DEBATE IS DECLINED

Proposal of Socialists Refused by the Tories

Plan Was to Have Three Local Candidates Engage in an Oratorical Tussle

Dr. Hall, the liberal candidate in Nelson, was approached on Saturday by J. A. Matheson, on behalf of the socialist party, and asked to take part in a meeting some time this week in which the only speakers should be the three candidates Dr. Hall, Frank Phillips and J. A. Kirkpatrick. He agreed and it was finally arranged that the speakers should draw for places and that the first and seconds speakers should be allowed a brief space for replying after the third speaker had concluded. The mayor was agreed upon as the chairman, and the debate was to be carried out on parliamentary lines. It was understood that Mr. Kirkpatrick was willing to fall in with the scheme, but later, word was received that the conservative committee had made other arrangements" and the joint debate was respectfully, possibly wisely, declined. So the matter has fallen through.

DID NOT TALK POLITICS.

(Special to The Daily News)

Erie, Jan. 28.—John Houston, independent, addressed the 35 men employed at the Arlington mine today at noon, and his remarks were well received. He did not talk politics, but discussed ways and means to open up the country for settlers and prospectors.

HOUSTON AT SALMO.

(Special to The Daily News)

Solma, Jan. 28.—About 30 residents of this place heard John Houston, independent, discuss questions affecting the province for over two hours last night in the Northern hotel. He covered the question of an eight hour day and Asiatic labor fully; then explained how he would raise money to build roads and carry on other public works. He stated that if his land scrip scheme was adopted, that the provincial debt could be paid off and a permanent school fund of $10,000,000 established, the interest of which would pay the annual cost of the public schools.

TAKING BALLOT BOXES.

(Special to The Daily News)

Ymir, Jan. 28.—P. J. Gleazer, collector of votes left tonight to distribute ballot boxes along Kootenay lake points.

WILSON'S MATE THROWS HIM

(Special to The Daily News)

150 Mile House, B. C., Jan. 28.—Fully realizing the utter impossibility of Wilson's election here, Champion, his running mate, is working with a view to induce the voters to split their votes between himself and Yorston. Liberals, however, will vote the straight ticket. Liberal meetings will be held at Stanley on Jan. 31, and at Barkerville on Feb. 1st by Jones and Wade, who will be at Soda Creek tomorrow.

A MYSTERY

Pittsburg, Jan. 28—Albert Houck found the body of his wife lying on a table in her room, burned to a crisp when he returned home from work late last night. The first police theory of accidental death was abandoned when it was discovered that nothing else in the room was burned, not even the table on which the woman was found. When the woman's husband arrived home the doors were all locked and all the lights in the house were out. He was compelled to climb through a cellar window.

HUNDREDS DROWNED

Hong Kong, Jan. 28—A terrific squall broke over Hong Kong this morning and in the space of ten minutes sank over 50 Chinese craft in the harbor, more than 200 natives being drowned. There were no casualties among the white population. Launches from H. M. S. Spore rescued many ocupants of the swamped boats. The harbor was littered with wreckage of the sunken boats.

SCORE OF FIREMEN KILLED

Buffalo, Jan. 28—An eight storey brick building on Seneca street, extending through the block to Carroll street, was destroyed by fire today. A score of firemen were caught under a wall while fighting the fire. They are still buried in the ruins and there is no hope of rescuing them alive. Twenty-two others were injured, some of them seriously. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

PUBLISHING HOUSE BURNED

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 28—The plant of the Phelps Publishing company here was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. The company published Good Housekeeping, a monthly magazine, the monthly American Agriculturist, Orange Judd Farmer, New England Homestead and Farm and Home. Arrangements are being made for the publishing of these journals in other cities.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

Nantes, France, Jan. 28.—Catholics are massing at Ponmel to resist a battalion of infantry and a company of engineers who are advancing to take possession of the seminary there.

MACDONALD AND GREEN

MEET ON ONE PLATFORM AT KASLO.

LATTER, IN A PASSION, TURNS PROFANE.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Kaslo, Jan. 28.—All Kaslo turned out tonight to hear liberal leader J. A. Macdonald and Robert F. Green, who arrived at Kaslo yesterday. Eagles' Hall was jammed to the doors with intense partisans of both sides, but the meeting, on the whole, was orderly and did not develop the excitement expected. Judging by the meeting, Keen is assured of a safe margin in Kaslo, and his election is practically certain as he has a clear lead out of town. Neither John Keen, the liberal candidate, nor Neil McKay, the conservative candidate, was at the meeting. McKay travelled on the same boat with Macdonald to Kaslo and was invited to attend, but found more pressing business further north. Keen was at Lardo and remained there to look after McKay.

The meeting was opened by W. L. McLougton, an old time miner in the country since 1858. He dealt in an able manner with local questions. Green followed, being given ample time. Despite flamboyant boasts of conservative workers as to what would happen to Macdonald when Green got at him, Green made but a lame showing. To the utter disappointment of his followers here he added absolutely nothing to his already published statements regarding the Caron shares and the charges of the Vancouver World, to which he referred as "that nice, clean, little paper." He repeated the story that he had received a letter from Caron regarding shares and as McKay happened to be in the office he offered them to him. McKay accepted. He claimed that McKay never received the shares and would not have accepted them while the later Pine river leases were pending. He said he hoped to have a chance before a jury to prove that there was not a scintilla of truth in the World story. There is nothing to hide, he claimed, adding that Caron or his associates never got a foot of land in that part of the country mentioned by the World. Green devoted most of his time to the charges of the opposition, which he termed scandals. He said.

"I say before Kaslo they can't prove one of them; not on your life, not on your tintype." He created a sensation when speaking of the Kalen island scandal. He said that the statement that he, Green, had discussed public business on street corners with Mrs. Jimmy Anderson was false.

"That is the damnedest lie ever uttered," he said in a passion.

But he had nothing to say when, in a silence that was positively painful, Macdonald read from the Kalen Island report Green's own admission that he had discussed Kalen island with Mrs. Anderson on the street corners.

The reading was followed by a tempest of cheers. In answer to a question from the audience why he resigned he replied: "I left the government on my own account because I was going to better myself; and I have the confidence of all my late colleagues."

Macdonald offset this in telling fashion by quoting the statements of McBride and Cotton regarding Green.

Green also warned his followers that they would hear of other charges, notably one in connection with land granted under South African scrip, and stated that the records would show that some 800 odd claims were valid. He read a telegram from Victoria stating that 808 had been issued. He closed with a general defense of the McBride government.

Although suffering from a severe cold and grippe, Macdonald made a vigorous and absolutely compelling reply. At the outset, he expressed distaste for the painful duty of criticising a man whom he had known so long and so well, and then launched out into a scorching arraignment of Green's actions and excuses. After a few sentences he had the audience with him, and scored a creditable triumph. His reading from the minority report of Green's own evidence was dramatic and intensely effective. He commented caustically on McKay's failure to attend the meeting, stating that he had several questions to ask him. Then he went on to take up the general issues of the campaign, scoring again and again in an unusually able speech.

HOCKEY AT FERNIE

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, Jan. 28—An exciting game of hockey was played at the rink here on Friday night between the Coleman and Fernie juniors, and resulted in a victory for the visiting team by a score of 8-4.

Mrs. H. W. Herchmer gave a very enjoyable At Home on Friday afternoon to her host of friends, who turned out in large numbers to accept her hospitality.

NINE BLOWN TO PIECES

Roanoke, Va., Jan. 28—Nine men were blown to pieces by a dynamite explosion near Pearisburg while at dinner Saturday. The explosive was being thawed in front of a stove when it blew up.

HUNDREDS ENTOMBED

Frightful Disaster Result of Explosion of Fire Damp

Bodies Recovered Already Number 164—Accident at Saarbruken, in Prussia

Saarbruken, Rhenish Prussia, Jan. 28.—Three hundred and fifty miners were entombed early this morning at the Redon shaft by an explosion of fire damp. As this dispatch is filed, 164 bodies have been recovered from the mine and 300 miners are still missing, showing that there were more men in the mine at the time of the explosion than was at first reported. The scene of the explosion is 700 yards below the surface and 2000 yards from the entrance to the shaft. The galleries are blocked with dead horses. Two hundred out of the 600 men in the shaft at the time of the explosion escaped through a neighboring shaft. Experts estimate that the work of rescue will take one week.

