BRYCE ON EDUCATION

British Ambassador's Convocation Oration at Chicago

Says One of Aims of Education Is to Prepare a Man to Enjoy Those Delights Which Belong to Hours of Leisure.

Chicago, June 11.—Ambassador James Bryce delivered the convocation oration at the graduating exercises at the University of Chicago today on "What university instruction may do to provide o fdoctor of laws.

Later he received the honorary degree of docto rof laws.

Mr. Brice commented upon the fact that production and transportation have been transformed by science, and he asserted that the effect of science also is strongly felt in education. Sixty years ago, he said, science was not given a prominent part in the curriculum of schools and universities, and now it is trying to relegate the study of language and literature to a secondary place.

"All education has two sides," Mr. Bryce said. "It is meant to impart the knowledge, the skill, the habit of diligence and concentration which are needed to insure practical success. It is also meant to form the character, to implant taste, to cultivate the imagination and the emotions to prepare a man to enjoy those delights which belong to hours of leisure, and to the inner life, which goes on, or ought to go on, all th etime within his own heart.

"Every one of us ought to have a second or inner life, over and above that life which he leads among others for the purpose of his vocation.

"He ought to have some pursuit or taste to which he can turn from the daily routine. Whatever the taste or pursuit may be, whether of a higher or commoner type, it is good for him; but of course the more wholesome and elevating the taste or pursuit is, so much the better for him.

"No where in the world does there seem to be so large a proportion of the people that receives a university education as here in America. The effects of this will doubtless be felt in the next generation. Let us hope that they will be felt not only in the complete equipment of your citizens for public life and in their warmer zeal for civic progress, but also in a true perception of the essential elements of happiness, a larger capacity for enjoying those simple pleasures which the cultivation of taste and the imagination opens to us all."

IS NOT DISCRIMINATING

UNITED STATES TO TREAT BRITAIN SAME AS GERMANY

NEGOTIATIONS NOW PROCEEDING UNDER DINGLEY ACT

London, June 11.—Foreign secretary Grey informed the house of commons today that the United States has officially assured his majesty's government that it did not wish to make the administrative provisions and German commercial agreement the basis for discrimination against any other state and was willing to apply them to Great Britain if she so desired.

The secretary added that he was communicating with the board of trade with a view to making the necessary arrangements.

Sir Edward Grey later announced that negotiations with the United States, the nature of which he was unable to disclose, were proceeding under section 3 of the Dingley act.

Replying to questions on the subject, the secretary said he hoped to secure for Great Britain the same advantages that Germany had derived.

AT WINNIPEG EXPOSITION

20,000 Club Will See that Kootenay is Well Represented.

The Kootenay fruit district will be well represented at the forthcoming Winnipeg exhibition. The proposal to send a representative exhibit of the products of this district, special attention being given to fruits, was first mooted by the 20,000 club and actively endorsed by the Fruitgrowers' association. Subsequently the 20,000 club instructed its advertising committee to take the matter up.

At yesterday's meeting of the club executive a report was received from the advertising committee indicating what progress had been made. The scheme has been heartily concurred in by local real estate agents, who have already subscribed a very large proportion of the requisite funds. A pamphlet descriptive of the Kootenay fruit lands, etc., is to be prepared by the secretary of the 20,000 club for distribution at the Winnipeg fair and at such other points at the Kootenay exhibit may be displayed. This pamphlet will be issued subject to the approval of the 20,000 club.

The report of the committee was approved and further time was granted in which they should complete their work.

Everything points to an excellent exhibit being prepared and displayed under the most favorable circumstances. One or two gentlemen conversant with conditions in the Kootenay will accompany the exhibit and be prepared to give information to all enquirers.

The question of funds for the general expenses of the club was another matter discussed by the executive. The finance committee, with the assistance of secretary Ebbutt, will immediately commence a thorough canvass of the city for subscriptions.

Final details for the moonlight excursion on Thursday evening, June 20, were also discussed. The steamer Kuskonook will be engaged for the occasion and a run to Procter and back will be made. Arrangements for a dance at Procter and for music on the steamer are under way, the city band having very generously offered their services gratuitously to the 20,000 club.

ANOTHER KRAO STRIKE

FABULOUSLY RICH ORE FOUND ON 200-FOOT LEVEL

DUPLICATES ORIGINAL FIND ON UPPER WORKINGS

(Special to The Daily News)

Ainsworth, June 11.—The close of the last 48 hours has witnessed the opening up on the famous Krao mine at the 200-foot level of eight feet of the same fabulously rich ore that prevailed at the 100-foot level at the time of the sale of the mine last fall.

This or eis a sulphide, laced and cemented together by coarse wire silver, and is in every way as rich and extensive as that found in the upper level.

The unusually wet spring preventing sinking at the 200-foot level and in fact drowned the whole mine workings out. Since the mine has been unwatered the work has been confined to drifting at the 200-foot lvel and cross-cutting at the 100-foot level, and ten days' work on the deeper level has resulted in exposing the rich ore body referred to. Sinking will be resumed in a week or two.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Yesterday afternoon about 4:30 an inebriated individual created a mild excitement on Baker street by declaring to accompany chief Jarvis to police headquarters. The man finally laid down on the sidewalk and the chief put a pair of bracelets on him and walked him off quietly enough to the city dungeon.

The Methodist Epworth league held a social last night in the Methodist church. There was a large attendance, a good musical program was rendered and a well spread table was ready at the close. The arrangements were made by a committee headed by the Misses Adams, Miss Annable and Messrs. Nagle and Stevenson. Chas. Stevenson presided, and Mrs. W. W. Beer and A. Sullivan gave instrumental and vocal solos respectively. The Misses Annable gave a duett and Mrs. R. N. Powell an interesting address.

IN HONOR OF PREMIER SCOTT

Provincial Banquet on 21st Will be Very Largely Attended

Regina, June 11—The local committee of arrangements for the big provincial banquet to premier Scott on the 21st instant are being deluged with letters from all parts of the province, written by prominent liberals and secretarys of associations stating their intention of being present. At a mass meeting of the committee held last night over 1000 letters were read, conveying word of parties who were coming, ranging in number all the way from an individual to groups of 50, who were arranging for private cars. Present indications are that the number attending the banquet from outside points will far exceed the expectations of the local committee.

AFTER THE BALL

Norfolk, Va., June 11.—Five midshipmen and an officer who came ashore last night in a small boat from the battleship Minnesota to attend a ball at the Jamestown exposition grounds, together with five seamen, are missing. The Minnesota's launch is known to have left Discovery landing, at the exposition grounds, shortly after 12 o'clock last night, and the theory is that the launch struck something and went down and that all hands were drowned.

RUSH FOR HOMESTEADS

Prince Albert, June 11 — The rush for homesteads here continues unabated and the crowd of applicants is even larger than at first. Some of those who filed today were 24 hours in line, engaged most of the time in a strenuous crush for position.

NOW SELF-GOVERNING COLONY

London, June 11.—Letters patent establishing a responsible government in the Orange River colony have been issued. With a few modifications the new government follows the lines laid down in the Transvaal constitution.

ALL-CANADIANS AT MOOSE JAW

Moose Jaw, June 11—The lacrosse game between the touring representatives of Canada and Moose Jaw today was one of the fastest ever played here and was won by the visitors by a score of 4-1. The game was fast and clean throughout.

CALGARY'S NEW CITY HALL

Calgary, June 11.—The board of works has decided to call for tenders for the erection of a new city hall to cost $150,000.

