ULTIMATUM ACCEPTED

After a Final Effort to Compromise Porte Backs Down

British Fleet Will be Kept at Phalerum Until Whole Matter is Cleared Up--Strengthening the Defences

Constantinople, May 12.—After a visit of the grand vizier of the sultan to the British embassy yesterday evening, when he offered to accept the demands of Great Britain conditionally and was refused, the Porte's acceptance of the ultimatum was handed to sir Nicholas O'Connor late last night.

The grand vizier's visit merely led to an emphasis of the fact that the attempts of Turkey to arrange a compromise were useless. The grand vizier's proposals were as unacceptable as were those of Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, of the previous day, and sir Nicholas again pointed out the futility of suggesting modifications of the British demands, which constituted the absolute minimum.

It is understood that the British fleet will be kept at Phalerum bay pending a final settlement of the question and a delimitation of the frontier. When this is settled, it is said that the British government will take measures to render Egypt stragetically secure against any similar aggression, by establishing a strong Egyptian garrison and fortifying Elarish and, if the water difficulty in the desert region can be solved, by placing Egyptian garrisons at points in the desert routes from Tabah and Gaza, along which an invading army might threaten the Suez canal. It is also not unlikely that Great Britain will demand the withdrawal of the Turkish commissioner at Cairo, who is credited with fostering agitation.

KASLO'S CELEBRATION.

An Elaborate Program Prepared For Victoria Day.

Kaslo, May 12.—The several committees in charge of the different events to be competed for on Victoria Day have completed the program and arrangements for that day. Everything pertaining to the sports was got into first class shape and it is needless to say that if we have "King's weather" on that day the sports will be a success and the many visitors and their friends will have an enjoyable time and will leave with happy memories of Kaslo and her hospitality.

The program for the day will be as follows:

Calathumpian Procession: Parade will start from Fourth street and proceed up Front street, forming as follows, Calathumpian band, floats, characters, etc. Darktown fire brigade.

Caledonian sports, 100 yards open footrace, first prize, $10; second prize, $5. Boy's race, under 13 year's, first prize, $2; second prize, $1; 75-yards Boys' race, open to boys under 18 years, first prize, $2; second prize, $1. Baseball teams from Nelson, Trail and Kaslo will compete. Trap shooting on Water street, behind A. T. Garland's store. Band parade to grounds. Drilling contest, opposite Slocan hotel, single handed down hole, 4-lb hammers, ⅞ in. steel, duration of drilling 10 minutes, prize $50. Band parade from recreation grounds. Tug of war on A avenue, prize $50. Grand ball in Eagle Opera house in evening.

A MORNING BLAZE

Over-Heated Bricks at the Sawmill—Damage Nominal.

An alarm of fire was sent from box 43 on the water front yesterday morning at 7.45, and the brigade promptly responded. The fire was in the boiler room of the Yale-Columbia's extensive sawmill premises adjoining the city wharf to the east. Some of the bricks around the boiler got over-heated and set fire to the flooring. Some 750 feet of city hose were run out but the water was not turned on as the hose at the sawmill did all the necessary work in putting out the fire. The damage done was nominal. Chief Deasy inspected the plant some short time ago and at his suggestion some 200 feet of inch and a half hose was put in place as a precautionary measure. This hose more than proved its usefulness yesterday and was the means of preventing the fire getting a start, which might have had disastrous results.

COPENHAGEN SHIPPING FIRE

Copenhagen, May 12.—The free port had a narrow escape today from destruction by fire, due to spontaneous combustion of cotton waste in a shed belonging to the East Asia company, which was gutted. The damage done amounted to nearly $700,000. Only by heroic efforts were the firemen able to prevent the spread of the flames to the shipping. About two hundred houses are affected by the fire.

LAKE STEAMER WRECKED.

Detroit, May 12.—The Thompson line steamer Pilgrim bound from Rogers city to Detroit, with passengers and cargo of merchandise ran on the reef at Pointe aux Bairques early today. A tug has been sent from Harbor Beach to the assistance of the steamer and to take off the passengers. The wind is blowing off shore and the sea is not high, so the steamer is not in immediate danger. It is not known how many passengers are on her.

GIVEN HEAVY DAMAGES

FOREST FIRE CASE AGAINST RED MOUNTAIN RAILWAY.

BLUE & DESCHAMPS GET VERDICT FOR $18,000.

Rossland, May 12.—The trial of the case of Blue & Deschamps vs. the Red Mountain Railway has occupied the attention of Mr. justice Morrison and a jury for the past week in the supreme court here. The case came to a close this evening when the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs in the sum of $18,000, the suit being brought to recover $20,000. The case arose over a forest fire started by engine No. 9 on the Red Mountain on the 23rd of August, 1905, which raged for about four days damaging the timber limits of the plaintiffs to the extent appraised by the jury.

The case has been hard fought from the first day to the last, and a crowd of witnesses were examined. One of the points brought out in the case was to the length to which a forest fire could jump. Some of the witnesses for the plaintiffs deposed that in one or two cases the fire jumped 2000 feet across belts of green timber and ignited and destroyed acres of dry timber beyond. Experts for the defence contended that this was impossible and that the fires were of separate origin and hence the railway company was not responsible for them. This was the point on which there was the most fencing between the opposing counsel.

FOR SANITARY REASONS

'FRISCO'S HOMELESS WILL BE CONCENTRATED IN TWO CAMPS

RIGID ECONOMY TO BE ENFORCED IN CIVIC AFFAIRS.

San Francisco, May 12.—The liquor question was again discussed today by the authorities and it was proposed that the charter of the city be so amended that a saloon license, which has heretofore been $100 a year, shall be raised to $500. Before the fire there were 4000 saloons in San Francisco. Today the police board of commerce issued an order that all private clubs cease dispensing liquor to members.

Mayor Schmitz today directed that persons made homeless by the fire, be concentrated into two great camps, one in the Potrero and the other at Golden Gate park. This action has been made necessary for sanitary reasons. At present every vacant square is covered with tents of homeless campers.

Plans are under discussion whereby the most rigid economy may be enforced in municipal affairs. About 300 city employees will lost their positions or suffer a reduction in salary.

BEATEN TO DEATH.

Two Murders in One Evening in City of Buffalo.

Buffalo, May 12.—Jos. Crosson, an iron moulder, 43 years old, was beaten to death tonight by an unknown assassin. The only witness to the tragedy was a little girl. She told the police that Crosson had just turned off the lower Main street on to the quay when he was attacked by another man, apparently a workmen from the docks. Crosson was knocked down and kicked until he was insensible, when a policeman picked him up and he died on the way to the hospital.

What may prove to another murder occurred on the bridge road in the steel plant district tonight. Wm. H. Robinson was shot and fatally wounded by an unknown foreigner who escaped. Robinson, who is 23 year old, came here from Alabama two weeks ago to work for the Lackawanna Steel Co.

PARLIAMENTARY NOTES.

Ottawa, May 12.—In parliament Ralph Smith moved a resolution to the effect that the Canadian parliament believes it is in the interest of British subjects that the imperial parliament should pass legislation to prevent immigrants being brought to Canada under false representations. He cited the operations of the Canadian labor bureau in England which was under the charge of one Leopold and located itself alongside the Canadian immigration office as a good reason for such legislation. Britain should pass legislation similar to what Canada had done. Men ought not to be brought to Canada under false pretences. He had reason to believe that the British government would pass the needed legislation.

H. J. Logan had pleasure in supporting the resolution, as he was the author of the Canadian act, not to induce or deter immigration to Canada. He hoped the legislation passed last session would do good. To bring to Canada parties under false pretences was not only injurious to the persons concerned but to the country to which they came. It was in the interest of the Canadian immigration act that the British house should pass legislation similar to the Canadian act.

Mr. Verville (labor) supported the resolution. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth also supported the resolution. He said it was a good thing if such legislation would be passed not only in Britain, but in all countries that sent emigrants to Canada. He referred to the bringing of printers to Winnipeg under false misrepresentations. He sent the result of the investigation to the colonial office, with the request as far as he could do so, to have legislation passed in Britain similar to what was done in Canada.

Mr. Oliver said that Leopold had been removed from the building in which the Canadian immigration office was located.

After a lengthy discussion on W. F. Maclean's bill to reduce the sessional indemnity of members to what it was last session, the house divided on the bill. There were nine voted for Maclean's bill, eight conservatives and one liberal. They were: Maclean, Blain, Lalor, Welsh, Wilson, Elson, Christie and McIntyre. McIntyre is a liberal.

