CHALLENGE TAKEN UP

Liberal Leader Macdonald Meets Hawthornthwaite on Platform

Rousing Meeting at Rossland Last Night at Which Socialist Leader's Record in Legislature is Criticised

(Special to The Daily News)

Rossland, July 18.—At the miners' celebration here on Monday last, J. H. Hawthornthwaite, the socialist propagandist, issued a challenge to the leader of the opposition to meet him on the platform at a public meeting on Tuesday evening, the meeting being called in the interests of the socialists. At the appointed time Mr. Macdonald was present, and prepared to take the platform, but received no invitation from the chairman. The chairman proceeded to open the meeting by stating that Mr. Hawthornthwaite would give an address on socialism. At the conclusion any person might ask any question they desired, or any representative of capitalism would be allowed to present the capitalistic side of the question. Mr. Macdonald then rose in the audience and reminded Mr. Hawthorthwaite of his challenge and asked whether or not he would be permitted to speak, not as the representative of capitalism, because he disclaimed being such, but in response to the challenge which had been issued to him to meet Mr. Hawthornthwaite on the platform. Mr. Hawthornthwaite replied that if Mr. Macdonald chose to speak as a representative of capitalism and confine himself to that, he would be allowed to speak. On rising again Mr. Macdonald was cheered by the audience and urged to take the platform, which he did. He then again reminded both the chairman and Mr. Hawthornthwaite of the challenge which had been issued, and that in response to that challenge he was there to discuss socialism as exemplified by Mr. Hawthornthwaite in the local house. Both the chairman and Mr. Hawthornthwaite declared that Mr. Macdonld would not be allowed to discuss Mr. Hawthornthwaite's record in the legislature, but Mr. Hawthornthwaite said that he would return from the Boundary in a week or two and would hold another meeting at which Mr. Macdonald would have an opportunity to speak. To this Mr. Macdonald replied that this was a very empty bluff indeed, as Mr. Hawthornthwaite knew that he, Mr. Macdonald, was leaving home for a trip through the province, and would be absent for a month or six weeks, that he had told him this on Saturday. Mr. Macdonald then taunted the socialist leader with shirking the issue, and being afraid to meet him after challenging him to be there. This resulted in shaming the socialist leader into a declaration that he would hold a meeting the next night, namely Wednesday night, for the purpose of discussing provincial issues, and he invited Mr. Macdonald to be present, this invitation was accepted amid the cheers of the audience which filled the hall in anticipation of a joint meeting.

Mr. Hawthornthwaite then addressed himself to socialism in the usual strain.

Tonight's meeting was largely attended. Hawthornthwaite opened, dealing with Macdonald's record on labor questions. He criticized his action with regard to the eight hour law in smelters. He blamed him for the defeat of the bill of last session, by saying that he had brought about an amicable settlement between the employers and the employed. Hawthornthwaite blamed the liberal party in the local house for the defeat of every labor bill that was defeated, by saying that had the liberals stood to a man with the socialists for these bills they would have been carried against the government. Therefore, he reasoned that liberals alone were responsible for their defeat. He gives Macdonald credit for keeping intact the eight hour law in coal mines. He repeated his usual statements about the workers not being interested in taxes, public lands, or natural resources. He said that he stood for the workers' alone and did not care a button for the commercial interests, merchants or business men. He did not care what happened to them. They might go to Halifax for all he cared. He told the workers that they were slaves, that if they had to go to Trail or Nelson they would have to hit the pike as they could not afford to pay their railroad fare.

Hawthornthwaite's remarks throughout were very little applauded. The audience was distinctly hostile.

Macdonald answered all these criticisms and said that his work in bringing about the reduction of the hours in smelters by peaceful means would appeal to every right thinking workingman, especially those who had gone through unhappy labor troubles in the past. He pointed out that by this amicable arrangement it had been demonstrated that peaceable and reasonable means were the best. These means were not those advocated by Hawthornthwaite, who had declared the other day that there should be no peace between capital and labor.

Speaking of the eight hour law in coal mines, he said that the eight hour law principle had been adopted in mining and should be uniform all over the province, and that no exception should be made to the law for one mine, as was sought in the case of one of the Nanaimo mines. He then told the audience the difference between theoretical socialism and practical socialism as exemplified by Mr. Hawthornthwaite and his followers in the house last session. They had reversed the very first plank in the socialist platform by voting for the transformation of the lands of the people into the lands of the corporations. The man who prteneded to be a corporation smasher was one of the most ardent in giving away to a corporation a large block of the land of the people.

He pointed out that Hawthornthwaite at Vancouver had excused this on the plea that two labor bills might have been defeated if he (Hawthornthwaite) and his friends had not voted away this land and sustained the government. The bills to facilitate the transfer of voters and the weekly wage bill. Macdonald pointed out that the first was not a labor bill at all—was introduced not by the socialists, but by the attorney general, and was supported by every member of the house and passed without a dissenting voice. That the second was defeated in the house the day before the C. & W. bill was voted on. Therefore, Hawthornthwaite's excuse for giving away this land was falacious. He then referred to the Kaien island deal, pointed out that the government had not dealt with the Grand Trunk Pacific as was claimed. That this was so was proved beyond question by the fact that after the order in council was passed Bodwell and Anderson went to Montreal and got an agreement from the Grand Trunk Pacific to pay $40,000. Here again the socialist leader had violated his own platform by approving of this questionable disposition of public lands to speculators or corporations. Macdonald said that it was quite apparent from Hawthorthwaite's excuse given at Vancouver, when he told the audience that five of McBride's followers intended to vote against him (McBride) and thus defeat the government, that Hawthornthwaite's chief anxiety was to keep his ally, McBride in power.

At the close of Macdonald's speech which lasted an hour, he received an ovation from the audience, with three cheers and a tiger.

Hawthornthwaite then replied, attempting to excuse his vote on the C. & W., by saying that the Vancouver World had not reported him fully; that there were three labor bills depending upon the C. & W. namely, the two mentioned and the bill to reduce the deposit.

Macdonald interrupted by pointing out that the bill to reduce the deposit was passed 11 days before the C. & W. vote.

When Hawthornthwaite finished his reply the audience had nearly all departed as the hour was late.

The meeting was overwhelmingly against him.

GRAND FORKS LICENSING BOARD

C. P. R. Oppose Issuance of License to Hotel at Fife Without Avail

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, July 18—A regular meeting of the district licensing board was held here yesterday when the following licenses were granted to Chris Mati at Niagara and to Frank Hartinger at Bannock City.

Divisional engineer Guernsey of the C.P.R. appeared at the meeting and very strongly opposed the granting of a license to John Carlson at Fife, his objection being that the hotel was in such close proximity to the lime quarry that it would interfere with the work considerably. The license commissioners decided that as no protest had been put in against the granting of this license at the previous meeting when it was decided to grant it, that it would not be proper to make any change now. The commissioners present were M. D. Whiteside and A. D. McPhee, chairman E. Miller having resigned a short time ago and his position has not as yet been filled. Chief license commissioner I. A. Dinsmore was also at the meeting. It is reported that the C.P.R. will appeal from the decision of the board regarding the license to John Carlson at Fife to the county court.

Superintendent A. D. McPhee of the McKinley mine, arrived here yesterday. He says that great activity exists in Franklin camp. The government wagon road is now completed to Franklin city. Diamond drills are steadily working on the McKinley with excellent results.

Twenty-one instruments for the Grand Forks brass band arrived yesterday and the band will now commence to hold regular practices under the leadership of R. B. Thomas, bandmaster.

INTEND TO KILL HIM.

Soldiers Serve Notice on Their Colonel, Who Seeks Safety in Flight.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—It has been reported that some of the soldiers of the Seminovsky guard regiment have served notice on their commander, colonel Minn, that they intend to kill him at the first opportunity for coercing them to murder their fellow citizens during the Moscow troubles and that Minn, in fear of his life, has fled from the vicinity.

