WILL REOPEN

Famous Highland Mine is Purchased

New Company Will Make it Large Shipper

Will Handle Property on Business Basis

The famous old Highland mine at Ainsworth, which at one time was the largest shipper in Canada—in one year shipping one-third of the lead produced in the Dominion on which the Dominion government paid $27,000 in lead bounties—and which was closed last January by the operating company, has been acquired by the Kootenay Silver-Lead Mines, Limited, a new company just incorporated, with a capital stock of $2,000,000, by leading capitalists of Vancouver. The purchase price has not been given out, but it is a large figure, and one commensurate with the value of the property. The officers of the Kootenay Silver-Lead Mines, Limited, are: President, Major Charles McMillan of Vancouver; vice president, Mr. Duncbanny, a prominent Vancouver business man; secretary treasurer, James S. B. O'Brien, of the Vancouver Financial corporation. F. D. Fraser will look after the company's interests at this end and will leave Nelson for Ainsworth this afternoon.

Re-open This Week.

The mine will be re-opened this week, either tomorrow or Saturday, and from 40 to 50 men will be put at work on the property, including the mill force. The equipment of the mine includes a 200 ton mill, operated by water power from Cedar creek a 5500 foot aerial tram, compressor, boarding houses, assay office, and other usual features. The mill will at once be overhauled and additional machinery will be installed which will increase the amount of recovery 20 per cent, and it will probably be in operation on the new basis within 10 days.

Big Cross-cut Tunnel.

There is at least 12 months ore in sight at the present time. Besides taking this out the company will run a big cross-cut tunnel to cut the ore body about 300 feet below the present workings.

In short, the company proposes to operate the property on a business basis from the start, and possessing the required capital, and with the improvements to plant, may be expected to bring this famous silver-lead property well within the zone of profitable production.

The Highland British Columbia Mines Limited, an English company, are the titular owners of the property, and for some years it has been held by interests represented by W. J. Wilson, of Vancouver, under a lease and bond. By a similar means, the control of this valuable silver-lead property passes to the Kootenay Silver-Lead Mines, Limited.

In a short time the famous Highland name will again appear prominently in the list of shipping mines and this will be co-incident with renewed prosperity to the town of Ainsworth, while one more mine will be added to the lengthy list of large producers in the Kootenay.

TO DISREGARD CANADA'S CLAIMS

Washington Instructs Whalers to Refuse to Recognize Canadian Sovereignty in Northern Waters.

OTTAWA, June 29—A reason for the recent appointment of Hon. J. C. Patterson to be a commissioner to investigate the titles of ownership to lands in the far north may be found in a report which has reached Ottawa to the effect that the United States government has given instructions to its citizens who are engaged in the whaling industry in the northern waters to disregard Canada's claims to sovereignty there.

For the last few years the United States whalers have willingly paid license to the Royal Northwest Mounted police on behalf of the Canadian government and it was understood that they had certified the claim of the Canadian government to a control over the northern fisheries. Now, however, it is said that the whalers who left New Bedford this week for the north take with them a definite statement from Washington that they will be protected by the United States government if they refuse to pay the licenses or otherwise recognize the sovereignty of Great Britain in the northern seas.

EVANGELISTIC PLAN OF THE PRESBYTERY

Proposal for Campaign Among Kootenay Churches—Pastor Inducted at Grand Forks.

The presbytery of Kootenay met in Knox church, Grand Forks, on Tuesday evening for the purpose of inducting to the pastoral charge, Rev. M. D. McKee, who has been taking temporary charge of the congregation since last November. There was a large attendance of the public. Dr. J. T. Ferguson presided. The sermon was preached by Rev. T. A. Petrie, Greenwood. The charge to the minister was given by Rev. P. McNabb, Trail, and the charge to the congregation by Rev. L. Lundie, Phoenix.

Before the service a large company, including the local clergy, were entertained at an elegant banquet on the Manse lawn. Among those present were Martin Burrell, M.P., and Ernest Miller, M.P.P.

General Mission.

The presbytery met again yesterday morning and discussed a proposed plan for an extensive evangelistic mission to be held in connection with the Presbyterian churches throughout Kootenay next fall, beginning about the middle of October. The mission was to be carried out by ministers and members of the Canadian church, and was to be directed to the strengthening of church life and the promotion of training for religious and social service. Dr. Ferguson was instructed to convey to the general assembly's committee on evangelism, the views of the presbytery regarding the proposals made, which appeared to have been wisely conceived.

A number of points connected with the home mission work were discussed.

A report by the committee on systematic beneficience, after consideration and suggestion, was remitted to the committee, to be brought up again at the next regular meeting.

BALFOUR FETE GREAT SUCCESS.

(Special to The Daily News.)

BALFOUR, June 28—The various committees connected with the Balfour fete met last night to compare notes and settle up accounts. It was found that a total of $135 net had been realised.

The vicar and the committees would like to render thanks to those who helped to make this initial venture a success. The Bell Trading Co., Hudson's Bay Co., A. Macdonald & Co., J. O. Patenaude, Wood Vallance Co., etc. Also all those ranchers who, while so busy at home with strawberries, could make time to send in cakes, bread, milk, butter, etc. Also all those ladies who gave time and trouble to the stalls and worked so hard on the day itself. And to all both men and women who gave so freely of their substance, their time or experience.

It was believed by some that the fete would have been a moderate success only if it had not been for the optimism and indefatigability of F. J. Sammons the cheerful Proctor trader.

It is hoped to make the Balfour fete an annual success.

COUNT DE LESSEPS FLIES IN BIPLANE

Takes Youthful Canadian Aeronaut Under His Wing—Competitive Features Delayed.

MONTREAL, June 29—Count De Lesseps, the French aviator, who came to Canada to demonstrate the good points of the Bleriot monoplane, made his first trip this evening in a Wright bi-plane.

He did so on the invitation of Manager Knabenshue, of the Wrights, the safe carriage of the guest being entrusted to Brookens, the most daring of the Wright aviators. Brookens took the count up about a thousand feet and the flight extended far beyond the limits of the course, including a reverse and a side dip which took away the breath of the big crowd on the grand stand.

As the count does not talk a word of English and Brookens cannot speak a word of French there was no extended conversation, between the international aviators, while aloft, but when the pair landed the count gave Brookens a hearty pat on the back, which fully expressed his admiration of the skill of the American aviator.

Other Features.

Outside of this the program was confined to a couple of short flights by the count in his Bleriot, some speed circles by LaChappelle and a flight by Johnson, both of the latter using the Wright bi-planes. The competitive features of the meet are held in abeyance awaiting the arrival of the large Bleriot on which the count depends for success, the machines he has been using being of too small horse power to admit of success in competition with the more powerful Wright bi-planes.

Under His Wing.

Not only has the count made firm friends of the Wright aviators, but has taken young Cromwell Dixon, the boy aeronaut, who lost his dirigible balloon on Monday, under his wing. He is going to make a Bleriot operator out of the boy, using the machine owned by James Carruthers of Montreal. The count says the boy has nerve, as he showed by his management of his ill-fated dirigible and that he should make a good aviator. Dixon, who was heart-broken over the loss of the balloon, now candidly admits that now he has a chance at the real thing, he is glad the balloon put itself out of business. Discussing his experience after the flight, Count DeLesseps remarked that it was the first time he had ever been up in a bi-plane. The Wright form of a flying machine certainly gave one a safer and more comfortable feeling than the monoplane.

It was stated that Brookens took the count up higher than a bi-plane had ever travelled with a passenger.

