HOW THE DAY WAS OBSERVED

General Holiday All Over the Continent

Large Crowds Gathered in Many Cities

[Special to The Daily News.]

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The Labor Day parade here was taken part in by three thousand men, representing one hundred and ten unions. The sports and a baby show were held at the Island, two hundred and fifty-nine infants entering for special prizes. At the exhibition grounds was one of the greatest crowds every experienced. The number was estimated at eighty-seven thousand.

Labor demonstrations were held generally throughout the province but drizzling rain interfered with most of them.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Labor Day observances in Manitoba were dampened by rain but in this city a big parade was held, forty unions and four bands being in line. Thousands witnessed the march, although every one in the procession was soaked.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 7.—Labor Day, the workingman's holiday, set apart in nearly every state of the union by legislation, is perhaps the most universally observed, although it may not be celebrated, of any legal holiday. The first celebration of Labor Day took place in New York city, September 5th, 1882, so that Labor Day as an institution may be said to become of age this year. The Knights of Labor were then secretly working in New York and many of the local assemblies were affiliated with the Central labor union. When the first general assembly of the Knights of Labor began on September 5th, 1882, the Central labor union was invited to witness the parade from the stand at Union Square. That was the first Labor Day parade. While the parade was passing, Robert Price, of Lonaconing, Md., turned to Richard Griffiths, the general worthy foreman of the Knights of Labor, and said: "This is labor day in earnest, Uncle Dick." The event was afterwards alluded to as the "Labor Day parade," and subsequently the day became known as Labor Day.

For a time many of the states chose different days as Labor Day. In California it was fixed on the first Monday in October, in Louisiana November 25th. Wisconsin left it optional with the governor to fix, and some selected other dates. Gradually the first Monday in September has become the recognized Labor Day, and is so fixed by the executives of states where it is not designated by law, as the laboring man's legal holiday.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 7.—Labor Day was observed in Memphis as a general holiday, the banks and many business houses being closed. In the forenoon there was a parade of the labor bodies, followed by an outing at East End park. The demonstration was one of the largest in the history of organized labor in Memphis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 7.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, today reviewed an immense parade of organized labor, and afterward was the chief speaker at a monster demonstration.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Between twenty and twenty-five thousand men participated in Cleveland's Labor Day celebration. The principal feature was the parade, which marched over five miles of the city streets and was cheered by thousands of spectators. The organizations most largely represented were the longshoremen, tailors' painters and decorators.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Chicago, the greatest center of organized labor in the world, held its Labor Day celebration on the customary large scale. The parade occupied the greater part of the day, every organization being represented by large numbers of men or women. In accordance with custom the board of trade, stock exchange, banks and public offices were closed for the day.

Waco, Texas, Sept. 7.—Labor Day was celebrated here more generally than ever before. All business was practically suspended and the entire city was interested in the big parade. Walton Peteet, of San Antonio, was the principal speaker of the day.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Labor Day was extensively observed here today. Banks and city offices were closed, and the labor unions held a big parade, followed by outings and other festivities in various parts of the city and suburbs.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Organized labor demonstrated its strength in Cincinnati today by giving a Labor Day parade twenty thousand strong. It was the best appointed Labor Day parade ever seen here. The streets were lined with interested and applauding spectators.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The presence of president Roosevelt, the opening of the New York state fair and the celebration of Labor Day combined to draw to Syracuse today one of the largest crowds in the history of the city. The railroad officials estimated that no less than seventy-five thousand visitors had arrived in the city before 1 o'clock this afternoon, the hour at which the president delivered the opening address at the state fair.

President Roosevelt came to Syracuse from his home at Oyster Bay in the private car of president Truesdale of the Lackawanna road. At the station he was met by the state fair commission and a citizen's reception committee. Former senator Frank Hiscock acted as host to the president and luncheon was served at the Hiscock residence. Shortly before noon the chief executive was taken to the state fair grounds by special train. His address was delivered from a specially constructed stand in the athletic field and in the presence of more tha none hundred thousand people. The president spoke at considerable length, his address being in a measure intended as a preliminary keynote to the coming campaign. In the course of his remarks he delivered forceful utterances regarding the foreign policy of the government and repeated the views he has previously expressed on the subject of trusts and several other public issues.

Returning to the city late in the afternoon the president reviewed the parade of the National Association of Letter Carriers, which has been in session here during the past week.

After a state dinner this evening he went to Albany, where he will meet Sir Thomas Lipton and the famous Albany Burgess corps, which he has asked to act as his personal escort to Lake George tomorrow on the occasion of the unveiling of the Lake George battle monument.

THRESHING IN MANITOBA.

Good Progress Being Made—A Heavy Yield.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Reports coming in from the districts where threshing is general are to the effect that the work is being cleaned up rapidly. The straw is light and can be handled easily, the product of one hundred acres in some cases being put through in a day.

A report comes from Emerson that one machine working in that locality threshed 2,800 bushels in a day and a thresher in the Carman district reports 3,000 as a day's record for his machine. The yield is heavier than estimated.

A gentleman writing to a business friend in the city says that although the wheat crops in the Indian Head district in 1901-02 were considered "bumpers," the yield this season will be fully ten per cent heavier.

C. P. R.'S GOOD SHOWING.

Large Expenditure on Equipment During Coming Year.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—The Canadian Pacific Railway company's annual report which was issued today is a most satisfactory document and shows the high position of the company.

The net earnings for the year were $15,836,845 and after the payment of all charges there was a surplus for the year of $3,973,960.

The company intends to make considerable increases to its facilities and equipment during the coming year and the shareholders will be asked at the annual meeting to authorize in addition to the works for which orders have been given, the expenditure of five million dollars during the year on various classes of equipment so as to meet all demands.

IN SESEION AT DEADWOOD

AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS A SUCCESS.

MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS TO BE DISCUSSED.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 7.—Nearly every state and territory of the union is represented at the meeting of the American Mining Congress, which began its sessions in this city today. The sessions will last week and a long list of papers and discussions undoubtedly will be the most interesting ever offered on the subject of mnies and mining. Besides the many mine experts present the congress will listen to addresses by secretary of the treasury Shaw, director of mint George E. Roberts, governor Peabody of Colorado, governor Herried of South Dakota and other men of national fame. While the discussions will cover every phase of practical mining and allied topics, particular attention will be gven to the consideration of further plans for urging the establishment of a government department of mines and mining, the chief of which would have a seat in the cabinet.