PLANNED BIG KILLING OF NON-UNIONISTS

Under Cross-Examination Yesterday Orchard Told of Plan He Formed to Blow Up Boarding House in Which 150 Non-Union Men Employed by Globe Smelter Were Housed, for Which Purpose He Stole 600 lbs. of Powder ---Was Ready to Do Anything to Earn Few Dollars---Again Admits He Lied and Says He Was Ready to Lie Whenever it Suited Him

(Special to The Daily News)

Boise, Idaho, June 11.—Another day has been consumed in the cross-examination of Harry Orchard in the Haywood case without getting much nearer to the end of the story. Mr. Richardson went over the remainder of the Bradley story at San Francisco at great length and then took the witness back to Denver, where they were still when court adjourned for the day.

What is said to be the only occasion when Orchard has contradicted himself since the cross-examination began, without making a correction, occurred during the enquiry into the Bradley case. Orchard said on direct examination that he had not planned the bomb method before tying the poison. Today he said he had purchased the bomb before poisoning the milk.

During the discussion of his move*ments in Denver during the winter of* 1904-5, Orchard told of a plot to blow up a boarding house in which 150 non-union workmen of the Globe smelter were housed. He stole 600 pounds of powder for the purpose. The plan was laid by a man named Malich, but Haywood did not know of it. The latter, getting to hear of it, gave directions that it should not be carried out.

Much of the testimony was unimportant, it seeming to be the intention of the defense to lay the groundwork for contradiction.

At one point Orchard admitted he had stolen a sheep from the Denver stockyards, which he and Adams butchered and used. Orchard at that time was living with the Adams family.

Orchard said the room he occupied at the time of the attempt to kill Brad*ley by poisoning the milk in San Fran*cisco was on the opposite corner from the Bradley residence. He could, from his room, see the whole of the Bradley suite. He had the room five or six weeks. He made no plan to dynamite Bradley until after the strychnine plan failed. He had no materials for a bomb except powder at the time he first schemed to dynamite the Bradley residence. He got the powder some time about the 1st of October at the Judson powder store, on Market street. It was below the old Chronicle office; between that office and the Oakland ferry. Orchard said he was not really positive it was at the Judson Powder company's, but thought that was where it was.

Orchard said it was after he had seen the milk delivered to the Bradley back door several mornings in succession that he conceived the idea of poisoning the victim rather than to employ a bomb.

With the failure of the milk plot he went ahead and manufactured the bomb. He first bought a piece of 5-inch lead pipe 14 inches long. Orchard said he bought the pipe in a plumbing shop on Taylor street, somewhere in the 200 block.

Richardson wanted to know if detective McParland had attempted to trace the San Francisco localities for the witness.

"All I know is that he investigated the powder or dynamite purchase. He brought me a list of the sales of the Judson Powder company and asked me if I could pick out the name given. I picked out 'A. Debs' as the one I thought I remembered."

"Don't you know there was but one ten-pound sale of dynamite that whole year"

"Mr. McParland showed me several.

"And that the one purchased was in the name of a well-known customer of the firm? persisted Mr. Richardson.

"There were several names, I understand," replied Orchard.

Richardson drew from Orchard an account of having experimented with the Bradley bomb in his room. He had attached a string to a screw eye in the door of his room and went away and left it.

"Who was the first man you talked to about that string?" demanded Mr. Richardson.

Orchard said he could not tell. He had talked to Adams; he had also talked to Haywood and Pettibone. He was not certain.

"Did you talk to McParland—did you tell him about it?"

"Yes sir."

"Well now, I want to know, Mr. Orchard," exclaimed Richardson, very sternly, "why didn't you tell us that at first when I asked you"

Borah was instantly on his feet with an objection.

"He didn't tell you for the reason, sir, that you didn't ask him."

"I asked hi mwho he had talked to," retorted Richardson.

"You asked him nothing of the kind!" shouted Borah. "You asked him who was the first person he had talked to about it, and he was trying to answer the best he could."

"If you have any objection to state, Mr. Borah, state it; if not, sit down," admonished judge Wood.

Mr. Borah sat down and Richardson asked the witness if Hawley and Borah had been told by him. He replied promptly that he had gone over the matter with them very carefully. Orchard said he had never read about a motion on the part of the gas company for a new trial in the case in which judgment was given against it on account of the explosion, this motion being based on affidavits by McParland and governor Gooding. He insisted that he had never seen anything in the newspapers about the gas company. He said the McParland and Gooding affi*davits had been made about a year ago,* as far as he remembered. He said McParland and Gooding had talked with him before they made the affidavits.

"How do you know Bradley was thrown into the street by the explosion?" asked Richardson.

"I read it in the papers," was the reply.

"Ah ha!" exclaimed Richardson, "You saw it in the papers. Now, Mr. Orchard, I want to know how much of your testimony has been based on what you were told or saw in the papers?"

Orchard replied that it was his honest intention to tell nothing but facts—facts he knew to be true. He said he might have erred in testifying formerly that Bradley had been thrown into the street, but so much had been told about the fact that there could be no question about it being a fact, although he had not actually seen it himself.

Orchard said that before he left San Francisco he got a soldier's uniform. He got the pants and hat from a military tailor and the coat from a soldier he knew. He also wore glasses.

"You know a soldier couldn't get a job if he wore glasses, don't you?" asked Richardson.

"Hawley interrupted: "You forget he hero of San Juan hill, Mr. Richardson."

It was necessady to call for order in the court room.

"You were not disguising yourself as an officer, were you?"

"No, I was a common soldier," replied Orchard.

The investigation then drifted to Denver, where the alleged efforts to kill judges Goddard and Gabbert were renewed.

The Denver attorney asked if he had sent any of the money he received for the Bradley affair to either of his wives.

Witness said that he had not; that he supposed Pettibone was looking after his Cripple Creek wife.

"But nobody was caring for your Canadian wife?"

"No sir," replied Orchard, in a low voice, biting his lips as if to control his emotion, and dropping his eyes. This was the first time he had dropped his eyes from the face of Richardson while being cross-examined.

"All those years that wife had been supporting herself by menial labor, supporting herself and little girl. She had been working hard. All that time you never sent her a cent. Up to that time you had been deserting her. Isn't that true?"

"It is true."

"And she had t owork like a slave to live?"

"She worked in a cheese factory, making cheese, I understand'" replied Orchard, now rather defiantly.

"And you know that is mighty hard work, isn't it?"

"Not for a man," was the reply.

"But for a woman?"

"It is too hard work for a woman," Orchard replied, very huskily, and so faintly as to hardly be heard. He again dropped his eyes. He showed great emotion, but quickly regained his composure when Richardson returned to his desertion and non-support of the wife at Cripple Creek.

"And the wife at Cripple Creek whom you deserted with her small children—did you never send her any money until you came to the penitentiary?"

"I never sent her a cent since I have been in the penitentiary," replied Orchard. "All the money I have been able to spare since I was put into the penitentiary I sent to my real wife back in Canada. At the time you speak of I supposed the Cripple Creek woman was getting money from Pettibone. I did not know until later that they had not kept their agreement to send her money."

Richardson drew a statement from Orchard that he had done little if any gambling that winter and tried to induce him to say he did not gamble for the reason that he was short of money —had no money to gamble with. Orchard still maintained that he could get money from Haywood at any time he wanted it. Orchard confessed that from the time he returned from California up to the time he went to work on the Peabody job all the money he got was $25 of $125, which Haywood had given to Adams for the three of them—Orchard, Adams and Ackerman. During that period he said he had met Haywood and the others a number of times, he could not say just how many. He thought he had called once at Haywood's house, upstairs, in his bedchamber. Adams was present, also Pettibone. It was late in the evening—about 9 o'clock.