Dr. Stockton moved for the appointment of a committee of seven to enquiry into and report upon the sale of fraudulent or deleterious medicines in Canada.

Mr. Templeman said he would be glad to confer with Dr Stockton and have such a committee appointed.

ARE STILL AT LIBERTY

BLOODHOUNDS HIT TRAIL AT DAYLIGHT TODAY.

SHERIFF WOOD CONFIDENT OF CAPTURING BANDITS

(Special to The Daily News)

Kamloops, May 12.—Pearse sent word last night that the Indians had picked up the trail of the robbers along a timbered valley yesterday. After going in the direction of Grand Prairie for a few miles the trail turned south, heading for Chapran lake, near Douglas lake, en route for the boundary line. The robbers were on foot. The Indians and constable behind are mounted, but the fugitives have probably two days' start.

Sheriff Wood states he is confident that he is on the right track. Word has been sent out to all places in Nicola, Okanagan and American points by superintendent Hussey of the direction taken by the robbers, who may have difficulty getting through the burning timber between Campbell's meadows and Chapran lake, though the rain of yesterday will favor them.

Seven mounted police are due to arrive here today from the northwest, who will be sent to join Pearse's outfit to do any fighting.

The bloodhounds failed to arrive last night but are on their way today and should be on the trail by daylight tomorrow. The pusuit is hot and a capture should be made shortly. Should the fugitives get through the timber they should fall into the hands of men waiting at the other end of the trail. The endurance of the fugitives must be nearly exhausted as they can have only scanty supplies and no means of getting more.

MORE BLOODHOUNDS

Draper and Hopper With Their Dogs Go North to Join the Hunt.

Harry Draper of Spokane, with his famous bloodhounds, and Thomas Hopper, also of Spokane, a veteran bear hunter, arrived in the city last evening on the Great Northern train and at once took the C. P. R. express for the coast leaving at 7.15 p.m

The men and dogs will join in the hunt now going on near Kamloops for the bandits who help up the transcontinental express early last week.

The dogs are the animals which recently succeeded in running down Frank Smith, the Oregon outlaw.

In an interview Mr. Draper said: "We wired Mr. Marpole at Vancouver, offering our services and those of the dogs and the C. P. R. superintendent at once accepted. We hope to get a look-in at the $11,500 offered as a reward for the train robbers.

"Mr Hopper has been chosen to make the journey with myself, and the dogs, because Hopper has hunted and trapped up there and is thoroughly familiar with all that country. Hopper has a good theory as to the destination of the robbers.

"This will be one of the severest tests ever put to the dogs. The trail will be at least three days old and we cannot possibly start work at Kamloops before Monday morning. Another feature is that the robbers left no piece of clothing by which the dogs could catch the trail. When Frank Smith, the Oregon bandit, was run down by the dogs, one of his hats was used before the start was made. There is no doubt that these railroad bandits had horses in the brush. But the dogs have been trained to trail without the necessity of having a hat, shoe or other raiment to start them. They have successfully followed trails that had been dead from 18 to 24 hours. It will be a severe test and we are anxious as to the outcome. If the dogs succeed this time, their reputation will become national."

CONTEMPT OF COURT

Indianapolis, May 12—Fred L. Purdy, editor and publisher of the Indianapolis Sun, was today sentenced to 30 days in jail and to pay a fine of $250 by judge Fremont Alford of the Marion county criminal court for editorial criticism in the paper of judge Alford's course in connection with the recent indictment of Robert Metsger, chief of police, for assault and battery on prisoners.

VIENNA BUILDING LOCKOUT

Vienna, May 12—The demand of the building trade employees for increased wages, resulted in a lockout of 50,000 men today.

LEAD STACK IS STARTED

The First New Furnace of Seventh Kootenay Smelter is Blown in

Marked Improvement in Number of Mines Now Shipping--Several New Shippers Join the List--Rossland Notes

A seventh smelter has been added to the list of six which are already in operation dealing with the ores in the Kootenay districts. On Tuesday last the first furnace of the Pilot Bay smelter was blown in and the management report that two more will follow as speedily as possible. The customers of the Pilot Bay smelter will include several well known mines, among them the La Plata, which in future will send all its ore to the new reduction works. Besides this mine, the Silver Cup of the Lardeau, the Hartney and the Blue Bell are already shippers and have had ore at the smelter for some time past awaiting treatment.

During the coming week the new mill at the La Plata will start up, probably on Wednesday next. This will add a large tonnage to the output of the district. Enlargement of the refinery at the Trail smelter is being undertaken and the new capacity of that reduction works will, in this regard, be doubled. The improvements at the Hall Mines smelter, improvements which will have cost $75,000 on their completion, are now all but ready.

It will be noted in the shipping returns appended that the Providence of Greenwood, has resumed its output, on this occasion shipping two cars to the Hall Mines smelter. In the Slocan, the Payne is again a shipper and the Krao, Ainsworth, after some weeks cessation, is forwarding another carload of ore. After this the shipments from the mine may be expected to be continued regularly. From the Slocan the Midnight and Noonday are two more properties which are sending trial shipments and the Keystone and Cliff are also newly joining the shipping list. Upon that list are ow 91 names which have shipped this year, with the season barely opened. Of these 63 are in the Slocan and Kootenay districts generally, Rossland accounting for seven and the Boundary for 16.

The La Plata's first consignment to the Pilot Bay smelter yesterday, was five cars.

The Eureka is still closed down but that is merely temporary. The great success made by that fonderful little copper property has incited further development on Forty-Nine creek. Work will be begun this week on the Pingree copper claims, adjoining the Eureka. The Pingree is owned by parties in Nelson and in Royston, England, and the development work already done indicates large bodies of high grade copper ore.

ROSSLAND IS BRIGHTENING

Rossland, May 12—Work has or is being resumed on several of the mines of the camp during the last few weeks. The Velvet-Portland, the Crown Point, the Jumbo and the White Bear are among the mines that are included in this list. These mines will give employment to an increased number of men and their output will swell to a considerable extent the tonnage of the camp for the year.

There is talk of a resumption of operations on the Cliff and Idaho, and there are well defined rumors that work is to be resumed shortly on some of the properties in the south belt, which have been idle for several years. With the brightening of the situation and the more hopeful outlook, the people are indulging in the hope that there will be a repetition of the times when Rossland was in the zenith of her prosperity.

The Trail smelter is now building a new lead furnace and also a fifth copper furnace, making a total capacity for the output of copper of between 1200 and 1400 tons daily and of 350 to 400 tons of lead.

The refinery is now turning out about 50 tons of pure lead daily and shipping the greater portion to Canadian consumers, while the remainder is going to the orient. The refinery is being enlarged so that the capacity will be 75 instead of 50 tons. New cranes and a 500 horsepower generator set are being installed.

The plant for the Huntington-Heberlein process is being enlarged by the addition or six converters. New transformers for the increased consumption of power are being put in, and a new blower has been ordered, giving the Trail works two of the largest smelter blowers constructed.

EMPRESS BROKE RECORD

CROSSING THE ATLANTIC UNDER SIX DAYS' VOYAGE.

MAIDEN TRIP OF NEW LINER WAS EVERY WAY SUCCESSFUL.

Montreal, May 12.—The high priced liner which the Canadian Pacific Railway company has just sent afloat in its Atlantic steamship service, arrived at Father Point at 12.25 today, and came in, in the splendid time of five days 23 hours and 17 minutes, which includes the difference in time from Moville. This breaks the speed record for that route and places the Empress of Britain among the list of vessels which are in the record breaking business in the Canadian service. The Moville-Quebec record, via Cape Race, was previously held by the Virginian which on her first trip broke the time of passage down to 6 days and 3 hours.

Dr. Elgar, the Fairfield company's constructing engineer who came over on the Empress of Britain was so pleased by the showing which the vessel made on her maiden trip, that he confidentially predicts that she will set the pace at a much swifter gait when the stiffness in her machinery has become more limbered up.

The Empress experienced heavy gales on Wednesday and Thursday and slowed down six hours on account of the heavy weather. The passengers were highly delighted with the ship's performance which brought out in full the sterling sea-going qualities of the splendid vessel. For her maiden voyage the time must be considered highly satisfactory. Over the safe southern route, via Cape Race, the Empress of Britain came. Her daily runs were 417, 452, 469, 410, 414 and 432 knots to Rimouski which place she passed at 12.25 o'clock Saturday noon. All passengers had something complimentary to say about the smoothness with which the engines ran. The counter balanced engines seemed to work without vibration. She is undoubtedly one of the smoothest running of all the sea flyers. "She is," said captain Stewart, "the best sea boat I ever saw." Captain Stewart was formerly in command of the C. P. R. steamship Lake Champlain.

