NEAR BRITONS

United States Closing Up on the Lead

WIN BY AN AFRIKANDER

MOST IMPORTANT EVENT SO FAR OF THE OLYMPIAD—SEVERAL HEATS ARE RUN—FINLANDER WINS THE HIGH DIVING COMPETITION.

LONDON, July 22—The Olympic athletes met a dark horse today in the person of the South African youth, B. E. Walker. Walker broke the tape in what is considered the most important event in the Olympic games, the 100 metre dash, a short two feet in front of A. J. Rector, the university of Virginia crack. The Canadian, Kerr, was a few inches behind the Virginian in third place.

Walker's victory in the 100 metres was most popular with the crowd and the officials and crowd all rushed to the finishing place, surrounded the victor and loudly cheered him. Then the green-shirted athlete was hoisted by his friends and borne off on their shoulders.

After the race Walker was escorted to the royal box, where queen Alexandra, the duke of Connaught and the crown prince of Sweden congratulated him and shook him by the hand. He was greatly embarrassed by the honor.

Walker, who had the pole, got off first at the crack of the pistol Rector, who had been in the second position drew up to him at the 50 yards and for a few yards the two men ran a splendid race. Then Walker forged slightly ahead It was a close and exciting finish Walker, Rector and Kerr were so close together that most of the spectators did not know who won until the numbers were posted on the board Walker was half a yard ahead of Rector at the tape while Kerr was so nearly abreast of Rector that the judges decided that the second place had been won by inches Cartmell was outclassed and came in a few yards behind

A world's record was broken by C. J. Bacon of the Irish American A.C. in the 400 metre hurdles, which he ran in 55 seconds.

An Olympic record of 24 feet 6 1-2 inches, by C. F. Irons of Chicago, in the running broad jump and the victory of G. S. Dole of Yale in the featherweight wrestling, out of seven finals, was the day's performance of the United States competitors.

Great Britain came second among the countries, with S. V. Bacon winning the middleweight wrestling and the English team defeating the Belgians at water polo.

Saarle conquered all comers in the Graeco-Roman wrestling bouts.

Walker, the South African sprinter, got a great ovation when he won his race, 40,000 people rose with a great cheer and filled the air with hats. The boy who this morning was unknown but whose name fills London tonight, was lifted on the shoulders of enthusiastic friends.

It would be hard to imagine a finer spectacle than the stadium presented today. Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family were present. The stands contained 40,000 persons, of whom fully half were women.

In addition to Walker's sprint, the 400 metre hurdles and the semi-final heats of the 400 and 200 metre flat races were memorable events.

J. B. Taylor of the Irish-American A.C. the colored runner of the University of Pennsylvania; J. C. Carpenter of Cornell university, and D. R. Robbins of Yale, won their heats in the semi-finals of the 400 metre race, with the English champion Halswell, their only opponent for the finals. His feat in lowering the Olympic record was easily one of the most brilliant performances of the day. He covered the distance in 48 2-5 seconds, breaking Harry Hillman's record of 49 1-5, made at St. Louis in 1904.

R. Clough, Irish-American A.C. and N. J. Cartwell, university of Pennsylvania, won two of the four semi-finals of the 200 metres, and Kerr, Canada, and Hawkins, United Kingdom, are in the finals.

A sensation occurred during the high diving. Cane, representative of England, struck the water heavily and failed to come to the surface. A bystander plunged into the tank and brought Cane to shore. The Englishman, however, suffered no more serious injury than a temporary loss of wind.

The Olympic management tendered their offi l l thanks to the res ner, who e name is Johannson and who is the holder of king Edward's cup for life saving.

The final in the 100 metre was won by Walker, South Africa in 10 4-5 seconds. Rector, university of Virginia, second; Kerr, Canada, third; N. J. Cartwell, university of Pennsylvania, fourth.

The first semi-final of the 200 metre dash furnished as exciting a race as has been witnessed at the stadium since the games opened. Kerr, Canada, who won by a foot from W. F. Hamilton, Chicago A.C., took the post at the start and coming up the stretch led Hamilton by a yard. Although Hamilton is not as graceful a runner as Kerr, he was making good headway and the galleries stood up to witness the finish. Hamilton, however was unable to pass the fast Canadian. Kerr's time was 22 2-5 seconds.

Cartmell, United States, won the second with Sherman and Huff, also Americans, second and third.

The third went to Clough, United States, time 22 3-5.

Hawkins, United Kingdom, defeated his team mate, Roche, in the fourth heat by a yard, in 22 2-5.

In the first section of the running broad jump at the stadium, Cooke, American, was first with 22 feet 10 inches. In the second Kelly, United States, covered 23 feet 3 1-4 inches, beating Ahearn and Bellerby, the United Kingdom's best men. In the third section, Irons, United States, jumped 24 feet 5 inches. In the third section, Murray, United Kingdom, was first with 22 feet 1-4 inch, and Lukeman, Canada second. In the fifth section, Becker, Canada, was first with 23 feet 3 inches. F. C. Irons, Chicago; D. Kelly, Irish-American A.C., and Becker, Canada, qualified for the final.

Irons, Chicago, won the final of the running broad jump, with 24 feet 6 1-2 inches, a new Olympic record; Daniel Kelly, second, 23 feet 3-1-4 inches, and Becker, third, 23 feet 3 inches.

The final in the 400 metre hurdles was won by C. J. Bacon, Irish-American A.C. H. L. Hillman, N.Y.A.C., was second, and Tremer, United Kingdom. The time of the winner was 55 seconds, a new Olympic record. The race was between Bacon and Hillman, Tremer, being outclassed.

The first heat in the semi-final of the 400 metre flat race was won by J. C. Carpenter, Cornell university. The second heat in this event was won by Halswell, United Kingdom, in 48 4-5 seconds. J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A.C., won the third heat in 49 4-5. D. R. Robbins, Yale university, won the fourth heat in 49 seconds; Sebbert, Canada, second.

The judges made a correction in Halswell's time in the second heat. He covered the 400 metres in 48 2-5 seconds, a record for the distance. He then ran to the quarter mile mark and his time for this distance was 48 4-5 seconds.

In the first bout of the featherweight wrestling, Dole, United States, defeated Cooking, United Kingdom. In the second match, Dole, beat Webster, United Kingdom. In the semi finals, Dole threw McKie, United Kingdom, and won the finals by throwing Slim of England.

Stenberg, Sweden, won the fourth heat of the high diving with 79.2 points.

Saarlae, Finland, won the Graeco-Roman wrestling competition.

The fifth heat of the high diving went to Anderson, Sweden, with 73.5 points.

ESCAPE MADE

Fernie Black Hands Regain Liberty

GAOL DOOR IS UNLOCKED

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY

PRISONERS WALK OUT. STEALING PROVISIONS GET AWAY—SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS OF FERNIE TO ENJOY AN UNION PICNIC.

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, July 22 — Five prisoners, members of the Black Hand society, who have been confined in the local gaol for some time, and who were to appear before the police magistrate again today for preliminary hearing, escaped early this morning and are still at large. It is supposed that the main entrance to the gaol building had been unintentionally left unlocked and the prisoners took advantage of the fact to walk out to liberty.

After leaving the lock-up they broke into the store of one of the prisoners and secured some necessaries and then left for parts unknown. It is not thought that they will be able to make their way out of the Pass, as the police at all points have been notified.

The Sunday schools of the town have decided to hold a union picnic again this year, and have selected Aug. 4 as the most convenient date on which to take an outing. They will as usual, go to Elko and have made special arrangements with the railways to convey them there. Should the weather be favorable a good time is in store for the youngsters and those who will accompany them.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies' Aid of Knox church, was held this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Keith Whimster. Notwithstanding the extremely hot weather a large number of the congregation were present and had a most enjoyable time.

During the absence on vacation of Rev. Hugh Grant the pulpit of Knox church is being occupied by Rev. J. T. Mauthorne of Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Suddaby of Berlin, Ont., arrived in town this morning on a visit to their son and daughter, N. E. Suddaby, and Mrs. A. H. Cree. They will remain here for about six weeks.

EXECUTION IN SAXONY

Young Girl Beheaded for Cold Blooded Murder She Confessed to

FREYBERG, Saxony, July 22.—Grete Beir, the 18 year-old-daughter of the mayor of Freyberg was beheaded last night some time between dark and dawn in punishment for the murder of a man to whom she was engaged to be married.

The executioner was an anonymous person, who was sent down here from Dresden on the announcement that the king of Saxony had refused to pardon Grete Beir for her crim. The personality of the young girl, who came of a good family and her thoughtfully arranged murder of her finance, a rich young civil engineer, attracted international attention. She was seemingly a happy and fun loving girl. At her trial she admitted with the utmost simplicity that she visited her fiance's house and one evening gave him cyanide of potassium in a drink she mixed for him and then to make sure of his death she shot him in the mouth with his own revolver.

ABREAST OF THE TIMES

ROOSEVELT'S APPEAL TO NAVAL OFFICERS

HE DEMANDED A FIRST CLASS FIGHTING NAVY

NEWPORT, July 22.—Pleading for popular support for a "first class fighting navy," a navy capable of seeking the enemy and "hammering him into the quits," president Roosevelt was a central figuree here today in the most notable conference of American naval officers ever called together to consult and discuss, in a broad, general way, the features of future United States battleships. The president spoke publicly for more than half an hour and then the conference went into legislative session for one hour.

During this session the president took a leading part in the discussions. He figured as a layman, he explained, and did not attempt to give advice to professional men. He impressed upon the officers, however, that it was given to them to keep the American navy abreast of the times and to make it the hard hitting, efficient fighting force which he believed to be a guarantee against the possibility of war. He characterized the navy as the cheapest form of insurance policy that the nation could secure.

