QUEEN CITY CELEBRATION

Big Day's Sports in Spite of Wet Weather

The Lacrosse Match Proves Star Attraction

The weather was unkind yesterday morning and it knocked the Dominion Day celebration program somewhat out of shape, but notwithstanding this the day was bravely and loyally kept and every one, including the large gathering of visitors, enjoyed the festive occasion most thoroughly.

About 5 a.m. the rain clouds which had been hovering around the city for some hours, started in their deadly work in good earnest and there was a steady, continuous, heavy fall of rain until nearly noon, when the clouds broke and the weather for the rest of the day was fine and cool—just right for all kinds of sport.

The Rossland train arrived promptly on time, at 10.30 bringing a large contingent of Rossland, Trail and Slocan lake visitors, including the Rossland company, R. M. R. and their bugle band.

A little later the Kokanee steamed into the city wharf loaded down with excursionists from Kaslo and Kootenay lake points including the Kaslo company, R. M. R. in command of captain Holmes.

On their arrival the visitors were duly received by members of the celebration committee, but the grand parade and all the morning program had to be temporarily abandoned owing to the heavy rain fall.

The crowd took the matter most philosophically and good naturedly, and patiently waited for the "clouds to roll by" which they eventually did shortly before noon.

The children who had been looking forward with great eagerness to their share in the proceedings, were keenly disappointed, but were assured by the mayor and others, that their turn would come in good time, so they made the best of the postponement like the rest.

The hotels, restaurants and bars did a roaring trade all morning as the majority of the crowd simply had to stay in the comfortable quarters only too ready to receive them.

Owing to the downpour of rain which lasted till noon, the original plan of the procession was not carried out. The local South African veterans rode down to meet the Rossland train, accompanied by the Nelson band, and a large number of citizens. When the train drew in the four passenger coaches attached were crowded with people, who were greeted with hearty cheers. On board was the Rossland bugle band, the R. M. R., and the baseball, quoit and tennis teams. The Rangers marched to the drill shed, where a short drill was held under the direction of sergt. Fisher, of Kamloops. About 200 children assembled at the public school grounds, despite the rain, and were marched inside the building, where patriotic songs and choruses were sung. Short addresses were made by Dr. Arthur, Rev. F. H. Graham and principal A. Sullivan. A large flag, donated by P. Lamont, was hoisted on the school flagstaff, and was greeted with hearty cheers. The children were then dismissed till 1 o'clock.

At 1 o'clock the parade was formed at the corner of Kootenay and Baker streets, and shortly after moved off. At the head was Charles A. Waterman, followed by the Nelson band, twenty strong. Next was a squadron of the Canadian Mounted Ries, who were greeted with applause and cheers all along the line. The Rocky Mountain Rangers, preceded by the fine bugle band from Rossland, came after the C. M. R., with Capt. W. H. Holmes, of Kaslo, in command. The Rossland company of 23 men, four non-coms. and one officer, and No. 1 company, led the batallion, under Lieut. Townsend. The Nelson company, No. 2, was commanded by Capt. H. E. Macdonell, and Lieut. Blakemore, while Kaslo company, No. 3, was under Lieuts. Blackburn and Garland. Next came the chemical engine and hose reels of the Nelson fire brigade, handsomely decorated with bunting. Three barouches with mayor Rose, city clerk McMorris, U. S. consul Riblet, and members of the city council followed the fire brigade.

The Miners' union turned out in full force and made a memorable display of brawn and muscle. The trade unions and fraternal societies were well represented.

The Salvation army band, with close on 300 school children were the next to pass. This portion of the parade was, of course, greatly abbreviated by the bad weather of the forenoon, many parents being afraid to let their children march through the muddy streets.

Owing to the domestic make up of the crowd of onlookers, the children's turn out was perhaps the most popular with them and a fine, brave turnout young Canada made.

The last, but by no means least interesting section of the parede, came last. esting feature consisted of twenty adult Indians, about half of them squaws, each of them carrying papooses. At their head was a banner inscribed "The First Settlers." Fred Starkey marched at the head of the "settlers."

The procession proceeded along Baker street, up Josephne to Victoria, westward along Victoria to Ward, down Ward to Vernon, and along Vernon to the grounds. Arrived there the R. M. R. fired a feu de joie, following the last of the three rounds with three cheers for the dominion.

The recreation grounds attracted the crowd of the day, the lacrosse match proving a great drawing card and much interest being taken in the baseball game. The tennis and quoit tournaments were well patronized as were the other sports of the day later on.

The celebration committee early in the day arranged to extend all tickets out of the city, the transportation companies agreeing to make them good for today or tomorrow.

The committee have also rearranged the program and their announcement for today will be found in another column in this issue.

The gaily decorated streets presented a busy and animated scene all day and last evening, and considerng the weather in the earlier part of the day, the program passed off very succesfully.

Appended is a detailed account of the various sports of the day:

BASEBALL.

In baseball the Northport team defeated Rossland by a score of 12 to 7. The game was a medium one, a good deal of wild playing being done on both sides. Jut after the game started, Northport's manager, C. Masey, was accidentally struck in the right eye by the ball while it was being thrown from third to home. It is not known yet how severe his injuries are. Dr. Hall, who was on the grounds when the accident happened, dressed the injured eye, and superintended the removal of Mr. Masey to the hospital, where he now is. The line up was as follows:

Northport—H. Travis, c; Bruner, p; R. Travis, 1b; Bigelow, 2b; Nudell, 3b; Buckley, ss; Newman, lf; Wilson, rf; Lindsay cf.

Rossland.—Holland, c; Costello, p; Shelton, 1b; A. Gibson, 2b; Fetion, 3b; W. Gibson, ss; Leghton, lf; Harron, rf; Sheere cf.

The score by innings was

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Northport	1	2	0	1	1	2	1	4	0	—12
Rossland	1	1	0	0	0	0	3	1	1	7

For Rossland Costello made one run in the first innings and another in the seventh; Leighton made one in the second; Shelton and Harron made one each in the seventh; Gibson made one in the eighth, and A. Gibson one in the ninth.