The explosion occurred at 2300 feet underground and one and a quarter miles from the floor of the shaft. It is the greatest mine disaster ever known in the Saar region. About 600 men entered the mine on the day shift, but about two hundred of them escaped through the Bildstocq shaft, which communicated with the Reden underground. At a late hour tonight it was still uncertain how many workmen were still in the mine, the report being divergent. The entrance to the gallery underground is blocked with dead horses. Heart-rending scenes are witnessed among the thousands of persons, mostly members of the families of the miners, who gathered about the mouth of the shaft. Most of the bodies brought to the surface are mangled beyond recognition, but as they are carried out moans and sobs from the assembled relatives rend the air. The mine inspectors this evening ordered the rescuers to their homes, but to hold themselves in readiness for further orders. Emperor William has ordered that a full report of the disaster be sent him.

Lens, France, Jan. 28.—A terrible disaster, involving the loss of many lives, has occurred in a coal mine at Liev, in the Courrieres district. The catastrophe was due to an explosion of fire damp in one of the pits.

An official investigation has been made and it is declared certain that all the miners who were down at the time of the explosion have returned to the surface. Arthur Lamendin, a member of the chamber of deputies who descended into the mine, confirms previous reports that only three men lost their lives and a notice to this effect has been posted. The crowd, however, continues to show excitement and when this poster was read there were cries: "They said the same thing at Courrieres."

HITS "SILK STOCKINGS"

HOUSTON, AT YMIR, TALKS OF OLD NELSON TIMES.

SAYS HE WAS ALWAYS OPPOSED BY THE UPPER TEN

(Special to The Daily News)

Ymir, B.C., Jan. 28.—At Ymir on Saturday evening a representative and large audience listened to John Houston, who is seeking votes as an independent candidate for Ymir riding. Mr. Patrick Daly was in the chair and, before introducing the speaker of the evening, stated that "he had no affiliation or alliance for either party." As is known, Mr. Daly was the nominee of the socialists, but Mr. Daly refused to run after reviewing the situation in the Ymir riding. Mr. Houston, who was suffering from a bad cold, made a good address which was listened to with patience. He reviewed his actions at Victoria when the conservative member for Nelson, and told how he always had the opposition of the "Nelson silk stockings" and the mine owners. He denied that he was an agent for Schofield and the C. P. R., and explained that he was a candidate because his Nelson friends had confidence in him. Mr. Houston showed up the McBride administration in a rather unfavorable light. At times his audience felt that he was the liberal candidate speaking against conservatism. He stated that the conservative party was controlled by railway companies, banks and the big corporations. The independent member, Mr. Houston said, would come near being the government. He ridiculed the idea that the country was prosperous owing to McBride. Mr. Houston explained that the prosperity was due to the Northwest, the demand for fruit lands here being created by Manitobans with money coming in and seeking a congenial living. If the land was not suitable for fruit growing could McBride make it fertile was a question that he propounded to his audience. He referred to Green being kicked out of the cabinet, and Wilson, ex-attorney general, resigning. He mentioned the fact that the McBride government raised the taxes from 25 per cent to 100 per cent. In conclusion, he advised the voters to send to the legislature a man with experience.

Mr. Joseph Irwin spoke in J. Fred Hume's interests, reviewing the poor record of the last conservative government and how they were tied up to the C. P. R. In conclusion he asked the audience to take Mr. Houston's advice and send to Victoria Mr. Hume, who had six years experience as a legislator and who came back to private life with a clean record.

P. J. Gleazer held up Mr. Schofield's end of the meeting.

With a vote of thanks to the chairman the meeting adjourned.

OPEN LETTER TO JOHN HOUSTON.

Sir,—I hereby invite you, on behalf of Trail electors, to hold a meeting in this city. From your letter in today's issue, readers are led to believe that you are not a "stool pigeon" for James Schofield. You dare not and will not appear here as an independent and speak in your own favor. However, you are earnestly invited. Also, let me tell you that your independent candidature is seriously doubted, and that some underlying and sinister motive, and nothing else, is at the bottom of your placing your name in nomination.

JAS. S. BRANDON.

HEROES IN YMIR MINES

INJURED COMRADE CARRIED OVER ROUGH TRAIL TO DOCTOR

HIS FRIENDS BROKE THROUGH THE SNOW TO WAIST AT EACH STEP

(Special to The Daily News)

Ymir, Jan. 28—Friday afternoon James Westby, a miner at the Ore Hill mine, slipped on a piece of ice in the mine tunnel, falling and breaking a number of ribs and also injuring his back. As the Ore Hill mine is situated some two miles back in the mountain and away from the Sheep creek sleigh road, and the trail unbroken, it proved a herculean task getting the injured man out to the road. But where there is a will there is a way, and his brave fellow workmen made a "go-devil," padded it with hay and blankets, and commenced the haul to Sheep creek. The trail was unbroken and at every step the miners went through to their waists. It took them from 8 oclock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Westby was brought to Ymir on the train and is resting easily at the Ymir hospital.

CONVENTION DATE SET

TEACHERS WILL GATHER HERE AT EASTER

PRINCIPAL SULLIVAN RETURNS FROM EXECUTIVE.

Principal A. Sullivan, of the public school, returned to the city last evening from attending a meeting of the executive of the provincial teachers' institute, of which he is the treasurer.

The executive decided that the institute will meet in this city, probably during the easter holidays, though Mr. Sullivan strongly urged that the meeting be held at the commencement of the summer holidays instead. The committee arranged a program for the meeting, the details of which will be announced later. An effort will be made to induce superintendent of Spokane city schools Tormey to take part in the proceedings. Already the local teachers have commenced to lay plans for the work of entertainment that is ahead of them. Special rates have been secured from the hotels, and application has been made for the use of the drill hall in which to hold the convention sessions. The application has been forwarded through the regular channels and there is little doubt that, in view of the public nature of the assemblage, and in view, too, of the fact that no other suitable building is available, use of the hall will be granted.

NINE MEN IN JURY BOX

Panel for Thaw Trial is now Almost Complete

New York, Jan. 28—The jury which is to try Harry K. Thaw for killing Stanford White is rapidly nearing completion. When court adjourned this evening, there were nine men in the jury box, one having been added during the morning and another just before the hour of adjournment. It is thought tonight that the taking of testimony may begin Wednesday afternoon. Fifty talesmen were examined this afternon. So rapidly were the members of the special panel disposed of in the morning session that at noon recess orders were hurried from the court that an additional 100 men be summoned to report before justice Fitzgerald tomorrow morning. This will make a total of 300 men thus far summoned. Of the original panel, there remain tonight but 35. It was not considered this number would be sufficient for the selection of the three jurymen necessary to make up the trial complement of 12. Of the 50 men examined today 43 were excused upon doctor's certificates or upon the ground that they had formed opinions too strong to be shaken by the forthcoming testimony because they knew Stanford White.

JOHN KEEN ICE CLAD

Broke Into Trout Lake on His Way to Gerrard

Conservative Opponents Followed Suit and Lost Their Horses—Strenuous Campaigning

(Special to The Daily News)

Kaslo, Jan. 28.—John Keen held a good meeting at Trout Lake on Friday. It was an entirely anti-government meeting. On Saturday he held a meeting in Ferguson, about 60 persons being present. From Ferguson he went to Broadview and Silver Cup mines and was well received at both places. Ferguson, he reports is anti-McBride.

On Sunday Keen started to drive over Trout lake to Gerrard. The ice broke and let him into the water. He got his horse out, however, and arrived at Gerrard on Sunday night at 8 o'clock, all covered with ice.

This morning F. C. Elliott and A. Carney, who are stumping the riding for Neil McKay, started to follow Keen on the ice. They also broke in and lost their team, which was drowned close to where Keen went in. Elliott stopped at Gerrard and Carney went on the train to Lardo.

Keen is following up McKay very closely.

Everything points to a victory for the liberal candidate.

RODE TO YMIR

F. J. Deane, who reached Nelson late Sunday night after a hard week's campaigning in the Boundary with J. A. Macdonald, the liberal leader, was scheduled to speak at Ymir last night on behalf of Fred Hume. He missed his train Monday morning, however; but, nothing daunted, he took a horse in the afternoon and rode out to keep his appointment.

