APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

Text of Manifesto Issued by Members of Dissolved Russian Duma

Declares Government Now no Right to Collect Taxes, Summon Men to Military Service or Contract Loans

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The great news of the day is the adoption of an address to the people by the deputies to parliament, who assembled at Viborg. The language of which, with its revolutionary demands that the people cease to furnish money and troops to the government and repudiate further loans, affords pretext enough for the government to lodge its authors in the fortress if it feels sctrong enough. A rumor was spread tonight that this course had been decided upon.

A large crowd gathered at the Finland station tonight where the deputies are expected to arrive, but only a few appeared, and these were not molested, neither was there a popular demonstration.

Among the arrivals were president Mouromtseff, and Ivan Petrunkevitch. The former came on a local train entirely unattended and he was plainly downcast, and responded to the salutation of the A. P. correspondent by the mere raising of his hat, and hurried on to escape an interview. M. Petrunkevitch, filled with the revolutionary spirit, claimed for the constitutional democrats the credit for the text of the appeal. Copies of the appeal to the people are in the hands of all the St. Petersburg papers but it will scarcely be printed tomorrow, for the reason that a detachment of police is posted at the door of every newspaper office in the city with orders not to permit any papers to leave the building till authorized by the censor.

A few days may witness the constitutional of a provision government composed of an enlarged council of ministers with the inclusion of conservative men of the dispersed lower house of parliament, councillors of the empire and men influential in the life of the empire, who can be induced to accept ministries without portfolios, and contribute their authority and advice to the hard pressed government.

Minor disorders are reported from half a dozen cities.

An incipient anti-Jewish outbreak at Odessa has been checked by the police.

A sympathetic strike has begun at the Khartive railroad shops which may involve a general tie up of communications.

Odessa, July 23.—Four hundred political arrests have been made here within 24 hours. The streets are not patrolled, the Cossacks are confined to their barracks, and martial law is being vigorously enforced.

At midnight the inhabitants are moving through the centre of the town, where the hotels were overcrowded. Cossacks have declared that they will slaughter all the Jews in Porkhorovskaya street where a comrade was killed.

Viborg, Finland, July 23.—The curtain dropped this afternoon on the final act of the drama of Russia's first parliament, when under the spur of the threat of governor Rechanberg to use military force to end the session, and with troops already converging on the hotel Belvedier, where the meeting was held, the assembled members of the lower house, 136 in number, hurriedly adopted and signed an address to the people, which is thoroughly revolutionary in its nature, elected a perpetual executive committee headed by Paul Dolgoroukoff, vice-president of the house, to carry on the work of liberation, and adjourned amidst characteristic Russian embracing and kissing.

A few members, including president Mouramtseff, Ivan Petrunkevich and Mouramtseff, Ivan Petrunkevich and count Heyden, returned to St. Petersburg by evening trains. The constitutional democratic cohorts intend to go into St. Petersburg in a body in the morning, but many of the radical members, fearing arrest on their arrival at the capital, will remain for the present in Finland or return by roundabout routes.

The address, which bears a remarkable similarity to the manifesto framed by the council of workmen last November which landed its authors and the editors of eight St. Petersburg newspapers in cells of the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, strikes the government in a most vulnerable point by declaring that the administration, and not parliament is responsible for the delay in the settlement of the agrarian question and by proclaiming a cessation of payment of taxes and of military service, and the repudiation of future loans.

The address follows:

"To the people.—From their popular representatives. Citizens of all Russia:

Parliament has been dissolved by ukase on July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom. In execution of your instruction, and our duty, we drew up laws in order to insure freedom to the people.

"We demanded the removal of irresponsible ministers who were infringing the laws with impunty, and oppressing freedom. First of all, however, we wanted to bring out a law respecting the distribution of land to working peasants, and involving the assignment to this end, of crown appanages, monastries belonging to the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates.

"The government held such a law to be inadmissable and upon parliament once more urgently putting forward its resolution regarding compulsory expropriation, parliament was dissolved.

"The government promises to convoke a new parliament seven months hence. Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months, at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin, and industry and commerce are undermined, when the whole country is seething with unrest, and when the ministry has definitely shown its incapacity to do justice to popular needs.

"For seven months, the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement in order to obtain a pliable, subservient parliament. Should it succeed in completely suppressing the popular movement the government will convoke no parliament at all.

"Citizens, stand up for your trampled-on rights, for popular representation, and for imperial parliament. Russia must not remain a day without popular representation. You possess the means of acquiring it. The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people, nor to summon the people to military service. Therefore, you are now the government.

"The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money, nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to procure funds such loans will be invalid without the consent of the popular representatives.

"Citizens, in this obligatory and unavoidable struggle your representatives will be with you."

Paris, July 23.—The Russian situation absorbs the attention of officials, the public and the press of Paris, and the effect is particularly apparent on the bourse, where the slump in Russian securities today almost caused a panic.

The financial effect of the imperial manifesto is causing apprehension, as one of the chief inducements to the taking up of the last Russian loan was the government's assurance of the disquieting of internal disorders by co-operation with parliament. Members of the bourse, however, urge calmness, declaring that if the situation remains another week without an outbreak, Russian securities will be stronger than before, as the agitation incident to the debates in parliament will have been removed, and the government will then have demonstrated its ability to maintain order.

WILL ASSIST REGATTA

COUNCIL PROMISES DELEGATION TO PUT UP $250 TOWARD EXPENSES

ADOPT RECOMMENDATION TO ISSUE DEBENTURES FOR $50,000

After a brief discussion of the request of the boat club for a grant of $250 toward the expenses of the regatta the council last night decided to put up the amount asked.

N. S. Fraser of the boat club, headed the deputation of oarsmen. He gave a rough outline of the finances of the club and placed the total cost of the regatta at about $1075. The sum of $485 had been raised by general subscription and the remainder would have to be secured by mortgaging the subscriptions for the coming year. If the council could assist to the extent of $250 the club could get along better.

E. C. Wragge, in support of the request, said that the boat club was making an especial effort this year to make the regatta a success, because if they did not it was extremely probable that Nelson would never have another event of the sort.

A movement was on foot to establish a permanent course on lake Washington at Seattle and to hold the annual meet there. The boat club was in hopes that if this proved to be a successful regatta an arrangement could be made whereby every fourth year the event might still be held in Nelson. There had been a collection levied for the Dominion day celebration and the understanding was that the balance was to go to the regatta fund. There was no sight, however, of a balance. Nelson had a course second to none in the west and the affair was a splendid advertisement for the city.

"The best ad- we have," said Ald. Hume.

Ald. Irving objected to the amount.

"We must have the regatta at any cost," declared Ald. Selous. Dr. Rose agreed that a special effort should be made and upon motion of Ald. Selous, the sum of $250 was voted.

In the report of the finance committee, which was adopted, appeared the recommendation for the issuance of debentures to the extent of $50,000 towards the cost of completing the city power plant. With regard to the recommendation, the mayor stated that so far $146,000 had been paid out. The remaining accounts that were to be paid amounted to $46,500 and further liabilities were probable. The total amount received from the debentures was $140,000. About $50,000 was still necessary. This would have to be increased in case the privy council decided the pending case against the municipality and would be reduced in the event of the city winning.

Ald. Selous gave notice of a bylaw to authorize the debentures. The bylaw will come up at the next meeting.

The matter of sidewalks received an informal discussion.

"We are up against it in the matter of sidewalks," said Ald. Selous. "The conditions are simply awful and we will soon ob facing actions for damages for broken legs. Retaining walls are expensive work and they are rotting faster than we can repair them. I would like to see $10,000 spent on sidewalks this year if possible."

On motion of Ald. Irving the council decided to lay 1,000 feet and a half of sidewalk on Houston street.

