnel at Bear Creek, appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate Bradley at Golden Tuesday morning, to answer to a complaint filed by Sam Blanco, a Servian, charging assault.

H. G. Lockwood, barrister, appeared for the plaintiff, and F. B. Hill for the defendant.

Mr. Lockwood asked and was granted leave to withdraw the criminal proceedings, so as not to bar a proposed civil proceedings for damages.

Mr. Hill made no objection to the proceedings being withdrawn.

The alleged assault is said to have taken place at 3 a.m., on October 15, two miles in the tunnel.

Among the allegations made by the plaintiff is that the defendant did him great bodily harm, and upon this basis the civil suit is said to have been substituted for criminal proceedings.

This is the second case of its kind to have come to Golden within the past two weeks.

NOTICE

The police have been instructed to prosecute anyone found breaking fences, taking away gates or doing damage of any kind to property.
