PETTY GRAFTS

Letter Franking and Railway Specials

A COMIC OPERA VARIETY

OPPOSITION CRITICISM ON THE SOLICITOR GENERAL—GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL HAS NO KNOWLEDGE—DOINGS OF PARLIAMENT.

(Special to The Daily News.)

OTTAWA, June 11—In the house today J. E. Armstrong, Lambton, charged that campaign literature was being franked from the railway department, the addressing and parcelling out being done by employees.

Hon. George P. Graham saw no objection if it were done out of business hours.

George Taylor, W. F. Maclean and Bergeron all objected to hostile campaign literature which they asserted was scattered at their own expense in their own constituencies.

Hon. W. S. Fielding did not know of the employment of government employees in the addressing of the literature but thought they were entitled to frank the same as private members.

R. L. Borden and Richard Blain cited the statute to show that a minister's frank was limited to official business, whereas the members were authorized to use the frank for official or personal mail matter.

On the vote of $10,000 to pay the expenses in connection with the cases before the railway commission, Hon. G. P. Graham stated that from March to Sept. 20, 1907, the enquiry into the telephone tariffs cost $8728 of which G. F. Shepley, K.C., received $2845.

On a discussion of the need of a special counsel for the railway commission, the minister said he was considering this, but R. L. Borden, Dr. Reid and others argued that the solicitor general, minister of justice or deputy minister of justice might perform the duty.

The premier said the solicitor generalship had existed for many years. The present incumbent, Hon Jacques Bureau, K.C., was very active. He had much to do with the preliminary reading of records in certain cases and he also did some counsel work.

Hon. Mr. Graham said that he would take the matter up with the new chairman and would be largely guided by his advice. The main point was that nothing should be done to interfere with the efficiency of the board.

Before adjournment at 1:30 this, Friday, morning, estimates aggregating $1,685,800 had been passed.

David Henderson, Haton, asked why the supply bill had not been introduced when so many millions had been voted.

Hon. Mr. Fielding said it was desirable to have all the salaries passed before the supply bill was introduced so as not to discriminate against any of the departments.

In the upper house today senator Lougheed complained that he had been misrepresented. He had repeatedly declared that wages and taxes should come before bonds as claims on railway property.

Senator Ferguson said the secretary of state had intimated to him that the railway commissioners were reluctant to reply to some questions and he desired to know what right they had to withhold information asked for by either house.

Sir Richard Cartwright agreed that the commissioners had no right to withhold information, the officials should be disciplined.

This evening sir Richard Cartwright's bill to amend the Manitoba grain act received its third reading.

OTTAWA, June 11.—At the afternoon session of the house supply was continued. Mr. Bergeron complained that on the 31st of May a special train was run on the Intercolonial railway between River du Loup and Trois Pistoles. Most of the passengers were employees of the railway and no fare was charged any one.

Mr. Bergeron said he was informed that no conservatives were allowed on the train.

Mr. Graham said he did not know anything about the matter.

The next complaint came from Mr. Armstrong, who objected to the ministers sending out campaign material f om their departments, the necessary work falling on the employees paid by the country. Mr. Graham had franked a large quantity of matter in that way during the recent Ontario elections.

Mr. Graham said he had sent out copies of a speech made in the house of commons. He did not think it could be termed campaign literature, which drew from Mr. Lennox the remark that it was used that way. Other instances of a like nature were cited.

Mr. Fielding did not defend the practice but pointed out that it was indulged in by both parties.

On the vote for the solicitor's general's salary the opposition complained that under the present government the office had become a comic opera variety. All that the solicitor general appeared to do was to answer questions on behalf of the minister of justice.

GREAT COMBINE.

LONDON, June 11—According to the Iron and Steel trades journal there has recently been effected a great combination in the British steel trade with a capital of $375,000,000. The information of this paper, however, is not always correct. The main object of the combination, according to the journal is to secure control of the international export trade and similar organizations in America and on the continent are said to be supporting the British amalgamation.

GLADIATOR COLLISION

COURT MARTIAL AT PORTSMOUTH YESTERDAY.

CAPTAIN, PILOT AND OFFICERS OF THE ST. PAUL.

PORTSMOUTH, June 11 — The court martial into the loss of the British cruiser Gladiator as a result of the collision last April with the liner St. Paul, was resumed here today. Captain Passow of the St. Paul testified that when he first sighted the Gladiator the cruiser appeared to be closing in on the St. Paul. Capt. Passow reversed his engines, reducing speed to three or four knots at the time of the collision. He declared that if the cruiser had not starboarded and the vessels had maintained a steady course they would have passed clear of each other.

Capt. Passow further explained that he took the Gladiator's siren for a steering signal.

Pilot Mowyer, who was on the St. Paul denied the statement of lieutenant Mainguy of the Gladiator that the liner was on the wrong side of the channel, declaring that on the contrary, the Gladiator was not in her right track.

Several officers of the St. Paul then testified that the cruiser swerved from port to Starboard just before the collision.

The hearing was then adjourned until tomorrow.

JOSEPH MARTIN IS ILL

WALKEM APPEAL HAD TO BE ADJOURNED.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ASKED TO STOP POACHING.

VICTORIA, June 11—The hearing of the Walkem appeal was no proceeded with today owing to the sudden indisposition of Joseph Martin, K.C., counsel for the appellants.

The Victoria Derby was won today by Ripper, an Everett horse and a three to one shot, at the third day of the meet of the Victoria racing assosciation.

T. G. Wels, who on Tuesday reported to the Seattle police that he had been held up on Madison street at the corner of Railroad avenue, and robbed of a watch and who mysteriously disappeared about midnight, is charged with forgery on instructions from the Seattle police.

Resolutions were telegraphed to the federal government at Ottawa today by the board of trade asking that a fast steamer be chartered at once to assist the fishery cruiser Kestrel in protecting the B.C. fishing grounds from poaching vessels, during the construction of the new fishery cruiser for which an appropriation has been passed. The board of trade also asked the government to arrange for enforcing the coasting laws more strictly than at present and submitted a resolution in favor of the abolition of compulsory pilotage.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Boundary Water Rights Question Decided by Judge Clement.

(Special to The Daily News.)

GREENWOOD, June 11—Judgement has been given by Mr. justice Clement in the case of Portmann v. the city of Greenwood, heard at the recent sittings of the court here. Messrs. Portmann, formerly of the Elkhorn Brewery, and the city, both held grants from the crown of the usufruct of the waters of Providence creek on which one of the city's reservoirs now is situated. The plaintiffs had wished to set up the invalidity of the city's record on the ground that the record held by them and their predecessors was a prior grant. But because in 1900 the plaintiffs' predecessors accepted from the crown a grant based on the city's record for the use of a certain part of the water, Mr. justice Clement held that the record relied upon by the plaintiffs can hold good only under section 44 of the W.C.C. act 1897, as an interim record entitling the holders thereof to use the water "until the same shall be actually diverted by the municipality under the record." The city was within its rights in diverting the water and the action was dismissed with costs. W. A. Macdonald, K.C. of Nelson and J. D. Spense of Greenwood, appeared for the plaintiffs and J. A. Macdonald, K.C. of Rossland and J. P. McLeod, city solicitor for the city of Greenwood.

FAIR TRADE.

American Millers Favor Commercial Intercourse With Canada.

DETROIT, Mich., June 11.—The 600 millers from all parts of the country, who are attending the sixth annual convention of the Millers' National Federation in this city, applauded loudly the address made before them today by ex-congressman Wm. C. Maybury, of this city, in which he declared for closer trade relations with Canada and abolition of the duties between the United States and that country.

"Free trade is a misnomer," said Mr. Maybury. "Let us make it fair trade instead, and by our actions have the Canadians join with us in free intercourse between the two countries in every way, particularly from a commercial standpoint."

CLOSE SEARCH

Mrs. Morrison's Murderer Hunted

COUNTRYSIDE IS STIRRED

MANY MEN ARE SUSPECTED BUT SO FAR NO ARRESTS HAVE TAKEN PLACE—GEODETIC SURVEY [redacted] BOUNDARY.

VANCOUVER, June 11—As is usually the case, in any district following the commission of any particularly diabolical crime, every vagrant specimen of humanity cast upon the countryside within 50 miles of Hazelmere, is now an object of suspicion in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mary Morrison.