CITY FATHERS MEETING

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENT IN CITY'S STREET LIGHTING

FIRST DIVISION OF OPINION IN THE NEW COUNCIL

The chief business of the city council last night was the consideration of departmental reports. Some immediate changes are proposed for the betterment of the lighting of the city. The first division of opinion in the council has already occurred—the question being one of principles—whether or not applications on any subject whatsoever should come through the head of the department concerned.

There were present mayor Gillett and aldermen Selous, Annable, Irving and McMorris.

There was some discussion as to the placing of a couple of thousand dollars insurance on the old court house, which was generally agreed upon, at a rate of $2, and on the placing of $7500 on the new power house. The assurance company in the latter case would not insure against any fire arising from electric current, "artificial or natural." The rate varied from $1.65 to $1.90 on the different parts of the machinery in the power house. This was referred to the city solicitor for advice.

A long report was read coming from the city engineer giving the history of the erection of the power plant from its first planning in 1900 to its partial completion this year. A motion was passed authorizing the printing of this report together with the city's financial statement for 1906 in pamphlet form for distribution.

The electrical engineer's report was referred to the fire, water and light committee, the council wanting a better lighting system in the business portion of the city together with the doubling of the transmission line to Bonnington and the reduction of office rates.

Electrical engineer Dickson explained that the light on Baker street was inferior to that in other parts of the city inasmuch as the permanent adjustments for this had not as yet been made.

An application was read from driver Murphy of the fire department, asking for an increase of salary. Alderman Selous moved, and Ald. McMorris seconded that the application be referred back to come through its proper course—the head of the department. Aldermen Annable and Irving wanted to refer the matter to the finance committee. After some discussion the principle contended for in the original resolution was adopted by the casting vote of mayor Gillett.

A resolution by Ald. Irving and Ald. Selous, was passed to the effect that all arrears of light, water and licenses should be listed and brought before the council at the next meeting. It was further resolved that in future all light users not paying the account of the previous month should be cut off on the last day of the month following without notice.

The council than adjourned until Monday evening, Feb. 11.

CRANBROOK BOY DROWNED

Vancouver, Jan. 28.—(Special) —Geo. W. Stratton, an employee of the Stave Lake Power Co., was swept in a canoe over the Stave river falls on Saturday. The dead man is supposed to have been living at Cranbrook before coming here, as mail addressed to him there was forwarded here. Evidently he previously lived in Winnipeg.

MATCH OF THE SEASON

GREEK MEETS GREEK AT THE SKATING RINK

WEST WARD WINS AFTER A HARD FOUGHT STRUGGLE

As Billy Rotheringham regretfully stated after the match was over "We stuck around our goal to much and got licked by the Hand Warmers. We ought to have stuck around their goal and we will next time and show them a thing or two." But Plum Smythe declared the victory of the Hand Warmers, 6-4, was entirely due to the fact that Fotheringham would not stay at his post and had a wild idea that he could play forward.

The colors of the West ward, the Hand Warmers, were white; those of the East Ward, the Stick Arounds, were green. The line up was as follows:

WHITE		GREEN
Smythe	goal	Fotheringham
W. Hipperson	point	Manhart
W. Davison	cover	F. Bell
McLaughlin	rover	F. Fife
H. Hannah	forwards	R. Peterson
K. Douglas		S. McCandlish
F. Perry		C. Larson

In the language of an onlooker, an active partisan, the game went as follows:

Round 1—Play starts at 10 o'clock sharp with a big crowd gaping at the puck whizzers. They are lined up—the sticks are together—the puck flies towards the Stick Around goal and Perry does the trick; the East ward stick around their goal and so Perry does it again. Then "Scottie" McCandlish gets mad all over and does the trick for his side. Then "Scottie" falls sick and Fotheringham gets and idea that he can play center, so the Hand Warmers sock it into them, and Hannah and Perry both put in a shot before half time and the score stands 4-1 in favor of the Whites.

Round 2—They come on again, the Stick Arounds looking a little fresher, the referee carrying a sponge and a roll of lint. Bell now plays well forward, and they make some bad rushes and before the Hand Warmers recover from their surprise Bell scores the second goal for the East Ward. After that things get mixed up; big Ralph Peterson body checks Hannah and the latter is down and out, but cold water (externally) and G. and W. (internally) and he resumes play. The spectators yell in favor of the Stick Arounds and presently the whole defence, in a hitherto unknown combination, make a pretty rush and score again, making the score level four all. Great is the excitement; Plum Smythe makes all kinds of threats and Fotheringham again comes out of goal and with Manhart hugs the puck up the rink and Harris puts it in. Two minutes later they do it again and the Stick Arounds are after all licked, but defiant and want to play again.

It will be seen that the play was such as to entirely justify the presence of manager McQuarrie of the senior team, who is on the look out for good material for substitutes for the carnival tournament. The wish of the Stick Arounds for another game will not be at once realized as the winners have been challenged by the band team and the game will come off tonight the band, necessarily being in attendance at the rink. Indeed what they cannot accomplish by their instruments they intend to try and finish with their sticks. The game will come off at 10 o'clock tonight and the players will be as follows:

Band—Fleming, Oliver, McAlman, McLaughlin, Perrier, O'Connor McCandlish.

Hand Warmers—Smythe Manhart, Billy Davison, Bell, Perry, Riley and Hannah.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

John Houston, independent, returned last night from a trip along the Nelson and Fort Sheppard railway and he claims he will get as many votes at Ymir, Salmo, Erie and the Arlington mine as both of his opponents The Arlington mine, near Erie, keeps two teams hauling ore, and about 30 men are working in tie camps south of that town.

William Ward, through the columns of The Daily News, desires to express his gratitude to all those who so kindly assisted in searching for and eventually finding the body of his brother, Henry Ward, who was carried away and killed by the snowslide near Salmo a week ago. Mr. Ward also desires to express his appreciation of the kindness and consideration extended to him over his brother's death.

The funeral of the late warden of the provincial jail, Robert E. Lemon, will take place from St. Saviour's church this afternoon at 2:30. Owing to the continued illness of the rector, Rev. J. A. Cleland of St. George's church, Rossland, has kindly agreed to come over today and take the service. Blake Wilson, R. S. Lennie and Fred Irvine have taken charge of the funeral arrangements. The remains have been lying in the Standard Furniture company's undertaking rooms since Saturday and will be removed to the church today. Many beautiful floral tributes have been sent in, completely covering up the coffin.

INSANE ON ONE POINT

Chinaman Wanted to Marry "Miss Taylor" of Cranbrook

Travelled Twice Half Way Round the Globe to Find Her—Deported From Victoria

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 28.—On the outward steamer for the Orient, Dr. Milne, federal immigration officer, deported a Chinese, who, while sane on other subjects, was insane in this respect—he had an hallucination that Miss Taylor of Cranbrook was waiting to marry him. It seems that the Chinaman went from Cranbrook to Canton with the belief that the young lady had preceded him to Canton. He journeyed from point to point seeking her, and failing to locate her, cabled to Cranbrook at considerable cost, obtaining no answer, as may be imagined.

Finally he returned to Victoria, intent upon finding the young lady as Parsifal upon discovering the Holy Grail, and sent telegram after telegram to up-country points in search of the elusive bride-elect who never knew the honor intended her. In the end local Chinese had the unfortunate man taken in charge, and at the police station it was found that he had a ream of copies of telegrams sent to Miss Taylor. In conversation with both Chinese and the police—he spoke good English—the demented man talked sanely enough on other matters than that of his proposed marriage, and upon that point he was hopelessly insane. He was held until the sailing of the outward steamer and deported by the immigration officer.

(Cable to The Daily News.)

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 28.—The R. M. S. Empress of Japan, which sailed for Yokohama and Hong Kong Saturday, is entered for a race against time on the voyage across, the stake being a heavy forfeit attached to failure to deliver his majesty's mails within 29 days from London to Hong Kong required under the present contract. Owing to snow blockades and other delays on the C. P. R.—chiefly in the mountain section—the mails were four days late reaching Vancouver, necessitating the detention of the liner from Tuesday until Friday night. The steamer was then assigned the task of making up the time lost by the railway. The mail was made up on the 11th in Liverpool and to deliver it on time the steamer must make Hong Kong in 14 days from Victoria. She is operating on an 18-day schedule. It is hoped to cut by at least 12 hours the present trans-Pacific record of 11 days 10 hours (Victoria to Yokohama) which the Empress herself established some years ago.

