Lord Northcliffe's Speech on Journalism

UPHOLDS HIGH CHARACTER

TO MAINTAIN THE TRADITIONS HELD FOR A HUNDRED AND TWENTY YEARS, TRADITIONS OF GREAT AIM AND BREADTH OF VIEW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—The following is an abstract of the speech delivered tonight by lord Northcliffe at the Pilgrim's dinner:

The obligation of Pilgrims is the promotion of the sentiment of brotherhood among nations and especially the cultivation of an unwritten friendship between the inhabitants of the United States and of the British empire. Those nations which have undergone a great many family tiffs in the last three hundred years, have, to the best of my knowledge, rarely been on so pleasant terms as at this time, and I doubt not that the work of the Pilgrims' society and the goodfellowship it has engaged have done much towards furthering the unity of the greatest republic of the world and that of the empire. There have been times when from the point of view of John Bull we should have felt a little happier, if instead of the Pilgrims landing on Plymouth rock, Plymouth rock had landed on the Pilgrims. There have been times also, on the occasion when the ladies of the United States fitted out a hospital ship for the help of our soldiers in the South African war, when we have realised that after all there is something in the statement that blood is thicker than water. I do not remember that any other people ever fitted out a hospital ship for us, though there was a good deal of talk of fitting out ships of another description.

Lord Northcliffe then remarked that he had not altogether obliterated the sea of future friction between the United States and Great Britain from his mind. He stated that he had selected his own individual Americans to play with adding that he had "combered weights with George Harvey and Arthur Brisbane." The speaker then referred in more serious vein to the journalistic profession and the work it was doing for the world's peace. He stated "Yet the world as seen through the newspapers is a rather strange place. When I come here, as I am happy to say that I do very often, I read pages of cablegrams and especially Sunday cablegrams from London and I see that England is chiefly peopled by suffragettes, fashion beauties whose antics are recorded and whose photographs taken often 25 years ago, with steady service very regularly. I wonder if it ever occurred to the gentlemen who send these Sunday cablegrams that there must be some other people over there to conduct the gigantic export trade of Great Britain, to manage her cotton mills, to maintain a mercantile fleet carrying seven tenths of the world's goods, her shipping yards and a navy that has been heard of at times?

On the other hand when I am at home, I see what an amazing fellow Uncle Sam is, apparently nature here is engaged in nothing but tornadoes, financiers are always in panics, the politicians are all engaged in grafting from the other, there is only one law and that the unwritten one. But when I come here all the Americans I meet are of an extremely normal type and I find a growth and prosperity unexampled in my personal observations. The cable unfortunately tells too little of the superb public spirit of the United States, of its straining after such ideals as are expressed by the metropolitan museum of arts, the new library, the museum of natural history, the Bronx zoological gardens, the finest in the world, and your splendidly equipped hospitals.

In Mr. Morgan, whose contributions to this city, excel those of the princely patron of mediaeval times, you have a public spirit personified. In the rush of modern journalism there is often not sufficient time for the consideration of anything excepting immediate and urgent news. But there are on both sides of the Atlantic, newspapers of more speed and greater space, which acquaint the people with other things than politics. And since your chairman has referred to my association with the London Times, I may mention that it is my highest ambition to maintain the traditions that newspaper has held for a hundred and twenty years, tradition of great aim and breadth of view with regard to literary science and artistic matters and the higher progress of nations, outside of England. No foreign newspaper maintains such a staff in this country as the Times does and that staff will be increased rather than decreased. In my humble judgment the more newspapers tell the better the people, the quicker be the national understanding. Because question therefore, a newspaper can serve an immense purpose, especially in times of crisis by remembering, 'that a drop of ink makes millions think' and that 'smartly written articles may do vast damage to foreign relations.'

THE COUNTRY PAYS.

QUEBEC, Nov. 6—At the marine department inquiry this morning F. X. Drolet, machinist, produced a list giving the names of members of the marine department staff who were paid gratuities by him from 1904 to 1907, with the amounts paid, amounting in all to about $10,000.

DISPELLED OVER NIGHT

THE CRISIS BETWEEN FRANCE AND GERMANY

ENTIRE MATTER IS REFERRED TO ARBITRATION

PARIS, Nov. 6—The crisis between France and Germany which arose over the arrest of the German deserters from the foreign legion of the French army by the French authorities at Casa Blanca has seemingly been dispelled over last night.

It is now apparent that Germany is ready to abandon her recent demand for the release of these men and that she excuses the action of the French soldiers who are alleged to have attacked an official of the German consulate at Casa Blanca. Both Herr Von Scoeten the German foreign secretary and prince von Radolin, the German ambassador in Paris have changed the tone of their utterances today and are now manifesting a conciliatory spirit and readiness to accept the proposal made by France, whereby, with mutual expressions of regret, the entire incident may be referred to arbitration. The German foreign office expects to receive in the course of the day a final decision from emperor William, who is at present in Austria. Now that the questions which imply censure upon the French soldiers are out of the way, the French foreign office is confident that the remaining divergencies can be easily adjusted. As a further evidence of her loyal attitude France has voluntarily transmitted to Germany the report on the occurrence made by the police of Casa Blanca. It is understood that Austria-Hungary and Italy advised Berlin to follow a course of prudence.

TEMPORARY GAOL.

Fernie Building in Shape—Telephone System Installed.

(Special to The Daily News)

FERNIE, Nov. 6—The cells in the temporary gaol are nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy in a few days. They have been constructed of cement, are greater in number than hitherto and solidly built, and will afford all the accommodation that is likely to be required for some time to come. The city is very orderly considering the large amount of money that is being put into circulation every week, and the number of transient visitors to the town, and very few serious offences appear on the police court calendar.

The by-law granting a franchise to the Kootenay Telephone Lines Co., Ltd, having been passed, the city will have a system installed in a few weeks. The company having already inaugurated the work. The lack of a system since the fire has been keenly felt by the business houses, and has been even more inconvenient than the absence of electric light.

HARD LUCK

White Woman Wants to Marry One-Eyed Chinaman.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 6—A white woman named Ada Sinclair also known as Della Walker, was to have been married last evening to Ah Wing, a Chinaman of Vancouver. Ah Wing has only one eye. He yesterday secured a marriage license but no clergyman could be found in this city to marry the pair. This morning the woman was in court on a charge of vagrancy but was allowed to leave the city. She left for Vancouver where the couple are endeavoring to arrange for a marriage ceremony this afternoon.

All Hope Gone.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6—All hope of rescuing four men buried in an explosion in a mine at Rend, Ill., was given up today by the officials of the W. P. Rand Co., after repeated efforts to descend into the mine had been made by relatives of miners throughout the night. The explosion was caused by a windy shot and possibly tons of coal rest on the bodies of the unfortunate victims. The company officials believe that a fire which is apparently burning beneath the surface, cannot be controlled without sealing the mine.

German Good Will.

VIENNA, Nov. 6—Emperor William of Germany arrived at the castle in Schoenbrunn, a suburb of Vienna this evening after a brief visit to emperor Francis Josef. The coming of the emperor is regarded as a demonstration of German good will towards the Austrian attitude on the near eastern question and the subjects turned out in large numbers to cheer his majesty.

COAST INDUS

Startling Conspiracy at New Westminster

MANUFACTURE OF BOMBS

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 6—That a conspiracy having for its object the manufacture of bombs and the supplying of them, together with arms, to the malcontents in Calcutta and other disaffected districts in India exists among the Hindus at Milliside, was the startling information today conveyed by a Sikh to a man in this city who formerly resided in India, who speaks Bengali and who has befriended numbers of these people since their arrival in British Columbia.

To what length this plot has already gone it is difficult to learn for the reason that the heads of the conspiracy are comparatively few in number and they closely guard the innermost secrets of their work.

In a general way, however, scores of the Hindus now living at Milliside are aware that the manufacture of bombs is proceeding at that place; they also have general knowledge that the money secured from them by "subscription" from time to time is ultimately converted into firearms with which the yoke of Great Britain is to be thrown off by India's millions.

One of the principals in the conspiracy is a Hindu working at the sawmills at Milliside but the chief plotter is a resident of Seattle.

PACIFIC TIME

People are reminded that Pacific time will prevail throughout the entire constituency of Kootenay so far as the opening and closing of the polls in the election next Thursday is concerned. This will apply in east Kootenay and means that the polls will open and close an hour earlier than local time there and also in Nelson, where C. P. R. time instead of city time, will prevail.

CALGARY IS BOOMING

MANY NEW MANUFACTURES ARE COMING IN

FIVE CANDIDATES IN FIELD FOR THE MAYORALTY

CALGARY, Nov. 6—The Kettle River Co., who have the contract of block pavement for Calgary's streets, today received notification from the customs officials that blocks could be brought in free of duty.

It is currently reported that the Standard Soap Works of Calgary and the Royal Crown Soap company have amalgamated, and a meeting of shareholders takes place Nov. 12.

The libel case between R. C. Edwards of the Eye Opener and D. McGillicudy of the Daily News, was again postponed until Tuesday next to allow E. P. Davis, K.C. of Vancouver to reach the city. Mr. Davis will conduct the defense of Mr. McGillicudy.

A large and experienced party of irrigation farmers arrived in the city this morning and are today being shown over the Canadian Pacific railway company's land in Dalroy district. The party left town this morning in two of the company's autos and are spending the day looking over the land. This party hails from North Dakota and Illinois. When interviewed this morning they expressed great surprise at the city of Calgary. They are well satisfied with local conditions and the marvellous grain yields have impressed them greatly. It is quite likely that most of them will take up land in this vicinity and move up here.

Two Philadelphia gentlemen, Messrs McGregor and Gregg, who are interested in a large brush manufacturing enterprise in that city, were here yesterday looking over the field with a view to settling here and starting a brush factory here. They were much impressed with the possibilities afforded here. On their return from the coast they will decide as to a locality, provided they do not decide to locate at Vancouver.

