POLITICAL SITUATION

Correspondent at Victoria Forecasts Probable Developments

Believes Another Session Will be Held, at Which Socialists and Government Will Execute Tactical Disagreement

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, Sept. 27.—At any time the news grows more than usually scarce in Victoria, rumor may always be depended upon to produce predictions of an early dissolution of the legislature and an appeal to the country. Such a prediction was launched about a week ago, given sufficient definiteness as to place the date of a prospective general election in December. The difficulties in the way of taking a vote in such a country as British Columbia during the depth of winter in themselves destroy the probability of such a guess, and on the other hand members of the government declare emphatically that there is no intention of taking an immediate appeal to the electorate. The recent tours through the interior ridings taken by premier McBride and by his lands minister, Hon. R. F. Green, did not disclose a state of public feeling sufficiently cordial as to predicate the certainty of a government victory. At the same time the government has now a majority of one at least upon the floor of the house, and is therefore prepared to face another session with comparative equanimity. There is very little propect of any specially contentious legislation being brought down during next session, as the policy of the administration will be to obtain its estimates as quickly as possible and then dissolve the house. Suggestions that his honor, lieutenant governor Dunsmuir has requested premier McBride to dissolve the house at the present time are absolutely without justification. The expectation that the vacant attorney generalship will be filled before the government next meets the house is not endorsed unanimously by observing politicians. The only two available candidates for this portfolio are Mr. W. R. Ross of Fernie, and Mr. W. J. Bowser, K.C., of Vancouver, neither of whom is regarded as sufficiently strong to be safely entrusted with the opening of his constituency.

The only feature in the political situation at the present time is created by the recently projected element of the labor party as a distinct and separate factor—which will have the effect of considerably weakening the socialistic ascendency and is viewed with more or less sincere favor by both of the old parties. The liberals declare that there is nothing extra-radical in the adopted platform of labor; and that inasmuch as the labor policy is in harmony with the provincial liberal platform labor members may be expected to vote and act with the liberal forces in the house as against conservatism and its ally socialism. On this latter point there are signs in the air already that the next session will see an at least ostensible rupture between the conservative governmental forces and the socialists under Mr. Hawthornthwaite. This is a necessary prelude as viewed by both the interested parties to a general election, premier McBride having undoubtedly lost quite as much popularity among the conservatives of British Columbia through his alliance with the socialists as through any sins of either omission or commission. At the same time the socialists are inclined to sharply catechise their leader upon his loyalty to the Conservative premier during the recent sessions, and in the upper country he may be said to have lost very much in strength through his support of the Columbia and Western Railway land grant bill, a support that he has utterly failed to justify with his own political faith.

It is as yet early in the day to consider the probable legislation of next session or the attitude of the house concerning it. There will undoubtedly be provision for largely increased expenditures in widely distributed public works, this being the usual preliminary to an election appeal. Minor differences are expected by some to cause the secession of several government members, the names of Messrs. Clifford, Macgowan, Ellison and Wilson being freely mentioned in this connection. Such prophesy has but frail foundation. Mr. Macgowan has manifested a disposition toward displays of seeming independence, but at the crucial moment of a vote has always been in line. Mr. Wilson has had his differences with the government, differences so radical as to produce his resignation from the ministry, but he remains a staunch conservative nevertheless, and the government will not go out of existence through his withdrawal of allegiance to the party with which he has always been identified. Mr. Clifford's lapses from strict party control have not been such as to occasion special alarm to his leaders or to the party, nor does his disposition appear to have undergone any special change. It is true that Mr. Ellison carried his objection to the government's course to that extent last session that he voted against them on important issues. He was well aware, however, of what he was doing. His stand for the rights and interests of the Midway & Vernon railway was forced by the conditions in his own constituency, and his very departure from orthodox support has necessarily strengthened instead of weakening his position with the conservatives of the interior of British Columbia.

As to the socialists; they and the government are prepared to view with equanimity the seeming development of acidulated hostility, both well knowing that the government has now a sufficient majority to assure it against destruction by any hostile vote in which the socialists may join for tactical reasons. The last session in the natural life of this parliament may therefore be expected to be short and comparatively unimportant, for the liberal opposition, led by Mr. Macdonald, does not propose to waste time in academic discussion nor will it take the trouble to lay a campaign foundation in ineffective resolutions which might serve the government for platform strengthening. The general condition of the country, its improved financial status, and the absence of any pressing abuses exciting provincial indignation are looked to by the administration as likely to justify a favorable verdict by the electorate when an appeal shall be made.

END IS NOW IN SIGHT

HYDRAULIC ENGINEER EXPECTED HERE TOMORROW.

Work is once again proceeding busily upon the site of the city power plant on Kootenay river. The Allis-Chalmers-Bullock electrical engineer, H. E. Bullis, who has been here for the past two weeks, came up from the plant yesterday having practically completed all the work he can do there for the present until the hydraulic machinery is installed. Mr. Bullis has erected the switchboard and placed all the conduits in position for stringing the wires as soon as the proper time arrives. He is now in Nelson ready to proceed upon the electrical connections at the new substation, which is in process of erection by the city alongside the old building. This is at present not complete and probably another week or ten days will elapse before Mr. Bullis can go ahead with his part of the work.

In the meantime the hydraulic engineer is on his way, having left Milwaukee on Wednesday last. He is expected here tomorrow or Sunday and early next week the work of placing the hydraulic machinery will begin, provided it arrives in time. The last three cars were shipped on September 15 and should be here by Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest. One car containing the draught tube is delivered opposite the power plant and today the draught tubes will be taken across and suspended over their proper position. They cannot be fixed until the turbine is set in its place below, and for that turbine everything is now waiting.

It will be gathered from this that while the work is still proceeding that until the machinery is actually in Nelson there is no saying just how soon the plant can be completed. The first car arrived here in ten days from Milwaukee and the others have been now longer on their way and may arrive any day.

INSPECTOR IS SATISFIED

BELIEVES KOCH'S MILL IS ABSOLUTELY FIRE PROOF.

REACHES DECISION AFTER MAKING PRACTICAL TEST.

W. E. Koch, the millman, is the object of much solicitation and chaff at the hands of his friends just now, and thereby hangs an interesting narrative. It seems that after Mr. Koch's dry kiln burned down last year at his mill at Koch's Siding, he put in a very effective water system by which the dry kiln could be drowned out in about a minute in case of fire. This is done by running a couple of pipes about 12 feet apart along the top of the kiln. At every foot is a contrivance for spreading a jet of water over a circle 12 feet in diameter, with a jet of water spurting into the roof timbers. With some 225 of these miniature fountains in eruption, the cascade of water is likely to be great, especially when behind is a tank of 60,000 gallons under 80-lbs. pressure. But Mr. Koch had never seen the thing actually at work, only having viewed the inside of the kiln after it had been allowed to play for a couple of minutes.

Yesterday the coast underwriters' inspector was sent up without warning to inspect Koch's mill. Both Koch and the inspector arrived simultaneously. The former instantly invited the inspector to look over his system. The inspector thought the dry kiln was the first thing to be seen and both men went in, telling the engineer to turn on the water. Awaiting the flow, the two stood at the far end. The water did not come on immediately, and Koch and the inspector began to move inward. Before they had penetrated 50 feet, they thought they were in the vicinity of Grohman falls and rushed for the far end. There they were certain they had struck Niagara. With equal haste the men made their way back again to the entrance thinking, as the water, striking the steam pipes, became hot, that Halcyon was really the mark.

As the inspector and the millman removed their outer clothing and wrung the water out of their hair, neither said anything till the insurance man made some picturesque remarks about the foolishness of insurance agents doubting the word of mountain lumbermen. There is nothing doubtful now about Koch's insurance, though S. A. Brydges is thinking of a suit to recover damages for a spoilt agent.

FREE TRADE IN BRAINS

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—The board of trade at its session today decided to make representations to the conference of provincial premiers asking that there be a dominion registration of profession and the abolition of the present laws calculated to restrict or embarrass interprovincial trade.

TO FIGHT CONSUMPTION

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY WILL BE FORMED TONIGHT.

CALL FOR MEETING SENT OUT BY DR. ARTHUR.

The crusade taken up several years ago by Dr. Fagan, the provincial health officer, against what is known as the "great white plague,' i.e. consumption, is bearing fruit locally in the formation of a branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis society. The organization meeting is to be held tonight. The object is to raise sufficient money to erect a hospital for the proper treatment of tuberculosis and for this a sum of at least $50,000 is required. Nearly one half this sum has already been promised in several large contributions; for the remainder small donations are wanted rather than large ones, with a view of getting more people interested in the subject.