BURIED UNDER WALLS.

Buffalo, Jan. 28—Buried under tons of ice coated debris of the eight story Seneca building, on Seneca street, destroyed by fire today, three firemen are probably dead or so badly injured that they will die before aid can reach them. About 20 firemen are injured. Including the three missing men, they were on the roof of the Heywood building, the first structure to the east of the Seneca street building, fighting against a spread of the flames, when the two thick brick walls of the Seneca building collapsed. Tons of debris from the crumpling walls crashed down on the roof of the Heywood building going through the roof and carrying floor after floor into the basement. Not one of the 20 men escaped without some injury. But half of them were able to fight their way out and to give aid to their less fortunate comrades. Gangs of men were at once put to work clearing away the debris and rescuing the imprisoned firemen. By noon all but three of their number had been released and hurried to hospitals. All of these were painfully injured and all were covered with a thick coating of ice which formed rapidly on everything from the spray of the numerous streams playing upon the ruins. It was said tonight that none of the injured will die.

TUPPER STANDS ALOOF.

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, Jan. 28.—Government supporters are thrown into dispair by the announcement, made in a speech by D. G. Macdonell here, that honest conservatives are helping to oust the McBride outfit from office. Referring to the Green-Caron deal, Macdonell said he had it on the highest authority that sir Hibbert Tupper, the man who by right is the leader of the conservative party in B. C., had the letters in this scandal and he it was who gave them out. He, Tupper, is not supporting the government, having said:

"I'll stand aside and let the party be purged clean."

Up to the time of filing this dispatch the local conservative association has not given any answer to the challenge issued by the liberals on Saturday offering to bear half the cost of the meeting in the opera house on Friday night, if an opportunity is given McInnes to meet McBride and discuss political questions in a joint debate.

THE LAST WEEK—A REVIEW

With polling but four days away, the provincial election campaign is rapidly drawing to a close. The somewhat spectacular and decidedly wordy battle that has been raging for two weeks is almost over. From this time on the fight will become less noisy but more tense. Orators will cease to shine in the forefront, for their places will be taken by quiet, persistent and effective canvassers. People have been interested and have been swayed to and fro by what they have heard from the platform; but the men on the platform have not settled the floating independent vote. That vote is still to be handled, and it will only be cast in one or the other balance after a keen, sharp, short tussle on each side.

For several days The Daily News has been in receipt of confidential estimates from men, on both sides of the political fence, scattered over every electoral district in the province. Analysing these, and giving them due discount in view of the partisan nature of the sources from which they are respectively received, it is possible to arrive at as reliable an estimate of the probable results as can be obtained by any one. Summing up the advices we have received, it is difficult to see how, even should all doubtful constituencies go conservative, the government can be sustained. Granting every seat not practically conceded to be liberal to the government, the parties should stand, after election day, 24 liberals, 15 conservatives and three socialists. This would mean that Mr. Macdonald would be called on at once to form a ministry.

But it is a broad concession to make to say that every doubtful riding will return a government supporter. A number of these doubtful constituencies are at the present time liberal; and it is difficult to believe, in face of the strong liberal wave sweeping over other parts of the province, that they will renounce their allegiance to their old leaders and fall in line behind Messrs. McBride, Cotton, Green, Tatlow et al. Others are conservative, like New Westminster; there the fight is so close that it is impossible to say on which side victory may fall. It is not unreasonable to suppose that in these ridings fortune is as likely to favor the liberal candidate as his conservative opponent.

The estimate presented above is the most conservative that can be formed by any unbiased person in possession of figures and advices from both sides in all the ridings. It concedes victory to the government wherever concession can be justified on any ground whatever, no matter how slight. Of course, it does not go as far as the government estimate, which, by the way, is by no means as rosy as the conservative press tries to lead the people to believe. Premier McBride is counting on being returned to power, but by a margin only a trifle wider than the one he now holds. The government organs, as in duty bound, are proclaiming the approach of a clean conservative sweep; but they know full well that workers on the inside have sufficient information to give their figures a heavy discount. The reliability of the estimate they make can be guaged by one of the statements which they append to it—namely, that John Oliver will lose his deposit in Delta. No frank person would make such an assertion, unless, indeed, he knew nothing whatever of the circumstances and was merely repeating a tale of the street. John Oliver will not only not lose his deposit, but will be elected by a fair majority. If the good faith and good judgment of the government press is to be guaged by the story that Oliver is to lose his deposit, little confidence can be placed in its accompanying estimate that the conservative party will capture 28 seats. Indeed, there is the best of reason for believing that the figures will be reversed—that the government will win only 12 seats, the opposition 28 and the socialists 2. In any event, a liberal victory is practically certain. Quiet confidence reigns in the inner circles of the liberal party, and every fresh advice received only tends to increase that confidence. The party enters on the last few days of the campaign secure in the belief that, no matter how great or how narrow its own majority, the rule of the McBride element is nearly at an end. A few more days and it will be over.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Amid the bustle and excitement incident to a provincial general election, the starting up of the city's power plant on Saturday has not attracted the attention of the public as it otherwise would. Roughly the undertaking will cost the ratepayers $200,000, and its successful operation and management means a great deal to this city in the future. In order to finance the undertaking the city fathers were obliged to practice rigid economy in civic affairs and many needed improvements have been necessarily held over. The citizens, however, have thoroughly understood the situation and have acquiesced in the council's action, as was shown the other day in the re-election by acclamation of practically last year's council. At the conclusion of the present 30 days test run of the plant, provided it is in all respects satisfactory, the city will be called upon to formally take over and operate it, the test run being conducted at the expense, and under the direction of, the machinery contractors subject to the supervision of the city engineer. It has been suggested that with the new state of affairs which may be expected to exist next month, there should be a re-arrangement of rates and of several other matters in connection with the supply of light and power by the city and, once the elections are over, the council will no doubt arrange and announce the necessary details.

A few weeks ago Lorne A. Campbell, manager of the West Kootenay Power & Light Company, McBride government candidate in Rossland, was very outspoken in his denunciation of McBride. He was sore over the defeat of his company's application for extension of its charter into the Boundary district. Now Lorne A. Campbell cannot speak too highly of McBride and his government. Why?

The canvass being conducted in Rossland by friends of Lorne A. Campbell is a peculiar one. Men are approached and asked to vote for Campbell. When they say that they have no use for Campbell, the request is made that they vote for the socialist candidate. There are several paid canvassers working along these lines and it is only too manifest that a desperate effort is being made to defeat the liberal leader. This kind of canvassing will not hurt J. A. Macdonald, who is firmly entrenched in the confidence of Rossland wage-earners. Mr. Macdonald has a splendid campaign organization, a band of enthusiastic workers who intend to increase his majority.

Premier McBride thinks it quite justifiable for a minister of the crown to accept valuable gifts from syndicates negotiating for the purchase of public lands. Never before in the history of British parliamentary government has such a statement been made by the responsible leader of a party. Premier McBride must be absolutely sure of the gullibility of the public when he has the effrontery to make such a statement. Under a law that has just gone into effect in Great Britain, R. F. Green and Neil McKay would be liable to criminal prosecution for their actions in connection with the Caron syndicate. A similar law would be in order in British Columbia if similar transactions are to take place in the future. And we have a right to expect that they will if the electors do not mark their disapproval in unmistakable terms on Saturday next.

If it were justifiable for Green on behalf of Neil McKay, a government official, to accept a gift from sir Adolphe Caron in connection with a coal land deal, why should not premier McBride accept a gift from sir Thomas Shaughnessy on account of the Columbia & Western land deal or other similar transactions?

Do the people of British Columbia mean to endorse premier McBride's contention that there is no impropriety in ministers of the crown accepting "gifts" from corporations having dealings with the government? Saturday's vote will tell.