MITCHELL MURDER CASE

Seattle, July 18.—Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Maud Creffield are being examined daily by Dr. J. B. Loughary, who calls in one or more consulting physicians to act as advisers in an effort to determine the mental condition of the women who are responsible for the death of George Mitchell. These examinations are being made at the request of prosecuting attorney Mackintosh and the reports made by the physicians are being kept a secret. It is stated, however, by Mr. Mackintosh that no complete report has been made so far, and it is probable that the examinations will be kept up for some little time. The women so conduct themselves as to make the determination of their mental condition a baffling proposition.

Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Maud Creffield, the woman whose dupe the former is, were jointly charged with murder in the first degree yesterday by information filed direct in the superior court by prosecuting attorney Mackintosh. A single information covers the charge against each of the women, but this does not mean that they must stand trial together, for if they wish each may demand a separate trial.

TRAGEDY IN AN ASYLUM

INSANE PATIENT KILLS TWO OF THE WOMEN INMATES

AND MORTALLY WOUNDS KEEPER RICHARD DAVIES

Scranton, Pa., July 18—A terrible tragedy occurred in the Hillside home today when an insane patient killed two other inmates and mortally wounded one of the keepers. The murderer is Ignatius Krewsep, a deaf and dumb Pole, who was given work in one of the wards with two women, also insane patients, Mrs. Anna Golden, a widow, aged, and "Missouri Ann" Van Allen, aged 58.

During the absence of keeper Richard Davies, the insane man secured an amputating knife, with which he later stabbed Davies and the two women. Floyd Bedmer, son of the superintendent, knocked the knife out of the madman's hand. Both women died soon afterwards and Davies is not expected to live through the night.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES

Ottawa, July 18.—(Special)—Hon. Wm. Templeman today assumed control of the geological department in addition to his duties as minister of inland revenue, an order-in-council having been passed transferring that department to him.

It was understood when Mr. Templeman was given the inland revenue department in February last that he would also be given control of the mining department. Having in his hands the administration of the geological survey and the mining branch of the interior department for the time that will intervene before next session of parliament, Mr. Templeman will be in a better position to advise in respect to the organization of a department of mines, with a minister of mines at the head, for the creation of which legislation will be necessary.

It is understood an act for this purpose will be passed at the next session.

SLAUGHTER OF ZULUS

Winston Churchill Tells of Thousands Slain in Natal Uprising

Reports of Maltreatment of Wounded Prisoners Emanating From Johannesberg Not Confirmed

London, July 18.—Under colonial secretary Churchill, imparted to the house of commons this afternoon the official reply to the government's enquiry into the alleged atrocities perpetrated on the wounded Zulus in Natal during the operations against the rebel chief Bambaata.

According to a telegram from the governor of Natal, 3000 natives were killed throughout the operations and 2000 were made prisoners, including the wounded.

The Natal government had no information about wounded natives being killed by the native levies.

The telegram confirmed the official version of Bambaata's head being cut off for identification, owing to decomposition of the rest of the body, and of its being subsequently buried with the latter.

In reply to further questions, asking what steps the government proposed to take in view of the practical admission of the charges in connection with the treatment of wounded Zulus, premier Campbell-Bannerman said there was no disposition either to excuse or to admit such butcheries. The Natal government had no knowledge of the killing of wounded natives and was greatly surprised at the extraordinary telegrams sent out from Johannesburg imputing a wholesale massacre or ill-treatment of the native wounded.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

During the recent Kirmess a valuable pair of red and green curtains, which were borrowed by the committee for decoration purposes, were lost. An endeavor is now being made to locate these articles and any person knowing of their whereabouts is requested to communicate with the fire hall.

J. E. Annable leaves this morning to take charge of the Kootenay booth at the Winnipeg fair. Mr. Annable was very busy all yesterday making final arrangements. He is particularly anxious that plenty of flowers should be sent on to decorate the booth with and it is to be hoped that this feature will not be overlooked by those who have it in charge. F. J. Sammons will be in charge of Mr. Annable's office and will supply all information to intending shippers of exhibits from this time on.

The first dance at the tramway park under the auspices of the 20,000 club is still in the air. It was announced for this evening, when it was found it would clash with the garden party arranged for this afternoon and evening, and in addition the band was not available. It was then announced for tomorrow evening, but unfortunately the band is again engaged, this time for a dance at Fraternity hall. As Saturday evening is not looked upon with favor for dances, it is assumed that the dance will be postponed until some evening next week.

Rev. J. A. Gordon, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Montreal, one of the leading churches of that denomination in this country, is at the Strathcona. Mr. Gordon is here to take a brief rest from his labors, and to visit his son, P. W. Gordon, who represents the Imperial Oil company here, and to follow up church organization work in which he is engaged. Mr. Gordon is down on the program of the Baptist summer assembly which opens here next week, and he hopes to be able to take part in the convention. Primarily he is engaged, with others, in organizing the Baptist church in Canada from ocean to ocean and is one of the "fathers" of Baptist federation and is an able and eloquent speaker.

TO DEVELOP VOLCANIC GROUP

R. A. Brown Tells of Big Undertaking—Deals in I. X. L. and Bluebell

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, July 18 — Following the many important deals for rich copper properties up the North Fork, during the last few weeks comes the announcement that R. A. Brown is perfecting arrangements whereby the Volcanic group of claims will be extensively developed in the near future. In an interview last evening with your correspondent Mr. Brown said: "Yes; I am going to have the Volcanic group working again soon. I will first complete the big 1700 foot tunnel which will tap the main ore body. When this is done a 3000 ton smelter will be erected and the work will be well under way before two years. Owing to the character of Volcanic mountain ore it can be treated much cheaper than any other ore in British Columbia. The Great Northern railway will run above the Volcanic mountain smelter site, while the Kettle Valley line will pass along just below the smelter dumping ground."

Mr. Brown did not state where he was obtaining the capital for this extensive work, but it is unofficially stated that a strong American company will be behind the undertaking.

Among the small mining deals closed here during the past week was the purchase of a sixth interest in the I.X.L. property in Franklin camp by James McArdle, the former owner being Frank McFarlane. P. T. McCallum, M. R. Feeney and Thos Newby have each acquired a one-third interest in the Bluebell in Glouster camp.

HIS WORK IS FINISHED

JAMES CRONIN EXPLAINS HIS RESIGNATION

CONSOLIDATED IN SAFE HANDS—HAS GREAT FUTURE

James Cronin just now is something like a boy in the long summer vacation. Mr. Cronin has had a long shift and he proposes to take life comparatively easy for a while at least. He was at the Hume last night and will take a run down to Ymir today to look over some mining interests there.

In the course of a brief interview last night Mr. Cronin said: "I have contemplated resigning my position as manager for the Consolidated Mines for some time. The properties are all in excellent shape and in most capable hands. You may be sure that unless I was certain all would go well I would not have resigned, but the work I started out to do is now completed and I am now at liberty to take a holiday and look after some of my own mining affairs more closely.

"The Consolidated Mining & Smelting company could not have a more efficient head than Mr. Aldridge—everyone recognizes that fact out here and in the east—and the minor positions are all well filled. M. E. Purcell is mine superintendent at Rossland, and R. H. Stewart attends to the engineering side of the work, while at Moyie W. R. White is superintendent of the St. Eugene, having come back once more to the property.'

Mr. Cronin smiled broadly when the reporter gingerly asked if there was anything behind his resignation.

