JUDGE REPROVED BY PREMIER

Justice Grantham Departs from Tradition of Bench

REFERS TO ATTACK IN PARLIAMENT

Old Charge of Partiality in Election Case--May Be Asked to Resign

LONDON, Feb. 12—The rare occurrence of an English judge being publicly rebuked by the prime minister for political partizanship was an incident of the week. Justice Grantham, was the offender. Addressing the grand jury at the Liverpool assizes he reverted to charges of partiality in an election petition that were made against him in the house of commons as long ago as 1906, thereby "signally violating" in the words of Premier Asquith, "the obligation of the bench to abstain from the criticism of proceedings in parliament."

It is over 40 years since the jurisdiction in election petitions was transferred to judges. Chief Justice Cockburn, protested against placing on the judicial shoulders work so closely allied to party politics but his prediction that sooner or later distrust of a judicial decision would ensue has not proved correct, even suspicions of the kind being extremely rare.

On every hand it is granted that Judge Grantham made a mistake in reopening the question. The Conservative Times points out that Grantham recognizes that there is a tradition according to which judges do not contradict charges against them. This attitude of silent disdain is a protection to the bench and its protection is lost or weakened if some of the judges step down from it and cross swords with their adversaries.

It is suggested that Justice Grantham is still too youthful, after 25 years of service, for the humdrum work of the bench, and as Premier Asquith intimated he was taking time to consider how best to deal with what was a unique position, it is not impossible that Grantham's retirement from the bench may be requested.

BANKS MAY PAY MONEY INTO COURT

Proceeds of Sale of Bonds of Alberta & Great Waterways Railway.

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 12—On Saturday in the supreme court an order was made by Justice Beck allowing the Dominion and Union banks to pay their share of the proceeds of the bonds of the Waterways railway into court pending a decision on the case begun by the province for the recovery of the money.

The amount held by the Union bank is $1,000,000 and by the Dominion bank $400,000. The right to appeal from the decision of Judge Beck last week was granted to Walsh, representing the government. Judge Beck on that occasion made an order that the Alberta & Great Waterways railway and the Canada West Construction company should be joined in the defense in the suit against the Royal bank for the recovery of $6,000,000.

FIVE ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Powder Left to Thaw Out in Tunnel Explodes—Ear Drums of Others Affected.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 12—A dispatch from Hazelton, B. C., tonight says five men were killed and two severely injured as a result of a premature explosion at noon today, Sunday, in a small tunnel gap at Kitseias. The men were working at the far end of the tunnel when a box of powder left near the mouth, presumably to thaw out, became overheated and exploded. The dead are M. F. Burgess, stationman; Charles Quarnstrom, W. E. H. Kova and Eli and John O'Lazavitch, all four foreigners. Eight men working a short distance away miraculously escaped death but all had their ear drums affected.

O'REILLY VICTORS

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—O'Reilly defeated Varsity in the first of their home and home games Saturday night by 4 to 3, the winners leading at half time by 1-0.

ANNAPOLIS VALLEY GROWERS INJURED

But New Brunswick Growers Believe Their Loss Will be Offset by Other Gains

After 26 years absence from New Brunswick, John D. Moore, for the last 11 years bridge and road foreman for the Kaslo district, arrived in Nelson last night, having just spent six enjoyable weeks in the province that was his former home. Mr. Moore describes New Brunswick as having every sign of prosperity, the lumber business is good, the St. John valley had an excellent hay crop last summer and in the city of St. John itself, where Mr. Moore put in the most of his time, building and trade are active.

"The National Transcontinental are putting in extensive docks and terminals at Courtenay Bay, the C.P.R. are improving their docking facilities in West St. John and for this purpose are buying waterfront as well as acquiring some from the city, while the city puts forward the proposal that the Dominion government take over all the city harbor works," said Mr. Moore. "The city, I believe, has altogether expended $1,000,000 on the harbor."

While Mr. Moore was in New Brunswick, the details of the reciprocity compact were announced and he was interested to note the manner in which the proposals were received. The Maritime provinces as a whole were pretty strongly in favor of the agreement, as the lumbermen, fishermen and farmers all expected benefit. The exception was the fruit men, who anticipated injury. The fruit growers of the Annapolis valley in Nova Scotia were protesting strongly against the placing of fruit on the free list. The fruit growers of New Brunswick, on the other hand, while anticipating injury through the fruit schedule, felt that the benefits they would gain in the other schedules would offest sufficiently to make it negligible.

Mr. Moore returns to Kaslo today.

PIECE OF SHAFT FOUND PERFECT

This is Result of Test, Says Mr. Breed —Over Week Occupied in Bringing Machinery in.

The much discussed portion of shaft from the power plant, which has been on the road to Nelson for the past seven days, reached the city about 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and according to a statement by E. M. Breed, manager in British Columbia for the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock company, was tested and found to be in perfect condition. It is now proposed, said Mr. Breed, to bring in the lower portion of the shaft and test that for faults. This second piece of shafting weighs only two tons and it is not anticipated that it will give much trouble to the transfer company in its transportation from Bonnington to Nelson.

The piece of shaft already tested at the Nelson Iron Works was loaded on to a sleigh at Bonnington as long ago as Saturday, Feb. 4. The weight of the machinery and the softness of the snow of the wagon road, however, caused untold trouble and great delay in bringing it into the city. First it was found that the sleigh runners were not sufficiently broad and new ones were built to remedy this fault and on Tuesday the portion of the shaft was brought a short distance along the road but finally landed in the deep snow beside the track. Similar delays were the order of the day until Saturday when the teamsters with their troublesome burden succeeded in reaching the city.

ORE SHIPPED FROM MOLLY GIBSON

New Tramway Works Smoothly—Lots of Good Ore in Sight for Further Shipments

The Molly Gibson mine has again commenced to ship ore to the smelter, a number of sleigh loads having been brought from the end of the tramway to the landing at Kokanee during the past few days. The ore is being left at the landing pending the arrival of a barge when it will be shipped to the smelter at Trail.

The new tramway which contains one of the longest spans in the province, is working smoothly. It is a trifle over four and a half miles in length and the long span is over a mile long. The successful building of this tramway, which was for the purpose of carrying the ore from the mine over the portion of the road frequently impassable in the winter and spring owing to snowslides, is considered a fine piece of engineering work, the construction of the long span having presented exceptional difficulties.

With the new tramway in perfect working order and with a large supply of ore on hand in the mine the Molly Gibson is expected to be a regular shipper from now onwards.

PLAIN SAILING FOR RECIPROCITY

Poll of Senate Indicates That Measure Will Pass

M'CALL BILL IS REPORTED TO HOUSE

Twelve of Nineteen Members Favorable—Sees Another Louisiana Purchase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—A complete poll of the senate taken by the New York American yesterday afternoon showed 65 members pledged to reciprocity. That the house is safe for the measure is therefore assured.

McCall Bill Reported

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—The McCall bill, carrying out the provisions of Canadian reciprocity, was reported to the house late yesterday by Mr. Call of Massachusetts, acting chairman of the committee of ways and means. It came in with the favorable report of 12 of the 19 members of that committee who urge its passage as "a measure in the interest of the great mass of people of the country.

Minority Report

The seven members of the committee who opposed the bill at the committee's final session yesterday morning were given permission to file a minority report next week. Gaines, West Virginia, Republican, asked for specific permission to file the statement next Wednesday. While the house agreed to this, Mr. McCall declared he would not be bound by such action to delay the bill until that time. A motion was made on Monday afternoon, said Mr. McCall, to take up the measure for immediate discussion and final action. Unless the house by a majority of votes refuses to consider the bill at another time it is likely to be finally acted upon before the day is over.

The McCall Report

The McCall report is an important analysis not only of the pending reciprocity agreement, but of the trade situation between the two countries, the development that may be expected on each side of the line and the influence that tariff barriers have had on the development of both countries. The agricultural interests, the fishing interests and the lumber industry for whom the principal protests against the measure have come are handled at great length in the report. The opinion is expressed that the fish catching industry that centres in Gloucester will not be materially injured by the free admission of Canadian caught fish, while the fish packing industry and the consumers of the country will be directly benefitted.