From widely divergent points reports are reaching the police of tramps who are said to closely resemble the descriptions of the murderer, which have been scattered broadcast. While it is a ten to one shot that the men suspected are absolutely innocent, all the stories have to be investigated and the police are therefore very busy today running down the reports.

In Vancouver yesterday afternoon an Italian giving the name of Henry Davenport, was pulled off a brakebeam on the Great Northern train from the south. He is being held until inspected by Hazelmere people.

Acting on a report, a posse is searching for a negro near Port Kells, nine miles from New Westminster. This morning the conductor of a Great Northern train passing a little creek in that vicinity say a negro washing his clothes. The dead woman's daughter described her mother's assassin as a very dark man, from which it is believed he may have been either a negro or a mulatto.

J. S. Emerson, a well-known lumberman of Vancouver, today sold a half interest in his Port Moody sawmill and logging business for a consideration of a quarter of a million dollars. The transfer is being made to Messrs. P. D. Roe and Robert Abernethy of Port Moody and will be consummated on July 1. The business will be carried on along similar lines as formerly, the new concern, which will be called the Emerson Lumber company, retaining the office in Vancouver.

D. H. Nelles and his assistant, L. S. Shaw of the Interior department, Ottawa, are in the city on their way north to engage in international boundary work. Mr. Nelles will have charge of a party of 14 or 15 men. This season he will undertake the first geodetic work ever carried out in connection with delimination of the frontier. His duties will be to carry a line of precise levels from the summit of the White Pass to the 141st meridian, constituting the boundary between Alaska and Canada from a base line at Mount Elias to the Arctic ocean.

Pending another tour of investigation of the country by A. Bryan Williams, provincial game warden, it is improbable that the government will define the boundaries of the game reserve which is to be established in East Kootenay. Mr. Williams has returned from a tour of the game districts of the locality but as he was unable to reach several sections which he desired to look over he will make another tour later in the summer.

The delegation which interviewed the government on the selection of Revelstoke as a supply base for the G.T.P. construction, is satisfied with its reception.

The bush fires in this vicinity are gradually burning themselves out.

ANTI GAMBLING BILL.

Bill Passes at Albany—End of Extraordinary Session.

ALBANY, June 11.—After a struggle, the precise like of which no man in or about the legislature has ever seen or expects to see again, the famous Agnew-Hart anto-race track gambling bills are now laws of the state of New York. Governor Hughes by his signatures affixed to each of the bills at 4.35 p. m. today crowned a legislative victory, the brilliancy of which is conceded even by those who fought him in this matter to the last ditch and beyond. A few minutes before 2 p. m. the truly extraordinary session of the legislature of 1908 was adjourned without delay. The annals of legislation in this state may be searched in vain for a day like this.

The bills in no way affect, so far as their face provisions, the state racing committee in particular or horse racing in general. They relate solely to the penalties for gambling and pool selling, and these are declared by the law to be a "public nuisance."

Chapter 506 amends the racing law by repealing that provision under which an exclusive penalty or simply recovering at a civil suit the amount wagered, which has applied to gambling within a race track enclosure.

TRULY PARISIAN.

Interesting Details in the Trial of Gregori for Shooting Dreyfus.

PARIS, June 11.—A maid servant in the employ of major Alfred Dreyfus, was today confronted with Louis Gregori, the assassin who fired two shots at the major in the Pantheon on June 4. She failed, however, to recognize Gregori, as the man who a month ago called at the major's house and left a bunch of keys saying they soon would be stained with blood.

HOSTILE IN TENDENCY

GERMANY'S OBJECTION TO NEW TRIPPLE ALLIANCE.

ATTITUDE OF BERLIN PRESS IS NOT UNDERSTOOD.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 11.—It was learned here today from a competent source that the result of the recent meeting of king Edward and emperor Nicholas at Reval was the rapproachement between Great Britain, Russia and France, and this has been made the subject of grave representations on the part of Germany who has met the threatened birth of a new "triple alliance" with a display of the "mailed fist."

After the announcement of the Reval meeting Russia was given to understand at Berlin, that the conclusion of a formal entente between these three powers would be regarded as a measure hostile in tendency.

Whether such a development was originally contemplated from the meetings between king Edward and the president of France and king Edward and the emperor of Russia is not stated, but the immediate result of the representations made in Berlin was the publication on June 5 of an obviously inspired article in the official Rossia which, while speaking warmly in favor of the meeting between king Edward and emperor Nicholas, declared that the suggestion of any grouping of the powers at the present time was impossible. Furthermore, foreign secretary Grey announced in the British house of commons that no further expansion of the Anglo-Russian convention was contemplated.

The repeated reference in the speeches of king Edward and emperor Nicholas as to the eminently pacific character of the meeting also is ascribed to Teutonic circles here to the effect of German representations. An anti-German campaign is being waged here in influential sections and a communication has been published avowing opposition to Germany and rebuking the efforts of the trouble makers. After such explicit and reiterated assurances respecting the scope of the Anglo-Russian friendship and the absence of hostile purport to any power whatever, the supposition and even the alarmist attitude of the German press is understood with difficulty here. It is hoped that time will allay German apprehensions, short of an official statement.

The results of the meeting at Reval as published in the St. Petersburg papers, confirm the report that a substantial agreement has been entered into regarding Macedonia and that the two powers are in full accord on the Afghan and Persian question, the determination being to respect the independence and integrity of Persia. Conditions in Persia naturally are receiving considerable attention in view of the prolonged crisis at Teheran and the possibility of the dethronement at any time of the shah. It was stated here tonight at the foreign office, however, that the question was discussed only generally, that no definite decision with regard to intervention was taken up and that the action of the two powers depends entirely on the developments in that unhappy country where it is thought the troubles may continue for a considerable time before coming to a head. Attention is drawn to the fact that Russia is consulting with the British government with regard to all steps taken in north Persia although by the Anglo-Russian convention she is given a free hand.

There were rumors in the duma today that king Edward and emperor Nicholas had signed a further important convention at Reval but officially these rumors were characterized as irresponsible and without foundation.

SALE OF TROUT

Board of Trade Ask for Its Prohibition

REDUCTION OF INSURANCE

HOLIDAY EXCURSIONS UP THE LAKE—REPORT OF THE PUBLICITY BUREAU FOR THE PAST MONTH—CHANGE OF TIME AND THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

The monthly board of trade meeting last night took up a variety of subjects of some importance to the community and appointed a couple of special committees, the one to look into the question of a reduction of insurance rates in this city and the other dealing with the prohibition of the sale of trout. A report was read from the publicity department, and there was also dealt with the matter of special rates on the lake for week end excursions.

There were present, F. Starkey, president, E. K. Beeston, secretary, S. A. Kelly, J. M. Lay, R. S. Lennie, H. G. Goodeve, H. E. Douglas, I. G. Nelson, C. W. Busk, D. C. McMorris, A. W. Dyer, W. H. Jones, H. Byers, W. G. Thompson and James Johnstone.

After the passing of the minutes was read the following communication from D. C. Coleman, district superintendent of the C. P. R., anent the proposed change of time. He pointed out that while the C. P. R., as servants of the public, would bow to the will of the majority, yet if Nelson should put its time one hour ahead of suntime it could not be expected that Grand Forks or even Rossland would agree. As far west as Castlegar the smaller places might follow suit with Nelson. If the a change were adopted it would mean that the railway would have two times on its trains to Rossland and the Boundary, which would increase the danger of accidents.

No one on the board caring to advocate the proposed change, the letter, on motion, was filed.

A report was read from J. M. Lay, chairman, as to the progress made during the past month by the publicity department:

The committee begs to report that during the past month a considerable amount of work has been done by the publicity bureau.

In addition to several enquiries regarding land, the correspondence includes other matters, all of which have received attention. The register of visitors shows that much attention is being directed to this country, as a good part of those who have recorded their names are enquirers for information in regard to taking up land and settling here.

The committee placed with the Daily News an order for 20,000 leaflets regarding Nelson and fruit growing and these are now being received and distributed. A considerable number will be sent to England and Calgary.

It is the intention to get out similar leaflets on other attractions, as funds permit.

The committee has also resumed the publication of the Weekly Mining Reports and these are being sent to all the principal mining and financial journals. Several newspaper and magazine articles have also been arranged for.