For Northport R. Travis made one run in the first; Newman made one in the second and one in the sixth; Nudell one in the second and Wilson one in the fourth; Bruner and Lindsay one each in the sixth, and Lindsay, Bigelow, Bruner and Buckley one each in the seventh. The Rossland team returned home last evening by the special train. This afternoon at 1 o'clock the final match in the series will be played between Nelson and Northport.

LACROSSE.

It was after half past four when the lacrosse game opened, but the immense crowd of spectators that had been patiently waiting for it to commence, were still fresh enough to give round after round of cheers to the players as they appeared on the field. The ground was slippery and wet from the rains of the morning, and caused many of the players to measure their length frequently before the game was finished. Although the Nelson team had the largest number of supporters present, yet there was no lack of hearty support for the New Westminsters, and good work on either side was cheered freely. From beginning to end the New Westministers played a steady game, relying more on their superb combination work than on any brilliant individual playing. This in the end won them the game, although till near the end of the third quarter it was hard to say who was getting the best of it. The individual playing of most of the members of the Nelson team was magnificent, and with better combination the result might have been very different. The checking by Thompson, Williamson, Knox and the two Jeffs brothers would be hard to beat, while in Greyerbiehl the Nelson team possesses the strongest goal keeper it ever had. McNichol, Blackwood, Perrier, Taylor and Mitchell each played a star game, but the supporting was not as perfect as it should have been.

Summary——The games were scored as follows:

Nelson—D. McNichol, 10 minutes.
Westminster—F. Lynch, 2 1-2 minutes.
Westminster—W. Gifford, 1 1-2 minutes.
Westminster—W. DeBeck, 1-4 minute.

The line-up was as follows:

Nelson		New Wesminster
P. Greyerbelhl	goal	S. Gray
A. Jeffs	point	A. W. Gray
Friday	cover	W. B. Galbraith
C. Jeffs	1st defence	T. Gifford
A. Taylor	2nd defence	C. D. Peel
W. Williamson	3rd defence	A. Turnbull
J. Thompson	centre	P. Feeney
A. Perrier	3rd home	W. Gifford
D. McNichol	2nd home	O. Latham
D. Blackwood	1st home	F. Lynch
C. Knox	outside	J. Oddy
W. Mitchell	inside	W. DeBeck
J. Hawkins	field captain	R. Cheney

THE OFFICIALS.

The officials of the match were:

Referee—Dr. McLennan.

Timekeeper—A. Poole.

Umpires—H. Perrier, Nelson; J. Jordon, New Wesminster.

The first quarter opened with Nelson at the east end and New Westminster at the west end of the field. Thompson got the ball from Turnbull, and passed it to McNicholl, who was checked by Rennie. It passed from one side to another of the centre of the field, without making much progress either way till Rennie took it, passing to Latham, who made a splendid throw for the Nelson flags, which was cleverly stopped by Greyerbiehl. Greyerbiehl not only stopped the ball but threw it well out to Taylor, who passed to Perrier. Some lively checking then took place in which Latham, Feeney, Thompson and Blackwood took part. Blackwood finally got the ball and passed to McNichol, who threw for New Westminster's goal. Here the same thing happened as had taken place at the other end, and the ball was passed out quickly to centre field again. It worked its way up towards Nelson's end, and a lively scrimmage took place between Nelson point and cover and the New Westminster home men. Time was called during this mix-up, and McCorvey was sent to the fence for three minutes, for mixing up too strongly. After play was started again the Nelson players worked the ball up to their opponents end, and Blackwood getting the ball made a throw for the flags, missing the goal by a few inches. Then occurred one of the first examples of Westminster's superior combination, when the ball was taken by A. W. Gray and passed from player to player, each one of whom was in his exact place till it was thrown for the Nelson flags by DeBeck. Before it reached even the goal keeper, however, it was caught by C. Jeffs, and sent out again. Back again it came to be stopped by Greyerbiehl, who seemed to have just the correct intution to know where the ball would strike, and the quickness to have his stick at exactly the right angle to block it most cleverly.

In a mix-up near the New Wesminster goal Rennie caught Blackwood by the back, throwing him, and for this was sent off for two minutes.

When time was called at the end of the first quarter, without either side having scored, the applause from the grand stands was loud and prolonged.

The second quarter was almost an exact repetition of the first. Repeatedly the ball was worked down by the Nelson team to the New Westminster flags, when getting into the possession of the latter it would be quickly sent up the field again, until checked by Nelson's superb play in centre field. At this stage of the game Williamson did some wonderful checking and catching, stopping and turning the ball time after time. Time was again called at the end of the second quarter without either side having a piont to its credit, and the excitement of the spectators grew more intense. As the players walked off to rest between the halves they were individually cheered, Greyerbiehl and Williamson coming in for an extra share.

Time was called at the beginning of the second quarter at 5.35. Both sides went in to work their hardest from the first, and some very pretty playing was the result. Rennie securing the ball made a fine effort to pass McNicholl and Thompson. The latter checked him, but slipped on the muddy ground, and fell. Rennie caught the ball again but was stopped by McNicholl. For a few seconds the ball was fought for without advancing more than a couple of feet in any direction, the checking being admirable. Then Thompson broke irresistibly through the press and carried off the ball in triumph, passing it on to Blackwood, when checked by Gifford. The ball then traveled up to New Westminsters flags, was checked by the goal keeper who shot to W. S. Galbraith. Galbraith threw to Peel, but the ball was intercepted by Williamson and sent back to Blackwood. McNicholl got it next and shot for goal, but the ball struck on one of the posts, and was sent out of danger quickly by S. Grey. Then it stayed around centre field again for awhile, before a clever pass from Taylor to Perrier and then to Blackwood brought it back again. Once more McNichol got possession of it, and dodging the Westminster defence, threw it cleanly in, the time being ten minutes exactly from the beginning of the quarter.

Till the end of the quarter no other point was made, both sides playing somewhat cautiously. Gifford, Peel and Galbraith did some scientific passing, their combination work and supporting being excellent. C. Jeffs got into hot water in this quarter for using his stick on a player instead of the ball, and was given a three minute vacation. His absence was felt, as his tireless checking had repeatedly turned back the ball from the Nelson goal. Greyerbiehl, however, was well able to look after himself and two vicious shots in succession at his flags were caught easily.