Clifford Jones last night withdrew his name from the mayoralty contest, leaving five other contestants in the race. The fight promises to be keen.

The C.P.R. has organized a cafe car service on their south branch from Calgary to Macleod on trains leaving in the afternoon.

The city council is considering the advisability of installing a motor driven fire fighting apparatus for the Calgary fire department.

No Tour Contemplated.

LONDON, Noc. 6—The idea of sending a British fleet on a tour around the world apparently never has advanced beyond the stage of suggestion. Alfred Deakin, the prime minister of Australia hinted at the advisability of such a manoeuvre after the departure of the American fleet from Australia, but the British admiralty appears to have discouraged carrying out of this proposal at any rate in the near future and today an official of the admiralty authorized the statement that no such voyage was contemplated.

MONDAY'S MEETING

On Monday the final rally in Nelson on behalf of A. S. Goodeve's candidature for Kootenay will be held in the Alice roller rink, commencing at 8:30 o'clock city time. The speakers for the occasion will be premier McBride, Mr. Goodeve, George H. Cowan, who carried Vancouver for a white British Columiba and better terms by a majority of over 1500, and G. H. Barnard, who, as the candidate of the same cause defeated Hon. William Templeman, minister of mines, in Victoria.

All four are exceptionally able speakers and all who attend will have an opportunity of hearing the issues of the present campaign discussed and put plainly before them.

Other meetings throughout the riding will be held as follows:

Creston, Tuesday Nov. 10.
Trail, Tuesday Nov. 10.
Cranbrook, Tuesday Nov. 10.
Rossland, Wednesday Nov. 11.

Meetings are being arranged for Fernie and Kaslo.

Mr. Goodeve will speak at the Trail and Rossland meetings. The other speakers have not yet been arranged.

SEVEN PERSONS BURNED

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN NORTHERN MANITOBA

WHOLE HOUSEHOLD SMOTHERED WHILE ASLEEP

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6—A terrible tragedy occurred at Swan river, a small village on the Canadian Northern railway, in the northern part of the province, in which seven people lost their lives. Mrs. Edward Carey, her five children, and a Miss Gillespie, a school teacher of Swan River, who was stopping over night with the Carey family. Mr. Carey was badly burned and cannot recover.

Early this morning Mr. Carey and his eldest son, Herbert, arose to do the chores. The boy went to the stable, while the father remained in the house to light the fire. On his return the boy noticed smoke issuing from the house and on opening the door, the father staggered out, his clothing all ablaze. The whole interior of the house was a mass of flames and shortly after the roof fell in. No sound was heard and it is thought the family was suffocated as they slept. Neighbors rushed to the scene and the work of getting out the bodies was begun. The whole seven were recovered but were burned beyond recognition.

It appears Mr. Carey started the fire with coal oil, which exploded, enveloping him with flames, his clothing being burned from his boy. The Carey family was one of the best known and highly respected in this part of the country. The tragedy has cast a gloom over the whole district.

NOT A UNION OFFICE

The following telegram was received by the Daily News yesterday from a reputable resident of Edmonton, who is in a position to know the facts as to whether or not the Edmonton Bulletin, owned by Hon. Frank Oliver and managed by Duncan Marshall, both of whom are now in Kootenay working for Smith Curtis, was or was not a union shop:

"Bulletin not union. Other job offices union."

BLACK HAND TRAGEDY

ITALIAN FROM FERNIE KILLED IN SPOKANE

DEEP MYSTERY SURROUNDS THE WHOLE AFFAIR

(Special to The Daily News.)

SPOKANE, Nov. 6—What is regarded by the police as an important development in the mysterious case of Ernest Santero, an Italian, who was fiendishly stabbed to death on Wednesday night about 7 o'clock on the Great Northern railroad tracks, occurred today when detective McDermott learned that Santero was one of the four Italians who broke jail at Fernie, B.C., where they were confined on suspicion of being Black Hand leaders.

Seven men, all Italians, were arrested at Fernie preceding the fire on suspicion of being agents of this dread organization and Santero was suspected of being an organizer for the society. After his escape no trace was found of Santero until McDermott established his identity. The discovery has strengthened the belief of the police that either the Black Hand or some equally dangerous society, is back of the diabolical killing of Santero. The theory has for the time being relegated to the background the suspicion that Santero was murdered by an unsuccessful rival in a love affair. Many Italians were consulted yesterday with a view to shedding light on the mystery but those supposed to know something of the workings of the Black Hand were unwilling to divulge anything, professing ignorance. The police say that many of the Italian colony are quaking with fear lest they be suspected by the Black Hand of communicating information to the officers which may lead to a solution of the mystery.

Santero is alleged to have been one of those Black Hand suspects who were charged with knowing something regarding the origin of the Fernie fire.

LAURIER IS BETTER

OTTAWA, Nov. 6—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has been confined to his home for several days, was at his office in the Eastern block this morning. Although not entirely recovered from his indisposition, the premier feels well enough to resume his official duties.

IN WORLD OF FINANCE

BANKER MORSE IS SENTENCED TO FIFTEEN YEARS

CURTIS GRANTED CLEMENCY BY THE COUNT

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Charles W. Morse, whose sensational rise and fall in the world of finance dazzled the nation, was sentenced today to serve 15 years in prison for misappropriation of the funds of the National Bank of North America, of which he was a director and controlling owner. Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the bank, who had been jointly indicted with Morse and with him found guilty by a jury in the federal court yesterday, was granted the clemency recommended by the jury. In his case sentence was suspended.

A stay of ten days in the execution of Morse's sentence was granted upon application of counsel and it is expected that an appeal from both the conviction and sentence will be taken immediately. Pending appeal, Morse was paroled in the custody of United States marshal Henkel.

The scene in the court room when the sentence was pronounced by judge Hough was a most dramatic one. The wives of the two prisoners, who had been in constant attendance in court during the entire trial, were present early today as if anxious to cheer their husbands by their presence in the trying ordeal which confronted them. When the real test came, however, it was the husbands, and not the wives, who proved the comforters.

Morse sat like a stoic when he heard the words which condemned him to prison. There was scarcely the tremor of an eyelid and to those who watched there was no longer even the shadow of a doubt that the "little man" was indeed a man of iron nerve. Curtis, too, accepted the news which came to him—good news in his case—with the same lack of emotion that characterized his former chief. But the strain had been too much for the women. As the truth of what judge Hough's words meant flashed through their minds, Mrs. Morse, who through all the trying days of the trial had preserved an unruffled demeanor, collapsed in her seat, buried her face in her hands and began to sob convulsively. Nor was Mrs. Curtis any more prepared for the nervous strain than Mrs. Morse. Mrs. Curtis was within the rail gazing intently at judge Hough as he began to speak. She had been ill and several times during the trial had been forced to leave her place in the court room. Today her face was drawn and white, telling of a night of mingled hope, while her husband remained away from her, a prisoner.

Later, adjusting the clemency for Curtis, judge Hough pronounced sentence upon Morse.

"In the case of Morse there is not much to be said," said judge Hough. "As in all bank fraud cases, the criminal legality is only part of a large gratt scheme; in this case it was to use the bank's and depositors' money for speculation purposes. If such a scheme were permitted to be carried out the public would be at the mercy of a band of adventurers. I therefore sentence you to 15 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

There had been a murmur of appeal and a faint attempt at applause when sentence upon Curtis was suspended by the court, but it was supressed by the attendants. When the fate of Morse was pronounced the court room was as quiet as a church and the first sound to break in on the quietness was the choking sobs of the prisoner's wife and the hurried shuffle of feet as she was hurried to an ante-room. Morse followed her in charge of marshal Henkel, in whose charge he had been paroled after the court had granted a stay of ten days in execution of the sentence. Morse was taken to the Tombs prison at 1 o'clock this afternoon. At that time it was announced that no application for his release on bail would be made today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—A writ of error in the case of Charles W. Morse was obtained from judge Lacombe this afternoon. It was then expected Morse would be released on bail. The writ of error in this case is returnable on Dec. 3.

LATER RETURNS

Contested Elections—Possible Changes By Official Count.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—With the later returns from the congressional districts throughout the country there are indications of a number of contests. In many of the districts the vote between the republicans and democrats have been close, involving possible changes as the result of official counts.

So far the returns in from all districts show that the republicans have a working majority of 41 in the next national house of representatives, the figures standing: Republicans, 216; democrats, 175, compared with the present membership of 223 republicans and 166 democrats and two vacancies.

All the southern districts have been heard from, although ordinarily among the last to be cleared up. A most remarkable upset in the congressional situation since reconstruction days has occurred in North Carolina where with a democratic majority of approximately 40,000, three out of the ten members of congress sent to Washington will be republicans. These republican successes in North Carolina, are attributed by North Carolina voters to a great change in sentiment with a leaning towards the republican doctrine of protective tariff.

ESTEVAN, Sask., Nov. 6—Charles Ralor, a mine driver in the Eureka coal and brick coal mine was killed tonight. He failed to block his car on the down grade and it jumped the track. He was jammed between the car and wall, and was badly crushed.

KING EDWARD

Old Crimean Veterans Are Delighted

INKERMAN IS REMEMBERED

HIS MAJESTY CABLES A KINDLY MESSAGE TO VICTORIA MEN—TWO FAST STEAMERS WILL BE BUILT IN SPRING FOR G. T. P. ROUTE.

VICTORIA, Nov. 6—King Edward has delighted a group of half a dozen veterans of the British Campaigners' Association, formed of men who have seen service under the British flag, by sending a personal cablegram in reply to one sent last night to the king. The veterans who fifty years ago took part in the battles of Inkerman, Alma, Balaclava and Sebastapol, at the dinner to celebrate the anniversary of Inkerman sent a cablegram reading "Crimea veterans assembled to celebrate Inkerman anniversay send loyal greetings."