Throughout the voyage, the Britain was in wireless touch with the outer world. During the first part of the voyage, her wireless operator was in communication with the Poldhu station and as she was nearing the limit of the station, she came in touch with the other waves vibrating from Cape Race. On that day the vessel received word from both sides of the Atlantic.

The Empress of Britain was built at the Fairfield shipbuilding works on the Clyde. He principal dimensions are: length over all 570 feet, beam 85 feet; depth, amidships, 45 feet; normal darft tonnage (14,500; horse power, 18,000. Her passenger capacity is: first cabin 350, second cabin 350; third cabin 1000; crew 400. Total capacity, 2100.

The Empress of Britain has five passenger decks. The first cabin dining saloon is 58 feet long, is the full width of the ship and will seat some 300 persons. The panelling is in mahogany, with carving in dull gold, and the upholstering is in crimson leather. A special feature of the furnishings is a number of horseshoe shaped tables for small parties arranged in alcoves at the sides of the saloon. In the centre of the ceiling is a large oval opening into the cafe on the deck above. The cafe is panelled in waxed Italian walnut and is sumptuously appointed, in keeping with its practical purpose which is to supply light refreshment at any time during the day.

Quebec, May 12.—The Empress of Britain arrived here at 9.58 p.m.

KASLO SAWMILL.

Prospects of Plant Being Operated in The Near Future.

The Kootenaian in its last issue says: It will be good news for our citizens to learn that there are good prospects for the operation of a first class sawmill in the city in the near future, the only think wanted to cinch the matter is the consent of interested parties on the coast. W. E. Cooke, mayor of Harvey, North Dakota, one of the most successful lumbermen in the west has been in the city all week negotiating for the sale of the sawmill, and K. & S. and Hamill creek limits. Mr. Cooke is willing to buy the interested parties out and to erect a new mill as soon as possible that will employ from 75 to 100 men, if his offer is accepted. At the time of going to press we understand that the deal is likely to go through and if this should prove correct the outlook for the city will be decidedly brighter.

EXTERMINATING NATIVES

GENERAL CURRIE DESPAIRS OF ANY OTHER WAY.

ANOTHER TOWN IS SACKED BY THE FILIPINOS.

Manilla, May 12.—The datoh of the island of Samako, at the head of a band of 24 Pulajanes, having fire rifles and other weapons entered Inabanga by the Barrio Wright, killing one and wounding seven residents, burning and looting thirty six houses and taking over 20 resident prisoners. Troops, constabulary, policemen and volunteers are pursuing the band.

Geo. Currie, the governor of Samar, who is here on his way to Baguio, province of Benquet, the summer capital, to consult with governor general Ide, says that all the residents of Samar, will shortly call on the governor general and endorse the policy of extermination of the rebellious natives, which is supported by the peaceful inhabitants of Samar. Governor Currie has received a cable message from president Roosevelt congratulating him on his escape at the fight with Pulajanes at Magtaon recently.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

SUGGESTIVE OF LEGISLATURE PROCEEDINGS.

TO INTERVIEW GOVERNMENT ON HIGHER EDUCATION.

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, May 12.—The slow progress of the Methodist conference business is strikingly suggestive of a characteristic legislative session, with every indication that the parallel will be extended and matters rushed with headlong haste toward the close of the conference term next week.

This morning none of the many committees were ready to report upon the matters referred the them, virtually the total of conference business and the forenoon was spent in ministerial session.

The special committee re Rev. W. W. Baer, completed its review of the evidence upon which his suspension was based, but the legal advisers of the church needed 24 hours for consideration before giving their opinion as to the challenged proceedure, and the technical objections raised in the minister's behalf. The committee's report to conference and action thereupon are therefore deferred until Monday. There seems a general opinion that expulsion from the ministry will be proposed.

Dr. Potts, educational secretary for the Methodist church in Canada, was formally welcomed this morning and in acknowledging his reception, closed by presenting to principal Sipprel of Columbia college, on behalf of the senate of Victoria university, his diploma as doctor of divinity.

The chief business of the conference this afternoon was the appointment of a deputation to interview the provincial government to ascertain its exact position respecting the establishment of an university, and higher education generally. This committee is to report for the information of the conference before paramount educational questions are taken up.

HOPPE THE VICTOR

Won First place at Chicago—Makes World's Record

Chicago, May 12—Willie Hoppe won first prize in the billiard tournament this afternoon by defeating George Slosson by a score of 500 to 171.

In yesterday's game with Schafer, Hoppe made a new world's record, running 301. The previous revord was held by Cure, at 255. In the fourth inning Hoppe got the balls together and his long run, which resulted in the breaking of the record for this style of billiards, was begun. He played especially fast and with the utmost confidence. When he had reached within a few points of Cure's record, Hoppe executd several difficult shots which were unnecessary except that he could gain better position. During the record breaking run he carried the balls around the table three times, and after passing Cure's record, succeeded in gathering in 52 more points, when he missed a rather hard two cushion shot by the smallest fraction of an inch, and sat down while the audience applauded with vigor.

REFUSES REFORMS FOR CONGO

London, May 12—The Standard's Brussels' correspondent "learns on unquestionable authority that king Leopold has rejected lock, stock and barrel, the proposals to reform the administration of the Congo Free State drawn up by the reform committe." The king is said to be seeking above all things to gain time. It is six months since the report of the commission was published, and things remain in exactly the same condition as if there had been no inquiry at all.

TO PRESERVE THE FORESTS

Vancouver, May 12—Preparations are being made already for the grand forestry convention to be held in this city in August or September of this year.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has accepted an invitation to attend the convention, as also has lord Grey; while several prominent American forestry authorities will also be present, and give their views as regards the preservation of the forest, and the reforesting of the hills of British Columbia, as suggested by the duke of Sutherland.

TEMPLARS HELP 'FRISCO

London, May 12—The Knights Templars of England forwarded $1000 today to the American Knights Templar relief fund for San Francisco. The contribution was unanimously voted at a meeting of the Great Priory, presided over by lord Euston.

DUMA WANTS AN AMNESTY

Reform Party Has a Four-Fifths Majority in Parliament

Struggle Between People and Crown Will Be Defined on Presentation of Reply to the Speech From the Throne

St. Petersburg, May 12.—With the new parliament finally underway there is a distinct relief from the tremendous strain of the past few months, but both sides antfcipate a great struggle between the crown and the people. They realize that the real issue will not be joined until the answer of the lower house to the speech from the throne at the opening of parliament is presented. Then the czar must choose between war and peace. The constitutional democrats have effected a temporary combination with the peasants and feel that they have behind them a four-fifths majority. The prospects of a pacific solution are certainly brighter. The czar appears to be well disposed.

The feature of the second session of the lower house of parliament today was a frantic demonstration in favor of an amnesty. When among a mass of congratulatory messages from all parts of the empire were read several from the political prisoners in jail, or in exile in Siberia, the members, except a little group on the extreme right, rose, cheering, in a body, the galleries joining in the applause. A motion was presented to send replies to the message but this was declared to be out of order.

LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE.

Get Ten Hour Day and Same Wages as Last Year.

Cleveland, May 12.—The last of the points in issue in the recent strike of longshoremen and others on the great lakes, were disposed of at a conference between president Keefe and others, respecting the labor element, and representatives of the dock managers late this afternoon. Articles were signed by which the wages of the men are to be made the same as last year and the ten hour day is to prevail. These were the only points of controversy before the conference. The question of recognition of the mates' union had been previously eliminated.

FROST KILLS STRAWBERRIES

Crop Will be a Failure in Ottawa Valley--Other Damage

Ottawa, May 12—The statement is made by horticulturists that the strawberry crop in the Ottawa valley will be a complete failure this season. The past winter has proved disastrous to the plants. Those at the experimental farm were ruined. W. T. Marcoun, the horticulturist at the experimental farm, declares that nearly all the herbaceous perennials have been destroyed which is an experience unprecedented in the history of the farm. The clover crop is a total failure. The destruction of the plants was caused by the lack of snow, the extreme changes of temperature and the warm periods during which the earth was thawed out for several inches in depth. These were followed by rains and severe frusts, which literally destroyed the fibre of the roots.

GRAND FORKS NOTES

Grand Forks, May 12—Government road supervisor Spraggett has a large force of men at work completing the seven mile stretch of unfinished wagon road to the McKinley mine, and will have the work fully completed by the middle of July.

No clue has been obtained of the identity of the highwayamn who attempted to hold up Mrs. Simard and Mrs. Galloupy last Thursday evening.