The fourth quarter opened with both sides looking a little anxious. The Nelson players, although elated by their success in the preceding quarter, had begun to fully respect the combination work of their opponents, which necessitated unceasing vigilance. Whenever a New Westminster player was not directly needed at the ball he quickly took his position again, so that whenever one of his men got the ball he knew exactly where to throw it. This was illustrated very quickly and unpleasantly to the Nelson team in this quarter, when after a hard fight the ball was forced down to the New Westminster end, but gained possession of by DeBeck, and while the Nelson players were concentrated at one side of the field it was passed up and through the defence, Jeffs, being still on the fence, and was sent home by Fred Lynch in 2 3-4 minutes. Greyerbiehl checked Lynch's first shot, but in delivering the ball himself, the ball was intercepted and again sent in by Lynch, passing under the goal keeper's guard.

Time was called again, and similar tactics resulted in W. Gifford scoring again for New Westminster, the time being a minute and a half. Shortly after play was resumed W. Gifford was struck by C. Jeffs, and the latter was again sent to the fence this time for two minutes.

Nelson seemed to be bunched together and in a quarter of a minute more DeBeck threw in. This succession of losses caused the Nelson men to take a tumble to themsleves and they opened out and stopped the loose individual playing they had been doing for a time. The ball was carried down to the Westminster end again and Knox carrying it past the cover point, shot on the flags. Unfortunately for Nelson it struck Gray, the goal keeper, square in the neck and rebounded. It was brought up again twice before time was called, but on both occasions was stopped by the points. When time was called the Westminster team gave three cheers for Nelson, which was heartily responded to by their late opponents. Today's game will be waited for with even greater interest than yesterday's. It will be called sharply on time, and as the game yesterday will have got the home team into better shape, it is not at all unlikely that the score will be reversed.

QUOITS.

The quoit tournament was interfered with considerably by the rain, so that only the individual series was pulled off yesterday. The scores made were: Smith 31 vs. Walley 23; Wallace 31 vs. Watchorn 23; Nunn 31 vs. Jones 30; Watson (Rossland) 31 vs. Richardson 24. This morning at 9.30 sharp the individual series will be completed, and the team games played also. Any players not on the ground at the time named will be marked off as defaulting.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The tournament of the Nelson Lawn Tennis club commenced yesterday at the grounds in the west end.

The feature of the day was the playing of Mrs. Scott, of Rossland, who made her first appearance at Nelson tennis yesterday and surprised everyone by her brilliant play. In addition to the games in which Mrs. Scott took part, the sets between Phipps and Pinkham in the singles, and Messrs. Pollok and Pinkham and Messrs. Rose and Davis in the doubles were worthy of special mention.

Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Campbell served tea during the afternoon.

Play will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock sharp and several experts from Trail will be on hand to participate

The following were the scores yesterday

Ladies' Singles—Mrs. Scott beat Miss Crickmay, 6-1, 7-5.

LAUNCH RACES.

At 6.45 last evening the first of the pleasure launch races came off over a three and a half miles course, commencing and ending at the Boat clubhouse. The race was a handicap one, of the 30 foot class, in which four launches entered, the competitors being S. S. Taylor's Mermaid, George Hale's Vidette, and Success, and McPhee's boat. After an exciting race the Vidette won with the Mermaid a close second.

The second race was for the 20 foot class over the same course as that covered by the 30 footers. Jarvis, Undine won with Schermerhorn's Ingold second.

The races this evening will include a novelty and another speeding race. The start will be made from the clubhouse at 6.30 o'clock.

THE DRILLING CONTEST.

Great interest was shown in the double drilling contest which came off in the evening on the vacant lot at the corner of Baker and Hall streets.

Before the match started a big crowd gathered and lined the footrail all along Baker street in front of the raised platform where the big block of granite was placed, and among the crowd were noticed many miners who invariably sided with one or other of the competing teams and were ready to freely back their choice with rolls of crisp bank bills.

Some slight delay was occasioned in making a start, but about 7 o'clock the first pair were started off on their fifteen-minutes' shift. The drills used were all seven-eighths.

Bruce White in a pair of blue overalls bossed the competition, and handled the rival teams generally.

The competing teams were: Stanley McLennan and H. Thomey, of Pilot Bay, workers in the North Star mine; and H. Hagarty and Ed. Taylor, of Nelson, who have been working in the Ymir mine.

The conditions were the usual ones with the reservation that the contestants must be amateurs and must have worked one month at least at some mine in the province. The prizes offered were: 1st, $100; and 2nd, $50.

There was little to choose between the teams when they stripped for action, so far as appearances went, and the crowd looking on was about evenly divided in its support.

The North Star boys, Messrs. MacLennan and Thomey, were the first to commence work, and they were heartily cheered as they got into position.

John Houston acted as starter; Jacob Dover as time-keeper, and Frank Phillips as time recorder.

"Are you ready—go," shouted Mr. Houston at 7.05, and away went the hammer, Stanley MacLennan's strong arms driving the steel down at a great rate.

As usual, the men changed every half minute, and as the time grew the crowd waxed enthusiastic and urged on the men to do their best. MacLennan seemed the stronger of the team and changed most quickly, but has partner pegged away and down went the steel.

After 13 1-2 minutes a peculiar thing happened, which slightly interfered with the finish. The shack alongside the drilling platform had been saturated with coal oil to exhibit the powers of the Coon Town fire brigade a little later on, the building was covered with spectators, and some one must have dropped a lighted match inside, as all of a sudden the flames burst out, scattering the crowd in all directions and making it decidedly unpleasant for the drilling miners, who kept on at their work amid the flames and smoke and a whirlwind of cheers from the crowd.

When the fifteen minutes- work was up, the men shook hands amid applause, and the measurers dug out the hole, and later on announced that the depth drilled would be given out when the other team had completed their work.

After the smoke of the burnt shack had passed away and the Coon Town brigade had successfully extinguished the fire and themselves, the second team started up. They were Hagarty and Taylor, of the Ymir mine. They drilled hard, amid just the same excitement amongst the crowd but as subsequent events proved, they were squarely beaten.