F. Bosquet's menagerie at the corner of Josephine and Hendryx streets came in for some consideration in a letter from John Patterson. The letter wrote to the council demanding that something be done to abate the nuisance caused by a collection of wild animals in a residential district. Ald. Rose was rather angry that no report had been delivered on his complaint of last meeting, but the matter was finally disposed of with a resolution that the health inspector report on the matter and in the meantime the mayor speak to the owner of the wild beast show.

The council refused to take any action on a letter from Calgary asking the city to send fire chief Deasy to the convention of fire chiefs to be held in that city next month. In the opinion of the majority of the aldermen it was unnecessary.

The superintendent of the tramway will be given holidays. On the recommendation of the mayor an increase of salary was granted to F. L. Irwin of the city clerk's department. It is to be $100 per month.

The fair directorate wrote asking that the council endorse the invitation to earl and lady Grey to open the fair.

"What will it cost?" asked Ald. Selous.

"We refuse to put up for a big reception."

It was finally decided to endorse the invitation.

The mayor was given authority to sell old construction machinery used in the erection of the city power plant.

The mayor and the city engineer will confer with the directors of the fair on the matter of the race track, in the recreation grounds.

The council then adjourned to Aug. 6.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND

Rossland, July 23.—The Canadian Consolidated Mining & Smelting company of Canada, has declared a dividend of 2½ per cent on its capital stock, payable on August 1st. The capital is $5,500,000, but there is about $800,000 still in the treasury. This is the second quarterly dividend for the year. The company early in the year announced that it would pay quarterly dividends at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

SUDDENLY CALLED AWAY

F. L. McNAB OF WINNIPEG DIES AT HOTEL DESK

CAME DOWN ON MOYIE FROM MILL AT GERRARD

Death came very suddenly to F. L. McNab of Winnipeg in the office of the Grand Central hotel about 8 o'clock last evening. Passengers from the Moyie, amongst whom was the deceased, had just come in and in turn were registering their names. When McNab's turn came he started to adjust his spectacles and had just taken up the pen to write his name when he fell back and dropped to the floor with a groan. Those at hand at once bent their energies to reviving the man and a doctor was sent for but before medical aid could arrive the man passed away, dying in less than ten minutes after he fell.

Coroner Dr. Arthur and chief of police Jarvis were quickly on the scene and the latter took charge of and searched the body. Letters found quickly identified the man and a telephone to Leslie Hill completed the full identification.

When called up Mr. Hill said: "Yes; Mr. McNab was here on Thursday of last week and was engaged by me as millwright for the Canadian Pacific Sawmill at Gerrard. He left here for his post on Friday last. I know of no reason why he should have come down so soon. He was sent to us from the agency of the Waterous company of Brantford, Ont., at Winnipeg."

Mr. McNab stopped at the Hume last week on his arrival here from Winnipeg. His letters showed that he had been at Sault Ste Marie until the beginning of this month when he was instructed to come here and report to Mr. Hill. He was slightly deaf; a well preserved man of about 65. He boarded the Moyie yesterday at Lardo and seemed in good health and spirits on the trip down. The remains were removed last evening to the undertaking parlors of the Standard Furniture company, pending further enquiries at Winnipeg. Dr. Arthur said that heart trouble was the probable cause of death.

(Special to The Daily News)

Winnipeg, July 23—F. L. McNab, who dropped dead in Nelson tonight, was a resident of Sault Ste Marie, Ont., and was engaged by the Winnipeg branch of the Waterous Engine company for some time past in erecting mill machinery. He had just completed the erection of a mill for W. P. Dutton at Green Bush and had gone to Nelson to begin work on the erection of a mill for the Canadian Pacific Timber company. His object in visiting Nelson was to meet Leslie Hill, manager of the company. He was in Winnipeg about ten days ago and in a letter received from him by George W. Erb, manager of the Winnipeg branch, he expressed the pleasure he was experiencing in his trip through the Kootenay district and his admiration of the mountain scenery. Deceased has one son in Manitoba, who travels for the Canadian Oil company.

INQUEST NOW IN PROGRESS

Saturday's Fatal Wreck on S. F. and N. Railway Being Investigated

Testimony of Passengers and Superintendent Morgan—No Explanation of the Cause of Disaster For Incoming

At the coroner's inquest yesterday the cause of the accident to the Great Northern northbound express on Saturday evening whereby four lives were lost, was not ascertained. The principal witness examined was superintendent Morgan, who declared that after a close inspection of the locality of the accident he had been unable to find any cause for the wheels leaving the rails at they undoubtedly did. The inquest adjourned until this evening at 8.30, when the train crew will be examined.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning coroner Dr. E. C. Arthur, summoned a jury to the court house to pass upon the cause of death of Macolm D. McKinnon, one of the four victims of the Great Northern railway wreck at Beaver creek at 5 o'clock last Saturday evening.

The jury was composed of Harold Selous, foreman; E. F. Gigot, J. A. Kirkpatrick, Frank B. Gibbs, W. W. Beer, and J. A. Gilker. The coroner described the accident at Beaver canyon in general terms and the jury then adjourned to the Standard Furniture company's undertaking parlors where the remains were viewed. An adjournment until the evening was then taken.

At 9.30 last night the jury again met in the court room and the first witness called by chief constable Bullock Webster was Louis N. Bergeron, millwright, who described himself as on the way to Kaslo. The witness was a passenger on the wrecked train on Saturday night. Just before the accident ocurred he was standing on the front platform of the day coach, trying to get some fresh air. The train was going at from 10 to 15 miles an hour. Witness thought that something was wrong from the way the car he was on was acting and he meditated jumping off but seeing the canyon he pulled back and waited, intending to jump later on. Before he could jump he was thrown down the bank by the action of the car; the car started to roll down after him. He managed to keep out of the way of the car, which finally stopped, right side up, after making one complete turn. The other car, the buffet car, was in the canyon on end. When witness pulled himself together he assisted other wounded passengers and then assisted in taking out the body of W. B. Townsend from the wreck. The body of one other victim—that of Cornthwait—was visible but could not then be got out. Witness satisfied himself that the man was dead, and he became conscious of injuries to himself and rested until he entered the combination car and came on to Nelson. He examined track carefully and found no cause for the accident. The track was not displaced and the trestle was intact, except for some damage to the ties by the car wheels after they left the rails. The flanges of the wheels were not all visible, but what could be seen looked all right. The car appeared to have run off the track for about 500 feet. The witness though the train was not moving at more than 10 miles an hour at the time of the accident, but the trainmen told him it was going 15 miles an hour. The car was not going quickly and when witness was thrown off he fell easily. All those killed were in the buffet car. In the day coach there were one woman, a man and the conductor and brakesman. The trestle was not damaged at all.

R. C. Morgan, superintendent of the S. F. & N. branch of the Great Northern railway, residing at Spokane, testified that there had been a misunderstanding about the train and engine crew attending at the inquest. The men would be on hand on Tuesday without fail. Referring to the wreck, Mr. Morgan explained that he was at Loon Lake when he heard of the accident and he at once came on to the scene of the accident. He found the forward buffet truck still on the track. The day coach was standing up right below the bank, and in the opinion of the witness it had never turned over but had slid on its side and then righted itself. No doubt the people in the car thought it turned over. The car was practically not injured and this would not have been the case if it had turned over as it is stated to have done by some witnesses. The buffet car was standing end up in the canyon, the up end being about 10 feet below the surface of the trestle. The car was badly broken up. Explaining how the accident occurred, Mr. Morgan said, "The forward wheel of the rear truck of the buffet car climbed the rail for some unknown cause. This pair of wheels derailed at a point 410 feet south of bridge No. 7—the bridge in question. The second and third pairs of wheels were gradually crowded off the track until finally the car turned over and fell into the canyon. I can give no reason why the accident occurred. Two-thirds of the way over the bridge the buffet car went over. None of the ties south of the bridge were broken nor were any rails broken. The condition of the track at the point in question is exceptionally good."

In answer to questions put to him by the jury, Mr. Morgan explained that the company always held a thorough investigation into road accidents on their own account. He had not yet finished his own enquiry.