In conjunction with the congress there has been prepared what is regarded as the greatest collection of precious minerals ever exhibited. This includes the individual collection of the Homestake mine, the greatest gold producer of the world; the collections of the Black Hills, Colorado, California and Idaho, besides smaller collections from other gold and silver producing states.

Today's proceeding of the congress consisted mostly of the welcoming addresses, responses and other formalities incident to the opening. J. H. Richards, of Boise, Idaho, president of the congress, called the gathering to order and presided over the initial session. The roll call by secretary Irwin Mahon showed the largest attendance in the ten years' history of the organization.

The session is to last six days, and delegates and their friends also will enjoy several outings that have been arranged for them. The speakers include such men as Dr. J. D. Holmes, E. W. Parker, and George E. Roberts of Washington, D. C.; Franklin H. Carpenter of Denver and representative C. E. Van Duzer of Nevada. Mr. Shaw will speak on "The Mining Industry and its Relation to American Finances." Hence there is no doubt that the technical part of the programme will be interesting. Just what particular question will engage the uppermost attention of the congress at this session will not be known until the congress has been in session for a day or two.

It is very probable, however, that the all-absorbing topic will have to do with securing for the mining industry of the United States representation in the cabinet of the president. The fact that secretary Shaw will attend the congress will no doubt accentuate the discussion of this question, which for the past year has been agitated by members of the congress above all other matters. Whether the extra-lateral right issue will be taken up again as it was at Butte last year remains to be seen.

The session will mark the sixth annual meeting of this organization. The congress has been in existence nearly ten years, though at its beginning meetings were held at irregular intervals. Last year the convention was held at Butte, and it was voted a big success by all who attended. This was due in a measure to the fact that the session was held at a real live mining camp, which added considerable interest to the deliberations of the body.

The officers who were elected last year are: President, J. H. Richards, Boise, Idaho; first vice-president, S. W. Russell, Deadwood, S.D.; second vice-president, S. B. Buckley, Rolla, Mo.; third vice-president, Thomas Ewing, Los Angeles. These with Irwin Mahon, secretary, of Carlisle, Pa., Charles V. Goodale, of Butte, colonel John T. Grayson, of Portland, Ore., W. L. Kendall, of Cleveland and L. K. Armstrong of Spokane, constitute the executive committee.

ESQUIMAUX DECIMATED.

Tribes in Mackenzie Bay Region Contracted Measles at Dawson City.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Steamboat inspector Phillips, who has just returned from an official trip to all points on the Mackenzie river and tributaries where steamboats are in commission, going as far north as Peel river, 300 miles within the Arctic circle, stated that during the past two years the Esquimaux tribes of the Mackenzie bay region have suffered from an epidemic of measles, the deaths from the disease having decimated some bands to such an extent that there are very few left.

At Fort Resclution on Peel river, where usually a large number of Esquimaux meet the Hudson's Bay boats, there was not one this year. The disease was contracted by these people through a visit to Dawson City, and as they had absolutely no care the disease spreal and they left the dead all along the trail on the way home.

Among one tribe at the north end of Great Slave lake about eighty of these poor people died from this disease.

Mr. Phillips' trip occupied three and a half months, and the distance travelled exceeded 8,000 miles.

CATCH AS CATCH CAN.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 7.—M. J. Dwyer, of this city, won from Dan McLeod, of Hamilton, Ont., the champion heavy weight catch as catch can wrestler of the world tonight by taking the time limit. McLeod secured one fall at the end of 53 minutes and 5 secs., but was unable to make the second fall in the remaining part of the hour, as called for in the articles of agreement.

McBRIDE'S LATEST TRICK

[Special to The Daily News.]

Victoria, September 7.—The change of date of the general election to October 3rd, which was promulgated in a special number of the Gazette on Saturday night, is explained by the Premier as simply an effort on his part, to give the people of the province the earliest possible opportunity of passing judgment on the new government, which as yet has no mandate from the electorate.

He claims that the step was taken with the knowledge of the executive only, and that no one else was apprised of it.

The liberals, of course, discount this statement, and claim that the decision of the conservative executive to have simultaneous nominations throughout the province on August 15th was but a part of a concerted scheme to steal a march on the liberals.

This failed in its purpose, because more liberals are now in the field than conservatives, but nevertheless it leaves but little time for campaigning.

The liberals say that the premier's action is characteristic of the man who betrayed his liberal supporters, and then solemnly declared he would take no unfair advantage of them.

It is also believed that the government has made satisfactory financial arrangements to finance the campaign, and that they hope to snatch a verdict before their opponents can become properly organized.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—Nominations Sept. 19, the elections October 3rd—that is the surprising change that the government has rung, without a moment's warning.

An extra of the British Columbia Gazette has been issued, announcing that the old writs have been cancelled and that new ones have been issued, bearing date September 5th, returnable on or before Nov. 2.

It is also now announced that the legislature will meet on November 26th for the despatch of business, the last three words being printed in capitals, as if there was something extraordinary in the air.

Premier McBride stated that the elections had been advanced exactly one lunar month, and would be held on October 3 instead of October 31, as previously gazetted. His reasons for thus cutting off 28 days of the campaign are said by the premier nimself to be, firstly, because so much has been said about the government being merely one of suffrance, and therefore it intended to get the opinion of the people as quickly as possible; secondly, the state of the province's finances was so deplorable that fiscal reform was immediately necessary.

Former finance minister Carter-Cotton says that owing to the reckless financial management since the Semlin government were defeated, the excess of expediture over revenue for the past four years exceeds five million dollars. It is therefore necessary to take special action to bring about a more satisfactory state of affairs.

The liberals claim that it is exceedingly curious that the government only now discovered this financial crisis.

It is generally asserted that McBride wants to rush his new railway policy through without proper time for consideration, and hopes to find the liberals unprepared.

In this latter he will be disappointed, as the liberals are quite ready for the contest.

The news of Dick McBride's latest piece of political trickery reached this city at an early hour on Sunday morning, too late for insertion in these columns.

It has been the reigning topic of conversation about town for the past two days, but little or no explanation is ventured by local conservatives as to the real object of the move.

That it has an object ,and hinister object, there is no doubt, but just what the political Chinee has up his sleeve on this occasion even his own followers do not appear to know for certain.

Vigorous protests from all over the province have been wired in to the Lieutenant-Governor protesting against such an unprecedented move as that taken by the premier. In common with many other candidates, S. S. Taylor has wired his strong protest to the capital.

So far as this city is concerned, the liberals are well organized, and so can withstand successfully this midnight attack, but many voters who had made arrangements to be here on October 31st may possibly lose their votes now that the new date is fixed.