The president sailed for Oyster Bay this afternoon but the battleship conference will continue here and at Washinton until definite plans are layed down for the near future are decided upon.

The conference here was attended by many leading naval officers and a number of army officers. They continuously applauded the president's aggressive naval address. The president said in part: "There are only a few things that I desire to say today to the conference, and what I have to say really is said less to the officers present than to the great bulk of my fell countrymen outside.

"I could not speak to you technically. I speak to my fellow countrymen who are interested in the navy but who sometimes tend to be misled as to the kind of a navy we should have, as to what the navy can and ought to be.

"For instance, there are always certain numbers of well meaning, amiable individuals, coupled with others not quite so well meaning, who advocate merely a coast defence navy. Such advocacy indicates a habit of mind as old as human nature itself. The desire at the same time to do something and not to do it.

"No fight was ever won except by hitting. I believe that the nation should scrupulously refrain from wronging or insulting another nation; that it should put up with a good deal in the way of misconduct on the part of others before going to war. But when this nation does have to go to war, such as will only be excusable, the nation intends to hammer its opponent until that opponent quits fighting.

"For the protection of our coast we need fortifications not merely to protect the salient points of our possessions but so that the navy can be foot loose. A year ago at the time it was announced that the fleet was to go abroad, there was a certain number of newspapers, especially in my own city of New York, that raised a clamorous protest against it. It took at one time the form of a mistaken prophesy to the effect that the fleet would not be allowed to go around the world, and one of the reasons alleged was that to let it go around the world would leave New York defenceless in the event of war. The idea evidently was that the fleet or a portion of it would be used especially to protect New York and other cities in the event of war. If war comes at any time in the future that administration under yhich it comes will indeed be guilty of folly if they use the fleet to protest any port. Let the port be protected by the fortifications; the fleet must be foot loose to search out and destroy the enemy's fleet. That is the only function that can justify the fleet's existence and that function cannot exist in the case of such a ridiculous fleet as the fleet would be, if it were only possible to use it for coast defense purposes."

HAD AN ENJOYABLE TIME

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN PICNIC AT PROCTER

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SCHOLARS TAKE AN OUTING

The children of St. Saviour's Sunday school and their friends enjoyed what was probably the most largely-attended picnic that has ever made the pleasant grounds connected with the Outlet hotel, at Procter, the scene of their festivities. Certainly no picnic could have been more thoroughly or more heartily enjoyed. The morning boat carried chiefly members of the Sunday school and other children. On their arrival an excellent dinner was provided by the ladies who, under the superintendence of Mrs. G. A. Hunter, had spared no effort to make bountiful provision for all who might attend.

After this a program of sports, especially arranged for the children, by George Horstead, was carried out under his most satisfactory management. The afternoon boat brought a large accession of visitors, mostly grown-ups. The later part of the day was cool and the sky cloudy and some pessimistic souls feared rain but not a drop fell and the clouds and the breeze only served to make the day the more enjoyable.

Among the races none caused more amusement to the onlookers, or aroused a keener comeptition among the contestants, than the ladies' sack race in which were representatives of Nelson, Nine Mile, Thireen Mile and Kaslo—and Kaslo won. That success was due largely, it was alleged by the other competitors, because her sack was three sizes larger than any of the others.

Those having charge of the picnic would like to thank Capt. Robertson, acting mate George Kurtz and the purser for the kind and considerate way in which they received and treated their passengers. Out of the great numbers who gave their service and amusement and entertainment of the children it would seem almost invidicus to select any few, but the officers of the Sunday school, while thanking every one who assisted, would like to make special mention of their gratitude to Mrs. G. A. Hunter, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Goepel, Mrs. Horstead, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. McCandlish, Mrs. Schermerhorn, Mrs. George Johnstone and Messrs. Schermerhorn, Horstead, McCandlish, Douglas and Playle.

EMPIRE'S HEIR

Prince of Wales Arrives in Quebec

WELCOMED BY THOUSANDS

LORD ROBERTS MAY EXTEND HIS VISIT TO CANADA BY COMING AS FAR WEST AS CALGARY—EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR THE GREAT FETE.

QUEBEC, July 22.—Quebec heaved a big sigh of relief this morning when it was found that the water supply had been turned on again in full force during the night. Yesterday's experience, consequent upon the breaking of the mains, was anything but a pleasant one, but today visitors have been able to have their morning bath and glass of ice water and the trouble is already forgotten.

The noble, picturesque, and ancient city of Quebec has witnessed many brilliant scenes on its river and its shores down through generations but the scene enacted today when H. R. H., the prince of Wales landed for the Tercentenary, crowned them all in brilliancy, in stately ceremonial, and in impressive grandeur.

From dawn nothing was heard in the city but talk of the prince's coming and when at legth H.M.S. Indomitable with the prince and suite on board and H.M.S. Minotaur loomed up into sight around Indian Cove early in the afternoon, cheers went up from the thousands of people crowded on all parts of the city that commanded a view of the river.

Then the thunderous roar of the big guns on the Indomitable broke forth and salute and counter salute followed each other in rapid succession till the ships taking part were gradually lost sight of in various clouds of smoke that puffed out from them on every side and slowly rose up from the river to obscure the high rocky shores and the purple outlines of the distant hills. Slowly and majestically the Indomitable and the Minotaur made their way up the stream and finally they dropped anchor at King's wharf.

Below there were French and American warships and close at hand the ships of the British North Atlantic fleet.

King's wharf, like the whole of the city, had been improved and decorated almost out of recognition. On the wharf itself was a great assemblage of distinguished people, his excellency earl Grey, lord Roberts, the duke of Norfolk, sir Wilfrid Laurier, admirals of all the fleets in port, lieutenant-governors of various provinces of the dominion and higher representatives of the militia.

Soon after the arrival of the warships the formalities of visiting the prince of Wales began, various dignitaries going across to the vessel in steam launches.

It was after 4 o'clock when the prince landed, and again the heavy guns of the citadel and the fleet boomed forth. His royal highness was conducted to a marque, where an address, expressive of most loyal greetings and hearty welcome, was read by sir Wilfrid Laurier in the name of the Canadian parliament of the people of the dominion. His royal highness briefly replied, saying how much pleasure it gave him to find himself in Canada for the sixth time. He particularly was pleased to come as the representative of his august father at the Tercentenary. Then, attended by a mounted escort, the prince and the assembly of dignitaries drove off to the citadel.

The weather was gloriously fine this afternoon.

An alarming rumor was current all over the city this morning that lord Roberts had slipped while walking around the grand battery and had fallen heavily, and had badly injured his knee, and besides had received a severe shock to his nervous system, but this report was denied by Capt. Newton, aide-de-camp to earl Grey. "Nothing of the kind happened," said the captain. "Lord Roberts was never in better health than now."

Vice president Fairbanks paid an official visit to earl Grey and also to R. L. Borden.

The governor general had a long talk with Mr. Borden, while he gave a most cordial reception to Mr. Fairbanks. The latter said he would be delighted to meet lord Roberts, declaring that he felt it a great honor to shake hands with so distinguished a representative of the British army.

The entrance to the governor general's quarters at the citadel are sumptuously decorated with banks of flowers and palms. The interior is also lavishly decorated. Five hundred troops are now quartered there and will remain throughout the prince's visit.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., arrived in the city last night and has taken up his residence in a rented house for the week. He met lord Roberts today, and urged the veteran to pay a visit to western Canada. Lord Roberts has very little time to spend, as he sails on August 21 and will meantime visit Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Niagara Falls. Sir Thomas, however, made it perfectly plain that a trip west could be accomplished, saying it would be a great pity if the veteran soldier, on this, his first visit to Canada, should not see Winnipeg and the magnificent praire country.

Lord Roberts, while not giving a definite reply hinted that it was very likely he would accept sir Thomas' hospitality and go as far west as Calgary.

Vice president Fairbanks, who is to represent the United States at the Tercentenary, arrived at Levis at 7:55. He was met at the station by Joseph Pope, under secretary of state for Canada, and Col. Victor Williams, who is acting aide-de-camp to Fairbanks. He was saluted by a guard of honor of the 53rd regiment played the "Star Spangled Banner."

There was a drenching downpour of rain, so very few people were there. The formalities over, he was brought across the river on a launch of the United States battleship New Hampshire and as he landed the guns of the citadel and of the ships boomed forth a salute. The band of the Victoria rifles, Montreal, as well as a mounted escort met him and escorted him to the citadel.

Mayor Bethune, of Vancouver, and mayor Hall, of Victoria, reached the city yesterday and are guests at the Chateau Frontenac.

BOAT CLUB RECEPTION

CHANGE IN METHOD OF CELEBRATING JULY 1

METHODS OF INDUCING WARMER PUBLIC INTEREST

The reception tendered to the three victorious oarsmen by the Nelson boat club last night showed a welcome increase in the interest which the citizens of Nelson are taking in the affairs of the king-pin of all its water sports. It is generally conceded that the victory of DesBrisay, Pool and Nott as representatives of the smallest city in the N.P.A.A.O., is not only a great credit to Nelson but is also an advertisement of no small importance. There was not nearly the attendance that should have been there. This was partly due to the frequency with which the event has been postponed and also to the impression that only members of the boat club were asked to attend. Still the quality of the meeting was such as to give great encouragement to the hopes of the members for a greater future to the club than has been anticipated for some time past.

The chair was taken shortly after 9 o'clock by mayor Taylor, who spoke at some length and with some force about the advantages which Nelson enjoyed in its stretch of water, the greatest asset, in his opinion, that the city enjoyed and he dweit upon the necessity of more prominently bringing this feature of the city, a feature in which it has no peer, not alone in the Kootenay but even taking into consideration the water courses at the coast.