W. J. Flynn, saw filer, and a passenger on the wrecked train, also gave his testimony, but he adduced practically nothing new of importance. He detailed the assistance rendered the wounded and added that he had been unable to find anything that caused the accident.

J. A. Briggs, M.D., testified that he had performed a post mortem on the body of Malcolm D. McKinnon and after describing the condition of the deceased and the bruises and wounds on his body said the cause of death was the breaking of the neck.

Mr. Bullock-Webster announced that he had no further witnesses ready but the engineer and train crew would be on hand tomorrow evening and accordingly an adjournment was taken at 11 o'clock until 8.30 this evening.

FOR WORLD WIDE PEACE

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF INTER-PARLIAMENTARY UNION.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN AMONG THE DELEGATES.

London, July 23.—The 14th conference of the inter-parliamentary union was opened in the royal gallery of the palace of Westminster today.

Scarcely had the conference opened when, amidst a scene of considerable excitement, professor Kovolevesky, a members of the lower house of the Russian parliament, announced that he and his colleagues, representing until yesterday, the youngest parliament in the world, would be obliged to withdraw in consequence of the dissolution of the body they represented.

There are 500 delegates present at the conference.

U. S. congressman Barthold said the scheme to convert the Hague conference into a permanent body, which would meet at stated periods, and to create a council for the codification and development of international law, was so thoroughly practicable and timely that no well disposed government could object to it.

The former Austrian minister of commerce, Von Plener, then presented the report of the Brussel's commission, giving the proposed model treaty of arbitration, the adoption of the treaty as amended by the commission, together with a resolution urging upon the powers that when arbitration is impossible, to have recourse singly or jointly to a third party.

At this point William J. Bryan rose, his appearance being heartily cheered.

"I cannot see," he said, "that people have any justification in killing each oother before investigating the question involved. There is no question of the sufficient importance of this. I want to move an amendment to Herr von Plener's recommendation, to be appended to the commission's report. It goes further than his, without going too far. This is my resolution:

"If a disagreement should occur between contracting parties, which in the terms of the proposed arbitration treaty need not be submitted to arbitration, they shall, before declaring war, or engaging in any hostilities whatever, submit the question to The Hague court or some other impartial tribunal for investigation, and report, each party reserving the right to act independently afterwards.

"This resolution I put in order that there shall be no more shedding of human blood."

The amendment and resolution were supported by the German delegates and will be discussed tomorrow.

FIRE AT GRAND FORKS

Narrow Escape of Panic Stricken Women Loss Estimated at $32,000

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, July 23—A fire that occurred at 1 o'clock this morning in addition to entirely consuming Jones' furniture store, F. H. McCarter's old building and Mr. Knapps' three small dwellings, also badly damaged the Prospector's Livery stables, burning the roof nearly off one side and creating damage to about $500. A small dwelling directly north of Jones' furniture store, which is owned by Dr. Averill, was also badly damaged, making the total damage approximately $32,000.

At this fire some lives were very nearly lost. When the fire first broke out some lady occupants of the lodging rooms over the furniture store became panic stricken and it was with great difficulty that the firemen removed them.

It is reported that Mr. Jones will not rebuild at his old location, but will select a more central location for his furniture business.

The regular monthly meeting of the 20,000 club will be held this evening in the board of trade rooms at 8:30. Important business on hand and a good attendance is particularly asked.

While a new hydrant is being installed early on Wednesday morning, the water main that feeds Stanley street from Latimer to Baker, and Carbonate, Silica and Victoria streets west of Stanley, will be shut off. The workmen will commence at daylight and expect that their work will be finished by 7 o'clock.

In Sunday's issue of the Seattle Times are two items that have an interest for the people of Nelson. In one column is a Portland special despatch giving the information that the Portland rowing club will agitate strongly for the lake Washington course as the permanent regata course of the N.P.A.A.O. at the annual meeting in Nelson this week. In another column is an item to the effect that the inter-collegiate boat races are likely to be transferred from the lake Washington course to the Willamette river, near Portland as the lake course has been found too choppy. Nelson has an ideal course and the delegates should make a strong push to have the regatta held here every year.

PENDRAY ENQUIRY

Hearing Adjourned While Andersons Are Brought Back From Seattle

Had Been Called Away by Urgent Business But Will Return—Anderson's Find at Lands and Works Department

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, July 23.—The commission of inquiry into the charges of the Vancouver World re Pendray matters opened today, adjournment being taken tonight until Wednesday.

This latter was ordered by the commissioner on enquiring for the Andersons, male and female, and being informed by Higgins' solicitor that he was unable to serve the subpeona, owing to the woman being out of town.

W. J. Taylor, for the government said the Andersons were quite willing to testify, but had urgent business in Seattle, and if necessary he would telegraph for them.

Commissioner Peters said they might as well understand that the commission would not close until Mrs. Anderson had been on the stand, and an adjournment was therefore taken till Wednesday.

The commissioner made a determined effort to make Higgins disclose the source of his information and this point was also laid over till Wednesday, in the meantime Higgins stoutly refused to do so, saying that the paper took full responsibility for the statement and the information was privileged just as information given by a client to his solicitor.

The commissioner said unfortunately while solicitors were privileged, newspaper men were not, and said he would have to have the information.

A large number of witnesses were examined, the first of them being Hon. R. F. Green, who said the property in question was wanted by Percival Brown, who discussed the matter with him. Green decided to put the land up for tender. There were two tenders, one from Brown for $2000, and one from Mrs. Logie, stenographer to landlord Harrison of the Driard, for $2,100. The board of trade in the meantime asked that the land be not sold but leased, claiming that the erection of a high building would hinder navigation, and it was accordingly leased. Percival Brown, on the day the tenders closed, 'phoned him and asked if he had been successful. Green replied that there was a higher tender. Brown asked if it was a woman and on being told "Yes," said "I thought so." He then mentioned that Mrs. Anderson had been in his office. Green said no one in the department except himself knew the contents of the tender, and could not obtain the same excepting surreptitiously.

Some light was thrown on the matter by J. S. Murray, a real estate man, who said he had sold some of the Sehl property and wanted to sell this particular strip to Pendray. He was annoyed at Pendray because he had placed his business with Brown and began figuring how much Pendray would offer. He then mentioned it to James Anderson, stating that he thought Pendray would give $2000 and that $2100 would take it. Harrison afterwards testified that Anderson told him of the case and recommended him to tender, which he did in Mrs. Logie's name.

Brown testified that Mrs. Anderson came and told him what he had tendered for. He asked her how she knew and she said she had a way of finding out.

Commissioner Peters suggested she might have taken this course to confirm her suspicion of the figure.

Harrison in his testimony said that Anderson showed him a tracing of the property, which he said he picked off the floor in the lands and works department.

R. L. Drury testified that Murray told him that he and Anderson had arranged a tender and got Harrison to finance it, while Higgins said Murray told him he had found out the amount.

Wintemute, of Vancouver, and Frank Higgins, of Victoria, are representing the World. Harry Helmcken represents the Harrison interest, and W. J. Taylor the department.

BOY'S PLUCKY RESCUE.

Brockville, Ont., July 23.—A daring and successful attempt at rescue from drowning was affected at Hillcrest summer resort four miles above here Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. Hugh Pedley and Mrs. Pedley, who are camping nearby, were passing the resort in a canoe, when swells from a passing steamer swamped their craft and threw the occupants into the river, the water at this point being 100 feet deep.

Without waiting to divest himself of any clothing, Charles Fleming, aged 13, a son of S. H. Fleming, of Ottawa, jumped into the river and swimming to the unfortunate couple, succeeded in placing Mr. Pedley on top of the canoe. Mrs. Pedley, was going down a second time when the lad dived and bringing her to the surface, held on until assistance arrived, and the couple were safely conveyed to shore.

PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS

The third international American congress, which opened in Rio de Janeiro last Saturday, is one of a series of American family gatherings during the close of the past and the beginning of the present century, destined, in the opinion of publicists, to have a most important bearing on the future of the nations of the western hemisphere. Conceived in the mind of the late United States secretary of state, Blaine, the idea of bringing into close relations the different governments of North, Central and South America had not only a sentimental and political, but also a businesslike side that at once attracted the attention of Europe. For up to the early '90's, owing in large part to difficulties of communication, to lack of cables, to the mutual absence of knowledge of the resources of the two continents of the western hemisphere, the commerce between North and South America had been insignificant in volume and the commercial nations of Europe were monopolizing the trade of Latin-America.

So, to meet this condition and to effect an exchange of natural and manufactured commodities to the mutual benefit of the countries of North, Central and South America, after many months of negotiation necessary to allay the jealousies of the lesser states, in October 1889, representatives of all the republics of the three Americas gathered in Washington to consider measures for the common weal. Many important subjects were discussed during the conference; in fact, it has been thought that the program was too pretentious, but substantial results were achieved. The survey for the intercontinental railway, now making rapid strides toward completion, was inaugurated. Provision was made for securing uniformity of customs regulations so far as the different business methods of the various countries would admit. The bureau of American republics was created and is now doing useful work. An advance was made toward general reciprocity, though the project has even yet failed to reach fruition. A monetary commission was had with sensible benefit to the currency relations of the American republics. The metric system moved ahead another step, being authorized in the customs service of the United States and other countries. These were all valuable achievements, but there was more to be done and the conference recommended that the work be carried forward by another congress.

This second conference was held in the City of Mexico in 1901-02. While many of its recommendations have not yet been generally carried into effect, this second gathering was also productive of much good. What was accomplished was this: the approval of Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras of all the 23 instruments signed at The Hague, the approval of the United States of the convention for the exchange of publications; the treaty on pecuniary claims and the scheme for the reorganization of the bureau of American republics, the approval of the South and Central American nations of some of the most important of the treaties proposed by the second conference; subsequent congresses which adopted regulations for the improvement of custom relations; sanitation of American port cities, and the regulation of the coffee-growing industry. But this conference also left behind it unfinished work, hence the congress now in progress at Rio. The City of Mexico conference felt that the 10- year period proposed by the original conference for the holding of such family gatherings was too long and proposed a five-yeor period.

So the Rio conference opens under the most promising auspices with the purpose of considering a program fully equal to that which was laid before any of the preceding gatherings. Injected into this program, after it had been practically completed at a preliminary meeting of an international committee held in Washington last winter, was one article—four—that is perhaps likely to give rise to more controversy and excite more feeling and be generally of greater importance than any other article. This concerns the interesting Drago doctrine, itself an outgrowth of Dr. Calvo's famous dictum, involving the right of a nation to use force in the collection from other nations of public debts. In the program this takes the form of the proposition to allow The Hague conference to determine this important question, and as many of the South American debtor nations are bitterly opposed to allowing the creditor nations of Europe to pass upon this vital doctrine, a bitter discussion is expected when the subject comes before the third conference.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In carrying out reforms in the management of the Intercolonial railway, the minister of railways has recently put into force two excellent regulations, but regulations that will occasion a good deal of hard feeling among employees. In the first place the indiscriminate issuance of passes to employees is to be stopped and in the second place a system of checking the passenger traffic by means of special audit agents has been inaugurated. The Toronto Globe points out that one of the weaknesses of the Intercolonial management ever since the road was constructed has been the carrying of "dead-head" passengers; another has been the lack of adequate inspection. It requires greater courage to attack such abuses when they are of long standing than to refuse privileges that have never been granted. To Mr. Emmerson is due the credit of having manfully faced the twofold evil and resolved to remedy it. The task he has undertaken is one of great difficulty, and he will need all the backing he can get from public opinion to enable him to carry it through successfully. Only those who know the history of the intercolonial are in a position to appreciate the obstacles in the way of applying business methods to all departments of the service; the duty is disagreeable, the reform will be unpopular, and, therefore, the reward should be sure.

The London Engineering Review has issued a special Empire number, which contains among other excellent articles one descriptive of the engineering developments in Canada from 1896 to 1906. The writer of this article remarks that so far as mechanical and electrical engineering are concerned, comparatively little has been done by British firms to secure their due share of the business arising from the great activity that has been displayed of late in the equipment of industrial works and the execution of contracts for municipalities all over the country. The Engineering Review points out that, quick to seize upon every opportunity for trade, engineering firms in the United States have established Canadian works for the production and supply of their specialties without the payment of the import duties, and for the purpose of counterbalancing the 33⅓ per cent preference accorded to manufacturers in the home country. "We cannot imagine," says the Review, "why British firms show such reluctance to follow a similar policy, and to settle themselves right in the thick of the great business now going on in Canada. Nor do we know why they are content to let their rivals in the United States carry off the bulk of the import trade of Canada in mechanical and electrical apparatus, in spite of a deterrent tariff and the heavy cost of railway as compared with ocean freight."

THE PATRONAGE SYSTEM

(Montreal Star)

Mr. Goldwin Smith says that as long as we have party rule, we will have the patronage system. If Mr. Goldwin Smith would make a study of our municipal politics in Montreal, he would discover that we can have a costly and shameless patronage system without anything approaching party rule. It is not to partyism, but to popular election, that patronage attaches itself; and to propose to abandon popular election because it feeds the parasites of patronage would be like cutting down the cherry tree to balk the robbins which plunder its red burden.

Patronage can only be killed by the people at whose expense it flourishes. So long as it pays a representative—be he an alderman, fighting for his own hand, or a member of a political group in parliament—to dispense patronage, so long will he do it. For if a man get into office who has conscientious scruples against turning the public service and the public revenues into instruments of bribery, he will be beaten by a man hampered by no such limitations. An army might as well regard artillery as inhuman and expect to win battles.

But if the voters, out of whose pockets comes the cost of this patronage system, decide to make it pay their representatives to spend their taxes for the public good and to man their executive positions with signal ability, they can do so by the simple process of punishing with defeat the politician caught exercising "patronage." This is a curb upon the practice which must be applied by the citizens at the polls. Much political corruption they can conveniently hand over to the courts to deal with. But this they must do themselves. Their well nigh unconquerable laziness in the discharge of their public duties makes it very doubtful whether they will come to their own rescue, but they can do it and they alone can do it.

Otherwise we shall always have patronage, and it is hardly sensible to assail this or that public man for permitting it to exist. If he did not consent to use this weapon he would be certainly beaten at the polls, by an opponent who put no such restrictions upon himself; and any other public virtues he might possess would count for naught. Crusades against the patronage system should be directed against the men to blame, i.e., the electors.

DESTROYS MINE TIMBER

FIRE AT MICHEL SPREADS TO BUSH AND SWEEPS MOUNTAIN SIDE

AGITATION FOR ARMORY FOR THE KOOTENAY RIFLES

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, July 23—A serious fire broke out Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the red light district in Michel and destroyed two houses with all their contents. Fortunately the wind changed its direction and the firemen were able to save the other houses in the vicinity, but the bush at the back caught and the flames rapidly made their way up the mountain side and were soon consuming a lot of valuable timber. E. Simister, superintendent of the mines, quickly called out a large force of men to fight the flames and at an early hour on Sunday morning it was under control, but not before an enormous amount of valuable mine timber had been destroyed.

Bush fires for the first time this year have made their appearance in this district, one having broken out between Coal Creek and Fernie on Friday afternoon probably started by a spark from the mine train. Fortunately the section gang on the hill section of the Morrissey, Fernie — Michel railway discovered it and had it under control before any damage was done. Another fire made its appearance south of the rifle ranges amongst a lot of half burned timber and unless it spreads towards Coal Creek, will do very little damage.

Although a large amount of money was distributed this pay day among the employees of the C.N.P.C. company everything passed off quietly and there were only two arrests made for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, which speaks well for the behavior of the class of miners now employed.