While people will be glad to have the political agony over sooner than was expected, general indignation has been openly expressed at McBride's unheard of attempt to choke off discussion, and the move cannot fail to materially injure the conservative cause all over the province.

Under existing circumstance it is the imperative duty of every upholder of stable constitutional government to work hard from this time on till the elections are over, and the rascals are turned out of office.

LABOR DAY AT PHOENIX

DAMP WEATHER FOR THE THIRD ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

CROWDS ATTEND NEVERTHELESS —EVENTS PULLED OFF.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Phoenix, 7th Sept.—The third annual Labor Day celebration of the Boundary held here today was somewhat damp owing to occasional showers, but, notwithstanding the weather, numbers arrived by special train, and teams from Grand Forks, Republic, Eholt, Midway, and Greenwood. The band from the latter place furnished music on the trip.

The following were results in horse races:—Free for all (one quarter mile)—Easter Lily, owned by J. F. Royr, Grand Forks, took first money; Mollie, owned by Kenneth McLean, Midway, being second, with Grey Eagle, D. Donnelly, of Greenwood, next.

Pony race—Rose first, Mollie second.

In the rock drilling contest, George and James Foulds, of Greenwood, carried off the $100 prize, making 31 5-16 inches in 15 minutes; H. Branish and E. L. Brown, of Phoenix, were second with 25 inches.

Single hand drilling contest was won by Chas. Sanborg, of Phoenix, who made 11 inches in 10 minutes.

The 100 yard dash was won by H. A. Munroe, Phoenix.

The 100 yards fat man's race was won by C. H. Flood, Phoenix, with O'Neill, Phoenix, second.

To-morrow's events include hose reel races, wet test and hub and hub, in which Grand Forks, Greenwood, and Phoenix teams are entered. The log-rolling contest, a novel event in this section, will also be held, besides a long program of Caledonian sports.

THE NEW SCHEDULE.

Trainmen in Montreal Conferring With the General Manager.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Montreal, Sept. 7.—For some time past there has been a committee in this city representing the conductors and trainmen of the C.P.R. This body is authorized to treat with the executive of the C.P.R. in regard to the terms of the new schedule which has been presented.

According to Mr. Spencer, the general superintendent of transportation, there is no trouble in sight at all. The company is simply changing the arrangements of the schedule, and it has been stated that the union committee is awaiting the arrival here of Mr. McNicholl to lay the whole case before the general manager.

The whole case means higher wages, questions as to overtime, and the line. But Mr. Spencer states that the company was simply dealing with the general superintendent in regard to the presentation of a new schedule.

A GIANT FLOUR MILL.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—It is announced that a 3,000 barrel flour mill, with accompanying elevators, will be erected in Keewatin. The work will commence this fall. The site is where the present reduction works now stand. This means an addition of 500 to the population of Keewatin.

MACHINERY FIEND'S WORK

HUGE COGS CRUSH A MAN'S ARM TO PULP.

FRIGHTFUL HAPPENING AT THE HALL MINES SMELTER.

About half past eight o'clock McDonald was brushing out the cogs of the big crusher when his broom was caught in the cogs and was drawn in. Before McDonald realized what was happening his hand and arm followed and were crushed between those monstrous remorseless teeth to a shapeless pulp.

"My God! I wish I was dead!"

This was the exclamation wrung from the strong man as he saw his strength taken from him in an instant.

But after this one despairing cry McDonald made no moan. Although medical attendance was long in reaching him, he did not complain and when he was being carried to the hack which took him to the hospital he remarked: "I am not as pale as some of you fellows," referring to those who surrounded him.

When McDonald reached the hospital, examination showel that his whole hand and wrist were completely mashed and that there was no possible hope of saving them. Half the forearm will have to be sacrificed.

The shock of so frightful an accident, of course, negatived any possibility of operating immediately, but the patient is recovering so rapidly that the amputation will probably take place tomorrow morning.

A KASLO SMELTER.

Referring to the erection of a smelter in Kaslo, Joseph Ryan of the firm of Ryan and Hunter, is credited with saying in a recent interview: "My partner and I have worked for a long time at endeavoring to interest smelting syndicates to erect a plant at Kaslo, which is by situation and natural advantages of communication the manifest smelting centre of the Kootenay country, both east and west. I had been over the ground in 1902 for a Minneapolis syndicate, and so became familiar with the ins and outs of the matter. We have had the project turned back to us time after time, but kept steadily at it whenever a chance offered. On the 29th of June last, just two months ago, we got in touch with the American Lead corporation. The consulting engineer of that company, G. F. Rendall of Wall street, New York, took up the proposition, asking for a full report, which we at once furnished. On its receipt Mr. Rendall secured the necessary capital and at the present moment we have $400,000 to our credit with our New York bankers, Eugene J. Beales & Co., of Broad street. Our offices are also taken. I have the plans for a plant of 500 tons daily capacity, and Mr. Rendall wires me he is on the way out here. I can speak for that much. Of course the whole thing may collapse, because lead smelting or smelting at all is a serious business in British Columbia. The economic consideratons must be necessarily looked into, and of necessity we must reckon with opposition from allied smelters and railroads.

"Yes. There are others in the field seeking to put in a smelter at Kaslo.

"Mr. Gintzberger of the Monitor mine, Taree Forks, is one. Mr. Gintzberger has an engineer on the ground now, a Mr. Fernau from Newcastle-on-Tyne.

"Necessarily all are striving to get the best terms they can. We want only what the city has offered, and are ready to put our money into the enterprise right now. Outside that we seek no favors beyond a fair business field and no discrimination.

"Very likely we shall employ, when running full blast, about 350 men, but I do not think that at first we will employ beyound 250 or 280. The plant alone will cost $175,000."

IT WAS NOT TRUE.

Glasgow, Sept. 7.—The report originating in Montreal and printed here this morning to the effect that Mrs. W. Graeme Hunter, a well known yachtswoman, proposes to challenge for the America's cup, is entirely discredited in yachting circles in the Clyde and there is positively no truth in the report that the Dennys will build a yacht for Mrs. Hunter.

BROKE THE WORLD'S RECORD

DAN PATCH GOES THE MILE IN TWO, FOUR AND A QUARTER.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE WERE ON THE GROUNDS.

Lima, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Dan Patch broke the world pacing record of 2.04 1-4 on a half mile track on the Lima driving park ground today in the presence of 10,000 people.