A circular has been sent to several persons in the city by Dr. Arthur, requesting that every fraternal or benevolent society, and every church in Nelson shall be represented by either its president or secretary or both, or by any representative the society may choose to appoint, at the meeting of this evening which is to be held at 8 o'clock in the city hall. Dr. Arthur wishes it to be understood that, if the circular, the text of which is appended, has not reached the hands of the officials of any of these societies, they will be present just the same, as the omission is purely accidental.

"Nelson, B. C. Sept. 17, 1906.

"At a public meeting held in the Opera house, Nelson, on September 14th inst., it was resolved to organize a branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis society in Nelson. It was decided to ask every church, benevolent, and fraternal society to name one member to represent it in the society. A meeting of the representatives will be held in the city hall on Friday, September 28th, inst., at 8 p.m. to organize. The prevention and cure of tuberculosis is a matter of vital importance to every person in British Columbia. Therefore, it is hoped that your society will take an active interest in the local organization and appoint a member to represent it. In case any society should not have a meeting before the 28th inst., the person to whom this circular is sent is requested to be present.

"E. C. ARTHUR,
"Medical Health Officer."

CANADA NOT SO EASY.

Report That She Would Yield Pelagic Sealing Was a Fake.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—A recent Associated Press despatch, purporting to emanate from London, and conveying the information that Canada appears to be "more favorably disposed towards the American proposals for the entire stopping of pelagic sealing with compensation to the Canadians affected thereby," caused considerable surprise in Ottawa. The matter has not yet been considered by the Canadian government, and there have been no further advances made by Canada towards settlement, which would justify the statement.

That portion of the despatch which states that sir Mortimer Durand has kept in close touch with the Canadian authorities because the British government considered this to have been better than the Canadian suggestion made early in the year for the appointment of a Canadian attache to the British embassy at Washington to advise the ambassador on Canadian affairs is entirely erroneous and would seem therefore to discredit the whole despatch.

The suggestion that there should be a Canadian attache at Washington came from president Roosevelt himself and not from the Canadian government. The Canadian government, it is understood here, has made no pronouncement upon the matter, nor has Great Britain declined to agree to the suggestion.

CAN'T SHORTEN ROUTE

G. T. P. Will Not Save 400 Miles Between Quebec and Winnipeg.

(Special to The Daily News)

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Chief engineer Lumsden, of the National Transcontinental Railway commission, says that he never heard of the report published in the press that the commission was able to shorten the line between Quebec and Winnipeg by 400 miles. He wished that it was correct, but it was not.

Rudolph Lemieux, the postmaster general, will deliver the annual address to the Caledonia society, in Montreal, on October 31, Hallowe'en.

In addition to increasing the salaries of country postmasters, the postmaster general will also increase the salaries of clerks of the city post offices and clerks of the inspectors' office.

HURRICANE'S DESTRUCTION

Damage Caused by Storm Aggregates Many Millions

Pensacola Women Escape From Flooded Homes Through Windows of Upper Storeys

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 27.—A tropical hurricane, which for 24 hours has been turning the waters of the gulf of Mexico, and doing much damage on the coast, is now whipping through north Alabama in a northeasterly direction. Reports received by the Associated Press do not indicate any loss of life, but the damage to property is enormous. All wire communication is disarranged. Pensacola, where the maximum velocity of the wind was probably felt early this morning, reports a loss of $3,000,000 and much loss of life, which is impossible to confirm.

New Orleans furnished various wild rumors during the day, but later reports indicate that while there was considerable damage to property there has been no loss of life. Wires to New Orleans and the gulf are down and it may be several days before anything can be heard from the territory between that city and the gulf.

Biloxi, Mississippi city and Moss Point, Miss., have not been heard from for nearly 24 hours, Moss Point reporting the water five feet deep in the streets on Wednesday. There was a heavy rain and high wind at Montgomery but no serious damage. A gale is blowing at Birmingham after a day of steady rain and at Memphis the rain has been continuous for three days.

The damage to railroads is heavy. Reports to the officials of the Louisville & Nashville road from the superintendent of the Mobile & Montgomery division, indicate that the loss approximates $1,000,000. The tracks between Flomaton, Ala., and Pensacola are obstructed and in some places badly torn up by falling trees. The section between Georgian and Graceville, Fla., has suffered similarly. The Louisville & Nashville also suffered several washouts near New Orleans and no trains are being run tonight over sections of this trackage. The New Orleans Eastern reports its tracks under water at several places near New Orleans. The water in the submerged districts has begun to drain off and the wind, which veered to the north, is driving the waters of the lake towards the gulf.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 27.—The worst sea storm and hurricane that the gulf coast has experienced in a century began last night, and is still raging late today. It is reported that many lives between the city and navy yard have been lost but the report does not obtain credence. It is known, however, that many streets in that section are under five to ten feet of water and many women have been taken from the second story windows. The estimated property damage is three million dollars. Every house in Pensacola has suffered damage and many roofs are blown off. Telephone and telegraph and electric light wires are among the mass. The water front is strewn with wreckage for miles on either side of the city and vessels are piled on the wharves, or where the wharves once were, in utter ruin.

Big iron steamers and many lighter sailing ships are lying high and dry up in the city where the tide has never before been known to reach. The wharves for miles around have been swept away or damaged beyond repair. The electric power was shut off at 1 o'clock this morning. There is no street car traffic and communication with the outside world is practically cut off. The streets are strewn with timbers, tin roofing and broken glass. This despatch, with other telegraphic matter, is being hurried to Flomaton, Ala., by the Western Union manager who makes the trip by train. It is feared great havoc and loss of life will be shown when reports from the entire section along the coast can be gathered.

ORE IS ASSAYED

Announcement of the result of the 20,000 club ore guessing contest at the fair was made yesterday. Mr. Widdowson assayed the piece of ore which was the subject of the contest and found that the correct figure was 587. The nearest guess was that on ticket No. 51, 523; the second best was ticket No. 1, 875. The correctness of the award is certified by Mr. Hamilton Byers and Mr. Goodeve.

BIG STEAMERS FOR GREAT LAKES

Eight to be Built, Each Costing Over Four Million Dollars

Detroit, Sept. 27—The Free Press tomorrow will announce the launching of a big steamship company on the great lakes that will build eight ships, each 600 feet long, and each costing about $4,000,000. Moses Taylor, vice president of the Lackawanna Steel company, is mentioned as prominent in the company and it is stated that other capitalists associated with Mr. Taylor in the steel company are interested, although the steel company itself does not appear in the transaction. The new vessels are to come out in 1908 and are to be built by the American Shipbuilding Co.

MEN DECIDE TO STAY OUT

Fernie, B. C., Sept. 27.—At a meeting of the members of the local miners' union held in their hall this afternoon, it was decided to remain out on strike until the coal company guaranteed to give them their old places again, and until the company agreed to their demands respecting the signing of the books and the check off.

HEARST VERSUS HUGHES

BRYAN GIVES HEARST HIS HEARTY ENDORSATION.

New York, Sept. 27,—The day after the close of two state conventions was not marked by any decided activity among republicans or democrats but was given up to discussion and a preliminary straightening out of the ranks into lines of battle for the campaign.

W. R. Hearst, the democratic nominee, returned tonight from Poughkeepsie where he spoke to a large audience, but only indirectly referred to the action of the convention. Up to the present Mr. Hearst has given out no statement of acceptance, and at his headquarters tonight it was stated that Mr. Hearst had not received official notification of his nomination. It was further stated, as coming directly from Mr. Hearst, that the nominee would not make any statement tonight. Mr. Hearst will address a mass meeting to be held at Madison Square garden tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Independence League.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 27.—Fifteen thousand persons greeted W. J. Bryan here tonight. In speaking of the nomination of W. R. Hearst for governor of New York, Mr. Bryan said that, following the rule he had adopted in all state contests, he had shown no discrimination between candidates prior to the convention. "I am much gratified at the nomination of Mr. Hearst," he said, "because I feel that he will make not only a strong race but also a good governor after his election."

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Expedition marked the second and final day of the republican state convention. From early morning, when it became known that Charles E. Hughes would be nominated for governor by acclamation, the other proceedings practically became formal and were pushed to completion with the utmost speed. The selection of the remainder of the ticket and the choice of a new state chairman were accomplished before the convention assembled and it only remained for the convention to ratify all that had been arranged and to adjourn. Charles E. Hughes was nominated for governor by acclamation. Lieutenant governor M. Linn Bruce was re-nominated by acclamation. Ex-lieutenant governor Timothy L. Woodruff of Kings county was elected chairman of the state committee, succeeding ex-governor B. B. Odell.