JANITOR OF SCHOOL HAS A CRAZY FIT

Carlson Threatens Life of Teacher Jost—Is Now Resting in Police Cells.

There was considerable excitement at the public school at noon yesterday, when Gus Carlson, the janitor, made the announcement that he was going to kill H. T. Jost, one of the teachers. Carlson has conceived a violent antipathy to Mr. Jost, who has charge of the fourth division, and it broke into passionate flame yesterday. He accused the teacher of various enormities, and avowed an intention of going down town, buying a gun, and taking summary vengeance for his fancied wrongs. He was also going to kill himself and his family.

C. W. Young, chief of police, was just sitting down to his dinner when T. H. B. Roberts, principal of the public school, rang him up on the telephone, and apprised him of what was going on. He said he would not be responsible for the consequences if Carlson, who had evidently gone crazy, was at large for another half hour. Chief Young abandoned his dinner and hurried over to the scene of turmoil, and took the turbulent little man in charge.

Carlson was in a desperate mood and apparently quite irresponsible. He denied to the chief that he had been drinking, but admitted he had a bottle. He is now in the city cells. It is the theory of Chief Young that the man's condition is due to drink, and that he will be in a normal condition in a day or two.

Didn't Like Job.

It was only about five weeks ago that Carlson was appointed janitor, in succession to Mr. McDonald, who had resigned. Two or three weeks ago Principal Roberts rang up Dr. R. C. Arthur, secretary of the public school board, stating that Carlson wanted to quit on the spot. Accordingly, at the regular meeting of the board, which was held a few days later, Mr. McAtee was appointed janitor, his duties to commence tomorrow. Carlson apparently had not been in love with his job at any stage. The janitor's quarters are in the basement.

Carlson owns a ranch on the Granite road. When Chief Young examined him he found $900 on his person, chiefly in $100 bills.

COUNT ZEPPELIN SUPERINTENDS SALVAGE OF INJURED AIRSHIP

OSNABRUCK, Germany, June 29.—Count Zeppelin disappointed but not discouraged harried today to superintend the salvage of his latest model, the great airship Deutschland, which came to grief in less experienced hands yesterday. The count, who will be 72 years old on Friday of next week, had an engagement for the near future to fly from Friedlichshaft to Vienna and exhibit his invention to Emperor Francis Joseph and he proposes to make good his promises.

The propects for the early resumption of the passenger service, however, are not bright. The airship company announces that the accident will necessitate a suspension for several months of the advertised excursion, but also that it proposes to renew this service at earliest possible date.

After hours of perilous flight in which it was driven hither and thither by wind, the ship found refuge in the trees. Her frame work was wrenched and the great envelope badly torn. Her 32 passengers, including 20 newspaper men, had almost miraculous escape from injury.

Throughout the night 200 soldiers stood guard about the clump of trees, in the branches of which the airship wedged herself just last evening. Today the soldiers were occupied in restraining the thousands of persons who flocked in from miles around to view the crippled flier. The next voyage of the Deutschland will be made with Count Zeppeln at the helm.

Place of Honor in Family Medicine Chest

Mrs. Louis Inra will never be without Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, now that she has found out what it will do for her. Last winter it cured her of a severe cold. Her happy husband says:

"In justice to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I must say that it cured her of a severe cold when everything else she tried failed. She has been troubled with a cough every winter recently, and has tried all kinds of patent medicines and home remedies without their doing her much good. Finally I advised her to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey once and see if it would not give her some relief. That was early last winter, and the results were very gratifying, so much so that Mrs. Inra will never be without your valuable Malt Whiskey any more, and has such faith in it that it takes the place of honor in the Family Medicine Chest." BONDHOLDERS STILL AFTER THEIR MONEY

States Which Repudiated Debts Encounter Difficulty in Floating Present Bond Issues.

The London Financier says:

Has Nemesis at last come to the defaulting States of North America? At any rate, the warning issued by the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders concerning the proposed new issue by the state of Mississippi was a reminder that North Carolina had been baulked in her attempt to raise a loan in New York, and had been thrown back upon her local resources, and the local resources have at present proved unequal to the stretch of patriotism involved in finding the necessary funds. If the state of Mississippi is pulled up in a similar way it will be quite a refreshing experience for the holders of the old bonds, which these, among other southern states of the union, have done their best to repudiate.

The Carpet bag Governments.

Ancient history though it be, it is quite appropriate that at the present time this matter should be brought prominently forward. There is no more disgraceful episode in the history of the United States than that associated with the default after the war of secession of those states of the confederacy who borrowed money, not only during the war, but subsequently. It may be recollected that, as a consequence of the disorganisation of the state legislatures and administrations, Washington, after the peace was made, sent a number of governors and officials, with all necessary plenary powers, to carry on the government of such states as appeared to need such a measure. The Southerners were, of course, under compulsion, and it may be granted that the state government so carried on was neither representative nor in any way authorised to act as an executive, with borrowing powers, except by virtue of a direct authority from Washington. The southern states concerned, when they were allowed to resume control of their own affairs, naturally had no great compunction in the way of deferring payment, either of interest or principal, in regard to those loans incurred by what they termed the 'Carpet-bag Government.' All that aspect of the question has, of course, been threshed out years ago. The reasonableness of formally repudiating such debts by the state governments may be a matter for difference of opinion, but the responsibility for those loans must of necessity rest either with the state or with the federal government.

Some Government Responsible.

The governors appointed from Washington either were or were not fit and proper persons to exercise such authority. If they were, the state had no right to take the line they have, and if they were not, then the federal government is clearly under a moral obligation to see that the bondholders get justice.

The question of these defaults has been so long in abeyance that to many otherwise well informed persons the revival of the subject may appear a somewhat grotesque resurrection. But it is never too late to pay one's debts, and as the United States appear to anxious to act as the mentor for the smaller republics of the south, it may be just as well that either the federal government or the states themselves should wipe out this blot on their financial escutcheon.

SPORTING NEWS

Start for Reno.

NEW YORK, June 29—Fight fans were in a happy mood today over the official statement of Governor Dickerson of Nevada that he would not interfere with the Jeffries-Johnson contest, and not a few of them, when they heard the official news that the fight would be held packed their grips and started for Reno. Johnson's followers here are reported to have raised a large sum of money but are waiting to place it on the short end of two to one.

Has Money to Bet.

NEW YORK, June 29—Louis Houseman announced here today that he has $10,000 to be placed at one to ten that Johnson will not answer the call of time at the seventh round of the big fight at Reno. 'I will bet the money for my friends $10,000 to $100,000 or any part at any odds," said Houseman.

Motor Boat Race.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 29—The motor boats Eromel 2nd and Yoho arrived here this morning, the former sufficiently in the lead to give her the victory in the race from New York. The Eromel 2nd crossed the finish line at 1:24 a. m. and the Yoho at 7 o'clock. The Eromel allowed the other a handicap of an hour and 17 minutes and 36 seconds and accordingly won with a margin of four hours, 38 minutes and 24 seconds.

PASSENGER JUMPS OVERBOARD.

DETROIT, Mich., June 28.—A passenger giving the name of F. Goldthie, of Ottawa, Ont., it is believed has committed suicide by leaping from the steamer Eastern States as the vessel was coming up the Detroit river today on her trip from Buffalo. Nobody saw the man jump. Letters were discovered after the vessel docked.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 28.—Word has reached here that Rudolph J. Fass, driving a car in the Glidden tour, had fallen heir to a fortunte of $1,500,000 through the death of his grandfather, Rudolph Fass of Wearthemberg, Germany. The news found no more surprised man that Fass himself. 'I certainly had a grandfather in Germany," he said, "and I also expected to get a little from him, but I never dreamed of a fortunte like this.'

When Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cured her Chronic Liver Complaint

"I can hardly tell you how great my sufferings have been. Chronic liver complaint accompanied by biliousness were a daily source of trial to me. Every day I experienced the sickening effects of these ailments. I longed for some medicine that should permanently drive them away.

Hearing of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, I thought they were worthy of a trial. My surprise was indeed great. From the very first I experienced relief. Continuing with them I found my troubles were slowly but surely leaving me, and before long I once more knew what it was to be free from the harassing effects of the ailments that had long sickened and weakened me. So great is my faith in Dr. Morse's Indian Pills that I shall never on any account be without them."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure Bowel and Kidney as well as Liver troubles, and keep you healthy. 25c a box at your dealer's. 14

WASTE OF LIFE IN DOMINION

Industrial Death Roll is Too Great—Should Not be Tolerated—Corporations and Damage Suits.

When two-score persons were killed or maimed by the collapse of a building in Montreal people everywhere were shocked and horrified, says the Toronto News. But in the month of May throughout Canada one hundred and thirty-three deaths through accident occurred amongst employes in Canadian factories, and two hundred and forty-three individuals were injured more or less seriously. Twenty-five railway men were killed and thirty-nine injured. All this horrible waste of life and working power is accepted with heartless philosophy by our people as if it were an inevitable decree of Fate. Is it less shocking to kill four men a day for thirty days than to kill thirty in one morning?

Manufacturers and Inspectors.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association spends valuable time seeking new markets, growling over railway rates and fighting the labor unions. Could it not do something to abate this daily manslaughter? Through the pressure of organized labor most of the provinces have factory inspectors, and at the demand of those officials safety devices of various kinds have been installed in many factory buildings. But still there are manufacturers who look upon the government officials as busybodies, and neglect their instructions. In the report of the Ontario Inspectors of Factories for 1908 one of these cases is cited. The dangerous machinery had not been guarded, in spite of the instructions of the government official. A workman's hand was crushed to pulp, and the careless factory owner was condemned by the courts to pay damages of $4500.

Responsibility for Safety.

The fact is that we on this continent are reckless of life. It is a black shame to us. Perhaps a few prosecutions for manslaughter would wake up the manufacturers, and make them realize that the employer of labor bears, and ought to bear, responsibility for the safety of his operatives. The fact is recognized to the full in Europe. An industrial death roll such as the one reported for May would not be tolerated in Great Britain. Armies have marched for a month in war time without such a loss.

Fighting Widow's Claim.

The railway death roll of nearly one a day is also far too great. Moreover, this brings forward another question with relation to corporations and their attitude towards damage suits. In the United States the Erie railway has fought for ten years through a score of courts the claim of Mrs. Kane, the widow of a fireman who was killed while oiling his engine. The widow finally received $4500, but how much of this did the lawyers get? In Toronto the Street Railway company has fought damage suits to the privy council. This habit of killing a man through negligence and then trying to wear out the patience of his heirs by protracted and expensive litigation is a disgrace to our civilization, and next door to a crime. The question is serious. Here is a new task for the Conservation commission. Surely human life is the greatest of our natural resources.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—News of discovery of three bodies of Midshipman G. M Nason, and G. E. Thomas and Mrs. Ralph S. Bowyer, whof sailed to return to the naval academy at Annapolis yesterday after leaving for a sail, was reported to the navy department from Annapolis today. The bodies were recovered near the place where the sail boat had been anchored. No explanation was advanced as to the manner in which the three met their deaths, but it is supposed that the party were bathing.

FIRE AT GENOA.

CARSON CITY, Nev., June 28—Genoa, the county seat of Douglas county, twelve miles south of this city was almost destroyed by fire late this evening. The loss is over $100,000.

PRESIDENT ARRIVES.

BEVERLY, Mass., June 29.—President Taft arrived at his summer home this morning and will spend two or three months here.

WHAT IS CAUSE OF EGYPT TROUBLE

Fanaticism and Corruption, Says Famous Egyptologist—All Classes Dislike English His Explanation.

The famous Egyptologist sets out in the Daily Mail some of the difficulties of Britain's task in Egypt—not from the standpoint of the official or of the upper classes, but from that of the peasantry, with whom he has conversed for a quarter of a century:

"The forces which must be painfully experienced in the country in order to estimate them are fanaticism, corruption and the stern necessity of ruling or else being ruled. Innocent folks at home say that surely the peasantry must see how much better off they now are, and love us accordingly. Let such complacent people hear how one of the best and most level-headed peasants that I know gloated over the assassination of Boutros. Let them hear how the Moslem schoolboys cheered in schools, and how the Christians wept, when the news spread. Let them read now how the religious authorities in Cairo plead that no Moslem can be hanged for killing a Christian. And the upper classes foster the fanaticism of the peasant.

Corruption and Intolerance.

"Corruption is the most serious impediment to any form of self-government. Ordinary business can hardly be transacted without tips to officials; and most extraordinary business can be easily managed in a judicious way. The intolerance of the Egyptian must be also reckoned with. He and you must be the two millstones—one upper, one under. He cannot relish any parity of powers. He must rule or be ruled. He cannot understand 'give and take;' he will screw to the utmost, no matter how rich; for on his wealth depends his power of protecting himself when authorities are against him.

Pandering to the Natives.

"Egypt cannot stand by itself; it is too fanatical and too corrupt to do so. Some power must guarantee its solvency to its European creditors. Whether that power be France, Germany, Italy or Turkey, none of those countries is likely to leave as much scope to the Egyptian as Britain has done. The only road to self-government is by cleaning up the corruption and by checking the fanaticism. The itch for Europeanising must be allayed and a development on native lines needs to be fostered which should be adapted to the wants of the country and its capacities and nature.

Why British Must Be Prompt.

"So long as we profess to be responsible for the government we need to be rigidly impartial between Copt and Moslem, not favoring the latter because he is a majority. We need prompt action for what the native cannot understand is indecision. We need to replace all grossly corrupt officials by Europeans for a stated term of years, as a proof that such malpractice must be checked. If a corrupt law court were replaced by a resident magistrate of the Indian type for some time the occasion of the change would be its justification. As a native official said to me, 'You English are all very well for irrigation and engineering, but you do not know how to rule.' We have to show that we know how to rule—in the native sense of things—just, prompt, strong, fearless and farseeing. There is no more tractable man that the Egyptian when you command his confidence in your ability, and there is no more unreasonable man when he sees that you do not know your own mind."

JAPAN SEEN BY BRITISH ARTIST

Flower Festivals—Exquisite Avenues Ring With Music and Laughter—In Praise of the Women.

A portly but in every way a delightful volume is that in which Mr. H. G. Ponting, F.R.G.S., has enshrined the observations and the pictures which he collected during three years' residence in Japan. It is published by Macmillan and Co., with the title in Lotus-Land Japan (21s), and the text is embellished with eight lovely illustrations in colours and ninety-six others in monochrome. Mr. Ponting's main object was to take photographs, for to Mr. Ponting life is not worth living without a camera; but in his story as well as in his pictures he contrives to convey to us that charm of Japan and the Japanese people which fascinated himself so completely.

Flower Festivals.