After the measurements had been taken Bruce White announced the result as ollows:

Stanley MacLennan and H. Thomey, North Star mine, 34 1-4 inches. 1st prize, $100.

H. Hagarty and Ed. Taylor, Ymir mine, 29 inches. 2nd prize, $50.

It was announced that at 6.30 this evening there would be single drilling and an open contest for professional double drillers for a prize of $200.

THE COON TOWN BRIGADE.

Quite the most laughable feature of the day was the exhibition of the Coon Town fire brigade (strictly amateur and unpaid). A small shack just alongside of the drilling platform had been thoroughly saturated with coal oil, and it was originally intended to light this up after the drilling was over, as the darkness closed in, but as stated elsewhere, one of the spectators perched upon the roof of the shack watching the drilling contest started the fire a little after 7 o'clock, while the drilling was in full progress.

The flames soared up and an alarm was turned in a good deal ahead of time. Presently to the delight of the large crowd of onlookers "the Brigade" arrived. They took plenty of time and stopped on Baker street to settle several differences of opinion before they approached the blazing pile and when they did attack the doomed shack they did it in a manner quite unequalled in the fire annals of this city. They turned their garden hose in every direction—except on the fire, and the crowd quite caught on to the humor of the situation and roared out their applause and laughter. For the most part the brigade scorned to use water on the building, and proceeded to utterly destroy it by knocking down the walls partly with a most approved battering ram of home manufacture and partly with their hands and bodies. Before the fire quite burned out the brigade turned their attention to the crowd and there was a great scattering amid shrieks and cries as the hose wandered cheerfully about. Finally the brigade retired from the scene in good dis-order and the exhibition was over. It will be repeated, with several new ideas, this evening about 9 o'clock.

Another Furnace to Be Blown in This Week.—Ruby Mine Leased.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Boundary Falls, July 1.—The third furnace, blower and new sampler for the smelter are expected to arrive in a few days, and will be installed immediately upon arrival.

The coke situation has greatly improved during the past month, and the second furnace will be blown in this week.

C. R. Gray, W. S. Keith et al have obtained a lease and bond on the Ruby mine, owned by W. G. McMynn and G. Cook, situated within a half mile of the M. & B. Co.'s smelter, and have started work. The old tunnel now in 90 feet will be continued 75 feet to connect with the old shaft, a cross-cut will be made to the contact, and a drift will be run along the contact under the old glory holes. About $10,000 worth of work has been done on the property, and some good grade copper ore has been taken out. Three carloads were shipped to the smelter with good results.

There is considerable building going on in both the upper and lower towns. Smith & McEwen have just moved into their new store.

GOSSIP OF GREENWOOD

[Special to The Daily News.]

Greenwood, July 1—The further hearing of the charge against Philip Stanhope for obstructing the wagon road near Beaverdell, west fork of Kettle river, has been adjourned for a week to give the defendant time in which to remove the trees he caused to be felled across the road. This case will probably be a lesson to others, since it will show them that roads to outlying places may not be closed with impunity any more than may those in the more seteled districts.

Martin Anderson, the well known and popular foreman at the B. C Copper Co.'s smelter, was married this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peterson, Anaconda, to Miss Anna Olson, by Rev. J. D. P. Knox. Mr. Anderson, who is a brother of Mrs. Paul Johnson, has been connected with the Greenwood smelter since its early construction days, and his bride has also been resident here for two or three years. They are making their home in Greenwood, where they have many friends.

Father Bedard, O.M.I., of Greenwood, has received from the architect, George S. Curtis, plans and specifications for a small building to be erected at Phoenix and to serve, until circumstances shall warrant the erection of a more pretentious structure, as a church for the Roman Catholics of that town. It will be a frame building, shingled outside and plastered inside. Its dimensions will be 22x52 feet. There will be a small vestry on the south side and two rooms at the rear. The arched ceiling will be in coast cedar, oiled; windows of art glass; and the building will be wired for electric light. A belfry will be placed above the roof, a small bell having been obtained last year. The church will be named the church of Our Lady of the Good Conscience, and it should be ready for opening by September.

A motion that the Winnipeg delegates to the world's chamber of commerce be instructed to protest against the embargo now placed by the British government on Canadian cattle was lost, 5 voting for and 15 against.

DEATH OF MRS. H. A. KING.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Greenwood, July 1.—Mrs. King, wife of H. A. King, a prominent business man of this town, died very unexpectedly at about 2 o'clock this morning. A doctor was called in, but he could do nothing to save life, the deceased having been suffering from chronic Bright's disease. Mrs. King, formerly Mrs. O'Brien, was resident in Rossland before coming to Greenwood. She leaves two daughters, both married, one to Mr. Coburn, of Portland, Ore, and the other to James D. Sword, M. E., and one son. During the temporary absence in Alaska of Mr. Sword, Mrs. Sword has been staying here with her mother, so had the mournful satisfaction of being near her when death came to claim her.

Following the ceremony there was an elaborate luncheon and later in the day the bridal couple departed for their honeymoon trip on the continent.

THE WYOMING CATASTROPHE

Caused by the Explosion of Black Damp

A Colored Man Hero of the Calamity

Hanna, Wyoming, July 1.—It has been decided that the explosion yesterday was caused by black damp which gathered in a small alley of the seventeenth level, where the circulation became defective from some unknown cause. A miner working with his lamp, and not knowing about the existence of the deadly gas, ignited the explosive. Probably no trace of the miner will ever be found, for he was surely blown to atoms. Wm. Christian, colored, is the hero of the calamity. He was unconscious when brought to the surface. He could have made his way out himself but remained behind to assist others less fortunate. He was breaking down coal in a small chamber off the entry when the explosion occurred. He was knocked down by the concussion, and was dazed. The mine was filled with a sheet of flame for a minute. He ran to the slope and saw scores of miners lying on the floor, many were in the agony of the death struggle, while others had been killed outright.

Christian rushed down the slope toward the rear shaft but soon the gas burned out and the mine was in darkness. He groped about, falling over the prostrate forms scattered about the slope. Some of these raised up as he passed. They were able to talk and the plucky miner urged them to follow him. A few did this and he carried several to places of safety, from which they were later raised to the surface by the relief parties. He is not certain how many men he saved in this manner, but he believes he carried out at least a dozen. Some of the rescued miners say he did even better than this. He spent the night in the care of a physician, but today joined the force of miners and others engaged in the removal of the debris from the workings.