Today king Edward replied "King Edward sends his sincere thanks to the Crimean veterans of the British Campaigners' Association for their message of loyalty which his majesty greatly appreciates."

The first passenger steamers of the style of the steamer Princess May will be built in the spring for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company, according to word received by officials of the company at Prince Rupert. Arrivals by the steamer Princess May this afternoon state that the plans for the two steamers which will be used as feeders for the Grand Trunk Pacific railway will be prepared at once and the two steamers will probably be ready by the spring of 1910.

The contract for another 150 miles of the railway, the section from Kitsales canyon of the Skeena river to Aldermere, is to be given shortly. It is intended next summer to operate river steamers above and below the canyon and passengers and freight will be transferred by a tramway.

At Prince Rupert it is stated arrangements are being made to lay out streets and $200,000 is expected to be expended on this work, which will furnish employment to a large number.

The steamer Princess May returned from Skagway this afternoon with 12 saloon, 8 second and 9 third class passengers after the worst trip experienced by her. There wer ten inches of snow on the decks and the funnel, masts, stays, etc., were coated thick with ice while icy spume and spray swept over her when she entered Lynn canal.

The steam whaler Tyree was sighted by the steamer Princess May near Ketchikan, south bound to Seattle, after finishing her season's work at Admiralty Island.

POLICE SHAKE UP.

New York's "Finest" Get Into All Sorts of Trouble.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—A "shake up" such as the police here have no experience in years took place today. Four inspectors were reduced in rank, two captains, three captains were reduced to lieutenants, four inspectors were transferred, five captains were shifted to outlying districts, two lieutenants were promoted to captaincies and ten sergeants were made lieutenants. While police commissioner Bingham had no comment to make on the drastic step he had taken, it was generally understood at police headquarters that the gambling situation has recently renewed his activity to stamp out the gambling house of the tenderloin and other movements of similar nature have been investigated. The shake up came as a surprise to the police force.

FAIR WAGE SCALE.

Manitoba Court Declares it is Illegal Any Wages Allowed.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—The high court of Manitoba today decided that the fair wage scale enforced by the city of Winnipeg is illegal, holding that when a contract is awarded that the contractor may make his own terms with the workmen, regardless of fair wage scale.

The case rose out of action brought by Kelly Bros., contractors for the Redwood bridge to compel the city to pay over certain monies held back until such time as agreed to pay their workmen the scale of wages adopted by the city council.

Sifton's Majority.

BRANDON, Nov. 6—The returning officer today made his official declaration in the Brandon election. The result is Clifford Sifton 3565, Hon. T. M. Daly 3496, R. D. Wallace 101. Spoiled ballots 47, rejected ballots 26. Sifton was declared elected by a majority of sixty-nine.

Austrian Cabinet.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

By Catharine Mann-Payzant.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—All the new shades are of the softest tones, and the idea is not contrast, but costumes and hats of one tone in its different tints. A solid color is almost as much avoided as the contrast.

Some of the new colors are known as orchid, wistharia, amethyst, Geraniums, pink, mulbery, salmon, mole grey, smoke, Nazimova, peacock and canard blues, Cepenhagen, gobelin, jacinte, lanagea green, grey blue and ashes of roses. One of the very newest tints is "Plinsener," a new color which is seen in some of the very latest importations. It is a pale, yet warm looking yellow, hardly deeper than cream.

These colors are found to best advantage among those fabrics intended for the Directoire modes, which includes silks, satin royal, satin Francaise, satin messaline, satin peau de sygne, and the satin meteor crepe. In wool fabrics there are the chiffon broadcloths, costume suitings, diagonal serges, serges with rich cashmere borders, shadons-pattern prunellas, cheviots serges and face cloths.

Special favor is being accorded to the lustrous prunellas which are now manufactured as spot proof, and found in all the leading shades.

The Directoire cut is by all means the most fashinoable for the street costume and a very smart mode it is, with a smart waist coat of Perisan colorings or chintz, with cording of black and white velvet, full-length sleeves, seams outlined with satin, finished with satin bullons and turned back braided cuffs.

There is a radical change in collars, most of them are close-fitting, others in the Robespierre effect; pockets are lower and larger, and a number on the Colonial shape.

Shoulders are cut narrower, and the coats fall in perfectly straignt lines, giving the hipless figure. The sleeves are close-fitting, the skirts gored, some with smart panels, others are mounted on the high-fitted girdles. The skirts fall in graceful clinging lines.

The most fashionable trimming for this season for tailored suits is of Ottoman silk on collar, cuffs and reverse; also cording which forms ornaments is much used. Other models are elaborately trimmed with satin.

A model, by Callot, exhibited last week, is worthy of description. It was an afternoon gown of broadcloth in a new, soft shade of blue. The skirt was a modified sheath mode, with a wedge opening in the very centre front which reached to the shoe tops. The bottom of the skirt was bound with Ottoman silk and a bit of the silk was placed beneath the opening and covered with a tiny frill of black lace. The skirt while narrow was graced in a graceful manner being caught into the back seam in sweeping folds. From the waist to the hem in the back is a perfectly straight panel, detached from the rest of the skirt, which forms the train. On the bodice there was a yoke of ecru crochet lace bordered with a band of floss stitching in tan and red on the cloth set at intervals with blue buttons. The collar was of black net and the sleeves of double blue net and set very far back in square armholes.

Satin is used a very great deal, but it is the pliable liberty satin in most cases, not the thick, stiff kind that once held sway.

Laces are used but they must harmonize with the color scheme. They may be black, as the old Directoire costumes were frequently in all black, and this custom is retained in the revival, or they may be dyed to match the gowns. Seldom is cream or a contrasting color used. The chiffons and all the accessories are black or dyed to match the costume.

One of the most attractive new stocks which combines a sort of yoke frames the lace like flour petals. It is made of fine wash bobbinet and Valenciennes. There are two full plaited frills, they are plaited together and edged with Valenciennes. This lies close about the face and a deep double frill like it falls over the yoke and shoulders and a ribbon to hide behind. This style is not a good one for a short neck.

For a jabot or washable net, cut in a strip, twenty-two inches long and wide enough to cover the chest after it has been plaited up very fine, this is laid on both sides of a tiny insertion, fastened to the stock in the middle and behind with a long bar pin, or large brooch. A narrow satin ribbon may be passed under the scarf and brought around the neck and tied with a smart bow in the back.

It is astonishing how the designers have modified all the extremes of fashion to American needs and tastes. The princess gown is nothing like the gown once seen, the empire has been changed so it is practical for street as well as house.

A costume in brown was recently made in a street Empire style. The Empire line above the waistline was accentuated by bands of taffeta. The gown fell in considerable fullness below the shaped waistline; it had a slight sweep all about, but could have been shorter if desired. There was turnover collar at the neck which was low, to be worn over a lace stock.

The Empire gown is the correct mode for evening wear; and the plain one-piece dress is the dress for ordinary day wear. With them will be worn all sorts of odd wraps and cloaks.

It is a fad just now to have a coat or cloak for each gown. The gown is often made at home and the coat at the tailor's.

The Directoire girdle of satin taffeta or faclile ribbon, is in keeping with the rest of the graceful flowing lines of the season's styles.

Closely-fitting underwear is a necessity of the season's Directoire styles, and a complete revolution is shown in all patterns.

Long sleeves have been decreed for all the newest waists. Many have pointel cuffs and the whole sleeve and yoke, especially of waits and guimpes to be worn under a one-piece costume and entirely of bands of insertion and embroidered muslins with many frills of Valenciennes lace.

Many of the severely tailor-made models have the sleeves set in as plainly as a man's coat ,without any fullness at the armhole. The armhole is really large und unusually concealed by flat braid.

OUTLAWRY IN TONQUIN

BRIGANDS INFEST BOTH LAND AND WATER

OPENLY DEFY FORCES OF THE GOVERNMENT

The outlaws in Tonkins whome the French called pirates are, are properly speaking, brigands, who infest the country both on land and water.

One of their resorts is the province of Bac-hinh, where they have just murdered a French officer. There the brigands openly and successfully defy the forces of the government. Long impunity in that country has made them numerous and formidable, says the South China News. This need arose no wonder, considering that the troops in the field consist of native soldiers whose lives are too precious to be risked in frontal attacks on brigand fastnesses.

Just before the murder of the officer a band of the brigands made their appearance on the railway line between Hanoi and Bac-ninh and inflicted loss of some native levies who encountered them. Upon this the president set a detachment of native regulars to deal a blow on the enemy. The troops met the brigands entrenched in a village, one house in which they had turned into a fortress, so to speak.

BRIGANDS ESCAPED.

The commander of the troops found himself in a fix. To send the regulars across the open to carry the stronghold by storm, under heavy fire from the brigands, meant heavy loss and certain death to many of his men to little purpose. The only alternative was to blow up the house along with its garrison. But this resource failed him from no explosives being on hand. The result was that the brigands escaped.

A Haiphong paper rightly wonders why the troops in the field are not supplied with melinite bombs. Such engines of destruction would save much loss of life among the soldiers operating against the brigands.

Yet no bombs are supplied to the troops, though the brigands have often defied them safely from fortified houses, which the troops would not attack from fear of a loss of life not worth while to incur against outlaws.

The result of this weak-kneed policy is that the brigand bands in that section of Tonquin increase steadily in numbers and strength. Pessimists say that in time they will become too many to be terrified by melinite bombs.

CAN EAT FRESH BREAD

YOU LIKE IT BUT FEAR BRINGING ON INDIGESTION

END ALL STOMACH TROUBLE WITH SOME DIAPEPSIN

Miserable is the man or woman who suffers from dread indigestion or dyspepsia. There are few diseases which create such misery, long drawn out suffering as indigestion. It pursues them before meals, after meals and between meals; they take it to bed with them. It is with them wherever they go, though indigestion is one of the simplest diseases of all to cure.