JAPANESE SEALERS SHOT

Over Twenty Lose Their Lives in Raids on Copper Island

Victoria, Sept. 27—The sealing schooner City of San Diego arrived today from the Behring sea, bringing news that upwards of 20 Japanese have been killed during the season while raiding the Copper islands. One of the Japanese schooners, according to the news brought down on the San Diego, had a quick firing gun mounted, under fire of which the rookeries were raided.

CONFERENCE FOR PEACE

Methodists go on Record in Favor of International Arbitration

Montreal, Sept. 27—The Methodist general conference this morning adopted a motion that the conference advocate the spread of peace throughout the world and has faith in arbitration as a solution for the settlement of all international disputes. It was also decided that the election or lay delegates to the general conference should be by nomination and ballot as in the case of ministers.

STOESSEL STILL IN DISGRACE

Resigns From Army Because Czar Does Not Want to Hear of Him Again

St. Petersburg, Sept. 27—The Associated Press was informed today that lieutenant general Stoessel, who commanded the Russian forces at Port Arthur, today submitted his resignation from the army. It is understood that it will be accepted. The resignation is said to have been due to the initiative of the emperor, who expressed his aversion to further discussion of the subject in open court.

TRAIN WRECKERS' FELL WORK

Remove Rails and Express Plunges Over Embankment

Columbia, S.C., Sept. 27—A northbound through Southern railway train was derailed at Cossahatchie trestle, five miles from Allendale early today by train robbers. Fireman Andrew Kemp was killed and engineer McDaniel was scalded. None of the passengers were injured. The fireman, who lived about two hours after the accident, stated that he noticed a rail had been removed from the trestle. Dogs will trail the wreckers. The engine, mail and express cars left the track and turned over at the bottom of the 20 foot embankment. Several rails on the trestle had been taken up and rolled to one side. Angle bars had been removed, spikes pulled out and the track torn up to the north end of the trestle.

HAD PRACTICAL RESULT

TOOK AN INTEREST IN THE E. PLURIBUS UNUM.

(Special to The Daily News)

Greenwood, Sept. 17.—George Ross, of Welland, Ont., one of the civil engineers who recenly visited Greenwood, took sufficient interest in the mining properties here to invest some money. Before leaving the city with the party he purchased a share in the E. Pluribus Unum property recently taken over by a local syndicate. Work started on the E. P. U. today. This mine, which has been shut down for some time, has shipped under previous management, over 700 tons of gold and silver leaving ore averaging $50 to $60 per ton representing an aggregate of $40,000. Under the new control the mine will be thoroughly developed.

The irrigation scheme of the Kettle River Irrigated Fruit Lands' Co. is assuming definite shape. Contracts for the earth work and rock work have been let and active operations are now in progress. The land comprising several thousands acres has been sub-divided into ten and twenty acre fruit lots. A flume will be built and water supplied to each farm. The work will be completed this autumn.

WHOLE ISLAND HEAVED

PORTO RICANS ARE SURPRISED BY EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

WERE THOWN INTO A PANIC BY FIRST TREMORS

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 28—The city of San Juan and the island of Porto Rico experienced a series of earthquakes today, beginning at 10:47 a.m. The people were thrown into a condition of consternation and alarm but the resultant damage was comparatively slight and there has been no loss of life. The first perceptible tremors brought many people in alarm to the streets. They increased in intensity for 20 seconds and then decreased for five seconds. Following this came the most severe shock, the earth shaking violently for five seconds. The first movements were from east to west and were followed by heaving motions such as are experienced on board ship in a heavy sea. San Juan people were stunned, and when they suddenly realized that an earthquake was on them consternation and alarm prevailed throughout the city, for all thought at once of the catastrophe of San Francisco. They fled from their houses to the open squares. Panic reigned, and women fainted. Many began praying in the streets, while large numbers rushed to the churches. The schools were stampeded, the children narrowly escaping injury in rushing from the buildings. The government buildings in San Juan were quickly emptied, everyone rushing frantically to the open places for safety. Many clocks throughout the city stopped at 10:47.

STONEY INDIANS' RAID

Reported to be Slaughtering Game in Northeast Kootenay

According to the coast papers the Stoney Indians of Alberta have broken through the mountains again and are at present racing through northeast Kootenay on a carnival of game slaughter. Having received word of the raid Mr. Williams, the provincial game warden, has left Vancouvtr for Wilmer. From there he will proceed in pursuit of the Indians, in an effort to drive them out of the country. Last year these Indians crossed the Rockies and conducted a number of huge game drives before the authorities were aware of their presence and could take steps to drive them out. With these Indians the hunt is for food, and everything in the game line is meat for the winter in their eyes. The consequence is that they very thoroughly strip the game from all the districts they overrun. Forseveral months past the passes through the Rockies leading from Alberta into northeast Kootenay have been patrolled, by deputy game wardens, whose instructions were to keep the Stoney Indians out of British Columbia. Lately, however, the watch kept on the most northerly passes was relaxed, and it is supposed the Indians have taken advantage of this fact to enter. Game on the eastern slope of the Rockies is scarce, and the Indians have on this account been forced to turn their attention to the hunting grounds of this province.

VALUABLE COAL FIND

Mahoney City Pa., Sept. 27—A new vein of coal, extending a mile in length and an eighth of a mile in width, with an average thickness of 12 feet, has been discovered in the Mahoney valley. It contains millions of tons, valued at from 60 to 75 million dollars.

URGE ROOSEVELT TO RUN

Birmingham, Sept. 27—Anti-administration republicans today nominated a ticket headed by judge E. A. Stratton of Montgomery for governor. The platform adopted calls upon president Roosevelt to stand for a third term. Lynch law is strongly condemned.

LAST CARD IS PLAYED

Moderates Decline to Accept President Palma's Resignation

If He Will Not Withdraw it, Nothing Will be Left for Taft to do but to Intervene

Havana, Sept. 27.—The moderate party tonight decided to make a final effort to preserve the authority of the Palma administration by determining to reject the resignation of the president when handed to congress tomorrow. When this decision was reached, secretary of war Taft and assistant secretary Bacon, the American commissioners, had already concluded to intervene, but they agreed to await tomorrow's developments as they are anxious to afford the Cubans every opportunity to work out their own salvation. President Palma refuses every solicitation of his friends to withdraw his resignation. He felt that it was not consistent with his dignity and prestige to remain in office. The American commissioners have little confidence in the seriousness of the intentions of the politicians who have been vacillating and insincere throughout these nine days of negotiations. Possibly, within 24 hours, secretary Taft, by authority of the United States, will proclaim himself provisional governor of Cuba. Such a government, however, would be made Cuban as far as possible. Immediate developments in the situation depend on the action taken by congress tomorrow.

The non-acceptance of president Palma's resignation and its withdrawal will be Cuba's last card. General Frederick Funston arrived here today. He has gone over all the military plans, approved them and familiarized himself with the situation as presented by major Ladd, who has been here for a fortnight. Among the places visited today by general Funston was the rebel camp outside Havana. The atmosphere at the palace tonight is gloomy. Everybody who emerged from president Palma's private office wore a long face. Members of the cabinet reiterated that Palma had not receded from his determination to resign.

The president has succumbed somewhat to nervous fatigue and everybody regards the wind-up of the administration as imminent.

The moderate nationalist body convened in the afternoon. Alfredo Zayas, general Menocal, head of the veterans, and senator Sanguily, independent, appeared and suggested the resignation of senators and congressmen chosen at the last elections, new elections to fill the vacancies, the acceptance of president Palma's resignation, and the getting together of a new president and senate, who, they stipulated, should be either liberal or independent. Senator Zayas asserted that Messrs. Taft and Bacon had apporved this proposition, but the assembly was not willing to consider it without consulting the American commissioners. A committee was therefore despatched to consult with the Americans. Secretary Taft stated that he had at first approved the suggestion of senator Zayas, provided that both parties felt it would bring peace, but he had decided that if it became necessary to create a provisional government the only safe plan was that this should be done by an act of the United States.

The committee questioned what the attitude of the commissioners would be if congress elected a constitutional president. Secretary Taft replied that such a course would embarass the commissioners greatly as they felt that any other man than Palma would not be satisfactory to all. Therefore, unless president Palma continued in office, intervention seemed the only alternative. When the committee reported this to the moderate assembly, it resulted in immediate expressions that nothing remained but intervention.

After a long discussion, however, it was resolved to attend congress and refuse to accept the president's resignation. The assembly dissolved amid a general feeling of depression. All doubts as to the loyalty of the rural guards to the American government in case of intervention have been set at rest by the declarations of officers that they would support a Taft government with enthusiasm.