For a brief week or two each year all Japan is a very shrine to Flora. The flowers begin with the plum blossoms, which burst out in February. But the most popular are the cherry blossom festivals held in April. Here is a description of one of them, the Mukojima: On the left bank of the river (near Tokio) runs an avenue of cherry-trees a mile long, which is one glorious mass of blossom. Japanese cherry blossoms are pink, not white like ours, and from a distance the trees resemble a bank of clouds softly flushed by the rays of the rising sun. Under this exquisite canopy carnival is king, and from morning till long after midnight the avenue rings with music and shouts of revelry and laughter, for Mukojima is the festival of the bourgeoisie.

Mukojima has its aristocratic counterpart in Uyeno, a magnificent old park, which in cherry blossom time is the resort of the elite. There the avenues of cherry trees form a veritable sea of lovely diaphanous blossom. Whichever way one looks great foaming billows of soft pink fill the view, and the whole beautiful place seems to be suffused with a tinted mist, from which a delicate perfume falls. Along the smooth roadways drive carriages with dainty Japanese ladies in them dressed in soft grays and fawns and quiet neutral tints; whilst under the great spreading trees the low-voiced pedestrians walk with dignity and decorum. This is the Bois of Tokio.

In Praise of the Women.

The position which the Japanese wife occupies in the respect and affections of her husband even today is but little understood, for so much misinformation has been disseminated about her that a wholly wrong impression is generally held of one who is the most amiable of man's helpmates in the world. The Japanese home is, perhaps, the most difficult to gain intimate access to.

During the Russo-Japanese war Mr. Ponting spent three weeks in the hospital at Hiroshima, where wounded soldiers to the number of 20,000 arrived from the front after a week's travelling with their first-aid bandages still on, and he brought away with him an indelible picture of the noble part the women of Japan played in that awful time.

Scenes in the Military Hospitals.

"As I listened to this gallant tribute of the old general my vision flew back to the weeks I had spent in the great Hiroshima hospital, where hundreds of poor fellows, shattered by shot and shell, were being brought in daily . . . I saw again those gentle little angels in white flitting noiselessly about amongst the beds. I saw them rapidly yet tenderly ministering to the stricken with kindly glances and soft words as their wondrous fingers removed and replaced dressings with marvellous dexterity.

Artist-Craftsmen of Kyoto.

Another very interesting chapter deals with the artist-craftsmen of Kyoto—the wonderful workers in bronze and ivory, the embroiderers, the potters. The author gives a wonderful description of a damascened cigarette case purchased in Kyoto. Mr. Ponting took this gem to the sword factory at Toledo, the most renowned damascene works in Spain. "For half an hour the experts subjected the case to the closest scrutiny with magnifying glasses, and with sighs admitted they had never seen anything like it, that no one in Spain could execute anything approaching it, either for beauty of design or perfection of finish.

Other Asiatic Art Compared.

"Komei Ishikawa, the most skilful ivory worker in Japan, will take a three foot tusk and carve it into a single file of elephants so lifelike that they almost seem to move along the thin strip left as a base. But with it all, and notwithstanding that the Hindu has elephants every day before his eyes, there was not the 'life' that the innate art of the Japanese enables him to instil into his image of an animal he never sees.

"The Chinese embroiderers are an easy second to the Japanese, but whilst exquisite taste always governs the selection of their colors, they have not the skill to hold the mirror up to nature as have the Japanese. Thus it is, in any of the arts that Japan has learnt from China—and China is to Japan what ancient Greece was to all the rest of Europe—that their inherent genius and love of anything beautiful in nature have enabled the Japanese to counterfeit that beauty, by a hundred different means, to a degree of perfection the Chinese have never reached. The pupil has far outclassed the master."

DO POLICE RULE IN THE AIR?

The recent flight of the aviator Frey over Berlin has led to an interesting controversy in a portion of the Berlin press. The question is, "Can an aviator fly over Berlin without police permission?"

It is pointed out that the police maintain law and order in the streets of Berlin, that they are responsible for the accidents that happen therein, that their permission had to be asked to hold open-air political meetings, and, in fact, their permission has to be obtained for almost everything under the sun.

When Zeppelin came to Berlin thousands of police looked after the public safety; when King Edward came to Berlin the streets were lined with police and troops, and yet the aviator Frey actually had the audacity not to inform the Berliners that he was going to fly over the capital; but the greatest of all blunders, he omitted to inform the police and receive their permission to do so.

What would have happened, the papers ask, if an accident occurred to his airship, a portion of wood or steel became detached, and on its way to the ground struck some harmless burgher walking from his daily toil?

Clearly it is the object and duty of the police at once to issue a manifesto proclaiming that the air over Berlin is the property of the police, and no aviator in future must invade this sacred sphere without first informing the guardians of the law, so that they may take adequate precaution to protect the inhabitants against falling propellors, or some other parts of the aerial vessel.

JEWEL ROBBERIES ON SHIP FROM SYDNEY TO VICTORIA

VICTORIA, June 29.—Robberies of jewelry and money from passengers on the steamer Marama, which arrived last night, during the voyage from Australia were reported today to the police. John Brice Mullin, of Buntranna, Donegal, Ireland, reported that on June 5, soon after leaving Sydney, a silver jewel case with diamond and ruby rings, brooches, stars and hearts, worth over $2,000, was stolen from cabin 16. Mrs. Starling of Sydney reported the theft of a suede bag containing diamond and ruby rings, pearl and gold brooches and a leather belt containing money, the whole worth over $1,500, on June 22, from cabin 82. Customs officers searched the baggage of passengers who embarked here, but no trace was found.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION and with a record of 39 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

No Heat Except Where Needed

Dishes hot—food well cooked—kitchen cool. No underdone food—no overheated kitchen in summer. Everything hot when wanted. Heat under perfect control and concentrated.

CONTINUES CASE BEFORE TRIBUNAL

Ex-Senator Turner Argues That Newfoundland's Claims Are But Newly Devised.

THE HAGUE, June 29.—Continuing his article before the fisheries tribunal today, former Senator Turner, for the United States, concluded that from the absence of any restrictive clauses in the treaty of 1818, the American right to fish was not limited, and this, he said, was confirmed by the tenor of the British law of 1819, which was framed for enforcement by the governor of Newfoundland. Between the conclusion of the treaty of 1818 and 1862 Newfoundland had never taken it upon herself to limit American fishing by regulations or laws regarding fishing. Such laws did not exist in Newfoundland prior to 1862, and the laws of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick of 1783 concerning fisheries had no bearing on the present matter since the American rights to fish, granted by the treaty of 1818, had not been extended to the coast of these colonies. Up to 1862 no Canadian law had ever restricted American rights.

Recent Laws.

The right to fish was a real right, while a right derived from a treaty of commerce was only obligatory. Mr. Turner afterwards called attention to the Newfoundland laws of 1906 and 1908 prohibiting inhabitants from taking service in foreign vessels or to procure fishing equipment from them. These laws, he declared, tended to paralyze fishing by Americans and prevent American fishing men from visiting ports or bays or inlets of Newfoundland. In the same way, the Newfoundland law of 1905 prohibited employment of certain kinds of nets for herring fishing in winter was unfair to Americans. The prohibition of herring fishing with nets on Sunday also gave an advantage to Newfoundland fishermen, who employed snares along shore. Mr. Turner next pointed out that Newfoundland accepted the treaty of 1871, which was similar to that of 1818, without contending that its legislation would be enforceable over American fishermen, and argued that the Circular issued by Mr. Marcy, secretary of state, advising American fishermen to observe colonial fishing laws was simply intended to avert collisions.

KOOTENAY LAKE.