The time by quarters:

First quarter, 31secs.
Half, 1.01.
Three quarters, 1.32 1-2.
Mile, 2.04.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 7.—At the state fair which is being held here today the great stallion J. A. McKerron, driven by his owner, Harry K. Devereaux, of Cleveland, was sent against the record of 2.06 made by Cresceus two years ago, and not only beat it, but cut a quarter of a second from his own best previous record, doing the turn in 2.04 1-2.

THE SILVER CUP MINE.

Big Additions to Equipment Will Soon Make it Largest Shipper in Lardeau.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Ferguson, Sept. 7.—At the Silver Cup mine another force of men will be started tomorrow on the erection of a fourth tramway. This latest tram will convey the ore from the upper workings of the mine down to the terminal of the main tram.

Two other trams are under construction at the property now, connecting it with the big concentrator. B. C. Riblet has all three contracts, and has seventy-five men building the trams.

About twenty more will be sent up from Nelson this week.

The buckets and most of the other parts of the trams are to be manufactured at Nelson.

It is not expected that all of the huge plant now in course of erection at the Silver Cup will be ready for use before the end of the year, but when it is the property is expected to become the biggest producer in the Lardeau, as there is an enormous amount of ore blocked out ready for treatment.

There is great activity in prospecting all through this section, a number of the prospectors who struck in from Poplar Creek havig worked in along tthe main range between Trout Lake and the Duncan river country. Some good finds have been made at the head of Eight Mile Creek, and it is reported that rich ore has been struck on the east fork of Duncan river.

A wagon road is being built in to the Beatrice mine, on which considerable work has been done this summer. A heavy fall of snow on Sunday is likely to interfere somewhat with the work, but the road will be completed before the winter sets in.

BOUNDARY SHIPMENTS.

Full Returns for Last Month Make a Great Showing.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Phoenix, Sept 7.—In spite of the scarcity of coke at the district smelters during the early part of August, the total of the tonnage from the Boundary mines for the full month was greater than any month in the history of the country since shipments first were started a little over three years ago. Latterly the combined shipments from the Boundary mines has been in excess of 16,000 tons weekly, which has materially assisted in the large August showing of over 60,000 tons. For the first part of September the showing will be somewhat smaller, as the Granby smelter, the largest reduction works in the district, is now closed to permit of adding the fifth and sixth furnaces. As, however, this work is expected to be completed in another week, the added capacity of that plant will doubtless make September show up even larger than August. After that this smelter alone will use over 2,000 tons of ore daily. The following is the record of the several mines for the month of August:

	Tons.
Granby Mines	33,516
Mother Lode	14,240
Snowshoe	9,150
Ore Denore	2,778
Sunset	1,824
Emma	1,660
Athelstan	600
August total	63,768

CHRISTIANITY AND LABOR

SOLUTION CHURCH OFFERS FOR INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

ONLY HOPE LIES IN CHRISTIANITY AND RIGHTEOUSNESS.

At the Methodist church on Sunday evening Rev. W. W. Baer, the pastor dealt with the labor question from the Christian's standpoint and pointed out the solution which the Christian religion offers for the unsatisfactory industrial conditions of the present day.

Mr. Baer took as the text of his discourse, II Peter, 3—13, "Nevertheless we, according to His promise look for new heavens and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness."

There are, said Mr. Baer, three great classes of reformers, first, those who advocate democracy, majority rule, who will be satisfied with whatever conditions the majority seek to bring about. Second, the socialists, who would sink individuality in the state and treat all men exactly alike regardless of differences in ability and skill.

Neither of these two classes of reformers have righteousness as an indispensable plank in the platform. Of course, admitted the speaker, they want some righteousness but neither insist on perfect righteousness.

But the Christians, the third great class of reformers demand righteousness . They have had the ideal of the text before them for 2,000 years and their only mistake was in putting the realization of that ideal too far off, holding up a perfect blissful future state as a recompense for the indignities and injustice men suffered from their fellows here, instead of attempting to remedy those wrongs on earth.

This has been changed, the Christian has always had the highest ideals; he has now the best notions of how they are to be accomplished. The Christian knows that character alone makes a heavenly state of affairs possible.

Theoretically, every argument is on the Christian's side, said Mr. Baer. He has a higher ideal, arguments that appeal more to the sympathies than either of the other two schools, and his scheme involves the salvation of the entire man.

"What," asked the speaker, "are the problems that face us today?"

"We have heard from the lips of the demagogues that the position of the working man is worse than it ever was."

"I deny this. I say it is better, immeasureably better. There are more wealthy people because there is more wealth, but I claim that the working man of today has more dignity, more independence, higher wages, shorter hours, better education, and above all he has the sacred right of franchise."

Mr. Baer admitted, however, that in spite of these advances the great problems had not been solved and the questions now to be solved were:

"How can labor protest itself against organized capital?"

2. "How shall labor secure to itself a righteous share of the wealth it produces?"

3. "The right of labor to organize."

"It would take a wise man to answer these questions!" exclaimed Mr. Baer, "but turning to the fourteenth verse of the chapter from which out text is taken we find St. Peter's answer. Character is the solution. Without character heavenly conditions are impossible."

Dealing with the third question last, Mr. Baer expressed his belief in labor's right to organize. But he said organization should mean something more than power to resist capital; if that alone is its goal then it is a brutal thing and can never be a real menace to organized capital which can lock up its shops and go off to Europe while labor starves. Organization should mean organization for improvement, education, skill and honor.

As to the second question, Mr. Baer said that no sane man denied that labor did not get its fair share of the wealth it produced.

"Some men deny it, but some men would deny the most palpable truths to advance their own selfish ends," said the speaker.

The explanation of the unequal distribution, Mr. Baer thought, was partly because the old feudal idea is not yet dead but chiefly because wages are not estimated on a just basis.

"The mistake our fathers made was in allowing natural resources to get into private hands," said Mr. Baer, adding: "But we need not discuss that now."

The trouble lay in the fact that the average employer asked the question, what is the cheapest rate at which I can get this work done? or what is the current rate paid for this work? instead of asking the real question that should be asked, which is: "What can I pay after allowing a fair return for my capital invested?"

"This is the question that will be asked in the new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness."

Sane men, Mr. Baer thought, were willing to give private capital its dues but they were unwilling to allow one man to be enriched at the expense of another or to give away natural resources without full recompense.

The first step towards obtaining this desirable result must be an educational process, public opinion must be made to demand that fair dealing shall prevail. The masses must be aroused not in revolution but by quiet seed-sowing.

Now, taking up the first question, the protection of labor against capital, Mr. Baer said he could see no way out but legislative action. The legislature must see that no one class of men or corporations be given the power to oppress or deal unjustly with another class.