WILL TRY CAPTAIN GRIFFIN

Vancouver, Sept. 27—It is understood on official authority that the attorney general's department will prefer an indictment before the grand jury against captain Griffin, formerly of the steamer princess Victoria. The charge will be that of manslaughter. The case arises out of the loss of life in the collision between the fast Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle ferry and the Chehalis. H. A. McLean, deputy attorney general, will prosecute in the case as in others at the assizes next week.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS' ELECTION

Milwaukee, Sept. 27—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers completed the election of officers today. The grand trustees include P. J. McNamara, Buffalo, and the executive board George Wark, Toronto.

FREE TRADE IN BRAINS

The Winnipeg board of trade has decided to make representations to the conference of provincial premiers with a view to securing dominion registration of professions. We assume this to mean that Winnipeg board of trade believes that a professional man should be at liberty to practice all over the dominion and not be restricted to the province in which he is registered. We wish the Winnipeg board of trade success in its undertaking; but we very much fear that the provincial premiers will give precious little encouragement to it. It is simply absurd that a doctor or a lawyer from Ontario cannot practice in British Columbia without undergoing vexatious delays and examination, and vice versa.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The more the insurance investigation goes on the more people are coming to the conclusion that the government will have to insist upon a system of insurance in this country which will enable it to put its guarantee upon the back of every policy, says the Montreal Star. The busy man has no time to bother with careful enquiries into the claims and capabilities of the different companies and societies; but, when he buys insurance, he wants above all things that it shall insure. He does not want any doubt about what is going to happen to his family after he is dead. He wants to feel certain that upon the day he is silenced forever his insurance policy will infallibly be worth its face to his loved ones. Nothing could make this as certain as a government guarantee, and no one should be permitted to solicit insurance in the dominion who is not in a position to deserve and get that guarantee.

British capital, just now, is largely being invested in home securities and industrial undertakings. There is said to be relatively little money going abroad, even to the colonies, and the London correspondent of the Toronto Monetary Times intimates that Canada might get a great deal more British capital if some systematic efforts were made to exploit her opportunities in the right quarters. He writes: "Is this full financial exploitation of the dominion one of the things that is hoped for by those who cry for a reorganization of the high commissioner's office? For an intensely individualistic people, those of the North American continent repose an almost pathetic faith in the power of government assistance. We do ourselves the flattery of thinking that we know better. The typical English business man is sure of nothing than that a government department will never do anything as well as the same thing would be done by a man attending to his own business. Thank goodness, our public services are not noisomely corrupt. They are only inept and expensive and tiresome. We recognize that profoundly, if we do not always say as much; and we act accordingly. We do not depend upon them when we mean to push trade or float companies. Their assistance is taken for what it is worth. If that is little, one need hardly be disappointed. It is recognized that they will be useful rather in a general than a particular sense. Nothing in the business way that a public official can do absolves the individual from driving his own wheels. When all is said and done, that is the essence of the situation, and perhaps because of that we are not horror-stricken at manifestations of incompetence. We are even a little amused at them, and those of fully normal cynicism are disinclined to believe that any possible reforms will make a world of difference. Grant that officials should not be ignorant of the country and the trade they are supposed to be authorities upon. Grant that they should be the best-informed and most experienced people one can find—and what then? They can never do our work. Each must do his own, and on those who have not government salaries and appointments, the commerce and finance of the countries depend. In thus interpreting to Canadian readers the English mind, I am not sensible of doing any injustice to anyone. How often do we not hear it said when business is to the fore: 'The foreign office is no good,' or 'What do you expect from a municipality?' I recall, too, a recent letter from the east saying, 'No trader in his senses asks a consul.' Signs of disgust these may be; but they are not negligible signs. In an exaggerated way they reflect an attitude."

TECHNICAL EDUCATION
(Winnipeg Commercial)

One of the questions receiving a good deal of lively interest in Canada at the present time is that of technical education. It was dealt with at the convention here last Tuesday, and the discussion showed the grave importance of the subject in view of rapidly developing industries in Canada and the absence of an adequate supply of skilled labor. The speakers stated that the importation of skilled labor is merely a temporary expedient, and must be followed by the establishment of school's for technical training. It was brought out that young Canadians spend a considerable amount every year in foreign correspondence schools for this training, and that money would go a long way towards maintaining an ample number of technical schools in Canada.

We have the material in this country for the training of experts in any line of industry just as well as outside countries, and we agree with the manufacturers that the matter of establishing suitable schools should be attended to promptly. We have known cases of many young men who went across to the United States to learn certain trades, and before they graduated they had made up their minds to stay over theme. In that way some of the cleverest young men of our country are lost to us. That is why we read with pride of so many Canadian born young men holding high positions in the United States and other countries. If we had had the means at home for training these young men they would no doubt have launched into industrial ventures here in which they could make themselves just as famous as they are doing somewheres else. To have ample means of teaching our young people different trades and professions is the best way to keep the ambitious ones in this country.

MAY ELECTRIFY ROAD

Great Northern Engineers are Preparing Plans

Seattle, Sept. 27—Great Northern engineers are working out a plan to harness Chelan falls and generate electricity to operate all trains on the Hill road between Wenatchee and Seattle; between Wenatchee and Chelan Falls, on a road yet to be built and on the coast line between Seattle and Vancouver.

Electrical engineers have estimated that as high as 100,000 horse power can be generated from the proposed plant at Chelan Falls. A minimum estimate of 30,000 horse power is declared to be far below the figures of the majority of the engineers, but even that conservative basis is satisfactory to the Hill engineers. It is declared that the high power transmission lines can carry the high voltage as far west as Seattle without a loss of more than ten per cent. This would be satisfactory to the Hill engineers in their present undertaking. Experiments made within a comparatively recent time have shown that one man can operate a string of electric locomotives and that it is an easy matter to put enough of these engines on to a train to haul the longest and heaviest train that has ever crossed the mountains.

Plans for the electrification of the Hill system west of Wenatchee are not matured and it will be several years before they are finally completed. It was decided today by a high Hill official that within five years the scheme of applying electricity instead of steam as the motive power on the west end would be fully worked out, and within five or ten years the change would be made, Mr. Hill is declared to (have determined upon the change as soon as possible.

When the Cascade tunnel was built Mr. Hill advocated the use of electricity as a motive power for all engines passing through the tunnel. The same idea prevailed when the big bore was made under Seattle, but neither scheme has ever been carried out. Now the broader plan of using electricity on the entire system west of Wenatchee has been conceived. The new road to be built between Chelan and Wenatchee will in all probability be operated by electricity within a short time after it is built. The construction of a power plant at Chelan Falls is a comparatively easy undertaking, and surplus power can be sold to the small towns in the vicinity. When the electrification of the Hill system is carried westward the capacity of the plant can be increased.

Ultimately the Hill engineers believe the entire Great Northern system will be operated by electricity, but that, it is conceded, is a dream of the future. No satisfactory plan has been evolved for providing electric power in the prairie country and until it is, there will be no movement toward applying electricity as a motive power. East of Wenatchee the Great Northern engineers have not undertaken a study of the power possibilities. In a general way, though, they believe that the Spokane river would generate enough power to operate Hill trains near Spokane, but whether the Chelan Falls and Spokane river power stations would be sufficient to handle trains between Seattle and Spokane is a question yet undetermined. In fact, the matter will not be taken up until the problem between Seattle and Wenatchee has been worked out. Thus far there has been no consideration of the manner in which the electricity will be supplied the electric locomotives. The third rail, overhead and underground trolley systems have all been touched upon, but no conclusion has been reached. A still better plan may be evolved before the Hill lengineers work out the problem of electrification on the west end.

MINING RECORDS

As the season is coming to a close there have been a number of locations recorded and certificates of work issued during the last few days, showing that there is considerable activity just now in the hills. Three locations are recorded from Crawford bay, on Gray creek, being the Summit, by D. R. Brockeman, the Hillside by F. Z. Miner and the Sphinx by M. D. Brockenman. Certificates of work have been filed on the Bellingham by J. M. Brown and on the Superior and Gold Queen for work performed upon the Bellingham by J. M. Brown. J. L. Kane records certificates of work on the Careless and the Norah fraction. Ner Smith records certificates of work on the Tonka and the Oro Plata. Certificates are filed on the Clyde and Don Juan for work done on the Nevada by J. G. Devlin for B. Devlin and F. P. Drummond. Certificates have been issued to N. N. Nattstead for work on the Sioux and Minnehaha. Also to N. Everson on the Allyn and Eccleston. Angus Curry has a certificate on the Sunrise. No less than nine certificates of work have been issued to J. Lingreil, the claims being the Fairview, Sunnyside, Last Chance, Summit, Ben Hur, Old Dominion, Climax, Virginia and Pocahontas.