Fair dreaming lake, embowered in summer skies,
Above whose shores, defiant of control,
The mountains in majestic state arise,
And heights unwearied backward roll.

Thou art the daughter of a thousand streams,
Whose music is of Fairyland's device.
And evermore there mingles with thy dreams
A fitting credence born in realms of ice.

THURSDAY, JUNE 30.

ONE NATIONAL ANTHEM FOR BOTH.

A St. John paper says:

The Champlain monument will be unveiled on Friday evening at 6:30, and if present plans carry, the people who attend, will have the rather unique opportunity of hearing two of the city bands play God Save the King, and the Marseillaise almost concurrently. This is not unusual in other parts of Canada, where there is a large proportion of French-Canadian population, but St. John is not one of these.

The present plans are that as the monument is unveiled by Mayor Frink, the two regimental bands which will be present will play the two airs referred to, in token of the two great races which find congenial union here in Canada.

We may confess that we are not filled with admiration for this idea. It seems that the national anthem is to be played for one race and the Marseillaise for the other. Is not the national anthem the national anthem of both races in Canada,—of Canadians of all races.

Playing both airs in the manner suggested must indicate to the French Canadians that the national anthem is not regarded as theirs, that it is a racial possession.

Let the same national anthem be played for all Canadians. If some graceful attention is to be paid to each race let it take the form in each case of an additional air.

THE WRECK OF THE DEUTCHLAND

The German airship passenger service has come to an end, temporarily at least, on its third trip. Taken by itself one mishap of the sort proves little. In a high wind—when it was most needed—one of the motors went wrong. With the lifting capacity of the balloon it seems strange that a surplus of motor power was not provided. Even under these circumstances no one was injured.

It is, however, not an isolated mishap. One dirigible balloon after another has been carried away in high winds. In the present case it appears that but for the motor going wrong there would have been little difficulty, even in the wind, and it will generally be possible to rise above the air levels in which the storm is raging. Still the great bulk of the dirigible balloon will for many years enable sudden gusts to exert enormous pressure upon it; and in a trip of several hundred miles, lasting half a day, unexpected storms are likely to arise from time to time.

Meanwhile air navigation as a commercial business is evidently well under way. In Switzerland arrangements are being made, not for long journeys but for mountain seeing trips, trips to view the mountains. It will no longer be necessary to deface the scenery with mountain-climbing railways. A dispatch from Lucerne says:

The airship hall, which is rapidly assuming form here, will be completed during the month; and it is exceeding the expectation of those who have been watching its progress. An idea is now obtained of its dimensions, from the immense scaffolding. This, the first Swiss "aerial port," will witness the inauguration of a real aviation service in Switzerland to participate in which many are coming from abroad. Trips to the Rigi and back, as well as to other points, will be of daily occurrence. This means of seeing the Alps will offer an altogether novel opportunity of gaining new Alpine impressions, and of viewing the mountain scenery from unusual points. The ability to rise high enough to go around a peak and look down upon its very top, on which a party can actually descend as a way station is a possibility that arouses great expectations.

There is a hint here for that enterprising company, the C. P. R. Some of these days we may hear of similar air ship trips among the mountains at Banff; or we may be going up to Balfour to take a trip from the hotel there over the mountain tops.

Winnipeg is to have a world's fair in 1914. It will be sadly out-of-date if it does not include an aeroplane meet, and it is quite possible that passengers may be taken on air-ship trips to view the prairie crops and to observe how much of the land still remains to be cultivated.

MORE FOREST FIRES.

Now it is the country between the Lake of the Woods and Fort William that is being swept by forest fires. The lumbermen are losing hundreds of thousands, perhaps, in this case, one or two million dollars; the country is losing valuable natural wealth that should give employment to men and contribute to the general upbuilding of the community. Incidentally some lives may be lost.

How do these fires come to devastate the country? Is it the green standing timber that carries them, or is it the dry slashing? Would it not be in the interest of the lumbermen themselves to devise and enforce some method of clearing up, if not the whole of the slashings, at least wide strips between them at frequent intervals.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION

WINNIPEG, June 29.—General Sir John French arrived from the west today, after inspecting the Sewell camp.

CORNWALL, Ont., June 29.—A bad fire was reported from Northfield, 15 miles from here. The Advent church, a public hall, and George Roberts' house and barn were wiped out.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 29.—Patrick Stratton, C.P.R. trucker, was decapitated this morning by an incoming freight train. The man was lying with his head across the rails.

WIARTON, Ont., June 29.—R. Brain, employed at the Crown Portland Cement company's works, was buried under an avalanche of gravel. He died after being extricated.

TORONTO, June 29.—Rev. Dr. Alexander Sutherland, secretary of the foreign mission board of the Methodist church, is very low this afternoon and is not expected to live through the day.

WINNIPEG, June 29.—John D. Landers, a well known conductor of the Canadian Pacific railway, running out of Winnipeg, died today at Hot Springs, Ark. He had been in poor health for some time.

WINNIPEG, June 29—Fire broke out this afternoon in the Alaska Bedding company's factory in the north end of the city, and before it was gotten under control damaged the building and plant to the extent of $25,000. One hundred employees who were at work when the fire was discovered, got out safely.

TORONTO, June 29.—Among local grain men there is a disposition to discredit any attempt to alarm the people over the probable outcome of the northwest wheat crop. W. D. Mathews voices the opinion of the majority of the grain merchants in Toronto today in saying: "I do not believe that anybody at the present time can tell anything about the crop. We all know that rain and cool weather, while it kept it back a little, increased the strength and endurance of the grain in most sections. So far as our knowledge goes, we are unable to locate any instances of damage either by rain, drought, heat or bugs."

OTTAWA, June 29—Information has been received here that it is the intention of the American government, at first opportunity, to contest Canada's claim to exclusive rights over Hudson's Bay. Owners and masters of American vessels which proceed to those latitudes have been officially notified from Washington that they need not recognize the Hudson Bay any longer as an inland sea in the possession of Canada, which in effect means that American vessel owners may decline to pay for Canadian licenses and other dues. Capt. Cromer, who is one of the best known American traders in Hudson Bay, has been in Ottawa during the last few days, and on being interviewed declared his intention to ignore the Washington order.

CALGARY, June 29.—From 17 pounds of iron ore found within 10 miles of Calgary, ex-Alderman Watson, local representative of a Boston syndicate controlling $60,000,000, secured five pounds of excellent iron of fine grain and admirably suited for the manufacture of steel. According to Mr. Watson, mountains of such ore exist within 50 miles of the city and within 20 miles of a railroad. Mr. Watson states that within a few months work on a steel plant and rolling mills will be started in Calgary. A new line of railroad will be built direct from the mills to the mines and there is now every assurance that Calgary will be the Pittsburg of the Canadian west. Mountains have already been partially completed with a view to securing a suitable site.

CANYON CITY IS BECOMING A GREAT RANCHING CENTRE

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRESTON, B. C., June 29.—Canyon City, a new town and settlement situated about two miles and a half from Erickson station and five miles from Creston, is at present the scene of much activity as the many fruit growers who have purchased blocks of orchard land from the Canyon City Lumber company, which owns some 5,700 acres of ideal orchard land in Canyon City, are now in the throes of land clearing and improving. The land at Canyon City is recognized as being specially adapted to fruit and garden produce.

