Additions to the Number of Active Mines

PROSPECTS IN BOUNDARY

INCREASED TONNAGE IS TO BE LOOKED FOR IN THE SLOCAN—IMPROVEMENTS IN SHEEP CREEK DISTRICT—BLUE BELL MINE.

The declaring of another dividend by the Granby Mines last week shows that even with copper at a low figure and with a property notoriously low grade, intelligent working on large scale is profitable. The B.C. Copper company's smelter is now in full blast and is treating close to 14,000 tons a week. Before the month is closed the Dominion Copper company will have followed suit. At the same time the Granby is increasing gradually the size of its furnaces and before the summer is finished should be in a position to treat close on to 30,000 tons a week. The higher grade mines in the Greenwood camp are also to be reopened for work this season and altogether the prospects for the Boundary are far brighter than would have been thought likely even a few weeks ago.

In Rossland camp there is also a good deal of activity and various small mines are being opened up while the Center Star is looking as well as it ever did.

In the Slocan the block occasioned by the melting of the snow, more than usually delayed this year owing to the May rains, is now almost over and a sensible increase in the tonnage may be shortly looked for. The Blue Bell mine has had one shift running regularly for the past week and a second is to be immediately added. On Sheep creek there are likely to take place a great many improvements during the summer and it may be regarded as one of the coming districts of this section of the country.

Following are the shipments for the past week and year to date:

PARIS IS QUIETING DOWN

NEW THEORY IS ADVANCED BY GREGORI'S FRIENDS.

SAY HE USED WAX PELLETS AND NOT LEAD BULLETS.

PARIS, June 6—The excitement produced by the attempt to kill major Alfred Dreyfus last Thursday by Louis Gregori during the ceremonies attending the placing of the body of Emile Zola in the national Pantheon is rapidly subsiding. It is now apparent the Clemenceau government does not intend to play into the hands of the nationalists by reviving the old issue of which the country is wearied and the republican press generally is cooperating with the government in minimising the importance of the outrage, by refraining from speculation as to whether or not there was a plot behind it, and by ignoring the vaporings of the nationalist party.

M. Maurais and Dode of L'Action Francais evidently are disappointed that they were not hauled up to explain their statements in the journal that "a resolute patriot" had visited them and offered to kill Dreyfus, but that his proposal was rejected.

M. Maurais today publishes another violently worded editorial declaring that the cause of the killing "soon will overthrow the Dreyfus republic." He mentions the rumors of his approaching arrest and defies the government to prosecute him. "Once before," M. Maurais writes, "following the publication of articles in which I defended colonel Henry and Dreyfus the government announced its intention of prosecuting me. I am still waiting."

The doctors have not been able to locate the bullet in major Dreyfus' arm. They are convinced that it has been ejected by the action of the muscles. Friends of Gregori now advance the theory that he used wax pellets instead of bullets. These pellets were invented ten years ago for use in practice with duelling pistols. When they are fired at a distance of 20 feet they produce an abrasion of the skin but are otherwise harmless. Some newspapers today say that neither the revolver nor any cartridges were found after the shooting.

WHAT'S DOING IN CANADA

THE DOMINION FROM THE ATLANTIC TO THE PACIFIC

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM YESTERDAY'S WIRES

EXETER, June 6—At yesterday's session of the London Methodist conference a resolution to memoralize the dominion government to prohibit the importation and preparation of opium in any of its forms except for medical purposes, was unanimously carried and will be sent to Ottawa.

LINDSAY, June 6—At the Bay of Quinte conference of the Methodist church yesterday the moral reform and temperance committee brought in a resolution asking the dominion government to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of opium, except as a medicine.

TORONTO, June 6 — Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, 29 years old, was arrested last night charged with assaulting Edward Chandler last Tuesday night by throwing carbolic acid with intent to do bodily harm. The woman is married but separated from her husband. She has two children. Chandler's face was badly burned and his eyesight is threatened by the acid.

TORONTO, June 6—John W. Bates, aged 20, was drowned in the lake at Sunnyside Beach yesterday afternoon while swimming. The body has been recovered.

PENETANGUISHINE, June 6—John Misheau, about 40 years old, is supposed to have fallen out of his boat and drowned. The body has been recovered.

TORONTO, June 6—The investigation into the accounts of county magistrate Ellis and his constables, as ordered by the York county council, was concluded yesterday by judge Winchester and the other offficials appointed for the purpose. Magistrate Ellis admitted some slight discrepancies between the sums apparently paid him and the amounts he should have handed over to the county. He promised to give a check for the difference. Judge Winchester stated that Mr. Ellis had been very frank and his honor attributed the discrepancies to loose bookkeeping and too much handling of Mr Ellis' books by other people.

REGINA, June 6—Without a dissenting voice the new government liquor act passed its second reading this morning. The second reading of the bill was moved by the attorney general who explained the provisions for local option on a majority vote, curtailment of hours to 10 o'clock, decreasing the number of licenses according to population, closing of clubs so far as licenses are concerned and the shutting of bars on Sundays, Christmas day, Good Friday and Thanksgiving day.

FORT FRANCIS, June 6 — Thomas Gawbsy one of the early settlers at Stratton, near here, was killed early yesterday morning by a freight train while walking on the Canadian Northern railway.

MOOSE JAW, June 6—J. Kirby, a homesteader, at Morse, died in the hospital here last night as the result of an accident. He was staying at the hotel and while walking in his sleep walked out of an upper window and fell heavily to the ground fracturing and dislocating his back bone. He came from Maidstone, Ont.

WAS IN NELSON

Rumor that Mrs. Guiness Had Been Located in This City

Some excitement was caused here yesterday by the announcement that Mrs. Guiness, the much wanted woman of Laporte, Ind., was in this city, a wire to that effect having been sent out from some British Columbia source. Winnipeg, Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal and other cities sent urgent messages asking for full details as to the finding of the supposedly dead woman. Enquiry of the city chief of police and at the office of the chief provincial constable, elicited the fact that neither of these offficials had any information as to Mrs. Guiness being in the city. Just how the report arose is not known, but one authority for the statement was a dispatch said to come from Revelstoke to a Chicago paper.

OPIUM TRAFFIC ON COAST

MACKENZIE KING WILL FURTHER PROSECUTE HIS ENQUIRIES—COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' CONVENTION AT VANCOUVER IS SUCCESSFUL.

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY

VANCOUVER, June 6—Gold has been discovered in what looks like paying quantities on Caldwell creek which empties into the north arm of Burrard Inlet, about 12 miles from Vancouver. Six claims have been staked and recorded by Messrs. McLeod and A. Bradley.

Mason T. Adams, managing director of the Britannia Copper syndicate, returned from New York today and states that as soon as preparations can be made the Britannia mines will be reopened. These are located at the head of Howe Sound and have been idle since last fall. Mr. Adams had no announcement to make in regard to the company's smelter at Crofton, Vancouver island.

Commercial travellers have owned the city today, this being the closing day of their annual convention. This morning, taking all the automobiles and cabs in the city, they had a procession which was about a mile and a half in length. They were shown all the sights and saw the glories of Stanley park. Every auto and vehicle was separately photographed in the big tree in the park and these pictures will be souvenirs of special value. This evening a banquet is being held at Dominion hall followed by a ball. The next annual meeting will take place in Seattle.

It is understood that before he travels east Mackenzie King proposes to visit Chinatown and make further private inquiries into the manufacture of opium and the profit of the traffic and he also proposes while visiting Victoria to see whether there are any more manufactories of it there. Mr. King has another commission to undertake on his return east, having this time an enquiry at Quebec into the conditions of the textile trade.

Today was "Hospital Saturday" and it is expected that the contributions will total some thousands above the record hitherto. The weather was perfect, the streets were thronged with shoppers and the united commercial travellers and their hosts, and everybody had "that generous feeling."

TO REACH NORTH POLE

PICK OF NEWFOUNDLAND SEAMEN ARE CHOSEN.

WITH FORMER FORTUNE EXPECT TO SUCCEED.

ST. JOHN, June 6—Happy in the hope of a dash to the north with commander Robert E. Peary, Capt. Bartlett, sailing master of the Arctic explorer and a crew of 11 sailors departed today on the Allan line steamer Siberian for New York where they will make their start for the north on Peary's ship the Roosevelt. The sailors have been selected with regard to their adaptability to Arctic exploration and are practically the pick of Newfoundland seamen.

Capt. Bartlett asserts that if the Roosevelt is fortunate enough to get in the position made during the last attempt to reach the pole, the experience acquired in that voyage, combined with the aid of specially selected men, will make this effort to reach the pole an easy task.

CURTIS' NOMINATION

Coast Paper Thinks Chance of Success Is Remote

(News Advertiser.)