In some instances theentire male membership of families is among the victims of the disaster. James Wilds, father, and James Wilds, Jr., and Jube Wilds, sons, were working together near the 17th level. Oscar Oelf and Jacob Jacobson, brothers, and the sons of a widow and sole support of same and two little sisters, were killed on the twenty-first level. T. M. Davis, one of the dead men, was one of the best known miners in Wyoming. He had charge of the electric hoists and was caught below the seventeenth level.

Of the 167 dead, fully two thirds were married and leave large families. The several nationalities were represented as follows: Finlanders 12, colored 25, American 15, Irish 5, Swedes 6, Italians 11, Austrian 1, Prussian 1. Arrangements have been perfected for caring for the dead bodies as fast as they are recovered. The company will defray the funeral expenses in most cases.: No funeral arrangements have been made and none will be made until after tomorrow.

Denver, Colorado, July 1.—A special to the Republican from Hanna, Wyoming, says: "The startling information was received tonight from an experienced mined and fire fighter, who penetrated the mine to the sixteenth level, that the workings below the seventeenth level are a mass of flames and where a few hours ago it was believed the rescuers would reach the bodies of the entombed miners not later than tomorrow noon. Added to the horrors of the fire, which will doubtless be in the underground workings, is the danger of another explosion which may occur at any time. Additional fire fighters and volunteers are arriving on every train. The force is well organized and the work of rescue is progressing as rapidly as possible.

THE DUBLIN AUTO RACES.

Dublin, July 2.—The great automobile cup race for the Gordon-Bennett trophy started at 7 o'clock this morning from old Kilcullen, a town about 20 miles southwest of this city. Throughout the length of the route, which measures 370 miles, the public has been warned to keep off the course, police having been posted at every crossing and other precautions taken to prevent accident. An interesting feature of the arrangement has been the posting of immense clocks on the roadside at each point of division so that the flying competitors may learn from time to time the distance they have covered and the rate of speed. The road has been smoothed throughout its length; sharp corners have been rounded, and the more dangerous parts have been marked with flags.

SIX DAY BICYCLE RACE

Pittsburg, July 1—Frank Kramer, of Orange, New Jersey, won the six-day bicycle race at the coliseum tonight after an exciting finish. Each team covered 284 miles. The riders finished in the following order: Kramer, Lawson, Bargett, J. Bedell, Schreiber and Lake.

DEATH OF LORD COLVILLE

London, July 1—Lord Colville of Culross, lord chamberlain to queen Alexandra, and president of the honorable artillery company, died in London tonight, aged 85 years. He was partly paralyzed some weeks ago.

UNION LABEL — TYPOGRAPHICAL — NELSON, B.C.

THE CELEBRATION.

If secretary Starkey had only stood in with the clerk of the weather, there would not have been a single drawback to mar the first day of Nelson's big celebration. The attendance from outside points was unusually large, and all arrangements for the carrying out of an excellent program were such as to ensure complete success had the weather been propitious.

However, despite unfavorable atmospheric conditions, the program was carried out very satisfactorily and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the excellent exhibitions of baseball and lacrosse.

Nelson has good reason to be proud of her lacrosse team. The game they put up yesterday afternoon against the crack New Westminster team entitles them to a front rank among the votaries of Canada's national game. It was a splendid match, and though victory rested with the visitors the home players covered themselves with glory.

Secretary Starkey and his co-workers performed their trying duties admirably, and the fact that in spite of the rain things went off as well as they did was largely due to their efforts.

The splendid attendance at the baseball and lacrosse matches justifies renewed effort on the part of those desirous of securing better grounds for such games. The keen interest evinced in the games warrants the belief that there would be liberal response to a practical proposition to secure for Nelson athletic grounds that would provide better scope for both players and spectators.

NORTHWEST AUTONOMY.

The Toronto Globe thinks that the demand made by the Northwest territories for provincial autonomy will eventually result in the granting of it. The people of the territories feel that they have a grievance and from their demands they would appear to have many grounds for complaint. In the tardy bestowal of the desired provincial autonomy the Globe sees for the Northwest an opportunity to profit by the experiences of other members of the confederacy. There is no province in the dominion that has not suffered through a lack of constitutional safeguards for private or individual rights. The power of the provinces is supreme within their legislative sphere, and as a consequence any government temporarily in authority may work irreparable harm. In many respects the rights of the public should be preserved by constitutional provisions, requiring, for change or amendment, an overwhelming majority declared under conditions insuring publicity and deliberation.

One of these matters is the granting of perpetual or long-term charters for the operation of municipal or other public services. The provinces now pass acts limiting the terms of such charters, but there is nothing to prevent them from overriding their own legislation every session. It is nothing short of an outrage for the government of the day to grant franchises for all time, or for any term greater than the estimated life of one generation. No doubt the coming generations, whose rights have been gratuitously legislated away, will reassert them, but that will be attended with serious difficulties. The giving of public money to private individuals or corporations is another encroachment on personal rights against which constitutional safeguards are surely needed. A provincial legislature can pass a law against municipal bonuses one year and repeal it the next. Public money is taken from private individuals by the tax collectors, and every contributor is entitled to safeguards that cannot be brushed aside by those who chance to be in control of provincial affairs. The alienation of public land, of the perpetual energy contained in waterfalls, and of other rich heritages that are in nature the entailed possessions of all generations, should not be within the power of any temporary authority as at present. The recent experience of British Columbia has shown the need of constitutional safeguards in this respect, and other provinces have suffered through the same defect. It will be a piece of good fortune for the territories if they secure, on their admission to the sister hood of provinces, some constitutional safeguards guaranteeing certain personal rights against government encroachment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Rossland's bugle band was very favorably commented upon by local and visiting members of the R. M. R. Captain McDonell no doubt appreciated the service such a band renders a military company, and with the object lesson set by Rossland the time may not be far distant when Nelson's company of the R. M. R. may be similarly well served.