Among the fruit growers who have been fortunate enough to secure a block of land at Canyon City and who are now doing clearing work on their newly acquired property is T. H. Hickey who owns 10 acres and W. H. Gesil who has another 10 acre plot. A. P. Swanson is making a great change to his 20 acre plot by removing all surplus timber, while A. E. Hussock is among those who own 10 acre plots and is clearing them. The Westling Bros, with their 20 acre plot, are doing good work, while John Crawford will soon have his 10 acre plot as clear as a billiard table. C. Blair and P. Knot with their 10 and 20 acre plots, respectively, would make the ordinary French Canadian anemia blush at the way they are felling the trees both great and small, while E. Oson is improving his 10 acre plot by clearing it. The 20 acre plot belonging to A. D. Pochin is assuming a new appearance as each week passes, while R. Turner and C. S. Hall are doing yeoman work in clearing their 10 acre plots. C. Higgins and T. H. Mansea are also engaged in clearing their 10 acre plots. D. Rodgers and A. G. Samuelson are among the owners of 10 acre plots who will be among the first to have their land cleared, while M. Clayton and W. Johnson are working long shift to convert the timbered portion of their lands into paying orchards. R. and J. Kiffer, who each own 10 acre plots and D. J. Lyon with his 20 acre plot are all working hard to make model orchards of their plots of land. Hiten Young with his 10 acre plot deserves credit for the manner in which he is clearing his land. R. S. Gibbs, one of the very latest settlers at Canyon City, has already started land clearing and will also erect a fine residence in the near future to cost $1,500. R. B. C. Fleming on his 10 acre plot is also clearing land with a vengeance. The above are only some of the many fruit land owners at Canyon City, as there are many others who are not at present actively engaged in improving the land. Indeed, so rapidly has this settlement grown that it has now been found necessary to have a school at Canyon City, as at present there are 15 children of school age and nearly every month that number will be increased owing to the arrival of new families who will be purchasing fruit lands at Canyon City.

School Inspector Amazed.

During the recent visit of School Inspector Sullivan to Creston a few weeks ago that official personally drove out to look over the situation at Canyon City and he was fairly amazed at the rapid growth of the settlement and he stated emphatically that Canyon City was entitled to a school and should have one at once.

What company or individual could do a greater work for any district than is at present being done by the Canyon City Lumber company by their putting on the market choice blocks of fruit land on easy terms and thus creating a substantial settlement of the very best class of people for any country. C. O. Rodgers, the local manager of this company, takes a personal supervision of all that goes on at Canyon City and his big mill and timber limits at Canyon City give steady employment to many of the residents of Canyon City, thus enabling these people to earn good wages when they are not otherwise employed in clearing and improving their lands. It is settlements like Canyon City that will help very materially to make the Creston district famous.

MOYIE, June 29.—That Cranbrook people are taking a keen interest in the Jeffries-Johnson fight is evidenced by the fact that a delegation of five prominent men of that city passed through Moyie today en route to the ringside at Reno. They were V. A. Rollins, R. Kellett, E. H. Small, Cory Dow and James Brown. Other residents of that city are already in Reno.

Winnipeggers Criticised.

LONDON, June 29.—Guy Nickalls writes that the Winnipeggers are the most criticised crew at Henley. He thinks that the latter is not one of the same class as past crews, and he states that, to our ideas of rowing, the Winnipeggers commit all the faults possible in oarsmen. They rush forward and go slowly back; they do not swing to perpendicular; they are able to slide 21 inches but are not used to more than 16 inches; they are not even together yet; they are very fast. If they win, I suppose it will be decreed that we should copy their style. Heaven forbid, but this contingency I consider very remote.

SIR E. SHACKELTON TO BE GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR

While the utterances of Sir Ernest Shackelton, as to his future career in Canada have been somewhat mystifying, and the explorer has refused to give any clue as to his plans, word comes from the London correspondent of a Manchester (England) daily that the hero of the farthest south will devote the next few years of his life to prospecting in the country west of the Hudson Bay and along the line of the proposed Hudson Bay railway. The writer says:

On an authority there is every reason to accept, it is stated that Sir Ernest Shackelton has engaged his services to a Canadian syndicate for an expedition into the north, which may have epoch-making results in geography and in the extension of civilization. Sir Ernest has undertaken, I am told, to explore the western side of Hudson Bay; that is to say the almost unknown Canadian territory, making for the Arctic fringe to the north of the Mackenzie river, and between Hudson Bay and the Pacific northern coasts.

Travellers have brought back reports from that region of the existence of a valuable mineral deposit in that remote home of the ice and the snow. The promoters of the new syndicate—which is supported by one of the great railway companies in Canada, and has the approval of the Dominion government—have a belief in the unexplored mineral wealth on the shores of Hudson Bay and Sir Ernest will be substantially supported in his new undertaking in exploration.

This new Shakelton expedition, indeed, may at no distant date enable the government of Canada to decide for or against the construction of a new railway to Hudson Bay, for which surveys have already been partially made. If Sir Ernest should return with proof of the mineral wealth of the region, no further obstacle will remain in the way of building the railway.

PARK AND BAND STAND.

To the Editor of The Daily News.

Sir,—Would it not be a judicious expenditure, and be appreciated by the citizens of Nelson, if the council would have the park adjoining the grounds of the General hospital underbrushed and cleaned up. You would have to take a walk through it to see what a beautiful spot it is.

Then considering it position near the lake and, again, the walks over the lip of the hill, that could be used by the public farther up town, would it not be the ideal place to put that ever-moving band stand for a permanent resting place? This is only a suggestion from

A. E. HORSWILL.

Nelson, June 30, 1910.

AT THE THEARES

An excellent change of pictures was shown at the Gem last night, the feature film being entitled, "The Smuggler's Game." Other subjects on the program were, "Forced to Find a Job," "Japanese Magic," "Oh Uncle," and "The Seventh Day." This program will be repeated tonight.

A splendid program of feature films is billed at the Empire theatre this evening. The subjects are, "The Millionaire's Adventure," "Muriel's Stratagem," and "The Man Who Waited." Wilkinsons orchestra will play during the evening.

First and foremost among the subjects shown at the Arcade last night was the feature film, "A New Excuse" (a recently released Imp.) Nothing we could say could enhance the fine work attached to these films, either as to acting or photography, it being superb in both cases. The other subjects are very fine, "A Forest Ranger's Daughter," a very pretty little drama; "A Brave Policeman;" "Uncle's Eyes Are Opened," and "The Hat Brand" are decidedly good comics. The latter is acted by the celebrated eccentric comedian, M. Moreno. This must not be confused with the band stand. This program will be repeated at this evening's performance.

ANOTHER BUFFALO ROUND UP.

Joe L. Marion of Flathead, Mont., who passed through Edmonton several days ago on his return from Wainwright, where he assisted in delivering another consignment of the Pablo herd of buffalo, says that over 600 head have now been delivered. There are only 40 or 50 head left. Pablo is going to deliver all he possibly can, and there is no foundation for the story published recently in some American papers that no more were going to be turned over. One more drive will be made, when it is expected all except fourteen or fifteen old bulls will be corralled and sold. It will be next to impossible to ship these old fellows, and they will be left until next winter, when their coats are in good shape, when they will be killed. Pablo intends to advertise in the sporting magazines, and anybody who would like to say he had shot a wild buffalo will be able to do so, if so cares to pay the price. All of these old bulls will weigh over a ton and there is one great fellow, at least two feet taller than any of the others, who will weight over twenty-five hundred pounds. The head of a bull which died last year was sold for $600.

PHINEAS T. BARNUM GREAT CIRCUS MAN

Tom Thumb—Jenny Lind's Tour—Greatest Show on Earth—Value of Advertising.