T. DesBrisay, Alex. Pool and Frank Nott followed and spoke of the circumstances of the recent regatta and the need for a larger and more active membership if the club were to take that lead in water sports in the N.P.A.A.O. which it was entitled to by reason of the wealth of material at hand.

Will Irvine, following, referred to the change which was coming over the citizens with regard to the celebration of Dominion day, a change which he considered was timely, in favor of the water sports and urged the club to exert itself more to bring itself before the general public. There was a general desire to help but the citizens hardly knew how to help until they were asked or shown.

H. Gigot followed and expressed his interest and warm sympathy with the objects of the institution, and mayor Taylor seconded his remarks with the announcement that if the Seattle exposition did not require the regatta to be held on lake Washington next year, there was a fair chance of its being held here. But it was necessary that Nelson should qualify itself by having oarsmen worthy to compete in every event. That there was no interest in the water was hardly the case. As has been freely commented upon in the public press, Nelson was the first place in the whole of Canada to have a motor boat club. That had been started a few years ago. At its inception there were only 27 boats in the launch club; next year there had been 40. In the year following this number increased to 57 and that leaped to 70 in the succeeding twelvemonth. That was in 1907. Now, in 1908, there were 124 launches in the club. This represented an investment of $80,000. In Nelson alone there were upwards of 70 launch houses, which meant an additional $10,000 invested. Now, after all, launches were merely an adjunct of the boat club, that was the king-pin, and the mayor concluded by saying that if the executive of the club would make an active canvass of the city at the present time they would find themselves met with a generous response. F. Starkey, R. J. Steel, R. Lee and others confirmed the remarks of the mayor.

The proceedings were enlivened by the city band, which was in attendance, and by some excellent duets on banjo and mandolin by Messrs. Dodd and Melsom. Lester Patrick gave a clever rendition of "Little Baptiste," which was heartily received.

The meeting ended shortly after 11 o'clock with a newer feeling of hope in the future of the club.

FINDS REASON

Why Rockefeller Should Not Be Fined

PENALTY TO BE REMITTED

CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEAL HOLD THAT AS THE STANDARD OIL HAS NOT BEEN HEARD IT CAN NOT BE CONVICTED—APPEAL TO BE TAKEN.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Following the unanimous decision today of judges Grosscup, Seaman and Baker, composing the United States circuit court of appeals, reversing and remanding the case of the government against the Standard Oil company, of Indiana, in which case judge Landis in the district court had imposed a fine of $29,240,000, the federal attorneys today announced that the government had thirty days within which to file a petition for a rehearing and that it would be filed within the allotted period.

In the case that was reversed today the Standard Oil company, of Indiana, was found guilty of accepting rebates on shipments of oil from its refinery at Whiting, Indiana, to East St. Louis, Illinois. Judge Landis fined the company $20,000 on each of the 462 counts, each count representing a carload shipment.

Today's opinion of three judges of the higher court leaves little of the contention that each carload constituted a separate offense. Even the various shipments, of which there were about 500, could not be considered as separate offenses under the ruling of the court of appeals. The fine should have been based on settlements between the railroad and the oil company, the opinion holds. Of these there were just 35. The maximum fine on this basis would amount to $720,000 and the minimum $36,000. It is said that $223,000 is the total amount which the Standard Oil company is alleged to have received as rebates on the shipments in question. In the event of a rehearing being denied, the government may go to trial on the original indictments, containing 1462 counts. Such an action, district attorney Simms could be ready to take within two weeks. There are also several other indictments, containing 4422 counts, as a vast amount of work has been done on the case already decided and reversed, it is unlikely that an entirely new case will be instituted.

The record of the present case contains over a million and a half words, and cost the government $200,000. Another move which may be made by the federal attorneys is to transfer the prosecution from this jurisdiction either to the western New York district or to the eastern Tennessee court.

The most striking point of the decision follows: "Counsel for the government say in concluding their brief that the Elkins act was passed because the peace of society and the welfare of the people demanded it, that their inequality means business ruin to all except those powerful enough to make themselves the beneficiaries of the discriminations that no law of more vital importance was ever passed by congress, and that those guilty of violating it are guilty of a serious crime against the principles of industrial freedom. Every sentence of this arraignment it true, but the Interstate Commerce act, important as that law is, is not the only law under which we live. We live under a guarantee that reaches back to the beginning of our law, and is securely planned in every constitution of civilized government, that no one shall be punished until he has been heard and above this fundamental guarantee there can be seen no higher prerogative. For, let it once come to pass, that under the stress of the enforcing, equality and power in the government may override the fundamental rights of those being judged only after having been duly tried, a right, just as essential in the associated relations of corporations as to men in the relationship of co-partners or to men individually, there will remain to commerce nothing worth the name to safeguard. The beginning of commerce is constitutional government and the foundation of that government is faith that every guaranty of our institutions, no matter what the provocation, will be sacredly observed."

CANADIANS AT HENLEY

SCHOLES IS IN FINE TRIM FOR HIS GREAT RACE

ARGONAUT FOURS AND EIGHTS ROWING WELL

HENLEY, July 22 — Scholes rowed hard over the course this morning.

The Argonaut four rowed hard over the full course but no time was taken.

The Argonaut eight rowed half the distance over the Henley course in 3:28 1-2 with a stiff breeze and current against them. Coach Wright considered it a very good performance. They rowed 44 the first minute, 42 the second and finished at the rate of 41.

The English critics are forced to admit that the Argos pull well together, are rowing well and will take some beating. Boulter may row in the Staines regatta on Saturday and is doing well. All the Canadians are in good health and spirits.

Scholes weighed 168 pounds this morning.

DECENT GOVERNMENT

Hon. Mr. Hanna, Ontario's provincial secretary, made a refreshingly frank statement at the conservative mass meeting in the opera house on Tuesday night when he declared that the whole of the rank and file of the liberal party, like the rank and file of the great conservative party, stood for decent government of the country and that it was the liberal leaders who were at fault today and out of tune with the prevailing sentiment of all true Canadians. Mr. Hanna's statement was a perfectly true one and one with which the vast majority of electors are in thorough agreement, but from time to time some political hothead will declare that all the liberals or all the tories, as the case may be, must be swept into the sea if the affairs of the county are to be fairly and honorably administered.

Mr. Hanna comes to us from Ontario, where they have just had a general election and knows very well that the Ontario conservative party in the contest just over there undoubtedly received much support from those who ordinarily would have been found in the liberal ranks. He was in a position therefore to draw the attention of Kootenay voters to the fact that the coming struggle in dominion affairs was for good, honest and economical administration and not a mere fight between grits and tories. Abuse of liberals as a body will never draw a single vote to the aid of the conservative party and on the contrary it invariably makes it impossible for a liberal who thinks a change of administration desirable, voting according to his real view—for the best interests of the country at large.

There are doubtless many high souled politicians in either camp who can see no fault in their own party and no virtue in their opponents, but these are not the people who settle matters at the polls when voting day comes around.

We all get warmed up at election times but it is just as well to remember that western men are notably independent in their way of thinking and of voting and are quick to see the foolishness of some of the campaign talk put up to them when a campaign is really on.

The Victoria Colonist the other day had an altogether admirable article on the subject treated by Mr. Hanna on Tuesday evening and the line of thought followed by the coast paper was identical with what the Ontario minister told us the other evening.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The C. P. R. officials here have said nothing officially about arranging for a change of time so as to fall in with the time recently adopted by the city. To suit their own convenience the C. P. R. changed the time on their road from Mountain to the Pacific schedule at Kootenay Landing and Nelson naturally fell in with the established order of things. Now a change, after due notice to all concerned, has been agreed upon and all that is wanted to make the new arrangement work out successfully is a change on the big railway. Changes of the kind asked for cannot be done very quickly, but there is no particular reasons apparently why the change on the C. P. R. should not be made either at Nelson or, better still, at West Robson. Probably if a deputation waited on Mr. Coleman the matter could be arranged and the inconvenience of having city and C. P. R. time ended.

It is rather too warm weather to talk about politics but it is noteworthy that after the convention's choice of A. S. Goodeve as the conservative standard bearer for Kootenay became generally known and talked over, local public opinion, at first a little doubtful, has swung around strongly in favor of the Rossland man, as a clean, strong candidate, and one well able to take care of himself and the cause of the party on the stump and off, and one who will obtain a very generous support from leading conservatives all over the big constituency. The two candidates are now fairly before the public and locally, the comparison so far, has been greatly in Mr. Goodeve's favor.

Wall street has refused to take seriously the report from London that the house of commons is likely to pass the bill of William Pearce to save daylight by putting forward all the clocks in the United Kingdom 80 minutes. The effect of such a procedure on the relation of the London market to their own would be disastrous, all agreed, because the subtraction of an hour and 20 minutes from the London closing time would mean that business over there would be closed for the day before our own market opened. As for the possibility of the New York stock market adapting its opening and closing hours to agree with the new English idea, no one could be found on the Stock Exchange who would treat the proposal as anything but a huge joke. The members of the Maritime Exchange were also amused when the English plan to cheat time was brought to their attention. They said that London business men did not get to their offices until 10 or 11 o'clock four days a week anyway, and the extra 80 minutes would not make much difference.