There appears to be no question of the bona fides of the strike on Popular creek. Visitors from Kaslo in town yesterday for the celebration, who had recently visited the scene of the latest mining excitement, vouched for the truth of the reports sent out from there. The fact that the new finds are within easy access of railroad communication will tend to thorough exploitation at once under the most favorable conditions.

AROUND CAMBORNE CAMP

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY AT THE EVA MINE.

ACTIVE WORK IN PROGRESS ON MANY PROPERTIES.

Messrs. Jones and Regan have completed the assessment work on the Mabel, owned by J. Cressman, of Revelstoke, and J. Lauder.

Gus Sandham and W. Winslow are working the Swamp Angel, a promising Menhinick creek property.

G. Young and J. Kennedy have started work on their group of claims at the head of Menhinick creek.

Cory Menhinick has put a force of men at work on the Eulie group, a prospective free gold producer situated on the right of Pool creek, about two miles from town.

The Camborne Water Supply Co. have started cutting out a trail to their reservoir site and flume line. Specifications of the system and reservoir have been prepared by a civil engineer.

The Ophir-Lade syndicate are making good headway with their stamp mill and compressor site. A retaining wall is being built for the former, and excavation work is nearly finished. Timber for the buildings is now being rapidly delivered on the ground and carpenters are preparing the frame work. The tram line is making good headway and several of the towers are now up on the Camborne side of the bench which cuts off the view of the upper end of the line looking up from town.

At the Northwestern the electric drills are again at work on the upper tunnel. The armature of one of the dynamos, which had to be sent out for repair, is due to arrive this week, and the stamp mill will start up as soon as the armature is in place.

W. B. Pool and associates have made the first payment on the Old Homestead group of free gold claims which they have taken on a working bond. The group consists of the Old Homestead, Idaho and Detroit groups, comprising in all twelve claims. Specimens of quartz taken from the Homestead by Mr. Pool show visible free gold in liberal quantities.

The frame work of the vanner room and power house at the Eva stamp mill is now being erected, the flume is being pushed ahead rapidly, all of the earth grading having been finished and the force is now engaged on rock work along the line and in putting in a sand box at the dam. At the mine, foreman Beck is doing considerable development work with a crew of about 20 men, and a contract has been let to drive 100 feet in No. 7 tunnel, which is designed to tap No. 2 vein at a vertical depth of 250 feet. What will likely prove to be tellurides of gold has recently been discovered in No. 2 vein of the Eva mine. Rudimentary tests of the find have been made which indicate that an analysis will prove the existence of this valuable mineral in the Eva ore. The importance of such a discovery, if found to be genuine, can only be estimated by a parallel case such as that of Kalgoorlie, the great gold mining camp of West Australia, where tellurides of gold discovered at depth, doubled the importance and richness of a camp which, prior to the finding of tellurides, was world famous for its rich free milling veins. The chief tellurium minerals containing high gold values are petzite and sylvanite, both of which carry values as high as 50 per cent in pure gold. Both Cripple Creek and Kalgoorlie are remarkable for their production of these minerals. Property owners on Lexington mountain will await with keen interest the result of the analytical test about to be made of the latest find on the Eva.

HIS LAST HOPE REALIZED.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.)

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine April day. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given to him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one bottle worked a complete cure and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

There is no danger whatever from this disease when taken in time and properly treated. All that is necessary is to give

THE FINISH OF A GAMBLER

"It is sure singular," said Caleb Mix, the veteran bartender on the Mississippi packet City of Natchez, "that a man that don't know enough about draw poker to last him home from Sunday school should get it into his nut that just because he's trav'lin' onto a boat he can stack up again a stranger, an' hold onto his chips for a length o' time.

"You wouldn't think a small child wouldn't know no more'n that, now, would you? But there's wise guys that shows up on the boats now an' again, that holds up just that sort of a proposition, an' sometimes makes a terrible beef when they comes to the natural end.

"There ain't so much on it did now as there was a good many years ago. I've said that a good many times, an' it's just as true as 'twas when I said it first. Mebbe more so, for there's no denyin' that poker is pretty well played out on the boats now. Once in a while you may see a game, but Lord! 'taint nothin' to what they used to play.

"Once in a while, though, the gamblers 'd make a mistake in pickin' up some feller 't they thought was easy, an' sometimes there's things doin' that'd make a mule leave his barley to look on. There was a case like that happened one time on the old Creole Belle that was burned afterwards, that I al'ays took a heap o' satisfaction thinkin' of, just becuse there was one o' the worst men on the river got come up with peculiar.

"There was them that said there was good p'ints about Jim Weston, the man I'm talkin' about. I reckon 'most everybody has some friends in the world that'll speak as well of 'em as they can. But I never heer'd nobody go so far as to say anything special about what them good p'ints aforesaid was.

"If he had any, he must ha' kep' 'em put away somewheres to keep. He never showed none on 'em.

"He were a good lookin' feller enough an' he had a bluff, hearty way o' talkin' that'd make a stranger think he were all right, 'thouten the stranger looked at his eyes an' had wit enough to know what they was sayin'. He had greenish sort o' eyes, somep'n like a cat's, an' just as wicked.

"But, as I was sayin, he talked hearty enough an' used to git into a game without no trouble, 'thouten there was somebody into it already that knowed him. Sometimes he would even at that, for 'most everybody that knowed him was more or less afraid of him. He'd fight at a word, an' when he fit he al'ays tried to kill.

"Well, one time there come aboard the Creole Belle at Vicksburg the most amazin' little fat man I ever see in my life. He wa'n't much over four feet high, I shouldn't think, an' it sure did look like he were six foot thick. O' course, I don't reckon he really was that but when you'd look at him you'd swear his sides were further apart nor his head an' his heels.

"But you couldn't help noticin' that he was spry on his feet at that. He moved quick, an' he seemed to bounce up an' down when he walked, like a bubble will bounce on the carpet, sometimes, before it busts. 'Peared like he must ha' been holler to be so light or else, if he really was solid, an' as heavy as he looked, he must ha' been monstrous strong.

"Jim Weston spotted him when he come aboard, an' made up his mind to get acquainted, for the little man looked prosperous enough to have big money with him. Wore good clothes an' diamonds, an' had two niggers travellin' with him for servants, instead o' one, which was enough for most.