TALK OF SECESSION

Perth, West Australia, Sept. 27.—The commonwealth assembly today passed a resolution that the union of the state with the rest of the commonwealth was detrimental to the interest of Western Australia and that the time had arrived for submitting to the people the question of withdrawing. The premier said that this vote was due to the rejection by the commonwealth of a proposed survey for a trans-continental railroad.

TELEGRAMS OF THE DAY

NEW YORK MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED AT LAST

FATAL STEAMER COLLISION ON THE OTTAWA RIVER

Hudson Que., Sept. 27—One of the worst accidents in the history of navigation on the Ottawa river occurred about 1:30 this morning opposite here. The steamer Ottawan collided with the steamer Maude, striking in the opposite direction, smashing into the latter right to the wheelhouse. The Maude sank immediately, her top deck only remaining above water.

Captain Gauthier called the alarm to all those on board, but nevertheless, three were drowned. Miss Benson of Ottawa, a lady's maid, fell into the wreckage and was never seen again. The engineer and an unknown passenger were lost. The engineer's name is not known here. None of the bodies have so far been recovered. Eight horses and all the cattle perished. The officers of the Maude claim they gave the proper whistles and put the blame on the Ottawan, but as she continued her course nothing has been heard from her as yet.

New York, Sept. 27—Aimers Tashjain, an Armenian who was arrested last night and charged with the murder of his brother, Markarian, confessed to the police today that he had killed his brother. He said that he threw his brother's head into the Hudson river. A part of the dismembered body of Markarian was found in a pit near West 34th street on Sunday. The head, legs and part of the arms were missing, and as the head had not yet been found the identity of the body was unknown until Tashjain confessed. Tashjain withstood the ordeal of the police inquiry system all night with fortitude. This morning he was first arraigned in the Tombs police court, and then taken to the morgue. On looking at the parts of the body of his brother he broke down and said, according to the police: "I want to tell all; I did it." He then made a confession to police inspector McLaughlin. He said that he killed his brother because he was the "meanest and stingiest" fellow he ever saw. Last Saturday night he said he quarrelled with his brother over money. Aimera told Markarian that he was too stingy to live; that he would be better off dead; that he made a god of his money, and that when he died he would try to take it with him. "I made up my mind to kill him that night," said Tashjain. "He went to sleep and I stabbed him in the neck with that knife," pointing to a knife found by the police. "I wanted to get rid of the body so I decided to cut it up," continued Tashjain. "Between 12 and 1 o'clock I had him cut up. First I cut his head off and then his arms, and then his legs. I wrapped the trunk up, left the house with it, and dropped it in the hole where it was found. Then I took the legs and arms and threw them into the cars. About 5 o'clock in the morning I put the head in a black colored valise with a piece of iron and threw it into the river. I took $65 of my brother's money. I am glad to tell you all, for it worried me a lot."

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, Sept. 27—There was a sharp and prolonged earthquake shock early this morning but no damage was done.

Newburgh, N.Y. Sept. 27—Lizzie Halliday, a murderess confined in the Mattawean hospital for insane criminals, committed a murderous assault on Miss Millie Wicks, an attendant, aged 21. The Halliday woman followed Miss Wicks into the lavatory, adjoining the ward, knocked her down, and, taking a pair of scissors from Miss Wicks, stabbed her in the throat. Miss Wicks died two hours later. Lizzie Halliday in 1893 killed her husband, Paul and two women, concealing the bodies in the cellar of the house at Burlingham, a little place in Sullivan county.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 27—A special to the Chronicle from Eagle Pass, says that a telephone message received there from Jimines, 30 miles up the Rio Grande river, states that 40 armed men raided the town last night, placed the mayor and chief of police, treasurer and other officials in jail, and are now in control. The telephone wires were cut before the message was finished. Government troops have arrived on a special train today and are hastening to Jimines. Advices of a battle are expected at Eagle Pass at any hour. Ciudad Porfiro Diaz, across the river from Eagle Pass, is quiet today, but many Mexicans came over to sleep last night.

Washington, Sept. 27—Secretary of the United States treasury Shaw, announces that $26,000,000 will be deposited at the existing depository banks in the following cities: New York and Chicago, $3,000,000 each; Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and New Orleans, $2,000,000 each; Baltimore, Louisville, Kansas City, Cleveland $1,000,000 each; and 16 other cities, including Buffalo, $500,000 each. Securities in bonds which are lawful for savings banks of New York and Massachusetts will be accepted for these deposits at 90 per cent of their market value. These deposits are temporary in character, to be returned as soon as the pressure is over, beginning probably February next.

Rochester, Sept. 27—The United Presbyterian church synod assembled in Plymouth church this afternoon. The ministers agreed to sanction one ground for divorce and severely criticized the newspapers for printing reports of the divorce bills. The ministers also frowned on Sunday newspapers and the Sunday mail service. They adopted a resolution supporting Anthony Comstock, in which he is likened to a Moses, standing between the people and a plague of vile literature.

New Orleans, Sept. 27—For more than 12 hours a tropical hurricane has been blowing at a speed varying from 35 to 60 miles an hour. The telegraph and telephone wires are all down between here and gulf of Mexico points, where the storm is reported to have been the worst. The damage reported thus far is confined to the havoc of the tide driven by the wind up the gulf coast to an unusual height. At the mouth of the Mississippi river pilots were obliged to abandon their tows. Seventy-five Austrian fishermen and their families spent the night in boats on Doulluit's canal to escape the water, which is rising over the lower Mississippi delta and threatening their cabins. The rice fields are considerably damaged in this section. No vessels have attempted to enter the mouth of the river since Tuesday night, but are riding the storm in the open gulf. A washout is reported on the Louisville and Nashville railway at Lake Catherine and the New Orleans and Northeastern railroad reports its track under water at several places. The damage in New Orleans is small so far. Lake Ponchartrain is five feet above the normal and the wind has swept away a few of the fishing shacks. Three barges were sunk in the Mississippi river at Southport, above here.

New York, Sept. 27—Patrick Colbert, a valet, received a fortune under the will of his employer, Dr. Frank J. Freel, which was admitted to probate in the King's county court today, as the climax of a long fought contest. Colbert is the sole beneficiary, as the testator cut off his mother, sister and other blood relations. Under a trust agreement the valet will receive about $600,000.

Minnedosa, Sept. 27—The Caledonian football team of Calgary, champions of Alberta, won the championship of western Canada here today, defeating the local team, champions of Manitoba, by a score of 2-0.

Geneva, Sept. 27—Notices have been posted at most of the hotels and private houses here, at Sevr, Zurich, Lucerne and other cities in Switzerland, announcing that Russians are refused accommodation. This arises from the recent discovery of a Russian bomb depot in Switzerland and the assassination at Interlaken of a Frenchman named Mueller, who was mistaken for M. Durnovo, the ex-Russian minister of the interior.

Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 27—The new annex to the university, a splendid granite structure, erected at a cost of $1,250,000, was opened by king Edward today in the presence of hundreds of learned men who are participating in the 400th anniversary of the university. The king was accompanied by queen Alexandra.

New York, Sept. 27—The attempt of a revolutionary body to overthrow president Castro of Venezuela, is said to be the indirect cause today of the indicting of five men by the federal grand jury on the charge of having dies in their possession for the making of Venezeulan silver dollars. The indicted men are captain Geo. R. Boynton and Louis M. Thompson, the alleged agents of the revolutionary movement; Theodore Wilcox, Sydney P. Keller and Joseph F. Keller. The Kellers, who are engaged in the die-making business here as well as Thompson and Wilcox, pleaded guilty. Boynton could not be located. All save Wilcox were held in $2000 bail. Wilcox's bond was fixed at $1000.