The number and aggregate sum of the railway subsidies announced at Ottawa would seem to indicate the near approach of a general election, says the Toronto News. There are re-votes to 26 railways, and no less than 44 new roads are granted direct subventions. The lines to which the government thus contributes total 3828 miles in length. The re-votes amount to $5,000,000, and the new votes, including bridge subventions, to nearly $7,000,000. In addition there is a bond guarantee of about $8,000,000 to the Canadian Northern railway. To the latter method of assisting railway construction in a new country like Canada there can be no proper objection—the recent attacks on the Whitney government by the friends of the Ottawa administration for a like guarantee to the same road notwithstanding. Nor does the News take the stand that cash subsidies are never to be granted to new railways. Our east and west transportation facilities have to be extended and improved at considerable cost, and constantly new areas of settlement will require connection with the main arteries of traffic. In many instances it probably will be found expedient and proper to extend Government aid to such undertakings. But many old Liberals will regard with more suspicion than admiration the political guile which deems it necessary in the last days of the life of a Parliament to extend cash aid to nearly half a hundred new railway enterprises.

The British press points out that during the Tercentenary celebration Canada will be the Empire's centre of interest A permissible Canadian ambition is that in the days to come the Dominion may, by reason of wealth and population, rank as the dominant state in the Empire, and thus permanently focus the attention of the sister states in the world-wide confederation.

A Square Deal

I assure you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

CAUSED A PANIC

New York Jeweler Shoots Companion and Then Suicides

HANENSACK, New York, July 22.—While more than a hundred men and women were waiting for a train for New York at the Ridgefield station early today they were frightened to the verge of panic when one of two men who had been chatting on the platform suddenly drew a revolver and began shooting at his companion.

Only one of the four bullets took effect and that caused only a flesh wound but the bullets which sped wild, went dangerously close to the passengers in the crowd. When only one bullet remained in the revolver, the assailant shot himself, dying instantly. The suicide was a jeweler named Burguman, who had been employed in New York. His companion whom he attempted to kill is John Van Houset, foreman of the department where Burguman was employed.

METEOR DEFEATS RIVALS

A. N. WOLVERTON'S LAUNCH WINS RACE

THIRD IN SERIES OF THE LAUNCH COMPETITION

The third race of the series of launch races now in progress took place yesterday afternoon with 16 starters and the justice of the handicapping was shown by the results. The winner was A. N. Wolverton, Jr., with the Meteor, L. B. de Veber came in second with the Laughalot and A. D. Wheeler third with the Krao. Mr. Wolverton senior came in ahead of the other boats but as he had exceeded his time limit he was disqualified. The tail of the race was brought up by captain Paddon, a new entry, who, however, it is understood was suffering from a mysterious motor disease called a badly aligned shaft.

The system of handicapping is hardly as yet understood by the public but it is simple. The launches before being permitted to enter the race must go over the course and hand in th time in which they made their circuit. On the first race this time is taken as the basis of the handicap. Thus the launch which makes the slowest time starts first and after the elapse of the period between its time and that of the next slowest boat, the next launch starts and so on till the launch reporting the fastest time starts last. Now should any one of the launches beat the time handed in by 30 seconds that launch is disqualified for that race and the new time is taken as the basis of the handicap for the next race.

Thirty seconds may seem a small difference but thirty seconds in a two mile course in a boat capable of going ten knots an hour means twenty or thirty launch lengths, a considerable distance in a short race. The idea is to bring the launches in as close as possible together.

The standing of the launches alters from race to race as five points are given for the first in, four for the second, three for the third and one for every starter. The leaders in the series just now are Rutherford seven points, Wolverton, Jr., 6, de Veber, Travis and Gilker five each, and Wheeler, Brown, Traves and Elford three each. The others have one and two points. The result of the next race, however, may place any one launch in the lead or near it.

The starters and timekeepers yesterday were captain Gore and B. C. Travis.

(See note in local column as to later information on the race.)

GEORGE B. HOWARD

AT THE THEATRE

Howard Company to Commence Week's Engagement Next Monday

Geo. B. Howard and company opens at the opera house for one week commencing next Monday night.

Judging by their previous performances on their first visit here, the engagement of the Howard company assures Nelson theatre goers with some really meritorious performances. The company comes here direct from Vancouver, where they recently completed a successful run of 28 weeks. Taken in their entirety it is one of the best companies that ever appeared at the opera house and is deserving of the support of all who admire modern comedies capably portrayed by competent people.

The Daily Province, Vancouver, speaks of Geo. B. Howard and company as follows: "It is safe to say that the stock company now at the Lyric is one of the best if not the best, that has played in Vancouver, and in Geo. B. Howard it has a comedian who is absolutely great. Fun bubbles out of him, but it is so natural that one forgets he is a comedian playing a part and only realizes that here is an extremely witty fellow. There is a total absence of anything forced in his humor, and he has the gift of getting to the audience with an ease which speaks of real genius. When a comedian can fill a theatre and keep an audience in roars of laughter with no apparent effort, it is safe to say that that comedian is one of the right sort. A look, and the audience giggled; a wink, and it roared; a sentence accompanied by a gesture and the laughter thundered forth."

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

CANADIAN OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL BUT COMPLICATED

CONDITIONS BECOMING NORMAL ONCE MORE

(The Toronto News.)

The Canadian financial outlook, though hopeful, is complicated. The country has by no means wholly recovered from the adverse effects of last autumn's money pinch and partial crop failure. A spirit of caution and conservatism still pervades most lines of business. Retail merchants are chary about stocking up, and many of them are running along with fewer goods on their shelves than at any other time in years past. This feature of the situation constitutes an element of soundness, for when the buying commences the reduced condition of stocks throughout the provinces is likely to result in the placing of unusually heavy orders with the wholesalers and manufacturers. Meantime trade, though showing improvement in some quarters, cannot be said to be over active. In anticipation of the crop season the railways and some industries are affording re-employment to men who have been idle for months. Harvesting operations in east-middle and western Canada will furnish a few weeks' work for thousands who are fitted for that kind of labor. But it is by no means clear as yet that the task of caring for the poor during the coming winter is not going again to impose a serious burden upon the towns and cities whither the unemployed always flock.

Nevertheless, the News is by no means pessimistic as regards the future. Taking the country as a whole, the crop prospects could hardly be better. From the maritime provinces, from Quebec, from nearly all parts of Ontario, and from the Canadian west come nothing but the most reassuring advices of record prospects for grain, hay, roots and fruit. It is of course too early to count with certainty upon the absolute realization of the present universal outlook for bumper yields. Frost or excessive rains may do much damage ere the grain is safely garnered and housed. On the other hand, the growth is unusually well advanced for this time of year. Grain-cutting has commenced in Ontario, and, judging by the present prospects, the harvest in the west is scheduled for three or four weeks earlier than usual. This forwardness of the wheat, which is already heading out in some districts, of course greatly reduces the danger of its being damaged by an early autumn freeze. Barring accident, the country's revenue from agriculture this year will be enormously greater than last year. In fact, it should break all records.

Of course the nation faces the financial task of moving the crops. The banks are better prepared for this work this year than last. In the first place, their note circulation today is $3,000,000 less than it was a year ago. This leaves just that much additional margin wherewith to meet the demands of the autumn crop movement. Besides this, there is available the emergency circulation provided by special legislation at the present session of parliament. In this way the chartered banks will have several million dollars more than last year wherewith to obviate the usual autumn money stringency. It is thus confidently expected that, so far as this season is concerned, a monetary pinch will be averted in spite of the probability that that the size of the crops will render the task of marketing them unusually heavy.

To a step further, granting that the crops are successfully harvested and housed, the marketing of the grain will liquidate existing liabilities, and tend to rehabilitate the general financal situation. But in the final analysis the extent of the recovery depends upon the length to which economy has been and is being practiced throughout the length and breadth of the land. Undoubtedly thousands of people have cut down personal expenditures, merchants have reduced their stocks, and manufacturers have lessened their outlay. Economy has not been the rule at Ottawa, nor have all our municipalities been free from the charge of extravagance. On the whole, however, the belief may be expressed that the general curtailment of expenditures and the bumper grain crop now expected will suffice to pretty well straighten out the financial situation. But it is too much to look for full relief this autumn. The grain must be marketed and the money received in return before the recovery can be anything like complete. The prospect, therefore is that, by the spring of 1909, some thing approaching normal financial and commercial conditions should exist in this country.

The other side of the situation is that money is now quite cheap in Great Britain and the United States, the low rates ruling being largely attributable to the universal trade setback. Good securities are much easier to dispose of in New York and London. The funds thus rendered available for railway construction and municipal undertakings in this country should help to revive the labor market and the industrial situation generally by placing factories in full operation, and affording employment to the workless. This availability of funds, together with the marketing of a record wheat crop, may be expected to greatly increase the buying power of the people next winter and spring. First comes the meeting of old obligations and then a fresh buying movement. That is the order of recovery, and if all goes well it should begin with the local retailer and work back to the wholesaler and the manufacturer. The recovery will be delayed somewhat by the unfavorable trade balance found in the excess of our imports over our exports. In a new country such as this we must expect to buy more than we sell for some years to come, but there is a limit beyond which we should not venture.

Lastly, we have to consider the influence of conditions in the neighboring republic on the situation here at home. Certainly, there is a menace in the possibility of Mr. Bryan's election, high-minded man though he is. His radical tendencies are the object of dread. Some nervousness is felt in financial circles over the prospects of tariff revision even should Mr. Taft be returned to office. Signs of industrial recovery are reported in some quarters of the United States. One of these is the lesser number of idle freight cars now reported by the railways. The promise of a good crop season is partly responsible for the improvement thus reported. But it is perhaps doubtful if the recovery will proceed to any great length until Mr. Taft's election is actually assured and he has sent his first presidential message to congress. Though Mr. Roosevelt's nominee it is expected that he will display a conservative attitude towards financial interests, and that his methods will conduce to restore confidence on the part of capital everywhere.