During the afternoon Orchard told of the plot to blow up the non-union workmen of the Globe smelter.

There was a short digression to permit Orchard to deny that he had ever attempted to collect the life insurance on a man supposed to be drowned in Toronto ,or that he had ever heard of such a thing.

The attempt on Frank Hearn, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron com*pany, came up next for discussion,* who was accused of being in the Colorado legislature as he had been in that of Pennsylvania, in the interest of the coal companies.

At one time Orchard said he drew relief at Cripple Creek after being under pay from the Federation officials.

Richardson fell into a trap by asking Orchard to state why he drew relief when he could get all the money he wanted.

Orchard eagerly seized the opportunity to explain that the miners' officials asked him not to use much money, as it would arouse suspicion, and told him to draw relief at the union store just the same as other strikers.

The witness explained that the reason judge Campbell, another member of the Colorado supreme court, was not marked for death was because Haywood had expressed admiration for him because they always knew where he was—he was always against them. He said that once when they were trying to find an opportunity to kill judge Goddard they took Mrs. Steve Adams with them as a "blind," so people would not suspect their purpose. He explained how and where they stole 600 pounds of powder to blow up the "scab" hotel mentioned before. Steve Adams got on a big drunk that spring and landed in the police court. This he saw would lead to trouble, which resulted in his leaving Adams' house and in Haywood refusing to give Adams any more money, but gave Mrs. Adams some.

There was considerable question about various persons he had met about the Federation headquarters in Denver, these evidently being persons whom the defense will put on the stand.

The following closed the examination for the day.

"Was it then you got ready to go to Canyon City to further bombard Mr. Peabody"

"About that time; yes sir."

"How did you come to start off on that expedition?"

"Well, after Steve left Denver and I was alone there I told them that these things had kind of failed on them, and they wanted me to go down and get Peabody."

Q.—"Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone?"

A.—"Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone

Q.—But while you were rooming at the Belmont, you conceived this idea yourself of going down after Peabody?"

A.—"No sir, I did not."

Q.—Where did you get the idea, and from whom?"

A.—"I think from Mr .Moyer at first."

Q.—What time of the year was that?"

A.—In the spring. I think it was in April."

Q.—What did he say?"

A.—He said he would like to get that _____ out of the way."

Q.—"Was Mrs. Moyer present?"

A.—"She was when I first went in."

Q.—"Where did she go?"

A.—She went into another room."

Q.—So you and Moyer sat there alone, did you?"

A.—"We did after she left us yes sir."

Q.—"After she went out you commenced to talk"

A.—We did talk some before her, but not on this proposition."

Court then adjourned.

Boise, June 11—The Haywood trial was resumed here today at 9:35 a.m., Harry Orchard continuing his testimony.

Attorney Richardson continued to question the witness about the attempts he made on the life of Fred Bradley in San Francisco.

Orchard said he roomed near the Bradley home, being able to overlook it from his bedroom window. He had bought some dynamite for a bomb before the attempt to poison Bradley with strychnine in the milk failed.

Orchard thought it was the Judson Powder company that he bought the explosives from.

Asked the appearance of the clerk who waited on him, Orchard said he was a youngish looking man. In buying the powder Orchard was required to give his name. He could not remember what name he gave, but it was a fictitious one. As an excuse for buying ten pounds of dynamite, Orchard told the clerk he wanted to blow up some stumps on his ranch.

"Don't you know there are no stumps within 150 miles of San Francisco?" demanded Richardson.

"I knew there were; I have seen them on the way to Gallenten Springs."

Orchard gave as nearly as he could a description of the various places where he lived while in San Francisco. He could not remember the names of the streets or the number of the houses.

Next Orchard told of a pleasure trip he had taken to Gallenten Springs while waiting for Bradley to return from Alaska.

"Played cards while there?"

"Yes."

"You were a card sharp?"

"No, sir."

Orchard was living near the Presidia when he bought the dynamite for the Bradley bomb. He did not remember if he took a box of giant caps to San Francisco or bought them at the Judson Co.

Orchard kept the dynamite in his room and took it with him when he moved to 1326 Washington street, with'n half a block of the Bradley residence.

With the failure of the milk plot, he went ahead and manufactured the bomb. Orchard said he bought the pipe in Taylor street, somewhere in the 200 block.

Orchard said he had heard from McParland about the suit of the owner of the apartments against the San Francisco gas company after the explosion of the Bradley bomb. Orchard said when he placed the bomb on the front door step of the Bradley house, persons were passing on their way to work. The lead bomb was inside a wooden box. Orchard took a car and was out of sirshot before the explosion.

"From the examination of the place after the explosion, don't you know that the walls were blown out, instead of in?" asked Mr. Richardson.

"They were shattered," replied Orchard. "As Bradley opened the door he would be sideways to the bomb and the explosion would be more likely to blow him out than in."

The witness drew a diagram showing just where he had placed the bomb and where Bradley would be with the opening of the door. He also explained the diagram to the jury. Orchard said he went to the corner grocery for a few days after the explosion to learn Bradley's condition. The grocer said the explosion was generally attributed to gas, but he thought it was a bomb.

"I told him I did not think so," declared Orchard.

Orchard next told of returning to Denver after receiving more money from Pettibone. He disguised himself as a soldier and wore glasses. Orchard said he has sent several San Francisco newspapers to Pettibone whom he visited in Denver. He then met Steve Adams and went with Billy Ackerman to live at Adams' house. Mrs. Adams was cooking the meals.

"Didn't Steve have to move because he could not pay the rent?" asked Richardson.

"No; he had plenty of money. The old place was not satisfactory." Orchard continued to live with the Adams family from before Christmas, 1904 to February, 1905. Orchard said that when he reported to Pettibone and Adams, he represented Bradley's condition as worse than it really was.

"You lied, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"It was your habit to lie about everything, wasn't it?"

"Whenever it suited my purpose."

"You have always been a liar, now haven't you?"

"I have lied at times since I began to do wrong."

"And you started wrong pretty early, didn't you?"

"Somewhere between 25 and 30 years."

Richardson asked the witness if he sent money he received for the Bradley affair to either of his wives. He said he had not. He supposed Pettibone was looking out for the Cripple Creek wife.

"But nobody was caring for your Canadian wife?"

"Isn't it a fact that the woman you wronged in Cripple Creek had to sell her wash tubs in order to get things to eat?"

"No; Pettibone had promised to look out for her when I left Colorado."

"Did you talk to Haywood about sending money to your wife"

"Yes."

"That makes two visits to Pettibone's back yard?"

"No; we talked about it the day they wanted me to go to California to get Bradley."

Orchard showed emotion when Richardson put him on the rack for his neglect of his two deserted wives. Orchard insisted that Haywood and Pettibone promised to care for the wife at Cripple Creek but had failed to do so. Richardson continued this grilling for 15 minutes but failed to break him down.

Orchard said it was while living with Adams that he was detailed by Haywood to help Adams assassinate judge Gabbert in Denver.

"Haywood said he wanted us to shoot Gabbert, because he felt the use of dynamite would get everybody in trouble," said Orchard.

His idea in continuing to kill was to get the ranch, he said Haywood and Moyer had promised him.

"And you were willing to kill everybody in Colorado for an $800 ranch?"

"I don't know about that."

FIGHT FOR HOME RULE

London, June 11.—At a meeting of the Irish parliamentary party in the house of commonse today it was decided to fight the government both in the house and in the constituencies in order to punish the liberals for failing to give Ireland a broader measure of home rule than contained in the rejected Irish council bill.