The liberal convention held yesterday at Nelson selected Mr. Smith Curtis as the candidate for the Kootenay seat in the house of commons. We are inclined to think that the choice was the best the convention could make under the circumstances. Mr. Curtis has had considerable experience in public life; is a powerful speaker and well informed on matters of provincial concern. Although the probability of his carrying the constituency is very remote, he will doubtless make a very vigorous campaign and entail upon his opponents a strenuous struggle in its efforts to defeat Mr. Curtis' ambition to secure a seat in parliament.

With one remark made by Mr. Curtis in the course of his speech thanking the convention for his nomination, we entirely concur. That was his view that the election for Kootenay—and we assume he implied also those for other constituencies in the province—should be held on the same day as the majority of the elections throughout the dominion, and not deferred as has been the case in previous elections. It now remains for Mr. Curtis to see that the dominion authorities carry out his declared desire and abandon a practice for which there certainly is no justification. It will be a solace to him in his defeat to know that he took a proper stand on a matter on which there can be no honest diffference of opinion between conservatives and liberals.

Anna Gould in Court Over Jewels Purchased by the Count

PARIS, June 6.—Counsel for Anna Gould has applied to the civil tribuanl to grant her a delay in the payment of $24,000 to madame Nemidoff, a singer, for a necklace purchased by her former husband, count Boni de Castellane, pointing out that her income is only $6,000 per month and it would be impossible to pay so large a sum immediately. The court consented to the payment of $6,000 each month to the singer. The court of appeals in February confirmed the judgment of the lower court, ordering count de Castellane and madame Gould jointly to pay madame Demidoff $24,000 for jewels which the count purchased from her prior to the divorce of the countess from the count.

ANOTHER ROW

Servia and Montenegro Once More in Trouble

CETTINJE, Montenegro, June 6.—The Servian charge d'affaires left this place today on an indefinite leave of absence. His departure is considered in some quarters as liable to be followed by a complete rupture of the diplomatic relations between Servia and Montenegro. The departure of the charge d'affaires is an outcome of the testimony heard in the trial of 52 persons accused of conspiracy against the Montenegro government. Two of the witnesses declared that George, crown prince of Servia, was directly connected with the plot, which came to light through the discovery of a score of bombs in Cettinje, to overthrow the existing regime in Montenegro.

ON THEIR WAY

King and Queen Have Left for Reval

DEPARTURE OF THE CZAR

LEAVES ST. PETERSBURG FOR RENDEZVOUS—ACCIDENT TO ROYAL YACHT—SERVICES TO CIVILIZATION RENDERED BY MISSIONARIES.

PORT VICTORIA, Eng., June 6.—The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with the king and queen, the princess victoria and a large suite on board, left here at daylight this morning for Reval, Russia, by way of the Kiel canal. The king's yacht the Alexandra will join the party at Brunsbuttal, Prussia, and will be at the disposal of the royal party in the Baltic.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6—Emperor Nicholas and other members of the imperial family, accompanied by a numerous suite, will leave Peterhof at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Reval where he is to meet and welcome king Edward and queen Alexandra. The Russian imperial yachts Standert and Polar Star, escorted by the cruiser Almez and four torpedo boat destroyers, will arrive at Reval early in the morning of June 8.

KIEL, June 6.—The British royal yacht Alexander broke her propellor while entering the Kiel canal today, and as a result she had to be towed through the canal. The Alexandra had only her crew on board. She is on her way to Brunsbuttal to join the other royal yacht Victoria and Albert, which left Port Victoria this morning for Reval with king Edward, queen Alexandra and princess Victoria on board.

LONDON, June 6.—The president of the board of trade, Mr. Churchill, today opened the pictures and model exhibition which is being held in the Agricultural hall in connection with the Pan-American congress. In a short address, Mr. Churchill paid a tribute to the immense services rendered by missionaries through the world to the cause of civilization.

The exhibition is given by the London Missionary society. It is practically an adoption of the popular pageant idea, but instead of depicting historical events tells the story of the missionary stations throughout the world.

It is declared here that 210,000 pounds of American meat, that has been stored in London, Glasgow and Liverpool, was yesterday reshipped by fast steamer to New York to meet the continued shortage of meat in America.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6—The effects of king Edward's forthcoming visit to Russia are being keenly canvassed in political circles here, principally with regard to its relation to Germany, against which the broad trend of the king's recent policies is supposed to run. Serious politicians are of the opinion that king Edward's statesmanship has now to face the hardest test, the initiating of more intimate relations with Russia, on whose soil he will be the first English king to set foot. Public opinion here is ready to meet England more than half way. All political parties, except the extreme reactionaries, look upon an Anglo-Russian accord as natural to the completion of the chain of Franco-Russian and Anglo-French ties.

Matters to be discussed at the meeting by king Edward and emperor Nicholas, will take a wide range and particular attention will be given to questions relating to Morocco and Macedonia, regarding which the need of a common Anglo-Russian-French policy is specially felt.

ASKS CONUNDRUMS

French Socialist on Shooting of Major Dreyfus

LYONS, France, June 6.—M. De-Rissenz, socialist member of the chamber of deputies, in a speech made here today opening the congress of the League of the Rights of Man, referred to the shooting of major Dreyfus in the Pantheon in the following words: "Is the past again confronting us? Are not those who believed nationalism dead, deceived? The brutal outrage in the Pantheon proved again as has been proved before, that the nationalists are not only preaching their nefarious sophistries, but inciting their dupes to vengeance and crime."

DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO

IT INFLICTS HEAVY DAMAGE IN SOUTHERN NEBRASKA.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS KILLED AND MANY INJURED.

OMAHA, June 6.—The tornado which passed over southern Nebraska and portions of Kansas on Friday evening was the most destructive and covered the most territory of any similar storm which has visited that region in many years. Twenty-two persons were killed, several were fatally injured and others were hurt. In addition, reports received tonight, say, that several persons were killed at Bryon, Neb., and Phillipsburg and Courtland, Kas., which towns have been cut off from communication.

The storm was general throughout Fillmore, Webster, Franklin and Thayer counties, Nebraska, and over into Kansas where reports are coming in slowly of great destruction.

The towns of Fairfield, Desplayer, Shikley, Geneva, Franklin, Byron are among those visited by the storm.

At Geneva the storm wrought great destruction, and in the adjacent county several victims are dead ore injured. At Fairfield more than 40 buildings were partly wrecked. The loss there will exceed $100,000.

Trains in all directions are abandoned because of washouts and destroyed roadbeds. The storm covered such a wide area and was so destructive that hundreds of farmers drove into town last night and today seeking shelter, many of them being homeless.

N. B. FINANCES

Late Government's Temporary Loan Causing Trouble

St. John, June 6.—Premier Hazen and Hon. J. K. Fleming leave tomorrow night to look into the financial situation as affecting the temporary loan of $1,450,000 made by the late government and which will mature on August 15.

BIG FIRE AT VICTORIA

MACHINERY DEPOT COMPANY'S SHOPS DESTROYED.

THE LOSS AMOUNTS TO NEARLY $200,000.

VICTORIA, June 6.—The three machine shops of the Victoria Machinery Depot company were totally destroyed this morning by a fire which broke out at 8 o'clock, doing $180,000 damage and throwing 150 men out of work. The insurance amounts to $30,000.

The fire was caused, it is thought, by the flames from the moulding room. Usually it is the custom to send out men to watch the sparks from this source but tonight when the cast was made at 6 p.m. this precaution was omitted.

A Hindu workman at 8 o'clock noticed a slight blaze in the central machine shop. He endeavored to quench it but failed. He then called the foreman, Richards, and two lines of hose were run out. Failing to quench the flames the fire brigade was called but could do little except to save the weights. No one was injured.

The company have announced their intention of rebuilding at once. The works were the scene today at noon of a banquet given by the winner of the recent Derby sweepstake but the report which was circulated that the fire broke out through the carelessness of drunken workmen is contradicted by the management.

NEWS OF THE BOUNDARY

TO RESUME CONSTRUCTION WORK ON JULY 1.

TWO ACCIDENTS AT THE GRANBY SMELTER WORKS.

GRAND FORKS, June 6.—Although nothing definite has yet been given out from the headquarters of the company it is confidently expected that the Kettle Valley line will resume construction work on their North Fork branch line about the first of July. Contractor Tierney, who is at present working on some contracts for the Canadian Pacific in this neighborhood, is credited with saying that just as soon as the present contracts are completed he will move his outfits to Lynch creek, the present terminus of the line, and that construction work will be rushed on the balance of the road to Franklin camp. With the completion of the line to Franklin a vast mineral and timber country will be opened up to the north of this city, a district which is said to be far ahead of the big Phoenix camp, as the mineral is of a much higher grade. Citizens generally will welcome official confirmation.