According to the latest returns of the German Reichstag election, the socialists gained one but lost twenty seats. This Waterloo of the socialists was quite a surprise to Europe. Some of the serious French papers manifest gratification at the check administered to socialism. The semi-official Temps regards the elections as evidence that the working classes of Germany are at last turning from the idealism of the Marxists and their dogmatic collectivism, with inevitable class war, toward the attainment of realizable forms through the liberal parties. The Liberte wisely says: "The defeat of the best organized socialists in Europe marks an interesting step in the defiance of the extreme parties by the people who are awakening to their true interests." The socialists have entered demands for 75 re-ballots. From these they are not likely to elect 19 members, hence their strength in the new Reichstag will probably be below 50. The clericals have demanded about 30 re-ballots and have chances of winning enough seats to retain their full strength in the new house.

Although it is not, of course, officially put forward, the argument is being freely used by the conservative heelers in the present campaign in Victoria that Victoria should endorse the conservatives, and McBride particularly, because the government is in the complete confidence of the C. P. R. and will assist in the withdrawal of that company's interests as much as possible from Vancouver to centre them at Victoria.

Although, true to his conservative faith, he would have been a candidate for Skeena, his old constituency, under the McBride banner, it is not to be expected that C. W. D. Clifford, the deputy speaker of the last parliament, will give any extra-energetic support to W. R. Lord, the canner who has been nominated by his party to make the running in his stead. Nor will Mr. Clifford change the opinion which he freely expressed before his departure for the north, that the government was doing an extremely unfair thing to large and important, if isolated, districts of the province, by bringing on an election at a season when it is impossible to get out a representative proportion of the vote. He has just proven to his own dissatisfaction that in this he was quite right, for although he made special efforts to get to Port Simpson from Essington in time for the nominating convention, and was ready to spend freely to make connections, he could not reach his destination. Bringing on an election now in such districts as Skeena, Atlin, Comox, Cariboo, etc., simply means that a very small proportion of the voters will have opportunity to express their opinions by their ballots.

McDERMID & McHARDY

R. CALEY AT CAMBORNE

LIBERAL CANDIDATE RECEIVED WITH HEARTY CHEERS.

McBRIDE'S UNTENABLE POSITION EXPOSED.

(Special Correspondence)

Camborne, B.C., Jan. 25.—A very enthusiastic and well attended public meeting was held here last evening in the interests of the liberal party, both the liberal and conservative candidates being present. The arraignment of the misdeeds and blunders of the McBride administration by the liberal speakers was listened to attentively by the audience, and loud applause was accorded as telling points were brought forth.

The first speaker, Mr. J. W. Thomson, showed that the prosperity of B. C. was not all due to the McBride government, but that the natural evolution of the dominion, particularly the Northwest, had caused a demand for B. C. products, notably lumber, which had caused the various industries to attain a high state of prosperity. He also touched on the school act, and other matters.

Mr. Robert Caley, the liberal candidate, stated that the Rvelstoke riding did not receive appropriations adequate to supply the demand for roads, trails, etc., and that it was entitled to better consideration from the government. Under the present administration the riding did not receive one-fifth of the revenue that it produced, and it would be his aim to see that the district received greater aid in this respect. The school act was a burning question that he would endeavor to have remedied. Increased taxation, and other questions were discussed by him, his statements being punctuated by vociferous cheering, and he closed his remarks in a storm of applause, which showed conclusively that his candidature is a popular one.

Mr. Thomas Taylor, the conservative candidate, then took the stand and tried to explain the Kaien island scandal, the C. & W. railway "grab," and other matters that were brought to his notice. In his discourse he continually referred to the dominion government, casting insinuations on that body wherever possible, which seems to be the main election theme of the McBrideites. In his whole speech he did not give an explanation, but confined his efforts to "beating around the bush."

Mr. H. A. Brown, the last speaker of the evening, went fully into the C. & W. railway question, showing that the government had broken faith with the people, told how the McBride adminstration had attempted to give to their friends crown grants of the Kitimaat lands, and how they were frustrated. The Kaien island scandal was handled in a most masterly manner by the speaker, and he severely criticized the McBride government for dealing with middlemen instead of entering into negotiations direct with the G. T. P. The McBrideites were shouting that the province was in a state of bankruptcy when they took the reins of power, and that former governments were responsible for this state; and yet, to show the instability of McBride and his party, these very men whom he accuses of making the country bankrupt he is now asking the electors to support. One-half of his candidates in this election were members of the former governments that he censures. The speaker dwelt on minor questions, and was accorded round after round of applause at the conclusion of his remarks.

CORONER'S VERDICT

London, Jan. 28—The verdict of "wilful murder" was rendered by a coroner's jury this morning against Horace George Rayner, the man who shot and killed William Whitely, the well known Westbourne merchant, Jan. 24. But few additional facts developed at the murder and the motive for the crime remains a mystery, unless, as the police assert, it was the failure of an attempt to blackmail the merchant.

ATTACK ON RAISULI

Tangier, Jan. 28—Operations for the pursuit of Raisuli were begun today, with a bombardment of Zelial's fortress in which Raisuli is surrounded. Large quantities of arms and ammunition have been forwarded to the front and a number of the friendly tribes will participate in the attack.

NOTICE

TO CONTRACTORS AND THE PUBLIC

At a meeting of the Nelson Union of Carpenters and Joiners, held Jan 16th, it was unanimously decided that after March 1st, 1907, they would accept no less than $4 per day of 8 hours, except for work on contracts which have been tendered for prior to Jan. 18th, 1907.

As the cost of living has considerably increased since the present standard of wages was established, the union believes the contractors and public will readily endorse this action.

TO WORKINGMEN

NOTICE

Whereas, at the Last Chance and Surprise mines, Chinese kitchen help is at present empoyled, to the exclusion of White labor.

Therefore, be it resolved that this organization, Sandon Miners' union No. 81 of the W. F. of M. reaffirming its opposition to the employment of Orientals within its jurisdiction, strongly condemns the position taken by the management of the properties in question, and counsels workingmen everywhere and those favorably disposed toward organized labor to be governed by this action.

NELSON IS THE VICTOR

WON MOST EVENTS IN THE BONSPIEL AT CRANBROOK.

A. T. WALLEY'S RINK IS AGAIN CHAMPION OF KOOTENAY.

The windows of Messrs. Emory & Walley, on Baker street, are lit up with no less than six cups, won at the Cranbrook bonspiel by the Nelson rinks and players, and two more, local trophies, in which also A. T. Walley figures, the Burns and Bunyan cups, play for which started last night in the Vernon street rink.

At the Cranbrook bonspiel there were six outside rinks present, one each from Phoenix, Greenwood and Rossland and three from Nelson. Some surprise was expressed at the poor showing made by Rossland which openly claims the honor of always having the bonspiel in that city and yet cannot put forward more than one rink. Neither Revelstoke, Sandon nor Kaslo were represented. Cranbrook is situated so far from the centre of the Kootenay that the journey to it is somewhat lengthy and is therefore discouraging to rinks coming from any distance. Even from Nelson the journey from here consumed 17 hours while the state of the track made the journey home almost as bad.

According to the returned players Cranbrook did its very best to make the bonspiel a success and the visitors were entertained right royally. On arriving the all pervading Chinook made the ice very heavy but towards the close of the play the ice was in good shape and some very good games were played. So bad, however, was the ice on starting that a stone going down the ice would throw the water over the handle. One disgusted player, turning his rock up, declared its passage down the ice to the hog was that of a submarine!

Of the rinks competing those from Nelson were easily in the lead. There are four chief cups, the B. C. Associaiton, the Grand Challenge, the Oliver and the Wakerville, ranking in that order. Then the Allcomers cup in which the club giving the bonspiel enters a rink against every rink entered by the visitors. The first series of games is played off and if the aggregate scores of the home teams are greater than those of the visitors then the home rinks competing play down the series among themselves or vice versa. Hence a team may win its individual game in the first of the series but because his total is not in the largest aggregate be out of the final competition. In consequence there is not the keen interest in the All comers that really should be taken. After these only one team from each club may enter. It is supposed that the club will make up a picked rink for this event but Nelson as yet has not followed this practice, which, however, is general elsewhere.

Thus there are seven trophies. Of these Nelson won the first, second, third, (Walley's rink); fifth (Judge Forin), and sixth (Richardson); Cranbrook won the fourth and seventh. On the Consolation cup coming up Greenwood, Phoenix and Rossland competed only of the visitors with some of the Cranbrook rinks, Rossland proving victor. A hard blow has thus been dealt to Rossland's pre-eminence in the game.