Tell such afflicted ones, dear reader, of Pape's Diapepsin; urge the sufferer to go to any pharmacy here and give 50 cents for a case. Such a sufferer would ever bless you, because five minutes after taking there would be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, or fullness and discomfort, no belching of gas or eructations of sour food, debilitating headache, nausea, water brash and other symptoms of a sour, disordered stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat without the aid of the stomach.

Diapepsin is a wonderful stomach purifier and splendid to keep the intestines clean and fresh; then your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Diapepsin will rest the stomach and increase the gastric juices; this is what is mostly needed—more and better digestive juices—and no gas—then indigestion and all stomach trouble will go.

Each 50 cent case contains sufficient to usually thoroughly cure the most chronic dyspeptic.

The oven does the baking, the fire-box controls the oven heat, and the grates hold the coal or wood that produces the heat, so THE GRATES are important.

Double Duplex Grates

"Sask-alta" Double Duplex Grates are made in four pieces, each grate shaken separately. Ashes over one grate can be shaken without wasting good fuel over other grate. No poking necessary, thereby saving fuel. Dampers at both ends of fire-box secure perfect drafts. When grates are inverted for wood a patent clamp retains them in position. The easiest-working way is the surest-serving way — and that's "Sask-alta" way.

LIMITED STOCK OF IDEAS

COMPLAINT IS RAISED AGAINST POPULAR NOVELISTS

WRITERS, INCLUDING SHAKESPEARE, REPEAT THEMSELVES

The novelist is almost the only man who may not be as industrious in his profession as he likes. Like Scott, he should have another profession, "fiction is a good walking stick, but a bad crutch." Moreover, all human minds have a limited stock of ideas. Even Shakespeare repeated some of his characters; he has usually a melancholy Jaques; even Hamlet is a Jaques in unharmonious circumstances. The clown was a necessary convention, and his convention was the hedge and shelter of the dramatist. He must have his pedant, his angry old father, his bragging soldado, his impudent, ingenious valet, his lover, and so forth.

Every writer has his favorite types of character—Dickens' man on the watch; Scott's wild old woman; his rustic wag; his bore. He varied them wonderfully in details, but Sidney Smith detected Dominie Sampson, Meg Merrilees and the others, always coming on in new disguises, as Norna of the Fitful Head, Caleb Balderstone; in "Peveril" is Flibbertigibbet in skirts; and almost all the heroes are Henry Morton with variations. Thus Scott had overwritten himself, while the dramatists might re-introduce their stock characters endlessly because they were conventions bequeathed by Roman comedy. The novelist has his favorite rural district; to some this is forgiven. A man may work Devonshire forever, but he must not forever delve in his wee Kaleyairdie. He must go to Central Africa, the Doggerbank, or Alaska, to Afghanistan or Ancient Egypt, or Assyria, or Minonan Crete, a delightful country full of romance, which no novelist has invaded.

Thus I am rather sorry for the novelist. His wares must vary like feminine fashions; if they do not they fall out of vogue. In the prime of life he is superannuated. If he endures, he must write love scenes at an age when, like Thackeray, he blushes over his task. In no other profession are men so unfortunately handicapped, subjected to so many mortifications. Yet, if the novelist has another profession, his books are apt to be a drawback to his success, he has neither time nor energy to give to his books. Perhaps market gardening or chemical research is the field for the energy of the novelist who may not write as much as he pleases.

CALGARY SCHOOLS

All in Readiness for Formal Openings of New Buildings.

CALGARY, Nov. 6—Col. Walker returned yesterday from a few days with Howard Douglas looking for the buffalo contingent which will soon belong to Canada.

A large and interesting meeting of the Calgary Poultry and Pet Association was held last evening in the C. M. R. hall.

The secretary of the board of trade received a communication this morning from the secretary of the national apple show to be held in Spokane on December 7th to 12th, in which he was requested to supply as many Canadian flags as possible for use in decorating the large building in which the fair will be held. A large number of entries have been received from the growers in British Columbia and the management desires to do honor to their Canadian competitors by displaying our flag. They will have two acres of floor space devoted to this show.

The Calgary school board is in all readiness for the formal opening of the splendid new educational buildings, the Normal and High schools.

INVENTIONS NECESSARY

PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED FOR MANKIND'S BENEFIT

TIMELY SUGGESTIONS FOR WOULD BE BENEFACTORS

Everyone respects the man who invented the collar button with a movable head, says the London Express. He is one of the benefactors of mankind. No one has heard his name, but he has done more for humanity than, say, Napoleon. He has given the whole world five minutes every morning. Think of the years thus saved and the tempers preserved.

The inventor should be a man of a sensitive and amiable disposition. He must know all the weaknesses of humanity and be prepared to respond to them.

An appeal, for instance, was made the other day for something to take the place of the elusive button hook. A button nook is admittedly one of the things that can never be found. Its gift of disappearing is shared only with time tables, keys and openers of mineral water bottles.

It is time someone thought of a substitute for the button hook. Every one who has hurt his or her fingers in a desperate attempt to do up buttons would welcome such an invention. String has been tried, but it is not satisfactory.

Other inventions become more necessary every day. How is it, for instance, that the umbrella is allowed to remain so primitive? In its present form it is a clumsy device for protecting one part of one's body at the expense of another. By its assistance the rain is conducted in a concentrated form to one's legs and boots. In a crowd it is a constant source of irritation, as it benefits only the person immediately beneath it, and drips water on any one else who comes within its range. In a wind it may blow inside out at any moment. Surely the mind of man can think of something better than the umbrella.

Then, too, the doormat. Could anything be more unsatisfactory? In its present form it is simply a raising ground for germs. The Lancet ought to issue a pamphlet against it. What is needed is a revolving, self-cleaning mat, on which dust or mud could not accumulate. The visitor would put his foot on the mat and the dust would be whirled away into a receiver. A small electric motor would provide the power.

Every one complains of the heat in the summer, and many people are unable to sleep successfully at night. Why should not bedrooms have sliding roofs? Nothing could be more healthful or enjoyable than to be protected by walls, but free from the oppression of the roof.

There is no such thing as a waterproof boot of reasonable weight. Any one who wants to keep dry on a rainy day has to wear heavy shooting boots. Some material is needed which could be combined with leather to make a waterproof boot of ordinary weight.

The man who thought of the fountain pen was a kindly soul but he might have gone further and made certain that it would not ink one's fingers or overflow into one's pocket. A gauge should be fitted so that one could tell when the ink is nearly exhausted.

Glass is all very well, but it is quite unsuitable for hansoms, and has been the cause of many accidents. Something of equal transparency, but flexible is wanted.

The pipe is one of the pillars of society, but the perfect pipe is yet to come. There are many which claim perfection, but there is always a weak point, either of shape or weight or price. At present every smoker starts by trying about six different patents, but after a time becomes careless about the effects of nicotine, and goes back to the ordinary patentless briar. What is wanted is a pipe which insures absolute dryness and coolness, but does not embarrass the smoker by its grotesque shape or excessive weight.

Chairs are improving, but they are still uncomfortable. They are too angular and unresponsive, and they are made in too wholesale a way. The straw hat is a useful institution, but it is getting smaller instead of larger. Originally it was meant to shade the sun, but in its present form it is as ineffectual as the bowler. The reason is that no one has yet thought of the hat which is not at the mercy of the wind and, instead of concentrating on the problem of how to keep it on, the makers have simply reduced its susceptibility to wind and taken away its only merit. A straw hat of reasonable size which cannot blow off is urgently needed.

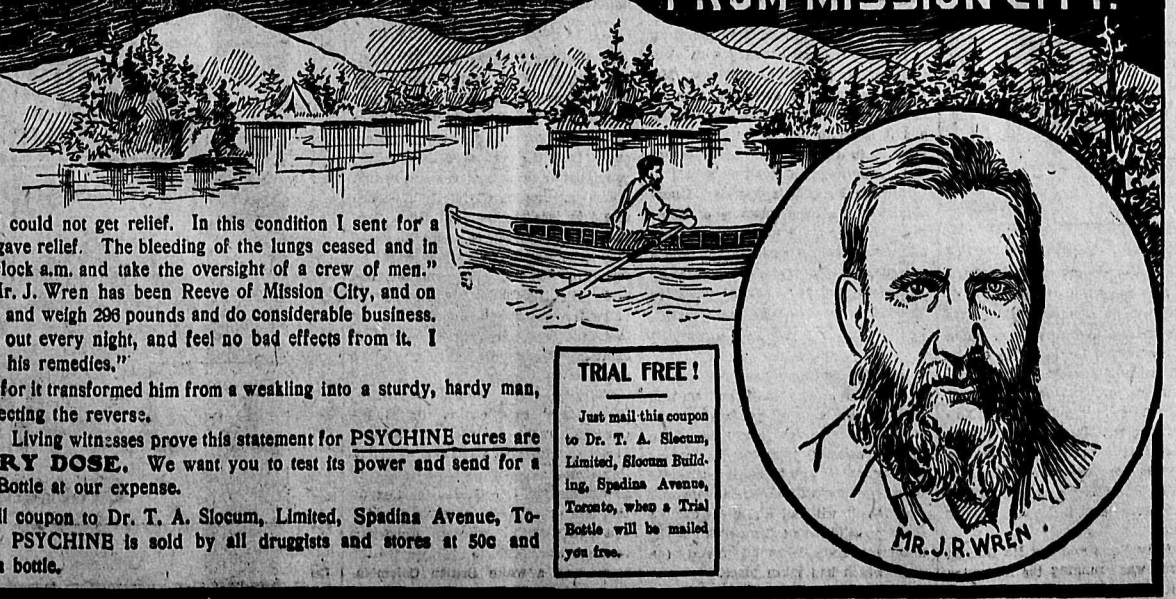
Woman Hunts Lions.

