NEWS OF THE WORLD BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Balfour has Alienated Government Supporters in Ireland—The Liberals Looking to the Rural Vote—M. Jules Simon's Great Book—"La Femme du Vigntieme Siecle."—A new Industry for Ireland—England's Influence in Brazil.

LONDON, November 14.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the new Government leader in the House of Commons, has found as a result of his last official visit to Ireland that he has lost the confidence of some hitherto vigorous supporters of the Government. His speech at Plymouth, with its clear announcement of local government for Ireland, has sharply alienated many of those who may most truly be called "the English garrison" in Ireland. They know that a measure of local government must make for Home Rule, and their course as to the next session of parliament is by no means clear. One Tory Irishman, the Hon. Richard Dawson, has resigned his candidature for an adjacent division of Devonshire, because he could not see his way to agree with Mr. Balfour. The Irish Unionists will demand as the lowest price of allegiance and support that the new county council suffrage shall be greatly restricted, and that a vigorous state control shall be maintained over the local authorities, so that they can be dispossessed of power, as Irish boards of guardians are dispossessed without further reference to parliament. In spite of Disraeli's dictum as to "jobbing grand juries," they still contend that the grand jury system is in essence everything that a nominated government can be, and of course they are anxious to play into the hands of the friends of Home Rule. On the other hand, the government really desire to pass an Irish local government bill at the next session. By ministerialists the matter is discussed this way. They say that if such a bill is passed, their work prior to an appeal to the country will be complete, and they will then ask the electors to accept a policy of rest for Ireland, of time in which she may digest the legislation, which has been adopted. The issue of the general election will be very distinct.

WHAT THEY THINK OF GLADSTONE.

At a conference of the Liberal Unionists' Association of West Manchester today, Sir Henry James presided. Sir Henry was attorney general during Gladstone's last administration, but he was and is opposed to Gladstone's scheme for the establishment of home rule for Ireland. In his speech at the opening of the meeting, Sir Henry claimed that the recent experiences in Ireland (referring to the serious factional fight last week) proved the policy of the Liberal Unionists the only correct one. A letter from Joseph Chamberlain was read. He said the Gladstonians had lost confidence in the home rule movement, and they are trying to pass a bill to establish home rule, sandwiched between more alluring proposals. The Duke of Argyle, in speaking of a motion to support the general policy of the government, described Gladstone as "a fanatic who is incapable of argument." His followers, according to the duke, are mere puppets.

FRANCE'S FAMOUS PHILANTHROPIST.

M. Jules Simon had the satisfaction this week of seeing a bill regulating the hours of labor of women and children pass the French Senate. The provisions of the bill are not all that M. Simon desires, but he hopes in the near future to see his hopes in a great measure realized. At 77, and after a career as an author that has stretched out more than half a century, Jules Simon is publishing what he thinks may be his last book. Thirty years ago he wrote Louvriere, and today, equally solicitous for the welfare of the workingmen of France, he announces a book on "La Femme du Vigntieme Siecle." Whatever may be his hopes for the woman of the next century, he is profoundly disturbed by the condition of the woman of the poorer classes among the French of the present century. The depopulation question causes him alarm. There is year by year a lessening proportion of births. Many causes have contributed to bring about this result, and amongst them the nature and extent of the industrial employment of women. "In the towns, M. Jules Simon said in his speech, addressing the Senate on the measure, "Where woman is transformed into an industrial creature, she disappears as wife and mother from human society. She is separated all day, sometimes part of the night also, and in certain cases the whole of the night, from her family, the consequences of this absenteeism is the almost entire dissolution of the family. The husband seeks elsewhere the happiness which his wife, detained like him during the day, cannot make for him. The children are brought up away from their mother in the creche or the refuge, if there is one, if not, in the streets. Marriages decrease, divorces increase." As a remedy, M. Simon demanded shorter hours for women workers. He pleaded that the working wife and mother should have at least one of the hours she now spends at the factory or workshop, to devote to her home and children. This would, he said, save hundreds of thousands of lives and improve both.

GROSSLY EXAGGERATED.

An attache of the Brazilian legation stated today that the legation was in receipt of advices showing that the troubles in that country had been greatly exaggerated. Unfortunately the means of communication between the various states were not such as they ought to be, and the action taken by President da Fonseca had caused some agitation, because at first it was not clearly understood, but that with a fuller comprehension of the situation whatever troublesome element existed would undoubtedly subside. There was no doubt that among a certain class of foreign merchants the American reciprocity treaty caused a considerable amount of feeling, and some of these merchants would be glad to misrepresent and exaggerate the situation with the hope of inflaming it and bring about a change of government favorable to the abrogation of the treaty, and giving back into European hands the trade that America has gained. There had undoubtedly been something of a movement in favor of the restoration of Dom Pedro, but it should be remembered that Dom Pedro is an old man and that the respect attaching to him does not extend to other members of his house. Indeed the unpopularity of certain persons connected with him by family ties had a good deal to do with the revolution which overthrew the monarchy. The Brazilian republic had a strong hold on the Brazilian people and the re-establishment of a monarchy was out of any reasonable consideration. As for the state of Rio Grande do Sul, its inhabitants were known to be among the most peaceable in Brazil. The German settlers were thrifty and not by any means disposed to court the devastation that would follow a civil war. They had mostly built up for themselves comfortable homes, and like Germans generally had no desire to fight simply for the sake of a revolution. The province had many advantages as a state of Brazil that it would not enjoy if independent or attached to Uruguay. The Brazilian army and navy could be trusted to act for the right and maintain the integrity of the republic.