After the meeting had adjourned John E. Redmond, in behalf of the Irish party, issued a long statement concluding as follows:—

"Another proof has been afforded that home rule cannot be won by a policy of conciliation alone. It can be won only by hard fighting, vigorous agitation in Ireland and an active, disciplined party in the house of commons, a thorough organization *of the Irish vote in Great Brit*ain and its use absolutely independent of English party interests to push forward the cause of home rule by taking every opportunity and every means offered in Ireland and in Great Britain to force upon public attention the grievances Ireland has suffered and the ruinous effects of British rule in that country."

General Booth Talks of Canada as Place for Immigrants

Delighted With His Tour of Japan and Greatly Pleased With Resolution Received From Buddhist Congress.

Winnipeg, June 11—This morning, in company with commander Eva Booth, commissioner Nichols, Col. Higgins, brigadiers Cox, Stanyon and Howell and major Page, general Booth passed through Winnipeg on his way to London, after his tour in Japan, where for some time past he has been carrying on a great work.

Although he is not looking so well as when he left England the general stated to a reporter that his health was wonderful. He said he had slept badly for the past eight or nine days, and had been awake all last night, but this he thought was accounted for by the changes of climate and occupation.

"Yes; I am wonderfully well," he continued, "although the tour and the incidents of the hour have been a terrible strain. I have been guided and sustained and the campaign has gone on without a hitch. I am quite satisfied with my tour and I hope it will help to cement the friendly feelings between Japan and our country."

"What are your impressions of Canada on this tour?"

"I have not changed my views since I was here last, but I have been greatly impressed by the prospects of British Colum*bia. It seems to me that there is a vast* field there for thousands of people. That is, people of the right kind; especially if rightly managed and assisted in a national way."

"Do you hold the same views on immigration?"

"Practically," was the reply; "but you want the right people and they ought to be managed in a right way, then it will benefit both the immigrants and the country. If they want to get the right people they will have to go about it in a different way. They must be willing to manage the thing in a systematic way, and invest money in the work, the same as they would in any business. Personal interests, party feelings and a desire to glitter under the glare of popularity of the moment, too often affects the actions of governments, but I don't know if that is the case in Canada."

"On returning to England I will make my automobile trip of the country, lasting for some weeks, and will then return to America where I will undertake another auto trip."

The Buddhist resolution presented to general Booth when he was at Tokio and which he greatly prizes, is:

"To Father Booth, Salvation Army—We were looking at you from the far distance for a long time as a leader in philanthropic work, and, seeing that you have come, we, the great Japanese congress, humbly manifest our highest regard for you and pray for the success of the work you are engaged in, and also for your good health.

FOR THE CELEBRATION

Sports Committee Hold Long Deliberation and Approve Further Program

Another well attended meeting of the sports committee for the Dominion day celebration was held last evening with W. R. McLean in the chair and Harry Wright as secretary.

Charles Walmsley submitted a program of Caledonian sports and on motion of G. P. Wells, seconded by F. A. Starkey, the report was adopted and $150 set aside for prizes.

Mr. Porter's report on the pony races was submitted. A pony race will be held on the morning of July 1, and an open race on the afternoon of July 2, during the lacrosse match.

Mr. Wells' report on the water sports, the details of which have already been published, was adopted on motion of chief Deasy, seconded by R. G. Webb.

Progress was reported by chief Deasy on the firemen's sports and by Harry Wright on the lacrosse matches.

Mr. Wells suggested that an information office be opened during the celebration for the benefit of visitors and this was agreed to.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again next Monday evening.

MERITS GENEROUS SUPPORT.

During the next few days systematic efforts will be made to raise funds for the 20,000 club. This is a civic institution that merits the generous support of every citizen concerned in the upbuilding of Nelson and the settlement of the fruit lands of this section of Kootenay. The 20,000 club is doing excellent work. The plans it has perfected for an exhibit at the Winnipeg and other fairs in the prairie provinces, alone justify its existence and make it a valuable factor in the progress and prosperity of the city.

At present a few business men devote a great deal of time and energy to the work of the club. This is done gratuitously and cheerfully, but it is only fair that those who benefit by this work and who, for one cause or another, cannot give their time, should be generous in their cash donations. Effective work cannot be done without considerable cash outlay. There is no call for any large contribution from a few individuals. What is wanted and expected is a small contribution from every citizen, paid monthly or in one lump sum. If every business and professional man in the city would contribute, say $2.50 per month, to the funds of the club, it would be placed upon a sound basis and be enabled to prosecute its aims uninterruptedly.

Under the new rules now in force the utmost care is exercised in regard to the expenditure of money, and subscribers may rest assured that every dollar they donate will be well and properly expended.

The club has secured the services of a very competent secretary in Mr. Ebbutt, who is devoting his whole time to the work and who finds far more to do than many people would imagine to be the case.

We hope that when the collectors for the club approach the business men and others during the next few days that they will meet with practical sympathy in the way of generous subscriptions.

Ottawa Free Press:—The news that the threatened repetition of the great strike at the Lethbridge coal mines has been averted by conciliation in conference is probably the most signal triumph yet scored by the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of last session. It is doubly gratifying because it comes on the heels of the settlement of the dispute in the Crow's Nest Pass region, and because it is proof that as the law becomes better understood by masters and men it is accepted by them as a means to avert the disasters involved in an industrial struggle. The manner of the announcement of the settlement was also most significant and gratifying. It came in the form of a telegram to Mackenzie King, the deputy minister of labor, from F. H. Sherman, the president of the district board of the United Mine Workers of America, and was in these words:

"Lethbridge, Alta., June 5, 1907.

"W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, Ottawa.

"Satisfactory agreements signed today with the Alberta Railway and Irrigation company. No need of board now, thanks to Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. Congratulations. (Signed) F. H. Sherman, President District Union No. 18, U. M. W. of A."

"Congratulations!" There is a whole world of significance in the word in this connection. Mr. Sherman is a recognized leader of men; he has the confidence of all the organized miners of the Canadian west he has shown himself, time and again, to be a vigilant guardian of the interest of the miners; he bore the brunt of the responsibility in Lethbridge last year; yet his experience with the Lemieux Act has been such as to convince him that it is an ideal means of averting strikes; and, wise man as he is, he is not afraid to place himself on record to that effect. The whole country can be congratulated upon this remarkable proof of the efficacy of the new legislation—the west because, by it, a renewal of the fuel famine has been averted and a threatened blow at its progress avoided; and the east because the trades unionists of this section can learn from it the value of conciliation and investigation before entering upon a struggle with their employers.

ENGINEER SATISFIED

E. V. Johnson, Dominion government Engineer, Inspects K.R.R. Extension

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, June 11—E. V. Johnson, government engineer from Ottawa, has just completed his inspection of the Kettle Valley railway's 19 miles of construction work up the north fork of the Kettle river. It is understood that Mr. Johnson is highly pleased with the character of the work, which compares favorably with that of any road in the west.

Vice-president Warren left here yesterday for Rossland and from there goes back to Toronto via Spokane. Mr. Warren states that by the middle of August or the first of September they should have the steel laid as far as Lynch creek, 19 miles up stream, and grading will be pushed ahead as soon as the engineers get through with the revision of the survey on which they are now working. The contract for the building of the depot on 3rd street has been secured by Wall and Creeman, the same firm that built the 3rd street bridge, and construction of the building is expected to commemnce at once.

In pursuance of several requests recently made, The Daily News will in future publish in the Saturday edition a review of the local produce market, giving the retail quotations for the week.