Mining men arriving here this morning from the upper north fork district corroborate the report that a rich strike has been made on the M.S. claim. It is reported that the property has been bonded by local parties.

LEFT IN CONFESSIONAL

Sherbrooke, May 12—The $1835 which disappeared from La Banque Nationale here on April 25, was recovered last night. The culprit left the money in the hands of the Rev. J. S. Roy, rector of St. Michael's cathedral, under the confessional secret, asking him to remit to B. A. Dugald, manager of the bank. Mr. Dugald received the money last night. The detectives are working on the case.

SAN DOMINGO TROUBLES

Washington, May 12—The navy department cabled rear admiral Dunlop, commanding the naval station at Culebra, to cooperate with the authorities of Porto Rico in preserving neutrality. Commander Southerland, in command of the squadron in Dominican waters was advised of the report. His instructions are said to be sufficient for action in preventing the landing of a illibustering panty in San Domingo.

NEWFOUNDLAND SHIPWRECK

St. Johns, Nfld., May 12—The schooner Mystery, captain Wright, from the Barbadoes with a cargo of molasses for St. Johns, went ashore at Cape Pine, near Cape Race yesterday, during a dense fog and became a total wreck. The crew escaped with great difficulty, saving nothing. Incoming vessels bring reports of unusually heavy fogs and many icebergs, rendering navigation across the grand banks hazardous.

THE POWER QUESTION.

The great importance of the conservation of the power resources of the country so that they may be utilized for the cheap operation of manufacturing industries and at the same time provide a reasonable source of revenue to the state warrants repeated references to the subject. The Daily News has again and again drawn attention to the power problem, with a view to creating a public opinion on the subject that in due course will influence the local government to follow along the lines adopted in Ontario so far as the conditions in this province will permit.

We have before pointed out the direction in which government control of water powers was tending and now a bill has been introduced in the Ontario legislature giving definite form to the ministerial policy. The bill was prepared and presented by Hon. Adam Beck, member for London, a private members, but with the approval of the government.

The leading principle of Mr. Beck's bill is the establishment of provincial control over the relations between three classes of persons or corporations: (1) companies generating power; (2) municipalities requiring power for lighting or other public purposes; (3) manufacturers or other private users. Instead of these parties making their own bargains, they will come before a provincial commission, one of whose members will be a member of the Ontario government. Thus the rates to be charged to municipalities and to manufacturers and to other private users will be fixed, not by bargaining, but by a hearing before the commission.

When a municipality desires to obtain power it will apply to the commission, which will furnish it with an estimate of cost. The council will then submit a bylaw to the people, authorizing it to enter into a contract with the commission. The Conmee Act is repealed so far as it might interfere with the working of the new law; the commission will settle the question of compensation to be paid to any existing light or power companies.

The intention is that the commission shall buy power from the generating companies, and not construct or acquire generating plants unless the companies refuse to make reasonable terms. Power is given to the commission to acquire generating plants and transmission lines, and to sell power to railways and distributing companies. As to the financing of the scheme, the commission will act as the banker for the municipalities, finding the necessary funds and taking measures for repayment.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A German town council has passed an ordinance prohibiting women to allow the trains of their dresses to drag in the streets. This novel piece of legislation prompts the Montreal Star to remark that such an enactment would never be tolerated in this free country. We can forbid smoking in certain places; we can attempt to cut off the supply of cigarettes; we can prohibit the scattering of papers on the streets. But to interfere with a lady's right to trundle a microbe-museum at the bottom of her walking skirt would be too much for the constitution. Only the efforts of men to defile the air and litter up the streets, can be attacked in this community where women are denied the ballot.

The appointment of James Dunsmuir to the lieutenant governorship in succession to sir Henri Joly will not arouse any popular enthusiasm. Presumably some difficulty has been experienced in finding a man to fill the position. It is not one that many men hanker after. There is very little honor or glory in being the figure-head of a provincial administration and there is certainly no money in the job. James Dunsmuir has plenty of money and doubtless the social standing the office will give him was the attraction that made him an applicant for the position. The appointment has no significance politically. James Dunsmuir is not a party man. His political leanings have always been influenced by consideration of his personal interests. He controls the leading conservative organ of the province and has invariably contributed to the campaign funds of both parties in the city of Victoria. In the late bye-election in Victoria, when Templeman sought re-election upon his appointment to the cabinet, Dunsmuir signed his nomination papers and at the same time allowed the Colonist to put up a bitter personal fight against the new minister. Some coast paper seem to think that Dunsmuir will make himself felt as lieutenant governor and that he will promptly request premier McBride to purge the cabinet of Hon. Robt. Green. Dunsmuir will do nothing of the sort. He is a quiet, easy going fellow, with no mind of his own regarding public affairs. He knows nothing of constitutional practice and would never be at the pains to lessen his ignorance. It has been known for years that "Jim" Dunsmuir had the ambition to be lieutenant governor, and few people will be found to grudge him the attainment of his goal.

THE BRICK QUESTION

Editor The Daily News—With reference to your editorial of yesterday in regard to the bricks used in the construction of the superstructure of the power house, permit me to state in reply that all things were not equal. Tenders were called for and no bids were received from residents or ratepayers of the city of Nelson. The corporation received two tenders, one from Messrs. Larson & Fors and the other from William Hancock. The lowest tender amounted to $8.50 per thousand, f.o.b. Castlegar. Mr. Hancocks tender amounted to $11.50 per thousand, f.o.b. Bogustown, a difference of $3 per thousand, and a total difference in the contract, considering the number of bricks to be used, of $500. The cost of transportation amounts to the same from Castlegar and Bogustown. Regarding the quality of the bricks of the two firms: There can be no question as to the superiority of the bricks manufactured by the successful tenderers. The bricks were manufactured especially for power house purposes to withstand the frost and exposure to which the building will be subjected during the winter, on account of the spray striking the structure and the ice forming thereon. With the successful tender is a guarantee that the bricks will withstand all weather conditions and that they are frost proof.

The matter of sending abroad for material and the question of supporting industries in the locality, I will now deal with. Outside of the vast difference between the two parties tendering and the guarantee, it is well known that Messrs. Larsen & Fors are supplying the whole of the Kootenay country with bricks. They purchase in Nelson and are looked upon as a benefit to the business men of this city. Each year they manufacture 4,000,000 bricks while the highest output from any other yard does not reach half a million—a vast difference. White men are employed. Alberta purchases bricks from Messrs. Larsen & Fors and in this city are a number of buildings constructed with bricks from the same firm. The Kootenay smelters, in Trail and Boundary, use the brick.

Would you, Mr. Editor, consider that the authorities were doing their duty if a contract was awarded to the highest bidder with such a difference between their tenders In an open manner tenders were called for. When the bids were opened a difference of $3 per thousand was found between two parties outside the city. With one tender was a guarantee, and the matter was fully taken up by the city council in open meeting, at which a representative of The Daily News was present. The city engineer reported at the meeting on the superiority of the bricks from the lowest tenderers.

In my opinion, Mr. Editor, you have been misinformed on this matter. It was our duty to deal fairly with tenderers and to conserve the interests of the city in a matter where such a large sum was involved. The successful tenderers are helping this city in every way, purchasing their supplies in Nelson. As chief executive of the city I make the corrections above stated and it is done to prove to the ratepayers that there has been nothing but fair play connected with the whole transaction.

Yours truly, W. G. GILLETT.
Nelson, May 12, 1906.

[The mayor shows unnecessary warmth. There was no suggestion of unfairness in the city's recent purchase of brick. Our point was that having a local brickyard, giving employment to local men, it was good business to see that it was properly patronized, providing, of course, that the local product was equal in quality to the outside article and that the cost to the city would not be excessive. In this particular case it may not have been possible to allow the local institution to share in the supply, but we still hold that whenever opportunity permits, special consideration should be shown to home industries. If Nelson's 20,000 goal is to be reached within the next few years, every effort must be put forth to encourage home industries.—Ed. The Daily News.]

SEMI-READY TAILORING

James A. Gilker, Agent for the Kootenay, Explains System

Since the first of March last James A. Gilker, one of Nelson's very oldest business men, accepted the agency for the Kootenays of the Montreal Semi-Ready, Limited, a large and well established clothing house which annually turns out an immense amount of semi-ready garments.

Mr. Gilker, formerly postmaster here, started in the business of men's furnishings, clothing, hats and caps and boots and shoes, in the well known premises on Baker street he still occupies, on Aug. 14, 1890, and has grown up with the Kootenays since the date mentioned. There are few men as well known in the Kootenays as this particular city merchant, who has more than once served his fellow citizens at the council board very acceptably.

