VOL. 9 NELSON B. C., WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1910 NO. 12

PRESENTATION

To Neil Mackay, M. P. P., by His Constituents

Representatives Assemble From all Kootenay

Member to Reside in City of Victoria

KASLO, April 30—(Delayed in transmission)—Representatives of every town and district in the Kootenay to the number of two hundred crowded the hall last night to do honor of Neil Mackay, M.P.P. Prominent Liberals as well as Conservatives, leading men in all the industries of the country, and, chief of all, scores of ladies assembled together to applaud Mr. Mackay's account of his stewardship and—there was a conspiracy of silence about this—to present him with a tangible mark of their regard.

S. A. Hunter was in the chair and with him on the platform were James Anderson and R. S. Lennie, president of the district Conservative association. The chairman was in excellent form and had a felicitous word on every occasion. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Lennie never spoke better. Mr. Mackay himself delivered one of the best speeches ever heard in Kaslo. The audience was in touch with the speaker. Bursts of applause were frequent and at the conclusion prolonged cheering for McBride and Mackay brought to a close an eventful evening that was a success from start to finish, and a demonstration of public esteem of which any man might well be proud.

Mr. Hunter in opening the meeting said it had been called for the purpose of giving to Mr. Mackay, who was about to remove his law practice to the coast an opportunity of meeting with the electors and publicly announcing the fact, as well as to tell them what he had done during the last session, and to review the legislation that had been passed by the government as it would affect the province in general and this district in particular.

Mr. Mackay's Speech

Mr. Mackay in reviewing the work of the session began with the railway legislation. For some years Mr. McBride had preferred to be taunted with inaction rather than be hurried prematurely into any railway policy of the merits of which he was not fully satisfied. When he was finally able to make railway contracts that he thought were good enough for him to recommend, he had gone to the people and asked for their approval before concluding the bargains. When the contracts were brought down in the house after the election, it was found that every promise made by the government had been more than fulfilled. For instance, it had secured for the people absolute control of the rates. Mr. Mackay went into details to show the difficulties that had to be overcome in order to do this and the ability that had been displayed in overcoming those difficulties.

Results

One result would be the expenditure in the province of fifty million dollars on railway construction alone within the next three years. In addition there would be the money expended by other railways which had been spurred to action as a result of this legislation. There was for instance the activity shown by the G.N.R. pushing the completion of the V., V. and E. in order to get a short line to the coast to offset the building of the Kettle Valley road by the C.P.R.

Assessment Act

The promise of the late Capt. Tatlow to lower taxation as soon as the financial condition of the province would permit had been kept by reducing the rate of taxation. As the reduced rate could not be brought in force during the present year the government had decided to assist the ratepayers by giving a discount of 25 per cent instead of the former discount of 10 per cent on all taxes paid before June 30.

Coal Mines Act

Amendments to the Coal Mines act had made it easier for the locator to obtain title to the lands he staked. Consolidation of claims had been provided for so that work for a group could be concentrated on one mine. This would materially aid the development of such mines.

The Budget

These and a number of other acts were reviewed more fully than space permits to be reported in full. The budget speech was characterized as the best budget speech he had ever known to be delivered in parliament. From an advertising point of view it would be of the greatest advantage to every part of the province.

Capt. Tatlow

Mr. Mackay made a very finely worded reference to the death of Capt. Tatlow—a man who had taken hold of the finances of the province when they were in bad shape and had brought them to such a condition that it had now six million dollars in the bank. As minister of agriculture he had devoted himself to advancing the fruit industry of the province. He had done much to find a place for our fruit in the markets of the world. He had paid out of his own pocket for the first shipment to England, which had brought a high reputation to the fruit of the province and in particular to that of the Kootenay from which he had selected a large part of the fruit exhibited. He had known Capt. Tatlow personally for a number of years while he (Mr. Mackay) was acting as assistant commissioner of lands and as secretary to the premier and felt his death as a personal loss.

Tribute to Ministers

Mr. Mackay paid a tribute to the manner in which the ministers executed the laborious duties entrusted to them

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS AT FERNIE

Coal Creek Defeats Fernie by Three to One—Player Injured and Taken to the Hospital

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, May 3.—The firemen in the city fire hall, who have been quarantined for the past two weeks, were given their liberty today as no further cases of fever have developed.

Football Season Opens.

The football season opened here officially last evening when a league game between Coal Creek and Fernie was pulled off on the recreation grounds. As there was an audience of over 600 present it is evident that greater interest than ever is being taken in the game this year and the club will be well supported. Both teams played a fast and scientific game and the excitement was intense, the supporters of the contestants continually cheering their favorites. One accident marred the game when a member of the Fernie team named McEwan was kicked accidentally in the thigh and had to be carried from the field and taken to the hospital, where his injuries are being attended to. At the conclusion of the game the score stood 3-1 in favor of Coal Creek.

Alexander Watson, registrar of the county court, who underwent an operation in the Cranbrook hospital some days ago, is progressing most favorably, and it is expected he will be able to leave that institution in a few days completely restored to health.

Miners Have Holiday.

The mines at Coal Creek were closed down today again. It is understood that it was owing to a shortage of railway cars. Operations will be resumed tomorrow.

Robert Reading, agent of the Canadian Pacific railway at this point, returned from Calgary last night.

WHERE DID THE MONEY COME FROM?

Recent Presentation to Minister of Finance Discussed in House—Premier Eulogizes Fielding.

OTTAWA, May 3.—Where did the money come from? That was the question asked of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the house today, respecting the gift to Mr. Fielding of $5,000. The matter was brought to the attention of the house by A. C. Boyce, the member for West Algoma. Mr. Boyce asked the premier to answer these questions:

Names of Subscribers.

"Was there any public subscription list? Was the sum not handed over in public? Were the names of the subscribers made known to the minister of finance and the premier?" If these names were made known Mr. Boyce said he was quite sure, in view of his past utterances on similar subjects, Sir Wilfrid Laurier would not have the slightest objection in giving the names to the public. Mr. Boyce said the house should have the names of the subscribers and the amounts subscribed; that course was due to Mr. Fielding, to the government, and to the house and country.