Walley's rink proved to be the best there. It played 15 games and won 12. It was defeated by Pinkham of Cranbrook in the finals for the Walkerville after a hard struggle in which Walley was much handicapped, having played four games that day on heavy ice and his opponents came fresh to the hack. Walley got his revenge the next day, however, defeating Pinkham by 12 to nothing at the end of the sixth end, the Cranbrook men giving up the game at that stage quite satisfied. It was also defeated in the Allcomers, a cup presented by a company for which Mr. Walley is the local agent. For the Hudson's Bay and the Tuckett this rink did not enter. Its trophies are the first three on the list, the B. C. Association, the Grand Challenge and the Oliver. The Allcomers was captured by judge Forin and the Hudson's Bay by Richardson. The Walkerville and the Tuckett were won by Pinkham of Cranbrook, Rolf of Rossland taking home the Consolation.

Alexander Carrie who played alternately skip and third of Walley's rink was given a special prize by Judge Wilson for having the highest aggregate score. The names of the successful rink are A. T. Walley, skip, A. Carrie, third, J. Bunyan second, and B. N. Oulmette lead. The last named played instead of H. McIntyre who was laid up with an attack of lagrippe. Indeed if it had not been for the prevalence of sickness there would have been five instead of three rinks at the Cranbrook bonspiel from the hub of the Kootenays.

THE EVILS OF CONSTIPATION

SPECIALIST SAYS WOMEN IN PARTICULAR ARE SUFFERERS

Why Bileans Prove so Beneficial

A medical specialist states that eight out of ten cases of headache, dizziness, sallow complexion, and various ailments peculiar to women for which he is consulted have their origin in constipation. Although this ailment is very common amongst both sexes, women appear to be the greater sufferers. Bileans cure constipation by stimulating the liver and regulating the bile flow. Bile is the natural purgative of the body. Bileans regulate its secretion.

Mrs. S. E. Baldwin of 88 St. Paul street, Toronto, says: "I have taken Bileans for constipation and dizziness and found most satisfactory results. Bileans do not cause any griping, and not only cure constipation but also improve the general health."

Mr. A. Monaghan of Berlin, recently proved this vegetable remedy in a similar way. He says: "For many years I suffered from both constipation and piles. Nothing I have ever tried is to be compared for beneficial results to Bileans. They have made me a different man, and if any sufferer would like to ask me any question on their operation and their value I will be glad to give all the information I can."

Such is the result of exhaustive tests of Bileans. The great vegetable remedy is also for sallow complexions (due to bile in the blood), pimples, greasy, sallowskin, and blood impurities generally. Bileans also cure indigestion, debility, rheumatism, anemia, female ailments and irregularities, "run down feelings," liver and kidney complaint, headache, sleeplessness, wind spasms, palpitation, etc. All druggists sell at 50 cents a box or obtainable post free from the Bilean Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price, six boxes for $2.50.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE LIBERAL PLATFORM

Manifesto Issued by J A. Macdonald, the Liberal Leader

THE LIBERAL POLICY.

Our policy is defined by our stand on the measures brought before the house, plus our aims regarding other measures which cannot be introduced by an opposition but only by the government. These are:

1. The creation of a department of labor and immigartion; subjects too important to be left as at present, without shape or provincial guidance to protect us against undesirable immigrants.
2. Full inquiry into water records and irrigation, and while protecting prior rights, providing for a wider distribution of water available for irrigation purposes.
3. An adequate system of forest protection.
4. Surveys of crown lands available for settlement, and where practicable parcelling them into small holdings as part of an immigration policy.
5. Repeal of School Act and return to a system of state education.
6. Revision of the laws of placer and dredging leases, and a lessening of the danger of inadvertent forfeiture.
7. No alliance with those revolutionists who would destroy our system of government and haul down our flag; but on the contrary, co-operation with that great body of labor which would reform abuses in a constitutional way.

J. A. MACDONALD.

THE GOVERNMENT'S RECORD.

The government's policy is its record. That record spells:

1. High taxes.
2. Neglect of roads and trails.
3. A monstrus School Act.
4. Neglect to protect our forest.
5. Neglect to compile and furnish information regarding public lands, in aid of settlement.
6. Broken promises to deal with the railway situation after proclaiming necessity for action.
7. Back door methods of dealing with public lands.
8. Barefaced attempt on the part of the premier to make "better terms" a party issue and election cry, in face of what took place in the house, where the resolution brought in by the leader of the opposition on the subject was adopted by the government and passed unanimously.
9. Subserviency to a railway corporation evidenced by an unsuccessful attempt to give one and a half million dollars in cash and the actual gift of 800,000 acres of public lands.
100. Refusal to make railway corporation pay its taxes.
11. An unnatural alliance with the declared enemies of the constitution.

CHRONICLES OF M'BRIDE

CHAPTER I.

And it came to pass in the third year of the reign of Edward who was called the king of the gracious countenance that there arose a prophet in the land of British Columbia.

And the name of the prophet was McBride. And he sent to all the people of the land saying:

Behold the King has taken counsel to appoint a ruler over you, who has found grace in the eyes of my Lord the King.

And all the congregation of Torydom and the Boodlers and the Grafters and the company of any of those who had an axe to grind, greatly rejoiced.

Now there had been many appointed to rule over these people who had grievously oppressed them, and squandered their substance and levied heavy tribute on them, until the burden thereof was too heavy to bear.

And the people cried aloud with a great voice saying: Who is there amongst us that is a politician and is yet an honest man? For him will we make a ruler amongst us ,to rule over us.

And behold the prophet McBride, he of the smooth countenance, and oily tongue arose and said unto them:

Behold I am as your servant and verily will I deliver you, and save you from the hands of them that despoil you, and from the toils of the unrighteous, and from those who make the name of this land to stink in the nostrils.

And there shall be no more corruption and no more boodling, and the voice of the sucker shall be once more heard in the land.

And people shall come from far off countries even from the land of the yellow leg, and from the land of those of the boastful heart even from the land of Gall and shall bring gold and frankincense and myrrh, and so shall this people be amongst the favored people of the Earth.

And the people harkened unto McBride and went out to the cities and to the high places and appointed him as a ruler to rule over them, for they said one to another verily this man is straight, for he himself sayeth so.

Therefore shall he be a ruler over us and we wil pay tribute to him. And having done this thing did they return ever man to his possessions in his own city and sat down tight to wait.

But the end was not yet.

CHAPTER II.

And McBride appointed the courses of those who should sit in the council with him and the heelers after their courses, every man according to his inability.

And he appointed Houston for sacrifices, and they of the tribe of Hawthornthwaite for peace offerings, not without price, and others to give thanks and to praise in the gates of the council.

And the people cried aloud with a great voice saying: Great is Dick of Dewdney, verily hath our Lord the King appointed one over us who shall deliver us from the hands of the oppressors even from the C. P. R.

And McBride winked the other eye.

And after the establishment of these things McBride hardened his heart against the people and against the people of the Kootenay which is called the South East.

And he entered into the tents of the council, and called together his ministers, and they and the heelers and grafters came unto him but Houston called he not in.

And he took counsel with them to hoodwink the people, and said unto his council, Be strang and courageous and fear not nor be discouraged for the opposition, nor for all the multitude thereof, for there be more with us than with them.

And presently there came unto him the apothecary who was called George and said unto him:

Behold thou hast not kept thy word with me nor with the people of the Kootenays; therefore shall my hand, and the hands of them that are with me be turned against thee and we will smite thee that thou be no more ruler over us.

And McBride said unto him: Verily I will keep my pledge with thee and with the people who are with thee, and give them a fair shake, and grant them licences to prospect for coal and for oil which maketh men of a cheerful countenance, even as I, for hath not my Lord the King drafted an order in council.

And Fraser the apothecary went his way rejoicing and travelled into the land of Kootenays and into the nethermost parts thereof to carry the glad tidings to the people thereof and incidentally to hunt up any odd fractions that were vacant.

And McBride communed with himself saying, behold this people is a foolish people the like whereof was never equalled, therefore will I grant them coal licenses for double the fee formerly demanded and for the prospectors in South East Kootenay with such strings thereto that they shall be valueless.