Interviewed yesterday by a reporter of The Daily News on the subject of Semi-Ready clothes, Mr. Gilker said that since March, when he first acted for the Montreal house in question, the sales of the garments made by them had been steadily increasing. "I do not like to claim too much for the goods," said the ex-alderman, "but I can say that I have never handled better or finer made clothes. I think in every instance they have given my customers every satisfaction. I have had no complaints, and personally I am more than pleased at the results so far attained. Before accepting the agency I enquired fully into the company's methods of making clothes and of the class of goods handled by them, and I satisfied myself that everything was first class."

Referring to the system of the Semi-Ready, Limited, Mr. Gilker said: "The Semi-ready system of all sizes is based on the permanent measurement, height. Once the figure is formed, height never changes, though the waist and breast lines may vary considerably. For each height I have every variation of figure—short-stout, tall-slim, over-erect, cloping shoulders, etc., 106 variations in all. Semi-ready style is built on the firm foundation of hand tailoring and needle moulding that makes it permanent. The imitation is pressed into shape with a hot iron and vanishes with a little wear."

COMTE AND HIS SCHOOL

University Club Meeting—Committee on Provincial Endowment

The university club resolved last night at a well attended meeting that the advocacy of a genuine university foundation in British Columbia and entirely under the control of the government, should not be allowed to sleep. The club has already recorded its approval of the step taken to provide some years of university work with the assistance of McGill university, but such a course, it is felt, can be at best only temporary, and its chief value will be in creating a demand for universities within the province.

The subject came up on a motion by W. J. Baird, which was adopted after amendment. A committee, consisting of Dr. Arthur, Rev. J. T. Ferguson, Rev. F. H. Graham, A. L. McKillop, C. M. Fraser, W. J. Baird and R. J. Clark was appointed to formulate a definite plan for action and report at the next meeting.

The paper of the evening was read by W. J. Baird. It dealt with Positivism as taught by August Comte and his English followers, John Stuart Mill and Herbert Spencer. Mr. Baird suggested that in spite of many fallacies Comte had rendered great service by his advocacy of human society and social organizations as a profitable subject for the intellectual efforts of philosophers.

The paper, which covered a great deal of ground, was closely followed and greatly appreciated. The paper and the discussion which followed, in which Rev. J. T. Ferguson, A. L. McKillop and Rev. F. H. Graham, took part, dealt with practically all contemporary philosophy, as expressed in formal philosophy, in theology and in general literature.

ATTACKS THE PRESIDENT

SENATOR BAILEY GETS AFTER THEODORE ROOSEVELT

DECLARES HE IS EASILY SWERVED FROM HIS PURPOSE

Washington, May 12—Senator Bailey in concluding an attack on president Roosevelt for his alleged surrender on the railroad rate and tariff questions, said: "Let us have no more here nor throughout the country of this talk of an iron man. He is clay and very common clay at that."

Mr. Carter defended the president against the attacks on him, saying that "no one familiar with the president would charge him with cowardice, for his record for courage is certainly unexcelled."

Replying, senator Bailey repeated his charges of inconsistency on the part of the president, charging that he had failed to take a position on the railroad rate question before the election; that he had failed to revise the tariff and that he had receded from his decision to call an extra session of congress to take up the railroad question.

"I love a brave man and a fighter," he said, "and the president is both, on occasions." But he declared that he was without endurance and always allowed the leaders of his party to swerve him from his purpose.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New York, May 12.—In the old-fashioned story book the hero usually discovered his Priqess Beautiful in some sylvan spot dressed in a "simple muslin frock." Now to the masculine mind "simple" and "inexpensive" are synonomous terms; but alas, for masculine ignorance, in reality the truly "simple muslin frock" is a costly affair; and the simpler it is the more expensive it is likely to be; therefore the young man who has not a gold lining to his pocket should beware of the maiden who indulges in such apparel. Muslins and their like are to be much in evidence during the coming season.

To the youthful, or still youthful appearing woman in spite of years, comes the "baby princess' style, a term the modistes use to distinguish the fancy-top corsetlet skirt from the old-fashioned "princess dress"; and the usual accompaniment to which is a guimp-like waist of embroidered mull or net, over chiffon, which may be cut one of the many neck fashions as is becoming to the wear and according to the duty the dress must serve.

A beatuiful muslin gown designed for a June bridesmaid was of silk muslin laid over a slip of white and yellow checked silk. The princess skirt was fitted to the figure by tiny tucks, and fell sheath-like about the hips to a little above the knees, from which point it made a decided flare. A deep flounce 12 inches in depth of lace was joined to the skirt by a band of lace insertion. From the top of the corsetlet fell a bertha of lace above which the bodice was filled in with lace laid over chiffon cut in V shape out of which arose a jewelled collar. The sleeves were modified puffs ending in a band of insertion and a fall of lace.

Embroidered lawn that cost its owner a good round sum, not to speak of the furnishings, was made up over a body lining of pale green silk, constructed with nine gores, drawn closely to the figure in girdle effect by fine tucks and shirrings caught to the lining or to a stay, cut the required depth and snug enough to hold the garment in place. The neck was cut square—the gown being intended for evening wear—and outlined with a band of insertion to which the fullness of the body of the gown is gathered. The shirt fell in soft folds and ends in a deep full straight edged flounce in sweep length. The short full sleeves were tucked above the elbow finished with a deep cuff of Valenciennes lace. This style is equally suitable for such other fabrics as Dresden taffeta, pineapple gauze, viole and many of the thin materials.

A pretty French batiste made up over a lavander slip in a style suitable for a tall slender figure, was intended for a graduation party. The skirt was modelled by a nine-gored pattern in which the fullness about the hips was disposed of by means of tiny tucks extending to yoke depth. The lower part of the skirt was distinguished by groups of tucks, five in the bottom group, four and three in the upper groups. The bodice was a "square cut" laid in with lace and outlined with a fanciful overlapping collar. Three tucks ran around the bust line. The sleeves had tucks above the tucked cuffs, band with lace. A white silk girdle gave the finishing touch to the dainty gown.

A blue batiste having a foulard pattern was built from a model consisting of a skirt, over-blouse and guimpe waist. The lace guimpe and standing collar was cut with shoulder and under arm seams, and the front and back were without fullness fitting closely to the figure. The over-blouse reaches to the yoke or guimpe and is cut with deep scalloped edges and gathered in at the waist line, extra shoulder straps gives a chic air to the waist; and the puff sleeves are shirred to the shoulders and end in a lace band cuff at the elbow. The skirt is an eight gore model with four plaits outlining the centre front seam, and around the bottom the skirt should measure five and a half yards.

But the muslin dress is not the whole of the "simple" costumes to be worn. The linen dress must have its place and an important place it is to be this summer. Never were so many white linen dresses seen, and never so many elaborate ones. The shirt-waist suit, the two-piece or jacket suit, and the ever popular Eton or bolero suits are all extremely fashionable made up in white linen.

A natty "two-piece" costume in embroidered dotten linen had its skirt made with eleven gores having over-seam tucks stitched to flounce depth and turning from the front, while the fullness of the skirt was added to by extensions under the seams, and the back closed under an inverted box-plait. The jacket, of the "pony" order, it open neck finished with a fancy collar, had its rovers thrown open to reveal a beautiful embroidered vest, showing a bit of gold. The side fronts and side backs were tucked to the shoulders and the full coat sleeves are in three-quarter length having reversed cuffs. This same model would be appropriate in the wool checks, so fashionable just now, in mohairs, henriettas, or even cheviot.

A charmingly dainty costume was made of the handkerchief linen in which the skirt was decorated around the foot with ten tucks, then a space, then three tucks, another space, and two tucks; gores shaped the skirt at the hips, and down each side of the front gore was a panel of lace. Adeep shirred yoke gives the gown the princess effect, while a broad fichu edged with two narrow ruffles is becomingly draped to the figure. The elbow sleeve is made with a body lining upon which is a shoulder puff from which fall a number of frills to match those upon the fichu. Inside the fichu is worn a tucked tucker and standing collar.

An attractive dress of white crash, which material greatly commends itself to woman because of its washable qualities, was produced is extremely simple lines in a plainted skirt having a narrow well fittel yoke while the waist was laid in narrow plaits and was finished with revers of heavy white lace, narrow bands of velvet, gilt buttons, a chemisette of lace and deep cuffs of the same.

OF INTEREST TO MINERS

SPECIAL WEEKLY ARTICLE ON MORE PROMINENT METALS.

THE YELLOW METAL IS DEALT WITH INTERESTINGLY.