MACHINE ENTHUSIASM

Convention Tactics in the United States Waste of Energy

Our American neighbors being justly celebrated for their success in the production of ingenious labor saving machinery, it is a wonder that they permit so much labor to go to waste in their political gatherings, notably at the national party conventions. This seems all the more strange when it is considered that as the national conventions succeed each other the labor becomes greater. We refer of course to the labor necessary to the production and manifestation of enthusiasm.

Not many years ago, the enthusiasm was an incidental feature of the national convention, and the labor involved in it was not great. It was the work of only a few minutes. Now it has become the outstanding feature of the convention. Apparently the delegates meet chiefly for the purpose of making a supreme demonstration of party enthusiasm. The dry work of the convention is all done before hand; the candidate is chosen and the platform drafted. The delegates meet to cheer and if possible beat all records in the way of enthusiastic demonstrations. At the republican convention in Chicago the cheering for Roosevelt lasted 45 minutes; at the democratic convention in Denver the tumult and shouting in honor of Bryan lasted 79 minutes. It was hard work, all manual labor, too. And this midsummer strenuosity was so stupidly unnecessary—mere waste of labor.

What the party leaders ought to do is to consult Edison or some other clever inventor to devise labor saving machinery for the production of enthusiasm, have it ready by the time the next national conventions meet and installed in the convention halls. At the touch of an electric button, just at the proper psychological moment, there could be produced a tempest of noise from gramophones, megaphones, steam syrens, calliopes, autoatic fish horns and other sound producers—all electrically controlled so that the crescendos could be skillfully regulated by one manipulator. By such a resort to labor saving devices, the party conventions would not be compelled to desist from enthusiasm after only an hour or two of continuous labor. The delegates could transact the prearranged business in a few hours and then devote all the remainder of the time to noise. Instead of measuring enthusiasm by minutes as is now done, the parties could then measure it by whole days. —Hamilton Herald.

BISHOP POTTER DEAD

Head of New York Diocese Dies in His 74th Year

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 22.—Henry Codman Potter, seventh Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of New York, died last night at Fernleigh, his summer home, after an illness of several weeks. The bishop was unconscious all day and the end, which came at 8:30 o'clock tonight, was peaceful and quiet. The prelate was 74 years of age. Death was due primarily to embolism in the right leg, following a long attack of stomach and liver trouble. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made. He was a native of Schenectady, N. Y., and had been at the head of the New York diocese since 1887. He was the son of bishop Alonzo Potter, of Pennsylvania, and was educated at the Episcopal academy, Philadelphia, and Theological seminary, of Virginia. He received degrees from Union, Yale, Harvard, Oxford and Cambridge and is a writer on religious topics of considerable note. He was regarded as an usually broad-minded churchman and aroused considerable criticism on his connection with his attempt to moralize the saloon. He was twice married, his second wife being Mrs. Clark, the widow of a millionaire manufacturer.

ANOTHER SCHOOL FIRE

Many Children Trampled Down But no Lives Are Lost

PITTSBURG, July 22.—Fire in the Holmes public school caused a panic today among 150 children attending the vacation term. Many were thrown down and trampled while leaving the building but none were seriously hurt. The fire was finally extinguished with small loss. Burning waste paper in the basement caused the fire.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CAN BE HAD IN 25c. TRIAL SIZE

AS WELL AS IN REGULAR 50c. BOXES.

Everybody Can Afford To Give These Wonderful Tablets a Trial at Least And Prove Their Value.

"Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets," the wonderful medicine made from the juices of ripe fruits, have scored a remarkable success. The demand for them has grown in four years till it now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Druggists at first bought them in lots of one dozen boxes—to retail for $6.00. Now it is no uncommon thing to receive orders from wholesalers for 100 gross lots (14,400 boxes)—to retail for $7,200.

There is only one reason for this great success—they cure sick people.

But still there are homes where "Fruit-a-tives" have not been tried—homes where they still suffer from Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney Trouble, Skin Diseases, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and kindred painful and weakening ailments — often because they have not cared to risk 50c. to try "Fruit-a-tives" when other medicines—supposed to cure — could be had for 25c.

This last objection to trying "Fruit-a-tives" has now been overcome. We have put out a new trial size to retail at 25c. The price no longer stands in the way. Get a trial box and see for yourself that "Fruit-a-tives" will help you.

If your dealer has not the 25c. trial size, let us know. Give us your name and address and we will send you a booklet—free — containing valuable recipes and stories of what "Fruit-a-tives" have done. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

LOCOMOTIVE IS DOOMED

GREAT DISCOVERY ANNOUNCED BY AN EXPERT

REVOLUTIONIZE APPLICATION OF POWER

A remarkable series of experiments conducted by Joseph A. Holmes, expert in charge of the technologic branch of the United States geological survey, point the way in the opinion of government scientists ,directly towards the use of electric locomotives upon all steam railroads in the country. And more than this, these experiments indicate a revolution in the uses and application of power for industrial purposes throughout the United States.

By many Holmes' work is regarded as the most important ever conducted by any branch of the geological survey since it goes directly to the solution of the problem of multiplying the amount of power to be derived from a ton of fuel. The experiments have been both thorough and elaborate, and in collating their results Holmes has used all he has himself established and also all the facts conceded by the experience of the industrial world generally.

The experiments have all bee aimed at an exhaustive examination of the practicability of the internal explosion engine, and a comparison of its virtues with those of the steam engine. His deductions, regarded by him as flawless, indicate with all human certainty the speedy adoption of the explosion engine as the leading source of artificial power in the world. But perhaps the most interesting of his statements is that bearing upon the motive power of the railroads for locomotion purposes. In this connection he rests his case upon several unassailable facts, as follows:

1. The railroads of the United States burn in their locomotives annually just about 150,000,000 tons of coal, or about one-third of the coal produced in the country.

2 .This fuel has to be handled and hauled several times before it is used.

3. The explosion engine would eliminate all of this haulage and most of the handling.

4. The explosion engine would extract at least twice the horse power from fuel now derived from it by the steam engine.

These facts, held to be indisputable, are mainly the ones upon which rest the assumption that the day of the steam locomotive is almost at an end. Of course there is much money tied up in steam locomotives and it would take a large sum to replace these engines with stationary engines or power stations and to equip the railroads with electric wiring and rolling stock. But it is held to be self evident that with the immense saving promised by the explosion engine system no steam road could hope to compete with a road using the improved equipment.

Holmes finds that at this time electricity can be transmitted with economy a distance of 250 miles. This is to say the loss of power in that distance would not be great enough to interfere with the economy of a plant sending power that distance. Hence he fixes 500 miles as the distance separating power plants on a trunk line of railroad across the continent. That is what he believes it will be if the transformation of roads from steam to electricity comes about within a reasonable time. If it is put off a few years he is not so sure that the distance may not be materially increased.

But it is maintained that the enormous saving in fuel will pay interest upon so vast a sum that the roads will have difficulty at all in raising the means to transform their lines whenever they become satisfied that the experiments of the government and the deduct ons therefrom are sound. The mental picture the reader is asked to draw for himself is that of a dustless, cinderless railroad, with the power stations located at the mouth of a coal mine and not necessarily upon the direct line of railroad, and with trains run at both greater speed and with more safety than is possible with steam roads.

The internal combustion engine came into something like general use only during the last end of the 19th century. Even then it was supposed that it could never come into practical play in the industrial world, because it was believed that about 250 horse power was its limit. But the past few years and especially the federal experiments have demonstrated that it has no limit in size or power that does not equally apply to the steam engine. Gas engines, four cycle, twin tandem, double acting, run as high as 6000 horse power and they are used in water pumping stations for cities and for other purposes where absolute fidelity and reliability are the first essential.

The rapid advance in the development of the gas engine has been one of the wonders of the engineering world and it has now come to the point where it is conceded that the future of this engine depends solely upon cheap gas. With that provided there is no measureable limit to the possible expansion of the use of this variety of power producer. And the experiments of the geological survey have demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the government experts that the question of cheap gas no longer stands in the way. In other words, the experiments have solved it.

This solution was arrived at through experiments with gas producers, into which the fuel is fed directly and from which emanates the gas to run the gas engine. The results were profoundly impressive. Not only was the gas producer able to turn out gas of the necessary quality from all kinds of coal, bituminous and anthracite, but also from the cheapest lignite and even from peat and always in paying quantities. Lignite and peat which would not make enough power to start the engine, developed a greater horse power in the explosion engine than the best steam coal under a steam boiler.

Thus was the way opened for remarkable statements which Holmes of the geological survey stands ready to make and substantiate. The day of the steam engine is drawing to a close. Its race is run. Gas is to be the thing in the future and its use will not be confined to the railroad locomotive. All sorts of power plants will be made to feel its bening influence.

The belief is expressed that central power plants are to be erected at the mouth of the coal mine and from that point, without hauling a pound of coal away from the mine, power will be transmitted to all parts of an area practically twice as great as the state of Illinois Thus, every state having any coal deposits, no matter how poor the quality, will be supplied from central power stations situated at the coal mines with all necessity for the shipment of coal for power purposes eliminated from the calculation. It is like a Utopian dream, but the hard headed scientists of the government assert the absence of the dream quality from it with emphasis and force. To them it is all a simple business with no wonder in it at all, except that someone had not before discovered it.

The first machines for producing gas from coal and lignites for the use of gas engines were unable to handle any but the cleanest coal. The first of those machines the government heard of in this country was in 1896. But no coal carrying any quantity of tar could be reduced in it. The same was true of the later types and it took several years for the invention of a device by which any kind of coal might be consumed. But this has now been done and the presence of tarry matter in the fuel no longer cuts any figure. Everything goes.

It remained for the United States geological survey to demonstrate this but it was done. Any and all of the bituminous coals, lignites and peats were tried out with the most modern gas producer in the experimental plant at St. Louis, and the results are officially declared to have been more than gratifying. The experts succeeded in turning the tar in the stickiest of fuels into gas, leaving no residen save the ashes. The same was accomplished with some coals heavily impregnated with sulphur, that also being entirely consumed.