THE GREAT LIBERAL PARTY

Mr. Gladstone's next and only speech before leaving England for Italy, will be to the delegates at the Agricultural Reform conference to be held in London next month. It is hailed by Reformers as one of the best signs of the emancipation of the Liberal party, from the dead weight which used to press down any reasonable progress in this direction, that now, in prospect of a general election, the Liberal leaders gave such marked prominence to those reforms, the necessity of which is universally acknowledged. Sir H. Selwin Ibbetson, a Tory member of parliament with official experience, says that the agricultural laborer has no inducement to remain in the place where he and his ancestors were born. Another Tory baronet, Sir Richard Paget, said that it was a disgrace that in the richest country in the world, so many were doomed to end their days in the workhouse. But the Tories have no policy, except perhaps, that of taxing personal property for the bestowal of old age pensions, practically in relief of agricultural taxes and rates. The agricultural laborer commands about half a million votes, and those are sufficient to bring about real land reforms. There is no class which will vote so strongly and solidly Liberal at the next elections, nor will they fail to be joined by a good many farmers, who understand that for better security of improvements and division of rates they must rely upon the Liberal party.

LOOKING TO THE COUNTRY.

At the conference to be held in London in December of the question of "Village Life and Government," Mr. Gladstone will himself attend and address the delegates who will assemble from the rural districts, accompanied by the Liberal members and candidates for the several divisions. It is expected that [illegible] delegates will attend from [illegible] which would give a very effective and representative body of a thousand persons, and when the arrangements are completed the plan will assume considerable importance. The Liberal leaders have a clear and well-founded notion that success at the next election will be attained in the counties. The delegates have expressed a desire to hear from the illustrious leader of the Liberal party his views upon the claims of the rural population.

WARNED AGAINST ANARCHY.

The anniversary of the execution of the Chicago anarchists was celebrated by their sympathisers throughout Europe in various clandestine ways, but the meetings were pounced upon and broken up by the police wherever intelligence could be had that they were to take place, and many of the participants were arrested. There was much curiosity to know how these demonstrations would be treated in the United States and especially in Chicago. The British press commented freely on the conduct of the police and the opinion is expressed that the meetings should not have been permitted and that those who took part in them should have been arrested and not allowed to make speeches threatening public order. The consequence of this toleration of a disorderly and dangerous element on the Chicago fair is pointed out. The Globe warns Chicago to take measures for its repression in time, for if anarchy is allowed a free hand, very few foreigners will care to visit the wonderful exhibition.

IRELAND AS A FRUIT GARDEN.

Mr. W. H. Hall, who has written a pamphlet on "Fruit growing and market gardening as an Irish industry," has given 2,000 fruit trees to the Irish people. Mr. Hall, who has studied the suitability of Ireland, especially the southwestern part of Cork, says: "Not only should Ireland grow all the fruit and garden produce she needs, but with her early springs and her autumns open to Christmas, be brought to supply the teeming population of the north of England with early and late produce." The climate of Ireland compares very favorably with that of places where England's large fruit supplies come from. Cork is four degrees warmer than Dublin, which is four degrees higher than Paris or London. Mr. Hall finds that "the winter climate of Glendore, and all along the southwest coast of Ireland in point of absence of frost, is unquestionably superior to that of the French Riviera, where, in January, 1891, the eucalyptus, was half killed at my own garden at Valescure, near St. Raphael. The miserable cultivation about Skibereen is proverbial, but there, upon one-eighth of an acre, a man has produced £4 worth of cabbage and broccoli, of a size such as to make the inhabitants hold up their hands in astonishment and it is proved that the young potatoes and green gooseberries might be three weeks earlier in the London market than has heretofore been the case.

THE ENGLISH IN BRAZIL.

The chief subject of interest this week is the unsettled condition of Brazil. It is known that the commercial houses in this city having Brazilian connections have for a long time been dissatisfied with the existing government. The American reciprocity treaty has made serious inroads upon British trade, and there is evidently no disposition to grant equally favorable arrangements to England. Lord Salisbury has intimated that it is beyond his power to interfere in behalf of British commercial interests, and Brazil is too big a country to be frightened into improved trade relations by the presence of an imposing British fleet. The social influence of the English in Rio de Janeiro, as in all leading South American cities, is very great, and it has been exerted to foment discontent with the Fonseca Government. There has also been some hope of restoring the monarchy, but this hope has entered the minds of but few who are acquainted with Brazilian sentiment. It is well known by those who were in Brazil at the time when the monarchy was overthrown, that it was not for dislike of Dom Pedro, but for fear of the hatred of those who might follow him. Dom Pedro's family surroundings are of the worst. The imperial house of Brazil is a mixture of Coburgs and Bourbons, some of the latter being of the worst branch of the Bourbons, that of Anjou and the Sicilies. Such a family would not willingly be accepted as rulers by any European people, and would have still less chance with the proud, high-spirited Brazilians. Therefore, any contemplated restoration of the monarchy can have but little to do with the existing crisis. The facts appear to be that the congress, spurred on by foreign influences, has at last brought public business to a halt by refusing to perform constitutional duties. Fonseca, acting more upon the precedent of a European limited monarchy than of an American republic, has dissolved the congress and proposes to have another election. In a word he appeals to the people, meantime exercising supreme authority. The meagre despatches received indicate extensive opposition to his course. The important province of Rio Grande de Sul, which threatened secession at the time Dom Pedro was expelled has actually seceded, so far as the depositions of Fonseca governors and the establishment of a provisional government at the capital can effect secession. There is understood to be a trial-at-arms in progress between Fonseca and the new government at Rio Grande de Sul. Meantime all is reported peaceful in Rio de Janeiro and there is such a rush of business at that and other Brazilian ports that vessels cannot be loaded fast enough. The finances of the country are as yet in good condition and the national debt had been materially reduced in the year following the deposition of Dom Pedro and preceding the recent coup d'etat.

POSTERITY WILL JUDGE.

There is no end to the eulogies of James Russell Lowell which appeared in the public prints. No one of the eminent men who have recently died have been so much written about. Henry James, the critic and novelist, has completed an article on the illustrious dead, full of personal memories which will be published in one of the January magazines.

TROUBLE IN THE TORY CAMP.

The opposition among the Conservative members of the House to the government proceeding with its Irish local government is growing in numbers and determination. The behavior of the Irish factions since the death of Parnell has had a discouraging effect, and is cited continually as an argument against the opportuneness of such a measure. The leaders of the party, [illegible] ing, predict that the government will meet with a serious check if they allow the question to come to a division in the House.