The taking over of the specimens from Mr. J. Fred Hume has been unavoidably delayed, but it is hoped it can now shortly be done and the office, with some other improvements that are being carried out, would then present an attractive appearance.

The committee hand herewith a financial statement showing a balance on hand of $98.66 and with the outstanding subscriptions and donations they hope shortly to pay off the balance of the old accounts ($280) as well as carry on the work of the bureau.

In addition, however, to making a canvass among the non-subscribers in the city the committee propose addressing a letter to all absent real estate owners. The committee have received from the commissioner of the Hudson's Bay Company a very beautiful and useful flag and Mr. Gillett has kindly promised to donate a flag staff.

The following letter is being sent by the secretary of the board to all non-resident property owners:

At the commencement of this year the board of trade took over the work which had hitherto been carried on by the 20,000 club in the matter of advertising the city and its resources.

The city council was approached and requested to give financial assistance to the objects in view, as is done in so many other places in western Canada, but while fully expressing their sympathy with the work of this department of the board of trade they felt compelled, in view of the other large expenditures they have in hand, to refuse the assistance they might otherwise feel inclined to give.

It is generally thought that non-resident land owners are those who benefit most by the improvement in values of real estate which result from such work as that now being done by the board and that the fairest way of meeting the cost of the work is by direct taxation.

This, however, not being possible this year, I am directed to bring the matter to your attention.

The merchants and others have subscribed monthly sums of $2.50 to $10 for the carrying on of the work, while others have given donations from $5 to $50. The board is thus enabled to keep the information bureau permanently open, to have the many and varied questions that are received regarding the town and district answered and to prepare and distribute advertising matter.

The population of the city is increasing and this is thought to be largely due to the advertising it has received in the past, and as a consequence the value of and demand for real estate have materially improved. It is felt that by the increase of population only can the present taxation be proportionately reached and that by the carrying out of further civic improvements can be rendered possible.

Under these circumstances as you, as a ratepayer of the city, are interested in all that tends to its prosperity, it is hoped that you may see your way to affording assistance by giving a personal contribution.

A vote of thanks was passed to C. C. Chipman, commission of the Hudson's Bay company, for the donation of a very handsome flag for the publicity bureau.

H. G. Goodeve, chairman of the freight rate committee, stated that the report of the board had been forwarded to the railway commissioners and to the railway.

A vote of $150 for the work of preparing the report was passed in favor of E. K. Beeston and the thanks of the board was also tendered.

The accounts for the previous month, amounting to $63 were passed.

D. C. McMorris brought up the matter of lower insurance rates for the city. He pointed out that the city had suffered no loss of importance since its incorporation. On the other hand the city had made year by year more and more improvements in its fire fighting apparatus. Yet, despite these facts, the rates were too high. He, therefore, moved that a special committee be appointed which should report at the next meeting of the board on the prevailing rates and that upon that report representations should be made to the board of underwriters.

I. G. Nelson seconded.

James Johnstone said the rates were about double that which they should be.

The question was put and carried.

D. C. McMorris, W. A. Jones and W. G. Thomson were appointed a committee.

D. C. Coleman communicated a complaint that fish were being caught at Bonnington and sold in the open market. The president in bringing up this matter, stated he had been informed that the dominion government had power to prevent such sales by the issuing of departmental regulations. This power had been exercised in northwest provinces and might possibly be extended to British Columbia.

R. S. Lennie said there was a conflict between the provincial and dominion governments as to jurisdiction in this matter.

James Johnstone said the provincial game warden had quite recently informed him that if the provincial government were petitioned to prohibit the sale of trout it would probably comply.

D. C. McMorris thought a petition might be sent to either government.

A committee of two, J. M. Lay and S. A. Kelly, was appointed to look into the matter and prepare a report for the next meeting.

A motion was passed that the railways be asked to give $1 rate on the weekly half holidays and week end excursions to Procter, and return, row boats for fishing purposes to be carried free.

The board then adjourned.

Throughout the celebration two brass bands will be in attendance and the amount to be given in prizes is placed at $2500, a large proportion of which has already been subscribed. At the public meeting called to make arrangements, mayor Bunting was elected chairman and R. J. Sanders secretary of the general committee.

FIERCELY ATTACKED.

French Socialists Condemn Police for Exceeding Their Authority.

PARIS, June 11—The government was fiercely attacked by the socialists in the chamber of deputies today during a debate that followed an interpellation upon the action of the police and gendarmes during the recent fatality at Vigneux.

Premier Clemenceau expressed the regret of the government for the two fatalities and said an investigation has shown that some gendarmes had exceeded their authority. They would be tried before a court of inquiry.

A resolution expressing regret over the shooting and in support of the government's intention to punish the guilty parties was adopted by 429 to 63.

CONTRACT LET

School Building to Proceed At Once

MORE MONEY IS WANTED

TRUSTEES DESIROUS OF HOLDING CONFERENCE WITH CITY COUNCIL AND HAVING PROPERTY HOLDERS PRESENT AT THE SAME TIME.

At a meeting of the school trustees held yesterday afternoon it was finally decided to go ahead with the letting of the contracts which were awarded to the lowest tender in each case. Work will proceed upon the new building at once which must be finished by December 15 next.

There were present R. G. Joy, chairman, A. D. Emory, R. J. Steel and Dr. Arthur, secretary.

The meeting began with a long discussion as to how the estimates were to be adjusted to the amount in hand for the building of the school. This latter was only $57,500 whereas the building, without the furniture, would slightly exceed this amount, if marble facings were used instead of cement. Examples of the appearance of the different materials may be seen in the Imperial block and in the Aberdeen block immediately opposite. There were some things as, for instance, the putting in of wired glass in the basements and the immediate finishing of some of the upper rooms could well be left until a later date. The question of the use of marble instead of cement, something that will cost $4500 more, must, however, be decided within the next couple of weeks. In the meantime the contracts can so be drawn up that there need not be any trouble as to the omission of any of the details as each tender goes into a particularized statement with the cost of the separate items set forth.

The members of the board present were a unit on the use of marble instead of cement but did not feel inclined to accept the responsibility of adopting marble unless some expression of opinion were elicited from the property owners of the city. The question was how to obtain that opinion. Finally it was suggested that the secretary enter into communication with the city council, each of the members of which board is a property holder, and arrange for a joint meeting to discuss the matter. As there will be no meeting of the city council next Monday evening, Monday was deemed a good date. It was also thought that any property holder in city who care to be present should be invited to attend and there was an additional suggestion that in order to provide for the comfort of the people attending such a joint meeting that it be held in the court house instead of the city hall, the former being more commodious. These suggestions were adopted and the secretary was instructed to approach the acting mayor in this regard.

The contracts were awarded to John Burns, for the masonry and building, Pearcy & Herb for the painting, and Strachan & Hebden for the plumbing. These contracts are to be drawn up by the city solicitor and will safeguard the interest of the public not only by the retention of the deposit cheques, which are already with the board, but also by the provision of bondsmen for the due carrying out of the conditions.

As it is desirable that the school building shall be rushed to a finish the coat act of John Burns will contain a clause providing for the completion of the completion of the building by December 15, with a penalty of $50 for each day over and above that time. On the other hand wet days, when the men are not able to work, will be allowed. Mr. Burns was instructed yesterday afternoon that he was at liberty to proceed at once with the moving of the present building and it is to be expected that a start will be made at once in the getting of the material upon the ground and in the general preparations for a start.

In connection with the tenders a letter was received from W. J. Broley of North Battleford, stating that he had made a mistake in his figures which were $62,000 and $60,000 respectively, with or without marble, instead of $87,780 and $85,000, as first sent in by him. This included the whole building, heating and painting. The tender was, therefore, the next lowest to those which were accepted.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

From the English newspapers just received here it is plain that the woman suffragists in England have won a great victory. Sixty members of the British parliament recently waited on the premier and pressed upon him the desirability of womans' suffrage being granted. Mr. Asquith replied that it was impossible to give time for a private bill to this end. He went on, however, to foreshadow one of the most important and far reaching measures. He said that the present state of the franchise law with its unreasonable delays in obtaining the qualifications for the franchise, its undefensible classification and above all the power of double voting which was at present conferred upon the class which needed it least—all this urgently demanded reform. He suggested that the delegation could obtain what they desired by the introduction of amendments which the government could hardly resist, as probably two-thirds of his colleagues in the ministry were in favor of them. He added a note of warning, that any proposed change must be upon democratic lines and in conclusion pointed out that the measure of woman's suffrage such as he had touched on, to be accepted must have behind it the overwhelming support of the women of the country no less than the support of the men.