The countess of Sefton, who recently shot her first lion in Abyssinia, is by no means the only society lady who has accomplished this unfeminine feat. Mrs. Alan Gardner, accompanied by her late husband, explored not only India but the wildest and most remote parts of Africa, including Somaliland in search of big game, and is one of the very few women living who has hunted both lions and tigers. Another adventurous sportswoman in English society is the duchess of Somerset, who has not only hunted bears in the western wilds of America, but perfectly revels in the rough life of camp and is an expert in camp cookery.

125 MILES IN A ROWBOAT

REMARKABLE STORY FROM MISSION CITY.



Mr. John R. Wren, late Reeve of Mission City, B.C., is now 66 years of age and tells the following remarkable story: "Some years ago I was given up by the Doctors. I was so weak I could not walk across the floor, and was patiently waiting for death. I had paid as much as $25 a visit for a specialist who said I could not get relief. In this condition I sent for a sample of PSYCHINE. The first night PSYCHINE gave relief. The bleeding of the lungs ceased and in three weeks I was able to walk three miles before 7 o'clock a.m. and take the oversight of a crew of men." This was in 1894, just 14 years ago. Since that time Mr. J. Wren has been Reeve of Mission City, and on August 17th, 1908, wrote: "I am now in my 66th year and weigh 296 pounds and do considerable business. Last week I travelled 125 miles in a row boat and slept out every night, and feel no bad effects from it. I owe this new lease of life to Dr. T. A. Slocum and his remedies."

No wonder Mr. Wren is grateful for PSYCHINE, for it transformed him from a weakling into a sturdy, hardy man, and this at a time of life when most people are expecting the reverse.

PSYCHINE is a wonderful Tonic and Life Giver. Living witnesses prove this statement for PSYCHINE cures are permanent. THERE IS LIFE IN EVERY DOSE. We want you to test its power and send for a Trial Bottle at our expense.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL NELSON, B.C.

THAT EDMONTON "RAT" SHOP

Speaking at Fairview on Thursday night Mr. Duncan Marshall, manager of Hon. Frank Oliver's non-union paper at Edmonton, liberal organizer for northern Alberta and formerly party heeler in Ontario, with cool effrontery tried to mislead his hearers regarding the status of the Edmonton Bulletin in regard to the employment of union labor. He told his hearers that there were union printers employed in the office of the Edmonton Bulletin and that there was, therefore, no ground for saying that he was running a non-union office. Notwithstanding Mr. Marshall's statements in regard to this matter, and they are probably as near the truth as he ever gets, The Daily News is prepared to back up every word it has said on this subject.

When The News said that Mr. Duncan Marshall was running the Edmonton Bulletin as a non-union office it knew whereof it was speaking and any statement by Mr. Marshall to the contrary is untrue. Besides the fact that the Bulletin is a non-union office it is also true that Mr. Marshall has resisted all efforts on the part of the Typographical union to make it a union office. The fact that some union men are employed in the Bulletin office does not make it a union shop. In support of this it is only neccessary to point to the fact that the government printing bureau at Ottawa is a non-union shop and still Mr. P. M. Draper, secretary of the Dominion Trades and Labor congress, has worked in it for years. Mr. Marshall may be ingenious on this point but he is not convincing. In order to be convincing he ought to have explained why it is that the Bulletin is not allowed to use the union label. It could if it were a union shop.

In order to back up the information which it already had as to the class of office that Mr. Marshall was running for Hon. Frank Oliver, The Daily News Thursday night wired a man in Edmonton, whose word is at least just a little more credible than that of Mr. Duncan Marshall and who is in a position to know the facts in connection with the matter, and his reply received yesterday was that the Bulletin was a non-union office, although all the other job offices in Edmonton were union. Why do not Mr. Oliver and Mr. Marshall make the *Bulletin a union office. Is it in the in*terests of organized labor that they refuse to do so and is it for this reason that they are in British Columbia advising organized labor how to vote?

MR. F. J. DEANE'S OUTSIDERS

That Mr. Duncan Marshall's presence in Kootenay is endorsed by Mr. Smith Curtis and his campaign managers is shown by the fact that Mr. F. J. Deane, chairman of Mr. Curtis' central committee, on Thursday night took Mr. Marshall down to Fairview to address a meeting of electors there. Apparently Mr. Deane's idea of running a campaign is flooding the constituency with election workers from other provinces. Mr. Deane has not yet explained why he has these outsiders in this constituency and it is up to him to do so. Is the bringing in of these men his conception of the way to run a clean election?

How do Mr. Curtis and Mr. Deane think the intelligent electors of Kootenay will view the incoming of these strangers, the only excuse for whose presence in the constituency is their handiness around election times to those who are employing them?

HON. FRANK OLIVER.

Hon. Frank Oliver has been spoken of locally as a clean politician. On this question his record speaks for itself. He was the man who as minister of the interior awarded some of the famous grazing leases, who deceived parliament in connection with these matters and who fought with all his might against the opposition being allowed to see the documents which would reveal the graft which had taken place.

Mr. Oliver's idea of political cleanliness are also illustrated by his treatment of Mr. Phillip Wagner. This man entered the Dominion immigration service in 1899. A few months later he was given money by an immigrant to pay the freight on some settlers effects but he cooly put it in his pocket and later on the government made good the amount to the settler but there is no trace of the amount ever having been collected from Mr. Wagner. In 1900 three criminal informations were laid against Mr. Wagner on similar charges but he got off on all of them, the jury disagreeing on one of them. In 1901 he was up again on two other charges and on each was convicted and given a term in jail at hard labor. All this time he had continued as a government employee. The department at Ottawa was, however, doing its best to get rid of him but Mr. Wagner had a firm friend in Hon. Frank Oliver. So far had the desire to get rid of him gone at Ottawa that he was notified of his dismissal and his salary stopped. While the trial of the charges on which he was convicted were pending Mr. Oliver took up the matter of his dismissal and wired Ottawa on June 11, 1901, referring to the stoppage of salary "Wagner should be paid forthwith until June 1." Less than a week after this message went to Ottawa Mr. Wagner was in jail serving one of his terms. Nothwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wagner spent more than half the month of June in jail he was paid by the government for the whole month. In the general election of 1904 Mr. Wagner, who had then been out of jail for some time, took an active hand in the game on behalf of Mr. Oliver and when the latter was made minister of the interior next year Mr. Wagner was one of the first men to be appointed to office, giving him a position in the immigration department at $100 per month. The same year there was a provinicial election in Alberta and Mr. Wagner plunged into it. According to sworn testimony he distributed whiskey, beer and money with lavish hand among the Galicians. Mr. Oliver's attention was drawn to this evidence as well as to Mr. Wagner's general record by members of the house of commons but Mr. Wagner is still in the employ of the government and incidentally is doing election work for Mr. Oliver.

These are just a few facts about Mr. Oliver who is presented as a man desirous of cleanliness in politics and administration.

THEY HAVE THEIR CHOICE.

By flooding Kooteny and Yale-Cariboo with speakers from Alberta and Saskatchewan Messrs. Smith Curtis and Duncan Ross hope to distract the attention *of the people of these two constitu*encies from the real issues of the campaign, better terms and a white British Columbia. Messrs. Curtis and Ross are afraid to face the issue on these questions and are trying to dodge it. Were they to be sent to Ottawa they would be found in the house of commons opposing British Columbia's demand for better terms and they would be willing to accept whatever policy the government might adopt in regard to Asiatic immigration.

The people of Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo have their choice. On Thursday next they can vote for Messrs. Curtis and Ross as opponents of better terms and as servile followers of the government on the Asiatic question or they can vote for Messrs. A. S. Goodeve and Martin Burrell, who are pledged to continue at Ottawa to fight for better terms and a white British Columbia. The election of Messrs. Curtis and Ross would be taken by the government and eastern Canada generally as a declaration on the part of the people of these two constituencies against better terms and a white British Columbia. Are the intelligent electors of these ridings going to make such a declaration?

EDITORIAL NOTES

Why is Duncan Marshall in Kootenay?

Watch the ballot boxes on election day.

Wouldn't those Alberta and Saskatchewan politicians think the people of Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo a lot of easy marks if they followed their advice and elected Messrs. Smith Curtis and Duncan Ross?

See that no trick ballot boxes are used.

Why is that Regina wheat buyer at Fernie and that Moose Jaw implement agent at Cranbrook? Echo answers why?

What do the independent electors of Kootenay think of the flooding of the constituency with election workers from other provinces?

What interest have all these Alberta and Saskatchewan politicians in a white British Columbia and better terms for this province?

Mr. Smith Curtis and Mr. F. J. Deane, his campaign manager, owe the people of Kootenay an apology for having brought Mr. Duncan Marshall into the constituency.

A vote for Mr. A. S. Goodeve or Mr. Martin Burrell on Thursday is a vote for a white British Columbia and better terms. A vote for either Mr. Smith Curtis or Mr. Duncan Ross is a vote against both.

The intentions of the Dominion government regarding Asiatic immigration is shown by the erection of a $90,000 immigration shed at Victoria for the convenience and comfort of newcomers from the Orient.

Mr. Smith Curtis thought it advisable to postpone the election in Kootenay in order that he might import a bunch of election workers from other provinces. What do the people of Kootenay think of a man who would try to get into parliament in this way?

Surely the people of Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo are intelligent enough to know how to vote without the assistance of politicians from Alberta and Saskatchewan. Apparently, however, Mr. Smith Curtis and his campaign manager think they are not.