But the first requisite was righteousness. "There can be no ideal state until we get a Christian state," said the speaker, "and the results that I have pointed out can never be obtained until the affairs of the state are discharged by men who are surcharged with righteousness."

ADMIRAL AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—H. M. S. Retribution, with admiral Douglas on board, arrived in port this evening and will remain some days.

WAR IS NOW INEVITABLE

Outbreak Will Occur Before September is Over

Turks Wish to Exterminate All Christians

It is believed the outbreak will occur before the end of September, when reinforcements will have been concentrated in Macedonia.

It is not thought that there will be any formal declaration of war, but that some frontier incident will precipitate hostilities.

The Bulgarians and Macedonians in Constantinople are in terror of massacre. A large number of them were arrested a few days ago as a "preventive measure," and they have not yet been released. The fear of a massacre is probably exaggerated, although, in view of the present excitement of Mussulmans an insignificant move might perhaps lead to a massacre.

The accounts received regarding the conduct of the Turkish troops have not surprised European circles here, but many who have hitherto been optimistic in their views now accept the prevailing belief that Turkey is on the eve of a catastrophe.

A consular despatch from Salonica says that according to authentic information, the insurrection in the district of Monastr has been practically stamped out. Bashi-Bazouks assisted the regular troops in the work of repressing, which is said to have been carried on with sanguinary ruthlessness. The object of the Turk apparently is to exterminate not only the Bulgarian inhabitants but all the Christians of whatever nationality.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—Russia and Austria have proposed that the powers take coercive diplomatic action at Sofia with the aim of severing the relations now existing between Bulgaria and the Macedonian insurgents. Germay has assented, but several of the powers have objected, and the Russian and Austrian proposal, the Associated Press is officially informed, has probably fallen through.

Salonica, Sept. 7.—The latest order received from the Turkish government is regarded here as a sure indication that the Porte entertains serious apprehensions of war. Sixteen battalions of the second reserves have been called to arms in the Salonica, Ukub, and Monastir districts, and the artillery and cavalry reserves of the Adrianople and Smyrna departments have also been mobilized. The commander of cavalry corps has been instructed to strictly watch the Syrian frontier as it is thought revolutionary bands will probably cross.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—The Russian and Austrian representations regarding the necessary action against Bulgaria reveal the attitude of those powers towards Turkey and the whole Balkan question. They affirm that Bulgaria has been acting in bad faith in giving secret countenance to the insurgents, and giving them hope of ultimate success, thus rendering Turkey's talk of pacification more difficult and delaying longer the execution of the programme of reform accepted by Turkey.

CHAMBERLAIN'S CHANCE.

Divisions Among Opponents Will Aid Colonial Secretary.

London, September 7.—There are indications that Mr. Chamberlain is going to get unexpected support when the time comes for the appeal to the people upon his fiscal policy by the divisions among his opponents. In addition to the threat of the free trade unionists to place candidates in the field against the advocates of Mr. Chamberlain's policy, the liberals will have to count upon the opposition of the parliamentary labor party, which is fast nominating candidates in the constituencies, irrespective of whether the old parties nominate or not. The liberal vote will be thus split and the Chamberlain cause strengthened the more. In Birmingham itself the liberals and the labor men will both nominate candidates in opposition to Mr. Chamberlain, W. J. Davis having been already selected as the labor candidate against the colonial secretary in the West Division.

A POLITICAL TRICKSTER.

Without the least excuse, without attempting to give any explanation, however plausible, dishonorable Dick McBride has determined as a last desperate resource to openly manipulate the coming provincial elections, and so snatch a verdict from a surprised electorate.

Weeks ago the date for the elections was officially gazetted for October 31st, and throughout the province candidates and electors were preparing for that date. On Saturday night it was suddenly announced that the date had been changed to October 3rd, four weeks earlier, and in making this unprecedented change the premier has vouchsafed no explanation.

Unquestionably the step has been taken in the hope that the discussion of the premier's past record and that of his political followers, which is just now commencing to become general all over the province, will be choked off, and that in the hurry which will now ensue the electors may be fooled into permitting McBride to retain office.

No Canadian minister has ever before dared to take such a step. Nor can a precedent be found for it in any civilized country having responsible government.

Truly it is a procedure entirely characteristic, and worthy of the man, who to secure the sweets of office betrayed his liberal colleagues last spring, and by an act of open and avowed treachery seized the reins of government.

The electors of the province will signally fail in their duty if they do not punish such conduct as the premier has been guilty of by driving him out of politics for good.

British Columbia has been the scene of many political schemes of the baser sort in the past, but this effort to snatch a verdict from the people overtops anything that has so far been attempted.

It should surely convince all open-minded electors of the impossibility of obtaining anything approaching stable government from the provincial conservative party as it is now framed, and should result in a sweeping victory for the liberals, to whom alone the people of this province can now look with confidence.

Premier McBride, it appears, was not content with the enormous advantage of holding an election backed up by office and all that that implies; he must needs play with loaded dice as well, and try to evade an honest and honorable contest. For this latest piece of freak campaigning his punishment should be swift and sure.

FISCAL SYSTEMS.

The opinions of Mr. Sadler, professor at the Victoria University, Manchester, upon fiscal systems are worthy of careful consideration at this time when the proposed tariff changes throughout the empire are being so freely discussed. Fiscal policy, he said, needed to take account of the psychology and intellectual bent of a nation as well as of what, in the narrower sense of the words, were called the economic factors of the problem. The advantages of free trade and protection should not be argued in terms of money gain alone, but in the light of the probable bearing of either fiscal system on the temperament and the social ideals of the nation adopting it. For a nation which, like ourselves, easily fell into routine, and much preferred old ways and old thoughts to new ones, there was special advantage in keeping themselves exposed to the full fire of foreign competition and to the influence of new ideas. The older school of political economy in England had laid far too little stress on the point of view of the producer as compared with the point of view of the consumer. The fundamental aim of national policy, fiscal or educational, was to produce as much as possible of worthy and noble human life, full of individuality, but also obedient to the just claims of the community. Cheap food was a very valuable means to this end, but unworthy to be regarded as an end in itself. The best instruments for securing the economic prosperity of a country were intelligent and honest workers of vigorous physique. A successful fiscal policy, therefore, postulated a thoroughly efficient system of physical as well as intellectual or moral education. Attempts to protect British agriculture by means of high tariffs on imported farm products would, in his judgment, be a most undesirable policy. But he could not feel satisfied with the thought of England becoming an almost wholly manufacturing or city population, and drawing nearly all its agricultural supplies from over seas, whether from British colonies or otherwise He urged that, in view of the value of an active-minded and progressive rural population, it should be made a cardinal point of national policy to spend very liberally from imperial sources on the development of agricultural and technical education in the country districts, and also on the improvement of primary and secondary education in rural neighborhoods; and to give the people themselves a chief share in the responsibility of managing these schools. In circumstances of great emergency a nation would rightly impose retaliatory duties as a measure of self defence. But to adopt their normal fiscal policy would, in his judgment, be a graver blunder, even if they possessed, which was not the case, a satisfactorily efficient system of national education. The practical disadvantages would far exceed the possible benefits. Particular interests, commercial, and industrial, would entrench themselves behind the wall of tariffs, and, through their inuence in the constituencies and in Parliament, embarrass any government which might threaten their monopoly. What might be called the home trade within the empire well deserved strenuous development. Its sound growth would depend on mutual interest. But such mutual interest was not narrowly limited to considerations of pecuniary gain. It was practical to have regard to political advantages, which, though imponderable, had indirectly a substantial value.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS TO MEET