Application was made to the city this week for relief for a Hindu, Mansha Singh, who for some time past has been in destitute circumstances, being sick and unable to work. The question of deportation was taken up with the local authorities and R. R. Gilpin is now in correspondence with Ottawa in regard to the case.

E. R. Rawlinson, of the Black Hawk stables, is shipping a large number of horses to the northern portion of the province.

H. I. Andrews had the misfortune to have three of the fingers of his left hand taken off at the Granby smelter this morning as well as having his hand badly bruised.

Wm. D. Jones, the man who had his spinal column broken at the smelter yesterday afternoon, was reported today to be resting easily.

DESPERATE FIGHT

Detectives and Robbers in a Mixup Near Wicked Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, June 6.—While attempting to arrest four men about 10 o'clock this morning in Elizabeth county, detective Englart shot and killed one of the men and was himself wounded twice. The men are alleged to be implicated in the holdup and robbery of the Monogahela Consolidated Coal and Coke company's general store last Thursday morning. The other three are barricaded in a vacant house, holding a posse of citizens in cheek with rifles and revolvers. An automobile carrying six detectives left here at 10 o'clock this evening. A desperate fight will occur, it is thought, when the detectives reach the scene.

RICH DISTRICT

Recent Discoveries in the Big Bend

OPENING UP NAVIGATION

REVELSTOKE KEENLY ALIVE TO POSSIBILITIES OF THE NORTH—WATERWAY TO WITHIN 30 MILES OF MAIN LINE OF THE GRAND TRUNK.

REVELSTOKE, June 6.—A great deal of mining activity in the Big Bend district, north of this city, is assured for the present season. John Thompson, a mining man from Spokane and eastern Idaho, left on Tuesday's steamer for an inspection of the Montgomery group, on Downie creek.

J. C. Vance, manager of the French Creek Hydraulic mines, is now on the ground with 15 men and will commence mining at once and will work the property night and day. Charles Richards, the foreman of this property, took with him 15 horses to rush in supplies. John D. Sibbald, manager of the McCullough Creek Hydraulic mines, has had three men all winter, preparing the ground for the season's work, and a full crew will be at work in a short time on this famous property.

F. H. Guffy, manager for the Pittsburg owners of the Smith creek hydraulic mines, is expected in the city any day, and will send a big gang of men up to Smith creek to continue operations this season. During the winter Mr. Guffy had a small crew whip-sawing lumber for the construction of flumes, sluicing boxes and building in general.

The lode mines of the Big Bend will have considerable attention paid to them this season, judging from the number of enquiries from American capitalists as to the conditions. The citizens of Revelstoke are greatly interested in the opening up of the Big Bend, realizing as they do, that British Columbia has no richer district within its borders in mining, lumbering and fruit lands than this district.

The S. S. Revelstoke is making trips twice a week north to Priest Rapids and with the construction of a trail or wagon road around Death Rapids, a distance of only three miles, Revelstoke will have a water route to the Grand Trunk Pacific railway to within 30 miles of the road. Every indication points to Revelstoke as being the supply point for the construction of the intersection of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

TENNESSEE EXPLOSION

One More Victim Succumbs, Making Seven Deaths in All

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 6—One more name was added today to the list of those who lost their lives in yesterday's explosion on board the armored cruiser Tennessee, making the number of fatalities up to date, seven. T. J. Burns, a coal passer succumbed to his injuries early today after a night of terrible suffering.

LOS ANGELES, June 6—Six of the injured seamen from the cruiser Tennessee arrived in Los Angeles today on a special car and were immediately transferred to six ambulances and conveyed to the Angelus hospital. They were wrapped in bandages and cotton and strapped to the stretchers, moaning and crying out piteously from the pain as they were carried through the crowd that gathered. Two of the men Sematis and Maxfield, may not survive.

Five of the sailor victims of yesterday's explosion on board the cruiser Tennessee were buried today in the little Harborview cemetery with full and impressive military honors.

The officials to enquire into the cause of the explosion convened on board the cruiser today.

ANNAPOLIS ACCIDENT

Fears Expressed for Recovery of Some of the Badly Injured

ANNAPOLIS, June 6.—Fears were expressed today for the recovery of W. E. Slaughter, general passenger agent of the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis electric railway, and Harry Jacobs, of this place, who were injured in the collision on that road at Camp Parole, near here, last night, in which eight persons were killed almost instantly and a score of others were hurt.

Early today the belief was expressed at the hospital that both Mr. Slaughter and Mr. Jacobs, who were the worst hurt of all the victims, would get over their wounds but both became worse later.

The corpse of the young woman, which could not be identified last evening, it was learned today, is that of Mrs. George W. Green, Jr., of Washington, D. C. Her husband, an architect, also was killed. They formerly lived at Philadelphia. General manager Shannahan, of the electric line, today said the accident was due to a violation of a written order.

DAME RUMOR

Dame rumor, with her many tongues was working overtime in Nelson yesterday. Just why so many idle stories were afloat it is hard to say, for with one exception there was no foundation for any of the tales. The one exception was the unfortunate mishap at the Patrick Lumber company's dam on the Slocan river, when 9,000,000 feet of logs went down the river.

The story of the discovery here of the Laporte murderess, Mrs. Guiness, as stated in a Chicago afternoon paper yesterday, turned out to be made out of whole cloth, and Nelson in place of gaining an even greater notoriety than in the case of Harry Orchard's visit here, escaped this last misfortune.

So many accidents happening from the rise of rivers and consequent floods at this time, it was not altogether surprising that several alleged railway accidents were rumored, but the most persistent story which was passed about the city yesterday alleged that some 25 people had been killed in a train wreck on the Crow's Nest line. Applications to district headquarters and to other points outside the city, disclosed the fact that beyond a washout of some 40 feet of track in East Kootenay, no serious accident had happened and no fatalities had occurred. The small accident to the Nelson-Rossland train which resulted in the overturning of a car late on Friday night near Trail was magnified into a disaster for a short time until the true facts were known and the other rumors of railway accidents had no foundation at all.

Newspaper men in their natural desire to obtain authentic accounts of accidents and of occurrences of all sorts are often sorely perplexed what course to follow when those who know the facts refuse the information. For more than six years now there has always been a thorough understanding between this newspaper and the local C.P.R. authorities, that where accidents have occurred this paper will always apply to headquarters here for information and on the other hand the superintendents from Mr. Downie up to the present have invariably not only treated this newspaper with courtesy but have promptly given official statements whenever asked for. As a consequence The Daily News has on several occasions been able to authoritatively deny rumored occurrences. When an accident does occur on a railway and several deaths result there is instant widespread interest in the accident and it is only fair to the general public that the true list of those killed and injured should promptly be given out. The truth is hard enough to bear under the circumstances but the needless suspense which many people suffer until the facts are known should be sufficient excuse for immediate publication of all details.

Newspapers are blamed sometimes for their energetic attempts to get information for their readers at first hand, but in the vast majority of cases the Canadian press, provided authentic information is supplied, can be relied upon to publish merely the true facts and not exaggerate them. On the other hand where information is deliberately withheld the newspapers are unable to decide what the true facts of the case are..

EDITORIAL NOTES

So large a number of former residents of Ontario and Quebec now reside in the Kootenays and are readers of The Daily News that we have made arrangements with the C.P.R. Telegraphs for a special service tomorrow, covering the election results in both the provinces mentioned and we hope on Tuesday morning to present to our readers a complete result of the polling in each constituency so far as can be learned up to midnight on Monday. In addition to extra expense, the obtaining and arranging of the returns will occasion a good deal of hard work and we regret that we will be unable to bulletin the accounts as they are received here. The Associated Press will furnish a general election story on Monday night from Toronto and Montreal and with the special service arranged for, readers of The Daily News on Tuesday should obtain full information regarding both elections.

The illustrated London weekly "Canada," in the first of a series of articles on "Canada for Englishmen," says: It is true—and it cannot be too widely known—that the demand for skilled mechanics, except in certain lines, is strictly limited in the more settled parts. For clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers and some professional occupations, there is practically no demand. The market is over-stocked. It would be well for such to have definite offers of employment before leaving. In the western provinces, on the other hand, there is an almost boundless extent of most fertile land waiting to be settled, into which the Americans, i.e., the inhabitants of the United States, generally dubbed Yankees as opposed to Britishers—are pouring all the time. These, however, are principally, if not entirely, of the farming class. Here there are homes for all. Immigrants can always find work on the land for a year or two, learn the habits and methods of the country and finally take up a lot of their own and become prosperous land owners; which is the most sensible course for all prospective farmers to pursue, who have not had the advantage of training at a Canadian agricultural college. For the man with means there are ranches of both kinds to be purchased for a few dollars an acre. The almost numberless towns, being born or rapidly growing up, require artisans, agents, merchants, professional men of all kinds. Here for generations to come there will be occupation for all, wealth for the successful. This is the noble heritage of the empire.