Duty on Wheat

As to wheat, the final benefit to the consumer of bread is placed paramount to the interests of the wheat raisers. The 25 per cent duty against wheat cannot help the farmers so long as Liverpool fixes the price of wheat for the world and the United States has a substantial surplus to export. When the United States consumes all the wheat it produces the report points out, the tariff will have a subtle effect in raising the price of wheat and consequently of bread.

"When that condition shall exist, will it be desirable," said the report of the committee, "to employ a tariff rate to make it higher to our consumers. Such a course would certainly not be necessary to the prosperity of our wheat growers who are prospering with their price fixed by the general supply and demand of the open market and who indeed have never shown any other condition. It would be inhuman to the great mass of people to enter upon the policy of increasing by law at the moment that there should be domestic scarcity in order to increase the profits of an already profitable industry. When that time shall come it will be a blessing to all our people, and in a large measure to those who are poor, that they can turn to the nearby wheat fields of Canada. For the government to intervene artificially to increase the price of bread would be to add to the load borne by these already overburdened, and it would tend to increase suffering and shorten lives. The American farmer will not desire to augment his prosperity in such way. Certainly he is not likely to borrow trouble over a condition that may not appear for a decade."

This vigorous language is led up to with the statement that the objections of an industry that lies at the foundation of the prosperity of the nation demand most serious consideration, "whether these objections have emanated from the farmers themselves or only from the official machinery of their various organizations."

Another Louisiana Purchase

"The trade conditions between the countries," says the McCall report, "are such that an artificial barrier has retarded greatly the growth of Canada and hampered the United States seriously in the development of a great market that naturally would buy from this country. When we yielded to the influence of the labor interests and denounced the Elgin treaty," it continues, "we suffered in consequence the tragic waste of our forests and we forced upon Canada a condition under which she has had but slow and cramped growth. Remove this condition and she will soon gain the strength and status of a great nation and the benefit to us will be enormous. If we could sweep away all our tariff between the two countries it would have the effect upon our trade of another Louisiana purchase."

It is pointed out that Canada now takes more American products than any other nation but the United Kingdom when the item of raw cotton is omitted from the exports. It adds: 'He must be blind indeed who cannot see the significance of her remarkable pre-eminence in the commerce of the United States. The forces of nature draw the two countries commercially together with a potency which cannot be nullified by tariffs.

Will Benefit Millers

'Canadian grain will pour into Minneapolis and add to the benefit of the American millers, handlers and exporters of grain, but for every bushel that comes across the border a bushel will be exported at New York so long as the United States continues to raise more wheat than it consumes.

"The bill takes a long step towards establishing for the continent of North America a policy of unrestricted trade and commerce, recognizing natural conditions that have been too long ignored," says the McCall report. "It is based upon just principles and designed to secure the mutual advantage of the two nations. Briefly stated the economic advantage to the United States of the reciprocal duties and free lists proposed by the bill are likely to be first, that they will act as regulators of the prices of very many necessary articles generally consumed by our people and in times of scarcity in particular, articles which will tend to keep prices down, and second, by augmenting the prosperity of a country which, according to her population, is by far the best foreign customer we have, they will increase her purchasing power and thus increase our own trade."

Of no Benefit

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Feb. 12—J. Ellis Barker, the British political economist and writer, who addressed the Canadian club on Saturday evening, expressed the opinion that it would not ultimately benefit the Dominion or the empire, pointing out that the economic blending of nations at times led to political blending and sometimes absorption.

Taft is Pleased

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 12—President Taft, much pleased with the result of his flying reciprocity campaign in Ohio and Illinois, passed through here tonight en route to Washington. During the day he received a number of congratulatory messages from different parts of the country. There was cheering news from Washington, too, and the president is in a happy frame of mind.

With his return to Washington tomorrow the president will push the

TURN TABLES IN FIRST DEBATE

T. P. O'Connor Writes in Jubilant Strain

DEVLIN EXPLODES PATHETIC TALE

Premier's Speech on Reciprocity Creates Excitement. Home Rule Debate

(By T. P. O'Connor.)

LONDON, Feb. 12—If the future course of the present historic parliament follows the precedent of the first week, British Liberalism and Irish Nationalism will sigh for new worlds to conquer. The triumph of both sections was crushing in the first debate initiated by the Tories over the alleged scandalous interference by an Irish priest with a husband and wife in Belfast, one a Catholic and the other a Presbyterian. For weeks all of the English and Irish Tory press and platforms have been ringing with the pathetic story of a happy couple separated and their children kidnapped by an intolerant Irish priest in obedience to the papal bulletin against mixed marriages. The campaign was intended to rouse the alarm of the Irish Protestants against home rule and by an appeal to the English "no popery" prejudice to supply the strongest proof that home rule meant home ruin.

Fanned the Flame

Correspondence by the yard helped to fan the flame and even the stoutest Nationalists looked forward to such a campaign with apprehension, knowing the intensity of religious prejudice. These apprehensions were increased when James Campbell, formerly Irish Tory attorney general, and an adroit and able bodied advocate, opened the case in the house of commons with a statement which apparently was the simple ingenuous wail of a good wife and a good mother, separated from a good husband by a foul mouthed priest. The Nationalists looked uneasy and even the strong Liberal home rulers sat in pained silence and Joseph Devlin, who, though one of the bravest of men is incurably nervous and self distrustful, was almost forced by his comrades to speak.

Five minutes after he rose the house presented an appearance of the wildest excitement, shouts of laughter followed a burst of wild cheering and the triumphant faces on the Irish and Liberal benches now contrasted with their previous gravelike silence. He baffled, bewildered and crushed the Tories and from that moment the whole elaborate structure of mendacity and appeal to religious bigotry existed no more.

Reciprocity Debate

The scene was similar to that which took place on Thursday night during the debate on the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States. Austen Chamberlain opened the Tory attack with a clever speech creating immense excitement and surprise by quoting an alleged statement by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canadian premier, to the effect that if the elections went in favor of the Tories and Protectionists in England, reciprocity with the United States became impossible.

Mr. Asquith created an even greater excitement by the revelation that the alleged quotation could not be found on the official report of parliamentary debates and then Mr. Asquith proceeded in the searching analysis of the whole case against reciprocity with the terrific force of a pile driver. Mr. Asquith proceeded until as in the Irish case, the whole elaborate fabric built upon by Chamberlain seven years ago lay in hopeless ruins. Mr. Asquith himself described the debate as the obsequies of tariff reform and Mr. Asquith might be described as the merciless executioner. The final effect of these two mighty victories is that the Liberals who began the session in good spirits now are in excellent spirits, while the Tories who started sadly are now helpless and chaos reigns over all their inner councils and public speeches.

Home Rule Debate

Next week we will have the big debate on home rule and already preliminary arrangements are being made by the cabinet for a full debate of all the details of the new home rule bill between them and the Irish leaders. Simultaneously the Liberals and Irish are preparing a big campaign of home rule propaganda literature and speeches.

WINTER BUILDING SHOWS ACTIVITY

Real Estate Man Comments on Operations as Indicating Demand for Residential Property

"This is the first winter in Nelson when I have seen the erection of buildings of any importance proceed throughout the winter," said a prominent real estate broker on Saturday. "Usually when the snow is on the ground building operations slacken and only in the cases where time is the essence of the contract do the builders continue work. But this winter houses are springing up on all sides and many have been completed during the past couple of months.

"I do not think there could be a better indication of the demand for residential property in Nelson than this winter building activity. Last fall it was impossible for us to supply the demand for houses for sale and for rent and even with the large number of new residences which will be ready for occupation in the spring I think that we shall be in much the same position then.

"The general public in Nelson is taking more interest in real estate at the present time than at any period during the past ten years. A steady upward movement in prices is everywhere apparent and in addition to what I may describe as local interest we have the incomers from outside points. The revival of mining in the district, the development of the ranches and the scenic and climatic advantages which the city offers are resulting in a steady influx of new settlers. If this continues, and I am confident that it will, we shall be able to show a very pretty figure for our population when the census men make out their returns."

The most important deal in residential property reported during the week was the sale of Thomas Middleton's house on Front street to Alec. H. Cassidy. McQuarrie & Robertson put the deal through.