CANADIAN NEWS.

QUEBEC, November 14.—A letter was published here last evening over the signature of Premier Mercier, [illegible] the assertion alleged to have been made by John P. Premier Mercier also denies all the other charges alleged to have been made by Whelan.

CHATHAM, Ont., November 14.—The international field trials were concluded yesterday. Thomas Johnson's Blithe won the all-aged stakes, and beat Rhulias the winner of the setter Derby for the special prize donated by P. Heywood. Lonsdale won the prize for the best dog in the trials.

MURDERED IN JAPAN.

HAMILTON, Ont., November 14.—Rev. Mr. Kerby, pastor of the Hamilton Hannah street Methodist Church, brother-in-law of Mrs. Large, the wife of the missionary who was killed in Japan, has received news that Izats Tadamoto has given himself up to the police and confessed to the murder of Mr. Large.

BATTLING BRUISERS.

MONTREAL, Que., November 14.—Dick Guthrie, champion middleweight of Canada, and Sailor Brown of Boston met here last night in a glove contest, which was to have lasted ten rounds. Guthrie, however, was in no condition, and had to give up at the end of the third round. Brown was consequently given the fight.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

Pritchard and Fitzsimmons—Arrest of a Cunning Forger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., November 14.—This afternoon a despatch was received here from F. M. Coke of Boston, asking whether Bob Fitzsimmons would meet Ted Pritchard for a purse of $500 a side at the National Club of London. Major McLaughlin at once telegraphed an affirmative answer, saying that Fitzsimmons would go over if $1000 would be allowed for expenses. McLaughlin himself offered to bet $50,000 on Fitzsimmons.

H. Ellis was arrested by Detective John Coffey today upon a telegraphed bench warrant from San Bernardino for arson. Some time ago Ellis' dry goods store which was insured for $17,000 was burned and investigation resulted in his indictment by the grand jury.

Death of a Pioneer.

The pioneers of '48 are rapidly passing away from the scene of their toils and struggles. The past few years have made terrible havoc in their ranks, and all that now remain in Westminster of that hardy band can be counted on the fingers. One more of those stout-hearted men died yesterday, Mr. W. H. Edwards, after a short but severe illness. Mr. Edwards was well known, not only in Westminster, but in Victoria and other parts of the province. He came to this country with the Royal Engineers, having served with honor in that corps in the Crimean war. He was a member of the Bute Inlet expedition and was also on the Bute Inlet route survey. Mr. Edwards was a faithful servant of the government for 27 years. A wife and seven children and a wide circle of friends mourn his death. The funeral takes place tomorrow.

The marble and iron workers of the United States began their second annual convention this morning and will be in session until tomorrow evening.

KENTUCKY CHIVALRY

TWO BLOODS OF LEXINGTON DO FIERCE BATTLE.

A Bluegrass Belle the Sweet Cause.—The Vanquished Knight Vows Death on Sight—A Frisky Minstrel Skips With the Funds—Knights of Labor in Session—Duc d' Orleans Pursued by Nemesis—Indignation in Washington Over English Press Criticisms.

LEXINGTON, Ky., November 14.—A tremendous sensation was created in society circles about 1 o'clock this morning by a pitched battle between Robert Breckenridge, son of the silver-tongued congressman, Colonel W. H. Breckenridge, and Dault Arnold, a well-known society man of Frankfort, Ky. They both attended the governor's ball and had a misunderstanding over the hand of a bluegrass beauty for a certain dance. On the invitation of Breckenridge they stepped outside the ballroom to settle the affair. Breckenridge was badly used up, and it is rumored on the street that he has sent word to Arnold to arm himself, as he intends killing him on sight. The prominence of the parties and their wide acquaintance throughout the state makes this the sensation of the hour.

A Fearful Fall.

CHICAGO, November 14. — James Charleston, a terra cotta worker, fell nineteen stories, from the top of the Masonic Temple building at State and Randolph streets, shortly before noon today and was crushed into an unrecognizable mass of flesh. He was leaning against a light timber which broke in two, precipitating him to the ground below. He was married and leaves a family.

HUNGERING AFTER ORLEANS.

A special correspondent cables from London the following: In Charles Nesbit Frederick Armstrong, who by the way carries a pedigree almost as long as that of the Bourbons, the Duc d'Orleans will find an adversary worthy of his steel. While at Brussels Armstrong carried everything before him in matches with dueling swords, and finally won the championship at foils. He was also a formidable boxer, and beat all members of the club which assembles at the well-known Salle Dupont except one. His hostile intentions toward the duke have been an open secret in Brussels for some time, and a month ago he wrote to one of his former adversaries asking for his services as second whenever he succeeded in finding the duke. Armstrong's feats of strength have astonished the people of Brussels almost as much as his wife's singing.

Coffee in a Corner.

BALTIMORE, Md., November 14.—At Santos five vessels are waiting for cargoes of coffee for the Baltimore market, and at Roi seven are waiting. There is almost a complete blockade of the ports of Rio and of Santos, from which the bulk of the world's supply of coffee is exported. This is due to insufficient custom house facilities and inability to load and unload vessels awaiting to receive and discharge cargoes. Unless this situation is soon relieved coffee dealers say that prices will advance as the supply here will soon be exhausted.

Whitecap Justice.

FORT SMITH, Ark., November 13.—At 2 o'clock this morning Alex. Rice was taken from his bed by Whitecaps, stripped to the waist, and 100 lashes laid on his bare back. He was then given an hour in which to leave town, which he did. Last Tuesday night Rice, with the help of the mother, succeeded in inducing a 12-year-old girl to marry him. The child was weak and delicate, while Rice is a big burly fellow, old enough to be the child's grand father. The action of the Whitecaps is generally approved.

Demonstrative Sicilians.

ROME, November 14.—King Humbert and Queen Margherita, arrived at Palermo this afternoon and met with an ovation from the people. The streets were crowded with an enormous and enthusiastic gathering. So great was the anxiety to see their majesties that many accidents resulted from the crush. The police were unable to clear the way for the royal carriage and at one point the crowd broke in upon the vehicle and the horses in plunging knocked down two persons who fell beneath the wheels and were somewhat bruised.