Whereas Canada hopes to have added well over a quarter of a million to her new population by the end of the present season, as was the case last year, present indications for the United States point in the opposite direction, says the Monetary Times. Last month the aggregate arrivals of aliens to the country was only 41,274, or over one hundred thousand less than for the month in 1907. For the four months of this year, the immigration figures show a shrinkage of close upon 300,000. What is even more striking is the fact that this restricted movement has been accompanied by unprecedented emigration. The outward flow last month was 62 per cent more than the inward and during the four months has resulted in a net loss in foreign population of 118,631. These facts are convincing testimony to the attractions of the dominion.

The Victoria Colonist in commenting on some recent remarks in these columns on the better treatment of Canadian public men says that there is much room for improvement in the direction indicated but add that public men themselves are very much to blame for the prevalence of the contrary practice. It is always easy to write abusive things, says the Colonist, and only those persons who have to fill editorial pages day after day know the temptation at times to follow the lines of least resistance. Moreover, there is class of near-politicians who thoroughly enjoy the abuse of their opponents, when the papers indulge in it. They are not given to that sort of thing themselves and they will assume a lofty tone when spoken to about it and ask what else is to be expected of a newspaper. Nevertheless, they like it, and they think a newspaper is giving its political party mighty poor support if it does not indulge in invective and abuse. When by some accident it happens that a paper on the other side hits them below the belt, they are indignant beyond measure. Generally speaking, the editorial tone of Canadian newspapers in this respect is improving. There still linger a few specimens of prehistoric type, which always attribute dishonesty to their political opponents and cannot discuss any subject whatever without indulging in personalities, but even they are gradually becoming ashamed of themselves. Public men have these matters largely in their own hands. If they do not wish to be abused, they should avoid abusing others. If they wish to avoid personalities, they have only to discuss public questions on their merits.

The London Daily Mail wants the admiralty to despatch a powerful fleet of battleships on a tour round the world next year. The Mail thinks it timely to demonstrate to the self-governing colonies that Great Britain possesses finer ships than the United States.

Let there be no mistake about the meaning of the great struggle against the Aylesworth election bill with its traceable ballot and its padded voters' lists, says the Toronto Mail-Empire. This measure was not devised to give freedom to the people or to enable them to better express their opinions upon public question. It is rather the product of the great system of grab that has been inaugurated under the Laurier government. . . . . By introducing the marked and numbered ballot it coerces large numbers of electors; by giving the government the right to supersede the judge-made voters' lists and to make lists of its own it opens the way to a legalized "thin red line." The passage of the bill means a triumph for graft. Its defeat will be a victory for public freedom. The struggle in parliament is really a conflict over the question whether the people or the grafter shall rule.

ROSSLAND MINES

Inspection of Le Roi No. 2—Several New Leases Granted

Alexander Hill, consulting engineer of the Le Roi No. 2, arrived here on Thursday from London and left on Monday evening for the Vancouver mine, and from there he returns to London. He came to look over the properties and was particularly well pleased with the excellent condition of the Le Roi No. 2 properties in this camp and says that they have improved considerably since his last visit here about four years ago. The Vancouver mine is being operated by the Le Roi No. 2 company and is shortly to be floated as a separate company.

A contract has been taken by Messrs. Heidler, Selter and Walters from the owners to deepen the shaft of the Golden Rule a distance of 50 feet. It has already been sunk to a distance of 20 feet. Some assays running into the hundreds of dollars in gold were obtained last year from ore taken from the Golden Rule shaft and it is thought development work will make it a valuable mine.

The lessees of the Evening Star have resumed operations, which have been suspended for several weeks past on account of the poor condition of the road, which was washed away in places by the spring freshets and which prevented the hauling of ore. There is plenty of ore in the Evening Star and it will not be long before the shipping of ore is resumed.

The Pot fraction has been leased by Jules Edmond Sorbin to Messrs, Hooper, Dalley and Nottinger for a period of three years. The property adjoins the Evening Star on the east and has some excellent surface showings. The lessees feel satisfied that they will be able to make a good return out of their labor on the Pot fraction.

Work continues on the Blue Bird, along the usual lines, and another shipment will shortly be made. The last carload sent from the Blue Bird to the Trail smelter was not well selected and hence the grade was not as high as expected. In the future more care will be taken with the sorting and the result will be higher smelter returns.

Intercolonial Employees Must Work Without Wages

MONCTON, June 6 — Circulars have been posted in different branches of the Intercolonial railway service under orders of general manager Pottinger to the effect that the interim partial appropriation voted by parliament for the works and staff under the control of the department of railways and canals will shortly be exhausted. The staff are told that it is left to their option whether they will continue to work on the understanding that no salaries or wages will be paid until further supplies have been voted. The office employees were paid on the first of the month but the great bulk of the employees, including shop and trainmen are yet to be paid.

TRUE NATIONAL POLICY

TO CONSERVE GREAT RESOURCES OF CANADA

THE TIME HAS NOW PASSED FOR RECIPROCITY

(The Toronto News.)

If the United States had only adopted 30 years ago a scientific method of dealing with its forest ranges, the country would not now be facing a timber famine. The forest resources of the republic were so vast that no one thought there was any need of economy. But the population of the country and its needs have increased enormously and the forests have been denuded with amazing rapidity. Already the Americans are looking towards Canada as the natural source of supply in the future.

Particularly is this true in the case of spruce, which is used in immense quantities in these days for the manufacture of pulp and paper. Canada has millions of acres of spruce. Much of this is still out of the way, but, as railways reach out here and yonder, this great natural resource will become more and more valuable. Already it is being invaded. The accessible lands of Quebec in particular are being denuded of their timber and the pulpwood sold to American paper and pulp manufacturers. Nor is it certain that all the cutting is being done in accordance with the principles of good forestry.

There should be no half-way measures. Every man who cuts over timber berths in this country should be bound under heavy penalty to leave the young trees alone. The old method of absolute destruction of all trees is criminal waste. By cutting only mature timber, the forests can be maintained as a permanent source of wealth to the country.

There is no reason why we should not sell our timber and pulpwood to the United States. But the industrial development of our own country naturally should be our first concern. If spruce could be manufactured into pulp in the United States, it could be done more economically in Canada, close to the source of supply. Moreover the rapids and cataracts of the height of land provide cheap and abundant power. It seems therefore that before long we may look for a great development in this direction, especially if the provinces are disposed to hasten it by restrictions on the export of the raw material.

In this connection it is fair to note that the western provinces should have complete control of their crown lands. It is not clear that the administration of timber lands in the west by the dominion department of the interior has been in the public interest, especially when we consider the rapid changes which have taken place in the last few years. While the regulations in force in 1896 may have been suitable at that time, it must be remembered that administrative machinery becomes obsolete rapidly in a country where hamlets grow into cities in a year. The timber in a railway district cannot be dealt with like the timber in a wilderness. There is a demand for Canadian timber now. It is not necessary to be unduly liberal in dealing with lessees of our limits. Certainly it is reasonable to believe that if the province controlled their own lands they would be likely to get more revenue from the timber, would establish reserves, as Ontario has done, and would compel the observance of the rules of practical forestry.

The great fact to be borne in mind is that the forest resources of Canada can be made inexhaustible by wise administration and therefore that they can become a source of enormous wealth to the people. A great market is opening before us. The United States can be self-sufficient no longer. Not alone in timber is the pinch being felt. Geologists say that the exhaustion of the iron ore deposits of the United States is a matter of only a few years. Even that which is being used by the great iron plants is not so pure as it was a few years ago.

Some of these impurities are difficult to overcome. That is why steel rails made by the Bessemer process are more brittle than they once were and are breaking frequently, with disastrous results. The railway engineers are beginning to insist on the open hearth process of steel making, at least for rails. Canada has immense iron ore deposits. The lake Superior formation extends across to the north shore and off to the Temagami country. The Quebec side of James bay has valuable iron ore deposits and there are deposits in other parts of Canada, accessible and inaccessible at present, which must be of immense value in the near future. It is the same with coal. The value of the western mines cannot be estimated, especially when we remember that th coal measures of the United States cannot last forever.

There was a time when reciprocity with the United States was a reasonable policy for this country. But that time has gone. With such resources as timber, iron and coal, all of which the United States will need, the economic position of Canada is assured. It remains the duty of the governments both federal and provincial, to see that these resources are developed and conserved.

LIGHT BREAD

Spokane Bakers Will Have to Be Careful in Future

(Special to The Daily News.)