"Do you think," said the genial Irishman, speaking with some emphasis, "that I would retain all my holdings in the Consolidated as I have done, and I'm one of the largest stock holders, if there was any thing wrong. It is because everything is right and because the right men are in charge that I feel at length at liberty to take the step I have. I have always spoken very frankly to The Daily News and have never had cause to regret doing so. If there was anything to add at this time I would say so, but I have told you all there is in the matter. I'm on the board of directors and will continue to visit Moyie and Rossland and I have plenty of matters of my own in southern British Columbia to look after. I have a home in Spokane for my wife and family but a deal of my time will be spent here. Things were at a rather low ebb when I first came into the deal. I have been lucky and much of the praise for the present satisfactory state of affairs is due to the men who have worked with me, their assistance has been invaluable and my management has helped out; but it's little I could have done but for the help I got."

In concluding Mr. Cronin said there was a great future before the Consolidated M. & S. company for many obvious reasons. The financial end was in the hands of strong men, the western end was ably and wisely conducted and looked after, and the company's sphere of operations was bound to extend very largely and he believed very profitably, so that in the next few years great progress would be made.

CHAPTER OF FATALITIES

Montreal's List of Tragedies Yesterday Included Three Violent Deaths

Montreal, July 18—Today's casualty list in the city was dreadfully large, and of most horrible variety. A young man's body was taken out of the canal; a young girl was crushed to death in an elevator; the badly decomposed remains of a laboring man was found beneath a pile of planks just outside one of the city parks and there were other minor casualties.

The man taken out of the canal is unidentified, but in his possession was found a card marked "Thomas Atherton," and he was neatly dressed. It is impossible to identify the man found beneath the pile of plank, so horribly is the body decomposed. The young lady killed by the elevator at Sherbrooke flats is named Elizabeth Watts, but is not known to have relatives in the city.

GILDEN AUTOMOBILE TOUR.

Party of About Three Hundred Reach Montreal in Seventy Cars.

Montreal, July 18.—Dust begrimmed, but with running powers unimpaired, the pilot car of the Gilden automobile tour arrived at the Windsor hotel at 10:55 o'clock this morning, with Walter C. White, son of the president of the White Sewing Machine company, and R. H. Johnson, of New York, on board. They left the hotel Champlain at about 7 o'clock covering the intervening distance of 72 miles uneventfully. They left about two hours later. The touring party followed a trail of confetti left by the pilot machine to Montreal and entered the city by Victoria bridge. The invading party number about 300 ardent motorists, with about 70 cars of various manufactur and design. They will remain in Montreal until Friday morning when a start will be made from the Place Viger hotel on the concluding stages of the tour from Buffalo to Bretton Woods, N. H.

HARRY THAW'S DEFENCE

WILL NOT CONSENT TO RE-ENGAGEMENT OF FORMER COUNSEL

NEITHER WILL HE CONSENT TO PLEA OF INSANITY.

New York, July 18.—The chaotic conditions surrounding the preparation of a defense for Harry K. Thaw, accused of the murder of Stanford White, were accentuated today, and apparently the breach between the prisoner and his monther, Mrs. William Thaw, of Pittsburg, regarding the defense, is wider than ever. Following a conference of two hours with Thaw, after the mother had twice during the day endeavored to gain the boy's consent to the re-employment of the law firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber & Bonynge, and to consent to a plea of insanity, Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's personal counsel, obtained from supreme court justice Blanchard, an order directing judge Olcott's firm to show cause next Friday why they should not turn over to Hartridge all the papers in Thaw's case.

Mr. Hartridge based his application on a petition filed by Thaw, which was placed on record.

HAS FAITH IN COBALT

Thomas A. Edison Operating One Claim and Seeks Others

Ground Adjoining Gillies Reserve Being Worked Profitably--Government May Operate or Lease on High Royalty

Cobalt, Ont., July 18.—R. E. Kemet, of the local brokerage firm of Wills & Co., confirms the report of valuable new discoveries near the Montreal river in the southwestern part of Coleman township. Thomas A. Edison owns and operates a claim there from which there is a steady production of Cobalt ore. Mr. Edison's representative is also purchasing additional cobalt in the open market to be used by the inventor in his New Jersey works. There is also an apparently well-grounded rumor that this representative is trying to buy a number of cobalt-silver claims for the famous wizard. Some of the offers made by the Edison representative have been flatly rejected.

The Montreal-Cobalt Mining company is operating on a 107-acre tract on the south side of the Montreal river and immediately next to the noted Gillies' limit, which the government has withdrawn from location with a view of mining the area on its own account, if it does not conclude to lease the territory at big royalties. The Montreal-Cobalt Mining company's ground is in the heart of a belt that is destined to advance rapidly, the group having as neighbors the Preston ground, where at least two veins of silver-cobalt ore are reported to exist; the MacFarlane claims across the river, where a great variety of nugget silver is found, and the Big Three, which has an exceptionally fine vein, responsive of smaltite and niccolite, resembling in character the product of the Silver Queen. The group is about four and a half miles southwest of Cobalt. The faith of Edison and other great interests that the cobalt-silver belt extends even farther in that direction is shown by the activity of the inventor at a point two miles southwest of the Montreal Cobalt Mining company's group, which lies about midway between the most actively operated claims in the Cobalt and Portage bay sections, and which shows 21 veins averaging from one and a half to three inches wide, assays from a diamond drill boring, obtained at 124 feet on three of these veins showed 520 ounces of silver, 7 per cent cobalt and 5 per cent nickel.

There are two distinct dykes on the Montreal Cobalt Mining company's group, each about four or five feet wide, which have yielded ore showing over 3 per cent cobalt, 2 to 5 per cent nickel and from 20 to 80 ounces of silver, the ore being taken from the surface. As the ore of the locality is mostly in diabase, a diamond drill is being placed on these dykes to prospect to a depth of 1000 feet and the management naturally expects big results. Calcite appears in strong, well defined seams in half a dozen of the veins and there is a great deal of cobalt bloom, particularly in the walls adjacent to the calcite. The property is being financed by the same interests that placed on the market the Coleman Cobalt company, near Kerr lake, which is reported to have paid the investors about 800 per cent.

A new strike of valuable ore was made recently on the east shore of lake Sasaginaga, on ground just west of the Trethewey mine, and operated by the Amalgamated Mines company. The territory has not been regarded as surely productive heretofore. The vein is about two inches wide on the surface; but as the outcrop has not been blasted or trenched it is difficult to forecast the length or value of the discovery.

The Montreal Cobalt reports a new vein and is forging ahead in development. The shafthouse and storeage bin of the Trethewey are almost completed.

The Silver Queen, which is shipping a carload of ore, has nearly completed its plant, the boiler and engine having been installed.

The McKinley-Darragh-Savage has installed a boiler, engine and compressor plant, which some people expect to see in operation within a week; but as this company conducts its operations with great secrecy it is difficult to predict when the plant will be in operation.

The Nova Scotia which has been adding to its conveniences in sections, is completing its plant and may be said to be fully equipped.

FIVE MEN DROWNED

A terrible drowning accident occurred Monday night on the Spillimacheen river, about 40 miles south of Golden by which five men lost their lives. Ten men tried to cross the river in a small boat, when going to camp for their supper. The river is very high and their boat struck a rock in the middle. It was completely wrecked. Five men swam ashore and the other five were drowned.

The dead are: James Tomlinson, foreman for the C. R. Lumber company, E. Sanstrom, A. Kinmore, Stephen Norris and another, name unknown, supposed to be a foreigner.

A DEPARTMENT OF MINES

Our Ottawa correspondent telegraphs that Hon. William Templeman has taken over the geological survey and the mining branch of the department of the interior. The idea is, apparently, that he should familiarize himself with the work of these branches preparatory to the introduction of legislation at the next session of parliament creating a department of mines under the control of a minister of mines.

British Columbians will heartily approve of the steps now being taken to organize a distinct department of mines, and the fact that a representative from this province is to be entrusted with the work of organization is but another recognition on the part of the dominion government of the preeminence of British Columbia in the mining industry.