HINTS FOR ADVERTISERS

EVERYONE LOOKING FOR THE FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS

IMPORTANCE OF CARE IN PREPARING ADVERTISEMENTS

The fall season is one of the periods when everybody is looking out for advertisements as they are looking for new clothing, furnishings, hats and shoes. You will do well by considering the matter carefully so as to present neat and timely productions, says Clothier and Furnisher. Use a good design to strengthen the effectiveness of your advertisement whenever and wherever you can. The idea of a good design combines with the idea of the thing advertised, and thus gives to the mind a more vivid realization of the matter of the production. The question frequently asked, to what extent should illustrative designs be used in advertising, may be answered by saying that nearly all forms admit of their use. It is a rarity to find a production that a good and appropriate design would not add to its effect. Nearly every advertisement contains something or some idea that sould be vivified and emphasized by the use of a suitable illustration. The cut need not be large, but it should be suitable. Some prominent advertising writers seem to hold to the idea that the illustration is of special value to catch the eye, and apart from that its use is a waste of space. "Eye catchers" that suggest nothing in the production we conceive to be an abuse of illustrative advertising. It is common for some patent medicine man to write an advertisement on some subject of interest and then at the close wind up with their advertisement. Nine persons out of every ten will turn from such an advertisement in disgust. Take it home to yourself. You feel that you have been lured by the article into a trap; and that feeling produces a revulsion from the methods employed. It is much the same with what is called the "eye catcher," for the eye that is caught turns from the luring object the moment the recognition comes that the "eye catcher" has no relation to the matter of the advertisement. In a sense the illustration of any advertisement is used to attract attention, but when it is used correctly it not only attracts attention but inspires attention with interest in the matter of the production. The idea in the design of the illustration should blend with the matter and language of the advertisement. If no such blending follows its use, better omit it.

We do not contend that the language of advertisements should conform with models of style, or that the sentential construction should be in keeping with the niceties of syntax, or that the rules of rhetoric and prosody should be strictly adhered to, but what we do contend is that big words to express plain thoughts concerning common things add no force to the advertisement, and are an abomination upon him who uses them. We also contend that the necessity for slang words and common colloquial expressions to add pith and force to an advertisement does not exist. The advertiser should not belittle the goods he advertises by going into the gutter for the language of his advertisement.

Selling goods is an honorable business. There is nothing in the business that makes slang necessary to success. Everything the merchant has for sale is supposed to serve a special purpose; it is an article of utility, and not an article that needs dragging through colloquialisms and slang to get people to realize its utility. When the advertiser has anything to say to the public about his goods he should use words of good repute, plain English, that every English reader can understand. By doing so he does not only bring his goods to the attention of the families, but he brings to them good English, which makes him a benefactor as well as an advertiser.

The language of an advertiser is intended to convey to the reader the advertisers thoughts that have reference to the kind of matter presented. The words used are the stepping stones to a realization of the thoughts expressed, or the signs of the ideas that are combined to form the general notion comprehended in the thought. To think correctly, therefore, is to bring the necessary ideas into their proper relation so as to give unity and simplicity, clearness and symmetry to the thought in its completed form. If we regard words as the wings that carry the thoughts home to the recipient mind of readers, the importance of selecting the right words becomes apparent.

BUILT UP HER HEALTH

SPEEDY CURE OF MISS ECCLESON

She is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

For the wonderful help that she has found Zula Eccelson, 6 Erie St., East, St. Thomas, Ont., believes it her duty to write the following letter for publication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a tonic and regulator for female troubles. I suffered for four years with displacement and no one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental suffering those endure who are thus affected. Your Vegetable Compound cured me. Within three months I was fully restored to health and strength and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to obtain such relief when so many doctors fail to help you. Your medicine is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Her experience is very great, and she gives the benefit of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

RELICS BEAT REMNANTS

VICTORIA TOURNAMENT TEAM WON CRICKET MATCH.

GREAT STAND MADE BY BOURKE AND HODGE.

What is probably the last cricket match of the season was played yesterday afternoon on the recreation grounds between the team that went to the coast and a team of Nelson players who did not go. At first sight it would have seemed that victory was certain for those who went abroad but this was warmly disputed by the others under the captaincy of Rev. F. H. Graham. The club's best bowler, Ed. Mason, had been obliged to forego the trip to the coast and there were, in addition, several good bats from whom several things were expected. On the other hand, the visiting team had lost several of their men and had to fill the eleven with others. One of these others, indeed, G. C. Hodge, played with Crozier Bourke the most sensational stand between any two wickets; Hodge went in to join Bourke at the bat when the score was 44 and the partners were not divorced until the score had amounted to 91. Indeed, after Hodge had been dismissed, only an additional 11 runs were obtained by the others.

Victory rested with the Victorians, called the "Relics" who defeated the "Remnants" by 102 runs to 46. The star innings was that of Crozier Bourke who carried his bat for 55 runs, giving only one chance in a steady innings.

The Remnants first went to bat with B. P. Hardcastle and C. Bell at the wickets. Greig took the first over for a maiden and Bourke got Hardcastle's wicket on his fourth ball, his third having been hit for three by Bell. Ley joined Bell at the wicket and gave a chance on his second ball to Elvery which was missed, Ley's innings afterwards costing the Relics nine. Bell was shortly after stumped out and captain Paddon, a strong hitter who has been, however, unfortunate this season, took his place, but was bowled clean by Bourke for a duck. This was three wickets for 12 runs and things looked blue for the Remnants. Mason then came to bat and before Ley's wicket fell the score had been run up to 26. J. Wood-Taylor and C. T. Partington were not lucky and no stand was made till Mawdsley came to bat. Mason was bowled by Coppen who was put on after Mason had scored a four hit, one being an overthrow, Steele missing the ball. Coppen indeed distinguished himself for putting himself on as a change bowler, vice Greig retired, as he got three wickets for one run, in two overs, one necessarily being a maiden. This is a record for the captain who is immensely proud of it, quite making up for the duck he got for his own side, spoiling his batting average for the season.

With all the Remnants out for 46 the Relics had an easy game before them. A. H. Coppen and W. Greig went to bat first, the former taking the first over. He played five of Hardcastle's balls successfully but an impatient swipe at the sixth proved too much for him and he retired, the first wicket thus being gained at no expense. H. E. Wade went to bat but his wicket fell early, two for 16. The first hit of the innings was one by Greig for three which he shortly followed by hitting a third clean into the grand stand. Wade was succeeded by Crozier Bourke and then the runs began to pile slowly up, the bowling of Hardcastle and Mason being none too easy to hit. Indeed Mason's exhibition was wonderful under the circumstances, he having been struck by a fast ball from Bourke on the kneecap in the previous innings and badly lamed in consequence. Thirteen runs were added before Greig was dismissed for 15. The next three wickets fell quickly, those of A. J. Dill, A. Tregillus and D. J. Elvery, there being then six down for 44.

Then Hodge came to the wicket and proved a mascot. He hit a well bowled ball of Ed Mason, with supreme disregard of consequences, for two and tied the score. After another dozen runs had been added by Bourke and Hodge, Ley and Bell took the ball. They were costly and presently Ed. Mason went back to his forte. But the batters could not be separated until they had nearly doubled the score of their opponents when, finally, Hodges wicket fell. After that 11 more were added to the score but they were all contributions from Bourke.

The Remnants went to bat again but the innings was not finished, the stumps being drawn at the end of the eighth wicket down for 56.

The fielding was fair on both sides but as both were playing men who lacked practice there were several slips made. One, in the case of Bourke, when a catch was missed by Partington, cost his side the additional 22 runs which Bourke subsequently won. Bell's innings showed him to be a stronger bat than had been supposed and continued practice may ensure him a place in the first eleven next year. The same can be said of J. Wood-Taylor who batted freely in his second innings. There were several pieces of smart fielding by Partington, Dill and others and there was a pretty catch at short slip in the final innings by E. J. Marks and another in the deep field by J. Teague.

The score is as follows:

McBRIDE'S PROMPTER

COLONIST EDITOR TO ATTEND CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS

WILL "POST" B. C. REPRESENTATIVE AS DEBATES PROCEED

Victoria, Sept. 26.—It has been decided that R. E. Gosnell, editor of the Colonist, is to accompany Hon. Richard McBride when he leaves for Ottawa to attend the conference of provincial premiers and the federal ministers which meets on October 8. Mr. Gosnell is an authority on the subject of "better terms," and will be taken by premier McBride as an adviser and prompter.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—On Monday, October 8, the premiers of the nine Canadian provinces will gather at Ottawa to discuss with sir Wilfrid Laurier and a committee of his ministers various matters of joint provincial and federal interest. The paramount issue will be the demand made by the various provinces for increased subsidies from the federal exchequer, but there will be a number of other highly important matters to the front. On two previous occasions have the premiers foregathered and passed resolutions setting forth their reasons why the British North America Act, the foundation upon which Confederation rests, should be amended in a manner to provide for more generous treatment of the provinces, particularly in respect to subsidies. The distinguishing feature between the conferences of 1887 and 1902 was that at the first gathering the resolutions adopted covered a wide variety of subjects, whereas the latter conference confined itself almost exclusively to the subject of better financial terms.