Coal Creek was practically deserted on Saturday afternoon and evening, nearly 400 persons taking advantage of the special train and cheap rate to Michel to see the football match between Michel and Coal Creek, which resulted in a victory for the latter team, though the game is to be protested. Those who took in the excursion were well repaid for their trouble as it was one of the best exhibitions of the game seen in the Pass.

The citizens of the town take a great deal of pride in their local militia and are determined that no stone shall be left unturned to secure for the Kootenay Rifles a suitable armory and drill hall to which they are certainly entitled. The two companies are fully up to strength. Their parade slate on drill nights shows a very small percentage of absentees, while the attendance of the men at the rifle ranges is always exceedingly large. This corps has put in a lot of steady drill and their efficiency was highly commented upon by lord Aylmer and colonel Holmes, and they are entitled to every consideration at the hands of the militia department, and the ratepayers of the municipality are prepared to use every effort in their power to see that they secure the accommodation they ask for.

NELSON'S EXHIBITION

Secretary is Busy Making Preliminary Arrangements—Power for Machinery

Letters have been received by the fair directors from two of the men who are to act as judges in the competitions, R. M. Palmer of Victoria, secretary of the provincial bureau of information, will act as judge of the fruit and flower section and Alex. Campbell of Vernon, has signified his willingness to do the same for the vegetable exhibits. An effort is now being made to get experts to judge the poultry and dog shows.

A large number of official programs have been sent east to Winnipeg for distribution at the exhibition which is now in progress there. A similar scheme will be carried into effect at the Brandon fair and the directors are confident that the advertising will have its effect.

After a conference yesterday Fred Starkey and city engineer McCulloch relinquished hope of having the formal installation of the city power plant during the fair. It was hoped at first that some sort of makeshift arrangement might be made whereby the new plant might supply enough electricity to run the machinery at the fair but this scheme will have to be given up and the power will be supplied by the West Kootenay Power and Light company.

HONORABLE JOHN COSTIGAN

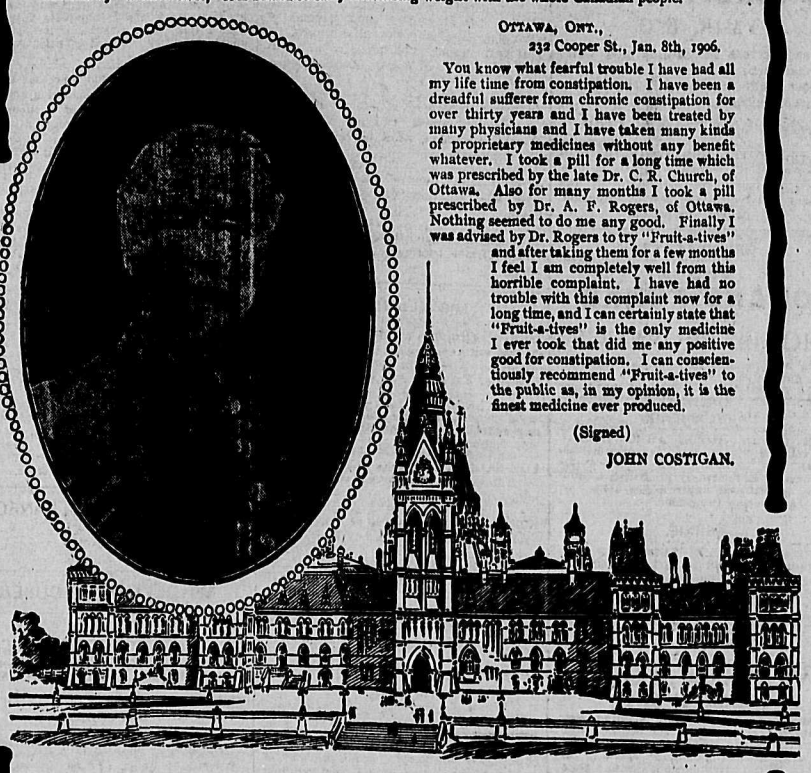
New Brunswick's "Grand Old Man" comes out strongly in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Who has not heard of the Honorable John Costigan? He is to-day one of the most powerful, as well as one of the oldest, figures in Canadian politics. He was one of Sir John Macdonald's ablest lieutenants, and for nearly 20 years held various portfolios in the cabinet.

To-day at the age of 71, he is the idol of the electors of New Brunswick, and a power to be always reckoned with in Parliament.

His rugged eloquence—biting sarcasm—and ready repartee—make him at once the dread of his opponents and the delight of his confreres.

When a public man of the Hon. John Costigan's position voluntarily testifies to the marvelous cure effected by "Fruit-a-tives," it is bound to carry convincing weight with the whole Canadian people.



OTTAWA, ONT.,
232 Cooper St., Jan. 8th, 1906.

You know what fearful trouble I have had all my life time from constipation. I have been a dreadful sufferer from chronic constipation for over thirty years and I have been treated by many physicians and I have taken many kinds of proprietary medicines without any benefit whatever. I took a pill for a long time which was prescribed by the late Dr. C. R. Church, of Ottawa. Also for many months I took a pill prescribed by Dr. A. F. Rogers, of Ottawa. Nothing seemed to do me any good. Finally I was advised by Dr. Rogers to try "Fruit-a-tives" and after taking them for a few months I feel I am completely well from this horrible complaint. I have had no trouble with this complaint now for a long time, and I can certainly state that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine I ever took that did me any positive good for constipation. I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to the public as, in my opinion, it is the finest medicine ever produced.

(Signed)

JOHN COSTIGAN.

Was ever medicine put to a severer test than this?

Here was a great Public Official, who had suffered for more than 30 years with Chronic Constipation. The leading physicians of Ottawa prescribed for him without affording any permanent relief. Finally, as a last resort, "Fruit-a-tives" were ordered. And in THREE MONTHS, Mr. Costigan WAS WELL.

"Fruit-a-tives" did in THREE MONTHS, what doctors and drugs failed to do in THIRTY YEARS.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the most perfect combination known to medical science. They are fruit juices, concentrated and combined with tonics and internal antiseptics.

Unlike liver pills, anti-bilious pills and all preparations containing calomel, cascara, senna, licorice, etc.—"Fruit-a-tives" act like fruit DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER. They arouse this organ to vigorous health—strengthen it—and increase the flow of bile. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which enters the bowels and makes them move.

Unless the liver is active and excretes sufficient bile to move the bowels regularly and naturally every day, there is bound to be Constipation. And the only remedy that will cure Constipation is one that puts the liver in a healthy, active condition as "Fruit-a-tives" do.

Do you suffer with Chronic Constipation?
Are you bilious?
Is the liver inactive?
Is the stomach out of order?
Does the head ache?
Do your kidneys trouble you?
Is the skin disfigured with pimples?
Is the appetite poor?

Take "Fruit-a-tives." They sweeten the stomach—regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels—clear the skin—and build up, strengthen and invigorate the whole system.

One box will prove their value. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

GREAT SINGER COMING

OLIVIA DAHL, "THE NORWEGIAN NIGHTINGALE"

TREAT FOR MUSIC LOVERS NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

The management of Sherman's Opera House beg to direct the attention of patrons to the fact that the evening of Friday, July 27, there will be heard in Nelson the great Norwegian songstress Olivia Dahl, whom the critics have recently christened "the new Jenny Lind," and who today ranks among the world's regnant queens of song. Miss Dahl is a comparative stranger to America—this being her first season over—but in the northern European capitals she is a distinguished favorite.

It was here misfortune to lose heavily by the San Francisco disaster, and this fact (coupled with her desire to see something of British Columbia) has induced her management to arrange the short summer tour which gives a date in Nelson. On the coast—in Victoria, Vancouver, etc.—Miss Dahl was greeted as a stranger, but so won the hearts and admiration of her audiences that successive return concerts have been demanded, each a more brilliant success than its predecessor, the singer being credited with scoring the greatest triumph upon record. It is but indifferently stating a fact to say that Miss Dahl is incomparably the greatest artiste by whom interior British Columbia has ever been visited. The music-loving people of Nelson are therefore urged in their own interest and also for the honor of the district, which should signally mark the visit of so famous a singer in the zenith of her power, to greet Miss Dahl and her associate artiste with a house crowded to its capacity.