METAL MARKET PRICES

GENERAL WEAKENING AND LESS BUSINESS DONE

NO FEAR OF ANY GENERAL DEMORALIZATION

(Chicago Mining World)

During the past five months the metal markets both here and abroad have experienced an unexpected change; prices have weakened generally and less business has been done on foreign account. Consequently, the closing month of the first half year is peculiarly bearish and it would not be surprising to learn of a further reduction in prices of the more important commercial metals.

In silver, the demand for which in the largest consuming country in the world—India—is about 30 per cent less than last year, has witnessed erratic prices. From the high point of 70 cents per ounce on Jan. 4, quotations fell to 64 3-4 cents two months later and on June 1 rallied to 67 3-8 cents. So far prices are about 1 3-4 cents per oz. better than for the first five months of 1906. This advance suggests that the American Smelting and Refining company which has paid dividends of $3,500,000 so far this year, is still in control of the silver market, notwithstanding the larger production in the Cobalt district of Ontario. It should be mentioned that of the 56 million fine ounces of silver produced annually in the United States, a large part is recovered in the refining of copper.

The export trade in copper is considerably less than last year. For the first five months of the current year, the total exports (including copper in ore and matte) approximated 65,000 long tons, which compared with 84,453 tons in 1906, shows a decrease of 19,453 tons, or about 23 per cent. Imports, principally from Great Britain, have grown about 30 per cent, or from 41,363 tons in 1906 to 54,000 tons in 1907. Prices so far this year are fully 6 1-2 cents per pound better than in 1906, which explains the payment of $24,069,101 in dividends by 22 copper mines for the five months ending with May. Lake copper sold at an average of 25.175 cents per lb. in May, which compares with 24.885 cents in January, and 18.80 cents in May, 1906. June opened at 24.56 cents. Electrolytic, which, by the way, contributes more largely to the world's supply than any other grade of copper, sold at an average of 24.175 cents per lb in May, as against 24.56 in January and 18.40 cents in May, 1906. June opened at 23 1-2.

Tin, of which the American imports for five months were approximately 17,300 tons as against 19,526 tons for the same period in 1906, has fluctuated from 41.85 cents per lb. on Jan. 2, to 37.95 cents on March 25, rallying to 44 cents on May 11, and opening in June at 42.40 cents. Prices so far this year are about 3 5-8 cents per lb. better than in 1906.

Lead shows a marked improvement both in prices and consumption. For the first four months, this year, the net imports (after deducting re-exports of Mexican lead, refined here in bond) amounted to 15,235 tons, as against 10,638 tons in 1906. Pig lead has ruled at $6 per 100 lbs. at New York to June 3, when it was reduced to $5.75; in 1906 the quotations averaged from $5.35 to $5.60 monthly. There has been quite an improvement in the lead ore market. Shipments from the Missouri-Kansas district for the five months ending with May, totalled 21,035 short tons, valued at $1,271,000, which compares with 15,824 tons, $1,196,748 in 1906. The increase for the current year is equivalent to 5211 tons, $526,152. The monthly average prices of lead ore at Joplin were $33.50 per month in January; $5.50 in February, and $79.73 in May. Compared with last year, prices ahve advanced an average of over $7 per ton.

Spelter has witnessed a fair demand at fluctuating prices. Early in January orders were booked at $6.85 per 100 lbs in New York, a month later at as low as $6.70, and after rallying to $6.90 in May, dropped to $6.55 in April and at the end of May weakened further to $6.35. June opened at an average of $6.40. Zinc ore sales in the Missouri-Kansas district for the first five months this year aggregated 133,214 short tons, valued at $6,255,573, which compares with 115,290 tons, $4,918,318 for the corresponding period of 1906. The monthly average price of zinc ore at Joplin fluctuated from $45.85 per ton in January to $45.71 in March, and $45.99 in May. Sales in early June were made at $47 to $51 per ton. This year's prices are nearly $3 per ton higher than 1906. Exports of zinc ore amounted to 8071 tons for the first four months this year, as compared with 10,272 tons in 1906, the increase of 2201 tons suggesting a larger domestic consumption, as further evidenced by the smaller exports of spelter. Only 250 tons of spelter were exported in four months this year, as against 1538 tons in 1906. Imports of spelter for the same period were 414 tons as against 1417 tons in 1906.

Quicksilver, although export prices have been $37 to $38 per flask of $75 lbs. at San Francisco for months, shows a discouraging loss in foreign trade. The shipments abroad for four months amounted to only 54,138 lbs. as against 233,611 lbs. for the same period last year. Part of this loss may be attributed to less buying in China for the manufacture of vermilion pigment and to the practice of greater economy in the amalgamation of silver and gold ores (this process is gradually being displaced by smelting.)

In antimony there has been a greatly increased consumption, partly encouraged by the lower prices. The imports into the United States amounted to 2,671,297 lbs. metal and 913,691 lbs. of ore. From 23 1-4 to 24 cents per lb. in early January, metallic antimony has sold down to 15 to 16 1-2 cents in early June.

The consumption of nickel, the ore and matte of which are imported from Canada and New Caledonia to be refined in the United States, shows quite an improvement. The imports for four months totalled 6,590,579 lbs., as against 5,184,796 lbs. in 1906; while the exports of nickel, nickel oxide and matte for the same period was 3,892,489 lbs., as against 4,117,285 lbs. in 1906. Most of these exports have been made to Great Britain. The price of metallic nickel continues unchanged at 45 cents per lb., supplies being controlled by the International Nickel company, which has paid a dividtnd of $267,378 on its $8,912,600 issued preferred stock thus far this year.

As there has been so much interest recently in platinum by reason of the heavy reaction in prices to $27 per oz., it is worthy of note that the imports, principally from Russia, have fallen off in four months from 3964 lbs. in 1906 to 2817 lbs. in 1907.

Summed up, the prospects for the consumption of the commercial metals in this country are somewhat better than in Europe but much will depend upon the prices. The indications are that the producers and importers will not be parties to a bull market during the last half of the year. Profits can be earned even if current prices are cut 25 to 33 1-3 per cent. The metal mining industry need not fear a general demoralization should there be a further decline in prices.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlains Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm, an antiseptic liniment for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, for constipation, billousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

TO KIL CUT WORMS

Timely Suggestion to Local Gardeners and Farmers by J. W. Gallagher

Actuated by a desire to help out the farmers and gardeners in the vicinity of the city, and in the Kootenays generally, James W. Gallagher ,the West Baker street merchant has handed in the following timely article for publication:

"Bearing in mind the enormous damage that was done by cutworms last spring, it will pay the farmer and garden owner to give a look to their crops as early as possible after they are sown and at any rate just as soon as the small plants begin to appear. The parent moths or millers were not very numerous last fall so that probably the cut worms will not be nearly so plentiful this spring as they were last, but from reports and from what has already been seen in the fields and gardens there is still risk of a good deal of damage from the depredations of these creatures this year.

"These pests are very easily destroyed and the remedy consists in applying a mixture of bran and paris green to the surface of the ground in which the cut worms are harboring. The creatures come out to the surface to feed at night and bran seems to be in great favor with them as a food, and when there is a judicious mixture of paris green along with it they usually are quite satisfied with one meal. The mixture should be in the proportion of one pound of paris green to fifty pounds of bran, although some authorities prescribe double the quantity of bran to the same quantity of paris green. The bran should be mixed with sweetened water till it is crumbly, not sloppy, and the paris green dusted on to it and thoroughly mixed. It may be applied with a piece of shingle or even the bare hand, if only a small quantity is to be used. Many farmers found this treatment very effective last year and indeed it is now recognized as the standard remedy all over the country wherever cut worms become a pest.