SPOKANE, June 6.—One hundred dollars fine and 30 days' imprisonment in the city jail is the maximum penalty for the violation of a city ordinance, just in effect, which provides that every loaf of bread offered for sale in Spokane must weigh at least 14 ounces. A. E. Powell, inspector of weights and measures, declares the new law will be enforced to the letter, while dealers are emphatic in saying that either the law will have to be killed or the price of bread must go up. "The matter of increasing the price is optional with the baker," Mr. Powell said, adding: "During the recent bread war, when some of the bakers were giving 40 loaves for a dollar, many of the loaves weighed only 10 ounces, though the bakers gained customers under the pretext that their bread was put up in 16-ounce loaves. This is one more reason why the passing of such an ordinance was made necessary."

MILLWRIGHT DEAD

The deceased had been suffering from ill-health and his death was caused by heart failure. Vincent was but recently married, his wife and family living near Edmonton, where the body will be shipped—Mail-Herald.

FATAL INJURIES

Joe Gormley's Fall at Arrowhead—Well Known in Nelson

G. W. Thompson of this city received word yesterday afternoon that Joseph V. Gormerly, well known in this city, has met with what will probably prove a fatal accident at Arrowhead, the night previous.

Gormerly was in charge of the bar on the steamer Rossland and on Friday night while the boat was tied up at Arrowhead, he was strolling about on the rocks near the sawmill and in some way, at present unexplained, he fell over the edge of the rocks and suffered severe injuries. He was at once taken to the Revelstoke hospital and when Mr. Thompson heard, the doctors had but very little hope of his recovery as it was thought the man's back had been broken.

Gormerly had worked in several of the bars in Nelson for some time and only went on the Rossland on May 1. He has a brother, a working miner at Sandon and news of the accident was sent there last evening.

Only ladies over eighteen years of age are eligible. Nominations may be signed by parents or friends. This is insisted upon so that The Daily News can trace up each nomination.

The districts are simply given to divide the country into sections. Votes can be sent in from any district for a candidate in another district but no candidate will be permitted to transfer votes to another contestant after the entries are made at The Daily News office. The right is reserved to withdraw the offer from any district where only one candidate is nominated or voted for. For this reason: The Daily News has decided to have no time limit on the nominations. Of course, it is advisable to nominate a candidate early, so that her friends can start collecting ballots for her and help her in the campaign.

A coupon will be printed each day in The Daily News good for one vote.

There will be special ballots issued to subscribers who pay in advance. The subscriber can retain the ballot until the time limit marked thereon and turn it over to his or her favorite in the race. Either the candidate or the subscriber must turn the ballot into the circulation department of The Daily News before the expiration of the time limit, otherwise the ballot will not count. This is done to avoid extra clerical work in the last week of the campaign. These special ballots cannot be replaced if lost. The best plan is to immediately turn them over to The Daily News when the subscription is paid, writing on the ballot the name of the candidate to be favored. Candidates themselves will probably solicit subscriptions and make colections in advance. This may be done for either old or new subscribers, who will receive official receipts when the money is turned over to The Daily News. Rural subscribers and candidates are requested to make remittances by postal note or money order.

Subscribers to The Daily News will receive the paper by carrier where this system is established and by mail where there is no carrier service.

Special Ballots for Paid Up Subscriptions Will Be Credited as Follows:

NELSON—BY CARRIER.			ALL CANADA—BY MAIL.
1 month,	$ .50	50 votes	1 month,	$ .50	50 votes
3 months,	1.50	200 votes	3 months,	1.25	150 votes
6 months,	3.00	500 votes	6 months,	2.50	400 votes
1 year,	6.00	1200 votes	1 year,	5.00	1000 votes
2 years,	12.00	3000 votes	2 years,	10.00	2500 votes

It should be understood that any reader may renew his or her subscription and turn the ballot, corresponding to the amount paid over to any candidate in the contest. It matters not whether the paid up subscriptions are for old or new subscribers.

To make the contest fair and above board, no nomination will be accepted of any member of The Daily News staff. The Daily News reserves the right to reject any nominations.

Subject to the approval of The Daily News, any successful candidate has the right to name a substitute, if she is, through illness or any other valid reason, unable to go on the trip herself. Such substitute must be named on the day following the close of the vote.

The Daily News desires to be perfectly fair in this contest, and all candidates accepting nomination must agree to abide by the terms herewith set forth.

The contest will close at 9 o'clock Friday, June 26, and ballots will be received up to Saturday noon, June 27, and from outside points till 12 p. m., June 29.

Just fill in the attached nomination blank with your favorite's name, have her sign it, and send or deliver to The Daily News, where temporary receipts and special ballots will be supplied.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

NEW YORK, June 6—There is probably no teacher or business woman who does not plan to take a more or less extensive trip during her vacation and after the itinerary has been decided on the next question that comes up concerns clothes. And no small part of the success and comfort of this recreation period depends on the suitability and completeness of one's wardrobe. The question is not how large and elaborate a wardrobe shall be made ready, but how few things can one be safe in taking and yet feel ready for the various occasions which will surely arise.

One thing is certain, a tailor made suit is a necessity; at least one thin gown suitable for either afternoon or evening wear—a pretty light summer silk or net dress will be found useful—and perhaps two wash dresses of linen or cotton, poplin, gingham, percale or some such material. It will do no harm to tuck away as many lingerie blouses as one has to change off with the silk or net blouse which belongs especially to the suit. A separate, rather long, semi-fitting coat is most useful and this can be made of mohair, brilliantine, pongee or taffeta.

A generous supply of lingerie will be found to be a comfort and then, of course there are the shoes, gloves, hats and accessories of various kinds, the number and style of each varying naturally with each individual woman. If she can find the time to make some of the attractive things worn at the neck, or to trim her hats, etc., so much the better, for many of these things cost but trifles when made at home, while when bought ready to wear the expense is another matter.

As to materials for the tailor made suit there are light weight woolens, or, if preferred some sort of silk, preferably taffeta, can be recommended.

A suit made of silk can be practical and serviceable. Some becoming color and a suitable design should be chosen and it should be rather severely made, certainly not elaborately trimmed. Silk has one advantage, that of shedding dust easily, and makes a light weight suit and one is well dressed.

A well tailored light weight dark blue serge suit is exceedingly good looking and would be found thoroughly satisfactory. If dark blue is not a becoming color one of the brown or dark shades can be chosen. A good model is a plain plaited skirt, the plaits going toward the back. Have the skirt untrimmed and three inches up from the floor. This length does away with the necessity of holding up and is trim and comfortable looking. With this it will be wise to have a drop skirt of a good material—this should be put on a separate band so it can be laundered when necessary.

The seven gored skirt is the best to cut this by and the seams should be finished as French seams. The body of the skirt is cut five inches too short and a ruffle five inches deep when finished is attached to the skirt edge. The lower edge of this ruffle, instead of being hemmed, is finished with a mercerized cotton skirt braid. The outside ruffle must be about 15 inches deep and finished with a hem at the bottom. A loose fitting habit back will be better than plaits or gathers at the waist. The skirt when finished should be one-half inch shorter than the suit skirt.

A good many women have trouble in preventing their skirts sagging at the waistband in the back. A flat corset hook should be sewed on one side of the middle front of the corset one inch below the waist, and if chemise are worn for corset cover work an eyelet hole in the chemise and slip over the corset hook first hemming down the wrong side an inch square piece of cambric and punching the hole through two thicknesses. All petticoats and drop skirts should be cut down in the middle of the front so they will slip under the hook and lie smoothly. Put a facing instead of a standing band on the skirt. If the skirt fits perfectly about the waist this slipping under the corset hook will keep it in place, up in the back and down in the front.

The coat for this style of suit is perfectly plain and rather long—a little more than well down over the hips. There should be no middle back seam but one should come from both shoulders, starting in the middle of the shoulder and running the length of the coat. These seams are left open a little way up from the bottom on the back. The coat is single breasted, has small turnover collar and plain, full length coat sleeves.

Have the coat lined with a good taffeta or if the suit is bought ready made and is satisfactory with the exception of the lining—as often happens unless one buys an expensive suit—it will pay to rip out the poor lining, press it smoothly, and cut out a new one, using the other as a pattern, and reline the coat.

With this suit a stylish and simple hat, trimmed with ribbons and possibly a pair of small wings will look well. If this hat is intended to do duty for wear with the ash dresses, for instance, it will be better to have an ecru or tan straw rather than a blue one to match the suit. This can be trimmed with black taffeta to good advantage.

A hat bag for use on a train is one of the nicest possible things. Two pieces of cardboard which, when put together make a large circular piece are each one covered with silk or any desired material then these are joined down through the middle by overhanding, which makes it possible to fold up and pack easily in a suit case or bag. Around the outside edge of this circular piece is sewed a piece of material with the upper edge hemmed and ribbons run through to pull up. It looks like an enormous work-bag. The hat is put in this along with the veil and hat pins, then the ribbons are pulled so as to close the bag and it is hung up out of the way.