WORK UPON DREDGE RESUMES THIS WEEK

Coal Barge and Dump Scow Will also be Laid Down—Will Operate at Kootenay Landing

Work will be resumed on the Dominion government dredge which is under construction at the C.P.R. shipyards at Fairview, this week, and the coal barge and dump scow which will accompany the dredge will also be laid down, the lumber for them being now selected. In all about 13 men will be employed on the entire job. The dredge was laid down in October and work was suspended about the end of December Altogether the dredge, coal barge and dump scow will cost about $20,000. The dredge is of the Orange-peel type and will have a capacity of from 500 to 750 cubic yards a day, according to the material in which it works. With favorable conditions for pushing the work of construction to completion, it is possible the dredge may be completed in time to put in a few weeks work at Kootenay landing before high water ends the working season. In any event when October comes around, with the water low enough to permit of economical operation, the dredge will start a nine months season of work in the vicinity of the Landing. A season's operations is estimated to cost something like $8000.

Since last October Hon. F. W. Aylmer, district engineer, has had a dredge of the same size and type as this one, operating at the narrows on the Arrow lakes.

Mr. Aylmer is now in the city and will arrange for the work of construction that is now to take place. The hull of the dredge is at Cunningham's boat house.

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 12—The Vancouver public is up in arms against the recent order of the provincial health authorities concerning compulsory vaccination. Two largely attended mass meetings presided over by prominent citizens and attended by large and intelligent audiences have already discussed the question and passed resolutions in disapproval of the order. Hundreds of citizens are today wearing badges declaring they do not believe in vaccination and any attempt to enforce the order would be bitterly resisted. Many children have been sent home from the public schools because they will not be vaccinated by the school physician and parents will keep them out for the regular quarantine period.

On points, however, Scotty was again undefeated, the referee declaring it a tie—matrimonially speaking. Miss Jean Thompson was the bride. She was seconded by her sister, Miss Nellie Thomson of Nanaimo, while Gilbert Kay assisted Scotty. Rev. Samuel Lundie, B.A., pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian church officiated.

SHORT COURSES PROVE SUCCESS

Fruit Growers Manifest Deep Interest in Lectures by Provincial Government Horticulturalists.

M. S. Middleton, assistant provincial horticulturalist for the Kootenay district; J. F. Carpenter, assistant horticulturalist stationed at Victoria and B. Hoy assistant horticulturalist for the Okanagan district, reached the city on Saturday night and registered at the Hume. They were en route to Creston, where they will today deliver a number of short course lectures on fruit growing. From Creston they will proceed to Kaslo where they will lecture on Feb. 15 and 16; on Feb. 17 and 18 they lecture at Proctor; on Feb. 20 and 21 at Waneta; Feb. 21 and 22 at Fruitvale and on Feb. 22 and 23 in Nelson. The place of the latter lectures will be the city hall.

The three horticulturalists have already lectured at a number of points at the coast, in the Okanagan and in the Boundary district. "The lectures have proved a great success," Mr. Middleton remarked last night. "The attendance at nearly every meeting has been most encouraging. This was especially the case at places where we lectured in the Okanagan. At Grand Forks, too, the meeting was very well attended. Speaking generally the keenest interest is being taken by fruit ranchers in the short course."

Predicts a Great Future For Vancouver

The New York Commercial publishes an interesting article from a special correspondent in Winnipeg, in which he predicts a great future for three western Canadian cities—Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

Referring to Vancouver the writer says:

At Vancouver Canada is endowed with the finest harbor in North America and the final and best route between Europe and the orient; a harbor the shipping and commercial activities of which must grow like New York. Soon a million people will centre about the vast warehouses and shipping trades of this highly favored port. The natural outlet of the multiplex products and manufactures of the western provinces and flanked on the north, south and east by a region of wonderful farming, fruit growing, mining and other productive elements, Vancouver presents countless opportunities for enterprise, capital and employments that are unsurpassed in the world today. Every railroad of the western part of the continent is rushing toward Vancouver, steamship lines traversing the whole Pacific and reaching all the ports of Japan, China, New Zealand, Australia and the Asiatic archipelagos are adding to their fleets to keep pace with Vancouver's fast growing commerce. Here is another cosmic fact: Vancouver will become the largest and richest city on the Pacific coast of America.

The whole of South Vancouver is to be taken into the city, making a total population of 155,000. Add to this Point Gray, Burnaby and New Westminster and the population on the peninsula must be at least 180,000.

Never has the future been so promising. Four more great railway systems coming. Steel and iron manufacturing, the basis of all industries, shipbuilding, the opening up of large agricultural areas, new mining districts, silver, copper and coal, the opening of the Panama canal and the great tide of immigration now fairly under way mean that Vancouver and New Westminster will soon be one city.

Get some of our lots between the two, while there is time. They will surely double in value this year: $20 down and $10 per month. Do not wait.

Four rinks of curlers played a friendly match with the local curlers in the Trail rink on Thursday. Trail won three out of the four games played. The winning rinks were skipped by Mayor Weir, C. A. Milligan and R. Truswell.

The Boy Scouts are giving an entertainment in the opera house on Monday evening, which promises to be one of the big events of the season. The program will consist of camp scenes, first aid, physical drill, pantomine sketch, tableaux, etc., and several vocal and instrumental numbers by well known local artists. An important feature of the program will be the flag presentation of the handsome new flag presented to the scouts by W. H. Aldridge. In the absence of Mr. Aldridge Rev. James Black will make the presentation

EASTERN RINKS HIT TOBOGGAN

Go Down Before Western Curlers in Winnipeg Bonspiel—Records Anticipated.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12—A slump from which there appears to be no recall has overtaken the crack eastern rinks in the curling carnival. Flavall of Lindsay and Rennie of Toronto have each gone down in three open events. Rice is still in the Purity and Dingwall, while Gillies of Brampton alone has a grip on the Dingwall. Ament of Seaforth is the one skip showing real class, he having met only one defeat and that in his opening game in the Purity.

Rennie was scheduled for his last game tonight but the suspense was protracted on account of the game being drawn on the only poor sheet of ice in the city. Rice is out in the 32s in the Dingwall and is showing well in the Purity.

The Fort William rinks continue invincible. Houston has not been defeated yet, while Piper and Fenton have only dropped one game apiece. All the events are narrowing down, several rinks having entered the 32s in the open events. The consistent winning of a dozen rinks is going to tie up competitions for next week's play unless some of the famous ones hit the toboggan very shortly.

Dunbar drew his second defeat today when Aldous of the Assiniboines won out on the last head in the same way in which Rochon defeated the St. Paul skip last night. Hastings and Orde of Minneapolis went strong today, each winning their games. They have each one defeat chalked up against them. Seven or eight local rinks are still going without a loss and all records promise to be smashed by the rinks landing the Grand Aggregate.

Local rinks this year are being selected from the clubs proportionately instead of by strength as in former years.

EASTERN LEAGUE UMPS

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 12—President Barrow of the Eastern league, will make his first official announcement of his staff of umpires next Monday at the schedule meeting.

The men he has signed and who will serve are: Frank Rudderham, Bobby Hart, Bill Bannon, "Toss" Kelly, Murray and Wright.

"Jocko" Halligan and Henry Donnelly are possibilities.

WON'T BE TEMPTED

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—Coo Dion, the fastest amateur hockey forward in Ottawa, received yesterday the biggest offer of the season to join the Canadiens of Montreal, who are badly in need of a centre man. They offered him $1000 to finish out their schedule of eight games. Dion refused and will stick to Cliffsides, who have practically won Interprovincial honors, and who are out to recover the Allan cup.

MUST VOUCH FOR THEIR AMATEUR STANDING

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—Future challengers for the Allan cup must have their amateur status vouched for by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada before their challenges will be considered. This decision has been arrived at by the trustees of the Allan cup, and was announced by them this morning. At the present time one challenge is in the hands of the trustees, that of Winnipeg Victorias. The Winnipeg Vics. have been notified, however, that the amateur status of each and all of the players they would bring east with them in the event of their challenge being accepted, must be endorsed by the C. A. U. before their challenge will be considered. This decision is likely to have a far-reaching effect. It will guarantee as far as is possible that the professional element will not enter to the Allan cup series.