FORESTRY WORK

Dominion Government Work in Protecting and Planting Forests

The forestry branch of the department of the interior deals only with forestry work on lands belonging to the dominion government, and hence its work is confined to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the "railway belt" in British Columbia.

This branch is at present working chiefly along three lines, viz.: (1) The protection of existing forests from fire; (2) the survey of the forest reserves, including the estimation of the timber on these reserves, both as regards the timber actually standing on the reserves and the future growth; (3) the free distribution of seedling trees and cuttings to farmers in the prairie provinces.

The system of fire protection on dominion lands is similar to that in use in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, in that rangers are employed to patrol the forests, put out incipient fires and employ assistance when the fire is too large for them to handle alone. They also post fire notices and instruct the settlers as to the danger from fires, the care necessary in guarding fires, and similar points, and endeavor to secure their assistance and co-operation. This last is not the least important part of their duties. On timber lands under license, one-half the cost of ranging is paid by the government and half by the lessee; on lands not under license the government pays the whole expense.

The dominion forest reserves were set aside by act of parliament in 1906, and cover an aggregate area of 5400 square miles in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The forest survey work on these is now in its fourth season, having been begun in 1905. Such surveys of the Turtle Mountain (Man.) and Moose Mountain (Sask.) reserves have been completed. That if the Riding Mountain (Man.) reserve is now in its third season, but as the reserve covers an area of over 1500 square miles, the work is one of considerable magnitude. Another party is at work this season in "The Pines" reserve, in the neighborhood of Prince Albert, Sask.

The scheme of free distribution of trees to farmers operated by the forestry branch is the best known part of its work. Since its inception in 1901 there have been distributed a total of eleven million trees—more than enough to plant a double row of trees, four feet apart each way, along each side of the C. P. R. track from Fort William, Ont., to Vancouver, B. C. The average sent out each spring for the past five years is two million. The trees are raised at the branch's nursery at Indian Head, Sask.

CANADIANS WIN

Two Yachts Come in First in Their Class at Put-in-Bay Regatta

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio, July 22.—The two Canadian cruisers Zoraya and Crusader again captured first place in their respective races in yesterday's regatta of the Inter-Lake Yachting association. This gives them the championship flags for their classes.

The Zoraya won the Class "A" honors, cruisers over 33 feet in length. The Crusader will take the flag in the "B" class, cruisers under 33 feet. In addition to first, the Canadian boats tood second and third place in "A" class and second place in "B" class. For 21 foot yachts, "F" class, Sprite, of Detroit won, dividing honors with the Cleveland, of Cleveland, which took first yesterday.

FIGURES PUT IN ARRAY

REAL COST OF CONSTRUCTION OF GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

BORDEN'S COMPUTATION IS NOT SERIOUSLY DENIED

Mr. Graham, the minister of railways, has made his reply to Mr. Borden's estimate of the cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme. Summing up, one may say that Mr. Graham did some very clever debating, and that Mr. Borden's figures remain very little affected.

This is a matter in which facts matter a great deal more than arguments; so our principal interest in examining Mr. Graham's statement will be the figures he gave. But in fairness to him one must show clearly the exact marshalling of figures on which he depends to lessen Mr. Borden's totals.

At the outset we must treat one question of calculation which figured a good deal. Mr. Borden's estimate, it will be recalled, was as follows:

Cash expenditure	$192,920,723
Bond guarantee	58,048,000
	$250,968,723

These being added together made a total of $250,000,000. But a total of what? Not of cost; the cost will be the cash paid out, and that by this estimate will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000,000. But we may use the term "commitments;" or we may style it "obligations." The government wish to strike out the bond guarantee altogether from the calculation, on the ground that the country never will be called upon to pay a cent on it. Very probably; but, in addition to the risk, there is the fact that these guarantees will materially reduce our borrowing power; and we are entering upon a period in which we shall need every dollar of our borrowing power. The comparative failure of our loan of the other day in London was due to just such things as this guarantee. So we cannot altogether strike these bond guarantees out. Some hasty commentators have described the cost as a quarter of a billion; Mr. Graham complained of this, with a good deal of justice. But we hardly can accept his suggestion that nearly sixty millions of bond guarantees can be wholly ignored.

MR. GRAHAM'S ARGUMENT.

With this preliminary note, let us outline Mr. Graham's argument. In brief, it is that several of the sums in Mr. Borden's list do not apply to the national transcontinental, i. e., to the Winnipeg to Moncton stretch. The Quebec bridge should not figure at all, because it stands apart from the transcontinental scheme, in that, (1) it was started before the transcontinental project took shape, (2) other railways will use it. The item of $11,000,000 for three years' interest for the eighth, ninth and tenth years of the operation of the road he refused to count at all, on the ground that he is sure that the line will be paying by that time. The charge for terminals he first wished to reduce from $5,470,000 to $3,500,000, and ultimately placed at $4,591,250 on the strength of some very complicated reading of contracts, and in this Mr. Borden concurred, each side conceding about a million. And again, while admitting the liability to seven years' interest on the bonds of the mountain section of the Grand Trunk Pacific, he struck it out on the ground that it had nothing to do with the Winnipeg to Moncton stretch.

Thus Mr. Graham makes from Mr. Borden's figures he following deductions:

Bond guarantee	$58,048,000
Mountain section interest	11,304,308
Quebec bridge	14,422,238
Three years' interest (1919, 1920 and 1921)	11,422,238
Reduction on terminals	878,750
Total	$95,849,573

Or, let us say, $96,000,000.

This is very clever debating, and attains its object, which is to enable hundreds of stumpers this autumn to make the broad statement that Mr. Borden put the cost at $250,000,000 and hat Mr. Graham was able to knock off $986,000,000 of this.

WINNIPEG-MONCTON ONLY.

Observe clearly that Mr. Graham arrives at this by refusing to consider anything but the Winnipeg-Moncton stretch of the national transcontinental proper, otherwise the eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The two men had different objects in mind, for Mr. Borden was dealing with the whole ocean-to-ocean project, in all its phases.

Thus we see how political arguments are made. To the writer, and possibly to the reader, the really interesting question is what the whole project, eastern division, western division and all, will cost. When we look upon the matter from this point of view, it develops that Mr. Graham disputes very few of Mr. Borden's figures. He admits, for example, that the Quebec bridge will cost $14,000,000, but says it must not be charged up to the national transcontinental. Well—it must be paid for, and it will be a link in the system; so let us put it in. The conservative statement will now stand as follows:

1. Cash items which Mr. Graham does not dispute in any way:

	Borden	Graham
Construction	$114,393,765	$114,393,765
Interest on construction	10,009,454	10,009,454
Seven years' interest (1912-18	26,124,676	26,124,676
Total	$150,527,895	$150,527,895

2. Cash items which Mr. Graham does not dispute in themselves, but simply claims (a) should not be counted as cost, or, (b), should not be charged to the Winnipeg-to-Moncton stretch:

Quebec bridge	$14,422,238	$14,422,238
Mountain section interest	11,304,300	11,304,300
Total	$25,726,538	$25,726,538

3. Cash items with regard to which Mr. Borden and Mr. Graham differ:

Terminals, etc	$ 5,470,000	$4,591,250
Three years' interest (1919-21)	11,196,290
Total	$16,666,290	$4,591,250

4. Credit obligations, the existence of which Mr. Graham does not dispute, but which, he insists, (a) should not be counted as cost, (b) should not be counted against the Winnipeg-to-Moncton stretch:

Bond guarantee	$58,048,000

RECAPITULATION.

So, viewing the matter in the light of the money which the country must pay, and the obligations which it must assume, under any pretext, in connection with the whole scheme, we have the following recapitulation:

1	$150,527,895	$150,527,895
2	25,726,538	25,726,538
3	16,666,290	4,591,250
Total cash	$192,920,723	$180,845,683
4 Bond guarantee	58,048,000	58,048,000
Total commitments	$250,968,723	$238,963,683

Thus we see that when Mr. Graham's figures are treated as Mr. Borden treated his, the difference is only $12,000,000 intsead of $97,000,000.

Recollect, too, that Mr. Borden accepts Mr. Graham's scaling down of the cost of terminals. Thus his estimate, revised, is as follows:

Cash	$192,011,973
Guarantee	58,048,000
	$250,089,973

And so the only place where Mr. Graham disputes Mr. Borden's figures is that he thinks that the road will be able to pay interest in 1919, 1920 and 1921, and Mr. Borden fears it will not. That issue is on the knees of the gods.

It is proper to add that Mr. Graham did some figuring of a sort familiar five years ago. True, he says, we shall be obliged to pay $114,000,000 for the line; but what of that? We shall be paid 3 per cent interest on that, and so it will not cost us anything. The only cost will be the seven years' interest which the railway will not repay. Thus the cost will be:

Unpaid interest on the eastern division	$26,859,676
Unpaid interest on the mountain section	11,304,300
Total	$38,163,976

A transcontinental railway for $38,000,000! Hurrah!

A consideration may be advanced at this point. On the $114,000,000 of presumed cost the country will receive 3 per cent when the Grand Trunk Pacific really feels able. Very good; but the country is not going to raise that $114,000,000 at 3 per cent. It is more likely to pay 3½ per cent or even 4 per cent. There will be a liability for this additional interest, say $1,140,000 of $570,000 a year; capitalizing this at 4 per cent we have an additional cost of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

EFFECT OUR CREDIT.