Annoying Remarks.

WASHINGTON, November 14.—Much indignation is expressed at the state and navy departments at the conduct of certain English newspapers in ascribing foolish sentiments and remarks to Minister Egan and Captain Schley in connection with the pending questions between the Chilian and United States governments. No one here believes what the papers assert, and the opinion is held in the departments that the English papers in question are engaged in an effort to foment the growth of a feeling of animosity among the Chilians against the people of the United States. The British newspaper story that has called forth the wild indignation is a letter in the Times from Valparaiso, in which Minister Egan, Commander Schley and the American consul were said to continue to show bitter animus against the Congressional policy.

Will not Tolerate Mutiny.

TOLEDO, Ohio, November 14.—Yesterday noon the Knights of Labor convention was in closed session some hours, considering charges in the form by which new members are instructed in the different assemblies. Apart of this morning's session was devoted to the same work which is now concluded. The report of the committee on law has been before the convention a number of hours, and among the important matters settled has been those covered by the adoption of the following resolution: "That any member of the order opposing or denouncing outside the assembly room any of the principles of the order shall be charged with violation of the obligation and on being found guilty shall be expelled."

A WANDERING MINSTREL HE.

AN ASSOCIATION OF LIBERALS.

During the past week or ten days a number of more or less informal conferences have taken place among a few of the Liberals of this city, the result of which has been a determination to form an association of Liberals here. It has been felt amongst some of those of the party who take an interest in the politics of the country that steps should be taken towards an organization to propagate Liberal principles.

There is, it will be readily admitted, no greater safeguard to a country's well-being than an electorate well informed on the tendency of political movements and conversant with the true principles of government. The discussion of these matters is of the very greatest importance to every citizen of the country; the outcome of such discussion is, or should be, the essential history of the country. An electorate that is ignorant is the prey of the political mountebank, the ally of the charlatan, and the abettor of those whose design and end it is to pillage it. And this is only saying things which, although platitudes, the political condition of this country at the present moment shows it is necessary should be repeated.

The history of all nations enjoying free institutions indicates that government by party must prevail, and, as usually happens, or at least as has nearly always happened in English speaking countries, the parties have been divided on divergent lines of policy well marked. If the electorate is intelligent in political matters, untrammelled by unjust laws, and not debauched by the corruptions of those who lead or seek to lead, it may be expected that that party whose principles and whose policy are the wisest and best, shall find a majority of the electors establishing it in those positions of power which govern. Arguing from this standpoint, there is no escape from the conclusion that the organizations of those holding well-defined political views is not only wise but a duty which they owe the country of which they are citizens.

It is from convictions something of this nature that the Association of Liberals to which we refer above has resulted. It is proposed during the winter months to hold weekly meetings in some hall of sufficient size, for the purpose of discussing the political issues of the day. This will afford valuable means of mutual instruction, and those young Liberals of political ambitions who may be in the community will be afforded that opportunity for practice in formal debate which is so necessary to their advancement in the political arena or in positions of public trust generally. Every citizen of Liberal political sentiments is invited to join the Association.

A meeting of all interested will be held on Tuesday evening next, 17th inst., at which all interested are invited to attend. The place of meeting will be announced in Tuesday morning's LEDGER.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Revolution is still "the order of the day" in many parts of the world, and the great Empire of China is now in the throes of such a conflict. The rebels have, it is said, so far carried all before them, but the rising seems as yet confined to part of one province. The conflict may, however, hereafter spread over a large area, as the Chinese dynasty is regarded by millions of the Celestials as alien and abhorrent. It represents the conquering race of Tartars, and comes of a wholly different stock from those, whence most of its subjects are derived.

The Rio News, a well conducted organ of the Brazilian capital, anticipated grave trouble for that republic so far back as the 8th of September last, when it frankly surveyed the situation as follows. "When the Republican movement "began after the abolition of slavery "we frankly expressed our opinion "against it, for we saw no chance for "such a government in a country where "nine-tenths of the population are "hopelessly poor and illiterate, and "where the people are totally inexperienced in self-government, and thus far "we have found no reason for changing "that opinion. * * * The example "and success of the United States have "undoubtedly exercised a strong influence upon the Spanish colonies of the "new world, and have led them to try "an experiment for which their people "were entirely unfitted, and which has "in every case resulted most disastrously. And we now have one more "and the last effort at imitation in Brazil, which, we deeply regret to say, at "this moment promises no better result." These remarks are very true. A wholly, or almost wholly elective system of government based on a very wide suffrage can only exist with safety to the community where popular education is general. General illiteracy, such as prevails among the masses in Brazil, disqualifies all but the very few from casting an intelligent vote and afterwards recognising and obeying the government chosen by the majority. Republics like that of the United States and free governments, which, like those of and in our empire, are in essence forms of republics, work in general harmoniously and well, because their various electorates which choose them are on the whole fairly educated and gradually become more so.

The latest reports about the United States and Chile embroglio are that large quantities of warlike stores are being rapidly sent overland to San Francisco, and that all the American government naval yards are busy fitting out cruisers. These preparations, notwithstanding; or rather, in consequence of them, there is strong reason to hope that the trouble will not end in war. The Chileans, brave and hotheaded though they are, can hardly fail to realise that war with a great power like the United States cannot but result in the temporary if not permanent ruin of their smaller country, and are therefore almost sure at the eleventh hour to offer every possible satisfaction for the outrages on the American sailors. They must feel, too, whatever their views as to the previous action of the United States minister, that the murderous street riot placed their country under the necessity of making suitable reparation. There are already indications that this will be the attitude of the Chilean government.

SHOT FIRED FROM A TRAIN.

trated over an eighth of an inch into the skin. The shot were produced. Mr. Armstrong, recalled, produced shot taken from his face and neck by Mr. Patterson on their way to town.

The court then adjourned for one hour. After recess the grand jury returned true bills in the case of: Devine and Wilkinson, murder; White, fraudulent conversion of money; White, embezzlement. The Cyrs assault case was adjourned till the next assize.