Boston, Sept. 7.—Judging from all indications the annual convention of the National association of wholesale druggists, which is to be held in this city during the coming week, will be the largest meeting in the history of that organization. During the last twelve months or so a number of matters have developed in the trade, chiefly with regard to the relations between the wholesalers and the retailers and also with the proprietary medicine concerns, that will give the association considerable work in the way of discussion. The convention will be composed of representatives of all the leading wholesale drug houses from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Simultaneously with the meeting of the wholesalers there will be a convention of the proprietary medicine people. The local trade has completed an elaborate program of entertainment for the visitors.

THE MINING WORLD

THE ONLY PAPER GIVING ATTENTION TO BRITISH COLUMBIA IN THE UNITED STATES.

A voluminous weekly journal, abundantly newsy and informatory. The printing is neat and clear. The paper good, and the pabulum of great interest and vigorously written. The gold mining intelligence is plentiful, carefully collected, and discriminately presented to the public. Its whole get-up vouches for the vast amount of pains that have been taken in its compilation. Supplies exactly what residents in this country, as well as the Easterners, whose interests are wrapped up in gold, silver, lead, coal, and iron, are desirous of learning on these matters The contributions from correspondents, and the emanations from the editorial brain pan are always readable, generally terse, and to the point.

WILL PUSH BRITISH COLUMBIA'S INTERESTS

in the great world's arena of competing claimants for capital. Inquiries at our head office from interested parties upon the merits and demerits of Western Stocks are this year more numerous than ever.

I will disseminate exact information regarding mining ventures, protecting the outside investor from having unpayable properties foisted upon him by unprincipled promoters. Because the people of the Province will not support a first-class legitimate Eastern mining journal of immense influence, such information is, therefore, unavailable at present, and

KOOTENAY MINE IS CLOSED

NORTHPORT SMELTER MADE AN INCREASE IN RATES.

AND TWO MINE MANAGERS WON'T STAND IT.

The Kootenay mine at Rossland has been closed down indefinitely.

The crew of forty men is reduced to a single watchman, althoug a few men will be engaged at the property for a short time. The suspension is complete to all intents and purposes, however, and the announcement will be received with regret, says the Miner. Moreover, it is intimated that a similar course may be followed at the Jumbo mine unless certain conditions are altered.

A substantial increase in the treatment charges extended to the Kootenay mine was the direct cause of the suspension.

The mine has shipped the ore to Northport for the past sixty days or a trifle more, the interim contract with the Le Roi reduction works expiring on September 1st. It is understood that the rate was in the neighborhood of $2.50 per ton, this comparatively low figure for the Rossland camp being secured by reason of the fact that the Kootenay product carries a high excess of iron, making it a desirable ore to treat in conjunction with the other siliceous ores of the camp.

"Owing to an increase in the charges for treatment at the Northport smelter, to which plant our ore has been shipped for the past sixty days, we have decided to close down the Kootenay for the present at all events," said manager Thompson to a reporter yesterday.

"Are you in a position to state the amount of the increase," was asked.

"I do not care to give the figures. We could ship under the increased rate and make a profit on the ore, but the increase was more than we care to pay. The ore doesn't cost us anything in the mine, and we prefer to leave it there rather than to pay the extra chorge for treatment."

"Why not ship to the Trail smelter?" Mr. Thompson was asked.

"The Trail smelter says it cannot take Kootenay ore at this juncture," was the reply.

"Was it your intention to have continued shipping?" was the next query.

"Yes. The Kootenay mine would have continued shipping on the old basis for an indefinite period. The results of our shipping operations during the past four months have been highly gratifying from the financial standpoint. We have a considerable tonnage of pay ore already broken down in the stopes and on the surface."

"Will the Rossland-Kootenay reduction works revive its scheme for the erection of its own reduction works?" was the final query propounded to Mr. Thompson.

"The idea of constructing our own works," was the reply, "has never been dropped. We have been working on it steadily for months. The present situation may bring the matter to a head earlier than we had anticipated, but this is a question I am not prepared to go into at all just now."

Managing director Galusha, of the Jumbo, could not be located, but it is understood that the increased rate at Northport applies to the heavy iron ores which the Jumbo is shipping, and he is credited with the statement that unless the smelter reconsiders the matter, the Jumbo will follow the Kootenay's example and close down.

Referring to the views expressed by William Thompson, manager S. F. Parrish of the Le Roi mine and of the Le Roi company's smelter at Northport, is credited with saying:

"It is unjust to say that the raise in the treatment charges at the Northport smelter was responsible for the closing down of the Kootenay mine. The raise was very slight, and if Kootenay ores do not carry the values to stand the increase they had best be 'left underground.' The difference in the rate which the Rossland-Kootenay company was receiving up to September 1st and the new rate given it afted September 1st, is so slight that the running of the Kootenay mine could not have depended upon it.

The Northport smelter is not a charitable institution, but it has done and will do everything possible to advance the interests of the Rossland camp. Further than that, Mr. Thompson is not justified in including with his own opinion of the situation, that of Mr. Galusha, of the Jumbo mine, who has as yet made no complaint as to the way he has been treated by the Northport smelter.

"At Northport we are handling such ores as we are reciving at as low a smelting cost as possible allowing ourselves a reasonable profit. I consider the criticism made by Mr. Thompson as entirely unjustified."

BE QUICK.