CIRCLES GO UNDER

In the Y. M. C. A. junior basketball league game played Saturday morning between the Circles and Crescents, the result was Crescents 7, Circles 2.

The game on Tuesday will be between the Triangles and Stars.

SPORTING SPOTLIGHTS

Jim Jeffries puts one over on Tex Rickard's latest rumorings with the following flatfooted announcement: "Under no circumstances shall I ever again participate in a public prize ring contest or exhibition. I have retired from the ring for all time. This is the decision I made months ago. It is a decision I shall abide by. In effect it is the answer I have given often to questions asked in one form or another whether I shall ever again enter the ring."

Some joke on the boosters of the last and biggest "white man's hope," dear brother and lovers of the ring. Yea, bo! For Carl Morris, the huge Oklahoman, touted as the grandest young elephant of many seasons, is an Indian, and, therefore, shouldn't count as a "white man's hope" at all. When Morris was visiting the Kansas City newspapers a few days ago a scribe chanced to comment on the young giant's high cheekbones and dark complexion. Morris explained that he came by these features naturally, as his mother was a Cherokee Indian of Oklahoma. His father is an Eastern man, said to be part Yankee and part German. Morris is probably, considering the mixed blood of the Cherokees, 90 per cent white man, but he counts as an Indian under tribal law and under the rules by which the government gives allotments to the aborigines. Some horse on the "white man's hope" enthusiasts, isn't it?—Winnipeg Free Press.

Kelly Creek Bridge

Information has been received from Mr. Schofield that a substantial appropriation has been made for the construction of a bridge across Kelly creek and also for road work, which is very gratifying news to the residents of Fruitvale, who are anxious to have more good roads put in here.

Much House Building

Quite a little boom in house building is on just now, owing to the mild weather and the desire to get a move on before the spring opens up. A very substantial log house is being built by W. Phillips who came in this winter with his family. J. Ellis of Stoughton is erecting a two storey frame building and with his wife will take up their residence here this spring. R. A. Aldersmith's house is also near completion. Miss Tasher, whose house was burnt down recently is contemplating building again in the near future.

A Valentine whist drive and dance will be held at the Model ranch on the evening of Feb. 14.

Word has been received that several new families will arrive here this spring.

The pile of ties that are being hauled to the siding ready for shipment, made by Messrs. Bath and Way are assuming large proportions. Messrs England and Nipbrow are also busy getting out a like quantity.

Wolvering Caught by Deer Park Trapper—Seventy-five Blocks of Fruit Land Sold.

(Special to The Daily News.)

DEER PARK, B. C., Feb. 12—C. Schwartzenhauer has taken a logging contract for 250,000 feet with the Edgewood Lumber company. He will commence at the job on Monday next.

According to the company's report, about 75 blocks of fruit land have been sold here since the first of the year. Mr. Connor, a representative of the British-American Land Co., predicts a great future for Deer Park. It was his first visit to this place, but he was more than pleased with the land his company had got hold of here.

A wolverine, a rare animal in this section, was caught by one of our trappers this week.

BISHOP WALDEN EIGHTY YEARS OLD

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 12—Hosts of friends offered their congratulations and best wishes to Bishop J. M. Walden yesterday on the eightieth anniversary of his birth. The venerable bishop is remarkably active and vigorous for a man of his age and his keen mind is unimpaired by any weight of years. Considerably over half of his eighty years the bishop has spent in the interests of the Methodist Episcopal church centering around Cincinnati, where his official residence has been for over half a century.

Born in Lebanon, O., Feb. 11, 1831, Bishop Walden spent his early life on a farm. He entered Farmers' college, graduating with honors in 1852. Two years later he entered journalistic work. Going to Wyandotte, Kas., he started and published a paper during the troubles in that state. He soon returned to Cincinnati, however, and for two years was employed as a newspaper reporter here.

In 1860 Dr. Walden was licensed as pastor of the York Street church, and for some time he was engaged in promoting the interests of the "contrabands." During the civil war he became colonel of the famous Cincinnati regiment known as the "Squirrel Hunters." Later he became corresponding secretary of the Western Freedmen's Aid society, and one of the foremost leaders in the formation of the present Freedmen's Aid society.

In 1880 Dr. Walden lacked but a few votes of being chosen as bishop, and was elected senior book agent of the Western Methodist Book concern. He was a prominent member of the Ecumenical conference in London in 1881, and rendered important service in the publication committee and other business features of that body.

He was elected bishop in 1884, and ever since has been prominently before the church in publishing interests, and in the legislation of numerous conferences. He has been a prolific writer on temperance and education, and an untiring worker and able preacher as well as platform speaker.

CHAMP ISN'T ANXIOUS TO TACKLE MORAN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 12.—Tom Jones, manager of Ad Wolgast, and Charles Harvey, manager of Moran, had another talk today, the result of which was that Jones demanded 60 days more before signing articles, "in order to see if that bad arm of Wolgast's had come right," as he said. Previously the fight managers had declared everything would be arranged today and the prospective fight date named.

Boxing experts who have seen Wolgast in action here declare that there is nothing the matter with Wolgast's arm and seem to think that Jones is "stalling," whether to pick up a little loose coin or for fear of Moran they do not know.

ABOLISHING SALOON LICENCES

The abolition of saloon licences provided for in the bill to amend the municipal clauses act is something that was sure to come, not necessarily in this or that municipality but in the province as a whole.

By giving three years notice, the loss suffered by vested interests will be much less than if these licenses were allowed to run on and then suddenly discontinued.

While many saloons are well conducted—perhaps better than some hotels—still, as a general rule, the more a license holder has at stake the more likely he is to observe the law so as to avoid the risk of losing his license. And a man who has a hotel business with thirty rooms has more to lose than he would if he had only a bar.

One result of the proposed legislation that will be particularly welcome will be the elimination of the saloon issue from municipal politics. Our mayors and councils can now devote themselves to municipal business, and we can elect men solely on their merits with reference to that business.

THE LIBERAL EXECUTIVE AND THE FRUIT GROWERS

There seems to be no limit to what men can make themselves believe if they try hard enough. It is conceivable, therefore, that members of the Liberal executive may really have succeeded in making themselves believe not only that the arguments they address to the fruit growers are evidence of serious consideration but even that in framing these arguments they have not treated the matter from a political standpoint.

But do they imagine that the fruit growers, who have no reason for deluding themselves, will do so?

"The toad beneath the harrow knows Exactly where each tooth point goes."

Some one else may argue himself into the belief that the toad is really being tickled in a very pleasant manner, but the victim will be well aware of the actual fact.

The reasons why the free admission of American fruit will reduce materially the profits of our fruit growers are well stated in the "main resolution" passed by the fruit growers. The reply is difficult to take seriously. Take, for instance, the "main resolution" passed by the fruit growers.

Four main reasons are given why the fruit grower will be injured by the proposed agreement:

(1) Owing to the protective tariff on implements and other supplies, the cost of production is greater here than in competing fruit districts in Washington. It is because the price of these is lower in the United States that protection is desired by our manufacturers. No reply to this point seems to be attempted in the answer given to the fruit growers' committee.

(2) Because the industry here is in an earlier stage of development, costs are higher. There are, for instance, two or three valleys in Washington alone any one of which ships more fruit today than the whole of British Columbia. For this reason and because their organization is further advanced by many years, they have marketing facilities and rates and transportation facilities much better than will be possible here for some years to come. Because of the amount of the traffic from single districts, their railways can give them rates which will be profitable to the railways and yet be lower than the rates we get.

Every one who has followed the question knows that the barge and refrigerator car service given on Lake Kootenay is given at less than what it costs the company, and that if the amount of the crop were increased five fold the same company could make a good profit while giving improved facilities at lower rates. We should then be in the same position that our American competitors are now, and should be able to compete with them on more equal terms. At present, if the tariff is removed, we must compete under a handicap. The cost of labor, also, is higher in the newer country, and together with the duty on farm implements and supplies, affects the cost of production. The reply passes over this critical point in the whole discussion,—the difference between the circumstances of a developed, highly oragnized industry and those of an infant industry.