The reason for this was that the federal government had dealt with a number of recommendations made at the original conference, and the provinces had come to the conclusion that it would be futile to continue to urge a number of the other proposals made. Among these were the following:

1. That the federal power of disallowing provincial statutes should be abrogated.

2. That the senate, the purpose of which was to protect the interests of the provinces, should be composed of members appointed for a limited term and that the provinces should be given the right to name half of the members of the upper house.

3. That the lieutenant governors-in-council be given the power to pardon people convicted of crimes against the laws of the provinces, a power which rests exclusively with the governor general-in-council.

4. That the legislative councils which exist in certain of the provinces be abolished, or that their mode of election and powers be made uniform.

One of the suggestions advanced at the first conference and which was carried out by the present administration, was to pass a new franchise act providing for the use of the provincial voters' lists in all dominion election contests.

At the second conference which met at Quebec on December 20, 1902, no resolutions bearing upon any of the matters mentioned above were passed, but the suggestions thrown out in reference to larger subsidies were almost identical with those proposed in 1887, and the arguments advanced, allowing for the difference in the revenues and population, were about the same.

In support of the plea for more generous financial assistance it was urged that the expenses of the provinces had increased, particularly in respect to the administration of justice and public instruction, much more rapidly than the revenue. It was made clear that it was not the desire of the provincial governments to embarrass the federal authorities, but that the views expressed were those generally held by those who had experience in the administration of provincial affairs. The approaching conference will differ from those which have preceded it in this respect, that it will not be participated in by provincial premiers and ministers alone. The federal ministers will be there as well. If the latter consent to an increase of subsidies they will want a substantial quid pro quo. A number of suggestions have been made as to what the dominion authorities will demand, the most likely being that the provinces will be asked, in return for larger grants, to surrender their power to subsidize railways and to hand over to the federal authorities their rights in respect to fisheries as established by a judgment given by the privy council of England in 1898. The dominion ministers will, in respect to the first matter, no doubt point out that, but for their lavishness in granting bonuses to railways the provinces would not be hard up at the present time. The surrender of this power by the provinces would mean that any reasonable increase in subsidies would be ample provision for the wants of the provinces for a considerable time. Then as to the fisheries. It would be worth something to the dominion to have the entire control of inland as well as sea fisheries as the present division of jurisdiction tends to friction and can never be really satisfactory. The privy council decided that any proprietory rights in the fisheries vested in the provinces at the time of confederation still belongs to them. How much this decision means in regard to more than one matter has never been satisfactorily settled. Dominion jurisdiction, for instance, is supposed to extend to harbors, but what really constitutes a harbor is a matter of dispute between the federal and provincial governments. If the dominion could obtain complete control of all fisheries, with the possible exception of angling in provincial streams, it would be worth a good cash consideration.

Then there are a number of less important matters which will undoubtedly come within the purview of the conference, such as the granting of federal charters to railways, solely within a province, a proceeding which has been strenuously objected to of late; the taxing of commercial travellers from other provinces by Quebec and Prince Edward island, the control of water powers, with particular reference to Niagara; and the extension of the boundaries of western provinces to Hudson's Bay.

In addition to sir Wilfrid Laurier, the dominion ministers who will take part in the conference will undoubtedly be those who have charge of the important matters mentioned such as Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance; Hon. I. P. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries; Hon. R. W. Scott, secretary of state; Hon. H. R. Emmerson, minister of railways; Hon. Wm. Paterson, minister of customs, and Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, minister of justice.

JEROME DISAPPOINTED

BECAUSE HE DID NOT GET DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

SAYS HE MAY MAKE A STATEMENT IN DUE TIME.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Delegates of the democratic state convention were late in rising today and the party leaders showed no disposition whatever to comment at this time upon the ticket named last night or upon the character of the proceedings. District attorney William Travers Jerome, who entered the race for the democratic nomination because of the "disgraceful" conditions which he declared existed, returned this afternoon to New York. He was asked this morning if he had any comment to make on Heart's nomination. Mr. Jerome did not attend the convention. "I will say nothing for the present," he said: "Later I may make my position and my views clear, but for the present I shall give out no statement."

Mayor McClellan, of New York, this afternoon gave the Associated Press the following statement: "The democratic state convention has nominated a ticket all democratic and of course I accept its action."

Rohester, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The Rochester Morning Herald, ever since its birth a democratic newspaper, this morning announces itself as an independent newspaper and advocates the election of Charles E. Hughes.

STRIKE ON ST. EUGENE

PROMISING NEW ORE SHOOTS ARE UNCOVERED.

BODY OF ORE IN SIGHT GREATLY AUGMENTED.

Rossland, Sept. 27.—It was learned yesterday from an authoritative source that the 1400 foot level of the St. Eugene mine at Moyie, East Kootenay, is looking exceedingly well, as new shoots of ore have been uncovered there and they are known to be as wide as the drift. Stoping only can determine how much wider they are. Besides this a very important shoot has been found on the 1900 foot level which is very wide. On making inquiries it was learned that the important discoveries at the St. Eugene are shoots of ore found on the main vein and south vein in the drifts extending east from the shafts. These ore shoots are at a depth from the surface of 1400 feet. But more important than these shoots is a cross vein on the 1900 foot level which has been discovered several hundred feet further east than the developed work on the 2000 foot level. The cross vein runs from the main vein to the south vein, a distance of 250 feet, and is known to be ten feet wide. At one point where a crossuct has been run it is about 30 feet wide. It is one of the largest ore shoots yet found in the St. Eugene, and the average value of the ore that it carries is about as high as any yet found in the mine. A great deal of ore will run 50 per cent lead as broken down in the face. These new ore shoots add greatly to the quantity of ore in sight in the mine, and give the best assurances possible of a long life of profit to it. The St. Eugene is certainly showing itself to be a very large producer of lead ore, and good as its performances have been in the past in the way of producing large quantities of ore, the finding of these new shoots, in addition to the old shoots, promises that it will easily keep up its reputation as the largest lead mine in Canada.

HOW MEN DRESSED THEN

At a recent period dance in New York all the guests wore suits and dresses worn by their forefathers before the war. The men wore high collars and stock ties, coats with broad velvet collars and peg top trousers, light dancing slippers and white stockings. In many cases original costumes were worn.

It needed just such a garment exhibition to emphasize the sartorial achievements of the Semi-ready tailoring system in the present period. The contrast was great, but the simplicity, culture and real lines of art in the evening dress suits made by the Semi-ready company and sold only in semi-ready wardrobes, have never been attained in any other era of the world of fashion. Every Semi-ready garment whether a $15 suit or a $35 Semi-ready Chesterfield, is tailored as an individual work of art.

THE NEW LABOR PARTY

EMPHASIZES ADOPTION OF LABOR CONGRESS PLATFORM.

(Winnipeg Tribune)

P. M. Draper, secretary and treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, stopped over on his return from the annual convention of the congress at Victoria, B. C., recently held and of which secretary Draper spoke as follows: "The most important decision of the congress was that to form a labor party which shall be distinct from both existing political parties and also from the socialist party of Canada.

"The congress, as a legislative body, has plenty of work to accomplish at present. However, I believe that a labor party can be formed in Canada similar to that now in Great Britain. It is the intention to initiate the movement by having it developed through the provincial executives. Of course they will receive their instructions from the general executive officers to summon a provincial convention. When this convention is assembled and ready for business the congress will step aside and the provincial delegates will then proceed to select their candidates and to provide the machinery for their election on the basis of the platform of principles of the congress.

"We hope by this means to interest all trades unionists and wage-earners and the great mass of unorganized wage-workers sufficiently to have them go to the polls and vote for our candidates.

"The next important question dealt with by the congress was that of Asiatic immigration, and a strong resolution was adopted condemning all Asiatic immigration and a request will be made to the dominion government to place a prohibitive tax upon all Asiatic immigrants. While in Vancouver I was informed that there are over 700 Chinese employed in various occupations in that city. I noticed a large lumber mill at one place in British Columbia where several hundred Chinese were employed.

"Delegates to our congress from British Columbia stated that the Hindoos are a very inferior race of men. In fact they claim that these foreigners are morally degraded and absolutely unfit to associate or to assimilate, in any way, with white men. I noticed them in groups at Vancouver and they appeared to me to be absolutely careless of personal appearance and of most uncleanly habit.

"The reports from the various provinces were of the most encouraging character. The congress increased its membership by 5000 last year, and it is expected that even greater gains will be made during the coming year.