The Greer case was then resumed. The first witness was W. S. Patterson, a sheriff's officer in Vancouver, and also a provincial constable. He was with Deputy Sheriff Armstrong and several others when they went to the Greer estate on the day of the assault, there were a good number with the party. The object of the expedition was to serve a writ of ejectment and gain possession of the [illegible] When [illegible] the car he saw the prisoner talking to Devlin.—Greer ran for the house followed by Armstrong. Witness went straight down the path to the house where he saw Armstrong and the crowd at the back door; he (witness) went to the window and looked in, saw Greer, his wife and children. Greer was fastening the door, he saw him reach for the gun and held the muzzle towards the door; heard Armstrong's voice saying, "Greer, open the door." Greer replied, "Get away or I'll make it hot for you," a second knock came and the shot was fired. Mrs. Greer screamed when the gun went off, witness went to the rear of the house and met Armstrong who said he was shot; he found the buttons blown off his coat and holes in it. The party left for town and he had picked a lot of shot out of Armstrong while on the engine. They returned to Greer's place about 4 o'clock to arrest him on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Devlin walked over and afterwards Haywood; they parleyed with Greer. The witness went to the back door and told Mrs. Greer she must go; she objected strongly.

Examined by Mr. Blake: Witness thought about 20 men went down; deputy sheriff Armstrong, witness and Mr. Shirley had gone to serve the writ and the others were taken at the request of Mr. Abbott, and had been sworn in as specials, they were to take charge after the writ that had been served. He had seen Greer reach out for the gun, he might have had it in only one hand, but the other hand looked as if near the muzzle. Witness afterwards examined four guns which were on the premises. He was not there when the buildings were burnt.

Thomas Shirley's evidence was substantially the same. He saw Greer after the shooting and told him that he had shot Armstrong and nearly fixed him (witness); Greer replied that he would not defy the law, and if they came with proper authority he would offer no resistance. In reply to Mr. Blake he said he did not remember whether Greer had said he was not aware the sheriff was there. J. Calbick's evidence was substantially the same as that already given.

F. Devlin, sworn, said that he went to take possession as stated by former witness. On stepping off the train he met Greer and said "You're not surprised to see us here this morning" and Greer replied "What are you here for?" witness said "to take possession," Greer then ran for the house and the shooting took place. When Haywood and the rest returned with the warrant, Devlin told Greer that Haywood had a regular warrant; Greer asked Haywood if he intended to take the place if he went, and Haywood said "no." To Mr. Blake: Witness had drawn a revolver after the shooting took place, he had not seen revolvers displayed by the party. He was not aware that the C. P. R. had hauled buildings off land claimed by them with ropes. Greer had said he would submit to legal authority.

D. W. Hayood, sergeant of police, Vancouver, was next sworn: He told Greer he had a warrant and at his request read it. Greer asked him if he intended to give possession of the property, witness replied that he had nothing to do with that; Greer then gave himself up. The evidence of the next two witnesses, Messrs. Mea and Stevens, corroborated that of the former witnesses. Mr. Barnet a civil engineer and Mr. C. Dwyer, surveyor, gave evidence concerning the land on which Greer lived and the plan produced in court.

This closed the case for the Crown. Mr. Blake stated that the prisoner's daughter was the only witness. He wished to show that Greer was the victim of unfortunate circumstances and that the shooting was an accident. Greer's case was made the harder by the fact that some time ago his lawyer had died, and his executor happened to be the man who was opposing Greer's case.

Helen Greer, the prisoner's daughter, was called. She remembered the morning in question; she had seen Steves coming across the field, he opened the back kitchen door and came in. She saw two men coming across the field and more coming off the cars, but did not know if they were following the two men or not. Her mother ran into the kitchen to push them out, she picked up the baby and went into the front room. Her father (the prisoner) rushed in as she was coming from the kitchen, he put her out and shut the kitchen door; he closed the front door and had nothing in his hand. There were two old guns in the woodshed, one double barrelled gun in the kitchen and one big gun in the bedroom. She heard someone ask her father to open the door, but could not say what words were used. The gun was hanging up behind the kitchen door when he shut the front door, she did not see her father with a gun at all. Cross-examined by Mr. Davie. There was no more room for another gun on the brackets; the big gun was in the bedroom; one of the old guns was a rifle. Greer was in the habit of using the double barrelled gun when he went shooting; she did not know if he kept them loaded or not. Witness was frightened when the gun went off, when she saw her father he had not the gun, the hook was broken and the gun was behind the door. Her father took the other gun outside, she did not know who brought the old guns from the sheds. To his lordship—There was no one in the house but her mother, father and herself; neither she nor her mother fired the gun.

Mr. Blake then made an able address on behalf of his client; he did not deny that he fired the gun, but claimed it was accidental, and pleaded the peculiar circumstances surrounding his client's position in regard to his land.

Mr. Davie followed with a strong argument for conviction. His lordship summed up in a manner which left no doubt that he was convinced Greer was guilty of the charge. The jury then retired and returned at 10:30 p. m. with a verdict as follows; "We, the jury, find that T. J. Armstrong received bodily harm at the hands of the accused by the accidental discharge of a gun."

His lordship said that was no verdict and they had better go and get one quickly, as he did not intend to wait long; they accordingly returned at 11 o'clock with a verdict of "guilty" with a recommendation to mercy.