Poverty of Public Men.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was a matter of notoriety that many of the public men who had served Canada were not always wealthy. Sir John Macdonald was a notable example. Mr. Fielding, by reason of his attention to the interests of the country, was not blessed with an abundance of this world's goods. The premier then declared that the resolution which Sir Richard Cartwright had moved was brought about by the acceptance by Sir Hector Langevin, then minister of public works in the Conservative administration, of a gift, which so palpably was contributed by the contractors, that the Conservative party had no other option than to accept the resolution. Sir Wilfrid said he had no criticism to make of the gift to Sir John Macdonald, but it might happen that there were other men in like circumstances. Mr. Fielding, like the dead Conservative leader, had been so engrossed in public affairs as to make little provision for his family. "If there is a man in this house or out of it who is above reproach, it is William Stevens Fielding," declared the premier amid Liberal cheers. "No man has a more delicate sense of honor."

The premier then asked if Mr. Boyce thought that Mr. Fielding would take a dollar that came from a contractor or public official. If he thought so, then all he could say was that Mr. Boyce did not know Mr. Fielding.

"What about these names?" queried Glen Campbell.

Nothing Too Good.

Sir Wilfrid admitted that he approved of the testimonial on the ground that nothing was too good for Mr. Fielding. He approved of the testimonial because he understood it was contributed only by men in private life, with no connection with the government. Not a penny had come from any other source. Sir Wilfrid said he would state that on his honor as a man and on his responsibility as prime minister of Canada, that there was not a word of truth in the published statement that the Bank of Montreal had subscribed $50,000. When he saw that statement in print he had taken the trouble to ascertain the facts, and he found it was incorrect. Neither, he was advised, had the Dominion Iron and Steel company contributed in any way whatever. As to the public curiosity, which Mr. Boyce said had been aroused, the premier declared it seemed to exist only in the mind of Mr. Boyce.

FRENCH BALLOON WITH SPEED OF FIFTY MILES

PARIS, May 3—The surprising announcement was made that there had been constructed under the direction of the war department and with strict secrecy a dirigible balloon of the semi-rigid type capable of a speed of 50 miles an hour and that the machine would be ready for participation in the approaching summer army manoeuvres. The new military craft has been named the Fregate

GREETS PEARY

London Warmly Welcomes Polar Explorer

Sir Christopher Furness is Unseated

Remarkable Attack on Von Buelow

LONDON, May 3—The British newspapers treat the visit of Commander Robert E. Peary as one of the leading events of the day and extend to him an enthusiastic welcome. Lengthy articles, editorials and interviews are printed recalling his successful expedition and expressing the keen pleasure with which the British people will meet him here.

Interest in his visit is not confined to scientific circles, but is general. Today a great crowd in the streets adjacent to the home of the Royal Society where he was entertained at luncheon, awaited the arrival of the explorer and gave him a hearty reception. Entering the club house he was received with a noisy demonstration of welcome by the distinguished party of scientists and explorers. Then when a few moments later Captain Robert Bartlett, commander of the Arctic steamer Roosevelt arrived, the applause was renewed. Lord Salisbury, president of the club, presided with Commander Peary seated at his right.

Distinguished Company.

Captain Scott, the leader of the British Antarctic expedition, was at the head of the lower table with Captain Bartlett at the place of honor. Sir George Nares, one of the oldest surviving Arctic explorers was among the notable guests, others being Lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada, Lord Roberts, Sir George Reid, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Sir Hiram Maxim, Dr. Scott Keltie, secretary of the Royal Geographical society, many explorers, travellers and naval officers. Toasts to King Edward, President Taft and Commander Peary were drunk.

Sir Christopher Furness Unseated.

LONDON, May 3—Sir Christopher Furness, the shipowner, who as a Liberal, has represented the constituency of Hartlepool in parliament since 1900, was today unseated by the court and his recent election declared void on the ground that he had illegally employed demonstrators and made improper payments through his agents.

The court emphasized its conclusion that Sir Christopher was not personally guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice but added that he must suffer for the acts of his agents.

Largest Battleship in World.

LONDON, May 3—The keel of the battleship Princess Royal, the largest warship of any navy in the world, was laid at Barrow-on-Furness yesterday. The vessel will have 26,500 tons displacement and will be 700 feet long.

Stock Exchange Closes.

LONDON, May 3—The stock exchange will be closed May 14 and 16.

Attack on Von Buelow.

LONDON, May 3—A remarkable attack on Prince Von Buelow, the German imperial chancellor, in connection with the memorable interview with Emperor William, published in October, 1908, by the London Telegraph, is contained in a lengthy volume which is about to be issued by the ex-governmental councillor, Rudolf Martin. The chancellor is accused of treason towards the emperor.

The author of the book asserts that the interview never occurred, and that table talk, the gist of which the emperor communicated to Prince Von Buelow, was put in the form of an interview. The German foreign office telegraphing it to the journalist, Harold Spencer. Herr Martin gives names of prominent persons to support his assertions, one of the chief of whom is a former councillor of the German embassy in London, Baron Von Eckhardstein, both he and Herr Martin have left the government's service.

HUNGARIAN ELECTION CAMPAIGN IS LIVELY

Political Meeting Ends in Fight in Which One is Killed and Two Injured.

BUDAPEST, May 3—The campaign for the Hungarian elections which will be held in June is rapidly approaching fever heat. A political meeting at Karansebe today broke up in a fight between the supporters of the Nationalists and labor parties in which one Laborite was killed and two were injured fatally. Further trouble is feared. There are already candidates in the field for 413 seats.

WALKER CIRCUIT BREAKS WITH KLAW AND ERLANGER

NEW YORK, May 3—The Shuberts have announced that two more circuits of theatres have declared for the open door policy, thereby severing their connection with the Klaw and Erlanger booking agency. The two circuits are the "Copper and Iron" circuit of forty theatres in Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, and the Walker circuit which includes seven theatres in Winnipeg, Fargo, Grand Forks and other cities of the Northwestern wheat district.