The duty imposed upon William Templeman is a very important one and we may feel sure that he fully appreciates the responsibility. He is given an unequalled opportunity of displaying his capacity as an organizer of a great undertaking, for such the department of mines may easily become. There is a vast field for the exercise of initiative and of sound business administration in the creation of a department of mines that will effectively serve the mining industry form the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Mr. Templeman has the example of Hon. Clifford Sifton's brilliant administration of the department of the interior, of Hon. Sydney Fisher's progressive administration of the agricultural department and of sir William Mulock's really remarkable achievements as postmaster general. Here is the stimulus to exertion and in his case Mr. Templeman has the advantage of starting with practically a clean slate. Sifton, Fisher and Mulock had to grapple with the blunders and mismanagement of predecessors. Mr. Templeman will be able to start without any such handicap. He will have no beaten ruts to get out of and no staff of officials trained in methods foredoomed to failure.

Mr. Templeman is known to be a very cautious man, slow to action, but persistent in the pursuit of any object he really believes to be in the best interests of the country. He will doubtless be governed by these characteristics in the work of organising the new department and they will stand him in good stead.

The creation of a department of mines under a responsible head has long been desired by the mining men of this province and Mr. Templeman will find that in the difficult task of placing this department upon a sound basis he will have the cordial co-operation of the mine operators of British Columbia.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf, by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In reviewing the work of the session of the dominion parliament just closed we omitted special reference to the act amending the Immigration Act, which gives greater power to exclude from Canada immigrants that are physically or mentally unsound. Paupers and criminals, or persons likely to become a charge on the public, are also to be excluded. Immigrants of the pauper or criminal classes can be returned within two years to the country from which they came, and the expense of transportation must be borne by the railway and steamship companies. Special mention should also have been made of the act which debars members or senators from receiving any compensation for services rendered in connection with any matter before either house, or before any committee of either house. The penalty for violation of the act is a fine and disqualification. The senate struck out the provision in regard to disqualification of a senator, on the ground that this could not be done, but doubled the fine to be imposed upon a member of the upper house in order to make some amends for their action.

"Mr. Sifton and sir Wilfrid Laurier had just about as much to do with the development of the west as they had with the signing of the Magna Charta." The foregoing from the Toronto Mail and Empire is a fine exemplification of partisanship run mad. When we think of the department of the interior under the administration of Thomas Mayne Daly and then take note of the remarkable change brought about in that department by the far-seeing, aggressive statesmanship of Clifford Sifton we are at a loss to comprehend how even the most hidebound tory can seek to deny the latter generous recognition of the splendid services he rendered Canada. No conservative in the west, who has the slightest regard for the truth, would endorse the Mail and Empire's absolutely fatuous contention. Mr. Sifton's bitterest political opponents in the city of Winnipeg have been, and are today, pronouncing in their expressions of appreciation of his work as minister of the interior. And well they may be. His administration of the west has been the chief factor in the wonderful expansion of the city of Winnipeg and of every other town in the prairie provinces.

PUBLIC OPINION

Press Comment on the New Law Respecting Sabbath Observance

Toronto Mail and Empire:—What the Lord's Day act now means it is impossible to say. Apparently, however, the measure declares that the day must be observed strictly, except where it is not convenient so to do. Should there be no desire to observe the day, the provincial legislature may legislate in that sense. But if the legislature does not care to pass an act suspending the law the attorney general may refuse to allow persons to be prosecuted for violations of the act.

Toronto News:—The bill has many excellent features, but the social customs of the various provinces vary so greatly that it will be difficult to make federal legislation of this character generally effective. It is not reasonable to expect that Quebec would accept Sabbath legislation that would suit the people of Ontario, and it is unfair that Ontario should be asked to modify its views of Sabbath observance in order to meet conditions in Quebec. A measure which will suit British Columbia will not suit Nova Scotia. No province has any right by federal legislation or otherwise to practise social coercion.

Toronto World:—What it allows or prohibits in the matter of Sunday observance no man, least of all its makers, can know or probably ever will know. This is certain that it will provide a plentiful crop of litigation and may incidentally result in the elucidation of various nice points of constitutional law. The offences it is supposed to create are not only uncertain in themselves but are subject to alteration and modification by provincial acts or laws now or hereafter in force, and the curious consequence necessarily follows that a statute of the dominion parliament may be operative in Ontario, but not in Quebec and will be appealed to in one province to support restriction and in another to justify liberty and even license.

The Sunday purists profess to be satisfied with the act, but their sincerity is open to doubt. If full advantage is taken of the numerous exceptions, the Lord's day in Canada will bear but a remote resemblance to the ideal Sunday it was their object to secure. And it is curious that the power of amendment given to the provinces—itself a questionable validity—appears to be only in the direction of relaxation, not of severity. Even more remarkable is the provision that leave of the attorney general in each province is required before a prosecution is commenced. It will, therefore be in the power of this minister to nullify a dominion act if he so pleases by refusing to sanction the institution of proceedings.

Toronto Monetary Times:—The Sunday Observance act pleases nobody. It will accomplish nothing except to make it more difficult than ever to retain practices founded upon a too literal interpretation of the fourth commandment. The minister in charge of the bill admitted a lack of sympathy with its spirit. By his way of defending a measure which was an undesirable legacy to him, he pretty clearly intimated that he hoped it would not be thoroughly applied. The promoters of the bill nominally based their case on the economic value of one day's rest out of seven. But the real motive of the legislation secured by the Lord's Day Alliance was a wish to retain a Sunday which must be the outward expression of the inward grace which taught some of our parents and grandparents that such operations as shaving on the Sabbath day, were offences against the eternal verities. It is neither statesmanlike nor religious to make the task of legally observing the Sabbath more laborious than the toil of any other day of the week.

No prosecution for violation of the act will be possible except by consent of a provincial attorney general. This introduces an utterly vicious principle into the administration of the law. The Lord's day act will utterly fail to achieve what its promoters desire, which is not much of a calamity. It is misshapen and will lessen respect for the law and for lawmakers.

DEATH OF DAVID GLASS

WAS PROMINENT IN CANADIAN PUBLIC LIFE

WELL KNOWN IN KOOTENAYS IN EARLY DAYS OF ROSSLAND

David Glass, formerly of London, Ont., and well known in the early days of Rossland, is dead at his residence in Spokane, at the age of 76 years.

The late Mr. Glass and his son, Chester Glass, the latter acting for F. August Heinze, were prominent in the mining affairs of Rossland in the early days of that camp, and through the time occupied in building the original Trail smelter and the construction of the Columbia & Western railway from Trail to Rossland and later to Robson.

The deceased gentleman came to Spokane from Manitoba in 1888 and at once came to Rossland during the first boom days of that camp. He resided in Rossland for some time and was concerned in several of the mining ventures which then started up. He returned to Spokane permanently in 1899 and has resided there ever since. He is survived by his widow and daughter, Miss Eva Glass, who reside in Spokane, and his son, Chester, formerly of Spokane, but now of New York.

Mr. Glass was born in Ontario and has filled many important public offices.

He was called to the bar in Ontario, practicing successfully at London. Mr. Glass was the successful counsel in a number of important cases, among them the well known case of the attorney general vs. Fonseca, argued at Ottawa before the supreme court of Canada. He defended Jones in the Delaware murder trial, Thos. Coyle in the Nissouri murder trial and Smith in the Sombra trial at Sarnia.

He entered the city council of London, Ont., in 1855, remaining as alderman until 1858, when he was elected mayor by a unanimous vote. At the end of his term in office he was presented with a silver service by the corporation. He was subsequently elected mayor twice. He also filled the offices of police magistrate and judge of the recorder's court at London. He was later a deputy judge of the county of Middlesex.