Then McBride called together the council and the ministers and grafters and heelers and said unto them: Behold I am granting licenses as I promised and many licenses issued he, some to five or six people all covering the same ground and much confusion arose, and the lawyers waxed fat and called McBride Blessed.

And behold the C. P. R. heard that there was good coal on the land that these foolish people had paid licenses on to McBride. And they went and spied out the land and saw that it was good, and they coveted the land because of the coal thereon which was above all price. And they went to McBride saying, Behold we have made a mistake in our survey which we find is not complete after all, although we really thought that it was. Permit us therefore we pray to move the point zero spoken of in the order in council just a little three miles to the East. And McBride said do as it seemeth wise unto thee. So they moved the point zero as commanded by McBride and thereby did they rob the people who had paid their licenses out of the land wherefor they had paid license money.

Yet McBride returned not the license fees but laughed them to scorn, saying: By the time I have to go to the country again they will have forgotten this thing for they are a foolish people.

CHAPTER III.

Now McBride ruled over the people for the space of three and a half years and he grievously oppressed them, and placed burdens on them, too grievous to bear, even on them that toiled placed he, burdens, but on the great corporations placed he none, but bestowed on them great riches even lands by thousands of acres and great concessions, the very heritage of the people.

And they that travelled from far off lands to sell their wares unto the merchants of the land, these he also levied tribute of. And the merchants and traders taxed he also, verily doubly taxed he them: their stock taxed he, also their book debts whether good or bad until the burden of taxation became unbearable.

And the people cried aloud saying: My Lord have mercy on thy servants, yet McBride heeded not, for was not he standing in with the children of Mammon even the corporations.

So the corporations taxed he not.

And they of South East Kootenay even they that prospected for coal said unto him: Deal thou honorably with thy servants, even as thou promised us before we set thee on the seat of Turner and Prior and those who have ruled over us before thee. For didst thou not say unto us: If you make me a ruler over thee I will give you a square deal?

But McBride hardened his heart against them. Still they cried aloud. With thee lies the right to lay our plaint before the Lord our King that he may judge between thee and us.

But he answered your petitions: I will not receive neither will I lay them at the feet of my lord the King whose servant I am, neither shall my Henchman Fulton, he of the rubicund countenance, issue a fiat. For verily has not the Full Court held that I have sinned against you? Therefore if your petitions reach My Lord the King he will give judgment against me. Bear ye therefore your yokes like unto the oxen you are and say that you like it.

Thus did McBride abrogate the right held most dearly by the people save only the right to be tried by their peers.

And they that toiled in the smelters came unto him saying :Behold the hours of labor are long and our taskmasters will not hearken unto us, help therefore thy servants that the hours of labor be reduced.

So in the fullness of time a bill was before the house whereby the hours of labor would be shortened but McBride because he loved not the common people, and Harry of Ymir, he of the gladsome hand, because he had received a message of fire from Trail, they voted against the bill. But Macdonald, he they called the leader of the common people, he voted for the bill. For is it not recorded so in the chronicles of the session, even in Hansard.

CHAPTER IV.

And it came to pass that they that dwelt into the Similkameen were in sore need of transportation and behold one named Hill came from the Land of Sam and said: Verily will I give unto the transportation and that without price or subsidy, the land looks good to me. Then did the boodlers and the heelers and the lobbyists for the Octopus, even the C.P.R. come and say unto McBride: Permit thou not this thing but pay us a subsidy of $1,600,000 and we will in the fulness of time give unto the people of the Similkameen transportation; do this and all shall be well with thee. And McBride answered: It shall be even as you direct.

And behold there arose in the caucus one of small stature but of honest heart, even Shatford of Similkameen and said: This thing shall not be, for it is not right in my sight nor in the sight of my people; verily, verily I say unto you, if thou doest this thing, I will proclaim it upon the housetops until thy name shall be a reproach amongst the people, and they arise and drive thee from the seats of the mighty. And behold another arose and said likewise; and McBride trembled for he knew that they were honest of purpose and that the people would hearken unto them. So McBride had to Crawfish.

And there came unto McBride the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works and said: Behold I have waxed fat these three and a half years past and the burden of my wealth is so much I can no longer serve My Lord, the King; I require my whole time for looking after my Boodle. And McBride answered saying: Well done thou true and faithful servant, give me thy resignation, and I will give thee thy freedom and will go to the people before they have time to ask any awkward questions; for it is rumored about that thou hast been mixed up in a questionable kind grab.

So the Chief Commissioner resigned, but many transgressions had he committed against the people and the promises that he had made them. Nevertheless he waxed exceeding rich, having taken council of them that were called "A Band of Adventurers."

CHAPTER V.

Therefore McBride girded up his loins and spake to the people saying:: Make me a ruler over thee again that I may save thee from the hands of the despoilers, even from the maw of J. A. Macdonald; but they heeded him not.

And again he called unto himself all the company of boodlers and grafters and reelers and went into the high places and into the cities and held conventions and chose their leaders to go to the tents of the council.

And it came to pass that the McBrideites held a convention in Trail, which is in the Land of Ymir. And behold Harry, he of the gladsome hand, arose and said: Appoint me a ruler over thee that I may sit in the Council of the people, even with the Prophet McBride. And they answered him saying: Get thee hence and torment us not, for we will have none of thee; for didst thou not vote against the eight hour bill?

And Harry spoke saying: Verily did I vote against the bill for did I not receive a message of fire, even from ye, commanding me in my courses. And they all cried aloud denying it and saying: Thou didst not receive any message.

But Harry put his hand in to his pocket and drew forth the message of fire, and he handed it to them that were in the chamber that they might read and be satisfied.

And the name that was signed to the message of fire was even that of J. H. Schofield, he that they would appoint to the Council in the place of Harry, and they were exceedingly dismayed. Then was there much clamoring, for they wanted to hand Harry the Lemon, and verily they were put up against in the worst way.

Then again arose Harry and said: Verily, verily shall Schofield usurp my place in the Council, but this shall be the price thereof. Behold, bring me in black and white the promise of the appointment of Deputy Commissioner of Lands and Works even on a silver salver bring it me, and bring it quick, and I myself will nominate Schofield to represent you in the Council, even Schofield the servant of the great Octopus. But they would not.

But the company of the people got busy and scratched up some sort of appointment for Harry so as to appease him and once more all was peace in the Land of Ymir. But Harry kept the message.

And the rest of the acts of McBride, what he did and what he left undone, are they not written in the book of Incompetent Premiers, even in Hansard?

And he did evil in the sight of the electors and walked in the way of Turner and Prior, who made the people tired.

HOW VICTORIA SEES IT

GREEN'S STATEMENT IS NOT QUITE SATISFACTORY

IS INTERPRETED AS A CONFESSION OF INDISCRETION

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, Jan. 28—The Telqua coal lands scandal hourly grows in mystifying complications to the discomfiture of the government. All the statements made, as the public can see for itself by a simple process of comparison, will be found absolutely contradictory of each other. Statements made yesterday by one minister confute the statements made the previous day by the came minister. First the premier with characteristic recklessness, declared from his stamping ground in the interior, that no licenses for coal lands had been issued by the chief commissioner of lands and works. Later he qualified the statement, possibly after learning that certain conservatives in Vancouver had disclosed the fact of the incriminating correspondence between Mr. Green and sir Adolph Caron. Finance minister Tatlow declared that if any coal licenses had been issued they had been issued in the regular course and that there was nothing in the transaction at all discreditable to the late chief commissioner. President of the council Cotton has given his views. They are in substance that if there has been anything between Mr. Green and sir Adolph Caron, the members of the present government cannot be held responsible as Mr. Green is no longer a member of the government; that, on the contrary, the government ought to be commended, inasmuch as it has deposed the offender from office and cleared the way for an honest administration of the affairs of the lands and works department. Finally Mr. Green himself comes forward with a statement, first denying all the charges, and, second, winding up with the following which ought to be convincing to the public that the whole charge against the government has been proved up to the hilt, to use a favorite conservative phrase:

"After the licenses in the Telqua valley were granted and before the applications for licenses in the Pine River district were before the department, Caron, whom I know very well, wrote me, saying he desired to allot me a few shares of stock in a company to be organized. I did not wish any of the stock. Mr. Mackay, then secretary to the premier, was in my office when I received the letter; I showed it to him, saying that while I did not consider it of much value, it possibly might be worth something to him some day. He signified his willingness to take the stock and I notified Caron to issue it to him.'