CLOSE SEASON FOR WAPITI.

VICTORIA, May 3—A three-years close season has been declared for Vancouver Island Wapiti (American elk) by the provincial government. Their extinction is threatened by recent promiscuous slaughter.

PROROGATION TAKES PLACE TOMORROW

Conservative Leader Discusses Tariff Arrangement With United States—Mutual Imperial Preference.

OTTAWA, May 3—Prorogation will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon bringing to an end the second session of the eleventh parliament which has been sitting since November 9 last. The rush of business in both houses today was phenomenal and the desire to put an end to the session was greatly in evidence.

Polish Off Estimates.

Tonight the house got into committee of supply to polish off the estimates. Then the house will meet again at 11 a. m. to pass the supply bill which will be speedily sent to the senate. All will then be in readiness for the arrival of his excellency at 3 o'clock for the closing.

Quiet in Commons.

The senate is struggling tonight with an unwieldly burden of bills. In the commons all is quiet, a bare quorum is present engaged in listening to the chairman reading innumerable items, amounting in all to millions. There is little discussion, contentious items are being rushed through.

Crisp Debate.

There was a crisp debate over the arrangement with the United States respecting the tariff in which Mr. Borden criticised the action of Mr. Fielding. He took the ground that the tariff concessions granted by the government were not in themselves of great moment, as compared with the importance of maintaining the best possible relations with the United States, though he added, that a certain importance was to be attached to tariff changes involving about $5,000,000 worth of business. The leader of the opposition then examined at some length the position occupied by the government in the session, that the United States had no concern with any exchange of favors in which Canada might engage with any other country and went on to examine the tariff conditions between Canada and the United States. On every important item of merchandise or agricultural products which might reasonably be expected to pass from the United States into Canada or from Canada into the United States, the American duties upon Canadian products under the Payne-Aldrich act were from 25 to 100 per cent. higher than the duties imposed by the Canadian tariff on the products of the United States entering Canada. The result was that in the five years period from 1905 to 1909 Canada bought from the United States $462,000,000 more than the United States bought from Canada. Surely under such a state of affairs there was no discrimination by Canada against the United States. During the same five years Canada exported to Britain $216,800,000 more than she bought from her. Britain rather than the United States had the right to complain of discrimination.

Could Not Apply.

Mr. Borden then carefully examined the final clause of the Payne-Aldrich act and contended that it could not apply to Canada. Next Mr. Borden took up the results of the concessions as they will affect the future relations between Canada and the United States. He could see three possibilities. How will it be possible at any time in the future to deal with these items in our tariff, the duty upon which has been lowered as the result of these negotiations without the consent of the government of the United States. The outcome of the negotiations is practically that the Canadian government has agreed with the American government that it will not at any time in the future alter the duties imposed upon those articles without the consent of the United States, unless it is prepared to have the United States instantly impose the maximum tariff.

Fiscal Autonomy.

Mr. Borden said he desired the maintenance of our own fiscal autonomy, the maintenance of our own industries in this country, agricultural and industrial. "I desire last, but not least, that the fiscal freedom of this country shall be so maintained that Canada shall be at liberty at all times in the future to enter into the great scheme of mutual trade preference between the mother country and all the dominions of the empire by which the whole empire will be brought together, not only by ties of sentiment but by ties of interest and of trade to the great dominion of ours."

Gave Nothing Worth Mentioning.

Mr. Patterson, who replied briefly for the government, regretted that Mr. Borden should doubt the wisdom of the government policy. Canada had not sacrificed her self-respect and had given nothing to Uncle Sam or any amount.

TRUNK ROADS

Proposal for International Highways

Minister of Public Works the Author

Mr. Taylor Inspects Route Across South

"My department will have the spending of four and a quarter millions, in round numbers, this year, the great bulk of the huge appropriation being for roads and bridges. To see that this money is spent carefully, and with a view to permanent results, is now the object of the department," said Hon. Thomas Taylor, minister of public works for the province, who was a visitor in Nelson last evening.

Mr. Taylor arrived from the coast on Monday night, here meeting J. H. Schofield, M. P. P., for Ymir, and he spent yesterday in visiting various parts of the constituency. Returning to the city again last night, he leaves this morning on the Crow boat.

Inspecting Trunk Road.

"My visit," said Mr. Taylor, "is in connection with the trunk road through the southern portion of the province. When completed, it will extend from Vancouver, on the coast, to the Crow's Nest, on the Alberta boundary, a distance of 750 miles. Two-thirds of it is now in existence, some of it being old road, but the greater portion, road that we ourselves have constructed. The remaining third will consist of a number of scattered links, of greater or less length. While my information is not complete, I believe that the cost of the present construction will not be over a quarter of a million.

"The most difficult section is that over the Hope mountains, and for the ascent to the summit we have decided to make use of the old Sappers and miners road, which, as you know, is a very fine highway. When the descent on this side is made, we will connect with the existing road which goes clear through to Roseland. At Trail it will be necessary to construct a bridge across the Columbia. At or near Creston, on the Crow, the Kootenay river will also have to be bridged.

States May Co-operate.

"In addition to giving access east and west, I hope to see this trunk road give the province access to the states to the south, by connecting at the border with their trunk roads. When I was recently at Tacoma, I was impressed with the magnificent state road, which I am informed extends south clear into Oregon. Although I have not yet taken up the matter, I feel sure the governments of the states to the south, Washington and Idaho, will be willing to co-operate in a system of international trunk roads. One result would be the springing up of a great tourist automobile travel, from those states into British Columbia, and the reverse. The government of Alberta is already co-operating, by a trunk road in the south to connect with our trunk road, at the boundary in the Pass."

Asked regarding the road from Nelson along the West Arm and on to Kaslo, the minister stated that undoubtedly this would be constructed in the course of time.