If one of the loose travelling coats is to be included in one's outfit it easily can be made at home with the aid of a good pattern. Black taffeta with a touch of green in collar and cuffs will be good looking, or one of pongee trimmed with black taffeta. The coat is not an absolute necessity and doubtless many will decide they have no the money to put into it; but if it is included in one's list there will be many times when it will be "just the thing."

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

REASSURING CROP REPORTS IN THE DOMINION

THE OUTLOOK FOR BUSINEES IS MORE OPTIMISTIC

MONTREAL, June 6—Bradstreet's review of trade tomorrow will say: The light, warm weather has helped retail trade in the eastern part of Canada and this in turn has enlarged re-orders in summer goods. The outlook for fall business becomes more optimistic as excellent prospects for crops in western Canada are maintained. Reassuring crop reports are also responsible for some activity in industry.

BURSTING OF LOG BOOM

NINE MILLION FEET SCATTERED ALONG COLUMBIA

VALUE OF THE LOGS IS STATED AT $75,000

Nine million feet of timber are strewing the banks of the Columbia from the Slocan river to the coast, owing to the bursting of the boom of the Patrick Lumber company yesterday morning.

Lester Patrick, interviewed by a Daily News reporter, said that the accident occurred at 11:30 a. m. There were over nine million feet of lumber behind the boom at the time, representing something like $75,000. The centre pier of the boom toppled over and the whole of the logs went out. The dam remained intact and is in as good shape as ever. Wires have been sent down all along the river and there is hope of saving much of the loss.

An eyewitness to the scene said that the centre pier had been undermined by the mountain water and finally tipped and then went over. The whole of the logs went in a solid mass, passing over the dam in about 40 minutes. The central pier was 18 feet high by some 16 feet in width, having a length at the bottom of about 25 feet and tapering to the top. There had been some anxiety expressed as to the safety of the boom but it was so strongly constructed that it was thought there was no real danger. It was the eddy undermining the central pier which did the mischief.

The boom was situated about four miles from the junction of the Slocan with the Kootenay river, about 12 miles from the Columbia. There are several mills on the Columbia and it is hoped that their booms will catch the logs as they go down towards the ocean.

PROCTER, June 6.—In spite of the cold and depressing weather the orchards here are looking in excellent condition. The strawberry season promises to be a very good one and it is hoped will surpass all previous years in the output of good fruit.

Much work is being carried on in every branch of farm work with very good success. An important sale of land is likely to be concluded before long, which will improve the general land business outlook.

The Procter lumber company are working to their utmost capacity with a full crew of men, and they anticipate a very busy season. The surroundings of the local mill have been much improved in appearance by the new company.

Andrew Glendening, of Cobalt, Ont., who has been making an extended tour of the western provinces is here and is much pleased with Kootenay lands. He leaves today for Calgary.

The Outlet hotel has been having quite a number of visitors and in spite of the weather is nearly full up.

Fishing off the outlet this season has been unsurpassed. The catches have been too numerous to relate.

Rev. C. W. Reynolds will hold Divine service at Balfour church on Sunday next at at 10:30 a. m. when Holy communion will be celebrated; also in the dining hall at the mill at 6:30 p. m. It is hoped that all will attend.

The Procter wagon road is now being thoroughly surveyed by W. Drewry, but it is not expected to be built till after the berry season, and this seems to fall in well with the settlers to whom it will be the greatest advantage.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and has been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists and dealers.

FINE FIRE FIGHTING

Cranbrook Brigade Stops Big Blaze in Short Order

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRANBROOK, June 6.—A short circuit in the attic of the Cranbrook Co-Operative stores building fired the annex on Armstrong avenue at 12:57 yesterday morning. By 1 o'clock the fire was glowing through the cracks in the steel shingles for the whole length of the annex, which was stocked with furniture, mattress and other inflamable material. Inside a minute three lines of hose were laid down but as the fire had burst through the roof and caught the main building it was thought to be impossible to save the whole corner. However, under mayor Fink, the brigade had the fire in hand in five minutes and quenched to the last spark by 1:15. The water supply was excellent and the pressure high. It was splendid fire fighting. The damages are estimated at $7000, caused almost entirely by water. Both the stock and building are fully insured and no loss will fall on the Co-Operative company.

THE GASOLINE MOTOR

WORK NOW BEING ACCOMPLISHED IN MANY LINES

AN ENORMOUS OUTPUT OF CARS AND LAUNCHES

It will soon be as necessary in Canada *and the United States to have chauf*feurs' unions as it has been for years to have motormen's unions on street railways and locomotive brotherhoods on railways. The business of driving a self-propelled car has become as legitimate and pronounced even in Canada as that of coachmen or dray teamsters. Even men who formerly drove their own automobiles evclusively for pleasure now engage an expert machinist who not only drives but takes mechanical care of the cars. George Bernard Shaw in his "Man and Superman" recognizes the growing importance of the chauffeur by placing him on an intellectual level as regards argument with the owner of the car who is a philosopher.

Motoring is no longer a mere pleasure of a mercury-winged minority who have little to do but kick up a dust into the uttermost parts of the earth. We hear very little nowadays of the long distance tour maker working his odometer overtime to get a thousand miles the better of his rival in the club. But the number of miles travelled by cars in 1908 as compared to the distance covered in 1906 when the motor mania got to its height is a fraction with a very large numera*tor indeed. The world's miles are being* taken care of by the world's motors as efficiently as by the world's locomotives and steamships. But the mileage is no longer confined to a favored few who make milestones at night resemble grave yard monuments as they go by, or race track fiends who do away altogether with horses or baby carriages or even bicycles. It is the man with the small sized car who is heaping up the mileage. The age of middle-classery in automobiles began to come two years ago; it came last year; it is now right on the way—the era when the man of moderate means who would like to get somewhere faster than he can go with a horse, and desires more pleasure in a trip than driving a horse can give him, buys the car he wants and is able to afford and becomes as truly one of the motoring fraternity as the owner of a string of high power cars and an expensive garage.

This extension of the democratic idea to motordom has resulted in an enormous output of runabout cars and touring runabouts and baby tourists and all manner of modifications of these; until a salesroom or at a motor show the prospective middle class customer who is not intent upon blowing a fortune for a car may spend hours or even days before he satisfies his critical judgment as to pre*cisely what style and model he requires* One class of professional men particularly—the doctors—have created the demand for a touring runabout that will suit either the city and town doctor from door to door or the country doctor from highway to highway, in each case saving time and therefore proving an economy and with time enough paying for itself. Perhaps it is a mere coincidence that following the evolution of the doctor's runabout comes the motor hearse which is now being used in a few places. One of the great troubles of a motorist on a country road is meeting or passing a funeral; and the recent legislation of the Ontario house of law makers makes particular provision for this contingency. But with motor hearses and motor cabs and benzine buggies in the procession—in the future of course—the tourist car will no longer be a terror to the undertaker and the farmers in his train.

Out at Vancouver they have an automobile fire brigade. Not only does the chief ride an automobile to fires like a perfect gentleman, but the hose wagons and the two fire engines are equipped with gasoline motors that make an ordinary city fire look like a very slow thing *in comparison. This innovation has be*come quite common in the United States cities. Boston was one of the first to substitute the swift motor for the plunging horse. Vancouver is as yet the only Canadian city with a motor fire brigade. The experiment so far has not been a failure—although the hose wagons have temporarily stalled a few times. The motor fire engine has stood all its tests well. If Vancouver succeeds in putting out its fires with gasoline, it is quite likely the practice will be followed in other large cities in Canada. In Milwaukee the police, fire and parks departments are all provided with auto*mobiles.*

Even the farmer has taken to the automobile. The majority of farmers as yet are uniting to curse all automobiles because of the iniquities of a reckless few, whose motto, openly expressed at the steering wheel has been "Damn the law." But whenever and wherever a farmer has had a chance to ride a good car he has become the most enthusiastic advocate of gasoline locomotion and promises himself that one of these days when he gets a few hundred dollars to the good he will quit carrying horses and drive to town in his automobile. Some farmers have already got automobiles. One progressive farmer near Toronto has had a car for four years. He thinks more of his car than of any team he has. They are already plowing with gasoline down in Georgia and the practice may be expected to develop on the Canadian prairies, where the land is specially adapted to long distance hauls on a plow. It is claimed in Georgia that a man with a gasoline motor is able to turn over three times as much land as he is able to do with the number of horses he is able to manage at once. There is really nothing half so novel about gasoline motor plowing as about the steam plow which has been an institution for years in the Canadian west, and the past few years has come to be a serious competitor with the horse—with the ox team a clear back number. One drawback to the steam plow is its tremendous weight and the crew it takes to operate it. Anyone at all familiar with the advantages of gasoline propulsion will understand that a fluid fuel motor will dispense with a large portion of the weight and put on a greater power besides—and at the same time dispense with the losses in firing up on punk coal and getting up steam. One well known maker of automobiles, Henry Ford, has for years worked his farm of 400 acres with motor tractors and the experiment has been a huge success.