In 1872 he was elected to the house of commons from East Middlesex and sat in the house the following parliament, in 1873 he, with 13 supporters opposed sir John A. Macdonald in what was known as the "Pacific Railway Scandal." His speech made at that time in the house was reported in pamphlet form and had a wide circulation. His argument was on the constitutional question before the house.

Moving to Winnipeg he entered the practice of law there with his son, Chester.

In 1886 Mr. Glass was elected for St. Clements in Manitoba, and soon after by a unanimous vote was chosen speaker of the legislature. He held this office until the end of parliament. Previous to this Mr. Glass had been appointed solicitor for the city of Winnipeg. While he was thus employed he was advised by his physician on account of an attack of muscular rheumatism to discontinue his sedentary employment. During the two succeeding years Mr. Glass travelled extensively, spending most of his time on salt water. He returned from his travels completely cured.

After coming to Spokane in 1888 Mr. Glass gave up the practice of law and engaged in business. He was the founder of the City Park Street railway company. At the time of his death Mr. Glass was the owner of much real estate in the city and surrounding country. Most of his time was spent during the late years of his life in looking after these interests.

He was a member of the Anglican church. Mr. Glass joined the Masonic order in 1860 and soon became master of his lodge and a member of the grand lodge of Canada. His chief field of research was in the Scottish rite, where he took the 32nd degree. He was one of the charter members of the Oriental consistory Scottish Rite Masons of Spokane. In 1893 at the Chicago world's fair Mr. Glass attended the World's Congress of Masonry at the Masonic temple.

The funeral will be held today in Spokane under the auspices of the Masons, and in the fall the body will be taken to London, Ontario, for final burial, remaining in the receiving vault at Spokane meanwhile.

DEATH OF LADY CURZON

WIFE OF FORMER VICEROY OF INDIA PASSES AWAY.

WAS DAUGHTER OF WELL KNOWN CHICAGO MILLIONAIRE

London, July 18.—Lady Curzon, wife of the former viceroy of India, who has been ill for some days, died at 5:40 this evening. She never quite recovered from her serious illness at Walmer Castle, Kent, in 1904, and the recent hot weather brought on a pronounced attack of general debility.

She was formerly Miss Mary Leiter, daughter of the late Levi F. Leiter, of Chicago.

It was not until this afternoon that lady Curzon's condition gave cause for anxiety. At about noon she got worse and two specialists were called in. They remained in attendance till the end.

It was announced at the Curzon residence this evening that the final cause of lady Curzon's death was heart failure, but she had been suffering from complications which were the sequel of her terrible illness of two years ago.

The funeral, the date of which has not yet been fixed, will occur at Kedleston.

ALFRED BEIT'S FORTUNE

Said to Have Been Below $50,000,000—Large Charitable Bequests Looked for London, July 17—Those who are really in a position to give authoritative information regarding the amount of the fortune of the late Alfred Beit, the South African financier, and the terms of his will, have not yet given it to the newspapers. Estimates ranging from 125 to 625 millions have bene published, but it will probably be found when the terms of the will are given out, that Mr. Beit's fortune was somewhere below $50,000,000. About one-third of the amount, it is expected, will be bequeathed to national purposes in Great Britain and South Africa, mainly for educational purposes.

Mr. Beit had several married sisters in Germany and Austria and presumably they as well as his mother and brothers, will inherit considerable sums.

TEN HOURS' BATTLE

Ten Thousand Guatemalans Routed by Salvadoreans at Metapan.

San Salvador, Tuesday, July 17.—(Delayed in transmission).—Shortly before the armistice was agreed to, over 10,000 Guatemalan soldiers made a desperate attack on the Salvadorean positions by way of Metapan. The Guatemalan artillery, stationed on high plains fronting the Salvadorean positions, cannonaded the latter unceasingly, but the bad quality of the shells and the poor aim of the artillery resulted in the Salvadorean forces escaping without many casualties. At about 3 p.m., in the midst of a torrential rain, the Guatemalan artillery routed the Salvador forces, dislodging them from the positions held by general Torrero and colonel Hernandez. The battle lasted ten hours and eventually resulted in a triumph for the Salvadorean arms.

The forces of Salvador are now divided into three bodies, and are strung along the frontier. The center, consisting of 2000 men, is under the command of generals Horacio Halla Vicencio and Patensiano Escalon, who occupy positions beyond Custa del Mangle, Contepeue and Piedra Azules, in Guatemalan territory, with reserves at Elecoco and Chatshupa. The left army is in the department of Ahuachapan beyond Rio Paz, under the command of general Freristales. He has 2000 men, who occupy positions at Platanar Las Escobas and Hacienda Margarit in Guatemalan territory. The right army, composed of 10,000 men, under generals Preza and Duarte is on the defensive. These two wings have been constantly and energetically, but unsuccessfully attacked by the Guatemalan forces.

NEW ZEALAND'S SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT INSURANCE

One of the deepest of the many pleasant impressions which New Zealand makes upon the visitor is that in its public affairs it is a land of peace and probity. The incessant clamor of investigation into the conduct of public and semi-public business, the dust and stench of constant disclosures, which have come to be almost the normal condition of life in the United States, are practically unknown in that island colony of the southern seas. Such a national disgrace as the insurance scandals, which have so shocked and amazed the American public, would be impossible there. The methods of the government insurance department and the honesty and publicity with which the office is administered give absolute confidence to the New Zealander insured therein. In thirty-six years there has not been even a suspicion of wrongdoing in the department.

Government life insurance has had a thorough test in the colony, but fire insurance is one of its recent experiments. The life insurance department began work in 1870, having been established because of the failure of two British companies in which many New Zealanders held policies. It was the result of a general public conviction that there must be greater security in life insurance and that their own government was the likeliest place in which to find it. The act establishing the department was passed by unanimous vote of parliament.

The government insurance office does business in competition with all the other companies that wish to enter its field, and it has not only beaten them in the contest but is steadily gaining on their business. It does 41 per cent of the entire life insurance business of the colony, and now transacts the largest amount of new business. Then foreign companies compete with it. Six of these are Australian, two British, and two are American, the New York Life and the New York Equitable. The two latter have been in the colony nearly twenty years, and hold together only 3000 policies, assuring $5,500,000. The big Australian Mutual Provident Association is the only foreign company that transacts anything near the amount of the government business. It has been in New Zealand more than 40 years and holds 30,700 policies, assuring $40,000,000. The government office has in force over 44,000 policies, assuring $55,000,000.

The utmost publicity is afforded by the reports issued annually and triennially, which give full details of the work and progress of the office. An English insurance expert has declared that in form and contents its annual report is well deserving of imitation by all offices that court public inspection.

But the unique distinction of this insurance office is that behind every policy stands the government of New Zealand, guaranteeing its payment. No fears need ever disturb the mind of the policy holder concerning his security.

The company is co-operative and is conducted on practically the same methods used by private mutual life insurance companies. It is entirely self-supporting, even to its telegrams and postage, and the expenses and taxes are borne by the policy holders, who share the whole of the profits. Its officials work for modest salaries, comparable to what they would be able to command elsewhere, and these they endeavor to earn by honest, efficient work and devotion to their duties. The department does not consider the creation of a big surplus to be sound business management, and, as it does not have to pay large sums to legislative agents, contribute to campaign funds, or create kindly feeling by means of expensive social functions, the policy holders find there is something to share when the profits are divided. These now accrue at the rate of nearly $350,000 per annum. The department has distributed in dividends to policy holders $5,000,000 in cash.