In this campaign in Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo the issues are questions which affect British Columbia particularly. Why then should the country be flooded with party workers and politicians from Alberta and Saskatchewan? What would the people of Alberta or Saskatchewan say if party workers were brought into either of these provinces to take part in an election in which the issues at stake were peculiar to that particular province?

On December 6, 1902, the Nelson Tribune, edited by Mr. John Houston, spoke of "Rossland's Siamese twins, Smith Curtis, M. P. P., and E. B. Kirby, M. E." This close connection between the two probably accounts for Mr. Curtis' attendance at Mr. Kirby's anti union labor excursion from Rossland to Nelson on Sept. 18, 1902.

The following interview with Mr. K. Matsuyama, representing a Yokohama firm of labor contractors, appeared in the news columns of the Seattle Post Intelligencer recently during Mr. Matsuyama's stay in Seattle and is given for what it is worth and without comment: "The feeling toward Oriental labor in Canada is changing. Though at present, by arrangement with the Japanese government, few laborers are allowed to go to Canada, this agreement may be canceled at any time the Canadian government wishes. The Grand Trunk Pacific railway is practically a government work, and I hope to be able to complete arrangements for the employment of several thousand laborers in the course of the next few weeks."

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

"ONLY MEDICINE THAT DID ME ANY GOOD"

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Backache After Doctors Failed Utterly.

"I have received most wonderful benefit from taking "Fruit-a-tives" I suffered for years from backaches and pain in the head and I consulted doctors and took every remedy obtainable without any relief. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-tives" and this was the only medicine that ever did me any real good. I took several boxes altogether, and now I am entirely well of all my dreadful headaches and backaches. I take "Fruit-a-tives" occasionally still, but I am quite cured of a trouble that was said to be incurable. I give this testimony voluntarily, in order that others who suffer as I suffered may try this wonderful medicine and be cured."
Mrs. Frank Eaton, Frankville, Ont.

Be wise. Profit by Mrs. Eaton's example, and start with "Fruit-a-tives." They will quickly relieve Pain in the Back, and stop Headaches because they keep bowels, kidneys and skin in perfect order and insure the blood being always pure and rich.

"Fruit-a-tives" is now put up in the new 25c trial size as well as the regular 50c boxes. All dealers should have both sizes. If yours does not, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

(By "FOOTLIGHTS")

Glau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in avoirdupois—that is to say, gross flesh. The entire galaxy has lost out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems the people out west will support slim ballerinos, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus," carried so to speak, no weight with them. They treated that prize collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently Glau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once, or shipping them back—excess baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town admits, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records, in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Glau didn't rehearse his flock into shape nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally, into shadows. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing rooms to the effect that every lady less than five foot seven, who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be) of the following One-half ounce Marmola; three-quarter ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and four and three-quarter ounces Peppermint Water.

They did it and in less than a month averaged a loss of a pound a day each. "That's a dandy receipt," says Glau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word go. Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

How to Cure a Cold.

Be as careful as you can you will occasionally take cold, and when you do, get a medicine of known ability, one that has an established reputation and that is certain to effect a quick cure. Such a medicine is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has gained a world wide reputation by its remarkable cures of this most common ailment and can always be depended upon. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. During the many years in which it has been in general use we have yet to learn of a single case of cold or attack of the grip having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation.

We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary and many have been avoided by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letter.

Mrs. Letitia Blair, Cannifton, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was sick for five years. One doctor told me it was ulceration, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor, and advised an operation. No one knows what I suffered, and the bearing down pains were terrible.

"I wrote to my sister about it, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It has cured me of all my troubles, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me to pass safely through Change of Life."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Mr. Buchanan's Letter.

EDITOR THE DAILY NEWS

The letter of G. O. Buchanan, published by you today under the heading "Cannot Support Curtis," respecting the meeting of Mr. Smith Curtis in Kaslo on Oct. 15, in which Mr. Buchanan declares that, as he "has heard from many respectable and responsible persons stories most discreditable to him" (meaning Smith Curtis) he cannot support Mr. Curtis, comes as no surprise. It seems extraordinary that Mr. Buchanan, a government employee (as lead bounty commissioner) enjoying a salary of $200 per month, appointed by the liberal administration, and also being the defeated candidate for liberal nomination in Kootenay defeated by Mr. Curtis, should feel it his duty to write any letter in the interests of the electorate, or to reserve such letter from October 15th to the eve of the election.

Mr. Buchanan has known Smith Curtis intimately for many years, and in his nomination joined in making such nomination unanimous; and it is passing strange that immediately after his (Buchanan's) defeat he hears "stories" and canvasses and spreads the same; surely this is hitting below the belt.

Mr. Curtis is being supported by Hon. Mr. Oliver, Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., Mr. Templeman, Mr. J. A. Macdonald, M.P.P., all leading liberals, and all quite as anxious to support clean men as Mr. Buchanan; yet Mr. Buchanan is willing to hear and spread "stories," violate his allegiance to the party candidate, and at the same time hold office and draw salary under the government that fully recognizes and supports such candidate. He should make his anxiety practical by now resigning his office, and should refuse to be an employee of such a government; but Mr. Buchanan, in this matter, as in his timber policy, prefers to make his money first, and declare his principles with monies in hand.

The electors of Kootenay have, I am convinced, no use for men (be they liberal or conservative) who under the conditions surrounding Mr. Buchanan are guilty of like conduct.

His candidature was refused by the liberals and I, for one, now feel that the party then made no mistake.

Several weeks ago the liberal executive of Nelson passed a vote of censure upon Mr. Buchanan's tactics as evidence of their disgust; and they thereby refused to give Mr. Buchanan his coveted opportunity of again seeking nomination.

Violent Earthquake.

PLAUEN, Germany, Nov. 6—The most violent earthquake ever experienced here terrified the inhabitants at 5:30 o'clock this morning. Houses were shaken and the people fled panic stricken into the streets. The shock which lasted for several minutes was accompanied by sharp explosions and thunderous rumblings in the earth. Sixty or seventy earthquake shocks have been felt here daily the past week. They are now becoming less frequent but more violent. The temperature of the Medicinal Springs in the vicinity has increased fifteen degrees.

HEREDITY OF CHARACTER

PROF. FRANCIS DARWIN'S RECENT PAPER DISCUSSED

FIELD FOR DEBATE IS OPENED BY REMARKS

It has often been said that no man ever amounted to much who didn't have a good mother; but it should be added that a distinguished father is a detriment to a man who deserves to become illustrious, says a writer in the Toronto Mail and Empire. The world has become so used to hearing of the spendthrift sons of millionaires, the dissipated sons of clergymen, and the pleaureseeking sons of statesmen, that it is prone to expect plus quantities in the father to be converted into minus quantities in the sons. There is no good reason to suppose that the average son of the average clergyman is not as good as young men in general, probably better; but when the opposite is the case, the dramatic contrast between father and son attracts attention, and leaves a deep impression on the mind. It is the unusual, after all, that we notice, a fact that we have coined into the proverb about exceptions proving the rule.

The foregoing is delivered by way of sympathy for Prof. Francis Darwin, who has just attempted to astonish the world by stating his belief in the emotions and intelligence of plants. Unfortunately, Prof. Darwin's father was the Darwin, and the former has never been able to escape introduction as "son of the great Charles Darwin, you know, and interested in scientific questions himself." This tends to make the professor himself a nonentity, but he has made several vigorous efforts to demand consideration for his own thought, the most striking being the speech before the British association at Dublin, the text of which has come to hand. The speaker admitted at the outset that he might be accused of being another advocate of a lost cause—the doctrine of the inheritance of acquired characteristics, but he quotes a passage written by his father, who said: "It is impossible not to be struck with the resemblance between the movements of plants and many of the actions performed unconsciously by the lower animals."

This remark is good enough authority for a further investigation of the subject, and Prof. Darwin notes that it revives, in a rational form, the point of view of the child, who credits flowers with powers of thought and speech. No doubt it was at this point in the address that the head-shakings mentioned in the cabled report of the address began, for anthropomorphism is one of the seven deadly sins of science, as Prof. Darwin himself admitted. But even at the risk of attributing human qualities to organisms that are not human, we should not fall to note resemblances, and to seek their cause. The speaker then went on to describe the action of sleeping plants, whose leaves assume a different position at night from that maintained in the daytime. Scientists know that the charge is not a mere coincidence, but is caused by the alternation of day and night.

Now, if one of these plants is placed in a dark room where there is no difference in the light from midnight, the leaves will continue to change as though exposed to sunlight. If such a thing occurred in higher organisms we should not hesitate to call it a habit, for here we have leaves acting as though they were responding to the stimulus of the sun when no sun is visible. The stimulus for the change does not come from without; it must come from within, and be due to internal conditions that invariably accompany the movement. A habit may be technically described as a rythmic action of the sleeping plants would appear susceptible of this description. However, once it is granted that this rhythmic stimulus proceeds from within, the case for plants having something akin to memory is proved. Therefore, it is objected that this presupposes the existence of a nervous system, which plants, have not. They have, however, a complete system of nuclei, which gives some of the results of a nervous system. Plants are extremely sensitive to heat and cold. They are also capable of transmitting stimuli from one part of the plant body to another.

Thus Prof. Darwin raises once more the standard of the English evolutionists who believe that acquired characteristics are transmissable, a contention denied by Weessmann, or the German school. The latter insist that the structure of the cell itself never alters, and at the present time they appear to be having the better of the argument. Indeed, Prof. Darwin refers to Spencer's theory of somatic inheritance as a "lost cause," although he does not hesitate to espouse it. His paper will be doubly welcome if it provokes discussions and investigations that will result in a final solution of mystery. Few discoveries in natural science would more vitally affect human beings than the knowledge that acquired characteristics are transmissable.

Nine Pence Per Week.