This announcement has come as a great surprise and has caused much comment for it means woman's suffrage and inferentially manhood suffrage. The Birmingham Daily Post says that Mr. Asquith's announcement opens up a vista both broad and long and at first sight looks like good political strategy, but what a very courageous government it is.

If Mr. Redmond will convert the English to home rule, Mr. Asquith will be a home ruler. If the lady with the bell at Dundee and the ladies who clung to Mr. Asquith's area railings can convert their sisters, Mr. Asquith will not oppose the change though he will not himself propose it; and the Saturday Review remarks that Miss Maloney's bell reduced Mr. Churchill to silence and made Mr. Asquith speak. What does this mean except that the government as a government, will not help woman's suffrage? And then there are conditions that the amendment must be thoroughly democratic, that is, admit all sorts and conditions of women and must have the approval of the mass of women themselves. Is there anybody who really wishes this? No, not even liberals and socialists.

The Nation declares that it is diffficult to realize the far-reaching importance of this change of attitude by Mr. Asquith and the Spectator says that to all intents and purposes the liberal government must now be said to be pledged to the extension of the suffrage to woman—certainly the most momentous event that has ever taken place in the world of politics in the present generation, possibly the most momentous in the whole of our political history.

A Montreal paper commenting on the situation says that it is not anticipated that the measure will become law, for the lords are expected to reject the entire bill, or at any rate mutilate it so badly that the government will drop it. But the fact that the government accepts a woman suffrage clause in its bill must make votes for women a plank in the liberal party platform at the next general elections.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The exchanges to date received here containing references to the provincial elections have two distinctive notes, the conservative papers laying stress upon the results likely to come from the recent contests in the coming dominion elections and the liberal papers protesting vehemently that under no circumstances can the elections in Ontario and Quebec have the slightest effect on the dominion issue. The latter, however, protests a little too much on this line and if they were not well aware that the facts do not support their protestations they would have contented themselves with generalities. The Vancouver Province says that the Quebec returns will be a blow to the confidence of the federal ministry and the increase of Mr. Whitney's strength in the Ontario legislature gives a gloomy outlook for the dominion government in its forthcoming contest in that province, while the News-Advertiser thinks the conservative tide seems to be running steadily. "Perhaps," says this paper, "at the dominion elections we shall have to report that the high water mark has been reached with considerable Laurier wreckage as the result .The tide that began to turn in New Brunswick, is clearly sweeping steadily westward." "The liberal party," says the Calgary Albertan, "was in a funk. Spoiled with a series of unprecedented successes, when reverses came, it simply laid down and died and has not yet revived."

The London "Canada" of May 30, discussing the emigration question says:

Much hostile criticism has been raised by the action of the Canadian government in deporting emigrants. The critics when they talk of Canada shutting the door on emigrants, are—to use Mr. Winston Churchill's famous phrase—"guilty of a terminological inexactitude." All Canada does is to exercise her right to say to the mother country, "Don't shoot your rubbish here." If a man is a bad citizen, a loafer, and has no trade at which he can work, Canada has no room for him. Can anyone blame her for that attitude? On the other hand she does need capable men and welcomes their arrival on her shores. Mr. W. J. Kennedy, of the Canadian department of immigration, recently made a statement to the effect that there are one hundred thousand homesteads awaiting occupation in western Canada. And this number is arrived at without taking into account the great areas of the unsurveyed portions of the west. The old country cannot have it both ways; she cannot make Canada a dumping ground for undesirables, and at the same time speak as she does sometimes, in a scornful manner of "colonials."

The Vancouver News-Advertiser has finally adopted the modern front page for its daily issue. Referring to the change, the coast paper says: "Our readers will notice a radical change in the appearance of the News-Advertiser's front page this morning, the advertisements which formerly appeared thereon being now conspicuous by their absence. This change has been necessitated by the keen demand for the news in a clear, concise and easily located form. The business man, ever expectant, largely preoccupied with his affairs and engaged in an ever strenuous and increasingly difficult battle with modern business conditions, wants to see the principal news items at a glance. The News-Advertiser has deferred to his requirements while not foregoing the interior pabulum required for the production of a high-class and widely circulating journal. This paper is sure that the change will be appreciated both by subscribers as well as advertisers. In regard to the latter the News-Advertiser wishes to express its high regard for their co-operation in facilitating the change above mentioned. From time to time new features will be introduced in the make-up of the paper which it is hoped will further tend to increase the popularity of Vancouver's senior journal."

PRINCE RUPERT NOTES.

Sale of Government Lots—Large Shipments of Freight.

(Special Correspondence)

PRINCE RUPERT, June 11—Harbor engineer Bacon of the G.T.P. with headquarters at Prince Rupert left by the Camosun on Sunday evening for Vancouver from whence he will proceed to Victoria where a conference will be held with the government on important matters relating to the townsite of Prince Rupert. At this conference C. D. Rand, the real estate man of Vancouver, will also be present. It is reported that Mr. Rand will be entrusted with the selling of the government's portion of the townsite of Prince Rupert, when the same is placed on the market in the fall. Most important news is expected as a result of this present conference at Victoria.

Word has today reached here from Jedway, Queen Charlotte islands, that Frank Fritz, a pioneer mining man of the Boundary district, has made some very valuable locations of high grade copper properties near Jedway, which are creating a sensation in that district. Mr. Fritz was sent out some weeks ago by a syndicate of business men of Grand Forks, who may now become wealthy as a result of his efforts.

A. D. McPhee, a prominent mining man of the Boundary district and formerly superintendent of the McKinley mine in Franklin camp, accompanied by Walter Ross of Grand Forks, were passengers on the Venture yesterday. They are bound for the Findlay river placer mines and will also take in the Bulkley valley, where they will locate a large tract of land for themselves. They are going in by way of Bella Coola and are taking provisions for three months.

From the very latest advices received at Prince Rupert it is altogether likely that the government portion of Prince Rupert townsite will be put on the market at Prince Rupert either by private sale or by auction. C. D. Rand, the real estate man of Vancouver is reported to be strongly in favor of selling the lots by private sale and at reasonable figures as he considers that should the lots be auctioned off exorbitant prices would be paid, and the lots would likely fall into the hands of speculators instead of parties who would endeavor to make a city. Already the conservative association of Prince Rupert has gone on record in this matter for at a meeting held here of that newly organized body a couple of days ago, the following resolution was passed: "Resolved that we as supporters of the conservative party, wish to be placed on record as unanimously favoring the selling of the province's share of the lots in Prince Rupert townsite at public auction at Prince Rupert.

To show the enormous amount of freight arriving at Prince Rupert these days, Foley, Welsh & Stewart this week received no less than 400 tons of freight consisting of provisions and railway materials. This heavy cargo was brough by the Henrietta.

At the intersection of Rupert Road and Center street a gang of laborers are now employed clearing ground. It is intended to make a city lawn at this particular spot.

Today Prince Rupert is probably the only town on the map where no title can be had for real estate and where still properties are changing hands for good considerations.

At Knoxville one of the suburbs of Prince Rupert, street improvements are already in progress. A sidewalk has already been laid from the Dominion to the Grandview hotel, and other improvements are now contemplated.

A DISQUALIFIED MINISTER.

Sir Frederick Borden's Record on New Brunswick Cold Storage Deal.

(Toronto News)

"No person, directly or indirectly, alone or with any other, by himself or by the interposition of any trustee or third party, holding or enjoying, undertaking or executing any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, with or for the government of Canada on behalf of the crown, or with or for any of the officers of the government of Canada, or which any public money of Canada is to be paid, shall be eligible as a member of the house of commons, or shall sit or vote in the said house."

The New Brunswick Cold Storage Co. agreed with the Federal government to erect a cold storage warehouse in St. John on condition that the government should pay to the promoters 30 per cent of the cost of construction and equipment. The promoters therefore held, enjoyed, undertook and executed an agreement with the government of Canada for which public money was to be paid. Sir Frederick Borden, member of parliament and a minister of the crown, was one of the promoters of the enterprise and through his influence the agreement with the government was made.