Early Railway Construction.

As to the early commencement of railway construction, Mr. Taylor said that William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway company, was expected in Victoria in a few days, and doubtless he would then make an announcement. In the case of the Kettle River Valley company, tenders were to have been in by April 15, and he had not yet heard the result. In both cases, the minister pointed out, the companies are obligated, by the terms of their charters, to commence actual construction within three months from the date of the enactment of the respective measures by the legislature.

The minister of public works left Victoria about ten days ago, on the present trip, and it was his design to follow the route of the trunk road as closely as possible. He went down to Nicola, intending to enter this country by the Rossland road. The high water in the Nicola river, however, caused the abandonment of that plan, and he returned north to the main line, coming on here by the C. P. R. From here he goes to Cranbrook, thence to Creston, thence to Fernie, and further along the Pass, and in each constituency he will be accompanied by the local member. About next Tuesday he will make Nelson again, and will go on to the Boundary, visiting Grand Forks, Phoenix, and Midway, thus seeing that section of the route at the end, instead of at the beginning of his tour.

PROMINENT PRESBYTERIAN DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, May 3—John H. Converse of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, died suddenly of heart trouble at his suburban home in Rosemount, near here today. Mr. Converse, who was 65 years old, had given much of his wealth to the Presbyterian church of the United States. He was president of the trustees of the general assembly and chairman of the business committee of the board of education.

DANISH MILK EXPERT ARRIVES

NEW YORK, May 3—On the steamer United States which arrived today from Copenhagen was Prof. Bernhard Boegglid the Danish milk expert who will lecture in the agricultural school at Cornell and other universities and visit Danish American settlements in the west and northwest. He will also be the guest of the Canadian department of agriculture during a visit to the Dominion.

WOMEN ESCAPE THE FIRE FIEND

Inmates of Dwelling on Lake Street Aroused by Chinese—Kwong's Block Damaged.

Two women in a dwelling on Lake street had a narrow escape from death early yesterday morning, when fire, starting from an unknown cause, broke out, and was seen by some Chinese in an adjoining building barely in time. The house, which was a three-roomed dwelling owned by Rosie Lechardo, was consumed, and she and another woman were fortunate to escape.

At To'clock the Chinese, in the block of Kwong Wing Cheong, saw clouds of smoke issuing from the rear of the cottage, and went around to the front door and roused the inmates. They then telephoned from Kwong's store to the fire hall, and a minute or two later T. J. Wilson's men, working on the clay bank by the factory of the Kootenay Jam company, also sent a telephone alarm. Somebody else pulled the nearest box.

Hose Burst.

Meanwhile the fire brigade, under Chief Guthrie, was on the spot in a trice, but the fire was too far advanced to be checked. Then at a critical times the first length of hose broke—the pressure being about 100 pounds—and the flames were communicated through an alley to Kwong Wing Cheong's place, getting into a cockatoo. They were drowned out immediately, though the roof was burned through.

The house was worth about $600, and was uninsured, and about $400 worth of furniture was destroyed with it.

The Chinese emporium suffered about $300 damage from fire, while the damages to the stock may prove heavy, from the water leaking from the floor of the garret upon silk goods in cases in the store below. The part of the building used as dwelling quarters suffered chiefly.

STRIKING BAKERS WIN IN VANCOUVER

Closed Shop Obtained and Rates of Wages Settled—Payment for Overtime.

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, May 3—The striking bakers here and the masters came to a settlement this afternoon and the result is generally considered a victory for the union men. They now get a closed shop, a nine hour day, eight and one-half hour night shift in shops where machinery is used, payment for overtime hours. For a day's work to be between 4 a. m. and 7 p. m. the rate of pay is as follows: Foreman $21 per week, evenmen $19 per week and bench hands $18. One helper only to be allowed on each shift. The last clause of the agreement provides "That any employee who complies with this agreement and whose shop is in a sanitary condition shall be entitled to the use of the union label."

HOTEL PARTNERSHIP AT CRANBROOK DISSOLVED

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRANBROOK, May 2.—The public, especially the travelling public, will learn with regret that Vic. Rollins and George Hoggarth, of the Cranbrook hotel, have dissolved the partnership which has so long and successfully existed between them. In future George Hoggarth will be lord paramount of the establishment, and though it is passing into most efficient hands there are few, indeed, who will not have good reason to miss the active intelligence and keen developing energy of Vic. Rollins, under whose direction the Cranbrook has grown to be one of the institutions of the Kootenay country and a public credit to it. Vic. is a born hotel man. Some say that your true hotel man is born only in Switzerland, but Lucan, Ont., named after Patrick Sarsfield, the Earl of Lucan, whose name is forever famous in the Irish annals, has produced two most creditable examples in the Rollins brothers, Victor and William. The late partner in the Cranbrook hotel is about taking a holiday at the coast and on his return will join his brother in the conduct and management of the Royal hotel here. This concern will probably be entirely remodelled and brought in line with the swagger hostelries of the west. It may be assumed that once the energies of Vic. get an opening there will be active and effective changes in that place. While everyone in Cranbrook and through British Columbia for that matter, will regret the chance as far as it affects the Cranbrook hotel, it will be to the heart of good wishes for the huge success of Vic. in whatever he may turn his hand and brain to in the future.

UNTRAGEABLE

Waterways President Took Large Sum in Gold

Currency That Could Not be Traced

Free Stock Transferred to Politicians

WINNIPEG, May 3—That W. R. Clarke, president of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway company obtained from the Capitol National bank of St. Paul a large sum of money in gold currency some time last fall, to take with him to Canada was the interesting evidence which was dragged out of W. A. Faulkner, one of the original members of the Athabasca syndicate before the investigating commission this morning. Mr. Faulkner in addition said that his partner R. Newton who arranged the transaction at the bank told him that he (Newton) assumed that Clarke wanted gold currency so that it could not be traced.

Stock for Politicians.