(3) Looking to the prairie market our growers have planted their orchards with varieties suited to that market and not to the markets to the south. For this reason, in addition to our greater distance from those markets,—Spokane, for instance,—and in addition to the handicap due to the less developed stage of our industry, "it would be impossible for us to take advantage of the market in....the United States ....without in most cases sacrificing existing orchards and developing new ones." And there is no guarantee that by the time the new orchards are in bearing the United States may not again put a duty on fruit, and leave us in the position of the barley growers of Ontario when the reciprocity treaty was terminated.

The reply does not attempt to deal with the question of varieties of fruit, but it does assert that prices are higher in the markets to the south for high grades of fruit than they are here, and that therefore our fruit growers will be able to ship there and get better prices than they do now. Any evidence in support of this statement will gladly be published, and along with prices in American markets there will, no doubt, be furnished particulars as to cost of placing fruit from here on those markets.

The statement quoted conflicts with the weekly market reports from the prairie sent all summer by market commissioner Metcalfe. It will be remembered that he gives not only prices for our fruit at the various points, but also the prices at which American fruit of high quality is offered at those points, and the prices of that fruit at the points from which it is shipped.

It will be noticed that the same reports speak of the high quality of the bulk of the American fruit seen on the prairie markets. This is in conflict with the position attributed to the fruit growers committee and taken in the "reply" to the effect that our chief competition comes from "inferior or diseased" American fruit,—unless by "in*ferior" is meant fruit of similar high* grade but not quite equal to ours in color and flavor. And the "main resolution" says nothing of inferior or diseased fruit but makes contentions which apply to American fruit of the highest quality. It will be remembered that some months ago the president of the Board of Trade drew attention to the display of American fruit in some store windows. That fruit was, we believe, of good quality. If it could be shipped in here in spite of railway charges and in spite of the tariff, how can our fruit growers in the present stage of their industry, compete with the growers of that fruit on their own ground?

(4.) The lack of compensating advantages given by the reciprocity agreement. It might have opened up markets for our lead or taken off the duties on the fruit growers' implements and supplies. It might have removed the American duty on our coal. By these means it might have increased the local market and reduced the cost of production. It does neither. The reply does not attempt to deal with this important portion of the resolution.

Both at Washington and at Ottawa it is said that the agreement must go through as framed or not at all. Judging from experience, this is said in order to reduce to the lowest possible number the requests for amendments. It is by no means certain that no amendments may be made by mutual consent. The agreement might be amended to the advantage of the fruit grower and of the Kootenay in general in several ways,—by providing for free implements and supplies, by giving our coal and lead free admission to the United States, and by making a smaller reduction in the duty on fruit. There is nothing political in an effort to have such amendments made; and the political interests of the Liberal executive would not have suffered if they had joined with the rest of the community, including a large number of their fellow Liberals, in an endeavor to have such modifications brought about.

EDITORIAL NOTE

In his speech introducing the reciprocity agreement Mr. Fielding says that the prairie farmers demanded the removal of the duties on agricultural *implements or at least a very great re*duction, but that these farmers must see that this would not be fair to the implement industry. Why would it be any less fair than the total removal of the duty on fresh fruits? There is more capital invested in the fruit industry and there are more men and families dependent upon it and its prosperity than is the case with regard to the implement industry.

BELLS TOLL FOR PASSING OF PRELATE

Archbishop of Philadelphia Dies at Ripe Old Age—Had National Reputation

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 12—The most Rev. Patrick John Ryan, D.D., LL.D., archbishop of Philadelphia, and Metropolitan of Pennsylvania and one of the greatest archbishops on the American continent passed peacefully into eternity at 4.08 yesterday afternoon at the archiepiscopal residence adjoining the cathedral in Logan square.

For weeks the distinguished prelate, who would have been 80 years old had he lived until Feb. 20, fought off death, but a weak heart, enfeebled by the arduous duties of his high official position could not stand the strain and he passed away breathing the benediction "God bless you" on those about the bedside.

Shortly before the end came the stricken Metropolitan roused himself and murmured the dying words of St. Paul "'I wish to be dissolved and be with Christ."

Those about the bedside when the end came, besides the priests and Dr. Devereaux were his sister-in-law, Mrs. Gleason of St. Louis, Ashton Devereaux of this city, a nephew and the latter's wife, Mrs. Edward Bowen, one of his sisters and several intimate friends.

Bells Tolled

A few minutes after the prelate had passed away, the deep toned bell of the cathedral began tolling off 79 strokes, one for each year of the archbishop's life. The news of the archbishop's death was flashed to all parts of the city and in every parish the bells of the Roman Catholic churches were tolled. His death created genuine sorrow among all classes of the people without regard to creed or nationality.

Prominent Figure

For years he has been a prominent figure in the life of the city. The funeral will be held on Thursday and it is expected to be attended by practically all the prelates and clergy of the American hierarchy who can reach Philadelphia in time for the obsequies. The body will lie in state in the cathedral and will be entombed back of the altar of the great church beside those of Bishop Egan, Bishop Conwell and Archbishop Wood, who were his predecessors in the diocese.

Following the archbishop's death official telegrams were sent to the pope, Cardinal Gibbons, Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate at Washington, and all the archbishops and bishops in the United States.

Until a successor to Archbishop Ryan is appointed the Right Rev. Edmond F. Prendergast, D.D., V.G., auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, becomes administrator of the arch-diocese.

Archbishop Ryan was regarded as the greatest of the line of bishops and archbishops that have occupied the episcopal see of Philadelphia since its creation in 1808. His reputation was national and in his home city he was accorded a popular recognition that far surpassed that of any of his predecessors, he having been on the friendliest terms with men of all religious denominations.

He was one of the foremost pulpit orators in the Catholic church in the country. The archbishop was born in Thurles, county of Tipperary, Ireland on Feb. 20, 1831. Young Ryan studied at the Carlow seminary and latterly came to this country, going to St. Louis where he was appointed a professor in Corondelet seminary on Sept. 8, 1853. He was ordained a priest by Arch bishop Generick. In 1872 Father Ryan was consecrated coadjutor Bishop of St. Louis, with the right of succession and in 1884 he was appointed Archbishop of Philadelphia. During his 27 years of residence in Philadelphia he was important in the life of the city, participating in the many public functions held in that time. The university of Pennsylvania gave him a degree of LL.D., an honor he had previously received from the university of Missouri. Two great works of the archbishop were what he did for the Indians and his establishment of the protectory for homeless boys. The labors of the archbishop in behalf of the Indians were recognized by President Roosevelt when he appointed him one of the board of Indian commissioners. Under the administrations of Archbishop Ryan the Catholic church in this diocese has more than kept pace with the growth of the city and country. The archdiocese embraces Philadelphia and nine adjoining counties.

ORES FORMING BY WATER DEPOSITION

Intensely Interesting Paper Read Before University Club by Mr. Reynolds—Processes Described

No more interesting session of the University club has been held the past year than that of Saturday night, when L. B. Reynolds read the monthly paper on "The Origin of Ore Deposits." Equipped with specimens of ore from the Eureka copper-gold mine on Eagle creek of which he is manager, and with blackboard, Mr. Reynolds gave a running lecture on the deposition of ores, making special explanations on points on which he was questioned, as he went on.

Mr. Reynolds reviewed the history of early investigations in this field, with the various theories promulgated, coming quickly to the theory of water deposition, which accounted for the vast majority of deposits. He described the process of deposition under different conditions, and with different minerals. Comparatively few ore deposits now being worked were as originally formed, having the benefit of the process known as enrichment. He enunciated some of the laws that governed the character of deposits, as, for instance, when gold deposits at the surface became copper deposits at depth. Mr. Reynolds also gave illustrations of the importance from a mining standpoint of knowing whether to expect pay ore in a certain formation or not.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Reynolds for his paper, the discussion of which was only concluded shortly before 11 o'clock. The discussion, which consisted chiefly of questions by those present and answers by Mr. Reynolds, was participated in by Dr. E. C. Arthur, Dr. N. Wolverton, S. Acheson and others.

ANOTHER OUTLET TO GRANBY MINES

New Tunnel Driven and New Crusher and Ore Bins Will Be Built.

(Special to The Daily News.)