Bonuses are allotted every three years but by a recent arrangement interim bonuses are given in the case of claims by death or maturity, and are included in all calculations of surrender values, whether the policies are actually surrendered or are borrowed upon or the premiums are overdue. It is the policy of the office to make things as easy as possible for those who get into temporary financial straits, and in accordance with this purpose the policy holder who is compelled to surrender receives the proper proportion of accrued bonuses for every premier paid since the last valuation. It is the same, kindly, human, brotherly spirit which marks the administration of every department of the New Zealand government.

This kindly unwillingness to take advantage of another's necessities is shown also in the system by which a policy on which premiums are overdue continues in force automatically. The 27,000 policy holders in the Equitable who have allowed their policies to lapse during the insurance disclosures and convulsions would no doubt be thankful were such a scheme in force here. Surrender values and loan values are allowed after two years, and if after that time the premium is not paid an account is opened crediting the policy holder with the surrender value and increases therein, and debiting him with premiums and interest thereon as they fall due. As long as the amount to credit exceeds the amount owing, the policy is in full force, and in the event of death or maturity the sum assured and bonuses less the arrears with interest are paid. During one recent year 29 over-due policies fell in by the deaths of the persons assured, and, although on most of them not a penny of premium had been paid for six years or more, the department recognized claims upon them to the amount of $40,000, exclusive of bonuses. Lapsed policies which have not acquired a surrender value, or in which the surrender value has become exhausted, may be revived within 12 months by giving proof of health and paying arrears and a fine.

The policy of a holder committing suicide within six months of the date of the policy does or does not become void, according to the discretion of the commissioner. If he is satisfied after making careful inquiry that there was no suicidal intention at the time of taking out of the policy he pays the claim. The extent to which the officials of the New Zealand government are allowed to exercise their common sense and their human feeling in their dealings with the people is a bit surprising. In every department one meets with that same kindliness and fair play instead of a strict adherence to the letter of the law. It has the effect of making the government in its relation to the people seem more like a band of elder brothers, than a complicated machine.

Endowment assurance is the class of policy chiefy issued. This fact makes comparison of New Zealand rates with those in this country somewhat difficult, but they are lower than those charged by the private companies doing business in the colony. The Australian Provident Association pays larger bonuses, but charges higher premiums. But it is a much older institution and has branches in many parts of the world while the department does little business outside of the colony. The death rate in New Zealand is the lowest of any country in the world, and this fact, of course, helps to make possible both lower rates and larger profits. The premiums originally adopted by the insurance department were very low, and were not framed to provide bonuses. But even these low rates produced surpluses from the beginning, and when it was found necessary to provide bonuses in order to compete with the private companies now charged on an endowment policy for $500 taken out at the age of 30 years and payable at death or the age of 80, is $11 yearly; in 30 years, $15; in twenty years, $22. Extra premiums are not charged for women, nor for any occupation other than that of engaging in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors. Under-average lives are accepted at increased rates, or the proposer, instead of paying an increased premium, may agree that a deduction shall be made from the sum assured in the event of death within a certain period.

The liquor question is always alive and extremely vigorous in New Zealand, and therefore it was found advisable to start a temperance branch, which contains only policies on the lives of total abstainers. The accounts of this branch are so kept that if there are any profits arising from superior vitality they may be enjoyed exclusively by those who have earned them. The bonuses in the two sections do not differ materially, sometimes one and sometimes the other being a trifle the larger.

The investments of the insurance department are controlled by a board consisting of the colonial treasurer, the surveyor general, the commissioner of taxes and the insurance commissioner. The investments are mainly confined to New Zealand government securities and to loans to local bodies and to policy holders and on real estate. Its assets are $18,800,000. Its income for 1904, from new premiums, renewals and interest, amounted to nearly $2,500,000, and its expenses were 20 per cent of the premium income. Since its inception it has paid $13,500,000 in claims. During the last 15 years there has been an increase of 62 per cent in the number of policies in force, of 40 per cent in the sum assured, of 256 per cent in the bonuses, of 768 per cent in the annuities, of 61 per cent in the income, of 132 per cent in the accumulated funds, and a decrease of 6 per cent in the expenses of management and of 33 per cent in the ratio of total expenses to total income.

An accident insurance branch was opened in 1901, mainly for the purpose of covering the liabilities of employers of labor, which had been much increased by the workers' compensation for accidents act passed the previous year. Personal accident policies are also issued. The costs of conducting the business are carried entirely by the accident branch and the life funds are in no case liable.

A combined insurance and annuity scheme has been in operation since 1893. In return for monthly deductions amounting to about $25 annually for every $500 of salary the insurance department contracts to give a uniform initial insurance of $500, increasing with the salary, until the age of sixty is reached, and after that an annuity varying with the age at entry. These policies are placed in a separate table, but are merged in the general business, and share in the distribution of profits. The scheme is compulsory upon all civil servants who do not insure of their own wish. But more than 90 per cent of the government employees have taken out their insurance of their own initiative. They may insure in whatever company they choose.

A little more than a year ago a fire insurance department was established, in compliance with a strong popular demand. The fire insurance companies had kept rates at an exorbitant figure, and, as the life insurance department had proved so successful, the people all over the colony demanded that the government should go into the business and establish fair rates and a more liberal policy.

The department opened its doors with a flat reduction of 10 per cent in all classes of business. The private companies met this, and then cut under still farther by a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent on dwellings— the "W" of insurance classification—and the government promptly made its rates the same. There the rate question has rested ever since, while the companies have been trying a flank movement. If the owner of an insured property takes out a government policy the underwriters cancel his insurance. If the government cannot take a risk the owner finds that the private companies at once raise the rates. The companies refuse to recognize the department or reinsure its risks. But it has been able to make reinsurance arrangements with Lloyds' in London, and is not disturbed by the attempted boycott. It is careful not to jeopardize the interests of its clients in its fight with the private companies, and if it cannot take the whole of a big risk it cancels its own business rather than subject the owner of the property to the boycott of the combine.

The fire insurance department has saved to the people in the first year of its operation more than half a million dollars in premiums. The commissioner is well satisfied with the results of the first year's work. But he is a conservative man, and said that he did not consider it a sufficient test of the merits of the scheme.

I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SITUATION GROWS WORSE

LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN RUSSIA TERRORIZED BY ASSASSINATIONS

PARLIAMENT ADDING TO CONFUSION NOW PREVAILING

St. Petersburg, July 18—The political barometer is again falling. The confusion which seems to have taken possession of the upper spheres since the efforts to form a coalition ministry failed, coupled with the alarming reports from the interior and the attitude of parliament, make almost anything possible. There has been a marked renewal of apprehension that the crisis may end in a coup d'etat against parliament. The assassination of vice-admiral Chouknin and general Kozlov, the discovery that behind the murder of the general was a big plot to kill not only general Trepoff, but prince Putiatin, and other courtiers, and the general epidemic of assassinations that has terrorized not only the local authorities, but even the police, together with the wild destruction of property by the peasantry in half a dozen provinces during the past few days, have again strengthened the small part of the court which believes in resorting to "extreme measures."

The adoption by the lower house of parliament of an address to the country will, it is feared, place in the hands of the reactionists the needed lever to move his majesty. M. Petrajitski vainly warned the lower house yesterday of the seriousness of the proposed step, but the majority of the constitutional democrats of which party he is a member, seemed to be convinced that they must hold the peasants at all costs. The members of the extreme left seem to court a fight, preaching revolution from the rostrum.

The Novoe Vremya, which often states the views of the court, says today that the adoption by the lower house of an address to the country would go beyond the jurisdiction of parliament and virtually constitute an appeal from the government of the people. The paper adds: "With its adoption, parliament would cross the Rubicon, abandon its professed policy of trying to restrain the country and, instead of pacifying, deliberately pour oil on the flames."

Despatches from the interior continue to tell without interruption stories of burning of many houses, robberies, murders, collisions between peasants and the rural guards and the hurried despatch of troops here and there.