"To prevent disappointment in the cabbage patch every plant should be protected by a screen of paper twisted on the stalk just above the roots and loosely enfolding the leaves. This forms an effectual barrier to the cut worm, is easily applied and does not interfere with the growth of the cabbage."

COLIC AND DIARRHOEA

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

GIRL LEADS LAW SCHOOL

OUTDISTANCES NINETY-SIX MEN AT N. Y. UNIVERSITY

TALL, SLENDER GIRL, TWENTY YEARS OLD

New York, June 11—The highest honors in the law school of New York university have been won by Miss Florence Edith Bruning, twenty years old. It was announced at the graduation exercises that she stood first in a class of more than 100 students, of whom 96 were men. She was cheered when she received her di*ploma. The honor carries with it a prize* of $100. This is the second time in the history of the New York university law school that a woman has won the first honors. The previous winner was Miss Alice Dillingham of Englewood, N.J. in 1905.

Miss Bruning is the daughter of Henry F. Bruning, a flour merchant of No. 31 Moore street. She is tall, slender and light complexion. "I do not know," she said, "whether I will ever practice law and have no plans for the future, except that I will take a supplementary law course at the university next fall. I graduated from the normal school in 1903 and took a four months' course at the university in 1904, winning a scholarship which carried me through a full course. It was winning the scholarship that caused me to take up the law course."

Synopsis of Canadian Homestead Regulations

ANY available Dominion Lands within the Railway belt in British Columbia, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

Coal lands may be purchased at $10 an acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton of 2000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

The Ideal Laxative for Children

Mothers cannot be too careful in what they give children to move the bowels. Calomel, cascara, senna, salts, cathartic pills, castor oil, and purging mineral waters irritate the bowels—upset the stomach—and eventually lead up to chronic non-action of the bowels—Constipation.

Fruit-a-tives
(OR FRUIT LIVER TABLETS.)

are the finest medicine in the world for children.

It is just like giving the little ones apples, oranges, figs and prunes—because "Fruit-a-tives" ARE the juices of these fruits—but so combined that the medicinal action is increased many times.

Fruit-a-tives are perfectly safe for the children. Keep a box always in the house. 119

50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price, if your druggist does not handle them. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BOAT INDUSTRY GROWS

G. W. HALE'S YARD NOW IN FULL SWING

SPEEDY LAUNCHES ARE QUICKLY TURNED OUT

The boat building business in Nelson has grown from small beginnings until it has now reached a prominent position in the local industries. What is more to the point, the increase in the past twelve months has been very rapid, and far more interest is now being taken in launching and boating than ever before. Nearly everybody owns a canoe, a rowboat or a launch, or has ordered one, and the many new-comers arriving are not slow in finding out that to be in the fashion one must own a boat of some sort.

G. W. Hale, the pioneer boat builder of the city, who sold out his boat livery business two seasons ago, has now a most complete workshop for boat building at the foot of Poplar street, Fairview, the premises formerly occupied as sampling works.

Here Mr. Hale keeps employed four or five skilled men the year round, and as the demand for home-constructed launches and boats increase, this force will be added to.

One of the boats recently turned out is Cecil Travis' launch, the Lady Laurier, a speedy, seaworthy craft, 27 feet long, with a 12-horsepower Rochester engine. The launch has already made a record for herself and greatly pleased her owner.

Another boat recently constructed and now the pride of the Kaslo fleet, is C. L. Stephenson's steam launch, 30 feet in length.

On the stocks is the Gelignite, a 34-footer, with a 15 h. p. engine, for the Hamilton Powder company, as well as a 20-foot 12 h. p. boat for the Arrow lakes. There is also a freight scow in the course of construction.

Mr. Hale has also put new engines in S. S. Taylor's launch and Fred Elliott's launch at Trout lake. Mr. Hale is the local agent for the Rochester Marine Engine company.

NEW ERA FOR KLONDIKE

GUGGENHEIM EXPLORATION COMPANY'S OPERATIONS

WILL RESULT IN PASSING OF THE INDIVIDUAL MINER

It will not be long before the Guggenheim Exploration company shall be actively dredging its vast placer ground in the Yukon. Then will the day of the individual miner on the creeks in the vicinity of Dawson be shortened, for how can he expect to compete with an electrical dredge, which, although it may be operated with only 13 men, can handle 3,000 cubic yards of earth per 24 hours at an approximate cost of $100 per day? To be sure, there will result a marked change in the economic conditions of the Klondike country proper, and it will not be surprising to learn that the prospector and miner will have to seek new fields where he may hope again to rehabilitate his fortune.

There is no doubt that the commissioners of the Guggenheim firm have done some close bargaining to obtain control of the rich placer ground on Bonanza, Eldorado, Hunker and other creeks, for it will cost enormous sums of money to equip the properties and to dredge sufficient ground to yield an equitable return on the investment, says the Chicago Mining World. It may be taken as certain also that the deal with the individual mine owners has been so adjusted financially that the risk is not wholly the company's. By this statement is meant that the sellers of the placer ground have received far less than they asked, and it may be true that the highest cash offer of the agents of the Guggenheims for the best property was only $50,000. However, many miners preferred to sell at a discount rather than take the chances of losing in the end.

To earn $5,000, $10,000 or $25,000 in cold cash immediately, has probably induced a number of mine owners to sell, for they realize that it would take a long time and hard work with much expense to clean up even one-half the money pand them for their undeveloped properties. In a few instances miners have struck it rich with pick and shovel or hydraulic giant during several months' work, but the majority have probably only made living wages. Ordinary labor costs $4 per day and board, and skilled mechanics earn from $5 to $7 and board, the board being estimated at $2 per day.

That there is gold in the Yukon is proved by the fact that the output has increased from $300,000 in 1896 to $22,275,000 in 1900, declining yearly to $5,257,000 in 1906. For the 11 years from 1896 to 1906, the production totalled $112,864,363.

DO NOT NEGLECT THE CHILDREN

At this season of the year the first unnatural weakness of the child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

DOMINION ANALYST DEAD

Thos. McFarlane Suddenly Expires at Rockcliffe Rifle Range.

Ottawa, June 11.—Thos. McFarlane, F.R.S.C., dominion analyst, and one of Canada's foremost scientists, dropped dead at Rockcliffe rifle range today. He had gone thither to keep a professional appointment and on the conclusion of the business on hand left the D.R.A. building in a hurry to catch a passing street car. He had taken but a few steps when he fell to the ground. Friends were immediately at his side, but he was dead when picked up. He was in his seventy-third year. A wife and grown-up family of eight survive. His latest publishe dworks as chief analyst was the bulletin on breakfast foods a few days ago.

The Cuffs of a

Shirt

Any shirt will outwear any ordinary shirt that costs the same.
One reason is the way we sew the cuffs—"gutter-seamed," edges turned in, flattened, and sewn with fine, tough thread. Won't fray nor crack. Buttonholes worked better than by hand—won't ravel.
Same idea governs every detail of every shirt—to make it better than seems needful. Pay the same, and get more shirt-ease for your money. 208

Buy Burton City

Fruit Lands

AND GET THE BEST IN THE KOOTENAYS

This land is level and free from stone, located along the shore of the beautiful Arrow Lake and only one mile from Burton City. I have 1250 acres which I will sell wholesale or subdivide. It will pay you to see this before you buy.