Apart from this, this calculation of the cost being only the unpaid interest is very academic. The government of Canada has to find from 150 to 200 million dollars of cash to build that road. It is to have all the worry of doing the financing of the project. Its credit will be absorbed and reduced while this is going on. It will be unable to enter into other tempting projects which require heavy expenditure. It is a good thing to have the prospect of the ultimate payment of interest; but in the meantime we have to hunt up that hundred and fifty or two hundred millions. And it looks as if it will keep us busy.

A WELL BUILT ROAD.

Mr. Graham added a rather interesting statement explaining that the unexpected cost is due (1) to the increase in prices of everything, (2) to the fact that the road is being built with unexpected solidity. Usually railways are built rather roughly at first, and then, as they begin to earn money are practically rebuilt—wooden bridges are turned into steel, trestles become solid embankments, grades are reduced, curves are eased, and miles of road are abandoned in favor of new locations. The national transcontinental will begin life with steel bridges, solid embankments, low grades, easy curves, and with every improvement which great wealth and enormous and long-established traffic bring to other railways. This solidity will have a great effect on the operation of the road. Mr. Graham submitted a calculation that on a basis of ten trains a day each way the saving on a road of the standard decided on, as compared with the ordinary standard, the saving in operation will be very nearly $6,000,000 a year.

STATE OF CITY FINANCES

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES FOR THE YEAR

RATE TO BE STRUCK AT NEXT COUNCIL MEETING

On Monday next will have to be gone into the question of the tax rate on real estate and improvements for the year and the following accounts will have to be carefully considered by the council. They show the receipts and expenditures for the first six months of the year. The estimates of expenditure of the year are $158,163.00, and for the first six months have been expended $99,139.58, something less than two-thirds. This includes an expenditure on the power plant for certain additions not contemplated on the original estimates of the building, which expenditure, however, is on capital account and, therefore, not properly to be included as money that should be paid out of any one year's revenue. If this amount be excluded the expenditure, it will be seen, for the first six months, will have totalled $77,353.45, or slightly less than half. On the other hand slightly more than half of the work has been done, supposing that there is no pressing need for other and unforseen disbursements.

The receipts for the six months, including a loan of $45,000 from the Bank of Montreal, are $103,246.45, whereas the total receipts are estimated for the year from the sources named are estimated at $101,000.00. Supposing the estimates to be borne out by the actual receipts the balance of some $57,000 will have to be raised by taxes on real estate and improvements. The rate to be struck for the year, the work of the city council of Monday night next, will have to be largely governed by the considerations set forth.

A UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

GATHERING AT CHATAUQUA NOW AT WORK

COMMERCIAL HOUSES TO ADOPT THE NEW IDEA

CHAUTAUQUA, July 22.—Karaj, samideanoj! Vivu, Esperanto! Vivu, Zamenhof! Vivu, la Nacia Esperanta Kunveno!

Freely translated, this means that the deciples of Dr. Zamenhof's new universal language, Esperanto, which is alleged to embrace all the virtues of all other languages and the faults of none, are gathered in Chautauqua today for their first national convention and that they are glad to see each other. Karaj, samideano—the same meaning, shake, brother of the same idea!

Not in many years has this center of learning entertained such an enthusiastic gathering as today's assemblage of Esperantists. Chattering volubly in a language that sounds like a cross between Greek and Choctow to the unitiated listener, but which, nevertheless, has a musical and pleasing tang, the followers of Zamenhof, the Russian Pole, are confident that the universal language will soon accomplish its mission. Thus the wrong inflicted upon humanity by the ambitious builders of the tower of Babel will be undone and all nations joined together by the bonds of a universal talkfeast, will settle their differences with words instead of war. Vivu, Esperanto!

The feature of today's session was the raising of the Esperanto flag, which was accomplished with much ceremony and a great flow of Esperanto oratory. A concert, in which Esperanto songs will be sung, will be held this evening.

The convention will continue through tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. Systems of instruction will be offered for those who have not yet thoroughly mastered the language. The speakers and instructors on the program include leading educators in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

An attempt will be made to secure next year's international Esperanto congress for this country. This year's international congress, the fourth, will be held in Dresden, Germany, beginning August 15, and will be attended by many Americans. The convention last year was held in Cambridge, England, and enlisted the co-operation of many great English educators.

It is stated that general Wood has recommended that the military officials at Washington give official recognition to the new international language and has urged that a delegate be sent to the Dresden convention. United States consuls at Dresden and Geneva have also made reports urging the same action.

It is stated that there are now about 50,000 persons in the United States able to write, read and speak Esperanto and that the new language is rapidly gaining thousands of new converts. Many prominent men and women are now included in the list of Esperanto adherents. Officials of practically all international organizations ande movements have recommended the study of the language, in order that correspondence may be carried on between men of different nations in Esperanto. The socialists, it is said, are especially active in spreading the Esperanto propaganda.

Commercial houses employing traveling men in foreign countries are also said to be adopting Esperanto. Leaders in the movement are highly enthusiastic and declare that Esperanto will soon become a truly universal language in all that the name implies.

In 1873 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, disentery and cholery infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Chlorea and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the Unitdd States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. MORE BUSH FIRES

One at Hosmer Not Doing Much Damage—Fernie Horse Races

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, July 22.—Victoria avenue was lined with a large crowd of spectators who had gathered to witness the horse races which had been advertised to take place at 8 o'clock. The first event on the program was a half mile race between a horse owned by Rizzuto and Crawford and one belonging to Gorrie Bros., for which a purse of $200 was the stake. The horses got away well together but Rizzuto and Crawford's bay gradually took the lead and finished three lengths ahead at the winning post. The second event was run in two heats, and was won by Winnett's bay mare with Minton's horse second. In the race for second place Movie's horse was well in the lead but when a few feet from the finishing post was swerved from its course by a dog and bolted onto a side street, narrowly missing knocking down several of the bystanders. Fully twelve hundred people viewed the races which proved so successful that effort will be made to make them a weekly event for the balance of the summer.

A large bush fire is raging near Hosmer, but is doing little damage as it has not reached any valuable timber yet and is not likely to spread as it is pretty well under control and closely watched.

One death from scralet fever was reported on Saturday, the victim being a three year old boy named Draper. The funeral took place to St. Margaret's cemetery at 8 o'clock yesterday evening. The Rev. R. S. Wilkinson, of Christ church, officiating.

FLEET VISITS AUSTRALIA

BRITISH PRESS COMMENT ON AMERICAN FLEET

JEALOUS OF ATTENTION TO BE PAID YANKEES

LONDON, July 22—While the American battleship fleet, which sais tomorrow from Honolulu bound for the British colonies in the Antipodes, will be given a warm welcome by the officials and people of New Zealand and Australia, the feeling in the mother country is far from cordial. As a matter of fact, John Bull is a little jealous of Uncle Sam and some of the London newspapers even charge the latter with an attempt to alienate the affections of king Edwards dominions beyond the seas.

The Australians have appropriated half a million dollars for the entertainment of the fleet and this is branded as "extravagant" by the British press.

Commenting on the visit of the prince of Wales to Quebec, where he arrived today on the big cruiser Indomitable, the London Daily Mail says that this " will at least prove to Canada that the British navy possesses finer warships than any which fly the American flag. There is no reason," concludes the Mail "why the Indomitable and her sister ships should not show themselves at Sydney and Melbourne."

Commenting on the spirit in which the Australian colonies are preparing to welcome the fleet flying the Stars and Stripes, the Daily Mail says:

"The explanation of this outburst of enthusiasm is probably to be found in the fact that since the withdrawal of the British battleship fleet from the Chinese station, which has left the British empire without a single battleship east of Suez, the Australian people have felt themselves open to naval attack. They see in the fleet of the United States a force capable of giving protection. It would be well, however, for Australians to understand the true causes which led the admiralty to recall the British battleships. The rapid development of the continental navies confronted Britain with these alternatives. She might increase her navy and thus be strong at home, while still maintaining powerful squadrons in foreign waters. This plan would have been wisest and safest in the long run, though its cost would have been great. Or she might obtain allies, economize, in naval construction and withdraw her distant fleets, which with a reduced navy she would no longer be able to spare.

"The second course was taken, rightly or wrongly, and we may say frankly that its results have not been gratifying to national pride. The failure of the British navy to put in a prompt appearance at Kingston after the earthquake, is now to be followed by the assemblage before Australian crowds of a far more powerful fleet under a foreign flag than Britain has ever displayed in Pacific waters. The blame, however, for this state of affairs does not rest entirely with the people of the United Kingdom. They annually appropriate some $160,000,000 for the navy. The cost of an efficient and powerful Australian squadron would be at least $10,000,000 and probably considerably more. Yet the total contribution of Australia to the navy is only $1,000,000, while that of New Zealand is an additional $200,000.

"It is impossible for the British navy to be strong at all points as the idealists would wish to see it, unless it receives greater pecuniary support from the different states of the empire. If large detachments are made to a distant point from the present navy, defeat in Europe would be risked. Australians can see that any serious blow to the integrity or prosperity of the mother country would be a disaster to their own commonwealth, and they will not be inclined to blame the British admiralty for taking its precautions to prevent this. But it would be well next year, if the ships can be spared from their stations in Europe were a powerful British fleet of modern armor clads dispatched on a voyage to the great colonies.

HAMILTON, July 22—A double drowning accident occurred about 1 o'clock this afternoon on the Hamilton beach, when two men were drowned as a result of a scow sinking. One of the men is supposed to be named Wilson. The other so far is unknown.

TWEED, July 22—W. Rodgers, one of the oldest residents of Hungerford township, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging himself in the barn. His mind was unbalanced due to illness. He was 75 years old and had lived on the farm where he died for 67 years.