This information was obtained by R. B. Bennett, at the close of a long and gruelling examination. It is likely the commission will try to secure the attendance of Newton. Faulkner was keenly cross questioned as to a letter he wrote to another member of the syndicate in which he made references to transferring stock to men of "political weight." He refused to say who these men were, claiming he could not recollect. The political end of the syndicate's dealing, he said, was left to Cornwall. He was none too gentle in his references to the Peace river member and said he thought Cornwall was trying to hog too much stock and again that "he tried to hold us up." Faulkner also intimated that the members of the syndicate thought they had been rather tricked in their sale of their interests to Clarke and that they had been induced to sell under misrepresentations.

Must Give Evidence.

WINNIPEG, May 3—Justice Macdonald delivered judgment this morning on the application made to him to set aside an order which had been made for the examination of certain witnesses before the three supreme court Judges of Alberta. He dismissed the application with costs. He held that the commission was constituted by the legislature and created a judicial tribunal which, under the provisions of the statute creating it, has power to compel the attendance of witnesses.

No Valid Objection.

As to the objection that the commissioners have no power to take evidence outside Alberta he stated he could not see the force of the objection. They could have requested an order for the attendance of witnesses before an examiner and the court would have the power to make the appointment. Instead of which they request this court to summon the witnesses to attend before themselves at Winnipeg and there seemed no valid objection to this proceeding.

Within Power of Province.

With regard to the objection raised that the section of the Manitoba Evidence act under which the order was made is ultra vires, his lordship held that the matter, being of a merely local nature under article 16 of section 92 of the British North America act the court had control of its own citizens to assist courts outside the province in the administration of justice. The legislation was within the power of the province and the parliament of Canada evidently intended this to be a subject within the powers of the provinces.

ELECTIONS POSTPONED.

BUGGY UPSET AND OCCUPANTS ARE INJURED

Budget of News From Busy Trail—Rector of St. Andrews' Goes to Kaslo.

(Special to The Daily News.)

TRAIL, May 3—P. Burns & Co., commenced making extensive improvements this week which, when completed, will make the Trail market one of the most modern and up-to-date of their many branch houses. The old building is being raised and a two-story addition, 25 by 25 feet built on the rear, the whole to rest on a stone foundation. A modern cold storage plant, the first of its kind in the city, is also being installed. The improvements will be completed in about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch Cameron and family left on Tuesday evening for Waugh's River, Nova Scotia, where they will permanently reside.

James H. Schofield, M. P. P., left Saturday evening on a ten days vacation to Halcyon Hot springs.

J. A. McDonald, who has been in charge of the P. Burns meat market in this city for the past three months, will leave for Stewart City in northern B. C. about May 15, where he will take charge of the company's business in that city.

Jas. C. Dobson will leave on May 15 for Kamloops, where he will take charge of the estate of the late William J. Dobson, proprietor of the Grand Pacific hotel. Mr. Dobson retains his interests in Trail and the business will still be conducted under his management. Mr. Dobson left on Thursday evening for Kamloops to make preliminary arrangements before residing permanently in that city.

Rector Leaves.

Rev. A. E. St. G. Smyth, who has been rector of St. Andrews' church in this city for the past four years, has tendered his resignation to take effect on May 22, after which date he will leave for Kaslo. At a meeting of the church committee the resignation was accepted with regret and an invitation extended to Rev. Simpson of Rossland, to take charge of the Trail parish.

At a committee meeting of the church wardens of St. Andrew's church held on Monday evening, W. B. B. Monypenny was elected a church warden in place of J. C. Dobson, who has resigned.

Messrs. J. Craig and F. W. Brown left Saturday morning on a three days bass fishing excursion to Christiana lake.

Joe Wolf, who has been in the hospital for some time suffering from a broken leg, was operated on Friday by Dr. Thom, assisted by Drs. Keenan and McKenzie of Rossland.

G. A. White received a car load of Castlegar brick this week.

The Trail Rochdale Co-operative association is moving its store into the building lately vacated by the H. S. Wallace Co.

"Happy" McPherson of Kholt, and formerly of this city, dropped in to see his old friends for a few hours Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Barry and family, who have been the guests of Trail friends for the past few months, left on Thursday evening for their home in Owen Sound, Ontario.

Buggy Upset.

Messrs. L. R. Tillery and G. W. Thompson of Trail, and Dave McLaren of Rossland, met with a rather serious mishap on Saturday evening. They left Rossland about 6 o'clock, in a buggy, bound for Trail, and when rounding a sharp turn in the road coming out of Chimatown, the buggy upset. McLaren was injured seriously about the head and was taken to the Sisters' hospital in Rossland. Tillery received several painful cuts about the head and face and Thompson escaped with a good shaking up. During the mix-up the horses ran away and the buggy and harness was damaged considerably.

CHARLES KATZ SENTENCED.

NEW YORK, May 3—Charles Katz, president of the Eastern Brewing company who was found guilty of larceny by a jury in the supreme court last night, was sentenced today to serve an indeterminate term of from three to seven years in the penitentiary. AN ECONOMICAL TEA
Blue Ribbon
Tea selling at 25c or 30c a pound is not really cheap, but is extravagantly dear.
Because so much of it is usually required that the cost per cup is actually more than if a good tea like Blue Ribbon were used.
A pound of Blue Ribbon Tea will make 250 cups of good rich tea, so, even at 50c a pound you would get four or five cups for one cent.
Not a very dear drink, is it?
And as for flavor, there is simply no comparison between Blue Ribbon and the "cheap" teas.
Just try a pound, and see.

THE FIELDING PRESENTATION.

The presentation to Hon. Mr. Fielding is hardly open to objection in itself. He himself, like other public men who might be named, is a standing refutation of the charge sometimes levelled against public men by those who do not know what they are talking about but who are quite ready to assert that the politicians are all out after "graft."

Some of them are; most of the members of Canadian governments, whether Dominion or provincial, are not. Some of them are so little interested in money making that even with all their opportunities of making it honestly they remain poor. Mr. Fielding is one of them.