Taximeter cabs in big cities like London and New York are putting the horse cab and the ancient humorous cabbie on to the back streets. Motor trucks are competing with the horse in the dray business—many of these being in use in Canadian cities, hauling larger loads, making better time and wearing out streets less, besides taking up less room than the four-footed, clumsy horse. Armies are experimenting successfully with transportation trucks for troops. The British army has adopted what is called the "caterpillar motor," concern which, the London Graphic says:

"The invention is intended to supply a convenient method of hauling war materia', minerals, or other heavy articles over swampy, hilly and uneven g ound in districts where the railway has not penetrated. The essential feature of the new device is the endless chain surrounding the weight-carrying wheels, with which, by means of two sprocket wheels, the engine lays its own track. Equipped with the 'chain-tracks,' a horse-power motor car performed some wonderful feats in getting across rough country, and it drew with ease a trailer loaded to five tons over marshy soil. A heavy 20-horse power oil tractor, similarly equipped, also performed wonders."

Mail carriers are driving runabouts. City paymasters who have to dodge into a hundred streets a day following the corporation gangs are hauling their pay envelopes in automobiles. Motor ambulances are in use. Automobiles for weddings have long been used even in Canadian cities—though the custom has not yet become commonplace. One of these days baby carriages will be automobiles, too, and the two-years darling of pigmy size will blow his own horn to warn the other babies on his block.—The Canadian Courier.

WATER-WAYS REPORT

Distribution of Power in Canada and Other Matters

OTTAWA, June 6.—The report of the Canadian section of the international water-ways commission was presented to parliament last night. In dealing with the subject of the distribution of power from Niagara Falls, the commissioners recommended that the Canadian companies should be required to distribute half their operative power in Canada. They also suggested that each of the companies should be compelled to supply the Canadian demand proportionately instead of the Ontario hydro-electro commission acquiring power from one company only. The report emphasizes the importance of the preservation of the level of the Great Lakes. The recommendation is made that the government of the United States prohibits the diversion of more than 10,000 cubic feet per second for the Chicago drainage, as vast interests are involved in the preservation of the lake levels. The necessity for some treaty arrangement between Canada and the United States to preserve the system is pointed out. The commission has agreed that no work would be authorized, the effect of which would be to lower the levels in Lake Ontario or the St. Lawrence river.

ROSSLAND TRAIN

Passenger Coach Overturned and Two Men Slightly Hurt

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, June 6.—The coach of the Rossland train last night left the rails one-half mile south of Smelter Junction and turned over on its side. Two passengers, J. R. Jones, of Kamloops, and A. S. Kerda, of Skede Bay, were cut by broken glass, and conductor Graves also received some scratches. The passengers were taken through to Rossland in the baggage car, arriving there on time, and the two injured men had their cuts dressed. Both men were able to be about as usual this morning.

It transpires that possibly the brake beam dropped under the coach, as the heavy engine and baggage car passed over the track with safety, and it is therefore hardly possible that there is any defect in the roadbed.

FASHION AND FAT.

*Isn't it fortunate that when fashion de*mands slender gracefulness of women who have to break corset laces to make themselves even presentable that science steps in and makes their task easy.

For dieting and exercising it has substituted a pleasant wholesome mixture that can be obtained at small cost from any druggist, viz.: ½ ounce Marmola, ¾ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4¾ ounces Syrup Simplex.

One teaspoonful of this mixture after meals and at bedtime will take off four to seven pounds of fat a week without causing wrinkles, interfering with the diet, or distressing the stomach in the least.

PROSPECTS AT OTTAWA

THE DEAD-LOCK WILL CONTINUE UNTIL AFTER ELECTIONS.

NEARLY ALL THE MEMBERS ARE OUT OF TOWN.

(Special to The Daily News)

OTTAWA, June 6.—The corridors of the parliament building are practically deserted today. A few western members are to be found but all the Quebec and Ontario members have gone to cast their votes in the provincial elections on Monday.

When the house resumes on Monday the interior estimates will again be under discussion and the prospects are there will be but a bare quorum of members on hand. If headway is made there will be probably an adjournment at six o'clock.

The negotiations looking to a settlement of the parliamentar dead-lock have been standing still for just forty-eight hours and developments are unlikely until after the Ontario-Quebec elections.

MULLEN GETS 20 YEARS

JURY BRINGS IN A VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER

A STATEMENT OF THE SHOOTING AT MICHEL

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, June 6—Patrick Mullen of Michel, who was charged with the murder of an Italian at that town last September, at an Italian ball, was today convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced by Mr. justice Irving to 20 years in the provincial penitentiary.

The case of C. Walker of the same town, charged with a serious offence, is in progress.

Mullen is a good looking Irishman, 27 years old, about five feet nine inches in height, weighing about 163 pounds, of fair complexion and dark hair.

Mullen was charged with the murder of Angelo Orlando, an Italian mine worker at Michel on Sept. 1, Labor Day.

A statement of the crime, published at the time of Mullen's capture at Great Falls, Montana, gives the following account of the crime.

Since Sept. 4 last, when Orlando died from the effects of the wound, the provincial authorities have been looking for Mullen but the fugitive made good his escape, though he had but a few hours' start of the authorities and has managed to keep in hiding until about six weeks ago, when the police received evidence which led to his arrrest by the United States authorities at Great Falls.

Together with three fellow miners, Dan McKinnon, John Howells and James Hatfield, Mullen attempted to force his way into the hall wherein the Italian members of the Michel mining community were holding a ball on the evening of Labor day and where no English speaking miners were wanted. The day had been a holiday and one of celebration and all four were more or less under the influence of liquor. They were stopped at the door by Orlando and several other Italians. They succeeded in getting into the dance hall but had been there but a minute or two when the Italians hustled them to the door and in the scuffle which occurred Mullen, it is alleged, pulled a revolver and fired point blank at Orlando, the bullet striking the latter in the abdomen and inflicting a fatal wound, from the effects of which he died three days later.

Deserted by his fellow Italians, who immediately took to their heels, Orlando was left lying on the platform in front of the dance hall for some time before being carried away to the hospital, while Mullen and his companions escaped, and it is believed after remaining secreted in the hills for several days he succeeded in making his way across the boundary. Since that time he has eluded capture, though the provincial authorities offered a reward of $500 for information leading to his arrest and his description was sent broadcast over Canada and the United States.

It is claimed that for some time previous there had been more or less trouble between the Italian and English speaking miners at Michel and that after the shooting, while the Italians were in fear that there would be some further trouble, Mullen's friends exerted every effort to shield their friend and get him out of the country. Mullen was a great favorite with the miners and none of those who were thought to know of his whereabouts could be induced to give any information to the authorities.

The evidence taken at the inquest following the death of Orlando, disclosed some facts which would indicate that there was a woman in the trouble. Pete Zeralto, one of the Italian miners and one of those who attempted to put Mullen out of the hall, testified that earlier that day Mrs. Munnins, wife of a mine laborer, had asked him, Zeralto, if Mullen intended going to the dance that night and Zeralto answered that he did not think so. The Italian later saw Mullen and advised him not to attend the dance but the Irishman insisted that he would be there. Munnins, husband of the woman, testified that after the shooting, and when he and his wife had gone home, he discovered that his revolver which he had left at home in his coat pocket, was missing, together with four cartridges and it developed that the bullet which caused Orlando's death was of the calibre of Munnins' revolver.

FOREST PROTECTION.

Fire Wardens Being Sent Out to Different Districts.

VANCOUVER, June 6—The forests of the coast region of British Columbia will be protected from fire this summer in a more comprehensive manner than ever before, as more wardens are being employed and their jurisdiction is far more extended than it was in the past. W. C. Gladwin, chief fire warden, has opened his headquarters office in Vancouver, and this week the appointment of all the deputy wardens have been made and already some of the men have proceeded to their posts. The others will be at work next week.

Owing to the fact that some three or four of the most destructive forest fires experienced last season were the result of neglect and carelessness of campers, extra precautions will this season be taken in connection with the supervision of camping parties. Instructions have been issued to particularly watch campers and any party responsible for the starting of a bush fire will be rigorously prosecuted.