PHOENIX, B. C., Feb. 12—Plans for another shipping outlet to Granby mines at Phoenix to take the place of the No. 3 destroyed by fire last August have been finally decided on and preparations are now being made for the construction work. A new tunnel has been driven to tap the No. 3 workings of the mine and the new crusher and ore bins will be built on the Great Northern track a short distance from where the old bins stood. The right-of-way is now being cleared for the tram line which will connect the mine with the crusher. Under present conditions the Victoria *shaft is being forced to its limit to han*dle the output from this part of the mine and the fourth outlet is required to relieve the pressure.

Reports received here during the past few days from the Hidden creek mine on the northern coast, which is being *actively developed by the Granby com*pany, are of a most encouraging nature. Some particularly good assays, running up to 10 per cent copper, are being secured from the cores of the diamond drill. The ore body is also looming up well in size as the development work continues. Another crew of men were sent from Phoenix this week to augment the forces at the Hidden creek.

OTTAWA SCORES NINTH STRAIGHT

Defeat Wanderers, Who Drop to Third Place in National Championship Hockey Race

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—Chalk up the ninth straight win for Ottawa. In their fifth home game of the National Hockey association series, played at the local arena on Saturday night, the unbeaten league leaders and prospective custodians of the Stanley cup for 1911, again vanquished their old rivals, the Wanderers. In the first period the Wanderers displayed such an exceptionally good defensive game that there was no score, but in the second and third periods the invincible Ottawa seven outgeneraled the visitors, leading at the close of the second by 3 to 1, and registering in the final period 6 goals to the Wanderers' 3.

The score at the conclusion of the match was thus 9 to 4 for Ottawa. Ottawa accordingly pushed the Wanderers down into third position in the National Hockey association and made certain of the championship. There is just a possibility that Canadiens may tie Ottawa but the chance is so remote that the honors, with the season scarcely more than half through, are conceded to the Ottawas.

Herne, Ross and Johnston did good work on the defense but the Wanderer forward line was weak. Darragh and Shore were brilliant, but none of the other Ottawa players seemed to overexert himself. The line-up was:

OTTAWA		WANDERERS
	Goal
Leseur		Herne
	Point
Lake		Ross
	Cover
Shore		Johnston
	Rover
Darragh		Glass
	Centre
Walsh		Hyland

Ridpath		Smaill
	Left Wing
Kerr		Gardner

CANADIENS DEFEAT QUEBEC SEPTETTE

Final Score is Three-Two—Winners Tighten Grip on Second Place in Championship

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—The Canadiens tightened their hold on the second place in the National Hockey association series by a victory over Quebec at the Arena last night, the final score being 3-2. It was a well contested game and the speed of the boys did not clinch the deal until two minutes before the close of play, when they notched the odd point. Both teams gave an excellent exhibition of hockey, perhaps the best seen thus far this season. Quebec's defense was unusually good and their forwards showed more team play than any other quartette who have played in the series. Canadiens always had to work hard to break up the combination of the Quebec players. The winners' form was not as brilliant as when they so easily defeated the Wanderers last Tuesday, but they might have further added to their score had it not been for the sound defense of Moran, Holden and Hall. Repeatedly Moran blocked many difficult shots which were "dead on." The line-up was:

QUEBEC		CANADIENS
	Goal
Moran		Vezina
	Point
Hall		Power
	Cover
Holden		Laviolette
	Rover
Malone		Pitre
	Centre
Dunderdale		Lalonde
	Right Wing
McDonald		Payan
	Left Wing
Oatman		Payee

The Cranbrook hockey team, champions of the Crow's Nest league and holders of the cup emblematic of that honor, who are to clash with the Nelson seniors at 8 o'clock this evening, reached the city last night and are staying at the Queens. They have come with their full championship team and feel equal to putting up a strong fight against the green and white aggregation.

At the conclusion of the senior match the Rovers will meet the Y.M.C.A. boys in a return game.

RENFREW MEETS WANDERERS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—Renfrew and Wanderers will play at the Laurier avenue arena on Wednesday night as a result of a conference between George Marel of the Creamery town septette and Dicky Boone of the Wanderers, which was held Saturday night after the big game. The teams were ordered to replay a disputed game which the Wanderers won by 5 to 3 earlier in the year, and as Ottawa is the only city in which sufficient accommodation can be secured for such a match, the teams did not hesitate about coming here.

GOOD PROGRAM FOR ROSSLAND CARNIVAL

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, B.C., Feb. 11—Arrangements are now practically complete for the holding of the fourteenth annual winter carnival here, from Feb. 14 to 18 inclusive, and everything points to Rossland fully maintaining the reputation as a winter sport centre it has enjoyed during 13 years. The various committees have worked indefatigably and no detail has been overlooked to insure the complete success of the festivities. An elaborate and comprehensive program has been drawn up and there will be something to delight each visitor, no matter what his or her taste may be. The following are the items:

Tuesday evening, masquerade carnival, for which there are valuable prizes for fancy costumes. Wednesday morning, curling bonspiel, ski jump on Monte Christo mountain for new Canadian record, at present this stands at 101 feet and was made two years ago by Torgal Noren; afternoon, curling, one mile skating championship of British Columbia, hockey, Rossland ladies vs. Grand Forks ladies; night, first hockey match in British Columbia challenge cup competition, carnival ball. Thursday morning, seven mile ski race, curling, horse races; afternoon, boys' skating races, hockey, first in open challenge cup; evening, double-header hockey, second match in British Columbia championship, and intermediate championship. Friday morning, curling, boys' ski jumping and ski race, horse races; afternoon, hockey, second game in open challenge cup, pony races, dog races, and ski races with horses; evening, hockey, final of British Columbia championship. Oddfellows' ball. Saturday morning, curling finals, ski race championship of Canada, ladies' ski races, log sawing and chopping contests; afternoon, ski jump, amateur championship of Canada, horse races; evening, hockey final of open challenge cup.

For the hockey games the following teams have entered: Rossland, Nelson, Greenwood, Phoenix, Misoula (Montana,) and Nelson and Rossland intermediates.

In addition to all the attraction mentioned, there is the famous toboggan slide down Washington street, which gives one a drop of big dimensions on a course which is perfectly straight and safe. This pastime has always been popular with visitors. It is calculated that the list of sports and prizes will be $2,635. Everybody in the district is looking forward with intense interest to the carnival, which promises to be one of the best ever held and which holds out every prospect of rattling good sport.

fight for the reciprocity agreement with renewed vigor. He has planned a number of important conferences during the week and will devote himself particularly to the situation in the senate. Mr. Taft feels that the house problem was solved with the reporting of the McCall bill yesterday. The president was particularly cheered today by a report from Washington that the probability of a filibuster against reciprocity in the senate is lessening daily. Mr. Taft is confident that if a vote is reached in the senate, the agreement will be enacted into law beyond the question of a doubt.

In furtherance of his campaign President Taft sent several of his cabinet officers out into the field. Secretary Knox is to speak at Chicago Wednesday. Secretary Nagle of the department of commerce and labor, will speak next week at Akron, Ohio, and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will speak at Buffalo on Feb. 22. Attorney General Wickersham has several speaking engagements this week and the president will ask him to touch on reciprocity in all of these.

The president is as sanguine that reciprocity with Canada will prove a success as he was that free trade with the Philippines would do so. Free trade with the Philippines, however, was bitterly fought and did not become law until a little more than a year ago.

CANADIAN COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURE

Asks Free Implements and Extension of British Preference Fifty per Cent.

REGINA, Feb. 12—The second annual convention of the Canadian Council of Agriculture was held Saturday. After considerable discussion on the proposed reciprocity arrangements, the following resolution was passed:

"That this council, while regretting that the agreement does not provide for further relief from the taxation on consumers, levied by the customs duties, they express their opinion that free trade in farm products would be very beneficial to the farmers of Canada, and would strongly urge the parliament of Canada to ratify the agreement, and would continue to urge parliament at this session to lessen the tax imposed by customs duties by extending the British preference 50 per cent on all goods imported from Britain, and also urge that agricultural implements be placed on the free list."

Officers were elected as follows: President James Bower, Moose Jaw; vice-president, R. C. Henders, Winnipeg; secretary, E. C. Drewry, Barrie, Ontario.