Does anyone suppose that if the correspondence between Green and Caron had not been in existence and in the hands of men who were prepared to prove their case by it, that the late chief commissioner would have made the admissions above disclosed? Would he not have denied with emphasis, even with the emphasis of an oath, that neither he nor his late deputy, the man whom he has set up as a candidate in his old constituency, and whom it was the purpose of the government to place in the position of chief commissioner of lands and works in order that the dark transactions of that department might be kept in safe keeping, had received any shares in the coal syndicate from sir Adolph Caron or from any one else acting on behalf of sir Adolph? Has the public carefully considered the position in which the admisson of Mr. Green places the government? Are not all the ministers, individually and conjointly, equally responsible with Mr. Green for the brazen disregard of public and private morality which has been the chief feature of the conduct of that department since the McBride governmenut took office? Is the public not now convinced that half has not been told about the manner in which the affairs of the lands and works department have been administered, not only by the late chief commissioner, but by all the members of the administration, and that the only way in which honesty in the conduct of public affairs can be secured is by condemning the whole cabinet?

WHAT McINNES DID SAY

ROSSLANDER DENIES THE GARBLED TORY REPORT

SAYS LIBERAL SPEAKER WAS MISREPRESENTED

A Rossland correspondent of The Daily News writes:

As a fair minded elector, desirous of seeing everybody receive fair play, I think it only right that the correct view of that portion of the speech in Rossland of ex-governor W. W. B. McInnes that has caused so much stir in the present political campaign, and out of which the conservatives are attempting to make a good deal of unworthy capital, should receive more attention.

Those who read the Rossland Miner understand the bias it shows in reporting liberal meetings and know its well established reputation, both under its former and present editors, for misrepresenting facts when relating to anything opposed to the Rossland Miner's way of reasoning and they will not be greatly influenced by what it may have to say. But the tory organs are circulating the fabrication far and wide and in consequence the lie may stick. The men quoted as substantiating the paper's report are on that side of the political fence under which the Rossland Miner is hiding and no other view taken by listeners in the audience would be allowed publication.

Mr. McInnes undoubtedly ably presented the opposition's differences with the McBride administration and was to be admired for the manly independent tone of his entire speech. That part of it which has so excited the conservatives was a statesmanlike utterance in regard to what he and his party proposed to do when returned to power. The speaker simply deprecated attempts to hold office on other than straight party lines. No insult was given, no insult was intended any party. He merely stated that he preferred to go back to the country rather than remain in power dominated by any other party. The writer does not remember the precise words used but is satisfied that this is the view which is taken of the now famous portion of the speech by others than prejudiced partisans or an unscrupulous reporter of a tory paper.

COAL SUPPLY IS SHORT

BOUNDARY SMELTERS HAVE TO CURTAIL THEIR OUTPUT

BROOKLYN MINE CLOSED DOWN FOR WANT OF FUEL

(Special to The Daily News)

Phoenix, Jan. 28—While the three smelters of the Boundary were able to run last week on a reduced scale, the situation if far from satisfactory so far as coal, coke and cars are concerned, the railways still being unable to handle the traffic offering from and to this section. The Granby company has been running but four of its battery of eight furnaces, and the Dominion Copper company but one furnace. The B. C. Copper company has been more fortunate, by keeping one furnace in commission, and as well now has a second one in blast, though it is not known how long two can be kept running.

Last week the Dominion Copper company was forced to close its Brooklyn mine because of lack of fuel, but it is hoped to start there again by Feb. 1, the Rawhide mine of the company, where electric power is used, being worked meanwhile as usual. At the Granby mines the force is much curtailed, but every effort will be made to keep things running as long as possible.

OTTAWA NOTES

Templeman, will introduce legislation during the present session to provide for government inspection of meters in connection with the supply of electric power. Owing to the immense mass of evidence to be examined, the report of the insurance commission is not yet ready. The report, in addition to providing a basis for proposed amendments to the insurance act, will contain a critical analysis of the affairs of all companies carrying on insurance business in this country. This cannot fail to be of immense practical value, and care is being taken to prevent an injustice to any company.

To the Electors of the Ymir Riding

Gentlemen:

As the unanimous choice of the liberal convention in the Ymir riding I am before you as a candidate for representative of the Ymir riding in the next provincial legislature.

In this connection I desire to solicit your votes and influence in my behalf. I will visit all parts of the riding between now and election day, time permitting.

Believing that every candidate should place himself on record on the main issues, I take this opportunity of stating that I am in favor of the following:

(1.) All public lands should be held for actual settlement, lands suitable for agriculture should be surveyed and plans of same kept at the government office of the district for the information of intending settlers.

(2.) I am not in favor of granting land or cash subsidies by the provincial government to aid the building of railroads that when built are owned by soulless corporations.

(3.) Prevention of the importation into the province of Chinese, Japanese, Hindus or other Asiatic peoples for the purpose of competing with white labor.

(4.) The eight hour day for men working in metalliferous mines and smelters is now generally acceptable as legislation in the right direction and I will oppose any legislation that would repeal the penalty clause, or in any way impair the effectiveness of said law.

(5.) Mining, agriculture, and the timber industries must not be hampered in the way of unjust taxation, which should be based on the treatment and manufacture within the province.

(6.) Trunk roads and trails should be built and maintained at government expense, and the cost of roads and trails to isolated mines and communities should be borne in part by the province. Yours respectfully,

J. FRED HUME.

To the Electors of the Nelson City Electoral District

Gentlemen:

At the uanimous request of the liberals of this constituency I have allowed myself to be a candidate in the approaching election. I do so because I believe the interests of the interior are and have been in the past sadly neglected and although Nelson is the most central and the chief inland city has fared the worst of any constituency in the province.

Although I am a liberal, I am not such a strong partisan that I cannot see faults in my own party and those who know me must admit that I have the courage of my convictions and wherever I see errors or injustices I will do my utmost to correct them.

Pre-election promises I do not believe in, for in a young and growing country conditions may so change that to carry them out would not be to the best interests of the province.

The following are some of the principal things that should receive immediate attention:

To assist the development of our mineral resources.

A labor bureau and immigration policy as suggested by J. A. Macdonald is a capital idea.

Full information with maps and plans for intending settlers should be supplied.

A railway policy without bonuses by cash or land but by giving equal privileges to all and special privileges to none.

Our civil service should be taken out of politics and put on a sound basis.

Our timber resources shoud be carefully guarded.

In short our natural resources should be preserved and developed for the people.

I believe in a progressive policy but at the same time maintaining an equilibrium between revenue and expenditure.

Yours respectfully,

G. A. B. HALL.

Gregory's Platform

TO THE ELECTORS OF GRAND FORKS RIDING:—

Gentlemen,—As the unanimous choice of the Liberal-Labor convention in Grand Forks Riding, I am before you as a candidate for election to the next provincial legislature.

In this connection I desire to solicit your votes and influence in my behalf.

As a Liberal-Labor candidate, I will, from my independent position, be ready to support measures that work for the common good, and all measures introduced to benefit the true interest of labor will have my undivided support, irrespective of whatever party may introduce such measures.

I am in favor of the following:

1. The creation of a department of labor and immigration, as suggestion by J. A. Macdonald.
2. A railway policy without granting land or cash subsidies but with equal privileges to all and special privileges to none.
3. To have the Elections' Act amended providing that no elections shall be called without giving the electors an opportunity to register in time to secure their votes.
4. Trunk roads and trails should be built and maintained at the government's expense.
5. Exclusion of Asiatic labor.
6. Eight-hour day for all classes of labor.

Yours respectfully,

HERBERT W. GREGORY.

All Nelson people will remember Jules Friedman, till recently a resident here, and his undoubted ability in handling the violin. In speaking of a recent recital given in Seattle by the pupils of Mr. Hedley and Mrs. Hornbrook, the Post Intelligencer says: "Jules Friedman in his playing of the Ries Adagio, displayed a breadth of tone, a decision in bowing, a plasticity of the wrist and a maturity of conception far beyond his few years. His is the musical gift that seems to leap and tear through him and to and through his violin, for expression—a spark of the divine fire that shall some time command the world to its flaming.