It would be better if the names of all those who have taken part in presenting him with a handsome sum of money in order that he may have some suitable provision for his old age were to be published. In justice to Mr. Fielding himself those who have contributed should allow their names to be made public. But if they do not wish this to be done, and if he is willing to accept their gift on these terms, that is no reason for hastening to draw inferences for which there is no real foundation.

The right thing to do, of course, would be to make proper provision out of the public treasury for public servants. Not only many members of governments but many officials in the government employ are paid but a mere fraction of what the same men would get in the employ of any private corporation. There are men in the civil service of the country who would be dear at any price. But so far as the great body of the civil servants are concerned, nothing could well be further from the truth than the common impression that they are overpaid and underworked.

PROROGATION.

With the growth of Canada, the length of the parliamentary session has increased from year to year. Apart from the chief outstanding measures a few of which are usually expected there is a large number of minor bills, and it is these chiefly that make increased demand upon the time of the house.

The session about to close has dealt with the establishment of a Canadian navy, with the investigation of combines, with the regulation of race tracks, with some important railway aid, with the investigation of the Grand Trunk Pacific payments and with some other scandals. Evidently it has been an important session though not one of the most spectacular.

One feature has been the numerous rumors of dissention in the ranks of both parties. Foster on the one hand and Aylesworth on the other seem to be still much where they were, however.

BIG WORK FOR THE PROVINCE

Under the able direction of Hon. Thos. Taylor the province of British Columbia is this year carrying on public works to an extent never yet equalled by any Canadian province or perhaps by any state to the south of the international boundary. Certainly in proportion to population no other community has come up to the record that is being made.

Throughout the province roads and bridges are being constructed on a generous scale, with careful attention to economy and to getting the best possible results for the money. British Columbia may take pride in the efficiency, honesty and zeal for the public good with which the work is being carried on, no less than in the extent of the operations and expenditure involved. In nothing has Hon. Mr. McBride shown himself more clearly a born leader than in his choice of men; and one of the winners he has picked is the present minister of public works.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Scenery is one of the assets of the Kootenay. It adds to the amount of good both residents and visitors get out of life. To that end it is a more direct means than coin of the realm. It attracts visitors and it attracts permanent residents. Consequently the defacing and spoiling of scenery is the destruction of one of the assets of the country. Viewed from merely a commercial standpoint, it is the destruction of a source of money. The signs that appear on some of the most conspicuous places along our water stretches are not only a disfigurement; they are the reverse of a good investment.

A dispatch from Victoria is mentioning that application had been made for a change of trial in the Fernie "hold up" cases, said that affidavits had been submitted to shew that a fair and impartial trial might not be given in that place. Among the affidavits mentioned was one from J. W. Bennet, of the Fernie Ledger. It appears that this affidavit merely stated that the Ledger had a certain circulation in the district. Presumably it was used in the case in order to argue that the evidence published might prejudice the holding of an impartial trial. There is no statement that Mr. Bennet made any affidavit other than this, so far as we are aware. The dispatch seems to have been correct, but not so worded as to prevent a wrong interpretation as to the nature of the affidavit referred to.

and related the work done by the legislature, which he considered the best the province had ever had. He then spoke of the appropriations he had secured for the riding which included amounts for buildings as well as for roads and bridges.

Kaslo's Marble Hall

Among the buildings was a marble structure to house the government offices in Kaslo. Those who wished to do business with Mr. Chipman would soon be able to enter a marble hall for the purpose. The marble would be Kaslo marble. The $3000 voted last year and the $20,000 voted this year would be supplemented by such further amounts as might be necessary to complete the buildings. He was assured by the minister of public works that construction would be pushed forward this year.

Wagon Roads

A road from Kaslo north would connect with the Lardo road and another from Kaslo south would connect with Balfour. With the completion of these roads and that from Nelson to Balfour, it would be possible to ride in an auto car from Lardo to Nelson. The amounts already voted on these roads would be supplemented by further amounts until they were completed.

Too Law Abiding for Legal Business

He explained why he was going to carry on his law practice at the coast. The people in his riding were a law abiding lot, and did not furnish much employment for a lawyer. He had to make provision for old age so he was going where there were more litigants. He would, however, make frequent visits to the constituency and keep in close touch with them. In Victoria he would be better able to serve them in many ways than if here. Being on the spot where the government of the province was located he would be better able to see to the doing of what the interests of the riding required.

Pleasant Associations

For many years he had lived in the district and his associations with the people had been most pleasant. He had never been in any place where he had formed so many pleasant associations. He did not believe he left a single enemy behind him, but he know that he had a great many staunch friends. He would be glad to hear from any of the electors at any time, no matter on what side of politics they might be on anything relating to the riding. In conclusion he thanked the ladies for their attendance and expressed his appreciation of the large representation from outside points.

The chairman then said that Mr. James Anderson who had gone through the riding and had been of great assistance in the recent election, wished to say a few words as to the member.

Mr. Anderson Presents Watch

Mr. Anderson said that he had no desire to figure on the public platform but in this instance he had been the means of calling the meeting together. Of one object of this meeting Mr. Mackay was still unaware. He had pointed out to Mr. Mackay that on his leaving for Victoria he ought to explain to his constituents the reason why. Mr. Mackay had lived a long time among them and they had always found him ready and willing to do anything in the interests of the riding and of his constituents. He had been a good friend to his friends and he had not been unmindful of the interests of his political opponents. In his public utterances he had been strong and forcible rather than verbose and what he said was well judged and carried weight. The electors wished to present to him some mark of their recognition of his services. Mr. Anderson went on to say that in going through the riding to see about this he had no difficulty whatever in securing a practically unanimous vote. In fact he had to refuse contributions and to limit the amount that each one might give in order that all might have a share in the presentation. Mr. Anderson then produced a handsome gold watch and chain inscribed "Presented to Neil F. Mackay by his constituency," and expressing his pleasure in this occasion placed them in Mr. Mackay's pocket. The surprise of Mr. Mackay at this stage of the proceedings afforded much amusement to the audience.