Our article on the more prominent metals this week is on gold. It is a difficult subject to treat upon in a way to make it the least entertaining to the ordinary mining man. The writer of this particular article in talking the matter over with a well known prospector this last few days, was asked what is the use of writing upon that subject (gold)? "Why gold is found everywhere and anywhere, you can't tell us where to find it!" It is certainly a short way of putting it but none the less correct, as nearly all the country rock in this district carries gold in small quantities. Besides that gold has recently been found in one of the neighboring camps to Nelson, which has always been considered a rather low-grade silver camp, and yet within the last few days, ore has been found there assaying over $400 per ton in gold.

In writing the following article the writer has been led more by giving information about gold, and the ores bearing it, than with the intention to instruct prospectors and others where to find it.

Regarding our correspondence column we are pleased to see that senders of samples are following the instructions that we have so often printed. If all will do this we shall be only to pleased to answer all queries and give our opinion upon all samples submitted.

GOLD

It would hardly seem necessary to give a description of gold to our readers as gold is so common (and yet so rare) in British Columbia yet in conformity with this series of articles we think it better to do so.

NATIVE GOLD has a color and streak of orange-yellow often inclining to a silver-white, seldom to an orange-red. It has a metallic luster and is opaque. It is very malleable and ductile. Its hardness varies from 2.5 to 3, and its gravity from 15.6 to 19.3, the latter being the gravity when pure. In this latter state it is never found native, as it nearly always contains silver, copper, or iron. Like silver it is also found native in combination with mercury, samples having been obtained containing 60 to 71 per cent of mercury. Ordinary metallic gold as found in nature, contains from a trace up to 16 per cent of silver. The purest gold that has been found, so far, being obtained from Queensland, where it was found in Mount Morgan district. This gold yields 99.7 per cent of gold (of $19.94 with gold at $20.00 per ounce), the remainder being copper with only a minute trace of silver present. Some very fine gold is found in the Kootenays, the highest known being 95 per cent of gold.

Argentiferous-gold, or electrium, is found in many parts of the world; this is a compound of gold and silver in the ratio of 1 to 1. Owing to the difference in the weight between the two metals, it will only contain about 36 per cent silver, and 64 per cent gold.

Bismuth-gold with a color of a pinkish silver white, is also frequently found. It contains about 65 per cent gold. The chief place where it is found is at Maldon in Victoria.

Gold is soluable in no single acid, though it readily dissolves in a combination of nitric and hydrochloric acids. Free chlorine also dissolves it, this being the foundation of the chlorination process. It is also soluable in weak solutions of the alkaline cyanides, to which is due the cyanide process for the extraction of gold. Pure gold when precipitated from its salts, or upon being parted from silver has a dark purple brown color but when heat is applied it quickly assumes its well known color.

The gold of the world has been mostly gathered not directly from quartz veins but from the gravel and sands of the rivers and valleys in auriferous regions, or from what are commonly called "placer diggings." The alluvial gold obtained from these "diggings" is usually in flattened scales of varying degrees of fineness depending partly upon the original condition of the quartz veins and partly upon the distance which it has been transported. The larger and coarser grains being usually found near the source from which they came, whilst the finer or float gold is often carried by a swift running stream many miles. In many instances these auriferous gravel beds are of vast extent, and vary considerably in thickness, some of them running from 80 to 250 feet in depth. Nuggets weighing 190 pounds was found in Australia, whilst within the last few years several very large nuggets have been found in the Klondyke and Yukon districts.

The minerals which gold is chiefly associated with are: Iron pyrites which far exceeds all others in quantity and which is nearly always auriferous, (marcasite or cubical arsenical pyrites being an exception as it rarely carries gold values); arsenical pyrites which is the principal mineral in some of British Columbia's richest gold mines; copper pyrites which apparently carries the gold values in the Rossland district; zinc blende which in the Ymir and Lardo district carries rich values in gold; pyrrhotite or magnetic iron pyrites, which when associated with arsenic or copper pyrites carries rich values in gold, but when these two are absent only carries very small values; galena, which in the Boundary and certain parts of the Salmo districts carries very high values in gold. Apart from these the oxides and carbonates of iron, copper, lead and zinc all carry good values. This is due to the oxidization of the minerals previously mentioned, where the vein outcrops upon the surface, or where there is a great quantity of water in the vein. Frequently the outcrop is oxidized, but upon sinking down a few feet the ore will turn into a sulphide of the ore indicated on the surface.

The output of gold during 1904 in British Columbia was $5,704,908, in 1905, output was over $6,500,000. There are very few minerals that can be strictly called gold minerals. The three we give below are the most important.

SYLVANITE, or graphic tellurium, has a brilliant metallic luster. It is very brittle and has an uneven fracture. Its color and streak are either a steel gray or a silvery white. It is the most abundant compound of gold and tellurium carrying about 25 per cent of gold, 12 per cent silver, the balance being tellurium. Its resemblance, in crystalline form, to the written Hebrew characters gives it its name of graphic tellerium.

NAGYAGITE, or foliated tellerium, is a compound of gold, lead, tellerium and sulphur, carrying about 9 per cent gold. It has a blackish lead gray color and streak, and as its name would imply a foliated structure with a metallic luster. It is frequently called black tellerium.

PETZITE. This mineral is a telluride of gold and silver, carrying about 25 per cent of gold, 42 per cent silver, and 32 per cent tellurium.

It is usually found in a massive form either compact or in fine granulations. It has a metallic luster and is brittle. In color it varies from a steel gray to an iron black. Native gold is frequently interspersed between the granulations. This ore is frequently found in Colorado, in Republic, Wash., as well as several placed in British Columbia, the Gold Cup mine at Ymir being one instance.

CORRESPONDENCE

A. N., Waneta, B.C.—The rock you send us this time is very similar to that submitted in April. Your No. 1 sample as stated in our last reply (April 29) will probably carry a little gold and silver. The fee for this assay will be $1.50; for gold only it is $1.00. Your No. 2 sample will possibly carry as much in values if not more, as the quartz is more solid and of better appearance for carrying values. We will hold both samples one week awaiting a reply from you, as to which we should have assayed. You must enclose fee for one or both samples.

F., Grand Forks, B. C.—We will take your word for the fact that the veins of quartz on your ground look "very pretty." No doubt they do, but in our opinion, the quartz, which owes its color to iron stains, will carry very little or no values. Possibly by exploring the small stringers of quartz which you have you may run into more solid formation and from the description you give and our knowledge of the country you may possibly obtain a good showing of copper-gold ore.

Z., Ymir, B. C.—Writes asking if we can tell him what marcasita argentea is. The letter arrived late in the week and we should like a few days to look the matter up. In the meantime if any of our foreign readers know what the mineral is we shall be pleased to hear from them.

A. McD., Kaslo, B. C.—Your No. 1 sample is pyrites and blende in quarts. Nos. 2 and 3 are very similar, with a little galena intermixed. If we advised at all we should advise assaying for gold and silver; the fee for which will be $1.50 in each instance.

N. McD., Nelson—We cannot reply to your questions as you do not conform with conditions published.

IT IS DANGEROUS TO NEGLECT A COLD.

How often do you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

INCREASED TOURIST TRAFFIC

New York, May 12—The transatlantic steamship lines, according to the Journal of Commerce, are preparing for an active tourist gazette this season and the prospects are considered particularly favorable for greatly exceeding the movement of last year. A very decided increase in this direction was a month ago considered assured but the disaster in San Francisco it was stated at a number of offices, had had a perceptible effect on the passages engaged a long time in advance.

NOT IF AS RICH AS ROCKEFELLER

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, for both children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by all druggists and dealers.

DEFENDS VIVISECTION

Dedication of Rockefeller's Laboratories of Medical Research

New York, May 12—President Elliott of Harvard university and president Butler of Columbia university delivered addresses yesterday at the dedication of the laboratories of the Rockefeller institute for medical research.

"In spite of the fact that medical research involves the suffering and death of many lower animals used for purposes of study," said president Elliott in the course of his address, "that work of medical research is really the most humane work now done in the world, for its secondary objects are to prevent diseases in men and animals. The primary object in medical research, as indeed all research, is the ascertaining of truth. No people are more in need than our own of learning the all important lesson that the modern Germans and the modern Japanese have to teach. Respect for the man who knows and loyally demonstrates truth are the characteristics of civilization that is founded on rock. Our American happy go lucky wasteful way of approaching a serious problem, our native egotism and our exaltation of the man who does things, no matter how, must sooner or later give way to more patient study, to more respect for the experiences and wisdom of other countries than our own and to more regard for fairness and sound principle than for a supersicial and costly efficiency, if we are to hold the place in the world's esteem for which we are rightfully ambitious."