LONDON, Nov. 6—An old man of 82 left the St. Luke's coroner's court far happier than he had been for many a long day, assured that there were those who would do their best to make his declining days as bright as possible.

A few days ago an inquest was held at Shoreditch on a woman named Upton, who had worked hard at the washtub for years until her strength had failed. Then she took to selling matches in the street, earning 3s a week, out of which 1s 6d had to go for the rent of a back room, occupied by her and her husband, aged eighty-two, who was unable to work. Thus they existed on 9d each per week, the result being that she died of starvation.

A generous public sent money to help the poor old man, and on the coroner's summons he tottered into court on Friday.

The coronor told Upton that he had some money which charitable people had sent for him. It was arranged that Upton should call once a week on the mortuary keeper, who would on each occasion hand him 7s, while the money lasted.

On hearing this Upton, with tears in his eyes, sobbed out:

"May God bless you, sir, and all those that have been so kind to me. I did not think there was so much kindness in the world."

The incident then closed, and Upton tottered out of the court, wiping tears of joy from his eyes with his tattered coatsleeve.

MOTHER

This happy mother, like thousands of others, believes in nothing so much as Mother Seigel's Syrup. The days when household work was a burden and the least exertion painful, when even her own children irritated her, are a long way behind. So are the headaches, the nasty taste, the heartburn, the dizziness and the constant feeling of fatigue. They vanished like a bad dream the day she first bought Mother Seigel's Syrup, and they will stay away as long as Mother Seigel's Syrup has a place in her cupboard. It is the standard remedy for Indigestion and Liver Disorders, and the regular family medicine in thousands of Canadian homes.

Good for mother. Good for father. Good for all the family!

AMERICAN NAVY

Need of Naval Bases in the East of First Importance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Attention was strongly invited in the annual report of rear admiral Hillsbury, chief of the navigation bureau, to the lack of defended naval bases in either the American insular possessions in the east or the Carribean sea, the probable theatre of action in any war which the navy might be called to engage. So important is this question believed to be that in admiral Hillsbury's opinion all appropriations for new improvements at naval stations or for the defense of naval bases in the Phillipines at Pearl Harbor and at Guan Tanamo, for these bases are vital to our success in war. Prospects are now that under the present system there will be an excess of graduates from the navy academy and the recommendation is made that the period of nomination of midshipmen be extended from four years to six years with a view to reducing by one-third the number of midshipmen promoted to ensigns. It is also recommended that the minimum age of candidates for entrance to the academy be fifteen years, as it is considered desirable that officers should arrive at command flager rank at an early age.

He Had a Conscience

That Was His Excuse, but Uncle Alexander Was Wise.

By KENNETT HARRIS.

MY Uncle Alexander's reputation for wisdom occasionally brought our neighbors to him for advice. One evening Sam Merrick came over to ask him what he would do if the storekeeper at the village refused him credit.

"I'd quit tradin' with him," said my Uncle Alexander.

It seemed to me a simple solution of the difficulty, but Sam didn't seem quite satisfied.

"I'd go over to Centreville and order a big bill of Jones," added my Uncle Alexander.

His overalls seat needed frequent patching.

"But Jones won't trust me either," said Sam. "He wants me to pay cash."

"I b'lieve I'd pay cash then," said my Uncle Alexander. "It's the only way I see out of it."

"What's a feller goin' to do if he ain't got cash?" asked Sam.

"Borrow it."

"I kind of hate to do that. Not but what I could pay it back all right. A person would be safe enough loanin' me twenty-five or fifty dollars for a few weeks—a month, at the outside. I am expectin' some money. I dunno but that would be the best way, Alick. Do you"——

"Go to some feller that's got money he's willin' to take a chance on, an' offer him a good interest an' chattel mortgage security on your note," added my Uncle Alexander.

Had a Costly Conscience.

Sam looked discouraged. After a pause he said: "Alick, I s'pose you ain't——"

"No, I ain't," said my Uncle Alexander, in a very final tone. Presently he said: "Sam, do you know what's the trouble with you, that you're in the hole all of the time?"

"Certainly I do," replied Sam. "It's my conscience."

My Uncle Alexander cleared his throat raspingly.

"It's easy enough to get money if you ain't partickler how," pursued Sam. "I've had chances to make money all my life, but it allus went agin my principles. I cal'late I'm about as smart as the next feller, an' I wouldn't have needed to go to farmin' for a livin'. My folks wanted me to be a lawyer."

"Course, that would have been real hard on your principles," said my Uncle Alexander.

"I'd have had to take whichever side hired me, o' course," said Sam. "I'd have had to took advantage o' folks, an' widders an' sech, and keep men out o' jail that b'longed there by rights. I jest nachally couldn't do it."

"It's a credit to you, Sam," said my Uncle Alexander, suavely.

He Could Have Got Rich Easily.

"I might have gone to the city an' been one o' these high financiers," Sam went on. "There wasn't nothin' to stop me, only I always hated to steal. If I'd gone into the mercantile business, I'd have had to lie about my goods. Most all of them do.

"If I'd been a doctor, I'd have had to guess at what ailed folks, an' make the wrong guess, an' then charge them up to the handle for doin' of it. I ain't got the heart to make money that way.

"I might have gone into polertics. Ira Pidgrow, the time I helped him with a campaign for sheriff, said I was the slickest polertician he'd ever seen, an' he wanted me to take the nomernation for town supervisor; but a feller's got to be two-faced an' sticky fingered as all get out to do any good at that. You can't have no conscience an' get beyond the State Legislature."

"So there wasn't nothin' left for you but farmin'?" queried my Uncle Alexander. "What's the reason you can't make that pay?"

"I might, if I'd work myself to death, an' stent, an' scrape, an' make the trades some of 'em do," replied Sam. "But it ain't in me. I've got my principles, an' I'll stick right by 'em, if I don't make a cent. That's all the trouble there is with me."

"Principle" Put to a Test.

"I've knowed some fellers that would get along tol'able well jest workin' middlin' hard, an' givin' less time to kickin' about their neighbors an' encouragin' the manufacture of apple jack," said my Uncle Alexander. "If you wasn't afraid of sunburn, and didn't need to have your overalls patched at the seat so blamed often, I've an idee that it wouldn't hurt your conscience none to speak of, an' it would help your credit at the store quite a heap. That's my advice, since you've asked me for it."

Sam arose from his seat, knocked the ashes out of his pipe very deliberately and walked down the porch steps. Then he turned and shook his fist at my Uncle Alexander.

"I'll give you a piece of advice right back," he said. "Don't you get the idee that you can talk to me that way, or you'll get the all-fredest lickin' you ever had in your life, you bald-headed old"——

My Uncle Alexander cocked his eye humorously at the man of "principle." "Sam," he said, "I've an idee that your conscience wouldn't allow you to do nothin' of the kind. Let's see if it would."

He pushed back his chair and started down the steps as he spoke. But Sam had turned his back and was well on his way to the yard gate.

Unhumorous Stories

By WEX JONES.

I.—The Seaside Lovers.

BETTY wore a blue bathing dress and was generally described as a peach. Billy, he wore a blue bathing suit too, and was quite a good-looking young fellow.

Billy pulled Betty out of the surf one day, and after that they were together often. With youth and Summer and surf and moon, it wasn't long before Billy and Betty were engaged. After that, like the characters in a Chambers story, they thought of telling each other their names and addresses.

Billy told Betty he sold shoes, and Betty told Billy she worked in a shirt-waist factory.

Which was highly unhumorous, for that was what they really did do.

II.—Miss Binks's Burglar.

Miss Binks often thought of burglars. She wouldn't be a bit afraid of one, she often declared, and she carried around with her an ivory-handled peashooter of a revolver for the express purpose of terrifying any midnight marauder she might discover marauding.

When Miss Binks went down to stay with her friends the Smiths, along went the ivory-handled revolver. There had been several burglaries in the neighborhood, and the news excited the guests rather disagreeably—all except Miss Binks, that is. She hoped for a chance to show that her courage wasn't merely of the tongue.

In the middle of the night Miss Binks awoke suddenly.

A noise!

Yes, it must be a stealthy step in the dining room.

Silently Miss Binks arose and donned a becoming kimono, which appeared, judging from the illustrations in the short stories of Collier's Weekly, to be the correct costume for burglar chasing. Then, ivory-handled pistol bravely clutched, she slipped out of her room.

Ah-ha! A light in the dining room.

Ah-ha twice! A man putting things in a sack.

"Hands up!"

The man looked right up at the ivory-handled pistol and obeyed the command.

Then Miss Binks yelled for help, and down came the whole household.

"Why, you've captured a burglar!" cried Mr. Smith.

A very unhumorous person, you must admit; since he should, of course, have said: "Good heavens, Miss Binks; why are you trying to shoot my nephew?"

III.—Savonby's Vacation.

Savonby went on a month's vacation. He went to a farm where, so the owner advertised, there were fresh eggs, fresh milk, fresh air, fresh scenery, all the joys of the country and no mosquitoes.

At the end of the month Savonby returned to his office.

"What sort of a time did you have?" asked his boss.

"Great," replied Savonby.

Could anything be more unhumorous?

IV.—The Nicaralga Revolution.

Passing over the preliminaries of Silas Vey's meeting with Snub McCroodle in a peky little cafe in New Orleans, we behold Vey and Snub aboard a steamer loaded with rifles and cartridges marked "Mining Machinery—Use No Hooks," and bound for Jacinto, the biggest—and only—port of Nicaralga.

Snub was to run the revolution; Vey's money provided the rifles. After putting Snub's friend, Don Luis Sombrero y Gilligan, in the Presidential chair, the two sturdy Angle-Saxons would become rich through the concession for obtaining light from the sunfish, which grew to great size and brilliancy in Nicaralgan waters.

It wasn't long after they landed that Snub and Vey and Don Luis were surprised by the entire Nicaralgan army.