His lordship asked the jury what motive they had in recommending the accused to mercy. As they did not reply his lordship said he would not press for their reasons. Samuel Greer was ordered to stand up and in doing so said he was not guilty as he had not intended any harm. His lordship recalled the first time he met the prisoner, many years ago in Chilliwack; he had a bad name then and terrorized the country round; people were afraid of him and had entreated his lordship to move against him, but he had no grounds and the prisoner had committed no crime which would warrant him in doing so. Shortly after this Greer went and entered into occupation of the land which he now claimed, and ever since then it had been held by a system of unparalleled forgery, perjury and corruption. His case had been brought before every court, and in some instances he had won it, not through its own merits, however, but through technical failures, which lost his opponents their case. He had not the shadow of a claim to this land, yet he impudently brought his case before every judge or nearly every judge of the Supreme Court, and all of them had thrown it out, as it deserved. The prisoner had been a nuisance to everyone with whom he came in contact, and must have been a burden to himself during his long years of misbehaviour, and it would have been far better had he been sentenced in bygone years to a long term of imprisonment, which, would have kept him out of mischief. The utmost penalty of the law in this case was three years' imprisonment; the jury had recommended the prisoner to mercy, he would therefore, instead of giving the full penalty, knock off nine months, out of the deference to the jury's wishes, and sentence him to 27 months at hard labor in the penitentiary, hoping that this would be a lesson to him that would help him to do better on the expiration of his term.

The court then adjourned at 11:30 p.m. till 11 o'clock on Monday.

Art Loan Exhibition.

The ladies of Holy Trinity have a pleasing novelty in store, namely, an art loan exhibition, including drawings and paintings of all kinds, articles of vertu, archæological specimens, and curious things from all lands, which will be loaned by friends for the occasion. The exhibition is to take place on December 10th and 11th in St. Leonard's Hall, and anyone possessing any rare, curious, historical or other interesting relic, and who is willing to place it on view in the exhibition should communicate with Mrs. H. G. Ross, manageress of the undertaking, who will supply all information and particulars.

Silence is Golden.

"Open confession is good for the soul." The Vancouver World is down on its hunkers once more begging the Westminster papers to "let the ugly business drop," namely that purse to Hanlan so generously offered by Vancouver and so amusingly visionary when it came to paying the cash. The World discourses eloquently upon "crookedness," and everyone will deem it a privilege to read a dissertation upon that theme from such good authority. The World accuses Hanlan of making a livelihood by jockeying races. Hanlan may reply to this cowardly slander through the courts, as he has been compelled to defend himself before in that way from attacks by unprincipled people. The World's essay on the "ugly business," is headed "Silence is Golden." Might be a good idea to make up a purse of silence coined, and bearing Queen Victoria's image and superscription, and make the "ugly business" square with the cheated oarsman.

Clever Detective Work.

Herbert Morgan is a young man who has been employed in a position of trust by the Co-operative Society of this city says the Victoria Times, but his actions latterly were such as to arouse the suspicions of his employers. Investigation brought to light that he had obtained certain money under false pretenses, besides which certain bills representing certain sums of money were missing. On Tuesday last he also was missing, but it became necessary for the firm's credit that he be found and brought to book. The case was put in the hands of the police, and Sergeant Levin undertook the task of finding the needle in the bundle of hay. He left here by the Kingston on Wednesday evening, after having ascertained that Morgan took a ticket for Seattle, and proceeded to that place, accompanied by Mr. David Nolan. It was not long before Sergeant Levin located his man, and with the assistance given by the Seattle police authorities, was enabled to bring him back on the return trip of the Kingston. This was an unusually quick and clever piece of detective work, for there was nothing to go by when Seattle was reached, and it was a matter of congratulation to the sergeant when he was seen returning so soon, and successfully.

McKenzie Street Loan Bylaw, 1891.

A Bylaw to raise by loan the sum of $11,000 for the purpose of purchasing part of lot 22, in block 13, for widening McKenzie Street, in the City of New Westminster.

Whereas it is expedient that McKenzie Street, in the City of New Westminster, should be widened to the extent of eleven feet, between Columbia Street and Clarkson Street;

And whereas it has been ascertained that the land required for the widening of said street can be procured for the sum of $10,250, and it will require the sum of $750 in addition to pay the cost of the award of the arbitration in respect to said expropriation and the expense of making said street;

And whereas it is provided by the "McKenzie Street Expropriation Bylaw, 1891," that one-third of the cost of the expropriation of the said land shall be provided for by a special rate to be levied upon the lots or part of lots belonging to persons directly benefited by the said improvement.

And whereas for the purpose of raising the said sum of $11,000 it will be necessary to issue debentures for that amount;

And whereas for the payment of interest and creating a sinking fund for payment of the said debentures it will be necessary to raise the sum of $770 by special rate in each year;

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property in the said city, according to the last revised assessment roll is the sum of $5,287,520;

And whereas the total amount of the existing debt of the said city is $783,500;

And whereas for the purpose of raising the said yearly sum of $770 an equal special rate of three-twentieths of one mill in the dollar will be required;

Therefore the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of New Westminster in Council assembled enact as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said city to raise by loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $11,000.

2. It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, but not for less than $100 each, such debentures to be sealed with the seal of the Corporation, signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer of the said city.

3. The said debentures shall bear date the 1st day of January, 1892, and shall be made payable in fifty years at furthest from the said date, and the same may be payable in any place or places authorised by law, as may be agreed upon between the purchaser or purchasers thereof and the said Mayor, and the said debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly on the first days of January and July in each and every year.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures, and for the payment of the interest thereon, an equal annual special rate of three-twentieths of one mill in the dollar shall be levied and collected, in addition to all other rates, in each year upon all the rateable property in the said city during the currency of the said debentures or any of them.

6. All moneys arising from the said rate beyond the amount required for the payment of interest upon the said debentures may be invested from time to time as the Trustees in that behalf may direct, for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for the redemption of the said debentures as they respectively become due, without prejudice to any of the powers conferred upon the said Council by the act of incorporation.

7. The proceeds of the sale of the said debentures shall be applied as follows, and not otherwise: First towards meeting the expenses incurred in laying out Queens Park (generally known as Albert Park), and the balance towards meeting expenses incurred on Queen's Park, and Begbie Square, meeting expenses authorized for on the 6th day of [illegible]

8. This bylaw shall come into force and take effect on the 31st day of December, 1891.

9. This bylaw, before the final passing thereof, shall receive the assent of the electors of the said city in the manner provided in the "New Westminster Act, 1888," and amending Acts.

10. This bylaw may be cited as the "Loan Bylaw 1891."

NOTICE.