The following appointments of deputy fire wardens have been made in the districts mentioned: J. S. McKinney, from Point Grey to Port Moody; W. H. Mackie from Point Atkinson to Port Moody; Geo. McCauley, south side of Fraser river from Point Roberts to Hope mountains; John Wren, north side of Fraser, from Port Moody to Yale; Allan McLean, Pt. Atkinson to Welcome pass; John Drainey, Jervis Inlet, north to and including Texada island; R. M. Pallatt and F. D. Markland, from Lund to Rivers Inlet and the head of Vancouver island; Warden Jenkins, Skeena and Prince Rupert districts.

ODIOUS INSINUATIONS

French Detective Denounces the Press of Paris

PARIS, June 6—Chief of detectives Hamard today voiced his protest against the attempts of the Paris press to make a romantic mystery out of the murder last Sunday by persons unknown of artist Steinheil and his mother-in-law, Mme. Japy. He is particularly vehement against what he calls the odious insinuations that the widow of the dead artist could have had the slightest interest in the horrible crime.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

The "Is Nows" defeated the "Has Beens" at baseball yesterday afternoon.

W. G. McMorris who has been spending the week in the Boundary, returned to the city last evening.

Willey and Sadler have taken over the boot and shoe store on Ward street formerly carried on by W. J. Habgood.

The Kuskanook lays off her usual trip today to clean boilers. Her place will be taken by the Kokanee which returned last night from Kaslo for that purpose.

The moving pictures at the Alice ring with the dance that followed was well patronized and much enjoyed. Tomorrow night there will be an entire change of program.

Miss Frances Bacom representing Queen City Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F. left last evening for New Westminster to attend the grand assembly which convenes on the 9th inst.

There has been a great decrease in the number of curs around the city owing to the efforts of the dog catcher, and the city's revenues have also been contributed to more liberally than is usually the case from this source.

The service this evening at the Methodist church will be of special interest from the fact that the results of the canvas for the first 25 per cent. of the subscriptions to the new church fund will be announced. A special collection will be taken on behalf of the fund.

George Hunter has been interesting himself to get some launch races for the celebration. This is a comparatively easy matter, but the part that is difficult is the illumination by night. Almost an absolute calm is essential for success for the slightest wind will set the lanterns afire or blow out the candles.

It is understood that the effort to place a good exhibition of this district in Calgary will not be allowed to drop and that a move will be made in this direction on Monday. There is very little time left now to get the building up, and if the funds are to be collected they should be in hand by the end of the week.

Peaceful residents and campers on the lake immediately opposite to Nelson have been disturbed by numerous bears of late. Coming down the hill they have visited the strawberry beds and one man has been afraid to visit his gooseberry patch surrendering possession to bruin. Guns are being bought and it is probable that one or two skins will be shortly exhibited in the city.

A. Whealler, barrister, formerly of this city and now practicing his profession in New Westminster, passed through the city yesterday on his way home from attending the Fernie assizes. Mr. Whealler had a kindly word for the Daily News. "I wish," he said "that you could cart your plant to the coast and give us The Daily News at first hand. Frankly I like your newspaper better than any other".

F. J. Deane purchased six lots on the southeast corner of Josephine and Hoover streets from Arthur Hicking, formerly of Rossland, but now residing in England, but who visits the Kootenay every year. The deal was put through by H. & M. Bird. Mr. Deane has engaged the services of architect George C. Egg of this city, and plans for the erection of a residence are being prepared. Mr. Deane owns six lots fronting on Hoover street and Mr. Waldie the other six, and as both men are building private residences on the land in question they will have the whole block to themselves. The lots are 125 feet deep to the lane. The consideration paid by Mr. Deane is not announced but it is understood that an excellent price was obtained by the vendor.

RAMBLER-CARIBOO CO.

THE ANNUAL MEETING AT KASLO ON TUESDAY

ROD AND REEL CLUB'S PRIZE COMPETITION

(Special to The Daily News.)

KASLO, June 6.—The Rambler-Cariboo directors are arriving for the purpose of attending the annual meeting of the company, which will be held here next Tuesday. Among those now in town are Alfred Coolidge of Spokane, B. W. McPhee of Colfax, Perry Lawrence of Pullman and J. Armstrong of Tacoma. With them forming a fishing party, are Doctors Johnson and Smith, Dolph Coolidge, J. A. McPhee, Geo. C. Beck and Fred Jacobs, all of Spokane; D. Humphreys of Tacoma, and J. M. Maim of South Bellingham.

The directors brought with them a handsome trophy for the largest salmon caught during the month of June. Last year they put up a silver medal, which was won by P. W. Lawrence of Pullman, Wash. This season they have gone one better, and are putting up for this month's competition a a gold one, beautifully designed and a work of art.

This has been handed over to the Kaslo rod and reel club, under whose auspices the competition will be managed. The medal goes to the person landing the largest fish in Kootenay lake during the present month of June, under the rules and regulations of the Kaslo rod and reel club. The stipulations briefly put, are that all fish entered for competition must be caught with rod and reel and brought to the gaff unaided.

The Rambler directors are sportsmen to the core, and were in the main instrumental in inaugurating the fishing competition which has been prominent in the interests of sport at Kaslo for over a year past. Free from care they are now enjoying their annual holiday here, which generally lasts from nine days to two weeks.

The rod and reel club, having a number of valuable prizes on hand, has decided to make two competitions this month. In addition to the gold medal put up by the Rambler directors, another prize of a handsome silver flask, donated by G. A. Hunter of Nelson, will be awarded for the best day's catch for June, weight to count. This has been put up to give the visitors a chance, many of whom are now arriving.

For July the club has received word from H. B. Alexander that he will put up a trophy. At present he is in Ireland, but will arrive at Kaslo in time to take part in the competition. Mr. Alexander wor the Mc Dermid-Hunter silver medal a year ago with a 21 lb. trout. Anybody is eligible for the above competitions, provided they fish under the rules and regulations of the Kaslo rod and reel club.

COLOSSAL FRAUD

Man Who Robbed Widows and Orphans of Railway Men

WATERTOWN, June 6—Superintendent Cornelius Christie of the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg division of the New York Central railway, has disclosed what he believes to be one of the most colossal schemes to defraud the company and claimants for damages, that the company has ever encountered.

His investigations covering a period of four months, led to the arrest of H. J. McCormick, a well known attorney, until May 1, the claims agent of the company, on the charge of forgery in the second degree. McCormick was about to leave the city when apprehended by the police. His hearing today was adjourned to June 12. McCormick's peculations are estimated by the railway officials from $30,000 to $100,000. His method was to approve a claim of an injured party or of the survivor, usually the widow of a man killed on the road, forge the claimant's name to the check in payment and pay the claimant a small portion of the sum in cash. The specific charge in the complaint is forging a check made out to Mrs. Ross of Bonnville, whose husband was killed April 9, 1906, at a railway crossing. McCormick, it is alleged, settled the claim for the company in the sum of $2250 and paid the widow $500.

AUTO RECORDS

One Mile on Open Road Covered in 38. Seconds

NEW YORK, June 6—Road records for automobiles were broken yesterday during the races held in connection with the opening celebration at Jamaica, Long Island. One mile over a road was covered in 38.5 seconds by a car driven by Herman Kirkpatrick. This was at the rate of 93.6 miles an hour. The car driven by Kirkpatrick was not the only one to eclipse world's figures for automobile racing on roadways. Seven other cars battered the time-honored mark made at Coney Is and on November 16, 1901. Car after car improved upon the track record for two miles made four years ago, there being no road figures for the distance. The best time for two was made by Kirkpatrick, 1.19 1-5.

Factory Explosion

VIENNA, June 6.—Sixteen workmen were killed and 17 others were more or less injured by an explosion this afternoon in a celluloid factory at Ottakring, a suburb of Vienna. The explosion was followed by a fire which completely gutted the factory. Four workmen are still missing. The explosion is attributed to the spontaneous combustion of celluloid dust.

Third Explosion

INDIANAPOLIS, June 6.—The Presto-Light plant blew up today. Eight persons are known to have been injured, none fatally, however. St. Vincent's hospital and an engine house of the city fire department adjoining were badly damaged. Loss of the plant, $70,000. This is the third explosion at the company's works within a year.

Town Flooded

ENID, Okla., June 6.—Following a six-hours' rainfall today, Boggy creek, running through the city, widened from 20 feet to 2000 feet, flooding almost the whole of Enid and carrying away 50 houses, flooding stores and endangering lives. The water is 12 feet deep in the main street, covering 10 blocks of the business centre.

American Tennis

NEW YORK, June 6. Jerome Travers, of Mont Clair, N. J., the national amateur golf champion, successfully defended his title of New Jersey state champion today. He beat Max Behr, of the Morris County club, by 11 up and 9 to play. Travers played consistent golf but he has been seen to much better advantage in former years.