Messrs. R. McKenzie, F. W. Green and C. J. Freame, were appointed a committee to look after the interests of the western provinces.

PREPARATIONS FOR CORONATION

Great Ceremony Will Surpass all Previous Events—Royal Progress Through London Streets

LONDON, Feb. 12—Since the beginning of the winter the chief functionaries of the British court have been busily engaged with preparations for the coronation of George V which will surpass in pageantry and in historical interest all former ceremonies of the like character.

While the ceremony of crowning the King and Queen in Westminster Abbey on June 22, will be almost identical in form with that which has been followed in the investure of British sovereigns since William IV and Queen Adelaide, the auxiliary functions are expected to exceed anything the nation has witnessed in the past.

Royal Progress

These will include the progress of the court through London after the coronation and a visit to the Guildhall with a reception of the King and Queen by the city authorities there, a great naval review, a gala performance at the opera, with minor celebrations and pageants among which will be a "festival of empire" at the Crystal Palace.

Two Million Visitors

Business men and transportation companies count upon an influx of something approximating 2,000,000 visitors to London during the coronation season. A considerable proportion of these will be foreigners, Americans and colonials probably predominating. There is every indication that the erection of stands for witnessing the procession to the Abbey and the progress through London will be on a scale more extensive than for the coronation of King Edward in 1902. Owners and tenants are asking the highest prices ever quoted for building sites and windows.

A lively insurance business has been under way at Lloyds on risks against the death of the King or any event necessitating the postponement of the function and against bad weather.

Dr. Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury, will officiate in the Abbey, in succession to the aged Archbishop Temple who crowned King Edward. The recently appointed Dean of Westminster, Dr. Ryle, who is at present Bishop of Winchester, will assist the archbishop, placing the imperial mantle and pall of cloth of gold on the King's shoulders. The mantle is being embroidered at the royal school of art needle work. From the end of the month to the coronation Westminster Abbey will be closed to visitors while workmen are engaged preparing the building for the ceremony.

LED POLICE LONG CHASE

SALEM, Mass., Feb. 12—After having eluded the police in a chase half way round the world, only to be run to earth at last in a little mountain village of Bulgaria, Vahan Valbandian will be placed on trial here Monday for an alleged murder committed in Lynn in July, 1909. The victim of the tragedy was Minas J. Monjian, the friend and room-mate of Valbandian. One day in July, 1909, Monjian's body was found in a trunk in his room with a bullet through the heart. He had been dead for several days when found. Nalbandian was missing. The police allege that Monjian had several hundred dollars, which had also disappeared.

An indictment for murder was returned against Nalbandian and the hunt for him began. The police chased him to England, and then through Germany. Only by jumping from one city to another and keeping always on the move did the fugitive escape arrest in Germany. For a time the police lost trace of him and then he was relocated in Alexandria, Egypt. Through an acquaintance of the chief of police of Lynn, who had been in Alexandria, the Massachusetts authorities got in communication with a mission priest in the Egyptian city and persuaded him to keep them informed as to Nalbandian's movements.

The priest followed Nalbandian to Silistria in Bulgaria. Here Nalbandian evidently thought himself safe, for the police learned that he had started a small clothing store there. The United States consul at Bucharest was communicated with and Nalbandian was taken into custody by the Bulgarian authorities and held to await extradition.

The evidence of alleged murder is purely circumstantial so far as Nalbandian is concerned. Since his confinement in jail here the young Bulgarian is said to have admitted that he shot Monjian, but declared that it was purely an accident. This theory is substantiated by the fact that the two men were warm friends and had been seen chatting pleasantly together only a short time before the killing is believed to have occurred. While Nalbandian may have concealed the body after the accidental killing and then fled through fear, there is much evidence to indicate that he robbed his friend. According to the statements of his acquaintances the young Bulgarian was practically penniless before the shooting, while afterward he evidently had funds sufficiently to take him to Europe and to travel over a large section of that continent.

SPECULATORS ARE HESITATING

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—There was enough hesitation and irregularity in the stock market last week to suggest that speculation was inclined to halt and take stock of what was being accomplished already toward placing prices on the new level called for by the changed conditions of affairs. At the same time there were occurrences which served to admonish sentiment of the limitations to be counted on in the rate of improvement going on. From steel trade circles was heard a warning against too sanguine expectations of the further growth of the demand. The January improvement indicated by the showing of unfilled orders on hand with the United States Steel corporation on Feb. 1, was accepted as confirming the betterment outlined by the chairman of the board the week before.

On the side of the money market, the seasonable waning of the influx of funds from interior markets to reserve centres showed that the most favorable period for flotation for new capital issues might be regarded as passing. Much important financing is known to remain.

A TREASURE TROVE OF ARCHAEOLOGY

Marvellous Greek Ruins Unearthed in the Island of Cyprus—Most Important Yet

Dr. Max Richter, who recently announced the discovery of the most ancient shrine of Aphrodite or Astarte, at Rantidi, Island of Cyprus, having continued his investigations in that neighborhood, announces further important finds of which he says:

"I am perfectly justified in declaring this the greatest archaeological and epigraphical discovery hitherto made."

In a narrative communicated to the Daily Mail, Dr. Richter describes the Hill of Rantidi as a mountain of the gods, where Zeus and Apollo, as well as Aphrodite and others were worshipped. The excavations disclosed ruins, chiefly the foundations of supposed temples. One was built around a holy water pool. There were also discovered altars, statues and inscriptions. Among these is an altar inscribed: "I am consecrated to Zeus." Two altar incense basins to Aphrodite, one to Apollo and one to Philos, and 1200 fragments of statuary were found. Among them are only a few well preserved heads and small statuettes, mostly of clay.

Dr. Richter writes that so far this is the only ancient Greek mound of divinities of the kind verified by numbers of inscriptions and he adds:

"I believe it will remain the only one. Not only will it enlighten us as to the general ancient Greek mythology but it may inform us of hitherto unknown pure Greek cults and habits of worship pursued into the Homeric era and beyond this backward into the second millenium before Christ."

He further says that systematic excavations will bring to light hundreds of inscriptions. The inscriptions may exceed in number and importance all the syllabic Greek and Cyprian inscriptions which are now accumulated in the museums of the world.

"AT IT HERE SINCE 1900."

TWO FATALITIES IN MONTREAL FIRE

Septuagenarian Boardinghouse Keeper With Lodger is Victim of Flames — —Woman also Injured

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—On overheated stove pipe caused a fire this morning which had fatal results. The blaze took place at the boarding house kept by Joseph Phillips, aged 70, who with one of his boarders, Michael McMahon, aged 47, lost their lives. John Quinlan, who had retired was almost suffocated when he awoke to find the house in flames. The heat was so intense and the smoke so thick that Quinlan made a hurried escape through one of the windows on the stairway and raised the alarm. Quinlan's face and hands were badly burned. When the brigade arrived the fire was quickly extinguished. Groping their way through the house the firemen discovered the dead bodies of Phillips and McMahon and also the body of Mrs. Phillips, aged 70, who was lying unconscious on the dining room floor. She was taken to the general hospital where tonight her condition is considered serious.

LIBERALS REPLY TO FRUITGROWERS

Secretary of Executive Forwards Communication to Chairman of Delegation of Ranchers.

The following letter is the reply of the executive of the Nelson Liberal association to the representations of the delegation of fruit growers headed by Charles F. McHardy, asking that body to endorse three resolutions, passed at the mass meeting on Wednesday last, one of which protested against the removal of the fruit duties unless the growers are compensated by the placing on the free list of articles used by ranchers; the second asked for a rigid inspection of imports of fruit and a third protested against the removal of the duties on ranch produce:

Nelson, B. C., Feb. 11, 1911.

Charles F. McHardy, Esq.
Chairman of Committee
Fruit Growers Meeting.

Sir,—Our executive was pleased to meet with your committee appointed by the meeting of Kootenay Fruit Growers held in Nelson on the 8th inst., requesting our endorsation of certain resolutions passed at that meeting. In the first place we desire to say that this executive, on our own initiative, as soon as the announcement of reciprocity was made in the house, passed and forwarded to Ottawa the following resolution:

"Resolved, that we strongly urge on the Dominion government that if the duty be removed from fruits from the United States, or in any event, that a rigid inspection be imposed on all fruits at all ports of entry into Canada, in order to protect the Canadian fruit growers from the dumping of foreign defective fruit on our markets."