"I heer'd afterwa'd 'the were a foreigner, an' some sort of a showman, but I don't remember his name. They said he was famous in foreign parts, but he never give no show in his country. Just traveled for pleasure to blow hisself.

"Anyway, he were a sport, an' he talked tolerable good English, but, like most o' them dagoes, he spoke his words kind o' funny like he couldn't bite 'em off the right size.

"Weston was talkin' to him afore anyone else got a chance, 'an the fat man seemed to cotton to him, right away. 'Peared like he were a good deal interested an' wanted to get acquainted.

"Just naturally, Weston made that part of it easy to him an' tw'ant long after supper afore they was as thick as two thieves. An' when Weston proposed a game of cards, the fat man said he'd like nothin' better.

"I happened to hear that part of it, an' I says to myself that Weston was pretty likely to have his wad, an' mebbe his diamonds and two niggers, inside of a couple of hours. It wa'n't no ways likely, as I figgered it up, that no dago like that was goin' to hold his own at poker with a reg'lar player like Weston, more 'specially no man that was as fat as that man was. 'Peared like you couldn't think of nothin' else, on'y how fat he was when you looked at him.

"But say! When they got playin' like they did in a few minutes, both on 'em bein' anxious to begin, you could see by the way he riffled the cards 't he didn't need to take no lessons about how to handle 'em, but o' course that wa'n't to say that he knew'd how to play Mississippi river poker.

'Peared like he didn't know, neither, for I watched 'em as well as I could, comin' and goin' as I was through the saloon where they was playin', and it struck me the stranger was about as easy as anything I'd ever seen. They was playin' stud poker, Weston sayin' that draw was too slow a game two-handed, an' the stranger bein' agreeable to anything Weston said.

"I ain't a sayin' but what he knowed the rules o 'the game all right, for he did; but when it come to judgment he hadn't none. He bet wild sometimes, an' then again he'd lay down against a bluff that a 14 year old boy'd call if he'd had a river education.

"He didn't seem to mind losin' his money, though. An' I reckon he must ha' lost nigh a thousand dollars inside of half an hour.

"But the more he lost the more he seemed to get into the spirit o' the game, an' more eager he was to bet. 'Peared like Weston had struck the softest snap ever.

"I reckon there wa'n't another gambler on the river, if he'd had such a game as that on, that would ha' played crooked. There wa'n't no need for it at all. The stranger was givin' up fast as anybody could ask, an' the least Weston c'd do an' be half way decent was to give him a square deal, but, as I was sayin' he never was half way decent.

"It wa'n't in him, I reckon. He couldn't ha' been anything else but a yaller dog if he tried, an' 'twa'n't no ways likely he'd ever try.

"Come a hand when the stranger had three spade showin' an' one card to come. Weston was dealin' an' he had an ace an' two treys showin'.

"O' course, nobody but the players theirselves knowed what the buried card was, but Weston had bet $10 on his pair showin', an' the stranger had seen him without raisin', so it looked like he hadn't any pair an' was stayin' for a flush. O' course, Weston might ha' had two pairs, or three treys. There wa'n't no tellin'.

"Well, on the last turn, Weston gave the stranger another spade an' gave hisself a ace. I was lookin' close, an' I couldn't see nothin' out o' the way in the deal, but mebbe 'twa'n't to be expected that I would be for he were counted one o' the slickest on the river.

"But the stranger, he spoke up in that queer way he had o' talkin' an' he said:

"'So that is your way to play stud poker, is it, my friend. If you will deal the cards like that I will show you how to do it.'

"An' quick as lightning he grabbed the cards an' spread 'em all over the table with one sweep of his hand. Then, with another sweep, as quick as that, with both hands, he bunched 'em an' riffled 'em once an' dealt out two hands like lightnin'. An' he gave Weston four kings an' hisself four aces.

"It was all over in a flash, an' Weston sat gapin' at him, not exactly knowin' what to do. The stranger hadn't said he cheated in so many words, an' he didn't seem to be mad, none, an' Weston were plumb puzzled.

"Then the stranger grinned. He didn't seem to care nothin' about the money he'd lost, but he was as tickled as a two year old, to see how flabbergasted Weston was.

"'Peared he thought Weston would take it as a matter o' course that he'd been caught, an' the on'y thing that was goin' to trouble him was to see that the stranger could do his own stunts so much better'n he could do 'em his own self.

"I don't know but what Weston might ha' took it that way if them two had been alone, but there was three or four besides me lookin' on, an' some on 'em sort o' laughed. I felt like laughin' myself, but I knowed a good deal about Weston, an' kept a straight face.

"But th stranger he looked 'round and laughed like a boy, an' he says:

"The gentleman does not do the trick so well. If he would play that way, an' he would tell me that that was the game, I would win all the time. I am the professor of card magic.'

"That was a little to much, an' the others laughed out loud. It was up to Weston good an' hard then, an' as I said, he was a fighter sure enough.

"He ripped out some pretty tall talk at the stranger, but while he was talkin' he pulled his gun, swearin' that no man could charge him with cheatin' an' live.

"Well, he wa'n't quick enough. They used to say there wa'n't nobody could get the drop on Jim Weston, but I reckon this here stranger could ha' did it if he'd been a gun fighter. But he wa'n't. He had a way of his own that was the funniest I ever seen, an' it knocked Weston out.

"Jumpin' up from his chair at the same time Weston did, the fat man brought the table up with him, an' just pushed it over on Weston, knockin' him flat. Weston's gun went off as it fell, but it went wild, an' he struggled to his feet, swearin' harder than ever. It looked to me like the stranger's time had come.

"It hadn't though, he was watchin' Weston like a cat, an' rushed at him when he got up, like a cannon ball. He didn't raise his hand, nor pull a gun, nor nothin'. Just ran into Weston an' knocked him down again. An' then he laughed.

"Well, he did that three or four times. 'Peared like Weston didn't think about lyin' still an' shootin' till he'd been knocked down three or four times, an' we was all laughin. It was too funny for anything.

"Then he lay still an' tried to shoot, an' the stranger just kicked the gun out of his hand. He never raised his own hands at all. Just stood round an' laughed an' kicked that once, an' kep' a-runnin' into Weston as fast as he'd get on his feet. An' every time he hit him, Weston went down like a locomotive had struck him.