Take notice that the above is a true copy of the proposed bylaw which will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the City of New Westminster after one month from the first publication thereof in the Ledger newspaper, which first publication took place on the 11th day of November, 1891, and that a vote of the electors of the city will be taken on said proposed bylaw on the 11th day of December, 1891, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m., at the following places, namely: In Ward No. 1, at the house of Frank Davis, No. 148, Sixth avenue, in said Ward; in Ward No. 2, at the office of the late Dominion Sawmill Co., Columbia street, in said Ward; in Ward No. 3, at the City Hall, in said Ward; in Ward No. 4, at the residence of Geo. Pittendrigh, Columbia street, in said Ward; in Ward No. 5, at the Orange Hall, Columbia street, in said Ward.

A Bylaw to raise by loan the sum of $23,000 for certain purposes hereinafter mentioned.

Whereas certain works undertaken by the Council of the City of New Westminster have exceeded the amounts appropriated therefore out of the general revenue for the current year, and it is expedient that the amount of such excess should be provided for by loan;

And whereas it will be necessary for that purpose to raise by loan the sum of $23,000;

And whereas, for the purpose of raising the said sum of $23,000 it will be necessary to issue debentures for that amount;

And whereas for the payment of said debentures creating fund and interest, it will be necessary to raise the sum of $1,840 by special rate each year;

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said city, according to the last revised assessment roll, is $5,287,520;

And whereas the total amount of the existing debt of the said city is the sum of [illegible]

And whereas for the purpose of raising the said yearly sum of [illegible] an equal special rate of [illegible] dollar will be required;

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly on the first days of January and July in each and every year.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures, and for the payment of interest thereon, an equal annual special rate of four-thirteenths of one mill in the dollar shall be levied and collected, in addition to all other rates, in each year upon all the rateable property in the said city during the currency of the said debentures or any of them.

SIR, One man is better than another, just in proportion as he dresses well. Talk as you will, it is the external appearance by which we judge a man at first sight, and first impressions are the most lasting. No man who can afford to buy a suit of clothes, can afford to have that suit ill fashioned. That is sound philosophy, and it can be lived up to only by ordering your garments from the Famous Westminster Tailor

GREER SENTENCED.

Found Guilty of Assault, sent to the Penitentiary for Twenty-seven Months at Hard Labor.

The first business at the court of assizes yesterday was the case of Regina vs. Samuel Greer on two counts, shooting with intent and obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duties. His lordship Chief Justice Begbie presided. A great deal of time was lost in swearing in a jury, as wholesale challenges were indulged in by the crown. The following jury were empanelled: A. J. Hunt (foreman), Angus Martin, F. McCrimmon, Joseph Kipp, Edmund Whyte, H. Dresney, W. D. R. Collier, E. Dell, A. Patterson, A. Archibald, J. Russell and Kenneth Beaton. The attorney-general, Hon. Mr. Theodore Davie, opened the case for the crown and Messrs. Atkinson and Blake defended and pleaded not guilty. The crown said it was a lucky thing for the prisoner that the crime was now reduced to a misdemeanor. The trouble was started by a writ of ejectment directed by D. A. Smith and R. B. Angus against Greer, and in the execution of his duty the deputy sheriff had been shot by the prisoner and prevented from doing said duty.

Deputy Sheriff Armstrong was the first witness; he testified to having gone to the Greer estate with a writ on the 29th of September last; there were with him two constables and three specials who were sworn in for the occasion; he saw the prisoner, and the prisoner, he thought, saw him. Greer had been talking to Devlin, the C. P. R. detective, and ran for the house; witness followed him, he (Greer) ran into the front door and slammed it; witness saw a gun in his hand. Witness explained the position of all who were there to the jury by means of a plan of the house and premises. When Greer had shut the front door witness went round to the back door; Steves and Carter were standing outside and the others were coming up, he stepped up to the door and rapped saying, "Greer, open the door," he heard a noise like to moving of a chair; he rapped again saying, "Greer, open the door, I want to speak to you," but heard no reply, the gun was then discharged, after this second knock. The shot entered his face, neck and body; there were in all about 26 shots taken out of him; it was No. 7 shot. He then backed away from the door to see what injuries he had received. A splinter struck him in the stomach and winded him; witness and the officers had all left the door; he was afterwards examined by Dr. Wilson. When they were leaving on the engine Greer came to the door and shook his fist, but he could not hear what he said. The deputy sheriff's clothes were then produced and shown to the jury.

Witness, Sergeant Haywood, Devlin, Patterson, McColvie and Cotton, afterwards went back to arrest Greer on a warrant that had been issued for shooting with intent to murder. Mr. Devlin went up to the house first and spoke to Greer, Cotton and Sergeant Haywood came up next, witness saw Greer talk to Devlin and then walk away with Haywood. Greer was at the back door after they went away; witness saw three guns, two of which were loaded. A gun was produced which was taken from the house, it was fully loaded with cartridge and No. 7 shot, one barrel was dirty and looked as if it had been discharged. Witness finally got into the house, and having put a man in possession, took away the door and put it in a car. The door was produced and examined by the jury. Witness had known the prisoner for seven years officially; five years ago he had served legal papers on him, and since then had also served papers—Greer knows that he is the deputy sheriff.