Though the general public may take no interest in the centenary of P. T. Barnum, newspapers will not permit the occasion to pass unnoticed for Barnum was the greatest and most skilful advertiser in history. He did not always do his advertising in the newspapers, indeed many of his triumphs in arousing public interest were made by other means. His ability in securing free advertising was great and many a time he "worked" the newspapers from coast to coast. Nevertheless the newspapers were his partners in most of his great advertising campaigns, and they will not forget one of the greatest Americans of his generation.

A Fake Centenarian.

Phineas T. Barnum was born on July 5, 1810, in a Connecticut town, and when a mere youngster he showed the money making instinct. As a young man he had a dozen different occupations, but at the age of 24 he made his debut as a showman. He secured an old negress named Joice Heth, advertised her as being "161 years old and formerly the property of Gen. Washington's father," and made some money by exhibiting her. He traveled over the country with this freak, and picked up other curiosities. Barnum's was a ninth rate outfit, but as an advertiser he was without a rival, and he induced the public to pay good money to see his aggregation of freaks and fakes. Returning to New York in 1841 he bought a museum of natural curiosities of some real value, and by throwing an electric current of advertising through the place, he soon had the crowds coming.

Tom Thumb.

It was next year that the great opportunity of his life came to Barnum. He met Charlie Stratten, whom he was to make famous as "General Tom Thumb." The little fellow was first engaged for four weeks at $3 a week, plus all boarding and travelling expenses for himself and parents. Later on he got a raise to $7, and later still to $50. Whether he got any more when Barnum was making his thousands out of him is not mentioned. Barnum taught the midget to sing and dance and recite. He took Tom Thumb to England; gave a couple of performances at Liverpool, to "try it on the dog," and then planned the famous London campaign. He exhibited his freak at the Princess theatre for a short time to make sure that the public was interested in Tom, and then went into comparative retirement, "because the Royal family was in mourning for the death of Prince Albert, a typical Barnumesque performance.

Then he rented a private house in Mayfair, lavishly furnished it, hired a staff of servants, and then sent out a few invitations to titled persons to visit General Tom Thumb. The General's "At Homes" became the craze. The midget rode in the Rothschilds' carriage; he was commanded to appear before Queen Victoria. No fees were charged for these entertainments, but the gifts were only more valuable on that account. When the general appeared again at a theatre, the crowds stood in long lines to catch a glimpse of him. There was truth in Barnum's boast that all the crowned heads had seen the pigmy before he returned to the United States to continue his triumphs. The general laid the foundation of Barnum's first fortune, and helped him to make his second, after unwise real estate speculations had bankrupted the great showman.

Jenny Linds Tour.

The biggest thing Barnum ever did was to engage Jenny Lind for a series of 100 concerts in the United States, at the rate of $1000 a concert. To earn $1000 a night is a considerable performance nowadays. Fifty years ago the feat was prodigious. Before Jenny Lind signed her contract with Barnum she was the recognized queen of song in Europe, but was almost unknown in the United States. Had she appeared in New York before the wonderful campaign of educational advertising that Barnum waged in her behalf, she could not have earned $100 a night. Barnum spent thousands in preparing the way for her and the records he then set as a press agent have never been equalled. The result was that the concerts netted Barnum half a million dollars. As much as $650 was paid for one seat by a Philadelphia enthusiast, and scores of others paid hundreds. Jenny Lind had the greatest reception of any singer before or since, and left behind her the tradition of a voice unequalled in musical history.

The Greatest Show on Earth.

Barnum's circus belonged to a much later period in the showman's career, and was gathered together long after his financial reverses. It was "the greatest show on earth" that introduced Barnum to the present generation, and though he is dead nearly twenty years, the children in the streets today associate the words Barnum and circus and never think of one without the other.

LONDON SEEN BY JAPANESE ARTIST

Suffered Extremes of Poverty—Lunched on Water to Save Kind Landlady—Gallant Spirit.

"Some six or seven years ago," says a reviewer in the Nation, "you might see a queer little figure, ill-fed and ill-clothed, with inset eyes and black hair all on end, trotting up and down the London streets, much like a cab-runner in pursuit of baggage. Sometimes, indeed, he was following cabs, or running at their side, his eyes fixed intently on the horse—so intently that in spite of his agility, he would dash into people and lamppoists and apologize with a smile to soften iron. Once he knocked down a little boy, and then, as he said, 'I had trouble with his mother.' But he was only watching how horses lift their feet. Or sometimes he would fix his attention on the passers-by, watching how ladies held up their skirts—to him a perpetual wonder. Or, if he ever had a few shillings to spare, which cannot have happened more than once every two years, he went to a good restaurant, not for the food, but to watch the manners and appearances of well-to-do people. For he was Yoshio Markino at that time a starving artist."

How Markino Suffered.

But Yoshio Markino is achieving celebrity. His beautifully accurate drawing and his sense of color and atmosphere are becoming familiar. "His illustrations," says the Westminster Gazette, "accompanying those three delightful books dealing with the color of London, Paris and Rome have attracted attention and his writing, though only a small fraction of the letterpress of those same three books, has also excited remark."

It is, however, the autobiographical material which is to be found in his latest book, "A Japanese Artist in London," (Chatto and Windus, 6s.), which interests us most. For Markino has suffered the extremes of poverty in London; he has posed as a model, starved, walked the soles off his boots, suffered, in short, nearly all the horrors which are associated with destitution, but through it all he evinces an interest and joy in life for its own sake which is such a complete answer to the groanings of the critical pessimist. "It is true that Markino has had periods of despair and contemplated suicide, but at the smallest glimmering of hope he is again buoyant, full of faith and ambition, looking out and up with the sublime inspiration of the born optimists."

What Surprised Him in London.

He spent four years in San Francisco, and there he says, "those savage people threw stones and bricks at men, and I was spat on more occasionally;" but when he came to London he was charmed with the contrast.

"I started my first sightseeing," he says, "with Hyde Park and the Green Park and St. James' Park. I go timidly walked inside the rail. Nobody shouted at me. Then I went near the crowds of people with still more fear. Being quite ignorant of the English civilisation I anticipated some pebble showers every minute. I waited with beating heart, but nothing happened to me at all. I walked into the crowds who were feeding birds in the lake of St. James Park. Nobody spat at me! I ventured myself into the thickest crowds, and I was squeezed between the peoples. 'Hallo, hallo, what is the matter?' I said in my heart. 'Perhaps they don't know that I am a Japanese.' I took off my hat on purpose to show my black hair. Finally one man pushed me quite accidentally, and he touched his hand to his hat and apologised me very politely"

Politeness of the Poor.

"The English people there in some satisfaction in finding that this Japanese artist's experience shows" (again to quote the Nation) "the politeness of heart existing among the working classes of our country. His description of the families with which he lodged are the most delightful parts of the book. In Greenwich, Brixton, Kensal Rise, Chelsea—wherever he made his simple home, it was always the same; everywhere he was received with the same unaffected politeness of heart. His landlords were either superior workmen or small shopkeepers. Yet among all Mr. Markino's landladies, their husbands and children, it is only difficult to choose which is the best type of a free, generous, and sweet-tempered nature.

A Cottage Idyll.