SAVED HIS COMRADE'S LIFE

"While returning from the Grand Army encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says J. E. Houghland of Eldon, Iowa. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

HEAD-ON COLLISION

Charlotte, Mich., July 23.—About 20 persons were killed and as many wounded as the result of a head-on collision between a through east-bound passenger train and an extra freight near Rockinghom at 8.30 this morning. I was troubled for about two years with kidney trouble, so common among railway men. I doctored in the regular way and took a great deal of medicine, but received no benefit. My fireman recommended Gin Pills, and I am pleased to state that after taking the first box I got relief, and while I am not taking them regularly, if I feel any indications of a return of the trouble, a few doses puts me all right again.

STOLYPIN NOW PREMIER

GOREMYKIN GOES WITH THE DISSOLUTION OF PARLIMENT

MEMBERS PROCEED TO FINLAND TO ORGANIZE.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The Russian parliament has been dissolved and the government will appeal to the country to elect a new more parliament more in accordance with their views. It is expected that the government will have great difficulty in restraining a popular outburst and much depends on the loyalty of the army in this connection.

An imperial ukase has been issued relieving M. Goremykin of the presidency, and appointing M. Stolypin, premier. He also retains his present position of minister of the interior. The members of the late parliament are proceeding to Finland where they expect to organize for the coming fight and lay down a constitution for Russia.

The government's coup d'etat is already having the effect of uniting all the discordant elements of the opposition. It is already clear that resistance will be made.

Members of parliament who fled to Viborg, Finland, apparently intend to defy their sovereign. General fears are expressed by the liberals here that the military forces will surround and capture the members of Viborg on the ground that they constitute an illegal and revolutionary assembly. Although there was much rioting continued in the outskirts all through the night, it is practically quiet this morning, but ominous forebodings of a coming storm are apparent on every hand. During the night over a thousand arrests of workmen agitators and revolutionary suspects were made.

Railways leading out of the city have been placed under martial law. There are now more than 60,000 troops massed in the city.

Viborg, Finland, July 23.—During the night a committee of seven members of the Russian parliament, which was dissolved yesterday, prepared a manifesto to the country but up to 10 o'clock this morning its contents had been kept secret.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, etc.

MODEST CLAIMS OFTEN CARRY THE MOST CONVICTION

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of a disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will do, but prefer to let the users of it make the statements. What they do claim is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

OFFICIALLY DENIED

Ottawa, July 23.—A published report to the effect that sir Wilfrid Laurier would accompany earl Grey to Newfoundland, for the purpose of inaugurating negotiations looking to the entry of Newfoundland into the dominion confederation, is officially denied.

For sale by all druggists and dealers.

DEATH OF RUSSEL SAGE

NOTED NEW YORK FINANCIER AND MONEY GRUBBER

WORTH MANY MILLIONS BUT RARELY PARTED WITH A DOLLAR

New York, July 23—Russel Sage, the aged financier, died at his home on Long Island yesterday. The immediate cause of death was heart failure. He would have celebrated his 90th birthday on Aug. 4.

Dr. J. C. Cchemuck, local physician attending Mr. Sage, said, judging from what he had heard on various occasions, Mr. Sage left everything in his wife's control. "Mr. Sage was undoubtedly the wealthiest man in the Street. His fortune can be conservatively estimated at from 75 to 100 million dollars," said the doctor.

The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Like many of the multi-millionaires of America, Russell Sage, the "father of puts and calls," began life a poor boy. He was born in Oneida county, New York, Aug. 4, 1816. His father, Henry Sage, was a laborer and unable to give Russell more than a meager education. At the age of nine he was thrown upon his own resources and went to Troy in search of employment. After a succession of hardships common to boys of the street, he secured employment. After a few years of earnest work he rose in the estimation of his employers and at the age of 20 was given a position of trust. In 1839 he entered business for himself. About the same time he married Miss Anna Carman, daughter of one of the rich men of Troy.

At that time Mr. Sage took an active interest in the politics of Troy. In 1841 he was elected an alderman, which office he held until 1843. He also served seven years as county treasurer. In his early life Mr. Sage was an ardent whig politically and was elected to congress as a representative of that party in 1853 and served until 1857. He was the first on the floor of congress to advocate the purchase of Mount Vernon by the government.

Mr. Sage's first venture in railroad and financial circles was as a director associated with Thurlow Weed in the Hudson and Mohawk railroad, running from Albany to Schenectady. Upon his retirement from congress he removed to New York and entered Wall street as a speculator. He was the inventor of selling privileges or "puts and calls." At the same time he became interested in railways and secured stock in Western lines, notably the Milwaukee and St. Paul, of which he was president and vice-president for 12 years. By disposing of these investments as the smaller railways became absorbed by the trunk lines, he rapidly became wealthy. In later years he was closely associated with Gould in the management of the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific, the Missouri Pacific, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the St. Louis and San Francisco railways, the American Cable company, the Western Union Telegraph company and the Manhattan Consolidated system of railroads in New York city, in all of which corporations he served as a director. He was also a director in several banks.

Mr. Sage had lived in New York but a few years when his wife died. The blow almost prostrated him and it was some time before he returned to the field of finance. For years he continued to devote himself to business, with neither family nor children. Eventually he married Miss Marguerite Oliva Slocum, who survives him.

During the last decade of his career Mr. Sage's dealings in puts and calls were comparatively small, though there was a time when his transactions in these privileges amounted to millions of dollars annually. It was said that he always had more ready money than any other man in Wall street, and that he could meet a demand at any time for from one to ten million dollars. His wealth has been variously estimated from 25 to 100 million dollars. It is certain that he has long been entitled to a place among America's richest men.

Mr. Sage's great reputation was that of an economizer. He often declared that $10 was enough for any man to pay for a suit of clothes, and that a 50 cent straw hat should be worn at least two seasons. And he religiously practiced what he preached. He never smoked and his only stimulant in recent years was a thimbleful of whiskey just before retiring. He had but one great hobby—to own and drive fast horses. When his wife and physician persuaded him after his serious illness in 1905, to gradually relinquish the active management of his business, he could be seen every afternoon, save Sunday, driving behind a handsome pair of horses in Central park. The past few years he resided on Fifth avenue, opposite St. Patrick's cathedral. Previous to that he had lived for many years in an ordinary brown stone front mansion on the avenue, just above 42nd street.

For years Mr. Sage's office looked out into Trinity churchyard, at the corner of Broadway and Rector streets. After the attempt to blow him to pieces with dynamite in this office some 15 years ago, Mr. Sage removed his office to No. 34 Nassau street. Up to the time when he was fast approaching his 90th year Mr. Sage kept in harness. All the stories about his taking no vacation, having no "days off," working on holidays as on business days, were true.

Mr. Sage was never heard to speak in later years of his family connections. In fact, he is said to have declared more than once that he had no living relatives. It often has been reported, however, that he has nephews and other relatives living in his old home county and also scattered throughout the west.

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It *has also proved itself invaluable in pre*paring for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

IN CHAMBERS

In chambers yesterday judge Forin granted the order applied for by A. M. Johnson in behalf of the plaintiff in the case of Fernau vs. the Canadian Metal company for delivery of statement of claim. This is the first time such an order has been granted here. When Mr. Johnson applied a week ago for an order saying that it was the practice at the coast, judge Forin deemed it unnecessary, but wrote for the practice in the matter. The reply was that such an order was necessary and it was accordingly granted yesterday morning.

In the case of Genelle vs. Genelle, an order for discovery of documents was granted.

DETAILS OF THE WRECK

FOURTH VICTIM IDENTIFIED AS I. M. CORNTHWAIT

FUNERAL OF LATE JUDGE TOWNSEND TODAY

On Sunday and yesterday the Great Northern railway wreck at Beaver creek at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was the chief topic of conversation around the city.