The center of the peasants' uprising is Veronezh province, where the peasants in the mania for destruction of property, do not discriminate between friends and foes, as evidenced by the complete destruction of the estate of M. Kokoshkine, one of the most prominent constitutional democrats in the lower house.

Today's reports describe the situation in that province as hopeless from the standpoint of the landlords. The situation is almost as bad in Poltavo and Smolensk provinces. In Tambov province 80 peasants are reported to have been killed or wounded by dragoons.

A further proof of the change of spirit at Peterhof was learned today in that emperor Nicholas has requested the members of the Goremykin cabinet to retain their posts.

The assassin of general Kosloff of the headquarters' staff, who was murdered in the English park at Peterhof on Saturday last, has been identified as a Lett, who belonged to an organization, the members of which have sworn to kill general Trepoff, general prince Putiatin and 13 other persons intimately connected with the court. The assassin was chosen by lot.

Moscow, July 18—With the utmost secrecy in the presence of grand dukes Constantine, Alix, Boris and Dimitri, the grand duchess Elizabeth and a few faithful retainers, the body of grand duke Sergius, who was assassinated here by the explosion of a bomb on Feb. 17, 1905, and which has been resting in a temporary vault, was last night interred in the crypt of the Tchudoff monastery, of the Michaels in the Kremlin.

Peterhof, July 18—The deputation of officers and men from the four Siberian corps and the 1st Manchurian corps, including the 12th Siberian regiment, of which the grand duke Alexis is honorary colonel, was received today by the emperor and the heir to the throne, who is now about two years old. A deputation presented their compliments to the emperor and grand duke Alexis, accompanied by gifts of a cross and Ikons to the grand duke, which the latter kissed.

His majesty made a speech in which he returned thanks for the devotion and bravery promised in behalf of his son and said the latter would always wear around his neck the cross presented to him by the deputation.

MODEST CLAIMS OFTEN CARRY THE MOST CONVICTION

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of a disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will do, but prefer to let the users of it make the statements. What they do claim is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

FERNIE HAPPENINGS

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, July 18—Thanks to the compulsory efforts of the chain gang the street in the center of the town are in excellent condition and the main business thoroughfare is a credit to the municipality.

Many enjoyable dances have been given in Fernie in the past, but none to surpass the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey in the park House last night, when they entertained their friends to the number of 125 at their beautiful residence, the grounds of which were illumined by strings of electric lights and Chinese lanterns, and looked most picturesque and fairy like, while the interior of the house was most tastefully decorated with a profusion of flowers. Refreshments were served on the spacious lawn and dancing was kept up till the small hours of the morning. Both the music and floors were perfect for dancing and the genial hospitality of the host and hostess made all their guests feel perfectly at home.

CRICKET MATCH TODAY

THE FARMERS ARE CONFIDENT OF VICTORY.

NELSON TEAM REINFORCED AND HEAVILY BACKED.

Great interest is being taken in the cricket match today between the Nelson and the Kokanee teams. Members of both sides have been assiduously practicing for the past week on the grounds, bowling and batting and both sides are expressing themselves confident of victory. All the members of the Nelson team were down on the ground last night carefully rolling and preparing the pitch and setting up the marquee for the lunch that is to be served upon the ground. Play will commence at 2 o'clock this afternoon and stumps will not be drawn until dusk.

The names of the Nelson team have already been published in this paper but those of the full team of the Kokanees have not been made known. Among those playing, however, will be Crozier Bourke, captain, who made a fine score in the match of Procter versus Nelson earlier in the year, the two Inglis, captain Paddon, Cecil Bourke, H. Smellie, C. G. Broadwood, H. Broadwood and lieutenant Hallett. Most of these gentlemen have had very recent practice, comparatively speaking, in the old country and in consequence it will be somewhat difficult for the Nelson boys to beat them. However the home team is much stronger than it was earlier in the season and there has been assiduous practice which may make the fielding tell. Edgar Mason, who bowled so well during the season of 1905, will play with his club for the first time this season. Besides Mr. Mason a new addition to the club, a recent arrival from Australia, D. Gregg, will probably prove an efficient bowler, judging by his performances at the practices held. Altogether, despite the formidable array set up against them, the home club is likely to render a good account of themselves.

There is likely to be a large attendance as the event is the chief one for this afternoon and as the Kokanee men, on the strength of their previous victory, are pretty confident of repeating their earlier triumph.

INDEMNITY OF MEMBERS

Not Liable to be Assessed—Judgment in Case of George Taylor, M.P.

The following is the text of the judgment handed out by judge Reynolds in favor of Mr. George Taylor, M.P., who appealed against the action of the town of Gananoque in assessing his parliamentary indemnity:

"I find that it is quite clear that the sessional allowance of Mr. Taylor comes exactly within the chief reasons given for exempting the plaintiffs' salary in the Leprohon case. The time occupied by a member of parliament in making laws for the dominion is surely as much part of 'the means and instrumentalities necessary for carrying on the functions of the federal government' as the time spent by any official of the civil service in discharging the duties of his office. And the member's sessional allowance to compensate for that loss of time is entitled to the same consideration as the civil servant's salary.

"The chief reason lying at the root of the decision in the Leprohon case was that the local or provincial taxation of the salaries of dominion officials had the means of impairing the means and instrumentalities necessary for carrying out the functions of the federal government. Accordingly the Leprohon case decided that the salary of an official of the dominion government was not assessable.

"The Leprohon case has stood and been followed for many years and the recent case of Bucko v. London recognises and follows it, while deciding that the facts in the case did not come within the principle of the Leprohon case.

"The expressions of the privy council in the case cited by Mr. Jackson of the Bank of Toronto v. Lambe in criticising the application of the decisions of the supreme court of the United States in certain cases to the provisions of the B.N.A. act, have not been considered to impeach the Leprohon case, and having been given in a case so very different cannot be considered by me to have any effect.

"I therefore follow the Leprohon case, and decide that Mr. Taylor's sessional allowance is not assessable as income. I allow the appeal and reduce Mr. Taylor's assessment by the $200.

TO BE DECLARED INSANE.

Harry Thaw May Go Direct to Hospital For Criminal Insane Without Trial.

New York, July 18.—The World says: "Harry Thaw will never be placed on trial for the murder of Stanford White. An application will be made for the appointment of a commission to inquire into his sanity. There is no doubt that he will be declared insane and sent to the hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan."

This authoritative statement was made to the World last night immediately after the conclusion of a conference at the hotel Touraine by one who had been present. At this conference, which began shortly after 5 o'clock, were Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw; Louis Delafield, her personal counsel; William K. Olcott of the firm of Black, Olcott, Guber & Bonynge, young Thaw's former counsel; Josiah Thaw and George L. Carnegie, son and son-in-law of Mrs. William Thaw. Mrs. Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw was present, but took no part in the conference.

Mrs. William Thaw met judge Olcott and insisted upon his resuming the defense of her son, which she said he could do in any manner he saw fit. Mr. Olcott promised to take the matter under advisement, but said he could give no final answer until he had conferred with the other members of his firm. The probabilities are that the firm will again take up the direction of the defense.

Mr. Olcott gave Mrs. Thaw information he had collected, which convinced her that her son was mentally irresponsible on the night he killed White. He said that a number of the greatest alienists in the country who had been retained by the defense were convinced that the young man was irrational.

District attorney Jerome is not expected to interpose any serious objections to the appointment of a commission to inquire into Harry Thaw's sanity. Some of the alienists retained by the district attorney have reported to him their belief that Thaw is mentally irresponsible. Many friends of Stanford White have asked the district attorney to consent to such a disposition of the case rather than have the notoriety of a trial.

SPLENDID FIGHT MADE BY CRANBROOK FIRE BRIGADE

ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.'S POWER HOUSE SAVED.