Sir Frederick Borden, therefore, according to section 141 of the senate and house of commons act, Rev. Stat., 1896, touching the independence of parliament, is not eligible as a member of the house of commons and has no right to sit or vote in the said house. This section does not stipulate that the promoter shall or shall not hold stock in the company that benefits by such an agreement with the crown. It does not provide that he shall or shall not get any personal pecuniary gain because of the agreement. Sir Frederick's defence of himself, therefore, is not to the point. He secured the subsidy for a private company which he assisted to organize, therefore he is disqualified and his seat should be declared vacant by the speaker of the house of commons.

IS ACQUITTED.

Hitchcock Wins in One Case—Other Charges to Be Heard.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Raymond Hitchcock, who early today was acquitted on one of four indictments growing out of the charges made against him by several young girls, was released from the tombs prison today. The bond of $7,000 was furnished by Martin Engle, who had given bail for the actor previous to the beginning of his trial.

Hitchcock had been in the tombs since his trial began nearly a week ago. No definite decision as to what course will be taken with reference to the indictments still pending has been reached. Six indictments originally were filed against Mr. Hitchcock, all based on complaints of Helen von Hagan, Elsie Voecks and Florence Whiston. Three of these indictments charged attempted assault and abduction of Helen von Hagan and were incorporated in the case in which Hitchcock was acquitted last night. One other indictment was dismissed in the first trial.. Indictments on similar charges made by the girls are pending against him.

When Hitchcock reached the tombs prison after his acquittal he was the centre of a remarkable demonstration. The hundreds of prisoners who were aware that the jury in his case was out had remained awake all night to hear the verdict. When the actor announced that he had been acquitted, a small cheer started in the cells nearest to the entrance, which grew in volume when its import became known to those locked in the cells and the building rang with the din. As Hitchcock went to his cell the shouts continued and every prisoner as he passed by reached his hand through the bars to shake his hand.

Jack O'Brien Won.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Jack O'Brien last night defeated Jack Blackburn, colored, in a six round bout before the National Athletic club. O'Brien knocked Blackburn down in the opening round and in the final round had the colored man hanging on to avert punishment. The bout was one of the fastest ever seen in this city.

PROBLEMS OF EMPIRE

REAL MEANING OF THE WIDER PATRIOTISM.

CONCLUSION OF LORD MILNER'S SPECIAL ARTICLE.

A week ago The Daily News published the first instalment of an article on the Problems of Empire, dealing with the meaning of Wider Patriotism, and contributed by lord Milner to the Standard of Empire, the new London publication. Appended will be found lord Milner's concluding article taken from the same publication.

We have seen how, in several respects the record of the last few years has been a record of disaster, so far as the prospects of imperial union are concerned. But there are some bright pages in the book. One incident of much promise, which has received less notice than it deserves, is the arrangement arrived at between Great Britain and Canada with regard to the immigration of British Indians to the dominion. It is not the terms of the compact so much as the spirit in which it was concluded—indeed, the fact that it was concluded at all—which is an event of so much importance. The action of Canada in the matter was an affirmation and a very practical affirmtion, of the view that the difficulties of the mother country with regard to her Indian subjects are not aa matter of indifference to any member of the imperial family. The well-being of our Indian subjects and their belief in the desire and the ability of the British government to see them fairly treated, is a great imperial interest. It is not only of importance to the United Kingdom and India, it is of importance to the whole empire, regarded as one body politic. That Canada should, without any sacrifice of her own independence, have sought to co-operate with the mother country in a matter so deeply affecting the feelings of her Indian subjects, is a welcome proof of Canada's interest in the welfare of the empire as a whole. No doubt we are very far, as yet, from what in the long run is essential, namely the co-operation of all self-governing states in sustaining the burden of the dependent empire, the "white man's burden," which at present rests almost wholly upon the shoulders of the mother country. But it is something that the existence of that burden, and the capacity to carry it should be recognized, even in a rudimentary way, to be a matter concerning the colonies as well as the United Empire.

Another movement which is all in the right direction, is the rapid growth in Australia of the desire for a complete system of national defense. In some quarters the present intention and ultimate effect of this change have been much misunderstood, and even, unwisely, deplored. There are those who are still so much possessed by the antiquated idea of imperialism that they would rely for strengthening the defence of the empire as a whole upon contributions from the colonies to the maintenance of the British army and navy. And certainly from the professional point of view, there is much weight in the argument, that even a small addition to the existing forces which are under central control, is of more value for purposes of war, than the creation of much larger separate forces, independently organized. But from the broader political standpoint, from that of wider patriotism, this is a short sighted theory. Contributions from the colonies to the British army and navy, which could never be very considerable were appropriate to the system which is passing away, the system of a metropolis with dependent colonies. They are inconsistent with the conception of the empire as a union of independent ad self-reliant states. What is needed from that point of view, alike in the younger nations and in the old country itself, is the recognition of the duty of all citizens to take part in the national defence. We need fresh centers of defensive strength. We need to multiply the reservoirs of trained manhood available for the protection of our common interests. At present in every emigrant who leaves the shores of this country for one of the British dominions, the empire loses a potential defender. But let once the principle which has been proclaimed and which we hope will be adopted, in Australia, gain the day, and the manhood of every white community under the British flag will become a substantial asset, not only for the protection of that community, but, with the growth of the wider patriotism, for the protection of the whole empire. No doubt it may be said that the dependence of the colonies upon the mother country for protection is a bond, which keeps them within the empire. But it is a bond of weakness, not of strength. If the maintenance of the empire involves the atrophy of its component parts, we are building our house upon the sand. It is essential to the spirit of the new imperialism that it should welcome and encourage the growth of the defensive forces of the colonies and rely upon the vitality of the wider partiotism to bring them into line in time for mutual protection.

That idea of combining the fighting forces of different parts of the empire in support of a common cause is no idle dream was clearly proved in the course of the South African war. When one remembers how substantial was the assistance then given by the younger nations, backward as they are in military organization, without previous counsel or arrangement with the mother country or with one another, it becomes possible to realize how enormous the power of the empire will be when these younger nations have grown to their full proportions and when, if ever, the whole is controlled and directed by a single will. That, no doubt, implies a common council, representing all the self governing states, as units equal in rank however different in size, and something like a common executive to give effect to their collective resolutions. But such a consummation, as it seems to me, is what the wider patriotism, should it possess the vitality which I believe it to possess, is bound to bring about in time. The new national spirit will need to find practical expression in new institutions, common to all the states of the empire, and not peculiar like the present so-called "imperial" parliament, to the United Kingdom alone. Poor Mr. justice Longley, whose recent speech at the New York Canadian club has got him into so much hot water, seems to me, in intention at any rate, to have been perfectly right. He did not, as far as one can make out, by any means advocate the separation of Canada from the United Kingdom. On the contrary, his idea seems to be that of a permanent and indissoluble union—only a union of equals, not the dependence of a "colony" upon a parent state. But the permanent and indissoluble alliance of several equal state units means in effect the creation of a new and larger state. This would be the case even if the combining units were originally quite independent of and strange to one another, and a new national spirit had to be called into existence. But here there is already a secular connection between them, and the national spirit, though capable of greater growth, already exists.