WINNIPEG, July 22—John L. Stevens, confectioner of 712 Portage avenue, corporal signaller in the 90th battalion, who went to Quebec with the contingent, was drowned at Quebec this morning while bathing with his comrades. Stevens was well known and popular. He was a prominent member of the Knights of Pythias.

OTTAWA, July 2—A public reception was tendered the visiting members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a grand international auxiliary here last night in the Russell theatre. The large house was crowded with the engineers and their families who are in the city, to the number of 2600. Several of the grand officers of the Brotherhood, and Mrs. W. A. Murdoch, president of the auxiliary delivered addresses and local men also welcomed the visitors.

VANCOUVER, July 22—C. H. Mackintosh had been asked to allow his name to be put before the Kootenay conservatives as a candidate at the general elections, but was compelled to decline the honor owing to pressing private engagements. There was great enthusiasm here when the news was received of the victory of the New Westminster team over the Shamrocks. The crowd in the grand stand at the baseball match with Tacoma at the Recreation park here, rose en masse and cheered to the echo.

OTTAWA, July 22—J. Grisdale of the central experimental farm, has just returned from a tour through western Canada from the boundary of Manitoba to the boundary of British Columbia. He traversed the country via the C.P.R., the Soo-Spokane, the Calgary & Lethbridge, the Calgary & Edmonton and the Regina & Saskatoon ways. His trip covered four weeks. He says the crops along the main line were particularly good in the Winnipeg district as far west as Brandon. From Brandon to Broadview, the soil being much lighter, the crops were not quite so good and the grain was short. The lack of rain in the district has not improved the conditions.

QUEBEC, July 22—Yesterday, the second day of the tercentenary celebration, was an uneventful one, everything waiting the arrival of the prince of Wales today. The accretions to the crowd in attendance was very noticeable, every train arriving in the city bringing full quotas of passengers of whom many had difficulty in finding accommodations in the crowded city. The performances today took very much the shape of full dress rehearsals and the results were such as to show that the state presentations will be worthy of the occasion for which they were organized. The main attraction for the crowd was the city itself in the naval guise it has been decked out in for the celebration. The great feature was the first formal performance of Felicien David's ode "Christopher Columbe" which was well attended. Vice-admiral Asheton Curzon Howe, rear-admiral Pellicoe and the officers of the British fleet, gave a ball last night in the parliament buildings. About 1000 attended and the scene was a most brilliant one. The other leading event of the evening was the first performance of the military.

THE DAY LIGHT LAW

English Move Commented on by Canadian Financial Paper

(Montreal Shareholders.)

The British parliament has found it advisable at times to change the number of days required to complete the calendar year, thereby making good the errors in calculation which had arisen. That was desirable and necessary, but a select committee of the British house of commons has recently had under consideration a bill submitted to it having, not the correction of errors, but the cheating of the people into the possession of an hour more of daylight in every twenty-four hours in summer. This bill has received the unqualified approval of the select committee and will undoubtedly become law. Its provisions, briefly stated, are that the public clocks of the United Kingdom shall be set forward an hour in April, and returned to the true hour in September. Now, let us see how this will work and what its effect will be. Everybody will admit that the sun rises in the summer considerably earlier than any one, except, perhaps, the milkman, has any use for it. People must sleep from six to eight hours anyway, and inasmuch as it is seldom convenient to go to bed before 10 or 11 o'clock in the evening, it results that in practice the whole world sleeps away two or three hours of sunlight every morning. Were the whole world thoroughly convinced that it was 10 o'clock at night when it was in reality only 9 o'clock, every one would be likely to retire within the ensuing hour; and if by the same token every one supposed that it was 7 o'clock in the morning, when it was in reality only 68 o'clock, every one would be likely to rise and possess himself of the cool morning hour. At the end of the day there will also be an additional hour of daylight after work is done. The scheme will, in all probability, work well, and we should not be at all surprised in that case to see it eventually introduced into this country. The governing circumstances are exactly the same here, although in this latitude we have much less summer daylight. One great difficulty in its adoption to this country would be found in the necessity of adapting and adjusting railroad time tables to the requirements of a daylight bill, but this problem, difficult as it at first sight appears, would, we believe, eventually be overcome.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

The city band will give an open air concert this evening.

It is requested that all entries for the races for the prizes put up by Alec Pool and Frank Nott, which are to be rowed off on the first Wednesday of next month may be made as soon as possible. In any case they cannot be deferred after the end of the present month.

After the story of yesterday's launch race was in print, officials from the club called at The Daily News office with a statement worked out in detail which disqualified Wolverton, Sr. and junior, and awarded the places as follows: 1. De Veber in 8:15. 2. Wheeler in 19:41. 3. Captain Paddon in 16:04. No doubt there will be further conference in the matter.

There was a slight accident yesterday morning at the fire hall when the alarm of fire was turned in from the sub-station. The pole snapped at the point when the wagon was leaving the station. One of the horses got restive and kicking got the off hind leg over the whiffle tree and thus fell. The other horse stood quietly and so serious injury was avoided. It was with trouble that the restive horse was extricated with nothing worse than a cut or so and a swollen hock, none of the injuries being thought at all serious.

There was a small fire at the sub-station yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock, which was extinguished by a few buckets of water and the damage done was repaired at a cost of $1.50. An oil switch blew out and the posts of the temporary switchboard which was installed by R. Brown, the city electrician while awaiting the arrival of the proper apparatus, ordered and now expected daily, caught fire. It was practically the same accident, says mayor Taylor, as that which destroyed the sub-station only in this case the building was of brick and not inflammable.

An interesting incident on the return journey of the S. S. Moyie from the Anglican Sunday school picnic at Procter last night was the rescue of Messrs Fred Starkey and George Motion from the perils of a night's sojourn in the wastes of their ranch near Harrop. As the steamer was passing the aforesaid wilds two figures were dimly discerned on the shore. One was perceived to be tall and lean and the other short and stout, both waving frantically. The boat had already passed but the captain at length realizing that the actions of the marooned were in reality signals of distress, put in for the shore, half a mile down the bay. Then was seen a sight that will never fade from the memory of those who were its fortunate beholders, a race, as for life, along the debris strewn shore between these well known sportsmen. Mr. Motion had the advantage of length of limb but Mr. Starkey had the greater advantage of length of wind, but more remarkable still was his agility as displayed in his course over a rocky beach. The race apparently ended in a dead heat but there are those who affirm that Mr. Starkey won by a width. It then transpired that the president of the board of trade was in request at a meeting of the boat club at which he arrived still breathless but welcome.

WESTERN PAPERS

Eastern Canada Has no Use for Them—Rapid Railway Construction

SASKATOON, July 22—The Imperial Oil company of Winnipeg are now negotiating with a local contractor for the immediate erection of a warehouse here.

A local enterprise recently got together and having erected some nice dressing rooms on the south bank of the Saskatchewan, a little north of the traffic bridge, then proceeded to buoy off a patch of the river for swimming and bathing purposes. The venture opened last night and was very liberally patronized. The portion of the river buoyed off is cut off from the current and the bottom is good. The swimming pool fills a long felt want and its advent is particularly grateful during the present warm weather.

At yesterday's meeting of the board of trade, president Isbister stated that during a recent stay of a week in the city of Montreal he was unable to purchase at book stalls either in hotels or elsewhere a copy of any western newspaper. Only through the courtesy of the editor of the Montreal Star was he permitted to examine the Winnipeg exchanges coming to the Star office. The president felt in general with the other members, that western news and newspapers were undesirably scarce down east.

Two miles of steel have been laid on the Goose Lake line since the start from Saskatoon at noon yesterday. The contractors believe they will be able to continue at this rate.

STANDARD OIL

New Trial Ordered in Famous Twenty-Nine Million Fine Case

CHICAGO, July 22.—The decision of the circuit court of appeals in the Standard Oil $29,000,000 fine case, handed down today, reverses the decision of the lower court, and orders a new trial.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Following closely on the decision of the United States court of appeals today reversing the decision of judge Landis in the government suit against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Daily News today says: "Bankers who have close affiliations with the Standard Oil Company state that that organization will soon announce an increase in the capital stock of one hundred million to five hundred million dollars, making a total capital stock of $600,000,000.

The decision to give new trial to the Standard Oil Company spread like a prairie fire through the federal building, reaching the office of United States district attorney Edwin S. Sims, with unwelcome speed. He held a hurried conference with his assistants who aided in the prosecution before the district court after which he said: "Well, all that I can say now is that all that happened was not expected. However, we shall make the best of it. Undoubtedly there will be an early retrial of the case."

Judge Landis was unconcernedly strolling down a corridor to his chambers, when a crowd of newspapermen on their way to the court of appeals greeted him. "I'm glad you boys, and not myself, have to do with that case today," he remarked, with a smile. He thereupon disappeared in his office and after the higher court's decision had been announced he declared he had no comment to make.

CLASH WITH AUTHORITIES

NORTHERN CANNERS FEAR AN OUTBREAK OF FISHERMEN

WHITE CHILD IS GIVEN BY PARENTS TO INDIANS

VANCOUVER, July 22—C. J. South, superintendent of the Children's Aid society, who has returned from the north reports the recovery of a white child who was given away by his parents to the Indians, 60 miles from Port Essington. The Indians had fortunately come from the reserve for the fishing and Mr. South located the poor lad in a dirty shack unattended. The court placed the parents under bond to care for their offspring.

Reports from the north are that there is a clash between salmon fishermen and the federal authorities. The cannery men have wired to Ottawa urging that the new regulations should not be enforced this season, or they will not be responsible *if an outbreak occurs. The situa*tion is serious and enforcement will precipitate trouble and interfere with operations.

An Indian named Crogan was murdered at the Nelson cannery by his stepfather last week. The point is on the Naas river, beyond Port Simpson.