CONTEST GROWS KEENER

MISS CAMERON IS GAINING AND A CLOSE FINISH PROBABLE

GENERAL NOTES OF 20,000 CLUB—LIST OF NEW MEMBERS

Interest in the 20,000 club popularity contest shows signs of reviving. Miss Cameron gained considerably on Miss McCandlish during the fortnight elapsed since the last count. At the close of the official count by mayor Gillett yesterday afternoon the standing was: Miss McCandlish, 2009; Miss Cameron, 1790.

Good progress is being made with the ordinary routine work of the executive of the club. Letters are received daily from many quarters and are answered with copies of the several folders now at the disposal of the secretary.

The 20,000 club has on hand a supply of the booklets "Glorious Kootenay" got out by the Tourist associatin, giving an excellent description in brief of Kootenay and Nelson. It has also a few hundred picture post cards depicting choice bits of scenery in and near Nelson. These are dainty souvenirs to send to friends and the secretary invites members of the club and any others who wish a supply to call on him, or if they will leave their names with him he will mail them.

The following are the names of the latest additions to the club:

SCIATICA CURED AFTER TWENTY YEARS OF TORTURE.

For more than twenty years M. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton street, Minneapolis, Minnesota, was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment delieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25 cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

FOUGHT TO A DRAW

Los Angeles, May 12—Kid Herman of Chicago and Abe Attell of San Francisco fought twenty rounds to a draw last night before the Pacific athletic club. The fight was fast at times, Attell using all his cleverness and speed to avoid the sturdy rushing of Herman. The cleverness of Attell was marvellous and saved him from defeat. Herman forced the fighting from the start but not until the last four or five rounds was he able to land on Attell effectively.

ADVANCE LUMBER PRICE

MOUNTAIN LUMBERMEN MAKE DOLLAR INCREASE

SITUATION FULLY JUSTIFIES A STILL HIGHER FIGURE

G. P. Wells, secretary of the Mountain Lumbermen's association, has returned from attending the monthly meeting of the members of the association, usually held in this city, but for good and sufficient reasons, this time held at Calgary.

"The Alberta press," said Mr. Wells yesterday, "notably the Calgary Herald, has been 'saying things' about the rise in the price of lumber, so instead of meeting in Nelson as we usually do, we went to Calgary and had a heart to heart talk with the people and the papers there.

"As we announced some week ago would be the case, there has been a general advance in the price of lumber, fixed by the association. The advance we announced at the Calgary meeting is one of about $1 a thousand all round. I told the Herald people that it was not a fair comparison to revert to the figures for lumber which we were getting a year ago, because at that time the B. C. millmen in the interior were not making an even break, but were losing money. Now, the demand is so great, many of our lumber firms being compelled to refuse orders, it would have been only natural that we should try and make up for the bad past season by taking the fullest advantage of the present situation, exacting every cent we could. But we have done nothing of the kind. We go through to Manitoba and successfully compete there, and we have taken the cost at the mills here and after allowing for freight rates, have graded our prices only allowing a fair profit. The general advance in the price has been gone into very carefully and with a full knowledge all the conditions in Alberta and further east. The demand for lumber is all out of proportion to the visible supply and we would have been fully justified in making the advance far greater than we have.

"Another matter that I think we made clear at Calgary was the great rise since last year that has taken place in labor and in many supplies. In some cases the rise has been a hundred per cent and in others fifty per cent, the general cost of production to the millmen has been greatly increased so that we have, I think, acted very reasonably in making only the advance now scheduled. It can not be truthfully said that we are 'holding up' the new settler, on the contrary we are giving him every consideration under the circumstances.

"Another matter we had before us was adopting a uniform system of grading lumber. A set of standard rules was framed and an inspector will be named to see that these rules are maintained.

"I think," said Mr. Wells in conclusion, "that our meeting in Calgary has done good and has made it clear that we are acting in a reasonable way and not trying to take the full advantage of the lumber situation at the present time."

INVESTING IN 'FRISCO

San Francisco, May 12—Within the past few days it is said new accounts have been opened at several of the commercial banks of San Francisco by men from the east who have deposited sums ranging from $10,000 upwards. Some of these men are known by reputation to banking men to be possessed of large wealth. Others are supposed to represent wealthy clients in eastern money circles. The evident purpose of these men, the bankers say, is to make investment of their funds in San Francisco.

MANAGER'S STATEMENT

TROUBLE OVER GRUB AT THE ST. EUGENE MINE.

JAMES CRONIN AND SECRETARY OF UNION TALK.

(Special to The Daily News)

Moyie, May 12.—The correspondent of The Daily News called on manager Jas. Cronin of the St. Eugene mine, today and asked for details of the recent trouble with the men which occurred early in the week.

Only some 50 out of a total of 300 men engaged at the St. Eugene were affected by the trouble at the boarding house referred to in The Daily News two days ago.

The following is Mr. Cronin's version of the affair in his own words:

"I reached Moyie Sunday afternoon, having come from Rossland, and was immediately informed that there was trouble on the hill concerning the boarding house. I was told that the foreman and shift boss up there had been going around for several days, trying to influence the men to make a kick against the boarding house with the object of getting William O'Rourke, the manager, off the hill. I was told also that the two men mentioned appeared to be actuated by feelings of malice towards O'Rourke, and that the foreman, in speaking to the men, had used the following words: 'If you all back me up we'll get O'Rourke off the hill in a few days.' I also learned that the board was as good as it ever was, except for a few days when some of the cooks without giving any reason left on short notice. Later I got a version of the trouble from mine superintendent Geo. Clothier, and, not being fully satisfied with the infromation I had received, I went into the town to see some of the miners from the hill. I met two of them separately, and got the same version of the trouble from both. They said the board was all right, and that the trouble had been caused by the foreman and shift boss, who had stirred up quite a strong feeling against O'Rourke.

"I decided to make a change in the management of the boarding house, however, and on Monday morning went to see an experienced boarding house manager, with the object of securing her services. She was not well, and was unable to see me, so I went to the top of the hill. On reaching there the first thing I learned was that the cook, an old and experienced hand, who had worked there before, had left suddenly that morning. He told Mr. O'Rourke that he found it impossible to remain, as influences had been brought to bear which he could not resist. There would have been no cause for complaint if he had remained.

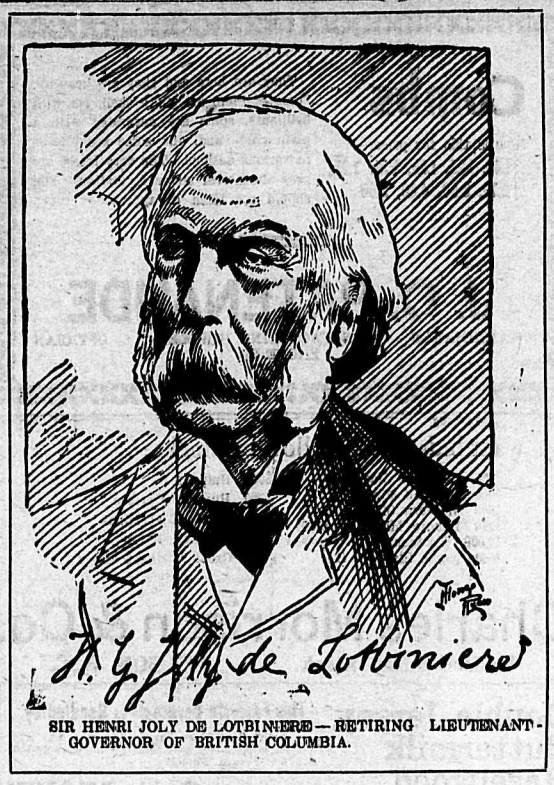
"In the afternoon a delegation of men came to call on me, and told me the board was bad. I asked the spokesman in what way it was bad, and how long it had been bad. He said it had been bad for four days. I asked him if it was possible to have things right if cooks left on short notice, three of them having left within a week. He replied that nobody up there caused the cooks to leave. I then asked him why the cook had left that morning, and he said he did not know why the cook left. I then said I would remain in Moyie and investigate the matter fully, and that I would myself visit the boarding house on the hill once every day for a week during one of the meal hours for the purpose of seeing that proper board was provided. I said I would see that everything was provided that could be provided for the amount they were paying, allowing a proper compensation for the labor involved in securing and preparing the food. I said I wanted to have a week to consider the matter and that, at the end of that time I would let them know my future course in the matter. This promise did not satisfy them and they decided on quitting work, their reason (probably being that they thought O'Rourke would still be retained on the hill. As I had been unable in the morning to see the person I thought of securing as manager, I could say nothing further at this time.