There are many people who seem to be frightened to speak of a real imperial authority for dealing with the common interests of the empire, although all must recognize the desirability of disentangling those interests from local controversies and conflicts. In my opinion it is possible to be too timid in this matter. We ought to have a clear idea what it is that we really mean. If the empire is to hold together a common authority of some sort is, in the long run, a necessity. Those who are afraid of the idea—always assuming that they care about imperial unity at all—are so afraid because they think it conflicts or appears to conflict, with the independence of the several states in their local concerns. And that might, perhaps, be a real danger, if there was any thought or indeed any possibility, of creating an imperial constitution by a stroke of the pen. As a matter of fact, progress in this direction of closer union, even if, contrary to all present appearances it is destined to be rapid, will be on very different lines. We shall not begin with the creation of machinery. Rather will the habit and practice of consulting and working together gradually compel us to set up the organization necessary to make our common purposes effective. The process of setting it up may very likely be gradual and piece meal. What is needed is the disposition to make common cause, wherever possible, to develop every possible form of co-operation for common purposes, to recognize in all our mutual dealings the essential difference between states of the empire and foreign states. It is the spirit of indiscriminate cosmopolitanism which is the real danger to imperial union. The greatest risk we run is that in pursuing the phantom of the "parliament of man, the federation of the world," we may miss the attainable goal of a federation of "all the Britains." In the foregoing remarks I have not sought to conceal the difficulties which stand in the way of imperial union. They can never be overcome without a strong, wide-spread, popular movement and desire for a larger national life. It is my belief that deep down in the hearts of men throughout the scattered communities of the British race, such a longing exists. It is not confined to a cultured few. It is an instinct of the common people. Often only half conscious and wholly unformulated, the longing for national unity is yet one of these primary sentiments, which are the springs of human action; and which, however unaccountable to philosophers, can be appealed to by those who know the secret with irresistible force. Politicians absorbed in their local party conflicts, may underestimate or ignore it. In normal times they may succeed in stifling it, but an accident may at any moment cause it to break into sudden activity, to their surprise and discomfiture. And, perhaps, after all, the strength of this primary sentiment in our time may have the best philosophical justification. May it not be a form of the instinct of self preservation—the law of life? The evolution of humanity seems to follow the lines of a constant struggle, not necessarily an armed struggle, between competing nations. The last century has seen the rapid growth of more than one nation, which threatens to displace the British people from its former place in the world. May it not be that, in face of the growing danger, the instinct of the race, wiser than all the calculations of statemen, is silently making for that closing of the ranks, which is the secret of salvation?

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and has been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Conditions of the Contest

For THE DAILY NEWS Trip to the Dominion Fair at Calgary

.·. June 29th to July 9th, 1908 .·.

Every candidate must be nominated by blank printed in any issue of The Daily News. There are no restrictions as to the number of candidates in each district. The more the merrier, married or single. Only ladies over eighteen years of age are eligible. Nominations may be signed by parents or friends. This is insisted upon so that The Daily News can trace up each nomination.

The districts are simply given to divide the country into sections. Votes can be sent in from any district for a candidate in another district but no candidate will be permitted to transfer votes to another contestant after the entries are made at The Daily News office. The right is reserved to withdraw the offer from any district where only one candidate is nominated or voted for. For this reason: The Daily News has decided to have no time limit on the nominations. Of course, it is advisable to nominate a candidate early, so that her friends can start collecting ballots for her and help her in the campaign.

A coupon will be printed each day in The Daily News good for one vote.

There will be special ballots issued to subscribers who pay in advance. The subscriber can retain the ballot until the time limit marked thereon and turn it over to his or her favorite in the race. Either the candidate or the subscriber must turn the ballot into the circulation department of The Daily News before the expiration of the time limit, otherwise the ballot will not count. This is done to avoid extra clerical work in the last week of the campaign. These special ballots cannot be replaced if lost. The best plan is to immediately turn them over to The Daily News when the subscription is paid, writing on the ballot the name of the candidate to be favored. Candidates themselves will probably solicit subscriptions and make collections in advance. This may be done for either old or new subscribers, who will receive official receipts when the money is turned over to The Daily News. Rural subscribers and candidates are requested to make remittances by postal note or money order.

Subscribers to The Daily News will receive the paper by carrier where this system is established and by mail where there is no carrier service.

Special Ballots for Paid Up Subscriptions Will Be Credited as Follows:

NELSON—BY CARRIER.			ALL CANADA—BY MAIL.
1 month,	$ .50	50 votes	1 month,	$ .50	50 votes
3 months,	1.50	200 votes	3 months,	1.25	150 votes
6 months,	3.00	500 votes	6 months,	2.50	400 votes
1 year,	6.00	1200 votes	1 year,	5.00	1000 votes
2 years,	12.00	3000 votes	2 years,	10.00	2500 votes

It should be understood that any reader may renew his or her subscription and turn the ballot, corresponding to the amount paid over to any candidate in the contest. It matters not whether the paid up subscriptions are for old or new subscribers.

To make the contest fair and above board, no nomination will be accepted of any member of The Daily News staff. The Daily News reserves the right to reject any nominations.

Subject to the approval of The Daily News, any successful candidate has the right to name a substitute, if she is, through illness or any other valid reason, unable to go on the trip herself. Such substitute must be named on the day following the close of the vote.

The Daily News desires to be perfectly fair in this contest, and all candidates accepting nomination must agree to abide by the terms herewith set forth.

The contest will close at 9 o'clock Friday, June 26, and ballots will be received up to Saturday noon, June 27, and from outside points till 12 p. m., June 29.

Just fill in the attached nomination blank with your favorite's name, have her sign it, and send or deliver to The Daily News, where temporary receipts and special ballots will be supplied.

SERIOUS CHARGE IS MADE

G. S. COLEMAN ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTED MURDER.

HENRY SANN UNDERGOES OPERATION AT THE HOSPITAL.

Yesterday afternoon George S. Coleman, proprietor of the Waldorf hotel at Ymir, was charged before stipendiary magistrate W. H. Bullock-Webster with the attempted murder of Henry Sann of this city at Ymir on June 10. Chief constable Devitt prosecuted for the crown, while W. A. Macdonald, K.C., appeared on behalf of the prisoner, George Coleman. Only the evidence of the police officer in immediate charge of the case, constable Fraser of Ymir, was taken. The constable proved the arrest, arriving at the scene shortly after the shooting occurred. He was cross-examined at some length by W. A. Macdonald.

Henry Sann, who appeared to be seriously hurt, was present and would have given his evidence but for the testimony of the first witness, constablue Fraser, taking so much time and the need of his own presence at the hospital where he had to undergo an operation for the extraction of a bullet which had lodged in his mouth. The case was therefore remanded for eight days, the court refusing bail.

Mr. Sann was afterwards taken down to the hospital and underwent an operation in charge of Drs. Rose and Hartin. It was found that the jaw was badly shattered and that the bullet had deflected into the neck lodging in a critical position near the carotid artery. The doctors did not attempt to remove it and are awaiting further developments. In the meantime Sann is resting easily. Should there be any bad results, which at the present time do not seem likely, a graver charge may have to be preferred against Coleman.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE.

Car Blown Up at Cleveland—No Arrests Made so far.

CLEVELAND, June 11—The police of Euclid Heights, the suburb in which a municipal traction company car was blown up by dynamite at an early hour this morning, are bending every effort to run down the miscreants who placed the explosives on the track.

Seven passengers were injured, none fatally, as a result of the explosion. The car was running slowly when the front wheels struck the explosive. The explosion that followed was heard for over a mile. Windows were shattered and seats twisted. The floor of the car was lifted upward, throwing the passengers in a panic stricken heap on the floor. The slow speed of the car saved it from going over the steep embankment along the road. The explosion lifted it clear to within a foot of the curb. The explosion tore off the flanges of the wheels and the motor fell between the rails. Two sticks of dynamite were found on the rails where they had been placed with the intention of blowing up the car.

The Lusitania sailed Sunday morning and is due here about midnight.

FRUIT IN SPOKANE.

Hood River Strawberries Now on the Market—Prices Quoted.

SPOKANE, June 11.—The car of Hood River strawberries which came in and which was distributed among five different commission houses found a ready market yesterday at $3.75 a crated. Yakima, Wenatchee, Milton, Peach and Walla Walla also contributed shipments, which brought from $2 to $3. The berries from Peach being of a softer variety than the Hood River stock, are selling for $1 less the crate.

It is expected that the cars of fruit which have been floodbound on the Northern Pacific will be in tomorrow. Meanwhile there is not a bunch of bananas to be had in the city. California cantaloups are in the market, selling at $2.50 a crate.

The first blackberries of the season were received from California yesterday by Shinn & Co. They are quoted at $2.50 a crate, in pint cups. Table cherries have begun to come in from Snake river and are selling at $1.75 in 24-cup crates.

Other receipts were rhubarb, beets, carrots and turnips from Walla Walla; from local sources, lettuce, green onions, radishes and turnips.

PICKETING IS LAWFUL

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION IN ONTARIO.

CASE AGAINST BRANTFORD MEN IS DOUBTFUL.