"I am happy to be in a position to state that W. W. R. Trotter, of Winnipeg, western organizer for the congress, has done splendid work for the past two months from Winnipeg to the coast, for which the executive of our congress complimented Mr. Trotter, personally, at the Victoria convention. Mr. Trotter is still organizing and will continue until about November 1, when he will return home, coming via the Crow's Nest Pass route."

RYAN ON THE STAND

MUST TELL DETAILS OF KAMLOOPS TIMBER DEAL.

I. O. F. CLAIMS IT WAS SWINDLED OF $55,000.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—At the insurance inquiry yesterday afternoon, Stevenson, supreme councillor of the I. O. F., said the Union Trust company had gone out of the lumbering business, having sold the Kamloops Lumber company at a price which will repay principal and interest, with $75,000 profit, in addition to which they expect to recover $55,000, out of which Stevenson said the I. O. F. had been swindled in the purchase. The actual profits of the I. O. F. on Northwest land and British Columbia lumber investments were, according to a statement submitted by Mr. Stevenson, $652,000, which, when the remaining lands are sold, will be increased to $750,000. Peter Ryan, after much persuasion, admitted that Mr. Fowler, M. P., had, months after the transaction, informed him that he had to divide up the $55,000, the difference between the actual price paid for the Shields-Ryan property and the amount paid by the Union Trust company to Mr. Ryan. Mr. Ryan refused to give the names of the parties mentioned by Mr. Fowler as sharing in the amount, on the ground that the statement was slanderous and he did not believe it, but thought Mr. Fowler got it all himself. Mr. Ryan was given until Monday morning to make up his mind whether or not he will give information.

FIND FORTUNE IN A WELL

Iowa Farmer Discovers Can Containing Dead Miser's Gold.

Webster City, Iowa, Sept. 27.—Frank Blint, a Lee county farmer, has come into possession of a large fortune in a most unusual manner, having found among the rubbish at the bottom of an old well a can containing $50,000 in gold. The farm upon which this great wealth was found was formerly owned by a man named Courtwright, a wealthy miser.

Courtwright had always been reputed to be wealthy, but when he died the administrator was unable to find much of the money he was said to have possessed. Courtwright would not trust the banks, but instead hid his money away in various places upon the farm where he lived. Now that the treasure from the well has come to light, there is no telling how much more may be hidden away upon the farm. The house had not been occupied for a number of years prior to Blint's occupancy, and people in that part of the country though it haunted.

Blint purchased the old Courtwright farm some months ago for a song on account of the ghosts supposed to haunt the place. He put many repairs upon it and had begun to enlarge the cistern. While at the bottom turning dirt, his spade struck a chest which, when brought forth, was found to contain several thousand dollars. Blint was more than satisfied with his investment, but after unearthing the chest did not dream of what was yet to come. It so happened that an old well needed cleaning, and Blint went down to do the work. In the rubbish at the bottom he found tin cans filled with gold coin to the value of $50,000. Courtwright had no known heirs, so Blint has the only claim upon the money found.

FOR LOVERS OF MUSIC

VISIT OF CHICAGO PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

LEADING ARTISTS HAVE CONTINENTAL REPUTATIONS

A great deal of interest is being manifested by Nelson music lovers in the announcement just made by the 20,000 club that it has engaged the Philharmonic Concert company and orchestra of Chicago, to give a concert in the opera house on the evening of Oct. 12. As already stated, the company numbers amongst its artistes the following: Fannie Ferguson, prima donna soprano; Raymond Lehr, cornet soloist; Karl Riedelsberger, violin virtuoso; Ruby King, pianist and accompanist. Miss Ferguson as a soprano, has sung in the large cities from coast to coast, winning the heartiest approval and appreciation from her listeners. She possesses a voice of unusual beauty, with dramatic power to a marked degree, of pure and melodious quality and with a powerful range. Raymond Lehr, the boy cornet virtuoso, is perhaps the youngest graduate of the conservatory in America, since he was only 12 years old when he took the highest medal awarded to graduates of the famous Dana Musical institute at Warren, Ohio. The little man's technique and tone on the cornet are far beyond expectations. He plays the most difficult solos with the greatest ease, and his endurance, or as cornetists call it, his lip, is marvelled at by the best musicians. Karl Riedelsberger began the study of the violin at the age of seven, as a pupil of Max Brode, one of the best artists in Germany. At the age of 14 he became the violin player of the celebrated Brode quartette and undertook a great many successful concert tours in Germany. For four years he studied at the Stern conservatory in Berlin. While there Emile Sauret, who is considered the greatest living French violinist, was his teacher on the violin and professor Radecke, the first conductor of the Royal Opera house, his instructor in chamber music and orchestra playing. Leaving the conservatory he became first violin at a prominent Berlin opera house and then came to America, where he joined the Theodore Thomas orchestra of which he was a member for three years in New York and Chicago.

PAIN FROM BURN PROMPTLY RELIEVED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S PAIN BALM

A little child of Michael Strauss of Vernon Conn. was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to Mr. James N. Nichols, a local merchant, for something to stop the pain. Mr. Nichols says: "I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this liniment myself and recommended it very ofte nfor cuts, burns, strains and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint." For sale by all druggists and dealers.

CHEAP INSURANCE.

New York, Sept. 27.—A special cable despatch from London to the Times states that the heirs of one of the victims of the Grantham disaster have received $10,000 insurance which was effected at a cost of one penny. The insured was a regular subscriber to a London penny weekly, which insures its readers against accidents and death. The day of the disaster he sent his bag, containing a current copy of the paper duly signed, to the hotel at Redford, where he expected to pass the night. Within a few hours of his death the claim was examined, allowed and settled.

"MONEY WILL MAKE THE POT BOIL THOUGH THE DEVIL POUR WATER ON THE FIRE."

AND MONEY—invested in Publicity—will make the store prosper, though assailed on all sides by "hoodoos," "bad luck," or murderous competition!

That "Money is Power" has been conceded since the first coin came from the first mint.

But it has remained for the present generation to learn how to most effectually harness power and make it do the world's work—how, by putting money to work, to make it a useful and a tractable power.

Newspaper advertising will send store-crowds where they were never before seen will overcome the bad location hoodoo—will do away with "dull days" and "slow stocks"—will batter down, finally, every obstacle to complete store-success—and increasing store growth and profits.

If your Advertising Campaign is big enough, peristent enough, intelligent enough—if it embodies a "Selling Plan" for everything you have to sell—your business will prosper no matter how many of your friends or enemies try to pour water on your fire!

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Judge Forin will hold chambers tomorrow at 11 o'clock instead of on Monday as usual

E. Baillie has returned from a trip to the Mammoth. He reports the property looking well.

It has been definitely settled that chief justice Hunter will take the coming session of the supreme court here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bodwell are registered at the Strathcona, Mr Bodwell being here on legal business connected with the coming assizes.

James McPhee and John Hyslop left last night for the coast where they will take charge of the Nelson exhibit at the New Westminster fair.

The erecting engineer of the city power plant is now on his way here according to a telegram received yesterday by the local agents of Allis-Chalmers-Bullock.

L. P. Eckstein, the well known lawyer of Fernie, came into the city last night in connection with the lumber cases to be tried next week.

Rainbow trout are biting better now than at any previous time in the season. A phenomenal catch is reported from Midge creek by Procter residents.

The air pipe from the site of the new compressor plant of the La Plata, to be built near the present mill, is being put in up the hill to the mine, a mile away and 2500 feet above.

Residents of Bogustown are now awaiting the installation of the city power plant with some impatience. Many are prospective customers of the city as they intend to get the light switched on to their homes without delay.

From the first of next month the Kuskanook will leave at 7 o'clock in the morning instead of 6:30. It remains to be seen, however, if the fast boat can make her time and the same number of calls on the same expenditure of coal.

There are now so many homes across the lake immediately facing Nelson that it is probable that in the spring a ferry will be run across the lake, if a wagon road can be constructed along the shore. With such a road a ferry would be a great convenience to the many people who now reside across the lake the summer through.

A meeting of the fruit growers' association wil ibe held this afternoon to settle finally the fate of the now famous resolution advocating the removal of the head tax on Chinese immigrants. As a great deal of interest is taken in the subject, the session should be lively.

The C.P.R. has made a reduction on the rates to New Zealand during the exhibition time. Tickets will be sold from Oct. 12 next and will be good until next April. The first class fare is reduced to $296 and the second class to $228.

The 20,000 club is receiving congratulations on every hand for the treat it has arranged for local music lovers in engaging the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra company for a concert here. An extended notice of the company and its leading artists appears elsewhere, and to it the attention of all interested is directed. The 20,000 club is making every effort to ensure a successful concert, and it deserves hearty public support.