Not a minute should be lost after a child shows symptoms of cholera infantum. The first unusual looseness of the bowels should be sufficient warning. If immediate and proper treatment is gven, serious consequences will be averted. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the sole reliance of thousands of mothers and by its aid they have often saved their children's lives. Every household should have a bottle at hand. Get it today. It may save a life. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

CANADA'S COMPETITION HURTS.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—Prominent grain brokers from representative houses of Baltimore and Philadelphia met in a conference here this week and discussed plans to save the large exporting firms from the disaster they say is threatened by the diverting of the western grain trade from these ports to Montreal and other Canadian cities. It is said that the ocean steamship lines which have a terminal here are affected by this loss of trade. The cause assigned for the loss of the grain business is that the rate on the Canadian railroads is much lower than can be secured on any seaboard line which runs into Philadelphia or Baltimore. A second conference will be held in the near future to further discuss the matter and decide upon some plan of action.

TRY KIDNEY-WORT TABLETS

The Only Medicine That Can Revitalize the Kidneys and Restore Health

If you have a pain in the small of the back of a dragging nature, a disordered state of the urine, sometimes pale in color, and very copious, ot other times high colored and scanty, often with brick colored sediment or with settling of mucous, offensive and smelling, a feeling of lassitude, and general weakness, be assured you are suffering from some form of kidney disease.

Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets will always banish any of the above mentioned symptoms and restore the weak kidneys to a perfect condition of health. Thousands have been cured and you may share the same blessings. All Druggists guarantee Kidney-Wort Tablets. Price 50 cents per bottle or six bottles for $2.50.

THE PROPER TREATMENT FOR A SPRAINED ANKLE.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SHAMROCK GOSSIP.

New York, Sept. 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton's two racing yachts Shamrock I. and Shamrock III. lay beside a wharf in Erie basin today. The work of preparing them for the trip home was not fully under way. Shamrock III. still carried her racing mast, but her jury mast was lying on the wharf ready to be stepped. The crew of the defeated challenger expects to sail for home about 14th September.

When you do not relish your food and feel dull and stupid after eating, all you need is a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will make you feel like a new man and give you an appetite like a bear. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Born—At the Athabsca mine on Friday evening to the wife of Byron S. James, a son.

E. C. Davison, who has been away from this city on a business tour lasting some months, has returned and is at his residence corner of Josephine and Carbonate streets.

A petition was received by mayor Rose today from the board of trade asking that the council meet the council of the board of trade on Thursday to consider a program for the entertainment of the delegates to the chambers of commerce of the empire, who arrive on the 15th.

The C. P. R. wires went down early this morning and the Associated Press report was cut in two. Premier McBride may have made further changes in his program, and several other matters may have hapepned. Possibly the news got too hot for the wires.

It will come as a surprise to the friends of H. G. Goodeve, the secretary of the Nelson board of trade' to read the special despatch from Rossland announcing his marriage to Miss Eileen Shea. When Mr. Goodeve left town yesterday morning there was not half a dozen of his friends who knew of his coming marriage.

The forerunners of the coming winter are already with us. On Sunday and Sunday night occurred the first real snow storms of the season and the snow caps on the nearer mountains have made their reappearance. At the Porto Rico mine on Sunday there was quite a heavy storm. It began at half past five in the morning and at four o'clock in the afternoon three inches of snow had fallen.

Two sail boats were out in the squall that struck the lake yesterday afternoon and the occupants of both were for a time in serious danger, one actually upsetting. The occupants of the capsized craft were picked up by George Hale who was on his way up the lake. The other boat in which Jack Matheson and some friends were out for a sail managed to weather the blow with both sails lowered.

The Military League rifle match was continued today at the ranges. Captain H. E. Macdonell made the top score with 190. Corporal Carrie tied this score but was beaten out when the ranges were taken into account, captain Macdonell making his scores at the greater distances. Corporal Carrie made the highest score in rapid firing, getting 31 out of a possible 35. The match will be continued next Saturday.

Labor Day passed off very quietly in Nelson. No celebration of any kind was held in the city. The stores were all closed and the streets looked deserted. A few left town on fishing and shooting trips yesterday but for the most part those who were going left on Saturday or Sunday morning. Others were deterred from leaving at all by the unsettled weather. The Miners' union and the Trades and Labor council decided some time ago to show their good feeling towards the effort being made by the citizens of Nelson generally to inaugurate a yearly fair in this city, to keep their annual holiday during the exhibition days on the 24th and 25th of this month, and by doing this they have undoubtedly rendered the fair managers great assistance.

James D. Fraser arrived in Nelson yesterday from the Charlemont group on Toby creek in East Kootenay. The ore shoot on this group averages two feet in width and various samples taken from it show values running from one hundred to three hundred ounces in silver. The ore also carries a very high percentage of lead. Mr. Fraser exhibited some very fine samples of the ore which he said were fair specimens of the entire vein. The property is not actually on the creek, being about two miles up the hill above it. It will shortly be accessible by a wagon road which the government is now building up the creek and which is expected to be opposite the Charlemont group before winter sets in. The object of Mr. Fraser's present visit to the city is to arrange a working bond on the group and he intends to remain a short time in the city to make this arrangement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Daniels of Northport arrived in town yesterday and are stopping at the Hume hotel.

Norman Goodhan was the victim of a painful acident at the sawmill on Saturday, when his leg was gashed above the knee by a glancing axe.

Rev. W. W. Baer left yesterday for Michel where he will spend a cople of days. Mr. Baer expects to be back on Thursday.

Miss C. Winters, of Kamloops, arrived in the city on Saturday, on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. D. C. McMorris, Lattmer street.

E. Curran, Jr., W. Bard and W. Davison left for Kootenay Landing on Sunday morning. They are off on a two week's shooting trip.

The Rev. H. Beer, of Kaslo, was in the city for a short time yesterday. He came down in the morning and returned by the afternoon boat.

The regular weekly meeting of the council will be held tonight instead of last night, the meeting having been postponed on account of the holiday.

The Italian who had his back hurt at Shields some two weeks ago, and now lies half paralyzed in the Home hospital is rapidly sinking and cannot live many days longer.

At St. Saviour's church, on Saturday, the marriage of Alfred Ernest Churches, of Waneta, to Annie Turner, of Dorking, England, took place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fred H. Graham.

Yesterday being a statutory holiday all public officers were closed and no business was done at the record office.

On Sunday evening a luxury-loving porcupine sauntered into the Bartlett house walked upstairs and settled himself in room No. 2. Geo. Bartlett saw his guest arrive and asked him to registed, and as Mr. Porcupine had no luggage, requested him to pay in advance. Porky had no money and quills don't go nowadays so he was unceremoniously tumbled into a barrel and is now camping in the lot. He has been named Gallagher and will be exhibited at the fair as a running mate for Gus Erickson's "Murphy."