BRANTFORD, June 11.—The union moulders who are on strike at the Buck stove shops in this city, have established the right to do picket duty.

The strike opened in the latter part of April. The police, at the request of the firm, interfered with the picketing which was being done by the union men in the vicinity of the works where non-union men, who had taken the places of strikers, were quartered. The union men were summoned for "besetting" the works, and as a result one hundred of them were committed for trial, waiving a hearing before the police magistrate.

At the trial yesterday, before judge Hardy, at the June session of the county court, two sample cases were taken up, and the evidence showed that the men had maintained pickets in the vicinity of the works, but had not compelled any one to cease working. The crown contended that the case was difficult to prove, but argued that by their act in besetting the works the men showed motive or desire to interfere with the strikebreakers. The defence claimed that the picketing was only for the purpose of getting and giving information regarding the strike.

Judge Hardy held that the picketing was not illegal providing the men did not beset the works with a view of compelling others from abstaining from doing lawful work. There was no evidence of restraint, he said, nor of expulsion, and there were authorities to support this action. Accordingly he dismissed the two cases in question, and the remainder of the hundred cases were dropped. The strike is still on.

SHIRTS

The Colored Neglige Shirt is the popular shirt to-day.

A short time ago neglige shirts were worn only in summer.

Now the best dressed men wear them all the year round.

They find them much more comfortable, for daily use, than a stiff-bosomed shirt.

Not only are they more comfortable, but they wear longer, because they make fewer trips to the laundry.

It is no the use of a shirt that wears it out it's the laundry that does it

PRESS COMMENT.

What the Papers Are Saying of the Ontario-Quebec Elections.

The Province—The result of the general elections in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, held yesterday, will be a matter of much greater significance at Ottawa than at either Quebec or Toronto. The liberals had no hope whatever of winning in Ontario and in Quebec the Government was reasonably safe, although a reduction of its majority was looked for, and, as the event has proved properly so. But it will be a blow to the confidence of the federal ministry, that premier Gouin has suffered defeat in Montreal at the hands of Mr. Henri Bourossa, and the increase of Mr. Whitney's strength in the Ontario legislature, where the liberal representations appears to have been cut in two, creates a gloomy outlook for the Dominion government in its forthcoming contest in the province.

A remarkable feature of the returns in Ontario is the very large majorities by which, in the main, the conservative candidates have been elected. Some of the constituencies, noticably those in the west, which had been in the habit of sending liberal members to the assembly, have returned conservative nominees by 500 and 600 over their opponents, and such majorities as 1560 for Hendri in West Hamilton, 1500 for Adam Beck in London, 1000 for Hanna in West Lambton, and the same majority for Rheaume in North Essex, sufficiently attest the confidence reposed in the members of the cabinet. Taking into account the previous liberal complexion of so many ridings which have on this occasion sent supporters to the Whitney government, it will be admitted that the policy which has been pursued during its three years of office has been most vigorously endorsed by the country.

The News-Advertiser—The results of yesterday's general elections in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec are a further vindication of the policy in the Federal and Quebec oppositions, and in the administration at Toronto of the conservative party. Sufficient returns have been received to show that the tide that began to turn in New Brunswick is sweeping steadily westward. Almost of greater significance than the increase an almost overwhelming majority in Ontario is the condition of eight or nine seats to the credit of the opposition in Quebec. The conservative tide seems to be running steadily. Perhaps, at the Dominion elections we shall have to report that the high water mark has been reached with considerable Laurier wreckage as the result.

Calgary Albertan:—The result of the elections in the east were about as expected, only a bit more so. In Ontario the conservatives won in a marvellous manner, and in Quebec the government won in a somewhat similar way. The result in Ontario was not expected, but it is nevertheless unsatisfactory. The liberal party in Ontario was in a funk. Spoiled with a series of unprecedented success, when reverses came it simply laid down and died and has not revived. Until it does Mr. Whitney will roost supreme in the province of Ontario.

Vancouver World:—In Ontario the hopelessness of any attempt to defeat the government in the face of the gerrymander and of a power policy which Mr. Whitney tolerates rather than approves has increased the government following. It may be the rising tide, but at this distance it looks remarkably like carefully carved ridings going the way they were foreordained to go and New Ontario prostrating itself at the feet of the almoner of good constituencies.

No Need of Suffering From Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists and dealers.

HOW TO RAISE POULTRY

INCUBATION OF CHICKENS AND OTHER PROBLEMS.

PRESERVING EGGS BY PACKING IN LARD.

The artificial incubation of chickens has brought many problems in poultry raising to the surface. It is with a view to throwing light on the paths of difficulty in this connection that the members of the Ontario Agricultural college staff have been at work for some time in this intricate field of research. The results of the investigations, observations and experiments are published in bulletin 163, entitled "Incubation of Chickens," issued by the Ontario department of agriculture. The topics are: Hatching and Rearing Chickens, by W. R. Graham; Humidity in Relation to Incubation, by W. H. Day; Carbon Dioxide in Relation to Incubation, by C. C. Thorn, and Chemical Work in Incubation Problems, by R. Harcourt and H. L. Fulmer.

This bulletin will be sent free on request.

Sometimes hen houses will become pest ridden and the birds will become infested with vermin in spite of the most strenuous efforts to keep the buildings clean. In order always to be on the safe side, the hen house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected each spring. Lime whitewash is always good for giving the walls a coating, but that is not sufficient to destroy the vermin and their eggs that may be lodged here and there in the cracks and crevices of the building. There are several ways of disinfecting; there are different disinfectants that are effective for certain things.

In cleaning up a hen house it is not sufficient simply to kill the lice and mites, but their eggs must be destroyed as well, if it is expected to keep the flock in a thriving condition, for the eggs will hatch out as vigorous as young lice with the parents dead as though they were alive. There may also be disease germs. To be sure of thorough disinfection hydrocyanic acid gas may always be depended on to do the work. This gas is deadly poison to man or animal, and is penetrating. It will not only kill lice but also their eggs. It will penetrate the cracks and crevices of the building, and if the work is done thoroughly there need be no fear but that particular hen house will be free from insects and vermin until some fresh ones are introduced.

The method of fumigating with hydrocyanic gas is simple. The gas is formed by mixing potassium cyanide with sulphuric acid. As soon as the above two mentioned ingredients are brought together this gas is given off. It must be distinctly understood that it is a deadly poison, and the inhaling of only a comparatively small amount will cause death. This, however, adds to its effectiveness, as a disinfectant. Tell your druggist what you want it for, measure the size of the building, and he will give you the proper amounts of each ingredient. Commercial sulphuric acid will do as well as the chemically pure, and it costs less.

All the cracks in the building must be stopped as tightly as possible, windows closed down tight and all sacks or carpets thrown in front of the doors. Have the windows and doors so fastened that they can be opened from the outside, for it would be sure death to enter the building when it was full of gas to open the windows. If one knows what to do and how it is to be done, there need be no danger in this method.

An earthen jar is the best kind of utensil in which to make the gas. Set it near the middle of the room. It is filled nearly full of the diluted sulphuric acid. The druggist will know how much of the acid will be required, and it should be diluted enough to nearly fill the jar. In diluting the acid be sure to pour the acid into the water and not the water into the acid, as a great deal of heat will be generated the latter way, which would probably break the jar. Make the dilution gradually.

Now just above the jar have a hook or wire loop of some kind through which a string may be passed. One end of this string should pass out of the building through a small opening or crack, and on the other end, which hangs over the jar of sulphuric acid should be suspended the potassium cyanide wrapped up securely in a piece of paper. In this way the cyanide can be dropped into the sulphuric acid by a *person holding the string on the out*side of the building without a particle of danger.

The chickens can roost elsewhere one night, while their house is being fumigated. Start the gas going in the building in the evening and let it go all night. During the night some of the gas will escape from the building, but it will do no harm out of doors, and early in the morning the doors and windows can be thrown open. In the course of three or four hours the gas will all have passed out, and there will be no danger in going into the building.

The only thing to bear in mind in handling this gas is that it is extremely poisonous. As soon as the cyanide and sulphuric acid come in contact the gas commences to form, so be sure you are on the outside of the building when the string is lowered into the jar. The acid will eat the paper, and during the night the deadly work among the lice will be accomplished. The chickens may be dipped in a kerosene emulsion or other dip or washed in soft-soap sude. Whitewash the inside of the building, roosts, and nest boxes and everything, and the poultry will be free from lice until a fresh supply is introduced from outside sources.