The Gelston orchestra, which played "The Maple Leaf" on the coming to the platform of the speakers, here broke out into "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." When this and the cheering were over Mr. Mackay briefly and suitably expressed his pleasure, his surprise and his appreciation.

R. S. Lennie

The chairman then said that they would like to hear from Mr. Lennie, the president of the district Conservative association. He was pleased to see they had with them on the platform a man who had come to the district as a boy and who by sheer application and Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclerc, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from the tibe to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

ability had attained to a position in the legal profession second to none in the Kootenay. The position he now occupied in the Conservative party was most important—that of president of a district which comprised so many provincial constituencies. He was also a man who so enjoyed the confidence of the members of his own profession as to be re-elected as a Bencher of the law society for several consecutive terms.

Mr. Lennie's Tribute

Mr. Lennie agreed with Mr. Mackay in thinking that while residing on the coast the member would have better opportunities in many ways to serve the interests of the riding. They were sorry to loose him as a neighbor, but they recognized that he would still be identified with their interests. In connection with the recent session Mr. Mackay had done good work for the re-operation of the Kaslo-Sandon line, and his efforts would be certain to bear fruit. The rebuilding of the line might be regarded as a matter of a comparatively short time. In the second place the interest Mr. Mackay together with Mr. Hunter had taken in securing an appropriation towards carrying on experiments in the smelting of zinc were most important to the interests of the Kootenay. In line with that the Dominion had now made an appropriation of $50,000 towards experiments which would no doubt be carried on in the Kootenay. As a result there was every reason to believe a saving would be made in the marketing of many of the ores found in the Slocan which would mean the operation of a large number of properties now idle.

A Good Representative

He had watched for a number of years the legislation of the provincial house as it affected the Kootenay and he was convinced that owing to the knowledge Mr. Mackay had acquired while acting as an officer of the government, and from his popularity with the members of the legislature, the riding had a representative second to none among the private members of the provincial parliament. He knew this from personal observation as well as from others with whom he came in contact in Victoria.

The members of the legal profession here were sorry to loose Mr. Mackay. As a professional man he had always acted in the same estimable manner as he had in politics.

A Man With a Future

When it came to the ears of the other members of the government how unanimously the electors of Kaslo had expressed their entire approval of what Mr. Mackay had done as their representative and in the interests of the constituency, they would undoubtedly be immensely pleased. It was possible that in the future more important work might be entrusted to him than even that which he had already done, work including duties other than those of a private member. (Applause.)

The meeting then adjourned with cheers for Premier McBride and Mr. Mackay.

The hall of the Kaslo hotel was most tastefully and effectively decorated for the occasion, and all the arrangements were most creditable to every one concerned and particularly Mr. Anderson.

F. Elwell was appointed by the chairman to rector's warden, and C. Gray was elected people's warden, F. Cummins, G. Ashby and T. H. Going were elected sidesmen.

WOMEN'S BEAUTY

It Can Never Be Perfect Without Luxuriant Hair.

A head of luxuriant hair is sure to be attractive. But nature has not crowned every woman with glorious hair. Some very lovable women she has treated rather scantily in this respect.

For instance, there are tens of thousands of women in Canada today, who have harsh, faded and lusterless hair, who are unattractive simply because they do not know that nowadays even the whims of nature can be overruled by the genius of science.

If you are a woman without beautiful hair, do not permit your attractions to be hidden because of this slight misfortune. Go today to the Poole Drug company and buy a large bottle of Parisian Sage for 50 cents, use it each night, and you will notice the harsh, repulsive hair disappear, and in its place will come soft, silky, bright and luxuriant hair.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed by the Poole Drug company to cure dandruff, itching of the scalp, and stop falling hair in two weeks, or money back.

"WHAT A DELICATE CHILD."

is the remark we often hear when referring to little ones whose faces are pale and wan, and limbs thin and scrawny.

If mothers in this vicinity only realized how quickly these little ones can be made strong, robust and rosy by our delicious cod liver and iron preparation VINOL, we would not see so many delicate children on our streets. Wm. Rutherford, druggist, Nelson, B.C.

GREYTOWN BLOCKADED.

Rebels in Nicaragua Now Better Equipped for Carrying on War.

WASHINGTON, May 3—Senor Salvator Castrillo, representative here of the Estrada provisional government in Nicaragua, acting under cable instructions from Minister General Rivera, today advised the state department that the insurgent forces had established a blockade of the port of San Juat Del Norte, or Greytown.

The blockading force consists of four ships, three ocean going tugs equipped as gunboats, and a fourth large vessel armed with rapid-firing guns. It is not unlikely that this is the rebel fleet which is on the lookout for the steamer Venus which recently sailed from New Orleans with arms and ammunition for Madriz.

Among Central Americans here it is freely asserted that the rebels are now better equipped to carry on the war than they were at the outset.

AMAZING SECRETS WHITNEY KNOWS OF Extraordinary Tactics Followed to Defeat Ontario Government's Electric Power Policy.

"It is now certain that in the future there will be no further attempts—at any rate no successful attempts—to minimize or destroy the powers of a provincial legislature acting within the limits of its jurisdiction."

This is the view taken by the premier of Ontario of the decision of the minister of justice, Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, in refusing to disallow the power legislation of 1909. Sir James went on to refer to the decision, coupled with that of the upholding of Ontario's rights by the privy council in the suit brought by the Florence Mining company, as marking "the beginning of a new era in constitutional development under the British North America Act." The "secret history of the attempts to overthrow the power enactments," he declares, would amaze the public. Of Mr. Aylesworth personally, Sir James remarks that his views "were a tower of strength to the provincial contention, and his report on the application for disallowance is lucid and unanswerable."

"Sir James' statement is as follows:

A New Era Has Begun.