At the Standard Furniture company's undertaking parlors on Baker street west, the bodies of the four victims were laid out and many visited the rooms during yesterday. The bodies of "Phoebe" Smith and M. D. McKinnon were taken from the wreck about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and brought here on the express Sunday evening.

Chief constable Bullock-Webster, of the provincial police, obtained positive identification of the fourth victim. He is Isaac M. Corthwait, of Spokane, well known to many people in this city. He was last here and registered at the Hume on Sunday, October 22, 1905, in company with W. A. Nichol. The deceased and major Boyd, Wm. Boyd, son of the major, and W. A. Nichol, and others of Spokane, were interested in the Wild Duck, Spokane and three other placer claims on the north fork of the Salmon river near Erie. Mr. Corntnawait was going to Erie to look after the placer claims at the time he met his death. James O'Shea, who looked after his legal business, remembered the deceased very well and so did other who called yesterday and helped to identify the remains. The deceased is said to be a son-in-law of the major Boyd above referred to, and leaves a wife and family in Spokane. Some difficulty in properly identifying the deceased arose over the fact that in his lifetime he always wore a wig and this was missing when the remains were first brought her and exposed to view for identification purposes. Later when the wig was found and put on, the deceased was quickly identified.

It is now fairly certain that all four men met immediate death and the statement that Smith and McKinnon were heard crying out, after the accident, was a mistake. McKinnon's neck was broken and Smith's head was so badly crushed in that death must have been instantaneous in both instances. Judge Townsend was strangled by a heavy beam that lay across his throat, and Cornthwait's injuries were of such a nature that death must have ensued instantly or very nearly so. In any case the shock and the first injuries received rendered the four victims unconscious and they were spared any suffering

Summers, the colored porter, had a close shave. He was jammed in the wreck and the water of Beaver creek rose almost to his lips, an inch higher and he must have drowned. All four deaths apparently occurred in the buffet car which stood end up in the canyon. The bodies of Smith and McKinnon were finally extracted from the wreck of the buffet car. They were not in the water, nor had they been touched by it. The injuries sustained by each victim are described in detail in the evidence of Dr. Willson given at the inquest and published elsewhere in this issue.

C. D. Crowther, of Spokane, claims agent for the Great Northern railway company came up from the south on Sunday evening. He stated yesterday that the officials of the road were at a loss to account for the accident. The rails had not spread and were not out of place. It was not a case of a broken flange, as the wheels of the buffet car were sound and all right still, and up to late yesterday afternoon superintendent Morgan had not received any official explanation as to how the accident occurred.

Angus Campbell, of Kaslo, uncle of the late purser McKinnon, came down from the north yesterday and took charge of the remains, which were taken on the steamer Kaslo up to Kaslo last evening. The steamer arrived in port in the morning with the Union Jack flying at half mast and the flag was kept in that position all day. The burial of the late Mr. McKinnon will take place in Kaslo, probably tomorrow.

C. W. Webster and Arthur Goodenough, on behalf of the Eagles, came down from Kaslo yesterday and arranged to take the remains of "Phoebe" Smith to Spokane this morning, where they will be interred along side of the deceased's brother in the plot purchased and arranged for only the other day by the deceased personally. The remains of Cornthwait will also be taken to Spokane this morning for burial there.

Herbert R. Townsend, son of the late W. B. Townsend, and registrar of the supreme court, Rossland, arrived on Sunday night, that being the earliest moment he could reach this city. Mr. Townsend was naturally very much distressed yesterday, at his father's sudden and painful taking away, but he arranged for the funeral which will take place from St. Saviour's church, at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. The Sons of England and the Oddfellows will attend in a body and Rev. F. H. Graham will officiate. The late Mr. Townsend was born in Battersea, London, England, in 1838, and came to Victoria, around the Horn in 1858. He made several trips around the Horn and finally settled in Victoria 32 years ago. He resided in New Westminster 16 years and in Rossland 10 years coming to Nelson last spring. He was one of the first coast volunteers and always took an active and keen interest in all local affairs. Politically he was a conservative. He helped to organize the first lodge of Oddfellows at the coast and organized a lodge of the Sons of England in Rossland. He was of a very cheerful and kindly disposition and beloved by all who knew him.

At the Kootenay Lake General hospital where six of the seven injured patients are, it was stated last night that all were progressing satisfactorily towards recovery. Mrs. W. B. Pool, who was removed to here residence, took rather a bad turn for the worse yesterday morning, but Dr. Willson stated last evening that he did not anticipate any serious results.

With the death of "Phoebe" Smith, bar keeper of the steamer Kaslo, in the railway wreck on Saturday afternoon at Beaver Canyon was written the last chapter of one of the most pathetic stories of all the weird tales of the west. It is the life history of a cripple who put his whole life into an effort to pay due honor to the brother he loved. In the telling of it is reopened the story of the peculation and suicide ten years ago of a former postmaster of Spokane, and the ruin of Bob Smith, proprietor of the Treatre Comique.

Bob and William Smith were orphans in Missouri away back in the sixties. They came of a good faimily but the death of their father and mother threw them upon the world penniless. Friends cared for them and educated them, but when still a boy Bob, the elder was determined to strike west and make a home for himself and his little cripple brother.

After much travel he arrived in Spokane 20 years ago. He was a musician and by dint of frugality and careful living it was only a few years before he was able to send down east for the youngster. They lived there together in Spokane and from Bob's earnings as musician and what little the lad Phoebe, as he was now called, could contribute, they finally secured control of the Theatre Comique, a music and dance hall patronized chiefly by the miners.

Things went splendidly for a time until Bob fell in love with Mille Raymond, a demi-mondaine of fifteen years ago in Spokane. He married her finally and she helped in the management of the theatre.

Soon an intrigue sprang up between her and the postmaster of Spokane and a paper named the Sunday Sun, famous after the manner of Town Topics, got hold of the story. Friends who knew Bob Smith say that the paper sucked Smith dry selling promises to keep the details from publication.

Finally the postmaster, whose familiarity with Mille Raymond had cost him a deal of money, was found to be short in his accounts. He locked himself up in his hotel and blew his brains out. Now the story could not help coming out and Bob Smith, stripped of his theatre and broken-hearted commenced to drink. He sank deeper and deeper until Phoebe, driven to desperation, saw that he had to be taken away from his old haunts if he wanted to save him.

Phoebe had been a photographer in a small way and now he picked up his effects and taking Bob with him he went to Kaslo. There he spent every cent on his brother in a vain attempt at his regeneration. Four years ago Bob died. He had been an Eagle and the Spokane lodge, of which he had once been perhaps the most prominent member, buried him. But Phoebe, whose mania was his worship of the elder brother who had mothered him, was dissatisfied. The Eagles had not done their old friend sufficient honor. He sold out his place in Kaslo and bought out the bar on the steamer. His one object in life now was to see that Bib should have a fitting grave. Each year, when the anniversary of the funeral came around, he counted his money and sadly decided that he must wait another year.

This year on July 3, just four years to a day since his brother had been buried, Phoebe planned to go to Spokane and hold the second funeral. Hindrance arose and it was two weeks before he could get away. He went to Spokane, bought a fitting headstone, graven with his own name and that of his brother. Then he purchased in the cemetery two lots, into one of which he placed Bob's body. The other was for him when his time came.

Twenty-four hours later he was dead. And now the proceeds from the sale of his effects on the Kaslo will just pay the cost of putting his body under the tombstone, on which is written the names of Robert and William Smith.