"After a few more times knockin' him down, the stranger he quit laughin.' Weston was getin' madder an' madder, just naturally, an' he was swearin' somethin' shameful an' threat'nin' to cut the fat man into inch pieces when he got at him. An' after a little the fat man seemed to realize that it was somethin' serious, an', as I said, he quit laughin'.

"He kep' on fightin' the same way, though, an' every time he knocked him toward the saloon door till he got him out on deck. Then he knocked him over toward the rail till he got him close to it.

""Tain't likely that anybody would have interfered anyhow, for it were a fight between two and 'twan't nobody's business but the cap'n's to stop it. But we was all laughin' so we couldn't ha' done nothin' if we'd wanted to. An' the cap'n was laughin' as hard as anybody else when he come up and seen what was doin,' so the stranger had it all his own way.

"All this time, he hadn't said nothin' but when he got Weston up against the rail, he said:

"'You say you want to kill me, eh? Well, I will put you where you will kill nobody.'

"An' the next time Weston struggled more. The cap'n stopped the boat an' grabbin' Weston by the feet, threw him square up in the air an' over the rail.

"He fell in the water an' sank like a rock. Anyway, we never seen him no more. he cap'n stopped the boat an' lowered a small boat an' looked round a few minutes, but 'twan't no use.

"No, there wa'n't nothin did to the fat man. It were a fair enough fight, even if 'twas unusual."

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Harry Clark, of Revelstoke, is visiting his cousin, J. W. Holmes, Jr., Mill street.

John Keen and wife, Kaslo, were among the visitors.

The Kamloops R. M. R. contingent consisted of sergeant E. Fisher, corporal Wood and private E. Appelbe.

A. D. Mars, who has been paying a brief visit to Spokane, is again in charge of the Northport lightning express.

Both the Phair and the Hume hotels were elaborately decorated with flags and bunting, and in the evening were brilliantly lighted up with colored electric lights.

The gate receipts at the lacrosse-baseball games yesterday were the largest ever taken on any one day in the interior. The amount will be announced when the final accounts are published by the committee.

W. C. Wells, ex-chief commissioner of lands and works, arrived in town last evening from Palliser. Mr. Wells has some private business affairs to attend to here and will remain in town over tomorrow.

The city gas company got a move on at the last moment and erected a large iron illuminated horseshoe at the west end of Baker street in the centre of the roadway and last night this flared away in great style, lighting up the street for some distance all around.

"A Race for Congress" drew a packed house to the theatre last night, and Clara Mathes and her clever players scored another signal success. This evening "A Daughter of Erin," will be produced. It is a beautiful Irish pastoral and said to be brimful of comedy and dramatic situations

The line up of the Nelson baseball team in this afternoon's match will be as follows: McCreary, c; D. Blackwood, p; Eacritt, 1b; Houston, 2b; McIntyre, ss; Mills, 3b; W. Mills, cf; Whittet, rf; Geigerich, lf. The line up of the Northport team will be the same as in yesterday's match.

Among the Rossland contingent in town were: James H. Young, Dominion Express agent, and an ardent liberal; G. M. King, of the hotel Allan; J. L. Whitney, wife and daughter; Robert Hunter and wife; police magistrate Boultbee; C. E. Gillan; ex-mayor Clute; W. Gray and F. D. MacLennan, of the Velvet mine.

The handsome flag thrown to the breeze yesterday was the splendid royal standard 18x35 feet owned by J. Fred Hume, and hung across Hall street from the Hume hotel to the new postoffice building. Postmaster Gibson took great pais to have the royal piece of bunting properly placed. It brightened up the whole length of Hall street.

At the armory last evening the ball held under the auspices of the R. M. R. was conceded to be the most successful affair of its kind ever held in the city. Nearly 200 couples attended, and despite the size of the building the floor space was all occupied. First class music for dancing was furnished by the Nelson orchestra. The committee in charge, Messrs. Blakemore, Blaney and Carrie, had arranged matters perfectly and the evening passed off very pleasantly. The hall was prettily decorated with greening, flags and bunting, while around the walls were arranged crossed rifles. Tonight a similar dance will be given under the same auspices.

Have you registered your vote? Don't put off doing so until too late, and then kick because you are disfranchised.

At the hotels of the city last evening unhappy was the man who had not arranged for a room beforehand. Every bed, cot and lounge was called into requisition, and even then hundreds were turned away. Fortunately the arrangements made by the committee with the boarding houses of the city enabled every one to find shelter, although in some cases not until after considerable walking around.

According to the original arrangement, the parade was to have ended at the recreation grounds yesterday morning, an dthe children were to have sung their choruses and after a couple of addresses that section of the program was to end. It was not intended, of course, to charge admission to the grounds. As it turned out when the parade reached the grounds the baseball match was due, with the lacrosse match to follow right after, and if the crowd had been allowed in free along with the soldiers, the field could not well have been cleared for the games, hence those who wished to go in at all were called upon to pay. This caused some slight unpleasantness amongst those who did not understand the situation. This cause sho shrdlu shrdlun ation. Later, however, the real state of affairs was explained and the supposed "hold up" faded away.

AUSTRIAN CABINET RESIGNS

London, July 1.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegram says the resignation of the Austrian cabinet is semi-officially certified. The Austrian press agrees that no such serious phase has affected the country for several years past. The situation in both halves of the monarchy is extremely complicated and no solution presents itself.

A NEGRO LYNCHED

Norway, South Carolina, July 1.—C. Evans, colored, suspected of the murder of John L. Phillips, was taken from the jail here last night and lynched by a mob. Four negroes, who were confined in the jail, also were taken by the mob, and beaten into insensibility. Evans murdered John A. Phillips, a one-armed confederate soldier.

OUR FURNITURE LOOMS UP clearly and temptingly. Those of ordinary discernment can see that this is not ordinary furniture, although the price seems to be about the same.

But the value is different. This FURNITURE will be still beautiful and yet in active service when the other kind has joined the great army of "has-beens."

Much to admire in this line of WOOD ROCKERS besides the handsome design and fine finish. The prices are attractive.