"The decision of the judicial committee of the privy council in the case of the Florence Mining company, and the refusal of the Dominion government to disallow the Ontario statute known as the Hydro-Electric legislation of 1906, together mark the beginning of a new era in constitutional development under the British North America act.

"It is now certain that in the future there will be no further attempts—at any rate no successful attempts—to minimize or destroy the powers of a provincial legislature acting within the limits of its jurisdiction.

"As in the case of most questions of public importance, the result is the outcome of very strenuous effort. Obviously, today I cannot enter upon a detailed discussion of the situation, but will give a very hasty resume of what has occurred.

"The unfair and dishonest methods adopted against this legislation, which I can only touch upon in passing, prove clearly that when men's pockets govern their actions they are not, as a rule, particular as to the nature of the means they are willing to adopt in order to succeed."

Frigid, Calculated Falsehood.

The electric interests in Toronto and elsewhere were the bitter opponents of this legislation from the beginning, said Sir James. "An emissary was sent over to England, and the so-called financial journals there blossomed out with editorials made up very largely of misrepresentation, and 'Frigid, calculated falsehood.' The result, however, has proved disastrous to the idea that these journals have any real power or influence. Every imaginable influence over there—social, political, private and public—was retained where possible and all who realize the strength of such combined influences in London will at once appreciate what this meant.

"The emissaries were sent out among the farmers owning land over which the transmission line was to pass, loaded up with all manner of falsehoods, by means of which to spread anxiety among the people. Last, and also least, the opposition in the legislature, after proclaiming abroad the virtues of producer gas, and the general wickedness of the legislation, finally settled down alongside the electric interests, and has remained there ever since, doing all in its power to destroy the Hydro-Electric power scheme. Through all this time of stress and peril the press of Ontario, in the main, stood squarely by the provincial position.

Secret History Would Amaze Public.

"To the applications for disallowance an answer was put in by the provincial government. The same great pressure was again brought into play, and when, if ever, the secret history of this matter is made public the people will, indeed, be amazed.

"Those who have looked through a recovered pamphlet, entitled, 'The Credit of Canada; How it is Affected by the Ontario Legislation,' will be able to form some idea of the efforts that were made, and to roughly estimate the amount of money that was expended.

Aylesworth a Tower of Strength.

"One if the most bitter enemies of the legislation," said Sir James, "declared a few days ago that there was a very strong feeling in the cabinet in favor of disallowance. This assertion was said, perhaps, with knowledge, and caused no surprise to those who had been watching the progress of Mr. Conmee's and similar enterprises.

"However that may be, there can be no doubt of the attitude of the minister of justice in the matter. His views, which are said to have been well known, were a tower of strength to the provincial contention, and his report on the application for disallowance is lucid and unanswerable," declared the premier.

"The people of Ontario understood the facts. No vested right, or right of or to property of any kind was affected by the legislation.

Province Would Not Have Submitted.

"The question in each case was whether a municipal corporation should be prevented from entering into a contract under a bylaw which had been submitted to the ratepayers, and at the late session of the legislature an amendment was added allowing such plaintiff in the two actions which had been commenced to continue his action for the recovery of any personal damages.

"Well, the efforts of the men who would have taken away from the provincial legislature the right to legislate within its jurisdiction, except as and when permitted by the Dominion government, have failed, and the question has been settled forever. This being so, it is unnecessary to speculate on what would have occurred had the statute been disallowed, beyond saying that the province would not have submitted, and would have lost no time in taking such steps as would have put an end to the situation.

The Foundation of the People.

"And the summing up of the case as to disallowance in the answer of the provincial government to the petitions for disallowance was in the following language:

"'Finally, the people of Ontario take their position on the positive and unshaken foundation formed by the British North America act and the decisions which have been indicated and in agreement with the principle laid down by the present minister of justice in the report and speech hereinabove quoted, and respectfully submit that for upwards of 30 years the lords and commons of Great Britain have legislated without fear of the royal veto, although its existence has been undoubted, and, therefore, in full accord with the spirit and genius of British institutions the people of the province entitled to all rights of British subjects elsewhere, are free, as has been practically pointed out by the minister of justice, to legislate within the limit of the powers assigned them by the constitution without disallowance from Ottawa, except in cases involving the relations of Canada with other countries.'"

SWORDS AND PISTOLS BUT NOBODY HURT

PARIS, May 3—Count Ismael de Lesseps, son of Count Ferdinand de Lesseps an officer of a cavalry regiment, fought a duel with Count Just de Poligny today. The bout followed a quarrel at the circus, where during an argument blows were exchanged. As Count de Poligny is lame the seconds called a halt to the duel after the first round of sword play, substituting pistols for the swords. Six shots were fired but neither was hurt. The two antagonists left the field without a reconciliation having been effected.

AT THE THEATRES.

The people of Nelson will be happy to learn that Grace Cameron, with all her new character songs and a most charming play, will return to us for two nights, Wednesday and Thursday next, at the opera house. Miss Cameron has never appeared in anything but attractions of the very highest order, and the trade mark alone is sufficient to warrant complete assurance of the merits of her offering as being strictly first class. C. H. Kerr, who presents this offering, is not only a playwright of great ability, but a reliable theatrical manager in every sense of the word, and the former attractions he has sent to us have been such that we feel the highest confidence in anything he may place his name upon. The name of the new play and highly diverting comedy which Miss Cameron plays the title role in is "Nancy," and besides Miss Grace Cameron there is a superb cast of well known actors to aid in the presentation of this amusing far-act play. The production is carried by the company in its entirety, including scenery, special costumes, electrical and mechanical effects.

There will be an entire change of pictures at the Gem theatre tonight, and the subjects will be up to the standard maintained by the Gem.

At the Empire theatre this evening the first announcement will be made as to the standing of the contestants in the young ladies popularity contest. Miss Spaeth will sing the illustrated song "Walk for Me at the Mulberry Tree." The program of pictures is a good one and includes: "Why They Married," "Downfall of a Tyrant," "Hunting Jack Rabbits," and "A Good Lesson in Charity."