Let us take a few sentences about a blacksmith's family at Kensal Rise: "They had such a sweet home, if poor. Many rich peoples ought to be ashamed before them if they saw such a sweet harmony in their devotion to each other * * They charged so little for my meals; practically it was only the original price of the food. * * My last penny was gone then, and I got into debt with that poor landlord. His wages were only £2 a week, and he had to keep his wife and four children. I was sorry for them to take meals there, so I did not come home to luncheons; I used to drink water from fountains in the streets. It was my only luncheon then; my landlady knew that. Every morning when I left the house she used to say to me, 'Come back for meals, and please don't starve yourself! How could I accept these kind words from such a poor woman! It was only heartbreaking to me; and she also said to me, 'Good luck, today,' every morning, and she was waiting me in the evenings to hear 'happy news.' It was awfully difficult for me to enter into the house after fruitless tasks all day, because she was such a sympathetic woman, and she often showed me her tears and said, 'Never mind about your debts to us, but I am so sorry for your own hard life.'"

Where Friendship Perishes.

His passion for London is obviously sincere. He makes only one serious reservation; he never wishes to have anything to do with English men of business. There he found, as he says, "the dirty merchant spirit which perish all good friendship."

It is pleasant to hear how he "enjoyed himself with fogs;" how he loved the crowds, which he calls "the human bath;" how he liked best in "sweet London;" the "safety in the midnight;" how he was so much attracted by the photos of English actresses that he lost his work as designer of the angels on tombstones because he could not help making them like ballet girls; and how much he appreciated the society of all "jolly John Bulls and John Bullesses."

Referring to the period when he was designing tombstones, Mr. Markino remarks quaintly: "I always had this idea that when young people marry they are in a great love for the first few years, then they begin to quarrel. But when they both pass to 55 or 60 years old they become most devoted companions to each other again. If any one doubt this, look at those pathetic inscriptions on the tombstones. One cannot live without the other half in earliest period of marriage, nor in the latest periods. But in the middle ages, it seems to me they are not so broken-hearted."

The "Real People."

But to English people as a nation the most encouraging point in the book is the artist's description of the average men and women he knew in his periods of distress. They are the people who really make the country. "We could lose the rich, the professional men, and persons of genius without changing our national character much."

A POSITIVE CURE
FOR INDIGESTION

If you have indigestion, your food ferments in the stomach and bowels. It does more: it decays, and the nutritious matter which should go to make new blood decays with it, and this leads to an impoverished condition of the blood, to nervousness, biliousness, constipation, sick headache, bad breath which disgusts your friends, and other disagreable and unpleasant conditions.

And all this trouble is caused by the food that doesn't digest, but ferments and oftimes rots in the stomach.

And fermentation is caused by the stomach not being strong enough and energetic enough to thoroughly mix the food with the digestive juices.

M-I-O-N-A is responsible for tens of thousands of cures. In fact, it is such a positive cure for indigestion and all stomach troubles that it is guaranteed by the Poole Drug company to cure or money back. The price of a large box of Mi-o-na tablets is 50 cents, and they are sure to promptly cure the worst case of indigestion or gastritis. Try them.

Perfect weather smiled upon the efforts of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Saviour's church yesterday, and the garden party given in the beautiful and pleasantly shady grounds of Mrs. Frank Fletcher was from every point of view a most enjoyable and successful affair. All the afternoon and evening the lawn was thronged with a gay crowd and presented a pretty and animated scene, and the demand for tea, ice cream and other delicacies was continuous and kept busy the cherry of pretty girls who attentively supplied the requirements of the many visitors. In the evening an Aunt Sally was a centre of attraction, and the band excelled itself in a tuneful and well selected program which added materially to the enjoyment and success of a thoroughly delightful event.

On Tuesday occurred one of the worst storms on the main lake that has been seen for several years. Three of Nelson's motor fleet had an experience that will long be remembered by them. H. Nelson's The Elk, and the Gelignite and the Atalanta, belonging to Hon F. B. Grosvenor, were bound for Nelson, and when in the vicinity of Coffee creek and Queens Bay the storm, which had been brewing for some time, developed into a hurricane. The Elk and Gelignite reached the river at Proctor in safety, but the Atalanta, 20 minutes behind them, came in for the worst of it. Her engine hatches were lifted off bodily and flung into the air like paper, and after shipping quantities of water, and flooding the engine-room, and drenching the occupants, eventually made the river and comparative safety. Small launches should take warning at this time of the year, and proceed upon the big lake with caution. Mr. Nelson has bought a new stock of life preservers, and will wear one constantly in future.

OBSOLETE MATERIAL IN PRINTING BUREAU

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Useless Stock Said to be Stored Away—Misleading Evidence.

OTTAWA, June 28.—During the session of 1909 a sub-committee of the committee on public accounts investigated upon reference, several items appearing in the Dominion balance sheet as assets, and after hearing evidence, wiped out about a million as bad debts. Among those who gave evidence before the sub-committee was F. S. Gouldthrite, superintendent of stationery, who testified to the stock kept on hand at the bureau, the item of $201,568 appearing in the balance sheet as "advances" to the king's printer. It was explained that this sum represented the amount advanced to the king's printer for the purchase of supplies, and that a large amount of stationery supplied was constantly kept on hand.

Gouldthrite's Explanation.

In view of recent developments Gouldthrite's explanation of the stationery stock is of interest. He told the committee that the paper, envelopes, blank books, pens, pencils, crayons and the like, were kept in stock under the authority of an order-in-council. He added: "We are not allowed to vary from this particular list except for special purposes. If a minister wants a box of pens that we don't carry in stock, we are only too pleased to get it for him. But the ordinary civil servant is confined to that particular list." Gouldthrite went on to say that every care was taken to keep in stock only staple articles and grades.

Overhaul Stock.

"How often, he was asked, "do you overhaul your stock and get rid of obsolete materials?" "Once a year, when the auditor-general comes down to take stock," was the reply. "Then we are able to get at the stuff which is apt to become useless and dispose of it as best we can. I might say in this connection that in my experience of 30 years the stationery office has very little stock of that kind, except possibly a bottle of ink which might get broken, or an inkstand which would lose its top."

Asked as to whether an overhauling of paper stock was made, Gouldthrite answered: "The auditor-general was very careful to call our attention to everything of that kind. His officers came down to take stock with us."

Mr. Ames, M.P., asked particularly about goods that would depreciate, such as elastic bands. Gouldthrite's answer was: "We buy them in small quantities as we use them, inside of a month or two at the outside, so that we are constantly buying these goods. We have a two years' guarantee from Messrs. Farmer, Stearns & Sutton of New York, who are the best manufacturers of bands in America. If any of the bands deteriorate we send them back."

Much Obsolete Material.

Gouldthrite's testimony appears to have convinced the committee that there was no accumulation of dead stock in the stationery department of the bureau, and that the advance of $201,568 to the king's printer was covered by fresh stock on hand or supplied to the departments. The evidence is also at variance with the accepted report that many thousands of dollars worth of obsolete material, long since ordered and paid for, is stored away in the bureau.

SAYS HIS DOMESTIC TROUBLES ARE DUE TO MOTHER-IN-LAW

(Special to The Daily News.)

MOYIE, June 29.—Claiming the police of Moyie, Idaho, would attest he is a good citizen in every particular and not a drinking man, W. J. Williamson, who was formerly employed at the St. Eugene mine here as a miner, being well known here, and who is now president of the Moyie Miners' union, was sued Saturday by his wife for absolute divorce on the ground of cruelty, declared at Wallace, Idaho, a couple of days ago, that his domestic troubles are all due to a mother-in-law, Mrs. Batt.

Mrs. Batt, who is also well known in Moyie, having conducted the Big Ship boarding house here until a few months ago, recently secured Williamson's arrest, alleging he had assaulted his wife. The case was not prosecuted but divorce proceedings were at once commenced.