The large C. P. R. steamers call twice a day. Good neighbors Close to fine orchards. The Arrow Lakes are 350 feet lower than Kootenay Lakes, which insures permanent success in growing fruit and in no part of the Kootenay is there such opportunities for hunting large game. Only 14 miles from Burton City, on Goat mountain, is located one of the largest herds of mountain goat known to the sportsmen of B. C., while on the opposite mountain deer can be seen at any season of the year and one of the streams running through Burton Valley is called Trout Creek on account of the quantity of fish caught there. Burton Valley is the home for wild fruit. Wild cherries, wild crab apples, raspberries and wild strawberries, are fast being replaced by cultivated orchards.

SACRED HEART CHURCH AT OTTAWA DESTROYED BY FIRE

Ottawa, June 11—The transcontinental railway commission has received a report from engineer W. D. Robertson, who is in charge of the part east of Abitibi lake, stating that J. W. McDonald, Joseph McDonald and Rod McDonald of Nova Scotia, who worked on the survey, were drowned on May 28, by the upsetting of a canoe. These three men with P. R. Meeker of Ottawa, were crossing the river Bell when the canoe upset. Meeker was thrown some distance and started to swim ashore. He saw three men clinging to the canoe and being unable to make the shore, returned to the canoe but the three men had disappeared. He succeeded in reaching shore with the canoe but saw no more of the McDonald boys. Two were cousins. For two days, up to May 30, when the letter was forwarded to Ottawa, search was continued for the bodies but without success.

The Sacred Heart church, considered the most magnificent Catholic church in Ottawa city, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, entailing a loss of $155,000 with insurance of $50,000. The fire broke out shortly before 6 o'clock from cause apparently unknown. There were no fires in the building at the time and the electric current was turned off. The flames originated in the main entrance and by some it is thought that boys smoking cigarettes in the main entrance were responsible. The fire had gained considerable headway and was not noticed in spite of the fact that the whole brigade was called to the scene, it was impossible for them to do anything to check the total destruction of the church. Rev. Father P. Dechanois of the Oblate Juniorate, near at hand, rushed into the church and saved the blessed sacrament and Rev. Father Auclair rescued the vestments and sacred vessels. Two firemen had narrow escapes from death by a falling stone wall. The church was the property of the Oblate order of priests, who a few years ago suffered considerably from fire when Ottawa university also their property, was destroyed.

When the transatlantic steamship companies announced early in March that all available space for immigrants on almost every steamer sailing for Canada up to the month of July was taken in advance, and when about the same time the immigration department gave out the forecast that the total immigration to Canada from all sources for the year would probably reach the splendid total of 200,000, the people of Canada began to realize that the creeping tide of a decade's immigration into this "last west" land of unexploited riches had at last set in with a rush. The decade since 1896 had shown year by year a steadily increasing influx from all quarters of the globe, the total arrivals for the fiscal year 1905-06 showing an increase of over 500 per cent as compared with the arrivals of 1896-97. The immigration of the second decade of the regime of the present government is starting in with a rush which bids fair to keep the geometrical progression rate of increase established during the past few years.

The estimate for the present year is 300,000, a considerably larger addition to the dominion's population in one year than came in during the whole decade from 1886 to 1896. For the first four months of the present year the arrivals have totalled a little over 80,000. For the first four months of 1906 the arrivals totalled 56,329. The increase is about 43 per cent.

Canada's immigration snowball has started to roll; watch it grow.

But although considerable stress is put upon mere increase in numbers, the immigration department rightly puts more stress on the quality of Canada's new citizens and their fitness to become useful members of the growing nation. Canada wants plenty of building material in this process of rearing the national edifice. But Canada also wants that building material to be of the best quality. And one of the most encouraging features of the immigration situation at present is that the largest proportion of increase is in immigration from Anglo-Saxon stock. Here are the comparative figures for the past seven fiscal years:

Immigration to Canada 1900-07

Year	British	Continental	U.S.A.	Total
1900-1	11,810	19,562	17,987	49,149
1901-2	17,810	23,732	26,398	67,319
1902-3	41,792	37,009	49,473	128,364
1903-4	50,374	34,728	45,229	130,331
1904-5	65,329	37,364	43,543	146,236
1905-6	86,796	44,319	57,919	189,064
*1906-7	55,791	34,217	34,659	124,657
Total	323,171	230,841	275,196	835,220

*Nine months, July 1, to March 31.

Nearly 660,000 of the immigrants coming to Canada during the seven years out of the total of 835,220 have come from Great Britain or the United States and are of the class of immigrants best fitted for conditions of life in this country. Compared with the cosmopolitan population flowing into the states from all the countries of Europe during the same period Canada has every reason for self gratification.

A further analysis of the British immigration to Canada during the same period is also of interest as showing the relative contributions of England, Scotland and Ireland. The figures are as follows:

British Immigration to Canada 1906-7

	English and Welsh	Scotch	Irish	Total
1900-1	9,401	1,476	933	11,910
1901-2	13,095	2,853	1,311	17,259
1902-3	32,510	7,046	2,236	41,792
1903-4	36,694	10,552	3,128	50,374
1904-5	49,617	11,744	3,968	65,329
1905-6	65,962	15,845	5,018	86,796
*1906-7	41,658	10,729	3,404	55,791
Totals	248,937	60,246	20,027	329,171

*Nine months, July 1 to March 31.

It will be seen that the English immigrants have outnumbered Scotch four to one and the Irish twelve to one. During the past few weeks, however, the proportion of Scotch immigrants has been rapidly increasing.

The immigration department issued special instructions to all its agents early in the year to especially encourage the immigration of those who are adapted for and who intend to take up agricultural pursuits or railway construction in Canada. "A Free Farm in Canada, via the railway route," is the heading of hundreds of thousands of immigration circulars now being distributed in Great Britain and on the continent. Special efforts are also being made to induce immigration of female domestic servants. During the fiscal period of nine months closing March 31 last, the classification by occupation of immigrants arriving at the seaports of Canada includes the following:

	Males	Females	Children
Farmers	11,887	2,785	3,519
Laborers	20,969	2,562	3,336
Mechanics	13,483	5,465	5,526

During the nine months 4583 female domestics were received, 1118 clerks, and 1567 miners.

Special precautions are taken this year to guard against immigration of any undesirables in respect to physical, mental or moral fitness. A rigid medical examination is insisted upon and any new arrival who is likely through illness to become a burden upon the community, who is feeble minded or who has had a criminal record in his native land, is deported at the expense of the steamship companies. Reports received so far this year, however, indicate that the class of immigrants now arriving is unusually good. For the fiscal year ending March last only 400 had to be deported. Since 1902 the total number of deportations has been 2122, a proportion of hardly one in every four hundred.

At the present rate of increase it is not unreasonable to expect that it will not be long before Canadian immigration will reach the million-per-year mark. Immigrants who fail to better their condition in Canada form a very small percentage of the total. And every new arrival who does well here becomes an immigration agent by writing to his home to friends in the old land to tell how this new country of liberty and opportunity stands ready to relieve the congestion of people in the congested areas of the old land.

AMERICA'S EX-CHAMPION WRESTLER

says:

"After my great wrestling match with J. Mellor, of Staleybridge, at the Crystal Palace, England, for the International Championship, I was covered with cuts and bruises. I applied my favorite balm, Zam-Buk, and in a marvellously short time the abrasions and cuts were healed and I was fit and well again. At another time I had a piece of flesh almost torn completely off my arm above the elbow. I anticipated being unable to do anything with the arm for a long time. To my delight, however, Zam-Buk closed up the wound in two days. In three days it was covered with new skin, and a few days after, there was no trace of the injury. I recommend Zam-Buk for cuts, bruises or skin injuries of any kind.

Yours truly,
HUGH LANNON.

The above testimony given by Mr. Lannon when visiting Toronto shows the great value of Zam-Buk for injuries received in out-door sport.