We are using every possible endeavor to have this resolution acted upon by the government. The second resolution passed by you directly follows this resolution. As to the main resolution, we have gone carefully into the text and having given it a great deal of consideration and endeavored as far as possible to obtain data on the question, we will endeavor to give our views on the subject. We were deeply disappointed that your committee were unable to give us any data. They dealt in generalities and when questioned as to practical effects, stated to us that they were not qualified to go into details. Their sole assertion was, however, that the proposed tariff meant a reduction from profits of 13 cents per box on apples. After obtaining the fullest information possible, we do not believe this will be the effect, for the following reasons. Your committee stated that the most damaging competition would arise from inferior and defective fruit but that this competition would be largely eliminated by the enforcement of a rigid inspection of fruit coming into Canada, as already advocated by our executive. It is a fact as shown by the market reports, that for the higher grades of apples a higher price is obtained by the American producer than by the producer in B. C., and that by the growers of B. C. having access to the American markets for their higher grades, they will be able to obtain an average price for all their fruits, which wil be not less than the prices now obtained.

The removal of the American duty will stop dumping. In the past on account of the high protective tariff enjoyed by the American producer, he has been enabled to obtain for his high grade of fruit, a price so high that it enabled him to sell his lower grades, so that any amount received from his lower grades was a clear profit. Formerly the B. C. fruit grower had only the opportunity to compete with the American in the lower grades, with the removal of the high U. S. tariff he will have the opportunity to compete in all grades.

We think you are in error in saying that the initial cost of production is higher in Kootenay than in Washington and Oregon. Take the cost of land. Just south of the Boundary line, near Marcus, undeveloped land is selling at $300 to $400 per acre, while similar land in Kootenay sells for from $100 to $150 per acre. Again freight rates on fruit from Kootenay to the prairies are less than from points in Washington and Oregon. There is great saving in the cost of irrigation as most lands in the Kootenay do not require to be irrigated.

We believe that the effect of the reciprocity agreement will not retard the development of the Kootenay, but will rather mean its very rapid development. It seems to us that fruit growers are not going to Oregon and Washington to pay from $300 to $400 per acre for land when they can get the same class of land in this district for less than half the price; especially when they have the advantage of the same markets. The removal of the duty will have the effect of very largely increasing the price of Kootenay lands.

Your committee pointed out to us that the Niagara fruit growers in convention in Welland county, had strongly opposed reciprocity they, however, did not inform us, and it is a fact, that another convention held in the same county by fruit growers resolved that it meant a great future for the fruit growers of Ontario.

We believe that the fruit growers of Kootenay when they have given this matter their careful consideration, and have before them the full facts, will change their opinions.

The lumbermen of B. C. who at first condemned reciprocity, and who sent a delegation to Ottawa to oppose it, have now, according to a dispatch in the Vancouver News-Advertiser, (Con.) reconsidered their position and have decided to withdraw their opposition. Members of the delegation stated that they now believe the change in tariff will prove very beneficial to their interests.

We have gone into the matter carefully and from the standpoint of our own district; and have replied thus fully that you may understand we have neither treated it lightly nor from a political standpoint. On the whole, we believe, that reciprocity will mean to the Kootenays a rapid development, and that its beneficial results, if adopted, will be seen even in the present year.

Yours sincerely,
H. E. DOUGLAS.
Secretary Nelson Liberal Association.

MACBETH WILL BE GIVEN ON FRIDAY

High School Pupils Have Labored Unceasingly in Preparation for Production of Immortal Tragedy

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Are your children taught to appreciate the classics of English literature? Do you think they actually realize why Shakespeare is the brightest gem in Britain's galaxy of memorable names? Are they taught to feel, instead of say, that the great dramatist really "holds' the mirror up to nature?" Do they realize that his characters are not mere names, but men and women, loving and hating, ambitious and humble, oppressing and oppressed, rising and falling, jubilant and remorseful, throbbing with a life that is just as real and vital now as in the "spacious times of great Elizabeth?" Are they, in short, taught to seek the spirit of our glorious literary heritage rather than a dry-as-dust study of words and phrases, which in itself naturally tends to turn the young mind to the lighter amusement provided by so large a section of the modern stage?

On Friday next you can answer some of these questions for yourself. The matriculation class of the high school has given earnest study to the tragedy of Macbeth during the past term; they have faithfully sought its meaning and its feeling; they have given much labor and thought to every character and every situation. They will now attempt to give you their interpretation.

The play is part of the year's literary course and every part is taken by a member of the school. It will therefore truly represent the work of the institution in dramatic literature.

Treby-Heale has freely given his time and thought to the production, and his ability and experience have been invaluable in the preparation of the play. In the choruses which are under the direction of Lewis Roberts, the school will be assisted by the Nelson Male Voice party.

This is an experiment which merits the support of every parent in Nelson and no effort is being spared either by the students or by those who are so kindly assisting them to make it a success.

LOCAL MEN SELL COAL PROPERTY

M. R. McQuarrie Tells of Graham Island Deal—Romantic Story of Once Operated Mine.

Particulars of a deal involving the sale of 8300 acres of coal land on Graham island, one of the Queen Charlotte group, were given out on Saturday by M. R. McQuarrie who was one of the Kootenay owners of the property which has been transferred for a large cash consideration to the British Pacific Coal & Coke company, limited, who are floating a company to operate the mine, with a capital of $1,500,000. The other vendors were W. G. McMorris, now of Vancouver, and Thomas Morrow of Rossland.

The property is located a few miles from Skidegate harbor and is a portion of a large coal area worked as far back as 1868 by a Scotch company who shipped the coal to the British naval station at Esquimalt and to San Francisco. In quality it is hard anthracite, averaging about 85 per cent fixed carbon. On it is a 12-foot seam of which eight feet are pure anthracite.

The story of the hardships undergone by the officials and the men employed by the old Scotch company back in the late sixties and of the company's final failure is interestingly told in a number of reports made by the long dead engineer of the former company and which are now in the possession of Mr. McQuarrie. In one report it is related how the Indians harrassed the miners by creeping into their stockades and stealing their provisions, obtained at great expense from Victoria.

The last report explains how, through the loss of a sailing ship loaded with coal sold to a firm in San Francisco, the company finally became involved in financial difficulties which resulted in the closing down of the property. This load of coal was expected to supply the company with sufficient money to pay for a shipload of machinery which was coming from England via Cape Horn and also to pay the overdue wages of the men. The shipload of coal, however, went down in a gale just outside Skidegate harbor, in sight of the weary, toil-worn men, who were relying upon the value of her contents to pay their wages and to give them sufficient capital to continue to work the mine.

Mine Relocated Through Indian.

A report, dated in 1870, was the last that was heard of these coal lands until a year ago, when through an Indian a Vancouver man named Arthur Gowing learnt of them and immediately took the necessary steps to acquire them from the government. From Mr. Gowing Messrs. McQuarrie, McMorris and Morrow purchased the mines. It appears that the Indians on Graham island and were fully cognizant of the existence of the coal seams but carefully concealed their knowledge from the white men in order that they might make use of the slate found on the walls of the coal seams to carve totem poles from.

During a trip to the island last summer Mr. McQuarrie obtained one of the totem poles. He stated on Saturday that he and his party found a great deal of difficulty in locating the coal seams and the old workings. Finally, however, they hit upon the steel rails of an old tramway which had been used to convey the anthracite from the mine to the seashore. These rails, strange to relate, were practically unharmed by rust though the ties were completely rotted away.

Mr. McQuarrie predicts a great future for the coal mines of Garham island. Only recently, he mentioned, the Western Canada Steel corporation which has floated a loan of $10,000,000 in order to build foundries at New Westminster and Irondale, had purchased for $500,000 a large acreage of coal lands in the centre of the island in order to supply their furnaces with fuel. In addition to this company over a dozen other operators are prospecting in the interior of the island with diamond drills with the result that some good seams of coal are being opened up.