A French journal contains a very instructive article on a new method of preserving eggs by packing in lard and shavings, which appears to possess the twofold merit of cheapness and simplicity. The basis of the article was the series of experiments by Dr. Campanini, a report of which appeared in the December bulletin issued by the Italian minister of agriculture.

Dr. Campanini, after reviewing the various known means of preserving eggs —by salt water, lime water, silicate of potash, vaseline and cold storage— described his experiments which showed better results than others.

His theory is that to preserve eggs some system must be adopted that will absolutely prevent the exchange between the air outside and that inside the egg—for it is this continual exchange that causes putrefaction.

Dr. Campanini selected perfectly fresh eggs and covered them with lard, so as to effectually stop all the pores. The shells were thus rendered impermeable, the exchange of air was prevented, and, the obstruction of the pores not permitting the evaporation of the water, there was no loss of weight. The whites and yellows of the eggs retained their color perfectly and the taste was not modified in the slightest degree. When properly coated with lard—not too thickly—the eggs are put in baskets or boxes upon a bed of tow or fine odorless shavings and are so arranged that there will be no point of contact between them—otherwise a mold will develop and putrefaction result. The packing room should be perfectly dry, the question of temperature not being important. By this process Dr. Campanini kept a quantity of eggs for a whole year—through a very hot summer and a very cold winter—and they were perfectly preserved. He said that 4 cents' worth of lard sufficed to coat 100 eggs, and that anyone could easily prepare that number of eggs in one hour's time.

WHAT'S DOING IN CANADA

THE DOMINION FROM THE ATLANTIC TO THE PACIFIC.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM YESTERDAY'S WIRES.

OTTAWA, June 11—The senate railway committee yesterday reported the Shuswap and Thompson rivers boom bill.

ROCKANVILLE, June 11 — Harry Johnson, a popular young man of this place, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor.

MONTREAL, June 11—At this morning's meeting of the Congregational union of Canada, Rev. Hugh Pedley of Emmanuel church, Montreal, was elected chairman for 1909.

MONTREAL, June 11—Robert Kyle, 29 years of age, of the grocery firm of Kyle and Stevenson, was drowned in the Laurentian baths last night. It is thought that Kyle was stunned by striking his head on the bottom while diving.

TORONTO, June 11—At the forthcoming convocation of Toronto university the honorary degree of LL.D., will be offered to French ambassador Jusserand at Washington and to sir Louis Jette, lieutenant governor of the province of Quebec.

TORONTO, June 11—At the ministerial session of the Toronto Methodist conference yesterday Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, contrasted the growth of the church in British Columbia and other western provinces, with the falling off in Quebec, where conditions, he said, were not at all desirable.

SELKIRK, June 11—The steamer Premier has just arrived bringing news of a drowning accident which occurred near Warren's landing on the 6th instant by which Murdoch Macdonald lost his life. He was out in a sail boat with two other men when the boat gave a lurch and Macdonald fell overboard and ws carried away by the swift current. Macdonald was a Scotchman and had only been two years in this country.

OTTAWA, June 11—In the senate last night senator Comeau of Nova Scotia offered a resolution declaring that in the opinion of the senate steps should be taken to provide an institution for the keeping of juvenile convicts separate from older convicts. Senator Scott promised *to bring the matter to the atten*tion of the minister of justice. Questions of this sort, he said, were under consideration by the government. The juvenile delinquents bill, now in the course of becoming law, was evidence of this. The bill to amend the Manitoba grain act was again considered in committee and reported.

*OTTAWA, June 11—At the continua*tion of the inquiry by the public accounts committee yesterday afternoon into the charge that Dr. Reid, M.P. for Grenville had his yachts repaired at the government yards at Prescott. Mr. Boyle, accountant of the yards, identified an account book which contained an alleged account of work done on Reid's yacht. The book is full of erasures, some entries in pencil and some in ink, and none of them were in anything like chronological order. Boyle admitted that as far as he knew no account had ever been sent to Dr. Reid for repairs, and with the exception of the account book referred to there was no entry anywhere showing that anything was due. The inquiry was adjourned until next week.

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 11—The Oddfellows' grand lodge of British Columbia in session here, has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: G.M., H. Fulton, Ladysmith; D.G.M., W. Law, Vancouver; G.W., E. L. Webber, Westminster; G.S., F. D. Davie, Victoria; G.T., W. H. Cullen; representative to the supreme lodge, C. S. Keith, New Westminster. The officers will be installed this evening after which the delegates will be banquetted by the local lodge.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical association is holding its annual meeting in this city today.

Dr. Tollington of Toronto, who is on the coast holding musical examinations in connection with Toronto university, gave an organ recital here last night.

The police of New Westminster have joined forces with the provincial police in the hunt for the murdered of Mrs. Morrison, who was done to death near the boundary line on Tuesday. The brutal murder has caused great indignation and large rewards are offered for the capture of the perpetrator of the crime.

POPULARITY CONTEST

MISS McGREGOR OBTAINED MOST VOTES YESTERDAY.

DETAILS OF THE COUNT UP TO LAST EVENING.

Miss McGregor made another gain yesterday upon Miss Gilchrist the latter, however, being still over 14,000 in the lead. Miss Coutts of Phoenix also sent in some votes. There is a big excursion leaving Spokane on July 2 for the Dominion fair at Calgary and other excursions are being made up from various parts of the country. Therefore the interest in this contest is quickening and the rivalry between the participants is growing very keen. The vote yesterday was Miss McGregor 1484; Miss Gilchrist, 774; Miss Coutts, 45.

The following is the total vote to date:

Nelson District.

73 acres 10 miles above Robson on the lake shore.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narcoossee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.— Ennis Bros. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and dealers.

OTTAWA, June 11.—At the resumption of the enquiry into the affairs of the Quebec bridge company yesterday afternoon, Graham Bell, one of the accountants of the department of railways and canals, said that of the $2,750,000 government guaranteed bonds issued by the company, $2,000,000 had been paid off by the Dominion government. The rest of the issue was now pledged to the bank of Montreal for the money advanced to the company.

"Has all this $6,780,000 gone into the building of the bridge", asked Mr. Monk.

"No" said the witness. Company only got about eighty cents on the dollar.

Hon. S. N. Parent, president of the company stated that the company had no floating debt to speak of. It might be indebted to the Phoenix bridge company or it might have a claim for damages. He did not believe the men killed in the collapse of the bridge had any claim against the company.

HAMILTON CRIMINALS.

Arrested for Attempted Fraud in Recent Elections.

HAMILTON, June 11—Wm. Lawson and Henry Dillabaugh, for whose arrest warrants have been out since Monday on a charge of tampering with the ballots at the recent elections, were arrested here this afternoon by a squad of detectives. They will appear in the police court.

The day before the elections Col. Hendrie, conservative candidate in West Hamilton, wrote returning officer Col. A. H. Moore, implicating two men in election frauds. The men implicated by Col. Hendrie were W. Lawson, a deputy returning offficer; Harry Dillabaugh, a poll clerk, and Wm. McLaughlin of ward 5. A. H. Moore says that he was informed by the police that Wm. McLaughlin, chairman of ward 5, had reported to him that Dillabaugh, one of the poll clerks, had shown him a package containing 50 ballots, and offered to sell to him for $100. McLaughlin made arrangements to meet Dillabaugh in the morning at 11 o'clock at a North James street store, pretending, as his story runs, that he wished to close the deal.

Col. Moore and detective Colter went to the pace of meeting, but Dillabaugh did not turn up. The colonel and detective then called at Dillabaugh's house. After some conversation Dillabaugh admitted to them that he had shown the 50 ballots to McLaughlin, his explanation being that in so doing he wished to "bluff the enemy." He insisted that he had no intention of selling the ballots, and pointed out that they would have been useless to anyone since they were cancelled by the deputy returning officer. The colonel and the detective then called upon Lawson, who admitted to them that he had given Dillabaugh a package of ballots. Asked for a reason, he said Dillabaugh has coaxed him for them, saying that he wished to have some fun with the grits. Col. Moore dismissed both officials and reported the occurrence to crown attorney Washington at once.