Cross-examined by Mr. Blake, the witness stated that he had known Greer for seven years. On the 18th of August, 1885, he had gone to execute a writ of possession. Greer went into the house and Armstrong followed him. Greer threatened him with an axe; witness drew a revolver and made him drop the axe. Witness did not know at that time that he was trespassing and that the writ was not good. When Greer was arrested at that time for hindering an officer in the discharge of his duty, the case fell through, Mr. Hamilton asking him not to press it as the company had been promised the right of way through the land if it was dropped. In November 1886, he went again to Greer's place, on which occasion Mr. Greer went off quietly; he did not know the writ was not good. Witness did not remember Mr. Blake's saying that if a proper writ was issued, he would go with him to Greer's and there would be no trouble. Witness saw Devlin get off the engine first, he (witness) was in the box car. Devlin is a C. P. R. constable; Steves was there, he was a special sworn in at the request of Mr. Abbott. He could not say who got off after Devlin; he saw Greer and Devlin standing together, but did not know if anything was said. He thought Greer saw him as they looked at each other, but he could not say, he suspected that seeing him was what made Greer run for the house. Some of the officers ran for the back door, Greer ran for the front door shouting, "Shut the doors." Witness followed Greer and saw him enter the front door, he then again appeared at the door with a gun before closing it. Witness then went round to the back and found that the constables had just been put out by Greer; the gun must have been at the front door as Greer was not out of his sight. He stepped up to the back door and knocked, saying, "Greer, open the door." He had not given Greer any intimation that he had a writ to serve and no one had told him that it was the sheriff. Witness had heard that a C. P. R. officer had told the prisoner that they were coming to turn him out of his house. On examining the door it was found that the slot holes were about three feet from the bottom, it was held up by a constable and the witness having donned the perforated coat showed how the gun must have been discharged. Greer was arrested that day and had gone away with the officer without any trouble. His lordship asked if a man shooting from the shoulder could have hit him, it was tried at the door and considered possible but not probable.

Dr. Wilson, a Vancouver physician, was the next witness, he had been called on to remove shot from Mr. Armstrong's body and face; there were about 20 or 30, the majority in the face, had pene-

Against the Strike.

Thursday being Thanksgiving Day, was an idle day at the mines, and the secret ballot was taken of the union miners for and against the continuance of the Wellington strike. The voting, so far as it went, was overwhelmingly in favor of discontinuing the strike. In fact, so general was this opinion, that a very large number did not even take the trouble to cast their ballots. Not one-fifth of the members of the union voted, and of those that voted, nearly seven-eighths favored declaring the strike off. —Free Press.

Nip and Tuck.

This very funny and interesting comedy-drama will be produced at Herring's opera house next Monday evening, November 16th. Sam Morris and Johnnie Williams have enviable reputations as comedians and character actors, and they are supported by a company of unusual excellence. Morris and Williams, as the two detectives, "Nip and Tuck," are continually getting in each other's way, and many funny complications arise from their eagerness to capture a murderer and get the reward. The play has a very interesting plot and is filled with strong dramatic situations.

An Honest Opinion.

Lord Elphinstone was one of the Van Horne party which visited this city last September. His lordship is evidently a man of keen perception and takes a broad view of affairs, and his high intelligence did not fail to observe the solidity and enterprise of this city, nor did the fact of his large interests in Vancouver warp his judgment or alloy his candor when he made the following fair and honest comparison between the two towns. His lordship has contributed a very readable and able account of his travels to the London Canadian Gazette and the following extract tells what he thinks of Westminster and his opinion of Westminster's rival: "After dinner we went over the new opera house, built close to the hotel by the Canadian Pacific railway, and which is the prettiest little house I have seen, and after a drive round the town next day, were taken to New Westminster by a new electric railway of eleven miles in length. The town has a very smart appearance, beautifully situated on the Fraser River, and at present, at any rate, is in advance of Vancouver; the latter, however, is by many years its junior."

Found Dead.

At 1 o'clock yesterday the body of an Indian named Baptiste, lately discharged from jail, was found lying in a muddy hollow in a vacant lot on the west side of McNeely street. The corpse was taken to Fales' undertaking rooms and washed clean of the mud with which it was thickly coated. A post-mortem examination will be held tomorrow to determine if possible by what means the unfortunate man met his death. Foul play is suspected by some on account of the peculiar position in which the body was found. The lot is ten feet below the level of the sidewalk, and just above where the body was found a plank is missing from the fence; the man's head was under the sidewalk, the remainder of the body stretching out at right angles thereto. Persons living in the neighborhood state that they heard moans during the night, but owing to the darkness the search made for the cause was unavailing. The opinion was advanced last night that the man in attempting to force his way through the fence for some purpose lost his hold, and in falling sustained injuries which joined to exposure to the heavy frost on Friday night and yesterday morning, caused his death. Many others believe that he was smothered in the soft mud.

Save Your Eyesight.

The fact that there is no professional resident optician this side of San Francisco is one reason why Professor Seward, the celebrated scientific optician of New York, has been so successful during the five weeks he has been visiting this city. Aside from the large number of near-sighted, far-sighted and old-sighted eyes, Professor Seward has succeeded in correcting a number of especially complicated cases of defective eyesight whose possessors have never before been able to have correct glasses adjusted at any price. A portion of this work has been somewhat expensive, but the result has been satisfactory in all cases. A large number of prominent and influential citizens throughout the province of British Columbia have kindly volunteered the use of their names for reference, among those of Westminster are: Rev. Thomas Scouler, Rev. E. Robson, Rev. J. Reid, D. D., Rev. R. Lennie and many others.

Prof. Seward has demonstrated to the satisfaction of all concerned his ability in adapting his superior lenses to any and all kinds of defective eyesight. It remains only to state that his time here must be limited, and we urge upon those intending to call upon this eminent optician the importance of doing so without delay.

Prof. Seward's optical parlors are at the Queen's Hotel. *

A Pointer to the Public.

District Lot No. 28 lies immediately adjoining the city limits. The continuation of Mary Street goes directly through it, and the Electric Tramway will in a couple of months be running its cars every hour of the day through the centre of this property. The lot (No. 28) is composed of 128 acres of land as level as a table. Contracts have been let to clear and grub the ground, and leave it in perfect condition for building purposes. Already six citizens have decided to erect handsome residences there, ragging in price from $4,000 to $7,000 each. The whole of this splendid piece of property (except some limited portions already disposed of) will be put on the market in a few weeks. One great advantage in buying a lot and erecting a residence on this property is that the owner will avoid heavy municipal taxation. Make a note of it, and wait till the property is put on the market before buying. *

Ald. Brown of Vancouver had an unpleasant experience the other day during a gale in English Bay. Mr. Brown was out alone in a small boat and was thrown ashore by the waves as night fell. He took to the woods and wandered around all night in the drenching rain. He was glad to get home.