All three fell dead at the first volley—a most unhumorous act, and fatal to the whole story.

committed for trial by Joseph Ryan, J.P. for using a knife.

There will be no meeting of the junior branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Saviour's church on Monday, that being Thanksgiving day.

Monday being Thanksgiving day, the following services will be held in St. Saviour's church: 8 a.m., holy communion; 10:30 a.m., holy communion and sermon.

The passenger train from Rossland on Thursday night ran into a series of mud and sand slides near Blueberry creek which effectually tied the engine and train up for the time being. A special, with extra gang and section men, was sent out from Nelson during the night and these succeeded in clearing the track. No one was hurt.

One of the attractions for Thanksgiving day will be a football match between the junior association football team and the high school. The junior association team will be picked from the following Ellis, Corey, Chave, Wade, Fish, Cummins, B. Pearce, W. Pearce, Johnson Crooks Wilkinson, Darough Hoskins and Parker. The high school team will line up as follows: Goal, D. Turner; backs, Brett and Poupore; half backs, P. Grizzelle, B. Ferguson, R. Ferguson; forwards, Newitt, Matthew, Svoboda, Hartin, D. McDougall. The game starts at 3 p.m., city time. No admission will be charged.

The first meeting of the high school literary society was held in the east school room yesterday afternoon. The principal item on the program was a geography match. In this geographical names were used. When the first word was given the captain of one of the sides had to give another having for its initial letter the final letter of the word given, the final of this became the initial letter of the next, etc, the words being taken turn about by members of the two sides. Thirty seconds only were allowed for thought before the chance was passed on to the next. Richard Ferguson and Richard Turner acted as captains and every student present was chosen. Word folowed word for an hour and a quarter before the match ended. Though at times there was quite a difference in the number up on each side, each number decreased until there was but one on each side. Then Miss E. Manson, the saving remnant of R. Turner's side, had to give up to Miss L. Foote, who thus won out for R. Ferguson's side. The facility with which the words were given was highly creditable and the whole match was a decided success.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION

BERLIN, Nov. 6—Rev. S. Marshall of Trinity church of this city has accepted a call to Moose Jaw, Sask.

NORTH BAY, Nov. 6—A recount of votes in Nipissing county here today gives Gordon, conservative, a majority of 23.

TORONTO, Nov. 6—The body of Edward Johnston, market gardener, of Mimico, was found on the railway track last night near the Humber river. He is supposed to have been run down by a train.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6—C. P. Forrester, a well known real estate agent here announced himself as a candidate for the mayoralty of Winnipeg to oppose controller W. Sanford Evans, who is already in the field.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 6—Michael Ponzi, who struck another Italian on the head with a stone last Sunday and killed him, was today found guilty of murder by a jury and will be sentenced tomorrow.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6—The recount of the votes cast in the recent election in Laval county was concluded today and resulted in the reduction of the majority of the successful liberal candidate, Wilson, from 70 to 67.

LONDON, Nov. 6—The Trades and Labor Council will circulate a petition to the city council for reduced liquor licenses because of the dispute with the brewers of the city.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6—Preliminary tremors of a severe earthquake were recorded at the dominion observatory at 2:31 this morning and lasted nearly three hours. The distance is estimated to be nearly 4000 miles away.

BOWMANVILLE, Nov. 6—A rear end collision between two light engines at the station here last night, resulted in the death of engineer Robert Lowe and pump repairer J. Gauthier who was travelling on one of the engines. Fireman Rushworth and road foreman Young were badly injured. The dead and injured belong to Belleville.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6—Breaking Atlantic records has become a habit with the Empresses. The Empress of Ireland arrived at Quebec yesterday at 2:30 p.m., beating the record of the Empress of Britain, made two weeks ago by one hour and fifteen minutes. The fast special train left Quebec within 30 minutes after the vessel docked with first class passengers who, having dined at the mouth of the Mersey on Friday evening, Oct. 30, dined the next Thursday evening in Montreal. Toronto passengers reached their destination early this morning. The Chicago passengers will arrive in their city tonight, just one week after leaving Liverpool. Winnipeg, St. Paul and Minneapolis will be reached Saturday, eight days after leaving Liverpool. Vancouver and Victoria will be reached next Tuesday. This record clearly indicates the advantages in time of this route and when it is remembered that the Empresses are less than four days on the open sea, those interested will readily see the superiority of the St. Lawrence route over all others. The passengers wore blue ribbon in their buttonholes in honor of the event.

HAMILTON, Nov. 6—A double shooting affray occurred last night at the residence of Mrs. Cunelle, and as a result Charles A. Johnson is dead and a girl, supposed to be Rosie Ouimet is in the city hospital in a critical condition from five bullet wounds. Johnson is supposed to have shot the girl and then turned the weapon on himself. In the room where the tragedy occurred a letter was found signed by Johnson in which the writer says: "If we cannot live for each other we can die for each other. It was in this room we promised to become man and wife, but that can never be as Rosie's parents of late would not allow her to have anything to do with me, so it is in this room we die together."

A later despatch says that Rosie Ouimet died in the hospital shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Towards the end the girl recovered consciousness and recognized her mother who was standing at the bedside. She managed to state that Johnson had shot her, but gave no reason. Her mother told her that Johnson had died and added the information that she would have shot him had he lived. The girl, faithful to the last, replied she was glad Johnson had died, lapsed into unconsciousness and passed quietly away.

High Praise.

LONDON, Nov. 6—Right Hon. A. J. Balfour says he never watched a match with greater interest than the Olympic lacrosse game. It was a pleasure to see, not merely the admirable skill of the players on both sides but the good nature and good sportsmanship which prevailed throughout.

Australian Politics.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 6—In the federal house of representatives, Melbourne today, Wisher, labor leader, announced that his party was unable to continue their support of the Deakin ministry. Mr. Deakin moved an adjournment and the house rose.

It appears that Noble was sentenced to 23 months in gaol for forgery, was liberated on ticket of leave on Oct. 16 after having served 15 months and that he has broken his parole. SCORES ANOTHER SUCCESS.

San Francisco Opera Company Pleases Big Audience.

The opera house was again crowded last night when the San Francisco opera company presented "Dolly Varden," from the Herald Square theatre, New York.

The play abounds in humor of the most delightful kind and the audience were kept in roars of laughter the whole evening by the very telling manner in which the chief members of the company made their "hits." The scenery, the dresses and the songs were all up to that high standard which was the cause of so many expressions of approval and delight from the audience which witnessed Fantana on Thursday night, the costumes being again particularly good.

The play opens with the number, "Swing, my Pretty One, Swing" and both the audience, which showed their approval by vigorous applause, and the artises, have every reason to be pleased with it. The number was rendered with charming verve and ensemble by the many pretty girls who constituted the chorus. "Le Savoir Faire" in the second act was also much appreciated and received its full measure of applause.

It is difficult to single out any member of such an excellent cast for special notice but Teddy Webb as a London dandy of the most amusing kind continually "brought down the house" by the humorous manner in which he made the most of the scintilating epigrams and witty drolleries which helped to make the play such a success.

Miss Mable Day as Dolly Varden made a very pretty country maiden, bubbling over with the joy and innocence of youth. Altogether the play was a huge success and will, no doubt, act as a great inducement to the playgoers of Nelson to make every endeavor to see the other operas which will be given by the company before they leave the town.

This afternoon a matinee will be given of "The Toymaker" and "The Strollers" is billed for the evening. On Monday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, a special matinee of "Fantana" will be given, and in the evening "Robin Hood."

DISHONEST EMPLOYEES

Wholesale Robberies on D. L. and W. Railway Loss $100,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Robberies within the last three months, involving more than $100,000 worth of freight, leaving the terminal of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway in Brooklyn, were disclosed today according to the arrest of four employees of the road. Two of them were clerks, George Tracey and James T. Martin, and two were drivers, George Lennox and Wm. Stewart. While the company knows of losses aggregating more than $100,000, the four men taken into custody are charged with the alleged larceny of one case of silk valued at $1750.

The detectives found, they say, that inside employees first located the most desirable goods and then dishonest drivers, working in collision with them, extracted the goods in question while in transit from the railroad terminal to the consignee.

Kissing the Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6—Tuberculosis, spread through a rite of the church, it is said, is thinning out the population of the Aleutian islands at an alarming rate. Dr. Robert Oleson of the revenue cutter McCulloch, who arrived here yesterday from Alaska, states that 40 per cent of the natives in the island are affected with consumption. He expressed a belief that the ceremony of kissing the dead is in part responsible for the spread of the disease.

(Western Associated Press.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 6—The financial statement for October shows that during that month $7,519,716 was collected in revenue, as against $8,223,071 in 1907. During the month there was an increase in disbursements amounting to $2,434,017. For the first seven months of the fiscal year the revenue has been $48,247,233, as against $58,257,779 for the correspondngi period last year, a decrease of $10,010,541. The total disbursements for seven months were $57,376,795, as against $47,022,129, an increase of $10,354,668. Of the $18,000,000 spent on capital account the largest portion has been paid out on the National Transcontinental. The decrease in revenue is almost entirely attributed to the falling off in customs receipts.

In South Africa.

(Canadian Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 6—Speaking at Manchester today colonel Seeley said that urgent representations had been made to the government by influential and trusted leaders of the Dutch people in South Africa favoring the maintenance of the largest possible garrison of British soldiers in South Africa. This is not only a tribute to the British army but a striking proof that racialism is dead. The government to some extent, has been unable to meet these requests.

Election Disorders.

LISBON, Nov. 6—Election disorders broke out today at Porte de Moz, a local progressist leader fired a revolver from a window into passing regenerator parade, killing two persons from the ranks of the procession. A crowd of infuriated men rushed toward the building from which the shots had been fired and it was with difficulty that the troops rescued the assassin.