(Special Correspondence)

Cranbrook, July 17.—About 2 o'clock last night the whistle of the East Kootenay Lumber company's mill sounded an alarm of fire, which was at once taken up by the engines in the railway yard and the round house. In a few minutes the people of the city were crowding around the scene of the fire. From the first it appeared that the mill was doomed and that it would be waste of energy to try to save the building or the machinery, saws, edgers, trimmers, etc. All efforts were directed on preventing the spread of the fire to the power house where the battery of boilers, main engines for the mill and the engines used for the generation of power by the Electric Light Co., are all situated. The mill building stood at right angles to the power house and was only divided from it by an ordinary wooden partition. It is most creditable to all concerned that the efforts were successful in confining the fire to the mill building, every atom of which was consumed, as was also one of the C. P. R. cars that was being loaded with lumber on the siding. After a little while the fire got hold of the extension of the building in which were the rolls and sorting arrangements, and from this quickly extended to the planer shop. This latter structure went up like a match box, but it is fortunate that all the valuable machinery had been removed only ten days ago to the big, new, bandsaw mill which the company has erected near Jaffray at a cost of over $75,000.

Had the fire caught the power house, Cranbrook would sit in the outer darkness for many a day to come as the engines, dynamoes and the whole of the generating machinery used by the Electric Light Co. would have gone as went the plant of the East Kootenay Lumber company.

The moment the first alarm was turned in the lads of the fire brigade turned out and had the lion's share of the fighting though many of their members were absent on the Lethbridge excursion.

The concerns and plant ruined by this unlucky fire, (which is said to have started from lightning, by the way,) were about the first to be operated in East Kootenay, and played as big a part in providing the raw material for the building of Cranbrook as the company that owned it played in developing the chief industry of the locality. Since the establishing of the big plant in Jaffray the Cranbrook concern has had to play second fiddle to its bigger and younger brother for which is was latterly only serving as a supply mill. On this account the accident is not of very much moment to the company. All the same, quite a large number of men will be thrown out of employment, temporarily at any rate.

It is too soon to form any clear conclusion as to the extent of the damage done. It is satisfactory to be in a position to state that the monetary loss to the company, if any, is practically covered by insurance.

BARTHOLDT TELLS OF WORK OF INTERPARLIAMENTARY UNION

PLANS FOR FUTURE OPERATIONS OF HAGUE CONFERENCE

London, July 18—Congressman Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, is busy with the preparations for the conference of the interparliamentary union. A meeting of the delegation will be held on July 23, immediately preceding the inauguration session of the interparliamentary conference for the purpose of definitely arranging on a program.

Mr. Bartholdt, who is president of the United States delegation, said: "The most important subject to come before the conference is the report of the commission appointed at the Brussels session last August to consider my motion for the establishment of an international congress with at least advisory powers and perhaps with a slight sphere of authority. The commission was composed of some of Europe's most eminent statesmen. The president is Phillip Stanhope, who was recently elevated to the peerage by the new government of Great Britain on account of his distinguished services to his country and to the world. Mr. Stanhope, under his new title, lord Weardale, will preside over this memorable session of the union. The French member of the commission is baron Destournelles de Constant who has influence in the upper house of the French parliament. He is organizing an international service federation containing the leading men from every department of life in every nation. This organization has a branch in 21 nations and it will soon be established in every nation, ready to bring its powerful support to the plans approved by the interparliamentary union. The Hungarian member of the commission is count Albert Apponoyi, a member of the Hungarian cabinet. The Norwegian mempber is H. Herst, a member of the Norwegian 4th regiment. The Belgian member is senator Henri Lafontaine; the Italian member is marquis Pandolphi.

"The report of the commission is unanimous for converting the forthcoming conference at the Hague, called at its request, into a prominent body assembling periodically and automatically, and for reorganizing the interparliamentary union so that it can more effectively cooperate with that body in developing a system of international law to take the place of war. This is a grand plan. It will be presented at the second Hague conference, with the entire influence of the interparliamentary union behind it.

PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

Lethbridge Team Included Some Who Were not Bona Fide Residents

(Special to The Daily News)

Cranbrook, July 18—It is now on record that before starting in to play Lethbridge on Monday, the Cranbrook officials formally entered a protest against the inclusion of certain players on the Lethbridge team, and the game was played under the shadow of that protest.

The rules are clear and specify that no player engaged in the pennant series of the Crow's Nest lacrosse organization can quit his club after the 1st day of July, or put contrariwise, no member is eligible to play who has not been a member of the club he plays for since June 30. On that ground Ben Jameson of Winnipeg, Ross of Frank—who played for Frank on the 2nd inst against our team—Irving of Taber, were all objected to, and the further objection was put on record that those men rae not bona fide residents of Lethbridge. They were added to the Lethbridge list of players within the past week or so, to plug the leak in what Lethbridge believed to be a sinking ship.

The matter of the objection will some before the proper executive during the course of a few days, and the game may be ordered to be replayed. Who knows, maybe it was only an imaginary hide they took off us. It suggests Emerson's "Bramha Song."

If the red slayer think he slays,
Or if the slain think he is slain,
They know not well the subtle ways

A license to cut timber can be acquired only at public competition. A rental of $5 per square mile is charged for all timber berths, excepting those situated west of Yale, for which the rental is at the rate of 5 cents per acre per annum.

In addition to the rental, dues at the following rates are charged:

All other products, 5 per cent. on the sales.

A license is issued so soon as a berth is granted, but in unsurveyed territory no timber can be cut on a berth until the licensee has made a survey thereof.

Permits to cut timber are also granted at public competition, except in the case of actual settlers, who require the timber for their own use.

Settlers and others may also obtain permits to cut up 100 cords of wood for sale without competition.

The dues payable under a permit are $1.50 per thousand feet B.M., for square timber and sawlogs of any wood except oak; from 1-2 to 1 1-2 cents per lineal foot for building logs; from 12 1-2 to 25 cents per cord for wood; 1 cent for fence posts; 3 cents for railway ties, and 50 cents per cord on shingle bolts.

Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds is collected on the gross output.

Entries for land for homestead purposes may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the minister of the interior at Ottawa, the commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district within which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

A settler who has received an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

It is the practice of the department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of th Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for a patent should be made at the end of three years before the local agent, sub-agent or a homestead inspector.

Before making an application for a patent, the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend the "Sing-Song" meeting to be held in the Salvation army barracks tonight. The meeting will start at 8:15, and a good, lively, interesting time is in store for all comers.

Rev. E. H. Shanks, pastor of the Baptist church, has returned from attending the New Westminster conference. The Nelson church, Mr. Shanks says, made the best financial showing per capita of any congregation represented at the conference. The arrangements for the summer assembly which will open here next Wednesday are nearing completion. The use of the public school grounds has been obtained and the tent which will be used by the assembly will be erected there at once. Several of the prominent speakers who will read papers and lead discussions at the assembly are now on their way here.

N. J. Cavanaugh has severed his connection with the Slocan Star Mining company and will hereafter make Nelson his headquarters. Mr. Cavanaugh has recently been engaged in inspecting some mining properties in the Big Bend district and just at present is enjoying a vacation at Halcyon Hot Springs.

Shoppers are reminded that the majority of the stores will close at noon today for the weekly half holiday. The cricket match at the recreation grounds and the garden party at Wm. Irvine's residence, Silica street, under the auspices of the Altar Guild of St. Saviour's church this afternoon and evening, are the two attractions for the occasion.

While the Nelson lacrosse team came to grief in Rossland on Tuesday some local athletes were more fortunate. Emmet Carrol won the 100 yard dash for players of the lacrosse, baseball and cricket teams, and in the 100 yards open he ran a close second to the man who had come second in the first event. There was some dispute about the second race but Carrol was finally placed second. Brett made a clean sweep of the jumps, winning all the firsts.