Baseball, Football and Lacrosse Players should always keep Zam-Buk handy. It prevents cuts and injuries "taking the wrong turn." It stops the pain and smarting, and heals. It is also an excellent embrocation, curing stiffness, sprains, twists, etc. Used and recommended by Sherring, the Marathon winner; Madrali, the world's second greatest wrestler, etc.

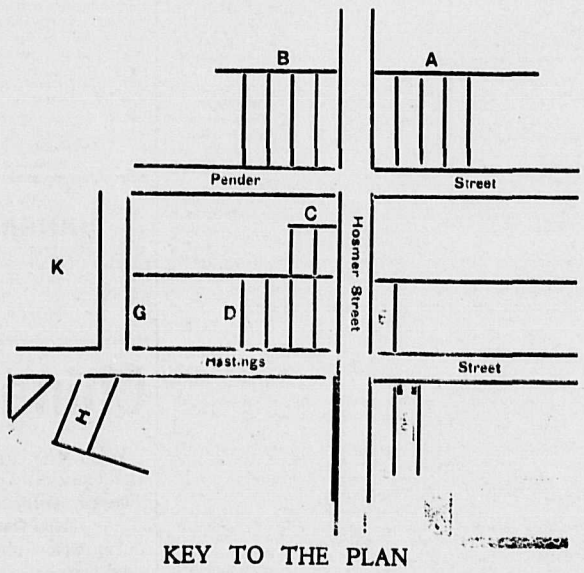
TO INVESTORS:

HERE IS A CHANCE TO BECOME INTERESTED IN BUSINESS PROPERTY IN THE HEART OF VANCOUVER

We are forming a syndicate to handle a quadruple corner right in the centre of the big coast city—the southwest corner of Pender and Homer Streets. Its location is shown on the accompanying plan.

The property will cost $104,000.00, but in order to enable persons with small sums to invest to take an interest and share in the big profits that another year of Vancouver's growth will undoubtedly mean, it has been divided into 104 shares representing $1000 each.

Of this amount, one-quarter must be paid in cash, the balance being extended in three equal payments over three years at 5 per cent. Already $50,000, or 50 shares, have been placed, and we have only 54 shares left. If you want to join the syndicate, call and see us, phone us, wire us, or write us AT ONCE. Time is vital.



KEY TO THE PLAN

A.—The property to be purchased by the syndicate we are forming.
B.—Property of B. C. Loan and Savings Co., on which a ten-story head office building is to be erected.
C.—Buildings of the Vancouver Daily World.
D.—Offices of Robert Ward & Co., the B. C. Land Investment Agency and O'Brien's Hall.
E.—The Royal Bank of Canada, Main Vancouver Branch.
F.—The Northern Bank.
G.—Bank of Hamilton.
H.—The "Arcade," on which the Imperial Trust Co. is erecting a 14-story store and office building.
K.—The old court house, soon to be replaced by a big hotel.

Pender street is becoming the financial street of Vancouver. It will soon be the companion business street to Hastings, and is already lined out from Cambie, past Hamilton, Homer, Richards and Seymour to Granville, with splendid new buildings into which some of the biggest financial firms of the city are moving. We have not space here to tell you the whole story of Pender street's growth, but if you will call and see us, we will gladly take time to show you plans and give you all the information we possess.

Time is important. If you want to invest, act quickly. The 50 shares already disposed of have been taken up by some of the leading business men of Vancouver and Nelson, men in whose judgment you would rely.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church will meet in the church parlors today at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Harry Wright and son left on a visit to Spokane on the 12:30 train this morning.

At the meeting of the F.O.E. tonight at 8 o'clock a full attendance is requested as there are several initiations.

A grand military ball will be held in the armory on the evenings of July 2 and 3, under the auspices of the R.M.R.

Henry Tetlow Hardinge of Cranbrook and Miss Gertrude Alberta Lye of Vancouver, were married in Nelson on Monday by Rev. J. T. Ferguson.

Mrs. D. C. Coleman, wife of the new C.P.R. superintendent, arrived from the east last evening and with her husband is stopping at the Strathcona.

Kwong Wing Chong's reward of $50 for the recovery of the body of Charlie Foo, who was drowned in the Slocan river on May 29, has not yet been earned.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies of the Maccabees will be held this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. There will be an initiation and a full attendance is requested.

R. L. Richardson, editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, spent yesterday in looking over the Hall Mines smelter and in meeting many old time friends. He left for the coast last evening.

There will be a general meeting of all interested in the forthcoming Dominion day celebration tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the court house.

C. A. Waterman and company will sell by auction today the household goods and effects of L. W. Ackley at the residence, Cedar street, between Vernon and Edgewood avenue. The sale will start at 2 o'clock and the goods will be on view this morning.

The smaller street car was equipped with a powerful headlight last night and ran over the line to test the new light. It is a great improvement and lights up the whole street for a long distance in front of the car.

Tax payers are reminded that the municipal court of revision for the purpose of hearing complaints against the assessment for the current year, will be held in the council chamber at the city hall on Friday, June 28 at 10 a.m.

Toye and company report the sale of 40 acres at Deg creek to F. F. Seimens of Altona, Man.; 240 acres a Deer Park to Grant and Summers of Winnipeg, and a house and lot on Houston street to Frank H. Dalseles of New York city.

William C. Martin of the well known Rossland hardware firm of Martin Bros., has been spending a couple of days in the city looking over his business interests here. Mr. Martin goes to Procter today and will be back in Nelson on Saturday.

F. E. Griffith of Slocan was in the city yesterday making arrangements to ship a carload of ore from the Westmont mine on 10-Mile, near the Enterprise. Rumor has it that Mr. Griffith will shortly lead to the altar one of Nelson's fairest daughters.

A chicken hawk has made its appearance and is visiting up town residences where chickens are kept, and as a consequence the owners have lost several young birds. The hawk is a young one and does not carry off the young chicks, but just kills them. Some of the champions of the Nelson gun club might rid the community of the intruder.

At a well attended lodge meeting in the K. of P. hall last evening the following members were elected to office for the ensuing six months, commencing July 1: C.C., A. Thomas; V.C., R. J. Steel; P. J. Reisterer; M. of W., R. G. Joy; M. of E., G. M. Gunn; M. of F., H. E. Douglas; K. R. and S., G. M. Johnston; M. at A., J. D. Pitchford; I. G., L. K. Larson.

Ahe the mining recorder's office on June 11 certificates of work were issued to F. T. Morrison on the Winstead; to W. B. Muir on the Iowa; to Gus Schwinke on the Blue Stone and Hidden Treasure, the latter to apply on the former; to John McEvoy on the June and the Second Chance, the former to apply on the latter, and to Peter Klavam on the Legal Tender.

W. W. Beer spoke regretfully yesterday of the continued advance of the dandelion pest, which bids fair to become an intolerable nuisance locally, if some united step is not taken to stop it. From the C.P.R. flats which are fairly covered with the weed it has passed up and all over the residential districts and is beginning to bother seriously the owners of well kept lawns. Some combined scheme in which the city authorities would take part seems absolutely necessary.

The Great Northern railway has earned a name for economy in operating and at times the desire to keep down expenses leads to peculiar situations. Telegraph operators on the S. F. and N. between this city and Northport are few in number, so that when the tourist special from Spokane reached the Mountain station above the city yesterday morning about 1:15, it waited there for an hour or so for the southbound train, timed to leave the union station at 12:30 a.m., and which is scheduled to pass the other at the Mountain station. The 12:30 train waited at the station for the other one to come down. After an hour had passed the northbound train took chances and came along to its destination. Comment is unnecessary.