"Later in the day I saw the person referred to, and secured her services. She could not, however, owing to private business, take charge before the 15th, but would have gone up the hill at once, if in a position to go. I told the men I could do nothing for them till the 15th but they would not remain because immediate action was not taken.

"The stoppage of work in that part of the St. Eugene mine will affect the output very little, as more than half the work being done was development work. Only 50 men were employed there, and more than three fourths of the entire property is in full operation now, and running smoothly."

Your correspondent having mentioned the fact that a report, which had never reached the press, had been circulated by somebody to the effect that the whole mine, in the near future, would close down, Mr. Cronin said there was not an atom of foundation for making such a statement. He said the mine had never during its whole history been more prosperous than at the present time, and that the person or persons who had circulated such a report must have been actuated by a malicious desire to prevent men, of whom there is now a shortage, coming to Moyie to secure work.

Your correspondent on leaving Mr. Cronin, called on Thomas Kelly, the secretary of the miners' union, and asked him if that body had taken any action in the matter. Mr. Kelly replied that the union had taken no action whatever, officially, but that a few of the members had come together in the hall of their own accord, and talked the matter over in an informal manner. Such members had received no notice of a meeting, and their informal gathering did not constitute a meeting, according to the regulations of the order, and would not be mentioned in the minutes. He said the majority of those present at the gathering did not consider the matter of sufficient importance to require the holding of a special meeting, and that none would be held. He gave it as his opinion that, when the boarding house on the hill would open under the new management on the 15th, the trouble would come entirely to an end. About half the men who quit work are here yet.



SIR HENRI JOLY DE LOTBINIERE—RETIRING LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

HON. J. P. WHITNEY, PREMIER OF ONTARIO.

WORDS OF COMFORTER

CHRIST TELLS DISCIPLES NATURE OF HOLY GHOST

SERVICES ANNOUNCED FOR TODAY IN NELSON CHURCHES

The gospel for the fourth Sunday after Easter, and second to last before Ascension day, contains Christ's fullest exposition to His disciples of the nature and functions of the Holy Ghost, whose coming he had already foretold. He reproved them gently for their sorrow at his approaching departure and consoled them with the promise of the Comforter.

The function of the Holy Ghost towards the church and the world as distinguished from His relation to individuals is contained in the sentence "He will reprove the world of sin, of righteousness and of judgment." Later He is referred to as the spirit of truth.

Saturday, May 19th, is the anniversary of the death of Dunstan, archbishop of Canterbury through the reigns of five Saxon kings, and the first of a long line of great English churchmen who were also statesmen, including Laufranc, Anselm, a Becket, Langton, Wolsey, Cranmer and ending with Laud.

The services announced for today in the churches of Nelson are as follows:

LOCAL MINING MARKET

QUOTATIONS AFFECTED BY BREAK ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

SLUMP IN RAMBLER-CARIBOO DUE TO DELAY IN LONG TUNNEL

The market for the week just ended has been very irregular and rather sensational. The decline in some of the well known copper stocks, both listed and unlisted, has been wholly due to sympathy with the bad break in the railroad and industrial stocks on the New York market. Copper continues very strong and an advance in prices seems to be expected.

On the local market the demand for international has caused an advance of several points in the price of these shares. As there has been no special news from the mine and prices were forced up by the brisk demand, some brokers look for a break of a few points during the next few days.

Rambler-Cariboo dropped fifteen points during the week, the break being caused by shareholders throwing large blocks upon the market. There seems to be a feeling of uncertainty as to what the final result of the long tunnel will be. The most of the trading for the past week was in Centre Star, Eureka Copper, Western Oil, Rambler, International, Rocky Mountain, Lardeau Mines and some of the Marconi stocks.

The following prices which were corrected by Sharp & Irvine are approximate quotations for the week:

	Bid	Asked
Apex, Washington	$ .31	$ .32
Alaska Oil & Mines	.1½	.2
Alhambra	.15	.16
American Marconi	43.00	46.00

It's a great idea—when a merchant asks fifteen dollars for a suit—the buyer offers twelve and the merchant "takes him up."

If that merchant could afford to sell the garment for less than he asked why did he not name the lowest price at once?

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Born, at the Home hospital, on Saturday, May 12, to the wife of M. Mawdsley, a daughter.

At the Baptist church this evening Mrs. Shanks and the choir will render the anthem "Why Weepest Thou."

On any reasonable quest—at any reasonable task—a want add will usually make good. Try one and see for yourself.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the city council will be held in the council chamber tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

L. O. Riondel of Paris, a director of the Canadian Metal company, arrived in the city last night and is at the Strathcona.

C. H. Flood, chief of police of Phoenix, arrived last night with two vagrants, who will serve short terms in the provincial gaol.

The members of the Nelson cricket club held a good practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for the match with Rossland next week.

If you know what articles ought to cost, you will make few bad bargains—and to know you must "keep up" with the advertisements.

The interruption of telegraphic service on Sharp & Irvine's private wire yesterday prevented the receipt of reports from the New York and Chicago markets.

Gus. Erickson's bear killed a fox terrier belonging to Mrs. Maliette yesterday morning. The incident caused some excitement. The terrier was rescued, but died shortly after.

"You will learn to limp if you live always with lame people," and you will become a back number if you are ambitious to compete in your business with only those who do not advertise.

Clear judgment, a little money, and a careful study of the advertisements, including the useful little want ads.—and your friends will soon be saying of you "He always was a lucky fellow."

Member of the choral society are reminded of the meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the K. of P. hall. A full attendance is specially requested a the date for the production of the May Queen cantata will be decided.

Sam Green left yesterday in charge of sheriff Elliott by the Great Northern train for Cheyenne, the capital of Roger Mills county, where he will in due time be tried for the murder of sheriff Bullard and deputy sheriff Cogburn in 1902. The prisoner was securely manacled and every precaution will be taken as it is fairly certain that he will make a dash for liberty if any opportunity is offered.

Instead of the regular service in the Methodist church tonight there will be a song service at which the following program will be rendered; Anthem, "What are These That are Arrayed," by Stainer; trio, "I Will Lay Me Down," Mrs. Christmas, Messrs. Gorie and Benedict; anthem, "Sweet is Thy Mercy," obligato solo by Mrs. Christmas; male quartette, Messrs. Sullivan, Gorie, Emory and Benedict; anthem, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The body of the late Thomas McGuigan was brought down from Sandon by way of Kaslo yesterday and sent on to Spokane for burial. L. Pratt and W. McClurg accompanied it as far as Nelson, returning to Sandon last night.

The members of the degree team of Queen City Rebekah lodge No. 16, who are going to Cranbrook to assist in the institution of a lodge there, are requested to assemble in Fraternity hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock sharp for practice.

Tickets are out for the dance under the auspices of the degree team of Queen City Rebekah lodge. They can be secured from C. Longhurst, E. Suteliffe or any member of the team. The Rebekahs are making elaborate preparations for the dance and assure all who attend an enjoyable evening.

His honor judge Forin has returned from holding court at Revelstoke. Mrs. Forin left yesterday for a visit to Winnipeg, where she will stay a few weeks. Whilst in Winnipeg Mrs. Forin will act as a delegate from Kootenay at the Presbyterian mission conference to commence there shortly.

Alexander Sharp, mining engineer for P. Burns and company, arrived in the city last evening after an extended trip north where he visited the mining properties, including the Conrad mine, in the Windy Arm section. Mr. Sharp thinks the section has an assured future from a mining standpoint.

F. W. Shepperd, managing editor of the Fire and Water Engineering, a New York publication, which is widely read in every fire hall in the United States, has written chief Deasy heartily congratulating him upon his appointment as chief of the Nelson fire brigade and asking him for his latest photograph for publication. Mr. Shepperd and chief Deasy are old friends.

Playing members of the Nelson association football club are required to attend for practice on the recreation grounds this afternoon at 3 o'clock. If the club is to make a creditable showing against the players from Pincher Creek on Empire day regular practice is absolutely necessary as only a week and a half remains before that date.

Arrangements are being made for a summer meeting to be held in Nelson for the Baptist churches of the Kootenay district. The meetings will be held some time in the latter end of July and August, and will bring together the representatives of the Baptist churches for mutual benefit and inspiration. Pastor Shanks of Nelson has associated with him the other pastors of the Kootenay churches in the preparation of these gatherings, and also the endorsement and assistance of the B. C. convention.