(Special to The Daily News)

Ymir, July 23.—The Nelson & Fort Sheppard railway wreck that occurred at bridge No. 7, which spans Beaver creek above the falls, was a most disastrous one. The complete particulars are as follows:

Train No. 256 left Waneta about one half hour late, was made up of engine 595 in charge of engineer Smith, combination smoker and baggage car, G. N. 411, C. R. M. first class coach 10, and buffet car, Helena. Proceeding through Beaver canyon the speed of the train was probably between 15 to 18 miles per hour. About 300 feet south of the bridge the wheels of the buffet must have jumped. The car was pulled along the ties until the bridge was reached when the back end of the car slewed around and when in the middle of the bridge shot down into the canyon, dragging the first class coach, which by this time had just got over the bridge. This last coach rolled over three times and landed right side up, minus the trucks. The buffet, which fell directly on end, was completely wrecked, all the wreckage pinning those that were in the smoker, which in this instance was at the end of the car. The four men, who were killed, were all sitting in the smoker when the crash came and that accounts for their death.

Saturday's train was the lightest for a long time, there being only six passengers in the rear car, while in the first class coach there was one passenger and two trainmen. The combination car, which with the engine remained on the track, had about six passengers.

Immediately after the wreck the trainmen led the work of rescue, while one of the passengers on the train made for Waneta to secure assistance, doing the 7 3-4 miles in a little over one half hour. The news was sent to Spokane and a relief train ordered from Rossland. Dr. Wells of Northport, the companys surgeon was over at Boundary, Wash., attending a patient and in a few minutes he was secured and with a hand car, and a number of residents of Waneta, a quick trip was made to the scene of the wreck. The injured by this time had been taken from the cars and were placed comfortably in the combination car. Dr. Wells dressed the wounds and rendered what aid he could. About 8.30 the relief train came in from Rossland, under charge of conductor Hanna. Dr. McKenzie, the company's surgeon at Rossland, was also on the train.

Mrs. Critchell, Mrs. Dr. Wells and Mrs. Thomas Moore, rendered valuable service in assisting the doctors to dress the wounds. The railway company had sent up a good supply of provisions and soon coffee and sandwiches were being passed around amongst the passengers, trainmen and section men, who had all this time been working like beavers in their efforts to chop away the wreckage and get out the dead.

As to the cause of the wreck that remains a mystery. The track was in splendid condition, the rails not being spread, an investigation is being held and the cause will probably be known later.

Deep regret and sympathy for his widow was expressed in Spokane yesterday afternoon and last night when it was learned from officials of the Spokane Falls and Northern railway that the man killed in the wreck near Waneta, Saturday night is Isaac M. Cornthwait of Spokane, who was at one time manager of the Spokane amateur athletic association, says the Spokesman-Review.

The sad tidings received at the Great Northern depot were at once conveyed to Mrs. Cornthwait at her residence, 822 Fifth avenue, and she was prostrated, believing that her husband was in Rossland, and in the best of health, as he left the only a short time before.

The sudden death of Mr. Cornthwait was the sole topic of conversation at the S.A.A.C., where he was a prime favorite. J. E. Foster, president of the organization, said that a special meeting of the directors will be held early this week to pay the last tribute to its one time manager.

Mr. Cornthwait was on his way to Rossland where he was interested in several mining ventures. He was a pioneer of the city and came to Spokane from Decatur, Ill., in 1887. He was 44 years of age and ever since his arrival here had been identified with athletics, being the pioneer of the present athletic club.

He was educated in the public schools and in the Lincoln college at Lincoln, Ill. On his arrival in Spokane in 1887, he engaged in the real estate business in company with A. S. Crowder. This partnership continued for five years and in 1892 Mr. Cornthwait engaged in the grain business with the Washington Feed company. He sold his interest in this business later and again turned his attention to real estate business, this time with C. L. Hoffman as partner. In 1899 he again entered into business with A. S. Crowder and was vice-president and treasurer of the Pacific Transfer company and secretary of the Pacific States Investment company.

Mr. Cornthwait has always taken interest in mining and was secretary for the Canadian King Gold Mining company of Erie, B.C., while he held interests in other propositions in that country. He was also secretary of the Coeur d'Alene Concentrating and Mining company.

From the first Mr. Cornthwait had the athletic movement at heart, believing that the cultivation of the strenuous life, was the best thing to keep the young men of the city in the straight path. He was manager of the old S.A.A.C. when that body had its headquarters beside the hotel Spokane.

It was chiefly through Mr. Cornthwait that the present building of the S.A.A.C. was erected. He was manager of the club from 1901 to nine months ago, when he left to give his attention to mining interests. He was succeeded by Eddie Quinn.

He was one of the best known men in Spokane, and the news of his sad end was heard with the deepest regret at the S.A.A.C. and by those associated with him. He was a member of the Knights Templars, which will probably have charge of the funeral.

NEW STRIKE ON THE ST. EUGENE

A big body of ore has been struck in the 200 foot level of the St. Eugene, says the Moyie Leader. This new strike is in about 500 feet from the 200 foot shaft level. In drifting from this level a full face of ore was encountered. This is another proof that the St. Eugene is becoming better with depth.

So well is the company pleased with the property that several important improvements, it is said, are being planned. One is the enlarging of the concentrator and the adding of a lot of new machinery, and another is the sinking of the shaft to a considerably greater depth. This will mean the employment of 100 or more additional men.

Dear Sir—The residents of the town of Marysville, who have for years been waiting patiently to see the valley of the Sa. Mary's receives its deserving share of public attention, having decided to take the initiative in arousing those directly interested in the development of the wonderful resources of the St. Mary's valley, to a consciousness of the duty that lies before them and hoping thereby to secure the hearty cooperation of all interested, have organized a lively and active board of trade, which in turn has decided to call a public meeting to be held in Chenette's hall, Aug. 1 at 10 a.m. A special invitation is hereby extended to you to attend the meeting, which has for its purpose the discussion of ways and means of attracting the attention of the general public to this valley, and through this the securing of the investment of capital to be spent wisely, which is now the main thing needed to prove that this valley contains resources in mineral, timber and lands that offer many opportunities to investors. An united effort is required to push this valley to the front. Let us all get in line and much good can be accomplished. The hearty cooperation of all interested is the sincerest wish of the St. Mary's board of trade. In case you are unable to be present at the meeting, the secretary will be pleased to receive your written opinions which will be read at the meeting. Kindly let us hear from you either by letter or in person. Yours for success,

WIN FOR COAL CREEK

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, July 23 — The league football match between Coal Creek and Michel, played on the grounds of the latter on Saturday evening, resulted in a victory for Coal Creek, by a score of 3-2. It was a splendid exhibition of the game and keenly contested throughout, the playing of Stewart and Allen of the visiting team, and Raynor and Marshall of Michel, being particularly brilliant. There is likely to be a protest entered by Michel on the grounds of offside play in the first half.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Mrs. Arthur White and daughters leave this morning on a visit to their old home at Owen Sound.

Charles Waterman and company will hold an auction sale of valuable household furniture today commencing at 2 p.m. at the residence of Dr. Oliver, Victoria street, between Kootenay and Falls streets.

The death occurred at Bonner's Ferry, on Friday evening last of Mrs. Julia Lindes. Before her marriage to Mr. Lindes, who is a storekeeper for the Spokane Falls and Northern railway, and well known in Nelson, she was Miss Julia Rudd. A sister, Mrs. Alfred Benson, resides in Grand Forks. Much sympathy will be felt locally for the bereaved husband as both himself and his late wife were well and favorably known here.

Daniel McDonald, western manager of the Confederation Life, was in the city cysterday on his way east from a tour of the company's agencies in this province. Mr. McDonald was delighted with the progress made in this province during the interval which had elapsed since his previous visit. On the coast things are brisk and he states that the life insurance business, which had rather a set back during the New York scandals, is now coming back into its own.

TOO HOT TO BAKE?

Then why not do as your neighbors are doing—get your bread, cakes and pastry from the Star Bakery.

Everything is first class. We use only the best flour, etc., in our bakery and everything is clean and nice.

And it is cheaper to buy your bread from the Star than it is to bake it. Think of the time wasted which you could use to better advantage. Call us up—our phone number is 258—and we will be pleased to quote our prices. If you want some Ice Cream, don't forget that we sell it.