G. Raymond Payne, special correspondent of the Mining World, arrived in town yesterday after a careful examination of the mines in the Lardeau, Trout Lake and Slocan districts. Mr. Payne is getting up an article on this part of the country and preferred to reserve his opinion till he could prepare it carefully, but said of the Lucky Jack claim that it was all it was reported to be. The Eva mine at Camborne, Mr. Payne considers a wonderfully good proposition and exhibited a piece of rock studded with gold which he picked up on the dump of No. 5 tunnel at the Eva before he had been there five minutes. Mr. Payne is going from here to Ainsworth and Sandon but expects to return to Nelson and go back to the Lardeau about the 15th of the month.

B. A. Larned, stenographer, office Room 10, K. W. C. Block; telephone A104. All kinds of correspondence and mimeographic work executed.

DOUGALD'S CLOSE SHAVE.

Last week Dougald McDougall, the well known trapper and hunter, met with a very serious accident. He had come across the lake from E. T. Johnston's ranch and in pulling his gun out of the canoe by the muzzle discharged it, the entire charge of No. 4 shot striking him low on the front of his right shoulder. He then walked to Windermere a distance of more than a mile, where the wound was bound up and J. A. Stoddart's team started with him to Wilmer. On his arrival at the hospital it was evident that he had lost a great deal of blood, yet he did not complain, but sat quietly on a chair while his shirt was cut off him and the wound examined. Dr. Elliot then gave him chloroform and was obliged to cut in from the back of the shoulder to properly drain and clean the wound. The gun-wads and pieces of the shirt were extracted from the wound, as well as a lot of shot and several pieces of the collar bone, which was badly shattered. Dougald lost a good deal of blood and his life was spared only with the greatest vigilance, but he is now much improved, though it will be a long time before he will be completely recovered, and it is doubtful if he will ever again have the use of his arm.—Wilmer Outcrop.

KILLED AT THE PTARMIGAN.

Three Men Were Overcome By Gas and One Died—Manager's Statement.

Details of the death by suffocation of Ernest Johnson, at the Ptarmigan mine, near Wilmer, East Kootenay, last week have been received.

The accident was caused by gas and Ernest Johnson, a Swede; Damas Borsjoli, known as "French Dave," who was a partner of Elehi Prudhomme who was injured at the mine last New Year's eve; and Frank Butterfield, a cousin of manager T. Starbird, who came here from Boston last spring, were the victims.

Manager Starbird in an interview said that he was not at the mine but got his information from the men. He explained that from No. 1 tunnel some distance from the mouth another tunnel had been run to the west—from which an upraise connected it with the tunnel above. From the end of this west tunnel a crosscut was run connecting with No. 1 tunnel, thus the air-draft went through No. 1, across the crosscut, back up the west tunnel and up the upraise and out the tunnel above.

The west tunnel is being continued and Dave and Ernest remained to blast after the regular shift quit work Monday night, and after blasting the lower holes they waited one hour and a half (usually the regular shift wait only half an hour) before they returned. They got Frank—whose duty was at the hoisting engine—to go with them so that they might quit early. They were about ready to shoot when Ernest said he felt sick and started off along the west tunnel—as the draft had changed. Then the other two, feeling the effect of the gas, followed him. Ernest fell before they went far and his companions took him up and carried him about 200 feet and then they had to leave him, but they went on ahead only about 10 feet when they fell. The three men lay there in the bad air on the cold ground, where there is ice the year around, for four long hours, when they were found by the day-shift when they went to work at 7 o'clock. A telegram has been sent to B. Lundeen at Wasa, who is a brother-in-law of the dead miner, asking what should be done with the body.

GOODEVE—SHEA.

[Special to The Daily News.]

Rossland, Sept. 7.—Herbert G. Goodeve of Nelson was married at the Sacred Heart rectory today to Miss Eileen Shea, formerly of Rossland.

The ceremony was performed by Fathers McKinnon, of Rossland, and Althoff, of Nelson. The witnesses were Eugene Croteau and Mrs. J. M. Fitzpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodeve left for Nelson by the night train.

No Beer like CASCADE.

ANOTHER CRANK.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 7.—The police charge John Miller, a German, who was arrested here this evening at his home, with having threatened to shoot President Roosevelt during his stay in this city.

On Sunday evening the police learned that a man named Miller, living in the southwestern part of the city had said that he would shoot the President while the letter carriers' parade was being reviewed today.

They bent every energy in efforts to get Miller, but no trace of him could be found, till four o'clock this afternoon, when he was placed under arrest.

He denies that he made any threats against the President's life, and claims that the woman through whom the police learned of it is lying. When questioned at police headquarters he was unable to give a clear explanation of his whereabouts since six o'clock on Sunday morning. Once he said he had gone to Auburn, his former home, in search of work, but he could not tell when he returned nor give any incidents of his visit.

BRITISH TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

London, Sept. 7.—Four hundred and fifty delegates, representing one million two hundred and fifty thousand organized trade unionists, were present today at the opening of the thirty-sixth annual trades congress of Great Britain in the town hall of Leicester. Max. S. Hayes and Thomas Lawler, the fraternal delegates from the American Federation of Labor, were given a hearty reception. In welcoming the delegates, the Lord Mayor of Leicester called attention to the fact that it was a quarter of a century snce the congress last met in that city, and at that time there were less than one hundred and fifty delegates in attendance. After the formalities of opening, the parliamentary secretary read the programme prepared for consideration. The resolutions deal with, among other things, compulsory arbitration and conciliation courts, old age pensions, hours of labor, right of combination, education, inspection of factories, and colonial secretary Chamberlain's fiscal policy.

MILLINERY

Our Millinery this Season will excell all previous years. Miss McGrory arrived home after a month's holidays, attended the millinery openings at Toronto, Detroit, and Chicago, getting the latest ideas in fall Millinery, and selecting her own patterns and Ready to Wear Hats from the very latest fashions and styles. This week we will show the most up to date Ready to Wear Hats in Nelson at prices to suit anybody requiring a new stylish Hat.

Fountain Pens

Pen troubles disappear when you get a fountain pen that suits your hand. There is nothing gives so much satisfaction as one of our pens that never fail you, but write without any shaking or coaxing. The prices are $1.50 to $4, and we guarantee the $1.50 pen by returning money or exchanging it if not pleased.
